

VIP VISITORS to Exercise Hill Top, recently completed joint Army-Air Force maneuvers conducted at Yakima Firing Center, were the above civilian aides to the Secretary of the Army. Shown following their arrival are (l. to r.) Everett R. Hooper of Boise, aide for Idaho; Clarence S. Beesmyer of Los Angeles, aide for California; Earl Wooster of Reno, aide for Nevada; Paul Pigott of Renton, aide for Washington; Philip

J. FitzGerald of San Francisco, aide for the Sixth Army area; Brigadier W. T. Sexton, chief of staff for Sixth Army; Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, commanding general of Sixth Army; Colonel W. W. Yale, deputy director for the exercise; Edward G. Toomey of Helena, aide for Montana and Edgar W. Smith of Portland, aide for Oregon. (Army photo by Cox)

Civic Leaders Visit!

Top Aides to Army Secretary Hosted by Army Commander

Civilian aides to the Secretary of the Army from seven western states met with Lt. Gen. W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, at the Presidio of San Francisco last week for a briefing on current operations of the Sixth Army.

Civic leaders in their respective communities, the aides serve without financial compensation as advisors to the Army secretary on matters pertaining to national defense in their states.

Attending the briefing were: Philip J. FitzGerald of San Francisco, civilian aide for the Sixth Army area; Walter W. Knorpp, Phoenix, aide for Arizona; Eugene D. Bennett of San Francisco and Clarence S. Beesmyer of Los Angeles, aides for California; Everett R. Hopper of Boise, aide for Idaho; Edmond G. Toomey of Helena, aide for Montana; Earl Wooster of Reno, aide for Nevada; Edgar W. Smith of Portland, aide for Oregon, and Paul Pigott of Renton, aide for Washington.

Following the briefing, seven members of the group, accompanied by General Wyman, left for Fort Ord, Calif., to observe training activities of the 6th Infantry Division. Included in this group were Mr. Beesmyer, Mr. Knorpp, Mr. Wooster, Mr. Smith, Mr. Toomey, Mr. Hopper, and Mr. Bennett.

Upon their return from Fort Ord, the aides were honored guests at an official dinner given by General Wyman at the Presidio Officers' Mess.

Friday morning, again accompanied by General Wyman, most of the conferees departed for Yakima, Wash., Firing Center to observe the climax of "Exercise Hilltop," a 20,000 troop maneuver currently being conducted there. In this group will be Mr. Beesmyer, Mr. Knorpp, Mr. Wooster, Mr. Smith, Mr. Toomey, Mr. Hopper, Mr. Pigott and Mr. FitzGerald. They will remain at the Firing Center until Saturday afternoon.

New MAAG Chief!

The new Chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group in Japan is Maj. Gen. Gerald J. Higgins, USA. The MAAG has been established by the ratification of the Mutual Defense Assistance Agreement pact between the U. S. and Japan. Gen. Higgins formerly headed the Safety Advisory Group in Japan.

Distaff Soldiers Get Permanent Center At Ft. McClellan

Washington—The first permanent Women's Army Corps Center, a $7-million, 22-building structure, will officially start at Ft. McClellan, Ala., June 10.

The Army announced that on that date an advance party of 63 Wacs will leave Ft. Lee, Va., to prepare for the first basic trainees to arrive on June 28. By early August, the Army expects all WAC training activities to be moved to Ft. McClellan.

The center, which can accommodate more than 2000 women, will conduct basic training, clerical training, NCO training, OC and officer basic courses.

The first temporary WAC Training Center was established at Ft. Des Moines, Iowa, in July, 1942.

Holiday Change!

Final Congressional approval has been given to changing the name of Armistice Day to Veterans Day. Nov. 11 will be the legal holiday honoring those who fought in both World Wars and in Korea.

BRONZE STAR WITH "V" for valor is presented to Captain Chester B. Searls, present commanding officer of Detachment A Honor Guard, Presidio of San Francisco, for his distinguished service while a member of the 38th Infantry Regiment, 2nd Infantry Division, in Korea. Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army deputy commander, made the award at a decoration ceremony held on the Presidio's Main Parade grounds. Captain Searls, as was General Dean, was a prisoner of war in North Korea, held for 27 months before his release last fall. (Army photo by Guittierez)

GENERAL W. G. WYMAN, Sixth Army commander, pinned the Soldier's Medal for heroism to the tunic of Lt. Robert W. Looby of the 44th Infantry Division, during his visit to Fort Lewis, Washington, to observe the maneuvers known as "Exercise Hilltop," held during the month of May.

Soldier's Medal Given for Brave Action in Fire

Bravery on the battlefield is one thing.

There, you might say, it's all around you.

Bravery, most unexpected, in a peaceful state-side Army camp is quite another thing.

No doubt Lt. Robert W. Looby of Fort Lewis, Washington's 44th Infantry Division, never gave a second's thought to bravery that chilly early morning last month when, although scantily clad, he jumped aboard a flaming mess truck, freed the lodged foot of the unconscious mess cook, and moved him out to the waiting arms of fellow members of his company.

The incident occurred during field exercises at the Yakima Firing center. The truck caught fire when gasoline was accidentally emitted from an M1937 fire unit. The cook, seriously injured, lapsed into unconsciousness, his foot lodged between an ice chest and the truck bed.

When Lt. Looby entered the truck, he grabbed, with his bare hands, the burning fire unit lying near the man and shoved it aside. After he had removed the injured, he then grasped a flaming five-gallon can of gasoline and flung it from the truck.

Though seriously burned on the feet, legs, hands and arms, Lt. Looby refused medical aid until the cook had been treated and taken to a hospital.

Bravery it was.

And so it was recognized at appropriate ceremonies when Lt. General W. G. Wyman, commanding general, Sixth Army, presented to Lt. Looby, the Soldier's Medal for his "self-sacrificing heroism in a situation of extreme danger."

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 1

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 4 June, 1954

Iniquities Noted!

Kaplan Group Seeks Change In Survivor Payment Plan

Washington — A special committee, headed by H. Eliot Kaplan, has recommended changes in the Uniformed Services Retirement System that will save about $108 million annually while giving servicemen better retirement benefits.

The Kaplan committee suggested that Social Security Act old age and survivor's insurance be extended to servicemen on the usual contributory basis.

Also suggested was a new Service compensation benefit. This would replace the present complex compensation system for survivors of military personnel—the veterans compensation, the soldiers indemnity and Federal employees' compensation provision relating to active duty personnel. This complex structure, said the committee, should be eliminated.

Benefits under the proposed plan would be limited to three sources:

1. Death gratuity administered by the Defense Department to provide sums from $1200 to $3000.
2. Social Security with personnel participating through monthly pay deductions that make them eligible for greater benefits.
3. A new Service compensation program administered by the VA which would pay more than the present VA "widow's compensation."

The 113-page report has been sent to Congress for action. The committee did not suggest any change to the current retirement pay plan or the disability retirement pay plan.

The new plan would not be retroactive: personnel drawing benefits under the present survivors plan would not lose them if the new system goes into effect. (AFPS)

Need Applicants!

The Army is seeking applications from officers to take psychological warfare post-graduate training at civilian colleges. The one-semester courses will begin at Georgetown University, DC, in September and January. Prerequisites are a bachelors degree and eight years commissioned service.

ROK Generals Will Visit Sixth Army Late This Month

Fourteen high-ranking Republic of Korea Army officers, including 12 generals, will arrive in San Francisco late in the afternoon of June 21st for a short visit in the Bay Area prior to departing from Travis Air Force Base for the Far East.

In this country since last September, the group has been attending the regular course at the Army's Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. Following graduation ceremonies at the college on June 18, they will entrain for San Francisco.

Many of the officers in the party served as ROK division commanders under Lt. Gen. W. G. Wyman when the present Sixth Army Commander was leading the Ninth United States Army Corps in Korea.

General Wyman has scheduled two events on June 22nd in honor of the Korean officers. The first will be a formal retreat parade and review to which the public is invited, on the Presidio's main parade ground at 5 p.m. This will be followed by an official reception at the Presidio Officers' Mess at which the Sixth Army Commander will be host.

Included in the Korean group are: Lt. Gen. Yu Jae Hung; Major Generals Ham Byong Sun, Song Yo Chan, Yang Kuk Chin, Lee Sung Ga, Paik Nam Kwon, Oh Duk Jun, Paik In Yup, Bak Lim Hang, and Kim Hyung II; Brigadier Generals Paik Sun Chin and Choi Kyung Nok, and Colonels Kim Hi Duk and Pak Chin Suk.

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel John P. MacNeill has been assigned to the senior Army advisor's office, Headquarters, California Military district, Presidio of San Francisco.

A veteran of 32 years in the Army, Colonel MacNeill recently returned from Korea, where he served with the Korean Civil Assistance command. He has also been stationed in England, France, Germany, Holland, Hawaii and Japan during his time in the service.

Col. MacNeill holds the Commandation ribbon, nine campaign ribbons with seven battle stars, and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation.

He has seen duty with the 73rd Regiment, Rry. Artillery, CAC; 9th Air Defense Command, AAA; 1st Allied Airborne Army; and the Berlin District Military government in Germany.

Captain Alexander P. Rusanowsky recently joined the staff of the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army. He has just completed a seven-month Advance Infantry Officers school at Fort Benning, Georgia.

When he returned to this country last year, it was from 30 months duty as an Intelligence officer, Headquarters US-AF, Antilles, and the Military District of Puerto Rico with headquarters at San Juan.

Enlisting in the Army in 1942, Captain Rusanowsky served in the ETO with the 406th Infantry Regiment of the 102nd Infantry Division, and rose to the rank of staff sergeant. In 1946, while serving in Germany, he received a direct commission.

Prior to receiving his commission, Captain Rusanowsky, in 1945, joined a foreign liaison team which was engaged in liaison with Russian forces on the other side of the border. As an officer, he continued with this group as a foreign liaison officer until 1947.

Returning to this country, he spent the next eight months with the CIC at Fort Holabird, Maryland, in the Russian branch. He then embarked on, and successfully completed, an Infantry competitive tour for regular Army which lasted for two years. Captain Rusanowsky has been decorated with the Combat Infantry Badge, the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart.

Captain William R. Linfoot is the newest member of the Veterinary detachment, Presidio of San Francisco, and is assigned to the San Francisco Sub-station.

Captain Linfoot's most recent assignment required him to make numerous trips to Turkey (once every six weeks) as remount Veterinarian for more than 800 horses and mules being shipped each trip to Turkey and Greece under a three-year foreign aid program.

The program, which had its headquarters at Fort Reno, Oklahoma, was recently terminated. Captain Linfoot was with the group for 18 months.

During World War II, the captain was with Field Artillery in the ASTP program at Fort Collins, Colorado, and upon discharge entered the Reserves. He was recalled to active duty in the fall of 1952.

TO BE GRADUATED from the United States Military Academy at West Point on Tuesday, is Cadet Roy W. Muth, son of Colonel and Mrs. Roy W. Muth, Presidio of San Francisco. Colonel Muth has been chief, Sixth Army Chemical section, since January 1953, and is presently on leave and TDY, following which he will leave for his new assignment in the Far East. Cadet Muth will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry. While at West Point, he has been active in the golf, Russian, Portuguese, and weight lifting clubs, and has served on the Howitzer and Pointer staffs as well as the West Point debate council.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve in a Nation

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographs and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Loss of Europe Can Cripple US Potential Power

Washington—What the loss of Western Europe to Communist control would mean to the U. S. was described recently by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, USA, U. S. Representative on the NATO Military Committee. Gen. Collins addressed his remarks to the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution here.

"Today," said the general, "the free nations of the world have a material productive advantage over the Communist nations. But if Western Europe were lost, this advantage would be greatly reduced and, in some cases, overcome."

"Our advantage would be diminished, generally as follows: in coal, now 3 to 1, would be reduced ¾ to 1; in steel, now 5 to 1, would be reduced to 1¼ to 1; in electric power, now 6 to 1, would be reduced to 1½ to 1."

He added that the Communists would gain control of 200-million Europeans possessing great industrial and scientific skills. Next to fall would be the Middle East and with it half of the world's oil reserves. The U. S. would face serious economic restrictions and our standard of living would suffer as a result.

The general then outlined in terms of a medium tank, the relative dependence of the U. S. on the outside world.

"Our medium tank," he said, "contains 1,915 pounds of chromium, 99 percent of which must be imported; 950 pounds of manganese, 92 percent of which must be imported; 520 pounds of nickel, 92 percent of which must be imported; 100 pounds of tin, 78 percent of which must be imported; 6,512 pounds of bauxite (the ore of aluminum), 65 percent of which must be imported; and 1,484 pounds of copper, 29 percent of which must be imported."

It is vital, he said, to guarantee the security of our communications and to insure the freedom of the world's friendly nations to trade with us. (AFPS)

Begins at Sundown!

Jewish Shavuot, Confirmation Rites Sunday at Post Chapel

Beginning at sunset Sunday, the birthday of the Ten Commandments will be marked by Jewish people throughout the world during their annual observance of the Pentacost festival.

On the Presidio, Shavuot and a Confirmation service will be combined and will be held in the Post Chapel beginning at 1900. Rabbi William Z. Dalin, Chaplain (Major) USAR, Sixth Army Auxiliary chaplain, will conduct the services, and a reception for the confirmants will follow at the Presidio Officer's club.

According to Jewish tradition, the Commandments containing mankind's first set of ethical rules, were made known to the Israelites by Moses just seven weeks after he led them out of Egyptian bondage.

For this reason, the holiday is known in Hebrew as Shavuot (Shaw-voo-ot), a word meaning "weeks." The name Pentacost indicates that 50 days intervene between Passover, the time of liberation, and Shavuot, the time of the granting of the Decalogue.

In the days when the temple stood in Jerusalem, Pentacost was the occasion of pilgrimages to the sanctuary where offerings of the first fruits were made in gratitude for the Lord's bounty. In modern times, the holiday is marked by special synagogue services wherein praise is offered to the Lord, both in spoken word and in song.

Excerpt from a letter addressed to Sunset Congregation Ner Tamid by Chaplain (Colonel) Edward T. Donahue, Sixth Army chaplain, relates:

"As a matter of interest, the Post Chapel has a memorial Eternal Light which was presented by the Jewish community of San Francisco in honor and memory of the Jewish members of the Armed Forces who have died in the defense of our nation."

"It appears to me as being most fitting that during the 300th anniversary of the coming of the Jewish people to America, your congregation, Ner Tamid, should use the Chapel in which this memorial of Eternal Light is ever burning."

Army's Parlay Bet On Brilliant Ideas Nets 63-1 Pay-Off

Washington—Ideas are worth money.

During the past ten years, the Army has paid more than $2,000,000 for ideas on how to do jobs better, faster and cheaper. It went to the Army's civilian employees as cash awards for 418,000 manpower, materials and money-saving suggestions.

First year savings resulting from these bright ideas saved the Army more than $127,000,000.

The Army paid cash awards for suggestions as early as 1912. However, payments were on a competitive prize basis and were limited to inventions and improvements in manufacturing processes in arsenals of the Ordnance Department.

During the critical days of World War II, when there was extreme urgency to seize every opportunity for improving the speed and efficiency of Government operations, the Army's suggestion program came into existence. It since has found a permanent place in effective personnel management.

Objective of an employee suggestion plan was to provide various types of incentives for its millions or so civilian employees in order to increase their general productivity. Consequently, on June 2, 1943, an employee suggestion and awards program was launched.

The first suggestion program recorded by history may have been originated by Emperor Yao of China during the era 2357-2258 B.C. Outside his palace, Yao placed a tablet on which anyone might write advice with respect to the government.

Modern day programs reportedly began at Leven Ship Yard, Dumbarton, Scotland, in 1880. During the same year, Yale & Towne Manufacturing Company at Stamford, Conn., is said to have introduced a suggestion system. However, the suggestion program movement actually did not get under way in the United States until 1894 when National Cash Register Company inaugurated a plan which still is in operation today. (ANF)

Iowa Corporal Earns May Soldier of Month Award in 16th BPO

Cpl. Francis Attley, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, has been named Soldier of the Month for May in the 16th Base Post Office Company it was announced this week.

A Navy Mail Clerk from 1944-46, Cpl. Attley enlisted in the Army in '49 and took basic training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas.

From 1950-53 the Iowan served in APO 3, Japan, and this year returned to Fort Riley, Kansas, where he reenlisted.

Cpl. Attley was assigned to the 16th BPO 3 March, of this year.

FROM "DOWN UNDER" ranking Australian and New Zealand Army officials arrived in San Francisco Sunday morning enroute to high level international military conferences in Washington, D. C., and were met at the airport by Brigadier General Stephen B. Elkins, chief, Sixth Army Finance section, (right.) He is shown talking with l to r: Lt. General Sir Sydney Rowell, Chief of the General Staff, Australian Army; Major General William G. Gentry, Chief of the General Staff, New Zealand Army, and Brigadier T. J. Daly, director of plans and operations of the Australian Army. (Army photo by Garner)

"exhibit" on Armed Forces day at the Presidio. Showing his own very familiar bagpipes to Mrs. Johnston is Piper Hampton Brady. In the background are, l. to r.: Piper Robert Lyon, Drum Corporal John McCulloch, a native of Ayr, Scotland, located just seven miles from Paisley, and Drummer Donald Riddle. (Army photo by Brink.)

★ ★ ★

Sfc. O. W. Colinsworth, a close family friend and in on these discussions, decided to see if such a meeting couldn't be arranged. He called the "Star-Presidian" which

Mrs. Johnston discovered that the Sixth Army Bagpipe band was originally organized back in 1949 by Colonel Paul Goud, and made its first public appearance on Armed Forces day 1950.

The bagpipes themselves belong to the Henderson "clan," and are all made in Scotland. Basically, they are all alike, fashioned from African blackwood and natural ivory. They may, however, range in price from $75 to $125, depending on the amount of decor and metal used.

The storm subsided late Wednesday night, and fuel was flown in immediately for Fairchild's copter. Colonel Johnson then radioed that he was return-

When men like Lt. Fairchild and other fliers of the 30th Group's 660th Battalion are flying their "bubbles" over the tundra, Alaskans know that the "flying engineers" can be depended upon to assist in any emergency—no matter how rough the going may be.

Fort Scott.

Prevent Waste!

Next Week's TIC Topic Will Score Supply Discipline

Are you aware of Supply Discipline?

The proper care and maintenance of equipment will be the troop topic for next week beginning with 8 June it was announced by the TI&E office yesterday.

The conference will emphasize that the Army relies on

Sfc. Mike Odello

Veterinary NCO Wins Class Honor At Chicago School

SFC Michael A. Odello of the 6002 ASU Veterinary Corps at the Presidio recently returned from the Meat & Dairy Hygiene School, Chicago, Illinois, where he placed 1st in his class of 49.

The eight-week course consisted of inspection of perishable subsistence, such as poultry, eggs, milk, meats, fish, and certain vegetables, to determine quality, grade and storage requirements. The proper maintenance of food is essential to good hygiene to prevent food poisoning.

The situations presented to the students by the school were numerous. In the class of beef, the students were required to be able to determine the quality, edibility, and grade so as to pick out the right cuts in the price range set by the Department of the Army. They were also taught to cut, wrap and freeze "Four-Way-Beef" which is used extensively overseas.

Students became familiar with the laboratory also since they had to determine the bacteria content of milk, learn to pasturize, sample, and find the fat content. When this was learned, they made butter and cheese from their samplings.

SFC Odello has a total of 12 years in the Army. Having started as an infantryman in 1942, he transferred to the Veterinary Corps in 1952 and now holds the position of meat inspector. Born in San Francisco, SFC Odello travelled to Italy at the age of two with his parents and remained for 16 years returning just in time to be drafted to service for WWII. He spent 40 months more in Europe, this time in Germany. A career soldier, Sergeant Odello plans to make his home locally upon retirement.

Big Stockpile!

Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming reported that the government has stockpiled more than $4,225,000,000 worth of strategic and critical materials for use in case of war. He estimated the ultimate goal of the strategic stockpile worth is nearly $7 billion.

superior equipment to make its units stronger and to conserve lives. We have learned that winning and surviving battles against a communist enemy means being equipped to out-fire and out-manuever huge masses of opposing troops who have plenty of firepower themselves.

The suicidal "human sea" attacks launched against our lines in Korea were attempts to achieve victory by sheer weight of numbers. There is no reason to believe those tactics won't be used again, whenever the communists decide upon new aggression. In their book human life is cheap.

To know how to operate the equipment entrusted to your use is not enough. You must also know how to take care of it so that it will give maximum performance and wear, and take care of you when you need it. Whether or not you personally sign for the equipment you use, the Army considers you primarily responsible for its care, preservation and conservation.

Supply Discipline - getting the most out of our materiel—is the care, preservation, and conservation of the things that give us our firepower and mobility. When you take care of your equipment it takes care of you; doing our preventive maintenance job tomorrow may be to late. It's the responsibility of every soldier to get maximum performance and wear out of the materiel given to him to do his job. Supply Discipline results in greater strength for our units, a stronger economy, a fair deal for every soldier, and a better chance to stay alive.

Teen-Age Club Elects Officers at Recent Meet

New officers for the Teen-age club were elected at a meeting of the group recently.

Gregg White is the new president, Francis Costello, recorder, and Karen Voss, Sandra Clark and Earl Fillenger, board members.

Outgoing officers were honored at the birthday party which followed the elections. They included, Audrey Allison, president; Anne Lowry, recorder, and Joan Couture, Kim Voss and Terry Ashley, board members.

Tonight is decorating night at the club, and members are needed to help decorate the ballroom and television room. Saturday night there will be checker and hearts tournaments with prizes.

Survey Results!

An Army survey shows that about 20 per cent of Army officers have been credited with primary military occupational specialties which are not appropriate. The Army said that the MOS for each officer will be carefully reconsidered. New officer qualification records, DA Form 66, also will be made out. An effective date for the revision of qualification forms and reconsidering of MOS will be designated later.

The American Army was the first army in the world to screen against malarial mosquitoes. The step was taken in 1889 and greatly reduced incidence of malaria.

AMONG THE MILITARY personnel, both officer and enlisted, who had an opportunity to view first-hand the vast treasure of facilities which is offered on the Santa Fe railroad's new streamliner, "The San Francisco Chief," were this trio who are shown conversing in the dome lounge car during the train's first run to

Merced last week. They include l to r: Captain George E. P. Cannon, trains division officer, Armed Services Police Detachment, Treasure Island; SFC Jonnie A. Simpson and SFC E. Roffes, both of the Transportation section, Camp Stoneman, California. (Army photo by Brink)

"Chief's" Offer Unique!

New Streamliner Will Accept Reduced-Fare Service Ticket

Servicemen just returning from overseas will have their specially reduced-rate tickets honored in the chair cars of the Santa Fe's new cross-country streamliner, the "San Francisco Chief," it was announced in conjunction with the train's first run showing to Merced and back last week.

This will provide a service that is unique among trains of the fast, streamliner type.

In addition, the regular reduced-rate furlough tickets for servicemen stationed in this country, will likewise be accepted in the streamliner's chair cars.

A group of Sixth Army Officials and enlisted personnel as well as civic dignitaries were invited to go on the all-day Merced trip and inspect the many facilities and innovations in travel comfort that the new train offers.

Its inaugural cross-country trip to Chicago will begin this Sunday at 1100 from San Francisco and 1125 out of Oakland.

Among the officials who attended the "Chief's" open-house presentation were Brigadier General Ralph I. Glasgow, commanding general, San Francisco Port of Embarkation; Colonel Calvin L. Whittle, chief, Sixth Army Transportation section; Lt. Colonel James E. Feliz, chief, movements control division, Sixth Army Transportation section, Presidio of San Francisco; Colonel K. W. Gillespie, director of operations; Colonel M. K. Matthews, director of services, and Lt. Colonel G. K. Gifford, chief, management division, all of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation.

They were able to view throughout the day, this engineering marvel of comfort and design which will leave San Francisco daily, travel through the San Joaquin valley to Chicago, and which will include through cars for Texas and New Orleans.

Equipment on each train (there are six trains) includes three chair cars with reclining seats and leg rests (all seats reserved) a full dining car and lunch-counter diner and coffee bar, a "big dome" lounge car with six-foot windows that seats 57 persons and is open to all passengers at all times, and a variety of pullman accommodations including upper and lower berths, drawing rooms, compartments, roomettes and double bedrooms.

A courier nurse with at least one years' previous hospital experience behind her, will be on call throughout each trip, principally to assist mothers with young children and elderly persons.

Incidentally, if you were one of the more than 7,000 persons who viewed the train in its public showing on the tracks adjacent to the Marina green outside the Presidio recently, and you wondered how the train got there and how it would get gone to Oakland to join its brothers, you were not alone!

We wondered too, so we asked. The answer: a barge. A big ole' barge floated right up to the dock where the railroad tracks ended and presto, one "Chief" rode the waves across the Bay to Oakland.

QM Anniversary to Be Marked by Picnic Here

Presidio military and civilian personnel and their guests will observe the 179th anniversary of the founding of the Quartermaster corps on 12 June, with an all-day picnic at Flood Park, which is located near the town of Menlo Park.

Colonel Louis G. Bumen, Sixth Army Quartermaster, is head of the planning committee for the affair, and is assisted by Lt. Colonel H. F. Kuenning and Major Robert Berry, Sixth Army Quartermaster section, and Major James Sommer, Post Quartermaster section, Presidio of San Francisco.

Present chief of the Quartermaster corps is Major General Kester L. Hastings.

News in Books

Savings, hobbies and literature are subjects of wide interest to be found in recent new additions to the Sixth Army Reference library.

The library, located in Building M13, has these books available on a two-weeks basis, if they cannot be found in your local library.

"Federal Accounting," by E. S. Naylor. This volume, "sets forth the fundamentals of government accounting as it is practiced today, and the practical problems that confront students of this subject."

"Statistical Quality Control," by E. L. Grant. An explanation of the statistical techniques that can be widely used to reduce costs and improve product quality.

"The Gun Digest," by J. T. Amber. Complete facts on guns including sections on collecting, the rifle, shotgun, handgun, foreign firearms, cartridges, sights and miscellaneous articles on criminal investigation, and European proof marks.

"High Fidelity Simplified," by H. D. Weiler. Descriptions and characteristics of the components of high fidelity home music systems, aimed especially at the music lover who wishes to build his own system from available commercial parts.

"The Best Plays of 1952-53," by Louis Kronenberger. Ten plays both in excerpt and summary including: "The Time of the Cookoo," "Bernadine," "Dial M for Murder," "The Climate of Eden," "The Love of Four Colonels," "The Crucible," "Picnic," "Wonderful Town," "Emperor's Clothes," and "My Three Angels."

"A History of Christianity," by K. S. Latourette. A well-rounded summary of the entire history of Christianity in all its phases and in its setting in the human scene, by one of the most outstanding church historians of this generation.

NG Strength Up!

Combined National Guard strength increased by more than 25,000 during February and March, bringing the total NG strength to almost 350,000 as of Apr. 1, 1954. Approximately 46,000 are in the Air NG and about 302,000 in Army units.

ALL PX STORES WILL BE CLOSED

FOR INVENTORY

WEDNESDAY, 9 JUNE

BAY AREA EXCHANGE

1954

ELECTIONS

(By Armed Forces Press Service)
(This is the 11th in a series dealing with State election.)

Wyoming: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Aug. 17) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Clerk. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: S-R-G-SO-CA.

Mississippi: Absentee ballot may be used for primary (Aug. 24) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Registrar. Ballot must be

Key to Abbreviations

Unless otherwise noted, General Elections will be held Nov. 2, 1954, in all states.

Abbreviations: FPCA—Federal Post Card Application (Form 76), S—U.S. Senator, R—U.S. Representative, G—Governor, SO—State officers other than Governor, LO—Local officers, RQ—Referendum questions, CA—Constitutional amendments.

returned no later than day of election. Election: S-R.

Arizona: To register, request registration form from County Recorder. You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 7) and general elections. Send FPCA to County recorder no earlier than 30 days before election. Ballot must be returned no later than 6 p.m. on day of election. Election: R-G-SO-LO.

Utah: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 7) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Clerk. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: R-SO-LO-CA.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 4 June—Finals Sixth Army Photo contest, 1000; quiz show, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 5 June—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 6 June—Rythm Review, 2000. Monday, 7 June—General Motors show and guitar and ukelele instructions, 2000.

Tuesday, 8 June—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200. Wednesday, 9 June—Tournaments: scrabble, shuffleboard and pinochle, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 10 June—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 4 June—Raid the Icebox, 2000.

Saturday, 5 June—Tournaments, 2000.

Sunday, 6 June—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; club night, 2000.

Monday, 7 June—Ceramics with Miss Rippon instructing, 2000.

Tuesday, 8 June—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 9 June—"Show Business," drama group meeting with Marilyn Tobener, 2000.

Thursday, 10 June—Square dance, 2000.

Judging Today

Judging of the finals in the Sixth Army Photographic contest will get underway at 1000 today at the Presidio Service Club. Results will be announced in next week's "Star-Presidian."

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 4 June—"Black Horse Canyon," with Joel McCrea and Mari Blanchard.

Saturday, 5 June—"Indiscretion of an American Wife," with Montgomery Clift and Jennifer Jones.

Sunday, 6 June—"The Siege at Red River," with Van Johnson and Joanne Dru.

Monday, 7 June—"From Here to Eternity," with Montgomery Clift, Burt Lancaster and Donna Reed.

Tuesday, 8 June—"Island Rescue," with David Niven and Glynnis Johns.

Wednesday, 9 June and Thursday, 10 June—"Johnny Dark," with Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 4 June—"Indiscretion of an American Wife," with Montgomery Clift and Jennifer Jones.

Saturday, 5 June—"Siege at Red River," with Van Johnson and Joanne Dru.

Sunday, June 6—"Black Horse Canyon," with Joel McCrea and Mari Blanchard.

Tuesday, 8 June—"Johnny Dark," with Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 4 June—"Julius Caesar," with Marlon Brando and James Mason.

Monday, 7 June—"Black Horse Canyon," with Joel McCrea and Mari Blanchard.

Wednesday, 9 June—"Bwana Devil," with Barbara Britton and Robert Stack.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 6 June—"Johnny Dark," with Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie.

Tuesday, 8 June—"Black Horse Canyon," with Joel McCrea and Mari Blanchard.

Thursday, 10 June—"Bwana Devil," with Barbara Britton and Robert Stack.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

"Friday, 4 June—"The Command," with Guy Madison and Joan Weldon.

Saturday, 5 June—"Black Horse Canyon," with Joel McCrea and Mari Blanchard.

Sunday, 6 June and Monday, 7 June—"Julius Caesar," with James Mason and Marlon Brando.

Tuesday, 8 June—"Indiscretion of an American Wife," with Montgomery Clift and Jennifer Jones.

Wednesday, 9 June—"Island Rescue," with David Niven and Glynnis Johns.

Thursday, 10 June—"The Siege at Red River," with Van Johnson and Joanne Dru.

YMCA Program

Friday, 4 June—Movies, 2030.

Sunday, 6 June—Musical program, 2030; Sing with Vera, 2100.

Monday, 7 June—Y Handicrafters, 1300 to 1600; stage show, 2030.

Tuesday, 8 June—Y Weavers, 1100 to 1600; ceramics and pottery class, 1830 to 2130.

Wednesday, 9 June—Dance, 2015.

Thursday, 10 June—Y Weavers, 1100 to 1600; ceramics and pottery class, 1830 to 2130.

Ord Juggler Ill; Local Singer Will Go to N. Y. Review

Fort Ord soldier Pvt. James Rinehart, winner of the Sixth Army Talent contest held here at the Presidio recently, who was scheduled to travel to New York for the national "Talent Patrol" contest Sunday, has taken ill and is now in Letterman Army Hospital.

Sixth Army runner-up Cpl. Richard Armbrust, baritone vocalist, who is stationed on the Presidio of San Francisco with the Sixth Army Band, will be the replacement.

Prior to service, baritone Cpl. Armbrust studied music at the College of the Pacific, Santa Barbara, and U.C.L.A., as well as being under the tutelage of the famed singer John Charles Thomas.

Armbrust has appeared as soloist with the Vallejo and Stockton Symphonies, and with the Vallejo Chorus. His specialty is light opera and opera.

He was also among the five Presidio soldiers who won places as delegates to Steve Allen's television feature "Talent Patrol" and a trip to New York to appear on the show in September of last year.

Pvt. Rinehart, a comedian and juggler, was a recent graduate of San Diego State College, and prior to entry into the Army travelled as an entertainer in the East.

Uniform Change

An Army Department message to all commands authorizes a change in SR 600-37-2. It allows an optional light taupe women's summer uniform and authorizes—for the summer season this year—a white dress uniform for women officers and enlisted women for duty in lieu of the service and semi-dress uniform. White shoes and handbag are to be substituted for brown shoes and handbag. Purchase of the white uniform will remain optional.

Progress Preview, Science Show, Set For Service Club

"Previews of Progress," a dramatic, non-technical science show sponsored by General Motors, will be shown Monday at 2000 at the Presidio Service club. There is no admission charge and anyone may attend.

This story of progress through engineering and science will include many of the most recent developments in scientific research.

Jet propulsion, according to Mr. Robert Tuck, narrator of the show, is more than 2,000 years old. To prove that statement, he will present a replica of Hero's aeolipile of 200 B. C., which was the world's first known jet engine.

The modern application of jet propulsion will be illustrated in two ways. First, a miniature jet engine, operating on the same principle as the German V-1 buzz bomb, will be placed in actual operation after being anchored in place. The blast of its high pressure flame creates a roar that will fill the entire auditorium.

Following this demonstration, models of a Douglas Skystreak fighter plane and a V-2 rocket will be driven at high speed the entire length of the auditorium, propelled by tiny but powerful jets of compressed gas.

A bottle with a dual personality will be demonstrated. The bottle is used to pound a nail into a piece of wood, then it is shattered by dropping into it a small piece of abrasive material.

But the experiment that compares with any feat of magic is the manufacture of synthetic rubber. The demonstrator merely pours two liquids into a pop bottle and shakes. In about sixty seconds, out jumps a large ball of white fluffy rubber—twelve or fifteen times the volume of the bottle containing it. "Jumping Rubber," which at present has no commercial application, was invented by Dr. Avery A. Morton, a professor at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Microwaves that wiggle through the air at the rate of 10 billion a second and carry piggy-back thousands of telephone messages and several TV programs with them at the same time will also be demonstrated.

Embarcadero "Y" Sets Two Summer Outings

Early summer outings planned for servicemen by the Embarcadero YMCA, include two weekend trips to the country.

There will be swimming, fishing, dancing and sightseeing on the Monterey weekend tour planned for 12 and 13 June.

And on 19 and 20 June, there will be a "Y" camp outing in the Santa Cruz mountains, where the private campsite offers swimming, hiking, softball, volleyball, good food and dancing. There will be cabin lodgings available and campfires to gather around at night.

Interested personnel may sign up now at the program office in the Embarcadero "Y," located at 166 The Embarcadero.

A supper club will be held Tuesday at the "Y," beginning at 1800. Charge is only 35 cents for a home-cooked meal, which will be followed by a movie travelogue titled, "Hawaii Calls."

And there is dancing at the "Y" three nights each week: Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, beginning at 2030.

TO HONOR THE DEAD—A squad of riflemen from the Sixth Army Honor Guard, Detachment A, 6002 ASU, fired a volley over the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at the Presidio Cenotaph on Monday in commemoration of Memorial Day. Taps lingered solemnly over the bivouac of the dead. From within the Presidio was sounded a twenty-one gun salute. Presidio rites were only a small part of City-wide observance of prayer, eloquent speeches and parades full of military and civilian fanfare. (Army photo by Garner)

Cinema Previews

"BLACK HORSE CANYON," F*. A stout-hearted woman rancher and a "saddle tramp" combine their efforts to capture an outlaw killer stallion.

"INDISCRETION OF AN AMERICAN WIFE," M. An attractive American wife attempts to terminate an affair she has had with a handsome young college professor in Rome. The entire movie is set against the background of the busy, modern Union station in Rome. (Not for the kiddies.)

"JOHNNY DARK," F*. A young automotive engineer and his attempts to create a sports car model for the conservative motor company which employs him is the meat of this film.

F*—Family M—Mature

The first flying machine to meet military specifications was accepted by the Army in August, 1909. The first specifications—drawn in December, 1907—called for a minimum speed of 40 miles per hour and a sustained flight of at least one hour. The machine—built by the Wright brothers—enabled the United States Army to don its wings.

A BIG BLOW was registered by Hill Topper Roger Campbell during the Topper-16th Base Post Office tilt last Thursday. The versatile Fort Scott hurler did much for the Toppers both on the mound and at the plate, but it wasn't enough to stop the 16th BPO men from overtaking a two-run lead in the bottom of the seventh and winning with a final 7-5. BPO catcher is Jim Horne, umpire Bill Dale. (Star-Presidian photo by Metcalfe)

Detachment 1 Beats Hill Toppers in Sixth Straight Victory; Scott Shines

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

If there's such a thing as a Most Valuable Player among the softball enthusiasts in the Post Intra-Mural Softball League a good candidate for the honor would be Dave Scott of the Detachment 1, 6002 ASU, nine. Pitcher Scott ran his win streak to six straight against no losses this week to put Colonel Johnston's band of hard-playing finance clerks way ahead in intra-mural standings.

The doughty hurler clamped the Fort Scott Hill Toppers 16-7, contributing platewise four for four, with two RBIs.

He was supported as usual with an iron net of an infield and some polished fielding. Batters George Van Ausdall, John Keeling and Bob Serginian tagged three hits apiece to help power Captain Abram Montez' Double-O-Deucers to victory.

Wittington shouldered the loss for the Hill Toppers. He was relieved by Campbell in the fifth.

On Wednesday of last week the Toppers were brought down once more, this time by the 16th Base Post Office. Blake hurled the route for the winners, allowing six earned runs. The Toppers led into the bottom of the last inning, whereupon BPO batters awoke and blasted four runs to overtake a 5-3 deficit and win a cliff-hanger from the earnest Fort Scott boys.

On Friday the latter nine reversed their bad fortune with a 17-8 decision over the Able Company MPs. Wittington vindicated himself splendidly in this one, going the route.

First sacker Lund and relief hurler Campbell each emptied the bags with roundtrippers to spark the big sixth inning merry-go-round that gave the Toppers their substantial margin.

In other games this week Headquarters Detachment, 30th Engineer Group, outclassed the 102d MRU nine 13-6 with Hammond turning in a six-hitter for the winners. Carl Chute took the loss.

Heavy on the wood for the engineers was Smith, who connected three for five, two doubles and a single.

The Headquarters, 505th MP, softballers picked themselves up from an early-season slump and whipped the 315th Engineers and Harbor Defense in consecutive games.

Les Nuckolls won his own ball game against the 315th. The teams were tied 21-all at the bottom of the seventh whereupon the Ventura hurler clipped a long fly to bring in Cupp for the winning marker.

The MPs were ahead 16-2 in the fifth, at which time batsmen on both sides went wild to register the final tally.

MP catcher Campbell homered, Gartenberg and Coffman each got 3 for 4.

Against Harbor Defense Nuckolls pitched a tight two-hitter to win 9-2. Heavystickers on both teams were hampered by a buffeting headwind which allowed very few blows out of the infield and kept scoring down to a minimum.

Standings as of Wednesday morning of this week:

Team	W	L
Detachment 1, 6002 ASU	6	0
21st Engineer Co.	3	0
30th Group	7	1
Company B, 505th	5	1
315th Engineers	4	2
102d MRU	4	3
Company A, 505th	2	2
99th Engineer Company	2	2
Hill Toppers	2	3
16th BPO	2	4
Sixth Army	2	4
HQ, 505th	3	5
C Company, 505th	1	4
HQ, 9th AAA	0	4
Harbor Defense	0	6

Bear!

California's 1954 bear hunting regulations are now in effect and sportsmen may take advantage of a new year-round open season with no bag limit in Del Norte, Humboldt and Trinity counties.

The hunting season in Mendocino County, formerly open throughout the year, will run from August 7 to January 15.

The Department of Fish and Game advises that a hunting license is necessary to take bears throughout the State, including the three-county open area.

Ordster Picked

Don Hamilton of the Fort Ord volleyball team was picked by the U.S. Volleyball Association for an Armed Forces All-American squad it was announced recently.

Others on the All-Star roster include John Gay and Frank O'Bannon, Hamilton AFB; Henri Collis and Lloyd Waller, Los Alamitos NAS, and Robert Voelker, Mather AFB.

Record Bags!

California hunters claimed record bags of quail, pheasants, doves, geese, bears and rabbits in 1953, according to returns from the annual postal questionnaire sent out by the Department of Fish and Game.

ED KOHLER, Kansas City, Kans., High School quarterback, models new built-in mouthpiece designed to prevent chipped choppers on the gridiron. A Kansas City dentist, Dr. Howard Dukes, developed the device in collaboration with several other local dentists. Last season the mouthpiece was used by 110 Kansas City prep grididders without a single dental casualty.

Bowling Results!

56th MRU, Sleuth Keglers Lead West & East, Nats Tie

By Pfc Ross Metcalfe

A third hard-rolling week in the kegler circuit swept on with the 56th MRU garnering 4-0 in the win-loss standings to top the Eastern League with a total pin count of 6561. Powering the 56th was Malinski with a total pin tally of 1479 and high game of 218. For the losers Thorne was leader with sum of 1396 and high of 180.

The 99th Engineers skidded by Det. 1, 6002 SU, with a scant 2 1/2-1 1/2 with Engineer Eisele strong man with a count of 1328 and high 187. Spark for the vanquished was Morgan with 1388 and 209.

Company B, 505th MPs tripped by the Keystone Kops 3-1 paced by Swartz with a calculation of 1400 and high 207. Kop Johnson rolled a 1404 and 201.

Headquarters, 6th Army G-2, whacked the 6300 ASU 4-0, pace-setter Lawson smashing out a 1314 total and high of 179. Loser Morgan rolled 1378 and 183.

On Tuesday night the Sleuths topped the win-loss ledger by 4-0 over the Tags with a total pin-fall of 6395. High-pointer for the winners was Yonemura with a 1342 total and 201 high. Tag high was Jacobs with 1561 and 203.

Hq. Co., 6th Army, outpinned the Pinsplitters 3-1 with Wooten the big force holding a total of 968 and high 179. Lupfer fired the beaten by 1419 and 208.

Constable Hoskins ignited his team to a 3-1 score over the Topos by adding up 1449 pins and high of 191. Topo Martin bowled 1229 and 155.

In the Nationals, the Compt-Rollers rolled over 6513 SU to the tune of 3-1 with Dell taking high-game honors with an average of 138 and high 179. Cox of the crumbled led his five with 155 and 185.

Hq., 6th Army No. 1, took the 102 MRU to the wall with a sum of 4-0. High-pointer Brown rolled a 162 average and 178 high. Poet-ker of the worsted came home with 136 and 140.

The Maroos vanquished the 16th BPO 3-1. Maroo Lawton fired his quintet with a 153 total and high 176. Postman Weilgus summed a 144 and 201.

Det. 1, 6002 SU, outmaneuvered the Engineer Section, Sixth Army,

3-1. Zillmer spirited the duece with his 157 aggregate, 180 high, and Engineer Arnim topped his team with 117 and 163.

The fourth week Western League meets had three 4-0 scores.

The Flashers were first off with a 4-0 win over the Pinsplitters. Campion outpinned his group with an average of 172 and total of 450. Splitter Consentino knocked over a 157 and 440.

Next was the 99th Engineers' 4-0 win over the Topos fired by Decker with a sum of 188 and 480. Topo topper was Harris with 177 and 439.

The Sleuths crushed the Constables in their 4-0 tilt powered by Yohemura with an average of 176 and 451 total. High man for the trimmed was Hoskins with 190 and 472.

The Tags clobbered Hq. Co., 6th Army, 3-1 with stalwart Jacobs racking up 183 and 532. Gollnick was the loser force with 171 and 487.

Standings for the three leagues as of Monday were as follows:

WESTERN
Team	W	L
Money-Bags	6	2
Sleuths	11	5
Flashers	8	4
99th Engr. No. 1	5	3
Pinsplitters	8	8
Constables	7	9
HQ Co. 6A	5	7
Topos	5	7
Tags	5	11
EASTERN
Team	W	L
56th MRU	11	1
99th Engrs. No. 2	7 1/2	4 1/2
6300 ASU	7	5
Det. No. 1 6002	6 1/2	5 1/2
Co. B 505th MP	6	6
HQ 6A G-2	5	7
Slow Rollers	4	8
Keystone Kops	1	11
NATIONAL
Team	W	L
Compt-rollers	7	5
6513 SU	7	5
HQ 6th Army	6 1/2	5 1/2
Det 1 6002 SU	6	6
102d MRU	6	6
Engr. 6th Army	6	6
16th BPO	5 1/2	6 1/2
Maroos	4	8

Some Close Matches!

Ft. Ord Volleyballers Win Area Title; Presidio Loses to Lewis

The power-laden Fort Ord Warriors emerged last Thursday night as winners of the Sixth Army volleyball championships following an exciting three-stanza session with a hard-playing Fort Lewis, Washington, crew.

The Ordsters picked up their first game with an easy 15-1 score then, with Fort Ord substituting their second string, the Lewis men fought their way from behind at a one-time score of 9-3 early in the game, to tie the Warriors at 13-13 and go on to capture the game at 15-13. In the rubber game it was the same story as in the first. The Warriors, with exacting precision, spiked their way to a blazing 15-3 in little less than fifteen minutes to win the championship.

Wednesday afternoon games pitted Fort Lewis and the Sixth Army Medical Laboratory team, representing the Presidio, against each other with Lewis emerging as the victor with scores of 15-3, 15-2, and Fort Ord versus Letterman Army Hospital with Ord the winner 15-3, 15-2.

Fort Lewis reached the finals by virtue of their victory over Letterman.

In other play-offs, Letterman kept in top contention by blasting Dugway Proving Grounds in three sets, and the Presidio sextet gave Fort Ord a scare before falling victim. The Ord Warriors won the opener, 15-10, but were outlasted in the second, 18-16. With match play tied 1-1, the southerners poured on the heat and won the final match 15-3.

Fort Lewis, after losing the tourney's opener to Ord, came back to drop two opponents, Oakland Army Base and Dugway. Fort Mason dumped Sharpe General depot with an easy 15-1, 15-3 then succumbed to the Presidio medics 15-4, 15-12.

SERVICE STARS

2nd Lt. Clark SCHOLLES
OLYMPIC SWIMMING STAR AT CAMP CARSON, COLORADO

A MICHIGAN U. GRAD WHERE HE SWAM THE 100 YD. RACE IN 49.8 SEC. IN 52 SCHOLLES WON THE OLYMPIC 100 METER FREE STYLE TITLE AND WITH THE ARMY PERFORMED IN THE PAN-AMERICAN MEET IN BRAZIL.

Raiders Lose to Parks AFB Nine, Tie Oriskany Crew in BAAF Tilts

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Consistently good hitting and dependable pitching typified the Presidio Raiders' sorties into Bay Area Armed Forces League, professional and collegiate competition this week and last.

They entered one decisive win over the top-rated State League Stockton Braves for the sake of prestige, tied the U.S.S. Oriskany in BAAF competition and the West Contra Costa JC nine in collegiate action.

They lost the real bread-and-butter game against Parks Air Force Base last Thursday, thus bringing their losses to two in BAAF League standings and putting more distance between themselves and the loop-leading, unbeaten Alameda NAS.

On Sunday it was Raider moundsman Bob Hill who clamped the Stockton team to a slim four hits, no runs, to help give the local garrison a 5-0 shut-out victory over one of the toughest teams in the State League.

The soldiers battered Brave pitcher Payne to the ground with a volley of 13 hits, these off the bats of thirdsacker Chuck Burdick, short "Chief" Asepermy, and catcher Sal Fucile, all of whom slammed at least a pair.

The Presidio picked up its first marker in the third, two in the sixth and two in the final inning to win hands down.

Against Parks a usually tight Raider defense fell apart at the seams and forsook some brilliant three-hit pitching by soldier Wayne Hamaker to allow the flyboys the final 5-4 edge.

Local batsman Kenny Klopp tagged three blows out of five appearances to spark the locals' 10-hit offense, with Fucile at 2/4 and Pannell connecting for a much-needed two-run triple in the sixth—all of which didn't make up for the Raiders' inexplicably blundersome infield and garden. Reddick hurled for the winners.

On Tuesday of this week the Raiders met a second BAAF offering in the U.S.S. Oriskany nine. The Presidio had the game sewn up with three runs collected in the first, second and third frames and held that edge up to the final bracket at which point sailors May, Roche, Miller and Libby parlayed three singles, a double and another single to tie the game up. The game was called following a scoreless tenth.

Presidio moundsman Hank Monroe gave six blows to the Oriskany company, the same as sailor McCormac's allowance.

Last Friday's Contra Costa scramble commenced at 1700 hours and was called on account of darkness at the end of seven innings.

Hank Monroe started on the mound and was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth. Sal Fucile hurled the last inning.

It was Ken Klopp, pinch-hitting for Gene Terry, who whacked a solid double in the fourth stanza to tie the score. Jayvee bats had

Troy Herriage

Ex-Raider Hurler Plays For Boston Farm Club After Good Season Here

Pitcher Troy Herriage, recently discharged from the Army, and lately of the Presidio Red Raider ballclub, has returned to professional baseball and is playing with the San Jose Red Sox.

The 21-year old Oakdale, California, righthander reached the fame of his Service baseball career early this season when he pitched ten winners in eleven games.

Ironically, the only game he lost was to the San Jose team with which he is now serving.

Herriage is owned by the Boston Red Sox, of which the San Jose Reds are a farm club. He is married and has a daughter.

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

QUESTIONS

1. How many no-hitters have been tossed by Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians?
2. What was the first written rule of basketball?
3. What basketball star was voted the outstanding player of last year's National Invitation Tournament?
4. Against what country did the United States basketball team set an Olympic scoring record in 1952?
5. What school won the first National Invitation Basketball Tournament?

ANSWERS

1. Three—in 1940, 1946 and 1951.
2. "The ball may be thrown in any direction with one or both hands."
3. Walter Dukes of Seton Hall.
4. They defeated Chile by a score of 103 to 55, July 29, 1952.
5. Temple University in 1938.

Conservation Pledge!

"I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend the waste in natural resources of my country—its soil and minerals, its forests, waters and wildlife."

opened up a two-run lead in the top of the fourth. Contra Costa went ahead in the sixth off blows by Buckett and Hatchell, only to be tied again on Fucile's pinch fly ball in the bottom of the same inning.

Monroe fanned a total of seven adversaries, Fucile two, JC hurler Luce, seven.

Next home game for the Raiders is tomorrow against the 12th Naval District team, 1400 hours, Presidio ball field. They meet the Oakland semi-pro Lewis Stores club at 1330 on Sunday, also at home.

WACs Exchange Hits With Stoneman Girls, Lose 15-13

The Presidio WAC softball team lost a close extra-inning clout-fest with the visiting Camp Stoneman nine here on Wednesday, 15-13. The game was a practice tilt.

The Presidiennes led the south-ers 7-0 into the third inning, whereupon the opposition banged its way into the lead. A seventh-inning 11-11 deadlock was broken in an overtime stanza to give the Travelettes the final advantage.

Ruth Gavigan hurled for the locals, with Delores Argue her battery-mate. They opposed Donnie Godboldt and Shirley O'Day.

Heavystickers for the Presidio WACs included a new acquisition to the team, Bernardini, who connected for three; Ladue, who singled with the bags loaded, and veterans Nordstrom and Argue.

Next league game for the Presidiennes comes on Wednesday when they meet the Oak Knoll Nurses away from home.

Top Ft. Ord Cindermen To Compete at Compton Prior to All-Sixth Meet

Four members of the Fort Ord track and field contingent set to compete in the Sixth Army meet this weekend have made plans to enter the Compton Relays today at Compton, California.

The warm-up for All-Sixth competition will see spikesters George Brown, Ollie Matson, Stan Lang and Billy Tidwell work against civilian and service tracksters today and go on to the Fort Lewis area meeting tomorrow.

Brown will be entered in the Compton broadjump, Matson in the sprints, Lang in the 880 and Tidwell in the half-mile and mile.

The latter, who whipped Mal Whitfield at Modesto last weekend, will be running against another top U.S. miler, Wes Santee.

BPO Whips Sixth Army

The 16th Base Post Office softball nine defeated HQ, Sixth Army, 5-3 in a practice game here this week. BPO's Blake mounded against HQ's Marlor and Brown.

Heavy stickers for the winners were Wolfe, with two doubles, Gardner, one double, and Torro, who homered and doubled. Sorting tripled to boost the losers' offense.

Fort Ord Looks Strong!

Top Service Thinclads to Vie In All-Sixth Meet this Weekend

Track and field connoisseurs will be eyeing the performances of some of the Nation's most promising athletes this weekend as the All-Sixth Army Track and Field Championships get underway at Fort Lewis, Washington.

Five teams will field an estimated 45 cinder specialists at the event. Installations to be represented include the Presidio, Fort Ord, Fort Lewis, Letterman Army Hospital and Camp Erwin.

Of these, 17 will be picked on a basis of tournament performance to represent the Sixth Army at the forthcoming All-Army event at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, 15-16 June.

The Presidio delegation set for competition at the All-Sixth affair has been whittled to three men—all members of Company B, 505th Military Police Battalion.

They are Cpls. Vern Wilson, Jack Barnes and Roscoe Morris.

In their most recent tries at the Modesto Relays, Wilson came second in the high jump and Morris tied fourth in the pole vault. Barnes is a high hurdles contender.

Some of the nationally-known athletes scheduled to compete in the Fort Lewis tournament include last year's NAAU champ and Olympics entry George Brown, who copped all of three titles in the 1953 Area meet—the 100- and 200-yard dashes and broadjump; Ollie Matson, All-Army fullback last year and another '52 Olympian, who won the 440 in last year's meet, and Billy Tidwell, miler who whipped Mal Whitfield at the Modesto meet. These three entries will be performing for Fort Ord.

Ollie Matson

It was the Fort Ord team, powered by Brown, weightman Earl Putnam, and distance specialist Robert Zuniga, which stole 10 first place laurels in an 18-event total and ran wild to a 39-point margin victory over a field of five other Area teams in last year's championships. Eight Ordsters competed in the subsequent All-Army action and all eight were chosen to compete in the Inter-Service meet. Following an Army victory in that, Brown, Charles Holloway and Cliff Livingston of Ord and Bob Cook of Roberts journeyed to the NAAU championship at Dayton, Ohio, where Brown won the title in the broadjump.

This year's Inter-Service championship has been scheduled for 25-26 June, at Camp Lejeune, Va. The National AAU events will be held at St. Louis, Mo., 18-19 July.

The Russians lay claim to the largest fish ever caught in fresh water—a white sturgeon 26 feet long weighing 3,200 pounds.

George Brown

If ever there was a worse shel-lacking the record books don't show it. Kansas City College scored 234 points in a game against the Rainbows in 1923. During the spree, a hotshot on the Rainbow team scored a ringer. Final score: 234-2.

In the first World Series back in 1903, Pirate hurler Charles Phillippe pitched five complete games! In that initial classic, Phillippe hurled and won three out of the first four, but Pittsburgh was defeated by the Red Sox who swept the last four games.

On the salt flats of Bonneville, Utah, on 16 September, 1947, John R. Cobb drove his Railton Red Lion at 403.135 MPH to record the fastest mile ever driven on land.

A golfer must be a professional for five years before he is eligible to enter the men's PGA championship.

Mary K. Brown, who held the U. S. Women's Singles Tennis crown in 1912, 1913 and 1914, was the only national tennis champion in history ever to be a top ranking amateur golfer. She reached the finals in the 1924 National Women's Amateur Championship.

Grover C. Alexander pitched four one-hitters in 1915, a record.

Athletes Signed

Billy Vessels and Leon Heath, former Oklahoma University grid-iron stars, report for active duty in the Army June 21. Also facing induction is Marques Haynes, sensational basketball star. The ex-captain of the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters recently took his pre-induction physical.

Golfers Get Eye

The Presidio golf team drew a bye this week in the Bay Area Armed Forces Golf League, bringing their win-loss record to 3-0.

Two previous victories were marked over Parks Air Force Base and Camp Stoneman. Next live competition comes 22 June against Hamilton AFB.

WHEN OLD FRIENDS meet once more, it is always a time for joy. And these friends of many years, who lived through the sorrow and hard fighting in Korea, were re-united under far more pleasant circumstances in San Francisco last week, when Major Yung Jin Kim (left) ranking ROK Army nurse, and Major Eunsoon Kim, visited at the Presidio home of Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Herbert J. Witte. In Korea, Colonel and Mrs. Witte first met the Majors Kim back in 1947 when they were students in the first class of Korean Army nurses, and he was assigned to the 377th Station hospital there. Colonel Witte is now with the Medical section, Headquarters Sixth Army, and the majors visited here prior to returning to South Korea this week, after six months of study at Fitzsimmons General hospital in Colorado. (Army photo by Brink)

Ranking ROK Army Nurses Depart After Study, Visit Presidio Friends

★ ★ ★

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

Two shy, diminutive South Korean Army nurses sailed from San Francisco this week, their feeling of gratitude and affection for America more intensified by their six-months' stay here.

It was a feeling that began on the ripped-up battlefields of Korea these past years, when, as ROK Army nurses, they had alongside their American counterpart, comforted the dying, aided the wounded and prayed for the chance to evacuate their casualties to the rear areas.

One was Major Yung Jin Kim, ranking ROK Army nurse and, until her departure for this country, chief nurse of the South Korean Army Nurse Corps.

The other was Major Eunsoon Kim. The two Majors Kim were members of the initial class of ROK nurses who were graduated there in August, 1948. They are not related, but as they explained, the name Kim is as common there as Smith or Jones is in America.

Major Yung Kim recalled with much pleasure that it was Major General William F. Dean, now Sixth Army Deputy Commander, who, as military governor in Korea at the time of their graduation, pinned to her shoulders the commissioning insignia.

"I am thrilled," she explained, "he then shake my hand. I not do that before, not custom there. Is much good man, I am very pleased to do."

The pair has just completed a six-months course at Fitzsimmons General hospital, Camp Carson, Colorado, and at graduation ceremonies in May were presented their diplomas by Brig. General Paul I. Robinson, until this month, commanding officer at Fitzsimmons.

Major Eunsoon Kim has been awarded a scholarship and hopes to return to this country next January for further training.

While in San Francisco, the two officers were able to renew a precious friendship with Lt. Colonel and Mrs. Herbert J. Witte. Colonel Witte, now with the physical standards branch of Sixth Army Medical section, and Mrs. Witte, were among those Americans stationed in Korea prior to the outbreak of hostilities.

Colonel Witte, in 1947, was assigned to the 377th Station hospital and was there when the two majors, along with 27 other young women, were graduated in 1948 to become the nucleus of the Korean Army Nurse corps, a corps that now includes some 600 personnel.

But the battle raged by Major Yung Jin Kim was as intense in its way as any fought on a bloody hillside.

The struggle to obtain girls for nurses training was almost overwhelming. Major Kim, together with an American, Major McConnell who was the first Korean nursing advisor, worked long and hard to overcome the hesitations among the Korean girls about the advisability of becoming nurses.

When the fighting began, Major Kim moved to the front and was everywhere her tiny feet would carry her throughout the entire campaign. She struggled with every conceivable type of shortage in facilities and supplies.

But her worst shortage was nurses.

"In one day come 1,300 persons, all very sick, bleeding, need help, we are five nurses there. We put on chapel floor, try all we can help, some very bad. I have big story—but I cannot speak."

It IS a big story, and Major Kim summed it up very well in her own words above. The ratio of nurses for Americans who fought there was one for each 20 patients, while for South Koreans, it was one nurse for each 300 casualties!

Hospitals were wherever straw mats could be placed on a floor. Always immensely overcrowded, only one foot of space was allowed between each mat. Major Kim explained that the Koreans were content with the mats since many of them did not like the idea of beds "so high up from the ground."

In the matter of blood supplies, Major Kim was lavish in her praise of American aid. It was so necessary since, as she explained, the difficulty in establishing a blood bank in South Korea was a big one, the reason being that to the South Korean, to lose blood was to lose so many days of your life depending on the amount lost. Therefore, if you gave blood, you were actually giving away so many days of your life!

In the fighting areas, Major Kim and her associates soon learned that the Red Cross, symbol of mercy, was a symbol for butchery by enemy forces and they quickly blotted out the crosses with mud to protect their wounded.

And the conflict brought personal tragedy to Major Kim whose family now consists of one sister, four nieces and two nephews. One sister's whereabouts is still a mystery. Major Eunsoon Kim's father and brother were carried off to North Korea early in the siege and no further word has ever been received from them.

In addition to their families, the majors were separated from their friends, the Wittes, since Mrs. Witte was evacuated to Japan in a hazardous boat trip, and Colonel Witte was assigned to KMAC as advisor to a Medical group.

Now that it's all over, Major Kim will continue her fight to enlarge and improve medical facilities in her country. There are presently 17 established hospitals throughout South Korea and three convalescent homes. Their total capacity is 2,000 and that isn't much.

In addition, as the major explained, there is nothing in South Korea comparable to our own veteran's administration. More, much more help is needed for those who require a lengthy convalescence, rehabilitation and financial aid. And so she expects to be very busy.

At this moment, this gracious little woman, who refused to speak of any of her two rows of decorations (we distinguished on the right side the Korean Presidential Unit Citation with two Oak Leaf Clusters) is on the high seas bound for her homeland. It can't help but be a better, healthier place to live just because she will be there.

The Army Signal Corps acquired the mission of historical photography in 1904.

New ROTC Course Starts This Fall In 53 Colleges

Washington—The Army has announced that general military science ROTC units will replace branch-type units at 53 universities and colleges at the beginning of the 1954-55 academic year.

Branch-type units which will be converted include infantry, armor, field artillery, AAA, engineer, signal corps, military police, ordnance, transportation, quartermaster, chemical, and pharmacy training forces.

The following colleges and universities will be affected: Bowdoin, (Me.), Boston College, Rutgers, Seton Hall (N.J.), Fordham, Providence (R.I.), Eastern Kentucky State, Kentucky University, Western Kentucky State, Western Maryland, Cincinnati, Duquesne, Canby College (Pa.), Pennsylvania Military College, Penn State, Temple.

Washington and Jefferson, William and Mary, Hampton Institute, University of Richmond, Virginia Polytechnic, Virginia State, Washington and Lee, University of Virginia, Marshall (W. Va.), Alabama State Teachers College at Florence and Jacksonville, University of Georgia (Atlanta Division), Mississippi State, Wake Forest.

Chattanooga, Arkansas, Loyola (New Orleans), Northeast Louisiana State, Northwestern State (La.), Southern University and A&M (Tex.), TCU, Kansas State, Western Michigan College of Education, Minnesota, Creighton (Nebr.), South Dakota, Wyoming, Arizona, California (Berkeley and Santa Barbara campuses), San Francisco, Santa Clara, Oregon, Washington, and Hawaii. (AFPS)

USAFI To Celebrate 12th Anniversary

Madison, Wis.—The three millionth enrollment in the United States Armed Forces Institute will be featured as USAFI celebrates its 12th anniversary here, June 16.

Civilian educators, former directors of USAFI, and present members of the Armed Forces Education Program Committee, will honor the birthday and the enrollment. Dr. John A. Hannah, Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Personnel), will be the featured speaker at the birthday banquet.

The present Director of USAFI is Dr. Robert Johns. USAFI is under the supervision of the Office of Armed Forces Information and Education and its director, Maj. Gen. Harlan N. Hartness, USA.

The faults that annoy us the most in others are often those we possess ourselves.

New Choral Group

Male military personnel in the area who are interested in forming a choral group on the Presidio of San Francisco, are urged to attend the initial meeting set for Monday at 1500 in the Presidio Post theatre. Men who have had some experience in glee club or choir work are particularly desired. Interested persons are to submit their name, rank, organization and telephone number to the Post Special Services officer, Building 122, as soon as possible.

DA Announces New Status for Eight General Officers

Routine changes in assignment affecting seven general officers and the retirement of another were announced today by Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

Brigadier General Hugh Cort, now commanding Camp Polk, Louisiana, has been transferred to Headquarters, Fort Ord, California, effective June 15.

Major General Clovis E. Byers, chief of staff of Allied Forces Southern Europe at Naples, Italy, has been named to succeed Major General George L. Eberle as deputy commandant of the National War College at Fort Lesley J. McNair, Washington, D. C.

General Eberle, who has applied for voluntary retirement after more than 37 years of Army service, will probably retire on June 30.

Major General Alonzo P. Fox, Army member on the Joint Strategic Survey Committee in the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Washington, D. C., will replace General Byers.

General Fox successor will be Major General Paul D. Harkins, commanding general of the 24th Infantry Division in Korea.

Brigadier General Cyrus A. Dolph, III, chief of the Army War Plans Branch in the Office of Army Assistant Chief of Staff, G-3, Washington, D. C., will leave the United States late this month for his new assignment with the U. S. Army Forces, Far East.

Brigadier General William W. O'Connor, assistant chief of staff, G-3, for Operations, of the Seventh Army in Germany, has been appointed to succeed Brigadier General Rinaldo Van Brunt as Deputy Special Assistant to the Army Chief of Staff for Reserve Components at the Pentagon, Washington, D. C.

General Van Brunt as announced previously, has been designated Chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) for Belgium-Luxembourg. He is expected to assume his duties early in July.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

Unified Regulations!

Warrant Officer Act Signed: Will Effect Statutory Grades

Washington—The Warrant Officer Act of 1954 has been signed by President Eisenhower making possible a uniform WO program for all of the Armed Forces. It will become effective Nov. 1, 1954, and will apply to WOs in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Coast Guard and Marine Corps.

RM Confab Set

The first Sixth Army Provost Marshal conference of its kind to be held at a CONUS Army level, will begin Thursday of next week and continue through Friday. Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, has been invited to deliver the opening address Thursday at 0830 in the Joint Operation center, Bldg. 1214, Fort Scott. This will be followed by introductory remarks by Colonel Shaffer F. Jarrell, Sixth Army Provost Marshal. Provost Marshals of Class I and II installations and commanders of Sixth Army area Military Police units will be among those attending to discuss subjects aired at the fourth Provost Marshal conference held at Camp Gordon, Georgia, in April, which was attended by Colonel Jarrell.

Army Announces New Eligibility For O'seas Duty

Washington—The Army has announced new eligibility requirements for further foreign service by enlisted personnel.

After returning from foreign service, they must serve 18 months in the continental U. S. or territory of residence before again becoming eligible for further foreign duty. This policy is affected by the following points:

1. Personnel enlisting within 90 days after they have been discharged will still be governed by the 18-month ZI tour policy. However, the break in service will be excluded from the stateside time.

2. Enlisted men who re-enlist after 90 days from date of discharge can apply for foreign service immediately—provided they are POR qualified.

3. Personnel returned from overseas duty and hospitalized due to wounds caused by enemy action or other injury or illness, not due to misconduct, are subject to the 18-month ruling. Their ZI tour time will take effect upon return to duty status.

4. Re-enlistments executed during the 18 months in the U. S. will not eliminate such EM from overseas duty at the completion of 18 months, except personnel on stabilized assignments for longer periods.

5. Residents of territories may be assigned to their particular territory only as long as the "need exists for their particular grade and qualifications. Otherwise they will be assigned to the continental U. S. and not considered to be in a foreign duty status.

Additional information is contained in AR 600-175, Change 4, dated May 12, 1954.

Smart Civilians!

Savings of nearly $13,000,000 were effected in fiscal 1953 through adoption of 11,814 suggestions by the Department of the Army. Awards to civilian personnel who made these suggestions totalled $282,520.

The bill setting up a statutory WO program came about for three main reasons. First, there is a wide difference between the laws and regulations on WOs in the various military services. Second, the Career Compensation Act of 1949 established four pay grades for WOs but did not establish military statutory grades. Third, the WO program needs to be vitalized by a mandatory system of consideration for promotion and elimination.

The WO Act provides for promotion, elimination and retirement of regular WOs of all services.

Four military grades have been set up in place of the present two. These are not the same as the four grades set up in 1949, since they were only pay grades. The present grades will be renamed. For example, a warrant officer (junior grade) will be redesignated a warrant officer, W-1. Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard chief warrant officers will remain commissioned WOs.

The bill provides that no WOs will be reduced from their present permanent or temporary grades as a result of the redesignations.

A warrant office, W-1 will be required to serve three years in grade before being considered for promotion. W-2s and W-3s must serve six years in grade before being considered for promotion. Boards will be convened at least annually to consider WOs for promotion.

Those who are twice passed over will be separated from the service with severance pay. WOs with 18 years of active service who have been passed over twice will be permitted to complete 20 years of active service to qualify for retirement pay.

All WOs, regardless of component, may apply for retirement after 20 years' active Federal service. The secretary of each service will decide whether the application should be accepted.

However, male WOs of age 62, and female WOs of age 55, will be retired mandatorily if they have completed 20 years of active service. The exceptions to this are male permanent regular WOs under age 62 who receive permission from the secretary of their service, and male WOs, either regular or reserve, who are under age 64 but who have not completed 20 years of service by age 62.

The promotion features of the act apply only to permanent regular WOs. The matter of promotion for temporary and reserve WOs is left to the secretaries of the individual services. (AFPS)

New Draft Rules!

The Senate has passed and sent on to the House of Representatives an amendment to the Doctor Draft Act which will allow the Armed Forces to use physicians, dentists or allied specialists as enlisted personnel in their professional capacities if they fail to qualify for commissions.

Under a recent U. S. Court of Appeals ruling, it has been impossible for the Armed Forces to draft such persons without commissioning them, even though they might be classed as security risks. Speedy affirmative action by the House on this amendment is expected.

CONTEST WINNER in the Army-level judging of the Fifth Inter-Service Photography Contest was Major Leslie C. Wood's 'Eve' (shown above). Major Wood won the first four places in the black-and-white category and placed four other pictures. Judges

Ansel Adams, Gordon Stevens and George Allen Young were unanimous in glowing plaudits for 'Eve.' Winners are currently on display at Sixth Army Headquarters building, Service Club and the Officers' Mess. (Story on page 4.)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 2

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 11 June, 1954

June Promotions Drop Sharply, No Master Sergeants

The Army has announced promotion quotas for the month of June to include the top four enlisted grades. There was a great drop from the April quota, with overall Army promotions for May only 72,500 as compared to 94,000 in April.

There are still no E-7, master sergeant ratings available, but Sixth Army has received 35 slots for E-6, Sergeant First Class, 1079 slots for E-5, Sergeant, 3547 slots for E-4, Corporal, and 2050 slots for E-3, Private First Class.

A breakdown of overall Army promotions shows E-7, none; E-6, 500; E-5, 22,000; and E-4, 50,000.

This is the fifth straight month that no master sergeant ratings have been received.

Army Air Expands!

The Army's expanding air program now operates 2,500 aircraft. These planes are assigned to Infantry, Artillery, Armor, Signal Corps, Corps of Engineers, Medical Service and Transportation Corps units.

179 Years Old!

Army Is Only Military Service Active Since the Revolution

America's oldest active fighting force—the U. S. Army—will observe its 179th anniversary June 14. It came into being in 1775 when the Second Continental Congress voted to establish an army representing all the 13 American Colonies, and 10 rifle companies were organized to join the "Minute-men" near Boston.

The first "regular" Army units were formed more than a year before America declared her independence from England. The Army is the only U. S. military force that has remained on active status since the Revolutionary War.

Since its last birthday, the Army has fired the first atomic artillery shell from the 280mm gun and has shipped the first A-artillery battalions to Europe.

The skysweeper—a 75mm automatic gun—has joined the AAA defenses. This electronically operated weapon is capable of firing 45 rounds a minute and can locate, track and destroy an enemy plane.

Guided missile units to protect key industrial centers throughout the country have been announced. The first such unit equipped with the Nike rocket is already stationed at Ft. Meade, Md.

The truce agreement in Korea was signed during the last 12 months—on July 27, 1953. Troops in Korea are building new defenses along the truce line, working at intensive combat training and helping to train the South Korean Army—just in case.

At the same time, troops in Europe have taken part in large-scale training operations with other NATO forces. Units in both Europe and the Far East are keeping themselves combat ready. (AFPS)

Training Pick Up!

Seven weeks additional effective service is being obtained from Army recruits. It used to take 39 weeks to examine, process, train, ship and return for discharge each new soldier. Now, the time has been cut to 32 weeks.

TELETYPE TAPE in the Sixth Army Communications center is inspected by Brigadier General Cho Eyun Tyun, chief Signal officer, Republic of Korea Army, as he visits the various Signal facilities at the Headquarters. He is accompanied on his tour by Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Signal officer, Headquarters Sixth Army, (foreground) and back row, l. to r.: Major Charles R. Knoeller, chief, Army communication, OPS division; and Lt. Colonel Charles J. Schauers, chief, plans and operations division. (Army Photo by Brink.)

Visits Headquarters!

ROK Chief Signal Officer Sees Many Advances During Tour

Brigadier General Cho Eyun Tyun, Chief Signal officer of the Republic of Korea Army, visited Headquarters Sixth Army Signal facilities this week after a tour of Washington and major Signal Corps installations throughout the United States.

Accompanying him on his tour of Sixth Army Signal facilities were Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Signal Officer, Sixth Army, and Lt. Colonel Charles J. Schauers, Chief of the plans and operations division, Signal section, who was an assistant Signal adviser to General Cho during the past 14 months in Korea.

General Cho was much impressed with the technological advances made since his last visit to the United States in 1923, when he graduated from Purdue and Indiana universities and obtained his engineering degrees.

He said: "I believe the most impressive new advance in electronics is television. I remember when a TV receiver consisted of nothing more than a neon bulb and a mechanical scanning disc, and then most of the time it didn't work. However, today, programs originating in New York can be seen in San Francisco. This is truly marvelous."

General Cho also stated that he was thrilled with the Headquarters Sixth Army Signal installations and the fine job they are doing. He said: "We have received much help from the American people in establishing a sound, stable, well-trained army, but we still have far to go to come up to the technical standards which you have set. The United States can well be proud of its accomplishments in the field of military and civil communications."

Annual Leave Policy For Civilian Employees Restated in Army Memo

Sixth Army policy in respect to annual leave for civilian employees in the Area was brought to the attention of employees at the Presidio this week with a Memorandum on the subject issued from Headquarters, Sixth Army.

The memorandum prescribed that annual leave was granted at such times and in such amounts as local conditions permit, and that authority for leave should be delegated to the lowest practicable supervisory level.

Under the provisions of Public Law 102, 83d Congress, the maximum accumulation of annual leave for all civilian employees within the United States has been reduced to thirty days. Where annual leave accumulations at the beginning of 1953 leave year were in excess of this maximum, such balances will remain to the employees' credit until subsequently reduced in accordance with policies prescribed by the Department of Defense.

Despite continuing workloads, operating officials and supervisors should encourage employees to take vacation leave and other periods of annual leave. Employees should be given the opportunity to plan and request specific dates for their vacation and where work schedules permit, every effort made to comply with such requests.

Temptation plants evil thoughts; your conscience plows them under.

Army Will Order Most ROTC Grads To Active Duty

Washington—The Army has announced that it will order to active duty nearly all reserve officers commissioned through ROTC between May 1, 1954, and Apr. 30, 1955.

The only exceptions will be ROTC graduates who are veterans of previous military service, and others not liable to induction under Selective Service regulations. All other newly commissioned officers will be called to active duty and ordered directly to their particular branch service schools for instructions.

Monthly quotas will be established by the Army beginning July 1, 1954, and continuing until June 30, 1955. Those eligible for active duty will be allowed to indicate the month in which they wish to be called and the Army will honor such requests as much as it can.

Officers of the Medical, Dental and Veterinary Corps will be given priority classifications in accordance with the Doctor Draft Act. These priorities will determine the order in which they are called to active duty with the Armed Forces.

The first to be called will be those who volunteer, but this will be controlled by the needs for their particular specialties.

Those affected by the Doctor Draft Act will be assigned to Army reserve units until called to active duty. (AFPS)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Happy Anniversary!

Army's Birthday Highlighted In Coming Discussion Period

One hundred and seventy-nine years ago, on 14 June, 1775, the Second Continental Congress voted to establish an Army representing the combined 13 American colonies.

In commemoration of this 179th year of continuous service by the Army, troop topic for next week will be entitled "Army's Birthday," it was announced by Post Troop Information and Education Office this week.

One of the main points to be discussed will be the Army's research program, and how it is spending $400,000,000 annually to get better, cheaper weapons and equipment for America's fighting men. The work is generally divided into two main parts: the development of new types of weapons and equipment and the improvement of types already in use. Altogether about 2,000 individual research and development studies are under way.

Army training is always in progress on a large scale. No amount of talking, no amount of demonstration can entirely substitute for doing, so in the absence of the real thing—combat—there is no better way to train soldiers for their job of fighting than by field exercises that are as much like real combat as possible.

During the past year important steps have been taken toward more efficient use of Army manpower. The purpose has been to maintain and even increase the fighting power of the Army, while at the same time reducing the total number of people in the Army.

A good example of this improved efficiency can be seen in our infantry division. Under the new table of organization and equipment, each division has 600 fewer men than before—but the division has more firepower. This was achieved mainly by eliminating many service jobs within the division, and adding 81 machine guns and 18 recoilless rifles to the total armament of the division.

The combined efforts of all the Army's branches have been one aim—to make the Army a better fighting team. Next week's discussion topic will point out every improvement and achievement is important because it helps make the U. S. Army the best Army and the American soldier the most effective soldier in the world.

Anyone for Chess?

In case you wondered what the MPs were doing playing chess on the Presidio street corners last Monday—it wasn't another phase in the development of the 'New Army'. Merely a traffic check by 12 members of the 505th MP Battalion assigned by the PMO to count all vehicle traffic from 0600 hours to 1800 hours Monday, 7 June. The information will aid in a survey currently under progress to alleviate any future vehicle congestion which might occur at the Presidio.

Georgia Cadet Tops '54 Class at U. S. Military Academy

Cadet Marion F. Meador, son of Mr. Albert B. Meador of 87 Clifton Street, Atlanta Georgia, was the honor graduate of the Class of 1954 at the United States Military Academy. He stood number one in his class, based upon his overall academic standing for four years at West Point.

Following Meador in the academic standings were: Bard, John Chapman of Olivet, Michigan; Farmer, Richard Albert of Greenley, Colorado; Newham, Donald Fred of Johnstown, New York; Scott, David Randolph of San Francisco, California; Martin, Walter John of Denver, Pennsylvania; Dennis, Jackson Daniel of Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

In addition to his outstanding academic record, Meador was manager of the 1953 West Point football team, which won the Eastern Intercollegiate championship with a seven won, one tie and one lost record. He also won his "A" as catcher on the varsity baseball squad in 1953.

CONFIRMATION CEREMONY held in conjunction with the Jewish festival of Shavuot, is shown in progress at the Presidio Post Chapel. The ceremony took place Sunday and marked the beginning of the annual Jewish observance of the birthday of the Ten Commandments. At center, Rabbi William C. Dalin, Chaplain (Major USAF) received the confirmants as presented by Mrs. Sidney Kaplan, chairman of the confirmation class. (Army photo by Brink)

Surprise!

The San Francisco Post Office's quarterly auction sale of unclaimed merchandise will be conducted on Wednesday, (23 June), commencing at 0830 hours, in the Main Post Office, Seventh and Mission streets. More than 6,000 articles made up into 1,000 lots will go on the block for one day only. This is the only auction of its kind held in the four-state area of California, Arizona, Nevada and Utah. Merchandise will be previewed on Tuesday, (22 June) from 0900 to 1500 and catalogs will be available.

HONOR STUDENT William D. Siskewold of the Signal Corps Mobile Supply Demonstration Team School, receives some instruction in the finer points of a EE-8 field telephone from M/Sgt. Tom Dungan, one of the team instructors. The team, from Fort Monmouth, N. J., is teaching Unit and Station Supply procedures to various units in the field and will leave 18 June to visit other stations in the Sixth Army area. (Army photo by Brink)

Honor Student Named!

Signal Corps Mobile Supply Team Grad Rates First Class

The Signal Corps Mobile Supply Demonstration Team, from The Signal School, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, completed its first class last week in Unit and Organizational Supply Procedures here at the Presidio.

Certificates of attendance were presented to the students by Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Signal Officer for Sixth Army. Sgt. William Siskewold, B Battery, 9th AAA Bn., was selected as honor student of the class. Sgt. Siskewold was selected by the instructors of the Mobile Team who based their selection on the interest shown during the course and grades received in quizzes and work exercises given throughout the course.

The Mobile Supply Team has been sent from the Signal School to instruct Unit, Organizational and Station supply personnel in basic Army supply procedures. It's part of a program by the Signal Corps to bring school to the people in the field rather than send them from their home stations. In this way a maximum of students can receive instruction with a minimum of interference to supply operations of the unit or property office. Two other teams from the Signal School are currently in operation, one in the Third Army area and the other in the Fifth Army area.

Two additional courses were introduced 1 June, one in Unit Supply, and the other in Station Supply procedures. The course being presented by the Mobile Supply Team cover general supply procedures and are designed to benefit all units using Signal equipment.

The Mobile Team will depart from the Presidio 18 June for Fort Ord and will tour other major installations within the Sixth Army area ending with Fort Huachuca.

Members of the team include 1st Lt. Howard H. Shuman, Officer in Charge, 2d Lt. Bert W. O'Neil, and M/Sgt. Tom Dungan, instructors.

Signal Achievement!

A gigantic military communication system extending from Washington to Asmare, Eritrea, to New Delhi, India, to Brisbane, Australia, to San Francisco, and back to Washington was operated by the Army Signal Corps Communications Service during World War II. This line formed the greatest unified military communication system ever developed.

Presidio Scouts Set Highest Mark During Camporee

The highest mark of proficiency ever attained by a Boy Scout Troop in the Bay area during a Camporee, was set by the Scout Patrols of Troop 77, Presidio of San Francisco, at the recent Camporee held at Baker Beach, Marin County.

The boys walked off with three first places and a second place, in the three-day outing held to test Scouting skills.

Camping out for three days and nights, Scouts were judged on their proficiency in fire-building, cooking, camp-making, camp safety, first aid, hiking, tracking, nature lore, axmanship, signaling, packing, map reading and use of the compass.

Presidio Scouts responsible for the top-notch record include:

Henry Thomas, senior Patrol leader; William Holley, scribe, William Perkins, Troop Quartermaster; Sidney Glover, Bert Carner, Dean Phelan, Richard Fayette and David Kirchoff, Patrol Leaders.

John Kimble, Thomas Korbal, Richard Uno, Richard Densley, Nick Piombino, Malcolm Gilchrist, John Nagle, Dennis Nagle, James Hicks, Charles Overstreet, John Ransom, William Krause, Skipper Amory, Chick Paski and Blair Blacker.

Lack of appreciation usually sours the milk of human kindness.

Retreat Ceremony!

Presidio Parade Today Honors Five Korean Conflict Veterans

The Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, and three Commendation Ribbons with Metal Pendant will be presented at the award ceremony set for 1615 hours today on the Presidio's Main Parade ground.

More than 1,200 Presidio troops and the Sixth Army band will pass in review following presentation of the awards by Colonel William T. Cathcart, acting deputy post commander. Colonel Floyd Goates will be commander of troops.

Those to be decorated include Colonel John D. Burke, G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, Legion of Merit; Sfc. Robert B. Swift, Det. 1, 6002 ASU, PSF, Bronze Star Medal (first Oak Leaf Cluster); Major Charles E. Schade, Jr., G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army; Lt. James D. Thompson, 102nd MRU, Headquarters Sixth Army, and Sfc. Ola L. Baker, Post Ordnance, PSF, Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Colonel Burke will be cited "for exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding service in a theatre of military operations while serving as a deputy chief of staff for liaison, Korea Civil Assistance command, Korea, from 22 October 1952 to 4 January 1954."

Sfc. Swift will receive the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Bronze Star Medal for his maintenance of "excellent standards of accuracy and proficiency in paying members of the 9th Infantry Regiment and in promptly handling the large volume of incoming and outgoing records occasioned by casualties and rotation." Sgt. Swift was cited for service while a member of the Finance Corps, 2nd Infantry Division, during the period 14 February 1953 to 5 March 1954.

Major Schade performed meritorious service as executive officer and then chief, research and information section, Headquarters 500th Military Intelligence Service group, Japan, from 1 May 1952 to 31 December 1953. He is to receive the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Lt. Thompson, a member of the Adjutant General section, Headquarters Korean Communications zone, "is cited for meritorious service in Korea during the period 20 September 1952 to September 1953, when he was chief of the publications and supply branch, administrative services division." He will be awarded the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Commendation Ribbon.

Also receiving the First Oak Leaf Cluster to the Commendation Ribbon will be Sfc. Baker who distinguished herself by "meritorious service as administrative non-commissioned officer and assistant statistical clerk, shop operations branch, automotive division, Ordnance section, Headquarters Japan Logistical command, later 229th Ordnance Base Depot, Japan, from 5 March 1951 to 5 January 1954.

You're Really You!

Washington—Proof of the pudding that many men may have your name, but none your Army service number, is found in the Army's tabulation of Smiths, Browns and Joneses.

A recent name check of enlisted men on active duty revealed that the Army has 677 James Smiths, 632 William Joneses and 518 James Browns.

SOLDIER OF THE MONTH for May in the 505th Military Police Battalion was Pfc. Robert Petersen, a student of mining engineering from Helena, Montana. He is shown above being congratulated on the award by Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, Commander, 505th MP Battalion, and Post Provost Marshall. Pfc. Petersen faced stiff competition from other finalists of the battalion's four companies in general and military police tests. (Photo by New)

For Sharpness and Know-How!

Montana PFC Wins 505th MP Soldier of Month Title for May

Pfc. Robert T. Petersen of B Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, was named "Soldier of the Month" for May in that unit, it was announced this week.

The win marks the third straight time that a B Company policeman has won the award.

Pfc. Petersen earned the title in a series of tests from company to battalion level based on personal appearance, military bearing and courtesy, a knowledge of general and military police subjects and an awareness of current events.

The 20-year-old Helena, Montana, soldier won the final battalion-level test against runners-up from the three other companies of the outfit. These men were Cpl. Norman Coffman, Headquarters Company; Cpl. Donald Green, A Company, and Pfc. Patrick Irwin, C Company.

Before his entry into the service, Cpl. Petersen studied mining engineering at the Montana School of Mines.

He is married and intends to resume his college studies upon discharge from the Army.

California's 'Own' 40th Inf. Div. Changes To Armored on July 1

Washington — California's 40th Inf. Div. will be converted to the 40th Armored Div. on July 1, 1954, as part of the program for increasing the armored striking power of the National Guard.

The change-over will give the NG three such divisions, including the 50th Armored Div. of New Jersey, and the 49th Armored Div. of Texas.

The conversion does not change the numerical divisional troop basis of the NG which remains at 27 divisions, including 24 infantry divisions.

Ounce of Prevention!

During the forthcoming dry season, when brush and grass present a dangerous fire problem, every care must be exercised to prevent fires from starting, warns Colonel William T. Cathcart, Post Fire Marshal. "All personnel are urged to join the Presidio Fire Department's campaign to prevent outdoor fires during the dry season."

"Ninety per cent of all brush and forest fires are the result of carelessness," states Presidio Fire Chief, George Geller. "Only ten per cent of these fires are due to natural causes such as lightning or spontaneous combustion. The rest are started by YOU. The careless disposal of cigarettes and matches are responsible for most of our outdoor fires. Only you can prevent such fires by eliminating carelessness. The average carelessly discarded cigarette will burn ten minutes. In that interval it can cause great destruction. Play safe, make certain all smoldering smoking material is out cold before you discard it. A spark from a match can also cause a small fire which can spread into a large fire."

Colonel Magill, Deputy Post Commander, stresses the potential danger of campfires. "Never leave an outdoor fire unattended. When you leave such a fire, soak it with water and cover it with earth or sand. Never start a campfire under or close to trees, pine needles, dry grass or brush."

Other safety rules to follow in the dry season are: 1. Make certain matches are kept out of reach of children. 2. Do not throw burning smoking materials from vehicles. 3. Do not burn trash in open fires.

Be fire conscious and practice fire prevention. Your children are not fireproof, are you foolproof? (W.T.C.)

judged representative entries from the entire Sixth Army Area. Shown with Mr. Adams, (l. to r.) are judges George Allen Young, editor and publisher of Camera Craft Publishing Co., Mr. Gordon A. Stevens, professional and technical representative of the Eastman Kodak Co. (Army Photo by Cox)

★ ★ ★

Other winners in the black and white category included: "All Air-

Gordon A. Stevens, professional and technical representative of

The award is made to the battery in the 9th AAA which has scored the most merits on a basis of re-enlistments, decorations and awards, and for the least de-merits such as AWOLs, court martials, delinquency reports and so forth, during a given month.

A black and white photograph of a man in a checkered jacket, looking down at a small object he is holding in his hands. A pipe is visible in his mouth.

The United States Army was the first of the world's armies to have a signal corps.

CHAMPION AT WORK—Corporal Dick Armbrust is shown during his performance of an off-beat number entitled "Love Is a Simple Thing" on the Ed Sullivan "Toast of the Town" show over NBC-TV last Sunday night. The Presidio soldier's smooth showmanship and vocalizing technique won him a first place tie in the All-Army contest to select the Army's top talent. Photo was taken by Major Leslie C. Wood, executive officer of Sixth Army Special Services, using 3.5f Rolliflex at 1/25th of a second and using only the light from the screen.

Local Singer Best!

Armbrust Takes Top Honors in All-Army Talent Show in N.Y.

A Presidio soldier who was entered as a last-minute substitution in the finals of the All-Army Talent Contest in New York, surprised everyone when he tied for first-place honors in the contest, televised over the popular Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" last Sunday night.

The Army Hour!

A special anniversary program of "The Army Hour" commemorating the 179th anniversary of the United States Army will be broadcast overseas and in the ZI June 13 and 14. This program, featuring Hollywood star Dane Clark as narrator, dramatically relates the courageous action of American soldiers in outstanding battles from the Revolutionary War to Korea. The Army Field War and Korea. The Army company the narration.

The overseas broadcast will take place June 14 over all troop information radio broadcasting stations. The ZI broadcast will be aired over the Mutual Broadcasting System at 2100 EDT June 13.

The program has a running time of 30 minutes.

Cpl. Richard Armbrust, Jr., baritone soloist with the Sixth Army Band, who entered the contest in place of Pvt. James Rinehart, Fort Ord juggler injured just prior to embarking for the Army finals, was judged first with singer Pfc. Ezio Flagello of First Army.

Runners up were second place contestant M/Sgt. Charles Maluzzo, HQ. 7th Army, USAREUR, harmonica player, and third place winner Pfc. Bernard Horwitz, HQ. Det., Camp Carson, Colorado, comedian.

Judges for the contest included notable names as Mitch Miller, prominent recording artist; Horowitz, librettist; Lloyd Nolan of the New York stage production the "Caine Mutiny Trial"; Arlene Dahl of "Talent Patrol," and Victor Borge, the ever popular pianist-comedian.

Armbrust reached the New York finals after being named runner-up to Pvt. Rinehart in the Sixth Army preliminaries staged here on the Presidio last March.

Rinehart, originally scheduled for the Eastern finals, had to withdraw from competition a few days prior to the event due to a serious leg injury.

Prior to service, Cpl. Armbrust appeared in operas, musical comedies, and reviews, at the College of the Pacific, where he majored in Drama and Music. He has studied singing with such renowned voice teachers as Richard Bonelli and John Charles Thomas, and has appeared as guest soloist with Stockton and Vallejo Symphony Orchestras.

He enlisted in the Army in 1952 and is currently baritone soloist and chorus director with the Sixth Army Band here on the Presidio. Last year, he won the Army-sponsored New York T.V. show, "Talent Patrol," for the Sixth Army Area.

New Posts Planned!

The Defense Department has asked Congress to create two new assistant secretary posts in each of the three military departments. In each department, one assistant secretary would be designated for financial management; the duties of the other would not be specified by law.

Science Show to Repeat Saturday At Post Theatre

Although numerous military personnel on the Post were able to attend the General Motors science show, "Previews of Progress," held at the Service club this week, a repeat performance, in which all assigned units on the Post will participate, will take place tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 0800 at the Post theatre.

A dramatic, educational yet non-technical non-commercial show, it has toured the entire country, playing to thousands of persons in every walk of life.

The sequence of experiments is as follows:

"The Bottle With a Temper," a scientific curiosity which is used to illustrate some important principles in the study of the strength of materials.

"Synthetic Rubber," a demonstration of the manufacture of synthetic rubber. The fastest polymerization reaction to science, the finished product literally jumps out of the bottle at the conclusion of the experiment.

"Vibrational Control," the control of mechanical vibration makes an absorbing story, and this sequence is highlighted by the breaking of a goblet with a musical note.

"Freon," the wonder refrigerant, is used to conduct some astounding experiments from the freezing of a flower to the running of a steam engine.

"Communications," its story from the telegraph to the modern electronic methods of transmission, is graphically related and the sequence is culminated by the transmission of sound on a beam of light.

"Jet Propulsion," from the first jet-propelled engine, the aeolipile of 2,200 years ago to the present; a capsule version of progress.

"Sun Motor," in which a motor will be operated by the heat from a candle and the light from a 150-watt lamp.

Concert Set Here

San Francisco's Russian Orthodox Holy Trinity Cathedral choir, under the direction of John A. Kolchin, will present an open concert of Russian sacred music at the Presidio Post Chapel, Sunday (20 June) from 1900 to 2000. Sponsored by the Chapel's Youth groups, the program will include vesper and liturgical music and will be entirely acappella.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

2 June: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Donald M. Smith, 4754 Radar Eval. Flt., Hamilton AFB.

3 June: Sfc. and Mrs. Ernest Jackson, 505 MP Bn., PSF; Sgt. and Mrs. James T. O'Shea, 8602 AAU, Petaluma, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Kermit Vandenbos, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF.

5 June: A1/c and Mrs. Harold W. Roberds, 4754 Radar Eval. Flt., Hamilton AFB.

6 June: Sgt. and Mrs. Phillip W. Engel, 6513 SU USAR Adv. Gp., OAB; Pfc. and Mrs. Benjamin Tanner, 752 AAG Gun Bn., Berkeley, Calif.

Sons to:

2 June: Lt. and Mrs. Adrian McDonald, 666 ACNW Sq., Hamilton AFB.

3 June: Cpl. and Mrs. Floyd Moseley, 505 MP Bn., PSF.

4 June: Sfc. and Mrs. Frederick A. Pratt, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSF.

5 June: Sgt. and Mrs. Kenneth Dick, 8602 AAU, Petaluma, Calif.; A/2c and Mrs. Dale C. Hoy, Hq. 4th AF, Hamilton AFB; Sgt. and Mrs. Henry B. Mills, 505 MP Bn., PSF.

Miss Vera Woropaieff

Piano Recital Is Service Club Offering Monday

A recital by Miss Vera Woropaieff, concert pianist, is to be presented Monday at 2015 in the Presidio Service club.

Miss Woropaieff made her Bay area debut in April at San Francisco's Century club and was widely acclaimed by local critics for her performance.

Alexander Fried said: "... Her touch was characteristically limpid and pleasing. Under her fingers, the music moved along in phrasing that was spontaneous and varied, fine in taste and meaningful."

Dorothy Walker said: "She would be a smash hit on television. She is young, pretty, blonde, has a nice smile and figure—and talent too ... she played with crispness and dexterity, and, at times a promise of brilliance."

Miss Woropaieff's program at the Service club will include:

- I
- Andante with Variations.....Haydn
- Sonata in C Major
- Opus 2 No. 3.....Beethoven
- Allegro con brio
- Adagio
- Scherzo
- Allegro assai
- II
- Sonata No. 2.....Hindemith
- Massig schnell
- Lebhaft
- Sehr langsam
- Sehr langsam—Rondo
- III
- Four Children's Folktones
- of Brazil.....Villa-Lobos
- In My Backyard
- Go, Pumpkin!
- Let's Go, Maruca
- The Crab
- Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6.....Liszt

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 11 June — Quiz show, 2000. Craft room open.

Saturday, 12 June — Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 13 June—Stage show, 2000.

Monday, 14 June—Piano concert by Miss Vera Woropaieff, 2000. Guitar and ukelele instructions.

Tuesday, 15 June—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 16 June—Tournaments: scrabble, shuffleboard and pinochle, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 17 June—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 11 June—Ping pong doubles tournament, 2000.

Saturday, 12 June—Club night, 2000.

Sunday, 13 June—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Lorna Fields stage show, 2000.

Monday, 14 June—Ceramics and jewelry making with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Tuesday, 15 June—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 16 June — "Show Business," drama group meeting with Marilyn Tobener, 2000.

Thursday, 17 June—Square dancing, 2000.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 11 June—Baseball night (Seals vs. Oaks). Bus departs T.A.C. at 1915 hours.

Saturday, 12 June—Ping pong tournament at 2030, followed by potluck supper at 2100.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 11 June—"Station West," with Dick Powell and Jane Greer.

Saturday, 12 June—"Sangaree," with Arlene Dahl and Patricia Medina.

Sunday, 13 June — "Bwana Devil," with Barbara Britton and Robert Stack.

Monday, 14 June—"The Quiet Man," with John Wayne, Maureen O'Hara and Barry Fitzgerald.

Tuesday, 15 June—"The Outlaw Stallion," with Phil Carey and Dorothy Patrick.

Wednesday, 16 June and Thursday, 17 June—"Tanganyika," with Van Heflin and Ruth Roman.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 11 June — "Sangaree," with Arlene Dahl and Patricia Medina.

Saturday, 12 June — "Bwana Devil," with Barbara Britton and Robert Stack.

Sunday, 13 June — "Station West," with Dick Powell and Jane Greer.

Tuesday, 15 June — "Tanganyika," with Van Heflin and Ruth Roman.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 11 June — "Johnny Dark," with Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie.

Monday, 14 June — "Station West," with Dick Powell and Jane Greer.

Wednesday, 16 June — "Gorilla at Large," with Lee J. Cobb and Cameron Mitchell.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 13 June — "Tanganyika," with Van Heflin and Ruth Roman.

Tuesday, 15 June — "Station West," with Dick Powell and Jane Greer.

Thursday, 17 June — "Gorilla at Large," with Lee J. Cobb and Cameron Mitchell.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 11 June — "From Here to Eternity," with Burt Lancaster and Montgomery Clift.

Saturday, 12 June — "Station West," with Dick Powell and Jane Greer.

Sunday, 13 June and Monday, 14 June — "Johnny Dark," with Tony Curtis and Piper Laurie.

Tuesday, 15 June—"Sangaree," with Arlene Dahl and Patricia Medina.

Wednesday, 16 June — "The Outlaw Stallion," with Phil Carey and Dorothy Patrick.

Thursday, 17 June — "Bwana Devil," with Barbara Britton and Robert Stack.

1954

ELECTIONS

(By Armed Forces Press Service)

(This is the 12th in a series of articles dealing with State elections.)

Georgia: To register, apply to County Tax Collector for "Military Registration Form." You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 8) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Registrar for primary ballot, to County Probate Judge for general election ballot. Ballot must be return no later than day of election. Election: S-R-G-SO-CA.

Colorado: To register, request registration form from County

Key to Abbreviations

Unless otherwise noted, General Elections will be held Nov. 2, 1954, in all states.

Abbreviations: FPCA—Federal Post Card Application (Form 76), S—U. S. Senator, R—U. S. Representative, G—Governor, SO—State officers other than Governor, LO—Local officers, RQ—Referendum questions, CA—Constitutional amendments.

Clerk. You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Clerk no earlier than 90 days before election. Ballot must be returned no later than 5 p.m. day of election. Election: S-R-G-SO-LO.

Massachusetts: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA to City or Town Clerk. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: S-R-G-SO-LO-RQ.

Minnesota: To register, request "Registration Application" from City Clerk. You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Auditor no earlier than 30 days before election. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: S-R-G-SO-LO-CA.

Cinema Previews

"TANGANYIKA," F*. There are four outcasts, each of whom follow their crooked trails to a last violent rendezvous in the savage heart of Africa.

"STATION WEST," F*. Based on a best-selling novel by Luke Short, the story concerns the efforts of an Army intelligence agent who is sent from Washington in the spring of 1882 to investigate the death of two soldiers at a Western military outpost.

F*—Family

"Picnic Anyone?"

Quartermaster military and civilian personnel and their guests were reminded that tomorrow, Saturday is the big QM picnic at Flood Park, located near the town of Menlo Park. It will be an all-day affair in observance of the 179th anniversary of the founding of the Quartermaster Corps.

The Army acquired its first dirigible in 1908.

YER SAFE! yelled Umpire John Estes last Friday as Headquarters, Sixth Army, player Perriek slid home cover. Headquarters crew won the tilt 9-4. (Star-Presidian Photo)

Detachment 1 Gigs 315th Engineers For Seventh; Baker MPs Win Twice

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Hurler Dave Scott led his indomitable Detachment 1, 6002 SU, softballers to their seventh straight victory of the year this week against a hard-playing 315th Engineer nine 7-5 to put the sizzling finance boys in an almost untouchable place in Post ratings.

Firstsacker Hugh Jones, outfielders Rollie Menchaka and Johnny Kealing starred for the winners on defense and at the plate to cinch the victory.

The second-place Company B, 505th MP, policemen saddled defeat on two other intra-mural contenders—Headquarters, 30th Engineers, and A Company, 505th—to prove that though they were once beaten by the Detachment 1 nine, they are still definitely in the running.

Francis Hoskins hurled against Able Company, opposing Lavano. Hitting was scattered throughout the seven-inning go, with Baker's Jerry Sims buffeting a double and a triple to power his team at bat. Final score was 9-2 for Hoskins' crew.

On Monday of this week the doughty MP contingent strengthened their record by cutting short the Headquarters Detachment, 30th Engineer Group, nine's seven-game streak 10-7.

Hoskins again pitched, this time giving only two hits and

For the Birds!

Nesting pheasants got a helping hand from the Department of Fish and Game this spring, as most of the March efforts of the State's 26-man trapping force was concentrated on cleaning out small predators from choice pheasant habitat.

Over 760 skunks, opossums, and other small disturbers of the breeding birds were taken during the drive.

State hunters and trappers also accounted for 109 coyotes, 72 bobcats, and four mountain lions during March. Eleven mountain lions were bountied by private hunters.

Game Called!

A softball game between the Presidio WACs and the Oakknoll Nurses, scheduled for last Wednesday, was cancelled due to the soggy condition of the playing field. The meeting, part of the Bay Area Armed Services Women's League, will be made up at a later date.

supported by moderate fielding and in-work. Big sticks were Garfield, Hoskins and catcher Matson, who sparked their team's steady hitting with two connections apiece. The pay-off came in the seventh when Baker batters slammed three markers to win the game.

The Fort Scott Hill Toppers lost a closely-fought and since protested game to the C Company police this week 8-7. MP Johnson as usual hurled A-1 ball and kept the advantage up to the sixth, when the Toppers suddenly closed a 7-2 margin with five runs, led by Lindstrom's strategic double.

In the seventh C Company bats exploded for three hits and two fielder's choices to bring in the winner. Wittington and Campbell hurled for the losers.

The 9th AAA ball club broke into victory this week with two successive wins over Headquarters, 30th Engineers, and the heretofore unbeaten 21st Engineers. Hurler Coleman batted the Headquarters nine 6-4, allowing four hits as against engineers Wamble and Sheetz' seven.

The artillerymen wound up fast in the first with five markers, one in the second, and held the lead through the engineers' four-run rally in the fourth, fifth and sixth. Perry and Fussel powered the winners with three hits between them.

Ack Ack's Reynolds hurled one of the best games of the week in a 10-0 shut-out against the 21st, holding them to a single hit, no walks. A good defense allowed no errors.

A big first stanza marked 10 runs for the winners, and the rest of the game was scoreless.

The 99th Engineers split a two-game stint with Harbor Defense and Headquarters, Sixth Army. They walloped the benighted sailors 17-4 for the gobbies' seventh loss without a victory, with Baker mounding and batting a double, triple and grand slam homer. Teammates Vincent and McCollum connected for three apiece.

They lost a hell-for-leather scramble to Headquarters, Sixth Army, 9-4 last Friday. Vincent took over the hurling chores for the 99th, opposing some outstanding pitching by Headquarters' Brown, who at one point fanned two foes successively in a tight clutch situation.

Outstanding Sixth Army hitters included Picco, who relieved a season-long hit drought with a surprise triple and double, and Thompson. The clerks connected for six, and capitalized on 99th miscues to the hilt.

The 315th Engineers took a decision against the Able Company MPs this week 11-10 to compensate for their Detachment 1 loss earlier.

Standings as of Wednesday morning:

Team	W	L
Detachment 1, 6002 SU	7	0
B Company, 505th MP	7	1
21st Engineers	3	1
30th Group	7	3
315th Engineers	5	3
102 MRU	4	3
99th Engineers	3	3
A Company, 505th MP	2	4
Hill Toppers	2	4
16th BPO	2	4
C Company, 505th MP	2	4
9th AAA	2	4
Headquarters, 6th Army	3	4
Headquarters, 505th MP	3	5
Harbor Defense	0	7

A CLOSE PLAY came in opening innings of Sixth Army-99th Engineer game last Friday as baserunner Montoya of the engineers pulled up fast on third following his big third inning blow. Next strike out by

Sixth Army pitcher Brown retired the side and Montoya never did reach home. Shown above are pitcher Brown (right), running in to cover play, and base coach for the 99th McCollum. (Star-Presidian Photo)

Pin Harvest!

56th MRU, Engineers, Sleuths Nab Intra-Mural Kegler Leads

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

The Eastern League 56th MRU bowling team skyrocketed ahead of all competition last Thursday night by a tremendous lead of 14½ wins to 1½ loss, a total pin-fall of 8926. Leader of the MRU quintet was Malinski, who smashed out a 165 average and 218 high game to take the win from the 99th Engineers #2 by 3½-½. Pointer for the losers was McAdoo with a sum of 154 and 205 high.

Nearest contention for the 56th was the 6300 ASU, who racked up a total pinnage of 8705. Their most recent win came against the B Company MPs. Sikorski powered them with 162, 219, as against MP Gallo's 164, 213 high.

The Slow-Rollers reversed their loss of last week and garnered a 3-1 win over Det. #1 6002 #2 sparked by Thorne, who came through by a count-up of 154 and high of 180. Head man for the beaten was Morgan, who rolled an average of 155, 209 high.

HQ 6th Army G-2 split four points with the Keystone Kops. The nights for their respective teams were Kop Johnson with 157 average and 201 high, and Lawson of HQ with a 150 average and 191 high.

Topper for the Nationals was the Eng. Sec. HQ 6th Army with a 4-0 tilt over the Maroos. They were powered by Holtz who built a 163 average and high game 182. Stalwart for the trimmed was Lawton, adding a 150 and 160.

The 16th BPO took the 6002 #1 to the wall 3-1 fired by Weilgus summing a 174 and 189 high. Evans led the losers with 175 and 194.

HQ Co. 6th Army crumbled the 6513 SU 3-1, led by Brown at 147 and 155 high. Defeated high-man was Horder with a 172 and 217.

Reversing last week's loss, the 102d MRU came from behind to tie the Comp-Rollers 2-2 sparked by Nichols, who averaged 142 and high-gamed 155. Roller Morgan pointed a 155 and 176.

This Tuesday's roller put the Sleuths way out in the lead with 15-5 win-loss tally. Sleuth Gregor powered his men to a 4-0 smash over the 99th Engineers #1 and turned in an average of 156 and high 168. Builder Decker was the favorite, tumbling 152 and 156.

Constable Duran garnered an average of 177 and a high of 180 to help his group whack HQ Co. 6th Army 3-1. Wooten rallied the losers with 169 and 196.

The Money-Bags walked over the Topos 3-1 fired by Arakawa, who threw in a 168 average and 200 high. Topo Myers placed 157 and 175.

The Tags repeated last week's win by beating the Flashers 4-0. Pionbino paced the winners with an average 180 and high 207. Runner-up Campion powered his five, turning in 157 and 166.

NATIONALS
Team	Win	Loss
Eng. Sec. 6th Army	10	6
Hq. Co., 6th Army	9½	6½
Comp-Rollers	9	7
16th BPO	8½	7½
6513 SU	8	8
102 MRU	8	8
6002 SU No. 1, Det. 1	7	9
Maroos	4	12

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	14½	1½
6300 ASU	9	7
Co. B, 505th MP	8	8
99th Engineers, No. 2	8	8
Det. 1, 6002 No. 2	7½	8½
Hq. 6th Army G-2	7	9
Slow Rollers	7	9
Keystone Kops	3	13

WESTERN
Team	Win	Loss
Sleuths	15	5
Money-Bags	9	3
Flashers	8	8
Pinsplitters	8	8
Constables	10	10
Tags	9	11
99th Engineers, No. 1	4	8
Hq. Co., 6th Army	6	10
Topos	7	13

39ers Head Mixed League; Three-Way Clash for Second

The Mixed Bowling League ended its third week with D. MacDonald of Sixth Army Ordnance taking high game honors for the entire circuit with a score of 207. He paced his team to a 4-4 win-loss tally.

The 39ers remained tops on the overall win-loss list with 8-4, their most recent victory earned against the TAG Indians. They were spirited by Bervieller's 113 average, 152 high game. TAG Sortino was high-pointer for the losers with 138, 156 high.

Antonucci of the No Names fired his team with a 143, 173 high.

The No Names, TAG Lofters, and Sixth Army Ordnance all racked up a tie of 4-4 in the win-loss column.

The Lofters were paced by Alexander, who took second-place high-game honors with a 180 pin-fall, 153 average.

	W	L
39ers	8	4
No Names	4	4
Tag Lofters	4	4
Sixth Army Ord	4	4
Tag Indians	4	8

Eastern Bigs!

B Co. MP Gallo stands above the rest of the contenders in the Eastern Bowling League with a total pinnage of 1973. High-game man is Sikorski of 6300 ASU who rolled 219, just slipping by 56th MRU's Malinski's 218.

Mixed Top Announced

Mixed Bowling League's A. Rosenberg leads the loop with a total pin-fall of 1301. High-game honors last week went to D. MacDonald who pinned out a whopping 207 to lead his nearest competitor by 27 points.

It is unlawful to hunt with firearms or bow and arrow while intoxicated.

Ft. Ord Thinclads Sweep Sixth Army Meet; Presidio's Vern Wilson Victor

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

For the second straight year the Fort Ord cindermen dominated a majority of events at the All-Sixth Army Track and Field Championship—held at Fort Lewis, Washington, last week—to win handily over four other installation teams of the Army area.

Ord's point total was 97½. Fort Lewis, the only other team to field

Vern Wilson

Wilson, 16 Others Picked for Entry In All-Army Meet

Cpl. Vern Wilson of the Presidio has been named to the Sixth Army track and field team which will represent this area in the All-Army meet at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

The All-Sixth squad will be well-balanced and packed with championship potential in half a dozen or more departments, as evidenced by results of last week's Fort Lewis area meeting.

The 17-man team, chosen by coaches and athletic officials following last Saturday's affair, features two members of the 1952 Olympics squad, along with a bevy of outstanding collegiate performers.

Both George Brown and Ollie Matson, two of the 11 Fort Ord athletes named to the team—are Olympic veterans. Brown was NAAU broad jump champ in 1952, while Matson competes in the 100, 220 and 440 yard dashes.

The Sixth Army team, accompanied by Ft. Lewis coach, Lt. Frank McBride, left Sunday for Fort Devens.

Besides Brown and Matson, the Ord contribution to the "Sixth Army's Finest" includes Earl Putnam, shot, discus and hammer; Gene Mitchum, javelin and hammer; Gene De Young, high hurdles, low hurdles, javelin and high jump; Dave Kenley, pole vault; Charles Hollaway, low hurdles, broad jump and high jump; Les Reed, discus, hammer and shot; Lang Stanley, 440 and 880; Bill Tidwell, 880 and mile, and Walt Burnett, 440 and 220.

Fort Lewis provides Bob Zuniga, three-mile and steeplechase; Benny Wilson, three-mile and steeplechase; Jack Wilson, pole vault and low hurdles; Jim Barrow, 440 hurdles and high hurdles, and Eric Roberts, hop-skip-jump, high jump and broad jump.

There will be no actual team championship in the All-Army meet. Contestants will compete on an individual basis for placement on the All-Army squad.

enough contestants to figure in the team championship, turned out 79½ for second place. The Presidio, with only three entrants, won nine points; Camp Irwin 1½ and Letterman Army Hospital one.

Cpl. Vern Wilson, B Company, 505th MP, high jumper, who put his altitudes to good use in the Raiders' 1953 basketball season, brought the local garrison first-place honors when he tied with former Pacific Coast Conference high jump champ Eric Roberts of Fort Lewis, in that event. Both cleared the bar at 6 feet 4 inches.

Four of the Ord Stars, Bill Tidwell, Earl Putnam, George Brown and Walt Burnett, accounted for eight of their team's 13 triumphs in the Sixth Army meet.

Despite a stiff headwind that padded times in nearly all of the running events, Burnett turned in two of the day's outstanding performances, a 48.8 clocking in the 440, and 22 flat in the 220. In both events he shaded his more famous teammate Ollie Matson by a few steps.

Tidwell, high school conqueror of the "Kansas Flyer," Wes Santee, in the mile, took the 880 and mile on Saturday in the relatively slow times of 1:55.8 and 4:26.

Putnam, 300-pound giant who manned tackle slot on the Warrior's football squad, won the hammer throw with a 117½-foot toss and then seconded teammate Reed in the discus. The latter event was won with a throw of 155 feet four inches.

Big Sign-Up for Golf, Tennis Matches Brings Reps from Many Units

Close to 30 entrants were registered in the forthcoming Presidio tennis and golf championships, following two meetings held at the Post Gym on Wednesday of this week.

Personnel entered in the golf tourney include, Sfc. Oris Thorne, Detachment A, 6002 SU; Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, Pfc. Dick Yost, 6002 SU; Pfc. Ray Steelsmith, 6002 SU; Pfc. David Bull, 6002 SU; Captain Rollin Kapp, 6002 SU; Pfc. Robert Holdridge, Company B, 505th MP Bn.; Sfc. Gus Wendt, 6002 SU; M/Sgt. Ken Holmes, 6002 SU; Cpl. Bob Carter, 6002 SU; Lt. Colonel Thomas Ward, Cpl. Ray Costello, HQ 6th Army; M/Sgt. Sydney Domingue, 6002 SU; Major Leslie Wood, Sixth Army SS; Colonel Peter Peters, and Pvt. Dan Cooper, HQ, 46th Ordnance.

Flights will commence at 0800 hours, Monday, at the Presidio Golf Course, as follows:

0800: Yost, Steelsmith, Bull
0805: Kapp, Ward, Carter
0810: Wendt, Holmes, Holdridge
0815: Costello, Domingue, Thorne
0820: Cooper, Somerville, Wood, Peters

Contestants registered in the tennis tourney are, Pvt. Wallace Rowe, HQ 6th Army; Cpl. Bob Williams, 102d MRU; Colonel B. Meinert, Pfc. Bill Mullen, 6th Army Medical Lab; M/Sgt. Aryas Velarde, HQ 6th Army; Pfc. Roland Goudswaardi, 39th Engineers; Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, Pvt. Leonard Read, HQ 30th Engineers; Pfc. Henry Wong, 6002 SU; M/Sgt. Anthony Cusher, Hill Topper, and Pvt. Guy Clum, 99th Engineers.

The following tennis matches are scheduled for Monday:

0830: Williams vs. Meinert
0945: Velarde vs. Goudswaardi
1100: Somerville vs. Read
1300: Cusher vs. Clum

Brown was first in the 100-yard dash in 10.3, and the broad jump with 23 feet, 11½ inches.

Other Ord winners were Dave Kenley, who tied with Lewis' J. Wilson with a 13-foot pole vault. Roscoe Morris of the Presidio also competed in that event but had the handicap of a high wind as he made his attempts earlier in the meet and was disallowed further tries with the others when the wind died.

George Brown

Gene De Young ran the 120 high hurdles in 15 flat, seconded by fleet Jack Barnes, another from the Presidio stable. Gene Mitchum took his specialty with a fine 200-foot, 1½-inch javelin heave. Ralph Benner took the shot put with 49 feet, 10½ inches, and Charles Holloway ran the 220 low hurdles in 25 flat.

Four Fort Lewis performers copped first-place honors besides Eric Roberts' tie in the high jump. Bob Zuniga, on last year's Fort Ord team, set a new record in winning the three-mile run in 15:58, as did Benny Wilson in negotiating the two-mile steeplechase course in 11:08. Another Lewis winner was Jim Barrow, who outran Ord's Holloway in the 440-yard hurdles. His time was 56.4.

Claude Mabry of Lewis won the hop-skip-jump event with a distance of 41 feet 8½ inches.

And Then the All-Sixth!

Presidio Golf & Tennis Champs To Be Determined Next Week

Plans were drawn up by Post Special Services this week for the Presidio Golf and Tennis Tournaments which will start Monday to determine teams to represent the Presidio in the Sixth Army Golf Tournament, 12-17 July, 1954, and the Sixth Army Preliminary and Championship Tennis Tournaments, 7-9 July and 27-30 July.

The Golf Tournament will commence Monday and continue through Thursday on the Presidio Golf Club links.

The Tennis Tourney will be played Monday through Friday on the Infantry Terrace Courts on Post.

All service personnel attached to the Presidio are eligible for entry in each event.

Concurrent meetings were held at Post Special Services this Wednesday for the purpose of drafting entries, and discussing rules and conduct of play.

The 1954 preliminary golf tournaments will precede the main All-Sixth Championship scheduled for the Presidio links and will be conducted concurrently at Fort Lewis (Northern Division) and Fort Douglas, Utah

Lewis Stores Lose!

Presidio Club Loses Drizzler To Hamilton, Beats Semi-Pros

A victory over the semi-pro Lewis Stores and a rainy wash-out loss to the Bay Area Armed Forces League Hamilton AFB were shouldered by the Red Raiders this week.

A 12th Naval District forfeit last Saturday deprived garrison fans of the all-too-infrequent opportunity to watch the local club in action, but it seemed to gird the Raiders for a following bout with Lewis men on Sunday. The Reds blasted the Oakland-based, Winter League champs 6-3, to duplicate their victory of the previous week over the highly-touted Stockton Braves of the Cal State League.

Kenny Klopp had recovered enough from an early season arm injury to batten the visiting Oaklanders' bats to a slim four hits and no runs in his seven innings of service. Thereafter soldier Wayne Hamaker took over to hold the losers to an 11-hit total and only three runs for the day.

George Suprenent, former Cal State Leaguer, pitched the full nine for the Oakland congregation.

The Presidians took first inning initiative with two runs off Ed Jacobsen and Johnny Ethridge and doubled their lead in the fourth. A single marker in the fifth and sixth put the Raiders well ahead at the finish. The Lewis men threatened with two runs in the sixth but their rally dwindled, with only a single-marker spurt in the last.

Soldiers Ed Jacobsen and Johnny Ethridge took the home team's batting honors with a home-run apiece and two hits for four appearances. George Asepermy, Charlie Burdick, Klopp and Hamaker each accounted for a hit.

A sopping ball, slippery field and a rash of time-outs called by Hamilton Air Force Base at strategic intervals worked the Reds out of their 2-0 lead in the top of the sixth inning this Tuesday. Taking advantage of Presidio miscues in the seventh, the Hamiltonians went on to win 5-2.

It was in the bottom of the seventh that flyboys O'Connor, Cutar and Rupp ripped hurler Bob Hill for singles, and an understaffed soldier defense allowed the blows to count.

Kenny Klopp topped Raider batting with three hits. Asepermy, Jacobsen and Jacobs each collected a blow.

Hill opposed airman Taylor on the mound, with the latter allowing seven hits.

Presidio might was considerably weaker than usual without stalwarts Johnny Ethridge, Bobby Brown and Bert Fowler, all of whom have contributed greatly to recent batting sprees with sterling performances at the three bases.

The Red Raiders meet Fairfield Air Force Base this afternoon at five o'clock on the Presidio diamond. On Sunday they play Johnny's Billiards at 1330, also at home.

Tuesday the Reds journey to Treasure Island for a league mix with the Navy there at 1500, and on Wednesday and Thursday return to the Presidio for consecutive clashes with the S. F. Police and the BAAF League Moffett NAS, both games at 1700 hours.

Gene Jacobs

Jacobs Still Tops Red Raider Batters With .383 Per Cent

Presidio belter Gene Jacobs, 1953 batting champ for the Red Raiders, continued to lead the percentages as of this week prior to his early discharge this month.

San Jose Red Sox' Bill Herriage, ex-Raider who left mounding for the soldiers with a .999 percentage this year, yielded first place in pitching to Sal Fucile and Kenny Klopp, who were tied with two wins apiece this week.

Complete standings are as follows:

Batting
	AB	H	Pct
Jacobs	102	39	.383
Fowler	95	32	.344
Asepermy	156	34	.325
Ethridge	86	28	.325
Klopp	25	8	.320
Brown	92	29	.315
Fucile	103	34	.314
Jacobsen	117	35	.295
Burdick	73	19	.260
Pannell	55	12	.218
Ardito	20	6	.200
Terry	22	4	.180
Pitching
	W	L
Fucile	2	0
Klopp	2	0
Hill	5	2
Monroe	2	2
Hamaker	4	2

179 Years Old!

Quartermaster Corps Observes 179 Years of Service to Troops

On 16 June, the Quartermaster corps will observe its 179th anniversary, the office of Quartermaster General having been established by the Continental Congress on 16 June 1775.

During World War II, the Quartermaster corps reached its peak expansion in 1945 with 54 general officers, 30,744 other officers and 467,266 enlisted personnel.

Between 7 December, 1941, and 1 August, 1945, Quartermaster purchases totaled more than 20 billion dollars not including petroleum, oil and lubricants. On 14 August, 1945—VJ DAY—the Corps was in the process of buying, storing, and issuing approximately 41,000,000 pounds of food-stuffs a day, or at the rate of 15 billion pounds a year.

After World War II, the Quartermaster Corps reduced its personnel and facilities to a pattern commensurate with the post-war Army. With the outbreak of hostilities in Korea and the enlargement of the Armed Forces, the Quartermaster Corps again expanded its organization to meet the requirements of the troops. Since cessation of hostilities in Korea, readjustments have been made in conformity to altered conditions and requirements. Stress was being placed upon management and fiscal procedures and accounting with a view to effecting all possible economies and continuously improved efficiency.

In the Sixth Army Quartermaster sections under command of Colonel Louis G. Bumen, recovery of unserviceable Quartermaster property continues to be an essential function.

Quartermaster field maintenance facilities are strategically located at installations throughout the Sixth Army area. Thirty-two posts, camps and stations presently operate 110 Quartermaster field maintenance facilities. These facilities are established for the reclamation, repair and alteration of all types of Quartermaster property, and their missions include the repair of materials handling equipment, special purpose equipment and vehicles, canvas and webbing, heavy tentage, clothing and textiles, shoes, typewriters and office appliances, metal and wood furniture, musical instruments and parachutes.

Many items are altered or repaired in these facilities for immediate return to the user or for return to local station stock, while others are processed locally for return to depot Quartermaster maintenance facilities and stockage.

Of the items processed in Quartermaster field maintenance facilities alteration and repair of clothing and textiles constitutes by far the greater volume. A total of 507,038 such items were processed during the preceding 10-month period. The number of items repaired in the same period in other major categories of Quartermaster property were as follows:

Typewriter and Office Appliances 49,015
Furniture 57,923
Materials Handling Equipment 24,894
Metal and Wood 47,390
In all a total of 718,580 major pieces of government property were restored to usefulness and service during the previous 10-month period in Sixth Army Quartermaster field maintenance facilities.

No less important to the recovery and maintenance of Quartermaster textile items is the establishment and utilization of Sixth

Colonel Louis G. Bumen

Army Quartermaster corps laundry and dry cleaning plants. Four such laundries processed, at a minimum cost, 20,231,988 pieces of clothing and textiles during the preceding nine-month period. These laundries provide service to individual military personnel as well as to government property requiring cleaning.

In the Sixth Army area, property disposal activities are likewise a responsibility of the Sixth Army Quartermaster. During the last year considerable emphasis has been placed on the disposal of surplus and worn out property. The best illustration of the magnitude of the disposal program is the following:

Property having an acquisition cost of five million dollars was donated to organizations such as public schools, Boy and Girl Scout organizations, etc. Approximately five million dollars acquisition cost was transferred or returned to use, without reimbursement, and nearly 85 million dollars acquisition cost was sold at public sales, both by invitation for bid and by public auction. The cash proceeds from sales totaled nearly six and one-half million dollars.

The Sixth Army is also responsible for the over-all operation of Food Service schools which are located at Fort Ord, California, and Fort Lewis, Washington. These schools are staffed with personnel qualified to train selected enlisted personnel to prepare, cook and serve food according to Army Standards. A total of 473 enlisted personnel have been graduated from the cooking course in the past year.

New USAF Computer Simultaneously Plots 20 Separate Flights

Hawthorne, Calif.—A new computer has been developed which can accurately program over 20 separate flight operations simultaneously.

Built by Northrop Aircraft, Inc., under contract to the U. S. Air Force, the high-performance computer is called a Quadratic Arc Computer and nicknamed "Quac." It is an extremely compact device, measuring five feet in length.

Quac is made up of over 6000 electronic parts. It can "think" at the rate of 5000 calculations a second and store up 2600 digits in its memory system.

The "mental" computer picks up flight data, performs mathematical computations, times and records navigation directions and sends out flight instructions.

New Way Opened For Early Release Of Re-Up Enlistees

Army personnel serving on a second period of active duty for which they have been inducted will be given an opportunity for an early, voluntary release, it was announced by memorandum from Headquarters, Sixth Army, early this week.

Current reductions in strength of the Army necessitates release of a considerable number of personnel prior to their normal ETS. In developing early release criteria, consideration has been given to those inductees who have once served on active duty prior to their present tour.

To be eligible for this new early release criterion, individuals must complete a minimum of 24 months total combined active service in any component of the Armed Forces including a minimum of 12 months on their current tour.

They must present conclusive evidence of this service.

Early release is voluntary upon request of the individual concerned.

Combination of the provisions of this release directive with the provisions of other early release policies to effect separation prior to completion of a minimum of 24 months total combined service is not authorized.

Enlisted physicians, dentists and veterinarians are not eligible for early separation under provisions of this directive.

Personnel discharged under this directive will be transferred to the Army Reserve as provided in SR 615-363-5 to complete the reserve obligation imposed by the UMT and Service Act.

CMD Personnel Given Training Certificates For WSC Completion

A total of 18 military and civilian personnel of Headquarters California Military district received certificates of completion of a work simplification course in a brief ceremony at Harmon armory recently.

Colonel William N. White presented the awards, which were signed by Brig. General E. C. B. Danforth, Jr., District chief.

Receiving certificates were: Lt. Colonel John H. Cates, Captain Lyle L. Ritchie, Captain Donald F. Crandall, M/Sgt. Francis E. Rivers, M/Sgt. Ernest S. Black, Louise P. Smith, Ljuba Gnesdilloff, Isabelle Stathes, Edith K. Breke, Samuel A. Gray, Raymond E. Hagstrom, Herbert L. Ligier, Mary R. Novello, Robert Brace, Lois F. Thompson, Verna L. Shackelford, Saeko Hirano, and James C. Lansford.

Instructors were Mr. Albert Crouch, CMD comptroller's office, and Mr. O. Martin, management division.

An unusual deviation from past courses of this nature was an "on-the-job" application training. Certificates were given only after the students had applied the techniques, installed a management improvement, and submitted a report accordingly.

The course consisted of four hours of class room work, with films, charts, and lectures. Formal instruction concluded on 9 March, but follow-up supervision and instruction will last until all students complete the project and receive certificates.

Efficiency Plus!

Local Achievement Record Set; AGC Sees 179th Anniversary

The Adjutant General Corps will observe its 179th anniversary on Wednesday, 16 June.

It was on 16 June 1775, the day after the Continental Congress in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, named George Washington commander in chief of the Continental Army, that the position of Adjutant General was established to take over the administrative and personnel management of the Army. An Adjutant General's department was first officially established in 1813 by an act of Congress. The Adjutant General's department was officially renamed the Adjutant General Corps on 28 June 1950.

Locally, during the past fiscal year, the Adjutant General section, Headquarters Sixth Army, under Colonel Morris H. Marcus, conducted surveys which resulted in numerous major improvements and saved the government thousands of dollars.

A new type colator was designed, and this new assembly method has proved so successful that the Adjutant General has been able to eliminate previous requirements for borrowed man hours and overtime in the assembly of reproduced material. The savings effected by the use of these collators amounts to $11,000 annually.

Mechanization techniques were studied and a plan was developed for conversion of the administration of the USAR program from a manual system of high speed electronic equipment. This plan was presented to Department of the Army, was approved, and all other continental Armies directed to utilize the procedure developed by Adjutant General Section, Sixth Army. Now in operation throughout the Zone of the Interior it will eventually result in an approximate annual saving to the government of 1,500 personnel and $4,500,000.

Methods and techniques were developed in the AG Communications branch to expedite the processing of electrical communications. These new methods and techniques were successful in reducing the processing time by 40 per cent.

A message economy program was established to review all electrical messages in order to reduce the number of electrical transmissions. Savings effected since inception of this program amounts to $50,000.

A Sixth Army area forms control program was established, with forms control officers appointed at all Class I installations. A savings of approximately $48,000 has been effected throughout the Sixth Army area.

Improved work management and continued emphasis on work simplifications resulted in the elimination of six personnel spaces in one AG branch alone, with no loss in operating efficiency.

A few facts and figures on the work load of the AG Section for fiscal year 1954:

Colonel Morris H. Marcus

A total of 7,500,000 communications were processed by the Adjutant General. This figure reflects the processing of incoming and outgoing communications, and distribution between staff sections of Headquarters Sixth Army.

132,460 pieces of personal mail were handled.

237,545 items were processed by the AG Records branch. This reflects correspondence filed, or taken out of files for destruction or retirement.

A total of 23,471 stencils and 15,260 reams of mimeograph paper were used in producing 7,628,455 mimeograph impressions.

The AG Class A Field printing plant produced 20,629,107 impressions.

The AG Publications stockroom processed 197,332 line items.

The total linear feet of records on hand in Sixth Army Area as of June 1954 amounted to 267,075 feet. A total of 7,285 feet of records was retired to Records centers. 40,137 feet of records was destroyed.

There were 205,000 personnel actions processed by AG Personnel division. 1,892 recommendations for awards and decorations were processed.

119,580 personnel actions were processed by AG Reserve Components division. This includes actions pertaining to appointments, promotions, discharges and calls to active duty for reservists in the Sixth Army Area. C.A.B.

It Worked!

The Army's first successful signal system was field-tested during a campaign against hostile Navajos in 1860. The expedition—led by Colonel Fauntleroy—used flags and torches in wigwag fashion to indicate letters of the alphabet.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 3

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 18 June, 1954

HOME TO SAN FRANCISCO—Cpl. Norman H. Myers, (left), member of the famed 40th Infantry Division, which arrived at the Fort Mason docks Tuesday morning on the U.S.S. William Weigel, points to the welcome sight of his home town for the benefit of two veterans of the 40th, left to right, SFC Leo P. Charpentier of Montgomery, Alabama, and M/Sgt. Tillman B. Leaphart, of Lexington, South Carolina—two of the most highly decorated men on the ship. Charpentier, who has been awarded 26 medals, ribbons and other decorations, has 14 years in the service. Leaphart is First Sergeant of the 40th Division Honor Guard. A parade Saturday noon will be a highlight in the weekend celebrations honoring the return of "California's Own" to home waters. Detailed chart of ceremony plans is reproduced on page 8. (Fort Mason photo)

Colorful Welcome to Greet 'Sunburst'; Top Civic, Military Officials to Attend

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Eleven hundred and fifty-three combat veterans of the 40th Infantry Division who participated in the final battles of Korea will march up San Francisco's Market Street from the Ferry Building to the Civic Center in a homecoming parade beginning at 1200 hours, tomorrow. There are 37 Californians in the group, which represents the last veterans of the division to see fighting in Korea.

Representing Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens at the ceremony will be his special assistant, Franklin L. Orth, and General Matthew B. Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff.

For the combat veterans of the 40th it will be a salute from the former Eighth Army and Far East Commander under whom the division fought valiantly in Korea. The 40th served under General Ridgway's overall command from the time it arrived in Japan in April 1951 until the Chief of Staff left the Far East in May 1952 to assume new duties as Supreme Commander of NATO forces in Europe.

General Ridgway will arrive in San Francisco this evening. He will occupy the central position on the reviewing stand in front of City Hall, where the 40th's troops, escorted by men of the Sixth Army, the Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force, will assemble for the formal ceremonies at which the colors of the division will be returned to the State of California.

Governor Goodwin J. Knight will participate in welcoming ceremonies. When Brig. Gen. William J. Bradley, 40th Commander, presents the division colors to Lt. Gen. W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, General Wyman will in turn hand them to the State's Chief Executive. Governor Knight will pass them to Maj. Gen. Homer O. Eaton, commander of the California National Guard's 40th Division.

Walter Pidgeon, noted Hollywood actor and Southern California civic leader, will be present for the welcome. He will narrate the Korean exploits of the 40th and will then describe the arrival of the parade formations and the ensuing ceremonies.

The troops of the 40th Division will arrive by boat from Camp Stoneman at the Ferry Building between 11 and 11:15 p. m. They will begin their march at 1200 hours, starting from Spear and Market Streets. Leading the parade will be Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, Deputy Commander of the Sixth Army, who has been named Grand Marshal.

Then will follow the Sixth Army Band, the Sixth Army Honor Guard, massed colors of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and of the members of the United Nations who participated in the Korean conflict, and detachments of the Navy, Marines and Air Force.

Next will come General Bradley and his staff, followed by the 40th Division Band, the 40th Division Honor Guard, massed colors of the 14 major units of the division and then the men of the 40th.

The marchers will turn off Market Street to Fulton Street and move to the flag-bedecked plaza in front of City Hall for the ceremonies at which the division's colors will be returned to the State of California.

Surrounding the plaza will be the colors of 50 veteran's organizations displayed in honor of the Sunburst Division's fighting men. Prior to the Civic Center ceremony, which will begin at approximately 12:50 p. m., the tartan-clad Sixth Army Pipe Band will play in front of the reviewing stand which will be facing the plaza.

Following the presentation of the colors to General Eaton there will be brief speeches by the ranking State, civic and military leaders present. After these formalities are concluded General Eaton will march off at the head of the division's colors and guidons, turning left on Polk Street to Grove Street, then right on Grove Street and around the City Hall. General Bradley, with the remaining troops, will then leave, turning right on Polk to McAllister, and left on McAllister and around the City Hall.

Retirements Relaxed!

The Army has relaxed the requirements for reserve officers who have completed not less than 20 years of active Federal service and desire to retire voluntarily. It will now approve the applications of reserve officers for voluntary retirement on an unrestricted basis if at least 10 years of their 20 was active commissioned service. Authority for submitting retirement applications is in DA message #521649, dated June 7, 1954.

Summer Training!

Reserve Division Will Arrive At Hunter Liggett Saturday

The 49th Infantry Division of the California National Guard will constitute the largest single reserve component unit in the western United States when it arrives next Saturday at Hunter Liggett Military Reservation for two weeks of active duty training, according to Major General C. D. O'Sullivan of Napa, Division Commander.

"Our recent special recruiting effort has resulted in a net strength increase of approximately 30% since January 1st, which means we will be taking more men to camp this year than ever before in the history of the Division," General O'Sullivan told his staff at a special pre-camp week end briefing.

The General said that the Division strength would approximate 9,000 officers and men.

The 49th "Argonaut" Division has an infantry company, artillery battalion or special unit in almost every major community of northern California.

Citizen-soldiers of this colorful unit train throughout the year at weekly armory drills, for each of which they receive a full day's pay in grade. Their annual summer encampment is the culmination of the year's training. At camp they put into practice the lessons learned throughout the year.

As at their past two encampments, these citizen-soldiers will be subjected to two weeks of intensive training in the fundamentals of soldiering, living in the field the entire time under simulated combat conditions.

General O'Sullivan said that special emphasis would be laid on the small unit "team" operation in addition to training recent recruits in fundamentals.

He pointed out that with such a large number of men entering the Division since the first of the year it would be necessary to augment, this year, the recruit training program which the Division personnel inaugurated so successfully at last year's camp.

Initial elements of the Division will begin arriving at camp the first of the week, with the major body of troops leaving their home armories shortly after midnight next Friday night, the General said.

This year's encampment will open on a Saturday rather than a Sunday in order that the troops may be returned to their home stations prior to the 4th of July, with July 2nd scheduled as the troops' departure date from camp.

Fully equipped with the latest weapons, the Division will also have for the first time this year a number of helicopters in addition to its regular complement of aircraft, the General reported, which will be used in artillery spotting and rescue demonstrations.

Promotions!

The Army has announced that there will be temporary promotions to the grades of captain and major this month. Between 400 and 500 will be selected for promotion to major and about 2500 for promotion to captain.

New AG Approved

Maj. Gen. John A. Klein, USA, has been sworn in as The Adjutant General of the Army succeeding Maj. Gen. William E. Bergin, USA, who retired May 31. Gen. Klein has been Deputy The Adjutant General since 1951.

G-1 Conferees to Gather Here for 3-Day Work Meet

A three-day Sixth Army conference on manpower control activities will be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (22, 23 and 24 June) in the Pacific T and T auditorium, 140 New Montgomery street, San Francisco.

Approximately 125 persons, both military and civilian, from throughout the Sixth Army area, as well as representatives from the other Army areas and the Department of the Army will be in attendance.

Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, G-1, Headquarters Sixth Army, will deliver the opening address and Lt. Colonel C. W. Johnson, Chief of the G-1 Manpower division, will outline the objectives of the conference.

Following each discussion period on a given subject, there will be a question and answer session.

Among the subjects to be discussed will be FY 155 fiscal code, personnel allotment cycle, manpower surveys, management control of key civilians, military occupational specialties, MOS codes, grades and compatibility of all three as regards preparation of Section II of T/Ds.

There will likewise be five group discussion panels on manpower control at Class I and Class II installations.

Hand Salute Off Posts to Begin On 1 September

Officers and enlisted men of the United States Army, on 1 September, will revert to the traditional practice of saluting at all appropriate times, it was announced by General Matthew B. Ridgway, chief of staff.

"The practice of saluting off military reservations was discontinued in 1948 after having been placed in effect in 1942 following a 20-year suspension of the tradition.

"The hand salute in the Army, the military equivalent of a civilian greeting in public, will be given beginning 1 September by all Army personnel in uniform at all times when they meet and recognize persons entitled to the salute except in public conveyances such as trains or busses, or public places such as theatres, or when a salute would be manifestly inappropriate or impractical.

"Importance and traditional aspects of the hand salute will be emphasized to all Army personnel in conjunction with training programs.

"Army officials said the action is based on the desirability of public demonstration by officers and enlisted men of the Army of the act of recognition and mutual respect which stems from the days of the Revolutionary War."

Built Many Schools!

Members of 40th Division Gave Lavishly to Aid Korean Causes

California's 40th Infantry Division, which will parade down San Francisco's Market Street on 19 June, demonstrated in Korea that the quality of courage in American soldiers on the battlefield is equaled by his kindness and charity to citizens of war ravaged countries.

For instance, when the Californians arrived in the shattered village of Kapyong in the Kumwha-Kumsong sector of the central front on 28 January 1952, they entered a village that had never had a high school for its children. Today the town of Kapyong boasts a 10-room, California-style co-educational high school with an enrollment of 300 students, a living memorial to Sergeant First Class Kenneth F. Kaiser Jr., the first member of the 40th to die in action in Korea. The school cost $35,000 and the money came from the men of the Sunburst Division. It was begun in June and dedicated in December 1952.

Coincidentally, at the war's end, the division had moved back to the vicinity of Kapyong and soon Kapyong's children had a primary school to attend before going on to Kaiser Memorial High school. Men of the 40th Division Special troops constructed the 10-room, $21,137 school which was presented to the Korean people on 24 April 1954.

Other primary schools were constructed by the 223rd Infantry Regiment at Majang-Ni, Muryong-Gol, Sindang-Ni and Hyon-Ni. The 40th Division Artillery erected primary schools at Chukton-Ni, Todae-Ri and Korimnae. At Kumdae-Ri, Sangsaeng-Ni and Sanggo-Ri, primary schools were built by the 160th Infantry Regiment, while the 224th Infantry Regiment built three more schools at Mail-Li, Chungpan-Ni and Sangpan-Ni.

And there were other construction projects of the division as part of the Armed Forces Assistance to Korea program including a dispensary at Kapyong set up by the Civil Affairs office of the division; the Methodist Church in Kapyong built by the 160th Infantry Regiment; a dispensary at Todae-Ri built by men of the 40th Division Artillery; an infirmary at Hyon-Ni constructed by the 224th Infantry Regiment, and the Kapyong telephone center. This last project, constructed by men of the 40th Signal Company, was a 100-subscriber establishment utilizing 130 poles, one-half mile of covered cable and 13 miles of other wire.

Men of the 40th Division also participated in other government-sponsored efforts to help the Koreans help themselves. "Sunburst Village," a community established in the Chorwon Valley, was built as a model farming community and division personnel distributed grain, seeds and farming equipment to the Korean families who moved to the village.

Still another was the bulk shipment of food supplies to Korean peoples within the 40th Division area. Troops guarded and distributed nearly 133 million kilograms of rice and barley to Koreans during the month of April 1954 alone.

From their hearts, men of the 40th gave nearly $56,000 in voluntary cash contributions, distributed more than 11,000 pounds of clothing, treated thousands of Koreans at unit dispensaries, donated more than 1,000 CARE packages and obtained hundreds more of these packages from their relatives in the United States. They were also hosts to thousands of Korean children at Christmas parties at schools, orphanages and in the villages at which they distributed more than 10,000 packages of food and clothing to the children.

Utility Personified!

Washington—The Army is taking to the rails. It now has a vehicle equipped with flanged wheels as well as tires. It can roll either on highways or railroad tracks. It serves as a bus, ambulance, or cargo carrier.

VA Improvements Net $8,000,000 For US Treasury

A new business type of supply operation recently permitted Veterans Administration to return $8,000,000 in cash to the U.S. Treasury that would not have been possible under the old method, Harvey V. Higley, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, said.

The $8,000,000 does not represent a profit in operations, Mr. Higley said. He characterized it as a reduction in the amount of money required to operate VA supply activities because of improved management and controls made possible by the new system.

Authorized by the Independent Offices Appropriation Act for 1954, the new system was installed by VA on July 1, 1953, with a capitalization of $57,000,000 based on existing inventories and undelivered goods.

Mr. Higley explained the capitalization is used as a revolving fund to buy supplies and equipment and provide them at cost to VA's 270 offices and hospitals. The latter pay for the goods out of appropriations to keep the revolving supply fund intact.

Mr. Higley said the $8,000,000 returned to the Treasury today came from cash on hand in the supply fund and resulted from reductions in inventories through cash sales to VA facilities and from improved control of all supply activities. It was therefore deemed in excess of operating requirements.

Mr. Higley stressed that the transfer of this money to the Treasury in no way affects service to veterans.

Supply Expert!

The Defense Department has announced the designation of Robert C. Lanphier Jr. as Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Supply and Logistics) effective immediately.

Recently Assigned

Major Wallace E. Hawkins has been attending the advanced officers course, Provost Marshal school, Camp Gordon, Georgia, since September 1953.

He is now with the Military Police division, Provost Marshal section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

During World War II, Major Hawkins was Provost Marshal of Hamilton AFB, California, and in late 1949, went to the ETO for a two-year tour with the Military Police school, Oberammergau, Germany.

The period 1951-1953 was spent at Headquarters Second Army, Fort George G. Meade, Maryland. The major entered the Army 13 years ago.

Major George A. Leonard comes to the Presidio from 21 months with the Quartermaster Market Center in Oakland.

He is now assigned as assistant Area and Post Veterinarian, Presidio of San Francisco.

Serving his second tour on the Presidio, the major was previously assigned to 6002 ASU with duty at the Veterinary downtown San Francisco Sub-station.

His World War II service was spent in the U.S. with the 4th Air Force, and in 1941, Major Leonard became the first permanently assigned Veterinarian at Hamilton AFB, California. During the period October 1949 to December 1951, the major was in the Far East, serving in both the Far East and Ryukyus commands.

Captain Robert C. Burpo spent the past 16 months in Korea, the first 14 as assistant Division Transportation officer, 25th Division, and the last two with the 69th Transportation Truck battalion.

His new duty here is assistant Post Transportation officer, Presidio of San Francisco.

Nearly two years service in Italy from 1943 to 1945, was spent by Captain Burpo with the 910th Field Artillery battalion, 85th Infantry Division.

His Army career totals 13 years.

Captain William C. Weaver has joined the 521st Engineer Aviation command, 30th Engineer group, Fort Scott, as a helicopter and fixed wing pilot.

Captain Weaver applied for and was recalled to active duty in March. Since that time he has been in training at the Helicopter school, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and Gary AFB, San Marcos, Texas.

First entering the service in June 1942, Captain Weaver was a glider pilot with the Air Force in World War II, serving two years in the European theater. Discharged in September 1945, he then served two years with the Air Reserves. In July 1947, Captain Weaver joined the Nebraska National Guard and remained with them until his call to active duty.

The captain has been decorated with the Air Medal, two Presidential Unit Citations, the Bronze Arrowhead for the Holland invasion campaign, and 10 battle stars for his ETO ribbon.

Lt. Bobby J. Fleming is another recent addition to the 521st Engineer Aviation command, 30th Engineer group, Fort Scott.

He likewise has just completed the helicopter training at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and the flight training at Gary AFB, San Marcos, Texas.

Entering the service in July 1952, Lt. Fleming served from then until February 1953, as assistant Post Engineer with the Engineer inspection division, Fort Belvoir, Virginia. From February to May 1953, he attended the associate Engineer company officers course at Fort Belvoir, and upon completion of this, was sent to Gary AFB at San Marcos.

A graduate of Texas Tech, Lt. Fleming received his B.S. in civil engineering.

Lt. David M. Karr has received his initial Army assignment as assistant motor officer, Post Motor pool, Presidio of San Francisco.

Receiving his degree in accounting from the University of Oregon, Lt. Karr entered the Army 5 March from the ROTC program at that institution.

He has just completed the eight-weeks Transportation officers basic course at the Transportation school, Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Lt. John C. Kerby-Miller entered the Army in March from the ROTC program at the University of California, where he received his degree in economics.

He recently was graduated from the eight-weeks Transportation officers basic course at the Transportation school, Fort Eustis, Virginia.

Lt. Kerby-Miller's first duty assignment is that of operations officer, Post Motor pool, Presidio of San Francisco.

Lt. Betty L. Morris has begun her duties in the enlisted overseas assignment branch, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Enlisting in the WAC in January, 1951, Lt. Morris entered OCS at Fort Lee, Virginia, in October, 1951.

Her first duty assignment was in the Recruiting section, Second Army, Kentucky, for two years.

A native of Oakland, California, the lieutenant has just completed the three-months AG general company officers course at Fort Benning, Georgia.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.

Post TIE Office
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor

MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

30th ENGINEER AIR DROP—To overcome lack of roads and railroads in the interior of Alaska, the 660th Engineer Battalion, basic field element of the 30th Engineer Group, located at Fort Scott, is using cargo planes and parachutes to deliver gas, oil and food to their survey parties in the field. The above drop shown in a series of four steps by 21st Engineer photographers Guidice and Drow were conducted during May at Colorado Creek and Medfra. Others were executed at Shaeffer and Smoka Camp, and a fifth drop is planned. In most cases the supplying of the field parties could be accomplished by single engine aircraft, but only at considerable effort and expense and some hazard. Using the C-124 Globemaster or C-119 Flying Boxcar, the para-drop can be conducted more rapidly and efficiently. The supplies, primarily food and POL, are packed at Elmendorf AFB, Alaska, and loaded aboard the aircraft. When the plane arrives over the drop zone the cargo door is opened and the packages of supplies are dropped by chute to personnel below, who in turn truck them to the various survey unit campsites. (21st Engineer Photo)

MONTHLY BEST MATERIEL PLAQUE was presented to Cpl. Alexander Petrou, Gun Section Leader, A Battery, 9th AAA Battalion, by Lt. Colonel Neil Wilcox, CO, 9th AAA Battalion, for the month of April. The award is presented each month to the battery of the 9th AAA with the best maintenance of materiel. With Lt. Colonel Wilcox and Cpl. Petrou are 2/Lt. Robert B. Miller, CO, A Battery, (right) and SFC Barney Kaatz, Gun Platoon Sergeant. (Army Photo by Garner)

Soldiers Spirit Vital!

Premiere Showing of New Film "This Is Your Army" Saturday

First local showing of the all-color Army film "This Is Your Army" will be Saturday 19 June, '54 at 0800 hours in the Presidio Post Theater.

A 79 minute film depicts the world-wide activities and responsibilities of the Army. It is designed to give the individual officer and soldier, and particularly those entering the Army, a better understanding of why he is called upon to serve, a comprehensive picture of the Army's important activities and operations, and a realistic appreciation of the world-wide responsibilities of our far-flung Army. To understand how important the individual is to the over-all effort of the Army he must first understand the nature and structure of the organization of which he is an integral part; its traditions and spirit; its present day mission, and how the Army's mission carries out the will and determination of the American people as implemented by national policy. To improve and sustain the esprit de corps and morale of the entire Army is another objective.

The picture is introduced by General M. B. Ridgway, who outlines the vital role being played by our Army today, followed by a prologue on the nation's world-wide responsibilities and the mission of the Army in carrying them out.

It begins with the query: "How does the Army go about achieving its mission?" It starts at a reception station with scenes of new inductees arriving at the reception station; orientation and classification processing; and clothing issue and adjustment of the individual to his new environment. This sequence is followed by basic training shots taken at an infantry training division. Emphasized is the realism in combat training and the many weapons the basic trainee must learn to operate efficiently.

Armored, artillery and engineer service schools are next covered with emphasis on their roles in training Army personnel. More specialized training follows with brief footage on parachute, anti-aircraft artillery, radar, signal, transportation, Army aviation, mechanics, QM, medics and guided missiles training. Advanced unit training portraying how the Army trains units to work as well coordinated teams in the next sequence.

Research and development and testing of new weapons, equipment and clothing are covered in one sequence. Clothing testing at Fort Lee; testing of tanks, vehicle and weapons at Ordnance Corps Aberdeen Proving Ground, and demonstrations of latest signal communications equipment at Fort Monmouth are portrayed here. Progress of the Army's guided missile program with scenes of the NIKE, the latest ground-to-air missile striking and destroying a B-17 drone plane, is shown. A weapons finale is the firing of an atomic shell by the Army's new 280 mm mobile artillery piece.

A round-up of American soldiers on the march in all parts of the world—stateside, Seoul, Tokyo, Berlin and Trieste is the final sequence. Emphasis is on the individual soldier—and the theme is simple, despite the latest push-button warfare techniques, despite the tremendous material and equipment available to our forces, it is the spirit and determination in the hearts of our soldiers, based on our democratic ideals and hard-won heritage, that will forever be the greatest challenge to would-be aggressors.

QM Personnel Picnic On 179th Anniversary

In observance of the 179th anniversary of the Quartermaster corps on 12 June, Presidio military and civilian Quartermaster personnel and their guests attended an all-day indoor picnic at the Fort Scott Officers club. Weather conditions canceled outdoor plans.

Colonel Louis G. Bumen, Sixth Army Quartermaster read a letter of congratulations to Quartermaster personnel everywhere, from Major General Kester L. Hastings, the Quartermaster General.

Army, AF Commissions Given Pharmacy Grads In Thursday Ceremony

A total of 19 Army and five Air Force commissions as second lieutenants were presented to pharmacy graduates who participated in the ROTC program at the University of California Medical center in a ceremony Thursday at the Medical Center Pharmacy building.

The commissions, all in the Medical Service corps, were presented by Colonel William N. White, chief, California Military District, and the graduates also received the Bachelor of Science degree in pharmacy.

Seven additional Air Force commissions will be presented in July and 13 Army commissions are slated to be presented to ROTC pharmacy graduates during summer encampment at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Professor of Military Science and Tactics for the Pharmacy College is Air Force Major Nathan Cooper.

Cream O' the Crop!

Local Marksmen Place in Area Rifle, Pistol Test at Ft. Lewis

Twenty-six entrants from the Presidio met sharpshooters from the 44th Infantry Division and eight other units and installations of the Area in rifle and pistol competition at the Sixth Army Championship matches at Fort Lewis, Washington, last week.

Closest the local teams came to match honors was in the pistol test, where nine garrison marksmen copped the meet's third-place team laurels, in the mid-range individual match, won by Presidio's M/Sgt. W. P. Elliot, with 97 (7V) out of a possible 100 points, and the combined range individual match, won by Lt. Colonel V. M. Corbin, reservist with the Cal. Military District here, who fired 239 (20V) of a possible 250.

Colonel Corbin scored a second-place, 701/750, in the individual high rifle aggregate.

A strong 44th Infantry Division contingent swept top honors in nearly every rifle and pistol classification to win first place with both weapons. Fort Ord and Fort Lewis placed second and third in rifle team standings, with Lewis and Presidio second and third in pistol honors.

Members on the Presidio's third-place pistol team included Lt. Colonel Samuel Dows, team captain; Captain Floyd Craft, 6000 SU; Captain Henry Croonquist, 6513 SU; Cpl. Neil Fergus, C Company, 505 MP Battalion; Cpl. Robert Davison, C Company, 505th; Cpl. Richard Felt, B Company, 505th; Pfc. Ken Knowles, A Company, 505th; Cpl. Vincent Price, A Company, 505th, and M/Sgt. Reynold Togonon, Det. 1, 6002 ASU. Cpl. Lloyd English, B Company, 505th, and Pvt. Robert Wilson, C Company, 505th, were pistol alternates.

Members of the Presidio rifle team, headed by Major Edward Reams, team captain, included M/Sgt. Herman Green and Cpl. Leonard Reitz, Hq. 505th; Cpl. Merrill Menlove, Det. 2, 6000 SU; Cpl. Oliver Cordeniz, B Company, 505th MP; Pvt. Robert Reed, 6513 SU; M/Sgt. William Elliott, 6513 SU; Cpl.

William McClinton, 102 MRU, and M/Sgt. Maurice Dennis, 56th MRU.

Individual riflemen were Pfc. William Bailly, B Company, 505th; SFC George J. Genereaux, Det. 1, 6002 SU; Pfc. Emil Hanson, B Company, 505th; M/Sgt. John Cornel, Det. 1, 6002 SU.

The Presidio teams were chosen from among the best sharpshooter material the post had to offer in competitive firing.

It placed fifth in the overall standings at the Fort Lewis match. The California Military District team, powered by Colonel Corbin, placed fourth.

Nine-man pistol and 12-man rifle teams have been picked for competition in the forthcoming All-Army matches at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Former Presidian Will Receive Decoration

First Lieutenant William E. DeLong, who was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant here at the Presidio in 1952, will be awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant by directive of the Secretary of the Army, it was announced recently.

Lieutenant DeLong won the award due to an outstanding job in the command of his former unit, the 70th Explosive Ordnance Disposal Squad, located at Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, California, and for his design of a special tool for use in the disposal of unexploded ordnance operations.

Lieutenant DeLong started his military career as an enlisted man in the Navy, and served through WWII in the Pacific. After the war, he enlisted in the Army and served as an enlisted man until his commissioning in 1952. He has recently been assigned to the Far East.

BEST MESS TROPHY was presented to Sgt. Robert W. Byers, Mess Steward of Headquarters Battery, 9th AAA Battalion, by Lt. Colonel Bernard J. Drew, Executive Officer of the 30th AAA Group recently. The prize went for the month of April and is the third time Headquarters Battery has won the award. Left to right in the photo are, Lt. Colonel G. Neil

Wilcox, Commanding Officer of the 9th AAA Battalion, Pfc. Cominca M. Vasquez Jr., Battery Cook, Lt. Colonel Drew, Sgt. Byers, Sgt. Jesus Cepada, Battery Cook, and Lt. William C. Sullivan, Commanding Officer of Headquarters Battery. (Army Photo by Garner)

TELECONFERENCE ROOM where "conferences" are carried on cross-country or across-the-sea via teletype messages flashed on the double screens shown in part in the upper portion of the picture. Signal officers conferring here include l to r: Major Charles Knoeller, CO of the 6300 ASU; Captain Roland Merullo,

chief of the Sixth Army Communication center; Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Sixth Army Signal officer; Captain John M. Rogers, chief of the traffic division and Captain Joseph C. Sikorski, chief of the supply and maintenance division. (Army photo by Brink)

94th Birthday of Signal Corps to Be Observed Locally With Open House

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

The Army Signal Corps will be 94 years old Monday.

Prior to this year, its founding has been observed on 3 March, the date Congress authorized creation of the Signal Corps back in 1863.

However, a recent decision of the chief of Military History established the date of the founding of the Corps as 21 June 1860, the date Congress authorized the appointment of the first Signal officer.

In the Signal section at Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, a great deal of reorganization and renovation to create even better facilities has taken place during the past year.

To acquaint the public as well as military and civilian personnel stationed on the Presidio with the vast scope of activity within the Signal section, a series of one-half hour tours is planned for them throughout the day Monday via an anniversary open house.

Guided orientation trips will be conducted through the Communication center and the Relay station which is the second largest Army relay station in the entire world.

The "Comm center" as it is called, will be the star of the show, having just undergone revamping and additions.

The center, which is manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week, serves in addition to Sixth Army, the Post Headquarters, California Military District, Letterman Army hospital and any other military installation on the Presidio or its vicinity.

It is the "western union" of military installations, with both sending and receiving Army teletype equipment as well as commercial Western Union and teletypewriter exchange (TWX) facilities all in one compact unit.

For instance, when messages are received on the teletypes that pertain solely to the local installation, they are sent by pneumatic tube to the AG section for reproduction.

In the case of classified material, it is handled through separate tubes and never leaves the hands of personnel cleared to handle such messages which are all transmitted in code. If they are messages for this headquarters, they are sent to the crypto room for de-coding prior to being sent to the AG section via separate tube.

It takes 25 military and 143 civilian personnel, assigned to the 6300 SU, to accomplish the 24-hour a day mission of the Signal section. A total of six military and 29 civilian slots are assigned to the Post Signal (6002 SU) for the operation and logistical support of the Communication center, while the 6300 operates the relay station and radio control room as well as the transmitter and relay stations, located at Davis and Middletown respectively.

Colonel Airel B. Cooper, as Sixth Army Signal officer, has operational responsibility for all of these operations.

Within the primary relay station UWP, a major portion of Army command and administrative traffic from Washington, D. C., to the Far East is handled, since Sixth Army is the only one of the six Armies within the ZI that relays overseas traffic.

The station is the largest in the entire Army with the exception of the one in Washington, D. C., and through it pass more than 14,000 messages each day, of which approximately 500 either originate or terminate at Headquarters Sixth Army.

In the far end of the relay station is the section known as the multiple tape processing unit or ZVA section, in which messages having two or more addressees can be prepared in multiple, up to 12 copies at a time, with present expansion plans calling for production of 18 copies at a time in the near future.

And so as not to be hampered in any power failure emergency, the section is completely equipped with its own emergency power plant.

Further, an air defense section is located right in the relay center, standing by constantly for any defense emergency. It is one of three on the west coast, the others being at Los Angeles, California, and Seattle, Washington.

Should the Western Air Defense Control center, located at Hamilton AFB, receive notice of any impending emergency, it immediately would notify Army, Navy and Coast Guard units, and at the local defense control center, tapes already prepared and standing by could be sent at such a speed, that within five minutes, every station within the 27th (San Francisco) Air Defense Control area, would be notified of the alert.

Then, there is a room called the Teleconference room that is unique and amazing.

There may gather a group of staff officers from any section who wish to converse with a similar group of staff officers in, say the Pentagon. By means of a double movie-screen affair, they may do just that, with both sides of the conversation registering on the twin screens just as the confab is being carried on. The conversation is teletyped at the rate of 60 words a minute and a permanent record kept.

Both classified and unclassified conferences may be carried on in this manner throughout the ZI and as far away as Tokyo.

Supporting "arms" for the facilities on the Presidio are the receiving station at Middletown, and the transmitter station at Davis.

At the latter, all the messages received from the relay center are transmitted on toward their destination.

At the Middletown station, incoming messages travel 100 miles via microwave to the station here.

Both of these stations will likewise hold open house on 21 June, to acquaint the public with their marvelous inner workings.

Middletown, completed just last year, entertained several thousand spectators at its first open house. It is located approximately 100 miles north of San Francisco.

The Davis transmitter station, located nine miles from the town of Davis in the Sacramento Valley, has practically completed its relocation from Fort Scott to its present site, and will be entirely set up by 1 August in its new home. In it will be relayed messages from Washington to Hawaii and the Far East.

Present plans call for the opening next January of a completely automatic relay station at Davis, the first of its kind in the entire Army including Washington, D. C.

This will do away with operator handling altogether and personnel will be present only in a supervisory capacity. It will have facilities for both land and radio circuits.

Two AG Civilian Workers Receive Service Awards

A Meritorious Civilian Service award, the second highest civilian award granted by Department of the Army, was presented Friday to Mrs. Shirlee R. Schlichter.

Colonel Morris H. Marcus, Sixth Army Adjutant General, made the presentation as Mrs. Schlichter prepared to depart the Presidio, her husband, M/Sgt. William H. Schlichter, having been transferred to the AAG Transmitter station at Davis, California.

Prior to serving here, Mrs. Schlichter also was an Army civilian employe in Germany, at Fort Lawton, Washington, and at Fort Mason, California.

The citation accompanying the award reads:

"For meritorious performance of duty as supervisor, distribution point, Military Personnel division, Adjutant General Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, California, from 18 August 1950 to 11 June, 1954. Her exemplary performance of assigned tasks and outstanding initiative in devising new and improved work methods and procedures were important factors in the successful operation of the distribution point and a major contribution to the over-all increased efficiency of the entire division. Her loyal devotion to duty, keen sense of responsibility and untiring efforts were an inspiration to her fellow-workers."

A Letter of Commendation for achieving an outstanding performance rating was also presented by Col. Marcus, last week to Mrs. Florence V. Fisher, printing and publications supervisor, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Mrs. Fisher, who has been with the Adjutant General Section since 1948, was commended for her exceptionally capable performance, devotion to duty, and outstandingly cheerful attitude. Prior to entering on duty at the Presidio, she was with the Corps of Engineers, Sausalito, and the Quartermaster Depot, Oakland, California.

The Army Signal Corps is planning to study the ozonosphere at altitudes of 150,000 feet. Detailed studies will assist in guided missile flights through that area.

Puzzle Answer

99th Engineers Win Top Three Positions In Recent March Test

Competing against 38 squads, the 2nd Squad, 1st Platoon of the 99th Engineer Company (Base Reproduction) was declared the winner in a recent competition conducted by the 30th Engineer Group at Fort Scott.

It was the third time a unit from the 99th Engineers has won the event. The winners held a one point edge over their closest rival, the 3rd Squad, 2nd Platoon of the 99th. The 1st Squad, 2nd Platoon of the 99th took third place.

The 38 squads were divided into four groups. Officers judged them on appearance, marching movements and commands. The top two squads in each group then competed in a final elimination to determine the winner. Winning marchers received three-day passes for their effort.

The 21st Engineer Company (Base Photomapping) placed first by .3 per cent of a point over the 99th in company averages for the entire 30th Group.

Members of the winning squad were Cpl. Joseph A. Williams, squad leader; Cpl. Richard B. Houston, Pfc. James A. Muldowney, Pfc. Ronald J. Benson, Pvt. Arthur R. Bluet, Pvt. Orben O. McAdoo and Pvt. Paul A. Tyrell, Jr.

The 99th Engineers are commanded by 2/Lt. Paul E. Weiss.

Honduras Bolstered!

The U.S. military mission to Honduras is beginning a training program in the use of American weapons for officers of a new 800-man combat battalion. Honduras, southern neighbor of communist-influenced Guatemala, also has received a recent shipment of infantry-type weapons from the U.S.

PART OF THE MILES of tape that is processed daily in the Sixth Army Signal Relay station is examined here by Clare Richardson and Cpl. Charles M. Matulevich. All of the tapes contain the printed word as well as the symbols used in sending, and after appropriate action are filed each day for possible future reference. (Army photo by Brink)

FOR SERENADING purposes there is nothing like a guitar! Here, Mr. Robert Best (center) instructs a group of Presidio guitar enthusiasts in the art. He is featured at the Presidio Service club each Monday night at 2000, and will also instruct on the ukelele. The instruments themselves are available at the Service club, or students may bring their own. (Army photo by Garner.)

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 18 June — "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," with Dan O'Herlihy.
Saturday, 19 June — "Face to Face," with James Mason and Robert Preston.
Sunday, 20 June — "Gorilla at Large," with Lee J. Cobb and Ann Bancroft.
Monday, 21 June — "Niagara," with Joseph Cotton and Marilyn Monroe.
Tuesday, 22 June — "The Desperado," with Wayne Morse.
Wednesday, 23 June and Thursday, 24 June — "Bounty Hunter," with Randolph Scott and Marie Windsor.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 18 June — "Face to Face," with James Mason and Robert Preston.
Saturday, 19 June — "Gorilla at Large," with Lee J. Cobb and Ann Bancroft.
Sunday, 20 June — "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," with Dan O'Herlihy.
Tuesday, 22 June — "Bounty Hunter," with Randolph Scott and Marie Windsor.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 18 June — "Tanganyika," with Van Heflin and Ruth Roman.
Monday, 21 June — "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," with Dan O'Herlihy.
Wednesday, 23 June — "Princess of the Nile," with Jeffrey Hunter and Debra Paget.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 20 June — "Bounty Hunter," with Randolph Scott and Marie Windsor.
Tuesday, 22 June — "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," with Dan O'Herlihy.
Thursday, 24 June — "Princess of the Nile," with Jeffrey Hunter and Debra Paget.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 18 June — "The Quiet Man," with John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara.
Saturday, 19 June — "Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," with Dan O'Herlihy.
Sunday, 20 June and Monday, 21 June — "Tanganyika," with Van Heflin and Ruth Roman.
Tuesday, 22 June — "Face to Face," with James Mason and Robert Preston.
Wednesday, 23 June — "The Desperado," with Wayne Morse.
Thursday, 24 June — "Gorilla at Large," with Lee J. Cobb and Ann Bancroft.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 18 June — Scrabble tournament, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 19 June — Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 20 June — Bette Mae revue, 2000.
Monday, 21 June — Military talent show, and guitar and ukelele instructions, 2000. Crafts room open.
Tuesday, 22 June — Square dancing, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 23 June — Tournaments: scrabble, pinochle and shuffleboard, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 24 June — Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 18 June — Tournaments, 2000.
Saturday, 19 June — Horse racing, 2000.
Sunday, 20 June — Coffee and donuts with classical music listening hour, 0930 to 1100; Faye Christie stage show, 2000.
Monday, 21 June — Ceramics and painting with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Tuesday, 22 June — Post dance, "Summer Madness," 2000.
Wednesday, 23 June — "Show Business" drama group meeting with Marilyn Tobener, 2000.
Thursday, 24 June — Square dancing, 2000.

News in Books

Military history, geography and psychology, three important phases of the field, are discussed in new volumes now on the shelves of the Sixth Army Reference library. If these books are not available at your local library, you may obtain them from the Reference library.

"A Hundred Years of War," by Cyrus Falls. While the causes of wars are outlined in this sketch of a century of warfare ending in 1950, "attention is devoted mainly to the wars themselves, their strategy, tactics, weapons and administration."

"Ideas and Weapons," by I. B. Holley. Exploitation of the aerial weapon in World War I, and a study of the relationship of technological advance, military doctrine, and the development of weapons.

"The Ultimate Weapon," by Oleg Anisimov. A plan for opposing Communism in world politics, the chief weapon of which would be psychological warfare, by a former citizen of Russia and currently a state department employee.

"Africa," by L. D. Stamp. A British professor discusses the social-geographical factors of Africa as a whole, followed by a detailed account of each region.

"Breakthrough on the Color Front," by Lee Nichols. The story behind the Armed Forces acceptance of racial integration in the various branches of the service.

"Out of Step," by Joseph Trenaman. A study of young, delinquent soldiers in wartime, their offenses, their backgrounds and their treatment under an Army experiment. A comprehensive study, by case-history methods, of 200 persistent British Army offenders.

Embarcadero Y Plans July 4th Outing

A formal dance titled, "Showboat," is slated to take place at the Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero on Saturday, 26 June. Order of dress for men will be either the uniform or a suit and tie.

Next Thursday night (24 June) there will also be a dance honoring all those with June birthdays, and refreshments will be served.

If you are wondering what to do come that 4 July holiday, you might plan to join the group of servicemen and junior hostesses who will take part in a holiday outing at Paradise Cove.

For a total of $2.00, you too can enjoy boat rides, picnic lunches, softball, volleyball, horseshoes and just plain sunshine.

'Broadway' in SF

"Broadway," that certain, special place where, "In the uncertain shadows just behind the white lights, life moves with amazing speed," will be depicted by the Holloway players in their interpretation of "Broadway," set for the Presidio Service club Monday at 2015.

The story is a bit of show business, a slight bit of murder, a large bit of love, "a madly colored melodrama," which is guaranteed to provide several hours of sound entertainment.

Russian Choir Plans Sunday Concert For Presidio Post Chapel

The Russian Orthodox Holy Trinity Cathedral Choir of San Francisco will present a concert of sacred Russian music at the Post Chapel, Presidio of San Francisco Sunday evening, June 20 from 7 to 8 p.m.

The concert is sponsored by the Post Chapel's Youth Group and will be open to the public without charge.

Under the direction of John A. Kolchin, the choir, which sings without instrumental accompaniment, will offer selections ranging from evening vesper hymns to liturgical and Easter music.

Mr. Kolchin, director of the group for the past 15 years, was formerly director of music at the University of Kazan, Russia, and also served as a choir director in the Far East prior to coming to the United States.

Among the composers whose works will be heard during the evening are Yaichkoff, Azayeff, Sokoloff, Chesnokoff, Kedroff, Arhangelsky, Bogoslovsky, Gretchaninoff, Berezhovsky, Ouharoff and Degtyareff.

Pinochle Winners

Winners in the partnership pinochle tournament held at the Presidio Service club last week were Cpl. Richard Burkart of the 359th Engineer Utility detachment and Sfc. Robert C. Bouwenn of Detachment 2, 6000 ASU. The men won the $5.00 prize for first place.

In 1892, Army Medical Corps Colonel Louis A. LaGarde first showed that wounds from bullets are not sterile, as had long been thought.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

- 1—Weaken
- 4—Shellfish (pl.)
- 9—Sink in middle
- 12—Goddess of healing
- 13—Harbinger of spring
- 14—Pastry
- 15—Reduce to ashes
- 17—Escape
- 19—Path
- 20—Shakespearean king
- 21—Talk idly
- 23—Breed of sheep (pl.)
- 26—Dines
- 27—Vital organ
- 28—Parent (colloq.)
- 29—Hall!
- 30—Anon
- 31—Underworld god
- 32—French article
- 33—Wanderer
- 34—Dampens
- 35—One who sneezes
- 37—Inclined to be officious (colloq.)
- 38—Roman road
- 39—Large wooden ring
- 40—Burdened
- 42—Venetian boat
- 45—Beverage
- 46—Web-footed bird
- 48—Bushy clump
- 49—Equality
- 50—Go in
- 51—Turf

DOWN

- 1—Dry, as wine

- 2—Ventilate
- 3—Bishop
- 4—Long-legged bird
- 5—Repetition
- 6—Man's nickname
- 7—Prefix: double
- 8—Scoffer
- 9—Reject
- 10—Succor
- 11—Command to horse
- 16—Small rugs
- 18—Den
- 20—Prying device
- 21—Rings
- 22—Blackbird
- 23—Bishop's hat
- 24—Leaves out
- 25—Impudent (colloq.)
- 27—Common purple seaweed
- 30—Medicinal tablet
- 31—Petty rulers
- 33—Nerve network
- 34—Lumber
- 36—Sea duck
- 37—Faux pas
- 39—Stockings
- 40—Once around track
- 41—Wing
- 42—Obtained
- 43—Game at cards
- 44—Total
- 47—Preposition

Father's Day 20 June 1954

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

7 June: Pfc. and Mrs. Donald G. Hall, Co. A, 505th MP Bn., PSF; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Randolph M. Mulford, USMC, Dept. of Pacific, 100 Harrison St., San Francisco.

9 June: Pfc. and Mrs. John E. Reid, Fort Baker.

11 June: T/Sgt. and Mrs. Jack B. Cox, 566 Air Police Sgd., Hamilton AFB.

13 June: A 2/c and Mrs. John McGrail, 28th Air Div., Hamilton AFB; Sgt. and Mrs. Thurman Guinn, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF.

Sons to:

7 June: Cpl. and Mrs. David P. Chapman, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF.

8 June: A 3/c and Mrs. Larry Brown, Personnel School, Scott AFB; Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Byers, 9th AAA Gun Bn., Ft. Scott; Cpl. and Mrs. Richard Kerns, Co. C, 505th MP Bn., Ft. Scott; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert McMillan, Hq. Co., 6th Army, PSF; Cpl. and Mrs. David A. Schuler, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSF; A 1/c and Mrs. William T. West, Food Serv. Sch., Hamilton AFB.

9 June: Capt. and Mrs. James D. Harvey, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF.

10 June: Cpl. and Mrs. George W. Grammer, 8602 AAU, Two Rock Ranch Sta., Petaluma, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Howard Rice, WHADF, Hamilton AFB; Pfc. and Mrs. Lee B. Speight, Det. A, 6002 SU, Ft. Scott.

11 June: Capt. and Mrs. Richard E. Green, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 25 June—Splash party, Letterman Army hospital pool, 1930 to 2100, followed by donut dunkers.

Saturday, 26 June—Birthdays party for all with June birthdays, 2000, followed by pool tournament for the boys and card party for the girls.

1954 ELECTIONS

(By Armed Forces Press Service)
(This is the 13th in a series of articles dealing with State elections.)

Connecticut: There are no State-wide primaries. You may use absentee ballot for general elections. Send FPCA to Town Clerk four months before election. Ballot must be returned no later than 6 p.m. day before election. Election: R-G-SO-LO.

New Hampshire: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send

Key to Abbreviations

Unless otherwise noted, General Elections will be held Nov. 2, 1954, in all states.

Abbreviations: FPCA—Federal Post Card Application (Form 76), S—U. S. Senator, R—U. S. Representative, G—Governor, SO—State officers other than Governor, LO—Local officers, RQ—Referendum questions, CA—Constitutional amendments.

FPCA to Secretary of State, Concord, N. H. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: S(2)-R-G-SO-LO-RQ.

New York: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA to Secretary of State, Albany, N. Y. Ballot must be returned no later than Nov. 23. Election: R-G-SO-LO.

Rhode Island: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Democratic, Sept. 20; Republican, Sept. 29) and general elections. Send FPCA to Secretary of State, Providence, R. I. Ballot must be voted and/or postmarked no later than day of election. Election: S-R-G-SO-LO-CA.

Military Menagerie

"Then I ask him if he was trying to make a human out of me!"

Explosion at Plate!

Reds Rap 27 Runs to Foes' Three, Clobber Semi-Pros, TI

Two Red Raider hurlers, Bob Hill and Sal Fucile, turned in sterling mound performances against the Reds' Bay Area Armed Forces rival, Treasure Island, and the semi-pro Johnny's Billiards, to finish this week unbeaten.

It was versatile Fucile who played his best game of the season against the Billiards last Sunday on the home diamond. The Raiders' manager hurled a two-hitter against some of the Bay Area's strongest hitters from the semi-pro ranks, whiffing eight adversaries and allowing but three walks.

His hurling triumph was equalled at the plate, where he rapped four hits for as many appearances off Johnnie's Cook, driving in five of the team's eight markers.

Batting mates Gene Terry and Gene Jacobs supported the manager-pitcher-catcher with two hits a piece to help power the soldiers to the 8-1 victory.

On Tuesday of this week the local big guns went to work on Treasure Island for 19 hits and a final 19-2 tally, letting it be known that, Alameda to the contrary, the Presidio is not yet out of the running for BAAF laurels.

It was a good day for everybody on the Raider staff, especially San Franciscan Bob "Brutus" Hill, who hurled his 16th win in his two year stint with the club, his sixth this year prior to discharge today. He ends his Army career with a more than respectable 16-5 record with the local club.

Raiders will miss that dependable right arm, just as they missed Troy Herriage late last month, and these losses present a real challenge to the handful of experienced moundsters the Reds are left with.

Hills also starred at bat against Treasure Island, banging three hits, along with Kenny Klopp and Frank Pannell, to match Fucile, George Asepermy and Gene Jacobsen's two apiece.

Fans will see the Raiders in three home games in the near future.

They meet Oakland Army Base here at 1400 hours on Saturday, the California League Stockton Braves at 1330 hours on Sunday, and Alameda NAS at 1700 hours Tuesday.

Sal Fucile

Femmes Clobber Fort Mason WACs 37-6 In Third BAAF Victory

The Presidio WAC softball team picked up their third straight win of the BAAF women's season on Wednesday when they roundly defeated the Fort Mason girls 37-6 at Fort Scott.

The visitors kept up a spirited but hopeless game against the expert mounding of Ruth Gavigan and battery mate Argue's consistent backstopping.

Local batters who helped skyrocket the score were vets Nordstrom, Argue and Kite. Runs were scored in every inning.

The WACs stand 3-1 in win-loss ratings, and an estimated third in Bay Area standings.

20,000 Enroll in Swim Classes to Set Record

Registration in San Francisco's free summer swim classes has passed the 20,000 mark—the heaviest enrollment in the local program's history.

Classes this year begin on 28 June. They are sponsored by Red Cross, the Recreation and Park Department, the San Francisco Boy's Club and YWCA and are open to young people between eight and 18th years of age.

To accommodate the heavy enrollment this year, Fleishhacker pool will be open for classes both mornings and afternoons, and classes are also scheduled at Crystal Plunge, Mission, YWCA and San Francisco Boys' club pools. A complete course consists of 10 half-hour lessons.

9th AAA, HQ 6th Army Win as Post Softball Test Slows

Post intra-mural softball action slowed to a snail's pace from Thursday of last week to Tuesday with only two games recorded before the Wednesday noon deadline.

A regenerated Headquarters, Sixth Army, crew continued winning, their latest triumph coming against the Hill Toppers, 5-4.

Headquarters hurler Brown worked his usual best, saving the day with his big fourth inning three-bagger which served to unsack Sortino for the winning run. The Thompson helped Brown with two good hits in the early innings.

Sixth Army bats had exploded for four markers in the first inning, and thereafter it was nip and tuck against the determined Toppers.

The 9th AAA Battalion picked up their third win of the series against the 16th Base Post Office, with Reynolds serving effectively on the pad.

Heavystickers like Wilson, Perry and Shepherd poled a total of 15 hits to clobber the postal clerks with a round 18-6.

Base hits were collected by Bush, Cacalno, with homers by Reynolds, Perry and Wilson, the last named connecting for a grand slammer in the big fourth.

The sizzling artillerymen collected three runs in the first, six in the second, six in the fourth, one in the fifth and two in the seventh for a real field day at the plate.

Circuit standings as of Wednesday morning of this week:

Team	W	L
Detachment 1, 6002 SU	7	0
B Company, 505th MP	8	1
21st Engineers	4	1
30th Group	7	3
315th Engineers	5	3
102d MRU	4	4
Headquarters, 6th Army	4	4
9th AAA	3	4
99th Engineers	3	4
A Company, 505th MP	2	4
C Company, 505th MP	2	4
Headquarters, 505th MP	3	5
Hill Toppers	2	5
16th BPO	2	5
Harbor Defense	0	7

6th Army Ord, 39ers Tie For 1st in Mixed League; MacDonald Tops

In the Mixed Bowling League standings up through last Wednesday, the 39ers tied with 6th Army Ord for first place honors with 8-4 in the win-loss column.

The Tag Indians took a three-game series from the No Names led by A. Rosenberg's 146 average high game 161. No Namer H. Youngdahl added 148-159.

6th Army Ordnance took the Tag Lofters to the wall 4-0. Leader for Ordnance was D. MacDonald averaging 165 and high game 207 to capture top honors for the league. Tag Lofters Alexander stood in second place averaging 148 and 181.

League standings are as follows:

Team	Win	Loss
39ers	8	4
6th Army Ord	8	4
Tag Indians	8	8
Tag Lofters	4	8
No Names	4	8

Needed—A Freezer!

The largest sturgeon reported caught in the three-month old fishing season is the 131-pounder landed by Jess Turner of Sutter on the Sacramento River near Colusa. It measured 73½ inches in length.

The California Department of Fish and Game has just this year lifted a 35-year closure on the biggest of fresh water fish.

Pin-Shatterers!

Postmen, MRU, Sleuths Top Post Intra-Mural Kegler Loops

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

This week's kegler action showed the 56th MRU still in the lead of the Eastern League by a 3½-game margin over the Co. B MPs but with the MPs taking total pinfall 11174 over the MRU's 11010.

Sikorski of 6300 aided his team to come from behind for a 3-1 win over the 56th MRU, averaging 163 and taking high game honors in his league with 219. MRU Malinski scored 164 and 218.

The Keystone Kops defeated Det. No. 1, 6002 No. 2 3-1 with Kop Johnson spurring his five with 153 and a 201 high. Morgan of Det. No. 1 rolled 156 and 209.

Baker MPs smashed the 99th Engineers No. 2 4-0 led by Gallo pinning 167 and a high 213. The Engineers' McAdoo rolled 151 average and took team high game honors with 205.

The Slow Rollers continued their winning bolt with a 4-0 victory over HQ 6th Army G-2, led by Thorne turning in 152 average and high 180. Loser Lawson pinned a 145 and 191 high.

In the Nationals last week, 16th BPO led the League with a 4-0 win over the 6513 SU sparked by Torro's 159 and high of 201. Top kegler for 6513th was Horder with 153 and high 171.

HQ 6th Army repeated last week's win with a 3-1 defeat of Det. 1, 6002 SU No. 1 fired by Brown who rolled a 163 and high game 182. Wallace of Det. 1 rolled 156, 184.

Eng. Sec. 6th Army split with the 102d MRU 2-2. Respective leaders were Engineer Holtz pinning 164 and 168 high, and Nichols with 149 and 189.

Maroos led the Compt-Rollers 3-1 paced by Lawton averaging 147 and high game of 166. Compt-Roller Peckham led his quintet 124-139.

In the Western League this week, the Money Bags split three lines 2-2 with the Sleuths, financier Arawaka rolling a high game of 177 against Sleuth Gregor's 180.

The Tags followed Jacobs powerhouse high of 190 to a 3-1 triumph over the Pin-Splitters with Doyle high man for the losers at 183.

The Constables squashed their MP Brethren on the Flashers with a 4-0 sweep. Hoskins took high game for the winners with 183. Campion sparked the Headquarters clerks at 186.

The Headquarters-99th Engineer scrap was not available for this week's paper.

League standings as of Wednesday morning this week:

NATIONALS
Team	Win	Loss
16th BPO	12½	7½
HQ Co. 6th Army	12½	7½
Eng. Sec. 6th Army	12	8
102 MRU	10	10
Compt-Rollers	10	10
Det. 1, 6002 SU No. 1	8	12
6513 SU	8	12
Maroos	7	13

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	15½	4½
Co. B, 505th MP Bn.	12	8
6300 ASU	12	8
Slow Rollers	11	9
Det. 1, 6002 No. 2	8½	11½
99th Engrs. No. 2	8	12
HQ 6th Army	7	13
Keystone Kops	6	14

WESTERN
Team	Win	Loss
Sleuths	11	7
Money Bags	11	5
Constables	14	10
Pin-Splitters	9	11
Flashers	8	12
Tags	12	12
Topos	7	13
99th Engineers	4	8
HQ 6th Army	6	10

New Status

Boston Red Sox rookie moundsman Truman Clevenger has been reclassified from 3-A to 1-A by his draft board.

Vern Wilson 2nd In Service Jump; Sixth Army Wins

High-jumper Vern Wilson of B Company, 505th MP, and the Presidio won second in the high jump at the All-Army Track and Field Meet at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, this Wednesday.

He was headed by Ralph Bonham, Fourth Army, who jumped six feet six and 7/8 inches to set a new Army and Inter-Service record.

Sixth Army victories at the Army meet included Charles Holloway, Fort Ord, who took the 220 low hurdles in 24.2 seconds and paced third-place Gene De Young of Ord. Dave Kenley, Fort Ord, won the pole vault with a jump of 13 feet, 9 inches. Blond 300-pounder Earl Putnam of Ord copped first place in both the discus and shotput with respective throws of 166 feet, 7¼ inches, a new All-Army record, and 52 feet, 6¾ inches.

Olympic veteran George Brown won the broadjump with a leap of 23 feet, 4½ inches. Lang Stanley burned to a 1:53.2 victory in the 880 yard run.

Other Sixth Army placings were Bob Smith, second in the low hurdles; Walt Burnett, second in the 440 run, in which First Army's Jim Lingel set new record of 49.6; Jack Wilson, third in pole vault; Les Reed, second in discus; Earl Putnam, third in hammer throw; Ollie Matson, who tied with George Brown for second place in the 220 yard dash; Billy Tidwell, third in 880; Gene De Young, second in 120 high hurdles; Gene Mitchum, second in javelin; Eric Roberts, third in high-jump.

All-Army team placings were not available at Star-Presidian deadline this week.

SERVICE STARS

CPL. HERB SHANKMAN

ACE HURLER FOR FT. MEADE, MD. BASEBALLERS

HE HAD 2 YRS. MINOR LEAGUE EXPERIENCE BEFORE ENTERING SERVICE IN 34

INNINGS PITCHED THIS YEAR HE HAS A TOTAL OF 51 STRIKE OUTS UPON DISCHARGE

SHANKMAN WILL PLAY FOR THE MILWAUKEE BRAVES, JACKSONVILLE, FLA. FARM TEAM IN THE SALLY LEAGUE.

BROTHERING APTS

A Brave Man!

There's only one man in the major leagues today that wears the number 13 on his uniform. Give up? Well, it's infielder Eddie Pellagrini of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bob Hill

Pitcher Bob Hill Will Tour with Philly Pal, Then Play in Mexico

Presidio hurler Bob Hill, released from the Army this Friday following his sixth mound victory for the Raiders in nine starts this season, says he plans to spend the rest of the summer with his friend and colleague Bob Greenwood of the Philadelphia Phillies.

This winter the two of them plan to travel south to participate in the Mexican League.

Bob is 24 and unmarried. Prior to his entry in the Army, he served with the San Francisco Seals and Salt Lake City. He is owned by the Phillies.

Yost Cops Golf Title With Record Four Rounds

SAND TRAPS weren't any bother to Pfc. Dick Yost of the Presidio on Monday of this week as he toured the neighboring course in his first round at 38-33, 71, to take initial lead in the Post tourney. Here he is at the sixth hole, blasting out of the sand to par it, in spite of the setback. The well-known amateur golfer set a course record on Tuesday when he stroked seven-under par 65, two less than Ken Venturi's '52 mark. (Star-Presidian photo)

Oregonian, Five Others, Lead Field of 15 in Four-Day Trial

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio's Dick Yost finished four sizzling days of sub-par golf yesterday with a final four-under-par 68 and an aggregate nine-under-par 279 to win the 1954 Presidio tournament 22 strokes ahead of his nearest competitor.

Colonel Tom Ward, an old hand at the Presidio Golf Links, tourney site, finished with par 72, 301 total, to second the Oregon soldier. Pfc. Ray Steelsmith shot 79, 312 for his week's work.

Top six golfers and their scores—those set to represent the Presidio at the preliminary and championship All-Sixth tourneys at the end of this month—were Yost, Ward, Steelsmith, Captain Rollin Kapp—a returnee from last year's Post team, who fired 76 in his fourth round and totaled 313—Colonel Peter Peters, 78, 323, and Cpl. Bob Carter, 79, 328.

In the tournament's opening day Yost overcame a three-over-par eight on his initial hole—a sickening hook into the tall timber on the right side of the fairway—and dropped his putt 38-33, 71, one under par. He was seconded by Ward's 38-36, 74; Van Way, 38-38, 76; Kapp, 40-39, 79; and by his two colleagues in the first threesome—Steelsmith, 41-38, 79, and Dave Bull, 38-42, 80.

Colonel Peter Peters fired 42-39, 81; Sid Domingue, 40-43, 83; Bob Carter, 43-41, 84; Bob Holdridge, 40-45, 85; Ray Costello, 46-41, 87; Major Leslie Wood, 44-44, 88; Oris Thorne, 52-41, 93; Gus Wendt, 49-45, 94, and Dan Cooper, 56-59, 115.

It was on the second day of play that Yost, combatting sprinkler-soaked greens that held the golf ball to a dog trot and handicapped by fog-laden fairways, stroked his smoothest round—a record-smashing 65—32-33—to go two better than Ken Venturi's 1952 Northern California Medal Play Tournament mark at the Presidio links. The par-busting Presidian picked up seven birdies and 11 pars in the tourney's best round.

Other contestants contrastingly took a beating their second time around. Ward carded 38-42, 80, and an aggregate 154, to allow Yost to go ahead by 18 strokes.

Ex-Stanford divoteer Steel-smith stroked 39-37, 76 for third; Kapp, 39-38, 77; Peters, 41-39, 80; Van Way, 46-43, 89; Bull, 41-44, 85; Costello, 38-40, 78; Carter, 45-37, 82; Holdridge, 42-40, 82; Domingue, 43-42, 85; Thorne, 45-45, 90; and Wendt, 47-47, 94.

In the third round Yost finished with a three-over, 75, with Ward stieking close second with the same card. He was still 18 points behind.

Steelsmith overtook Kapp and Van Way with 78. Kapp followed with 81 and Peters with 84. Van Way dropped to sixth with an 82. Costello negotiated an 83, tying with Carter and one stroke above him for seventh slot. Domingue shot 82, Bull 86, Holdridge 91, Thorne 100, and Wendt, 96.

Final round totals for those other than the top six were Bull, 79, 330; Costello, 83, 331; Domingue, 83, 333; Van Way, 87, 334; Holdridge, 77, 335; Thorne, 92, 375; and Wendt, 96, 380.

Lions in Khaki

The Detroit Lions, last year's National Football League champions, have lost their ace defensive halfback Yale Lary to the Army. Lary has reported for duty as a second lieutenant at Ft. Benning, Ga. He is the second Detroit player now in the Army. Gene Gedman, an offensive halfback, was inducted last February.

The Army's first aviation school opened at College Park, Md., in 1911.

Presidio Is Ready With Top Talent For Area Tourneys

Virtually the cream of Presidio golfers and racquetmen will be teamed for entry on behalf of this installation in the forthcoming Sixth Army golf and tennis preliminary and championship tournaments scheduled for competition in the latter part of this month and on into July.

Starting next week, Dick Yost and five other divoteers who ended at the head of the field yesterday in Post competition, will be in earnest preparation for the area preliminaries at Fort Lewis, Washington, 28 June to 1 July. Another preliminary will be run concurrently for the Mountain Division at Fort Douglas, Utah.

The winning and runner-up teams and first five low medalists in the Main Division and two medalists in the Senior Division (45 years or over) will be selected to compete in the big Sixth Army Championship. This event is scheduled for play here at the Presidio links, 12-17 July.

On the tennis agenda, preliminaries are scheduled 7-9 July at Madigan Army Hospital, Tacoma, Washington. The championship will be determined 27-30 July on the same courts.

A RETURNEE from last year's Post golf tournament is Colonel Peter Peters. The veteran Presidio divoteer fired a seventh place 81 in his first round Monday, but recouped Wednesday with an aggregate fifth place 245.

Mays Stopped

The long arm of the law finally caught up with Willie Mays of the New York Giants. This particular long arm happened to belong to Vernon Law, pitcher for the Pittsburgh Pirates. Law, a campmate with Mays at Ft. Eustis, Va., recently stopped the centerfielder's four-game homer streak.

Soldier in A's

The Philadelphia Athletics have come up with a promising third-baseman in Jim Finigan. He played for Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., while in the Army.

Meinert, Somerville Top Post Tennis Tourney; Eye All-Sixth

The hottest net scrap in many seasons centered this week around the Presidio Infantry Terrace Tennis Courts, as thirteen entrants in the Post Tennis tourney vied for placement on the three-man Presidio delegation to the coming All-Sixth preliminary and championship tennis tourneys at

M/SGT. ARYAS VELARDE looked good on Monday in his first match of the Presidio tennis tournament as he whipped Roland Goudswaardi of the 30th Engineers two straight sets. Last year's Post runnerup ran into trouble against Colonel B. Meinert, however.

Benning Shoot Will Produce U.S. Team For Caracas Meet

Fort Benning, Georgia, home of the U.S. Army Infantry Center, will be host for the final competition to select a rifle and pistol team to represent the United States next fall at the 36th annual International Shooting Union World Championship Matches set for 15-27 November in Caracas, Venezuela, the Department of Army announced last week.

Conducted under the auspices of the National Rifle Association of America, the final tryouts at Benning, 27 October to 7 November, will climax an extensive series of NRA regional tournaments and similar competitions sponsored by the Armed Forces.

These preliminary contests, which have already commenced and will be completed by 8 August, will determine participants in the quarter-final and semi-final tryouts at Camp Perry, Ohio, from 11 August to 6 September.

For the first time in NRA history, women will be eligible to compete for places on the U.S. team, in compliance with new regulations of the International Shooting Union.

The U.S. Rifle and Pistol team, which will depart for Caracas following the final tryouts, will consist of a maximum of 25 shooters, in addition to a team captain, executive officer, coach, and adjutant.

Frank Parsons of Washington, D.C., has been named team captain. Colonel Charles Rau, USA, will be executive officer, and Major Harold Thomas, USMC, will serve as adjutant.

Madigan Army Hospital, Washington.

Action centered on players from a variety of units on post—from a private in an engineering company all the way to a Headquarters staff officer.

By Star-Presidian deadline on Thursday, Colonel Duncan S. Somerville and Colonel B. Meinert—the latter a third place winner in last year's Post test—had strung three straight victories each against no losses to emerge most likely candidates for the crown.

In the loser's bracket, a match was scheduled Thursday morning between M/Sgt. Aryas Velarde, last year's Post runnerup, and the victor of a match between Leonard Rea and Christian Blom.

A semi-final match would see the winner of that play face the Somerville-Meinert loser—a meeting designed to produce a losers' bracket winner and finalist for the Post crown.

In the first pairings Monday, Meinert defeated Cpl. Bob Williams, 102d MRU courtster and another returnee from last year's competition, 6-0, 6-1. Later in the day the artilleryman defeated Wally Rowe of Headquarters, Sixth Army, 6-0, 6-1.

Wednesday he won over his rival in last year's tournament, Velarde, 6-4, 6-4, thus setting the stage for Thursday's go against Somerville.

The latter took his first match against Leonard Rea, 6-4, 6-3. On Tuesday he found a more stubborn opponent in Blom. Somerville took a lengthy first set, 7-5, dropped the second, 3-6, then went on to win his third 7-5. On Wednesday he defeated Guy Clum 6-1, 6-1.

Complete results as of Thursday morning are as follows:

Monday:
Meinert d. Williams, 6-0, 6-1; Velarde d. Goudswaardi, 6-1, 6-0; Somerville d. Rea, 6-4, 6-3; Clum d. Cusher, 9-7, 10-8; Meinert d. Rowe, 6-0, 6-1; Velarde d. Mullen 6-0, 6-1; Wong vs. Bye; Blom vs. Bye.

Tuesday:
Somerville d. Blom, 7-5, 3-6, 7-5; Clum d. Wong, 6-1, 6-2; Williams d. Mullen by forfeit; Goudswaardi d. Rowe by forfeit; Rea d. Wong by forfeit; Blom d. Cusher, 6-2, 6-4.

Wednesday:
Meinert d. Velarde, 6-4, 6-4; Somerville d. Clum, 6-1, 6-1; Williams d. Goudswaardi, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1.

ROLAND GOUDSWAARDI found trouble with his net-play in the first match Monday against Velarde. The aggressive Southerner lost to last year's second-placer and was eliminated later in the week by Bob Williams of the MRU.

CEREMONY OF THE 40th INFANTRY DIVISION LARKIN STREET

Army Info School Lists New Schedule For Officers, WOs

Ft. Slocum, N. Y.—The Army Information School here will start a series of eight-week courses Aug. 23, 1954, to train commissioned officers and warrant officers for MOS 5401 — Public Information Officer.

The courses will cover public information releases, articles, posters, radio and TV presentations, press conferences, speaker bureaus, and general public relations work.

Those eligible to attend are RA commissioned officers and WOs with three or more years military service and Reserve officers in an active status, or on active duty with one or more years of military service.

The officers must have one or more years' service remaining after completion of the course. They must have a minimum of two years college education or its equivalent and have shown suitability for command or staff assignments.

The first class will report Aug. 20, 1954, and will complete the PIO course Oct. 18, 1954. The other reporting dates for the following four classes will be Oct. 22, 1954; Jan. 7, Mar. 11, and May 13, 1955. (AFPS)

Commander's Time for Next Week's TI&E

The Troop Information and Education conference hour for next week, 20 June to 26 June, will be given over to Commander's Time it was announced by Post TI&E this week.

Major General J. O. Mauborgne—outstanding Army scientist and engineer—was the first operator to transmit a message by radio from a military airplane.

General Caffey, Judge Advocate, In Presidio Visit

Major General Eugene M. Caffey, the Judge Advocate General of the Army, earlier this week visited Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, and nearby military installations before departing on Thursday morning for Fort Ord in connection with current problems of interest to the Judge Advocate General's corps.

General Caffey is not only a lawyer and engineer but also has commanded troops in combat. During World War II, as Colonel Caffey, Corps of Engineers, he commanded the First Engineer Special Brigade during the invasions of Sicily, Italy and Normandy.

Earlier this year, General Caffey was nominated by the president and confirmed by the senate to his present office as well as to the rank of major general, Regular Army.

While on the Presidio, he was briefed on current operations by Colonel J. W. Huyssoon, Sixth Army Judge Advocate.

An Army First

The first attempt to organize a meteorological observing and forecasting service on a national scale in America was made by the Army Signal Corps in 1870. By 1878 the corps had 224 observation stations in operation.

Real, George!

General George Washington, on Jan. 14, 1776, initiated re-enlistment furloughs in an effort to help re-enlistments and recruiting. This policy has continued in the Army to this day.

Start Planning Now!

Freedoms Foundation Again Offers $1000 for Top Letter

Washington — Again this year Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Pa., offers a $1000 first prize for the best letter from a serviceman or woman on "What America Means to Me."

Also offered are 20 awards of $100. All prize winners will be awarded the George Washington Honor Medal. Honor Medals will also go to 20 additional letter-writers.

Letters must not be over 500 words long. They'll be judged by an awards jury assisted by a panel of Congressional Medal of Honor winners. The judges will take into account soundness of ideas and clear thinking—rather than literary form.

Entries will be accepted immediately. Closing date this year is midnight, Nov. 11, 1954. Letters received after that date will be entered in the 1955 contest.

Winners of this year's contest will be announced by the Freedoms Foundation, Feb. 22, 1955, at Valley Forge.

All Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard men and women on active duty stationed anywhere in the world are eligible to enter the contest.

Reservists and National Guardsmen are eligible to submit letters only while on active duty. Personnel discharged after they have submitted letters will still be eligible for prizes.

Letters must be sent to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, 1016 N. McCadden Place, Los Angeles 38, Calif. They must be received no later than midnight, Nov. 11, 1954, to be considered in the 1954 contest. Letters must bear the signature, rank, service number, and organization of the entrant. (AFPS)

Annapolis, West Point To Furnish Additional Officers to Air Force

Washington—A larger share of this year's West Point and Annapolis graduates may be going into the Air Force than in previous years.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said the two academies would furnish the AF with 30 per cent of their graduating classes until the Air Force Academy produces its first class—expected around 1959.

This is five per cent more than formerly authorized. In the past, 25 per cent of each class has been made available for the AF.

If the new quota is fully subscribed, the AF will wind up with about 440 academy graduates. Already 368 cadets and midshipmen have been nominated for AF commissions.

However, it was emphasized that additional members of the '54 class headed for the AF would be volunteers who desire and are qualified for flight training. (AFPS)

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 4

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 25 June, 1954

VISITING ROK OFFICERS flank Sixth Army Commander Lt. General W. G. Wyman following last Tuesday's parade in their honor. At upper left is Brigadier General William Sexton, Sixth Army Chief of Staff; upper right, Major General William F. Dean,

Deputy Commander, Sixth Army. Korean officers, and one Pakistan officer, were returning to Korea from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where they had been attending the regular course at the Army's Command and General Staff College. (Photo by Guittierez)

Sixth Army Salute!

Mid-Week Review Honors Top ROK Army General Officers

Some fifteen hundred Presidio troops representing over ten units took part at the formal retreat and parade review honoring fifteen Republic of Korea Army officers on the main parade ground here Tuesday.

In this country since last September, the officers arrived in San Francisco Monday afternoon en route to Korea from Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, where they had been attending the regular course at the Army's Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Many of the officers of the group, which included 12 generals, served as ROK division commanders under Lt. General W. G. Wyman when the present Sixth Army Commander was leading the Ninth United States Army Corps in Korea.

The parade was followed by an official reception for the officers at the Presidio Officer's Mess at which General Wyman was host.

Members of the group of visiting officers were Lt. General Yu Jae Hung; Major Generals Ham Byong Sun, Song Yo Chan, Yang Kuk Chin, Lee Sung Ga, Paik Nam Kwon, Oh Duk Jun, Paik In Yup, Bak Lim Hang, Kim Chong Kop, and Kim Kyung Il; Brigadier Generals Paik Sun Chin and Choi Kyung Nok and Colonels Kim Hi Duk and Pak Chin Suk.

Presidio-based units participating in the parade included the Sixth Army Band, two companies from the 30th Engineer Group, two companies from the 505th Military Police Battalion, WAC Detachment, 16th Base Post Office, 102nd and 56th MRU, 46th Ordnance Group and two detachments from 6002 and 6000 SU.

The color guard, which bore flags of the United Nations, was made up from personnel of the Detachment A, 6002 SU, Sixth Army Honor Guard.

Veteran of WWI?

Officers eligible to retire under authority of Section 5, act of 31 July, 1953, as amended (WWI service prior to 12 November, 1918) may, upon application and subject to approval of the Social Security administration, be eligible for social security benefits based on the fact that the period for which free social security credits granted were not used to compute retirement pay. The effective date of such retirement must be not later than the last day of the month preceding the month in which involuntary retirement is scheduled.

Services Draw Bonus Strings; Some Profit, Others Must Repay

The Armed Forces are tightening up the rules concerning re-enlistment bonuses. As a result, some servicemen may have to repay part of their bonuses while others may receive money mistakenly taken away from them.

A recent decision by the Comptroller General had these two main points. First, if a serviceman has collected a bonus for re-enlisting on or after Oct. 26, 1951, for a certain period but fails to complete that period because of his own choice or misconduct, he must repay part of the bonus.

Second, if a serviceman has collected a bonus for re-enlisting before Oct. 26, 1951, the Armed Forces should not have taken back any money if he failed to complete the enlistment, no matter what the cause.

General Dean, 6th Army Band, Will Fete S. F. Birthday

Presidio military officials and San Francisco civic heads are prepared to honor San Francisco's 178th birthday when it falls this Tuesday, 29 June.

That morning, Founding Day, a luncheon is planned in the adobe building of the Presidio Officers' Club. Hosting civilian and military visitors there will be the Sixth Army Deputy Commander, Major General William F. Dean.

San Franciscan Ernest Ingold will speak on "The House on Mallorca," Father Junipero Serra's birthplace. A giant birthday cake will be cut by Paula Fatjo, a direct descendant of Francisco Pacheco. She will impersonate "La Favorita," the traditional Spanish belle.

Preceding the luncheon, an anniversary mass will be celebrated by His Excellency Bishop Merlin J. Guilfoyle, at old Mission Dolores at 1000 hours.

On Monday, General Dean will anticipate Founding Day festivities with a speech at Union Square, where a colorful program and concert by the Sixth Army band has been scheduled, commencing at 1130 hours.

Presidio MPs Leave For Assignment at Yuma Test Station

Two officers and 60 enlisted men of the 505th Military Police Battalion left in a jeep-truck convoy from the Presidio of San Francisco this week bound for Yuma Test Station, Yuma, Arizona.

The MPs are scheduled to perform regular Military Police duties while at the Yuma Test Station for a period of approximately 19 weeks.

The detachment of MPs, selected from the four companies of the 505th, is commanded by 2nd Lt. Stanley Johnson, with M/Sgt. Arton Bias, NCO in charge.

AR's, SR's Subject!

Confab Here Today to Explain New D-A Distribution Program

Saved: 7,000 pieces of paper (or 14,000 pages) now in the hands of 4,100 separate companies and 1,400 organic battalions, a total of 5,550 units.

This in turn amounts to 77,000,000 typed pages (33,500,000 pieces of paper), approximately 95 tons or—18 miles of paper!

That's a lot of paper.

How, why and where is all this being saved?

It's all due to a revised distribution program for administrative publications (AR's and SR's) introduced by Department of the Army.

In fact, it's so new, that Colonel Roy W. Walker, Chief of the Publications Branch, Adjutant General's Office, Department of the Army, is at Headquarters Sixth Army, conducting a one-day conference with representatives of staff sections and others affected to brief them on the workings of the new system.

Briefly, this change in procedure will result in the distribution of these D/A publications based on levels of command and degree of responsibility, with particular reference to the requirements of smaller units (companies, battalions and regiments).

In the future, administrative publications will be distributed on a need-to-know basis in accordance with the D/A recommended setup.

Additional publications as required because of peculiarities of mission or organization will be requisitioned by the units concerned. This action will result in the elimination of numerous files of unnecessary administrative publications at the various echelons of commands within the Army establishment.

In a staff study on the distribution of AR's and SR's, put out in May 1954 by the publication branch of the Adjutant General's Office, Washington, D. C., it is noted that distribution of these publications is both "inadequate and excessive as certain instructional material is being distributed to units that do not require the material, while conversely, material presently being distributed only to separate companies and larger units is considered essential to all companies.

"By revising the present distribution formula to provide a distinction between levels of command and responsibility and by establishing distribution on a strict 'need to know' basis, a part of the existing deficiencies in distribution can be corrected."

An example as to how re-evaluation of requirements due to changes in procedure at company and battalion level will occur is this: Payrolls were formerly prepared at company level. This function is now a responsibility of Finance units, yet to date, no change has been made in the distribution to the company of related instructional material.

And the realignment of distribution of administrative instruction of a special nature such as those pertaining to the WAC, Veterinary corps, hospitals, etc., from an "across-the-board" distribution to a special "need to know" distribution basis will likewise result in tremendous savings.

Sixth Army Area Provost Marshal Meet Beneficial

More than 40 persons were present for the two-day Sixth Army Provost Marshal conference held at Fort Scott on 17 and 18 June.

The Conference, held in the Joint Operations center building, was attended by provost marshals of Class I and Class II installations and commanders of certain Military Police units of the Sixth Army area. Also in attendance were representatives of the Air Force and the Navy.

In his welcoming address Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, lauded the Military Police corps by stating, "It is very satisfying to see the corps accomplishing so much good for the military service and it is worthy that the Military Police corps has set the highest standards not only in dress but in intelligent application of the individual to the job at hand.

"The Military Police corps has a great responsibility in that one of the keys to the Army problem is the conduct of the military establishment. The day of the 'big club' in the Military Police corps is over and the importance of courtesy in the application of law enforcement cannot be stressed too strongly."

Also featured at the conference were beneficial discussions on current law enforcement problems and other matters raised initially at the Fourth Provost Marshal General conference held recently at Camp Gordon, Georgia.

Crime prevention, juvenile delinquency, special reports for minor offenses, prisoner rehabilitation, selective enforcement, and the protective service program all were probed at length.

At the close of the conference, Colonel Shaffer F. Jarrell, Sixth Army Provost Marshal, expressed his thanks to the conferees for their excellent participation, emphasized the necessity for a continuous training program to include field training in order that Military Police personnel may be combat-ready, and stressed the need for the inauguration of aggressive crime prevention activities.

Doctor Draft Up!

The Defense Department has asked Selective Service to provide 850 physicians during July or soon thereafter. The doctors requested are in addition to the 120 previously sought for July to fill the Navy Department's requirements for the first quarter of fiscal year 1955. Of the 850 doctors requested, 350 are for the Navy and 500 for the Air Force.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BOND CAMPAIGN

One of the fundamental principles that enabled the early settlers of the West to live and prosper was the application of the rule: "Eat It Up, Wear It Out, Make It Do or Do Without."

Partial application at this late date will enable you to buy a Savings Bond per Month.

Editorial

On Holiday Driving

During the Decoration Day holiday weekend no Presidio personnel were involved in any off-post, off-duty accidents, although the fatalities in the United States due to motor vehicle accidents, drowning, firearms and other causes reached a new high.

These hazards will be present again during the Fourth of July weekend, 2 through 5 July 1954. It is expected that the toll will be even higher due to the presence of a greater number of vehicles on the highways, the added incentive to swim and sun-bathe due to warmer weather, and the use of blank ammunition.

Presidio personnel can maintain the excellent record already established by observing the same care in vehicle operation, swimming, and sun-bathing, as in the past. The use of blank ammunition and firecrackers by individuals is a violation of state law.

The following slogan, submitted by Pvt. Marshall Polin, Hq. Btry., 9th AAA Gun Bn., should govern our conduct:

"ACCIDENTS CAN COST YOUR LIFE — SAFETY COSTS NOTHING." (AMNPR-SAF—R.L.B.)

Top Facilities

Modern Armories To Be Built By Army For Reserve Forces

Washington—The Army is building 53 armories for its reserve forces at a total cost of approximately $18,000,000.

The armories now being planned, under construction, or recently completed will serve as training structures for United States Army Reserve members in local communities of 25 states.

Almost all the new armories feature long, low construction lines, residential type windows, and exterior finishes chosen to harmonize with neighboring buildings in local communities. The "new look" design—a far cry from the armories of yesterday which reflected the Bastille school of architecture—denotes the Army's desire to make hometown America's Reserve headquarters an integral part of the communities.

In addition to the "new look," the armories also have another desirable feature. They are expandable. As the Reserve program grows, the armories also can be made to grow by adding wings to the basic buildings.

The basic building is designed to accommodate approximately 400 men for training purposes. This basic unit can be expanded to accommodate 600 or 800 men by adding additional wings. Similarly, a 600-man armory may be expanded to an 800 or 1,000-man unit.

The "new look" armories place emphasis on increased classroom space and a reduced emphasis on drill areas. This is in line with the Army's need for thoroughly-trained technicians. In addition to classrooms, the armories contain administrative offices, day rooms, rifle ranges, arms vaults, kitchens, lockers and assembly halls.

Armories currently being built are located on federally-owned land under the jurisdiction of the Department of the Army, or land upon which the Government holds long-term rights. (ANF)

The Army's phonetic alphabet first came into use during World War I.

PAINLESS "SHOT"—Second Lieutenant Julia J. Sign, Army nurse from Santa Barbara, Calif., demonstrates the jet spray injection gun at Walter Reed Medical Center. Ernest Cutchins, University of Maryland student, observes the operation.

Army's New Pressure Gun Will Take Pain Out of Standard Inoculations

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Washington — The dread hypodermic needle may become just an unpleasant memory as U. S. soldiers of the future line up to get their shots from a painless jet pressure gun.

The Army Medical Service Graduate School here is experimenting with a new multiple-injection apparatus that looks like a gun, is triggered like a gun and penetrates the skin as effectively as a bullet.

However, the soldier suffers neither pain nor wound from this shot. The only mark left after immunization is a short-lived welt about the size of a pencil eraser.

The new gun is a "press-o-jet" which can inoculate as many as 100 persons for typhoid fever without being re-loaded. It looks like a Luger pistol with two triggers. Pull one trigger and the magazine is loaded—a bottle attached to the gun-butt provides the "ammunition" in measured injections. Pull the other trigger and the immunization serum is driven through the skin painlessly by air pressure. A small rubber suction cup pressed against the patient's skin provides the proper taut surface for the jet nozzle.

Immediate advantages of this type injection over the hypodermic needle are obvious. Elimination of the needle makes immunization not only painless but more sanitary. In some instances, such diseases as infectious hepatitis and malaria have been transmitted by use of improperly sterilized needles. Because the jet nozzle never penetrates skin tissues, this danger is avoided.

However, the new system, if proved effective, would be most useful for the Army's peculiar need in speeding up mass-inoculations at induction centers. Considerable time and manpower could be saved if needles did not have to be changed for different inoculations. Each man is given typhoid, paratyphoid, smallpox and tetanus shots.

Soldiers at Fort Meade, Md., and in the Military District of Washington have received shots in experiments with the jet-nozzle gun.

The new injection method has been under development since 1946. It is based on the observation that fine jets of oil from leaking hydraulic lines could penetrate mechanics' skins and leave little or no mark. (ANF)

VA to Inaugurate Simplified Plan On Vet Absences

Washington—The Veterans Administration will begin a new simplified system of handling absences of veterans training on-the-job or in non-accredited schools such as trade and vocational schools.

Under the Korean G.I. Bill, these veterans are allowed a maximum of 30 days of absences a year. But no G.I. Bill training allowances may be paid for any absences exceeding that amount.

Previously, allowable absences were computed on a pro-rated monthly basis. If a veteran were absent from training too many times in any one month, his G.I. allowance for that month would be cut down.

Under the new system, allowable absences will be computed on a 12-month basis. Allowance deductions will not be made until the yearly limit has been exceeded.

Weekends and legal holidays do not count as absences. But other days off—including school vacation periods—are considered non-payable absences.

By doing away with the monthly computation system, the VA expects to reduce administration and make the allowance system more equitable for veterans forced to remain away from training for extended periods of time. (AFPS)

RETIREMENT CEREMONIES for Colonel Guy H. Stubbs, survivor of the Bataan death march of World War II, and veteran of 35 years of Army service, were given at the University of San Francisco, when more than 800 men of the Reserve Officers Training Corps passed in review. Colonel Stubbs has been head of the Military Science department at the university for the past three years. An Artillery graduate of the United States Military Academy at West Point, class of 1923, Colonel Stubbs spent more than three years as a prisoner of war following the capture of Bataan in 1942. Shown with the colonel during the retirement ceremonies are, l. to r., Rev. William J. Dunn, president of the university, and Rev. Raymond Feeley of the faculty. (Army photo by Martinez)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!
The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

MASSED COLORS of the 40th Infantry Division as they parade up San Francisco's Market street enroute to the ceremonies at Civic Center where the division passed from federal to state control on 19 June 1954.

The division returned from its service career in Korea on 13 June, and has now reverted to California National Guard status. (Army photo by Cox)

REVIEWING STAND in front on San Francisco's City Hall was lined with dignitaries during the ceremonies welcoming home the 40th Infantry Division. Shown above l. to r. are Goodwin J. Knight, governor of California; General Matthew B. Ridgway, chief of staff, U. S. Army; Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander; Mrs. Clarissa McMahon, member of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors and acting mayor of San Francisco; Major General Earle M. Jones, adjutant general of California; and Major General Homer O. Eaton, Jr., commanding general, California 40th National Guard Division. (Army photo by Cox)

PART OF THE 40th Infantry Division, which included some 1,153 men, are shown passing in review at Civic Center following their "welcome home" march up San Francisco's Market street. The 40th, returned only last week from duty in Korea, has now reverted to its National Guard status. The men, all combat veterans of the final battles in Korea, include personnel from throughout the United States, among them 37 Californians. (Army photo by Cox)

"Sunburst" Returns!

Public Treated to Impressive Display as 40th Deactivates

Officers and men of the Sixth Army and civic officials of San Francisco worked hand-in-hand last Saturday to produce one of the most impressive military pageants seen for years in the Bay Area. For the third time, in a period of thirty-seven years, the colors of the Fighting Fortieth "Sunburst" Division, California National Guard, returned to its native state for deactivation.

Eleven hundred and fifty-three combat veterans of the 40th, who participated in the final battles of Korea, marched up San Francisco's main thoroughfare from the Ferry Building to the Civic Center.

There were 37 Californians in the group which represented the last veterans of the division to see fighting in Korea.

As part of the continuing California welcome that marked the arrival of the Fortieth from Korea via Japan, elements of the three other services sent their own units up Market Street to the blaring brass of their own and the Sixth Army bands.

Representing Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens at the ceremony was his special assistant, Franklin L. Orth, and Army Chief of Staff General Matthew B. Ridgway, former Eighth Army and Far East Commander under whom the division fought in Korea.

Other civilian and military dignitaries to participate in the welcoming ceremonies included Governor Goodwin J. Knight of California, Brigadier General William J. Bradley, 40th Commander, who presented the division colors to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander.

General Wyman in turn handed them to the State's Chief Executive. Governor Knight passed them to Major General Homer O. Eaton, who now commands the Division as a Reserve unit.

Following the presentation of colors, there were brief speeches by the ranking State, civic and military leaders present.

The Fortieth was first activated in 1917. The unit took part in the gallant fighting in the closing phases of the Meuse-Argonne campaign.

Its troops again fought with distinction in World War II, particularly in the campaigns that drove back the Japanese to Rabaul, and routed Japanese in the invasion of Luzon.

For a second time the Fortieth was inactivated. But four years later, with a shooting war in Korea, the men of the Fortieth became a fighting unit again.

As part of last Saturday's ceremonies, captured Communist guns were turned over to the National Guard to decorate its armories.

In charge of the highly successful ceremonies was Colonel William B. Kern, Chief, Reserve Components Division, G-3. He was aided by Lt. Col. Daniel H. Swett, G-3, Assistant Project Officer, and Major James W. DeLoach, SGS, who handled invitations, seating and liaison with civilian officials.

Orientation Course for ROTC Instructor Groups Set for This Summer

A five and one-half day 40-hour orientation course for ROTC instructor personnel will be conducted at Fort Lewis, Washington,

Attention, Music Lovers

The Sixth Army Band will give a concert 4 July at 2:00 p. m. in the Sigmund Stern Grove 19th and Sloat Blvd. as part of the 12 concert Mid-Summer Music Festival sponsored by the San Francisco Recreation and Park Commission.

This is the fifth consecutive year of the Music Festival with the Sixth Army Band presenting as usual one of the first concerts of the summer season.

One of the highlights of the program will be a musical narrative with script and narration by Cpl. Curtis R. Hungerford of the Presidio. It is entitled "Freedom's Saga" and features the Sixth Army Band and Chorus in a progression of many of this nation's patriotic songs from the Revolution of 1776 to the Korean War.

Admission is free and all are invited for an afternoon of music.

Air Drops Prove Boon to Engineers Mapping Alaska

Air supplying the 660th Engineer Battalion in Alaska, giant C-124's parachute everything from gasoline and Yukon stoves to "C" rations to the field camps. During the summer, the 660th is surveying in desolate areas far from towns and roads. Flying is the sole means of supplying the camps.

The latest air drop was at a 537th Engineer Company sub camp. The C-124 passed over the drop zone at the edge of towering mountains. Flying at 1,000 feet, supplies tumbled out of the cargo bay, jerked to a halt as the parachute blossomed, and floated earthward.

On the way down two chutes entangled and ripped apart, but the precious cargo was not harmed in the crash. Thirty tons of supplies and equipment were dropped without damage.

On the ground a D-6 "Cat" and a sled picked up the equipment, supplies, and chutes and transported them to the campsite. It would have been an impossible job dragging the gasoline drums and large equipment from the brush without the "Cat."

Although the field units have airstrips, they are too small for the monstrous C-124 to land. Smaller planes would have taken days, making repeated trips, to accomplish the mission the C-124 does in a matter of minutes.

this summer, with the dates for the course to be announced later.

All officers and enlisted ROTC instructors who have not attended a similar course in the past three years and who were assigned to current tour of ROTC instructor duty subsequent to 1 November, 1953, will be in attendance.

Scope of the course will be limited to methods of instruction and ROTC orientation.

Officers Recently Assigned

Lt. Col. Albert W. McGrath has completed a year's service as chief of staff, Military Assistance Advisory group, Saudi Arabia.

His new assignment here is chief, operations branch, supply division, G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

With 13 years of active duty and 11 years of Iowa National Guard service to his credit, Colonel McGrath spent the period 1949-1950 with a U.S. Military Mission to Greece, and in World War II, spent two years in the ETO as commanding officer of 17th Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron.

The colonel has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Commendation Ribbon with Oak Leaf Cluster, the French Croix de Guerre, five battle stars for his ETO ribbon and the Armed Forces Reserve Medal for his more than 20 years of Army service.

Lt. Colonel Glenn A. Hawes is now the chief of the Reserve components division, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army. Most recently, he served a year in the operations branch, AG Division, Headquarters U.S. Army Europe.

A veteran of 26 years of Army duty, Colonel Hawes received his reserve commission in 1928, came on active duty in 1941 and was integrated into the Regular Army in 1947. His various campaign and theater ribbons show his service in all theaters of the world.

During the period October 1950 to April 1953 the colonel served as Adjutant General of 4th Infantry Division, joining it upon its reorganization at Fort Benning, Georgia, and accompanying it to Germany.

During World War II, Colonel Hawes served in various capacities including classification and assignment officer, Camp Wolters, Texas; Replacement Training command, Pacific area; classification and assignment officer, 25th Replacement Depot, Okinawa, and D/A Personnel Management team in Atlanta, Georgia and Dallas, Texas.

Lt. Colonel John Sparrow, who has been at Walter Reed Army hospital for the past eight months, has now begun his work with the Quartermaster section, Headquarters Sixth Army, where, in the fall, he will become chief of the supply division upon the departure of Lt. Colonel W. C. Naselroad.

Prior to entering Walter Reed, Colonel Sparrow served 18 months as purchasing and contracting officer, Ryukyus command, Okinawa.

During the period 1948-1951, he was with the office of the chief of military history, D/A, and is the author of "History of Personnel Demobilization in the U.S. Army," an official Army publication which is presently in use at both the Army War college and the Command and General Staff school. Prior to completion of the book, the colonel spent a year studying personnel administration at Ohio State university and served two internships at Swift and Company and International Harvester, Chicago.

In the Army for the past 14 years, Colonel Sparrow is a graduate of the Quartermaster school, the Command and General Staff school and the QM Subsistence Technology course. He served two and one-half years in the Communications zone, ETO, during World War II, and has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Major Harry Kahn has become the assistant secretary of the Presidio Mess section, which includes the open and field messes as well as the NCO clubs.

In charge of the officers' mess in the Korean Communications zone for the past 18 months, Major Kahn was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for his service there.

Entering the service in January 1941, the major served two years as an enlisted man, attending OCS Quartermaster school, Fort Lee, Virginia, and receiving his commission in January, 1943.

Following his commission, he went to the ETO where he served 32 months in Austria, Germany, France and Belgium with the 86th Division and later with the Mobile Field Interrogation unit at Frankfurt, Germany.

Major William H. Pierce has served the past year in the intelligence and security branch at Fort Mason.

He is now chief of the radio and television branch, Information Section, Headquarters, Sixth Army.

Major Pierce served three years as PIO of the Garmisch Recreation area, Germany, and also edited that unit's weekly newspaper, prior to his Fort Mason assignment.

Lt. Wilson N. Jacobson, Jr., has received his initial duty assignment in the Army with the 21st Engineer company (base photo), 30th Engineer group, Fort Scott.

He has just completed the four-months photo interpretation course at Purdue University, and prior to that, was at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, where he completed both the Engineer officers basic course and the aerial photo indoctrination course.

Lt. Jacobson entered the service last September from ROTC ranks at the University of California, where he majored in civil engineering.

CWO Ludwig A. Schwaiger has become the supply officer for Detachment 1, 6002 ASU, Presidio of San Francisco.

A veteran of 26 years Army service, Mr. Schwaiger returned recently from 18 months duty in Puerto Rico where he served with the 482nd Field Artillery Service battery.

In the European theater during World War II, he was with Supreme Headquarters in France, England, Germany and Africa, serving from its activation to its phasing out, the period covering June 1941 to January 1947. Mr. Schwaiger was with a special Army observer group there prior to the outbreak of war.

His decorations include the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star Medal.

Liberty and Equality!

Declaration of Independence To Be Next Week's TIC Topic

The Declaration of Independence, current subject in the You and Your USA series of Armed Forces talks, will be the troop topic for the week of 27 June to 3 July, it was announced by Post TI&E office this week.

The conference will bring out that the Declaration of Independence contains the essence of our democratic faith. It was written to explain to mankind the reasons for declaring ourselves independent of Great Britain.

Kaiser Plan Reopens

Membership in the Kaiser Foundation Health plan will be re-opened during the month of July to employees of the Presidio of San Francisco, it was announced today. In the future, membership will be re-opened at three-months intervals. Full details may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Weinberg, civilian personnel division, Bldg. 36, Ext. 4481.

Headquarters Battery Wins May Best Mess

Fort Barry—Best Mess trophy for the month of May in the 30th AAA Group was presented to Sgt. Robert W. Byers, mess steward of Headquarters Battery, 9th AAA Battalion. Major Clyde E. Wertz made the award.

This is the fourth time that Headquarters Battery has won the award; the third consecutive time. Colonel P. H. Wollaston commands the 30th AAA Group, Lt. Colonel G. Neil Wilcox the 9th AAA, and Lt. William C. Sullivan, Headquarters Battery. Assisting Sgt. Byers in the mess are cooks Cpl. Lowell W. Greenwood and Pfc. Domingo M. Vasquez.

1954 ELECTIONS

(By Armed Forces Press Service)
(This is the 14th in a series of articles dealing with State elections.)

Vermont: To register, request "Freeman's Oath" from Town Board of Selectmen. You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Clerk. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: R-G-SO-LO.

Washington: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA no earlier than July 1 to Secretary of State, Olympia, Wash. Ballot

Key to Abbreviations

Unless otherwise noted, General Elections will be held Nov. 2, 1954, in all states.

Abbreviations: FPCA—Federal Post Card Application (Form 76), S—U.S. Senator, R—U.S. Representative, G—Governor, SO—State officers other than Governor, LO—Local officers, RQ—Referendum questions, CA—Constitutional amendments.

must be voted and/or postmarked no later than day of election. Election: R-SO-LO-CA.

Wisconsin: You may use absentee ballot for primary (Sept. 14) and general elections. Send FPCA to County Clerk no earlier than 60 days before election. Ballot must be returned no later than day of election. Election: R-G-SO-LO-RQ.

The rare metal germanium, extensively used in electronics, is being recovered in the fly ash of coals burned at utility power plants.

Independence contains the essence of our democratic faith. It was written to explain to mankind the reasons for declaring ourselves independent of Great Britain.

In writing this famous document Thomas Jefferson has given us the best short statement of the meaning of democracy ever written. In Jefferson's view the document was intended to be an "expression of the American mind." The Declaration, then, was not revolutionary because it contained new ideas. What makes the document revolutionary is that a nation of men declared their purpose to found a society upon these ideas.

The importance of the Declaration of Independence in our history rests upon its clear statement of human ideals. We have struggled hard and succeeded only imperfectly in realizing them. When we become indifferent the Declaration of Independence is always there to chastise us. No nation is more self-critical than the United States of America. Foreign people sometimes criticize us—but it is difficult for anyone, except our enemies, to say harsher things about us than we say about ourselves.

Lord Bryce, the famous British observer of America, said of us, "They know, and are content that all the world should know, the worst as well as the best of themselves. They have a boundless faith in free inquiry and full discussion. They admit the possibility of any number of temporary errors and delusions." So we do, and therein lies our strength.

The discussion will stress that the Declaration of Independence does not provide us with any neat ready-made formulas for solving the problems that come to each generation. It is not even an instrument of government, like the Constitution. It is a statement of the basic principles on which our government is founded, and serves as a constant reminder to us not to allow those principles to be lost. Just how the ideals of 1776 should be put into action at any given time is a question the Declaration itself will not answer for us; for this answer we must depend on the political wisdom of our people and our elected representatives.

It is you who must decide, in each generation, how these ideals can best be served by specific laws and actions. But one thing is certain: as long as the principles of the Declaration claim our love and respect, so long will our free and representative government endure and be a source of hope to those who seek human freedom and who believe in the dignity and worth of every human being.

Puzzle Answers

HIS	SLAM	SHOT
ACE	MALE	TOTEM
MECHANIC	ROTS
TARE	HIATUS
FLIRT	SLOW
ROOM	SLIT	FEW
EON	LIANA	ERI
ENS	ALPS	TAIL
	ATES	ARTEL
CARMEN	BLEU
ALEE	CRATERED
ROTE	EASE	ERR
PEER	STER	SAY

EFFICIENCY AWARD for devising a multi-point dial selector which saved the U. S. government an estimated $9,275 in its first year of use was awarded recently to Mr. Lester W. Weber, Signal Section, Communications Division, by Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commander, Sixth Army. On hand for the award ceremony was Colonel William L. James (left), Executive Officer, Sixth Army Signal

Section. As a result of his suggestion and in accordance with the recommendation of the local Efficiency Awards Committee, Mr. Weber was awarded the sum of $260. The multi-point dial selector is being used in the ACAN relay system. Mr. Weber has received five previous awards for adopted suggestions. (Army photo by Hilmer)

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 25 June—"No Time for Flowers," with Viveca Lindfors and Paul Christian.

Saturday, 26 June—"Sun Valley Sere-nade," with Sonja Henie and John Payne.

Sunday, 27 June—"Princess of the Nile," with Jeffrey Hunter and Debra Paget.

Monday, 28 June—"Ivanhoe," with Robert Taylor and Joan Fontaine.

Tuesday, 29 June—"Gog," with Rich-ard Egan and Herbert Marshall.

Wednesday, 30 June and Thursday, 1 July—"Living It Up," with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 25 June—"Sun Valley Sere-nade," with Sonja Henie and John Payne.

Saturday, 26 June—"Princess of the Nile," with Jeffrey Hunter and Debra Paget.

Sunday, 27 June—"No Time for Flow-ers," with Viveca Lindfors and Paul Christian.

Tuesday, 29 June—"Living It Up," with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 25 June—"Bounty Hunter," with Randolph Scott.

Monday, 28 June—"No Time for Flow-ers," with Viveca Lindfors and Paul Christian.

Wednesday, 30 June—"Man With a Million," with Gregory Peck and Jane Griffiths.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 27 June—"Living It Up," with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.

Tuesday, 29 June—"No Time for Flowers," with Viveca Lindfors and Paul Christian.

Thursday, 1 July—"Man With a Mil-lion," with Gregory Peck and Jane Griffiths.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 25 June—"Niagara," with Joseph Cotton and Marilyn Monroe.

Saturday, 26 June—"No Time for Flowers," with Viveca Lindfors and Paul Christian.

Sunday, 27 June and Monday, 28 June—"Bounty Hunter," with Randolph Scott.

Tuesday, 29 June—"Sun Valley Sere-nade," with Sonja Henie and John Payne.

Wednesday, 30 June—"Gog," with Richard Egan and Herbert Marshall.

Thursday, 1 July—"Princess of the Nile," with Jeffrey Hunter and Debra Paget.

Cinema Previews

"LIVING IT UP," F*. Here's Martin and Lewis again. In this one, through an error in diagnosis, Lewis is told he is dying of radiation poisoning. When he and Martin discover the mistake they conceal it from Janet Leigh, a reporter who has brought them to New York to give the dying man one last fling at life.

"GOG," F*. A determined band of enemy agents try their best to sabotage a U. S. government plan for launching the first platform in space. Their method is to murder the top scientists engaged in the program.

"PRINCESS OF THE NILE," F*. An adventure drama in which a princess escapes from the desert conqueror in the guise of a dancer and appears in a local gathering place to rouse her people to insurrection.

"MAN WITH A MILLION," F*. A shy, penniless American is suddenly skyrocketed to fame when he is given a million pound note by two eccentric Londoners. A series of fantastic ad-ventures go along with the dough.

F* Family.

Military Menagerie

"I'll admit I was somewhat naive, but after a few hundred sheep I learned to hate mutton."

SONIC MEN—"Enemy" soldiers clad in Aggressor uniforms lend realism to Army maneuvers at Fort Bragg, N.C., by broadcasting sounds of rifle and machinegun fire; mortar, artillery and bomb explosions; rumbling tanks, diving planes and even barking dogs.

Own Best Enemy!

U.S. Army Engages Sparring Partner in Training Battles

Washington—The Army is its own best "enemy."

When Army combat units take to the field in maneuvers, the enemy is not imaginary—his troops are there in the form of well-trained American soldiers wearing the green uniforms and crested helmets of a force known as Aggressor.

The Aggressor army plays the role of a sparring partner, fostering the spirit of competition and lending realism to bullet-less battlefields.

Aggressor forces are made up of rifle units and mechanized units similar to U.S. Army infantry and armored and artillery units. They also have an elite corps known as Fusiliers which corresponds to the paratrooper-ranger units of the American Army. A fictional general staff, war office, and high-ranking officer complement completes the make-up of the Aggressor Army.

Aggressor troops and equipment easily are identified by their circle-Trigon insignia—a green triangle centered in a white circle. Much of their equipment is American-made, "captured" in engagements in Europe and North America.

To add realism to maneuvers, "enemy" troops captured during the exercises have on their persons maps, credentials, messages and other information which, when properly evaluated, give U.S. forces an indication of the "enemy's" intentions. Because many of the Aggressors speak foreign languages, excellent intelligence and interrogation training is provided individuals and units performing those duties.

Sometimes—to check security measures of the U.S. forces—Ag-gressor plants spies in U.S. Army installations.

The Aggressor Army came into being in 1946. Before that time, forces participating in Army ma-neuvers were divided into the Blue Army and the Red Army. This set-up was all right for train-ing units in tactics, but did not prepare soldiers for a combat en-gagement with an "enemy" that used foreign tactics, spoke a dif-ferent language, and wore strange uniforms.

When Aggressor was organized, it was given a fictional history. In order to create realistic situations, it now is assumed that after World War II certain defeated nations in Western Europe banded to-gether under a dictatorship and formed the "Circle-Trigon" party. This organization pushed the occupying forces out of Europe and then proceeded to make "landings" in North America—in California, Alaska, the St. Lawrence Water-way, Panama and the Caribbean. From this general situation, train-ing maneuvers and exercises are developed by the Army for train-ing purposes. (ANF)

Russian Choir Sings

More than 150 Presidio per-sonnel and their families at-tended the concert of sacred Russian music presented Sun-day night in the Post chapel by the Russian Orthodox Holy Trinity Cathedral choir of San Francisco. They were directed by John A. Kolchin who has headed the group for the past 15 years. Brief addresses were given by Chaplain (1st Lt.) Stewart K. Lewis, host to the group, and Very Rev. George M. Benigsen, dean of the ca-thedral. Lt. General and Mrs. W. G. Wyman were among those attending the concert.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Pronoun
4—Strike
8—Pretense
12—High card
13—Masculine 14—Carry
15—Workman
17—Decays
18—Allowance for waste
19—Chasm
21—Play at courtship
23—Sluggish
24—Space
25—Narrow opening
26—Indefinite number
29—Vast age
30—Climbing plant
31—Silkworm
32—Abstract being
33—Mountains of Europe
34—Caudal appendage
35—The sweetest
36—Russian cooperative society
37—Opera by Bizet
40—Raw recruit (French Army slang)
41—Toward the sheltered side
42—Having a crater
43—Repetition
46—Comfort
48—Be mistaken
49—Equal
50—Suffix: female agent
51—Declare

DOWN

1—Cut of meat
2—Frozen water
3—Paris
4—Sting
5—Path
6—Mohammedan name
7—Flemish lace (pl.)
8—Stalk of grain
9—Cry of owl
10—Aleutian island
11—Confusion
16—Damage
20—Small amount
21—Liberate
22—Long-legged bird
23—Strikes
25—Quiets
26—Prominent parts
27—Great Lake
28—Determination
30—Tardy
31—Woody plant
35—Mohammedan noble
36—Change
37—Edible fish
38—Fiber plant
39—Nerve network
40—Low
43—Rodent
44—Period of time
45—Arid

Armbrust To Sing

Cpl. Richard Armbrust of the Sixth Army band who recently appeared on the Ed Sullivan "Toast of the Town" show, will appear on the Telethon show slated to begin at 2300 hours Saturday over KGO-TV Chan-nel 7. The show will run until 1600 hours Sunday and Cpl. Armbrust will appear between 1000 and 1130 Sunday. His se-lection will be "You'll Never Walk Alone," from Carousel.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 25 June—Quiz show, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 26 June—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 27 June—Braden follies, 2000.

Monday, 28 June—Night in Reno and birthday party for those with June birthdays, sponsored by Jewish Wel-fare Board; guitar and ukelele instruc-tions, 2000. Crafts room open.

Tuesday, 29 June—Square dancing, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 30 June—Tournaments: pinocle, scrabble and shuffleboard, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon; 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 1 July—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 25 June—Tournaments, 2000.

Saturday, 26 June—Horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 27 June—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; stage show, 2000.

Monday, 28 June—Ceramics and allied crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Tuesday, 29 June—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 30 June—"Show Busi-ness," drama group meeting with Mar-lynn Tobener, 2000.

Thursday, Square dancing, 2000.

YWCA Offers Unique Mother-Child Sessions

A Tuesday morning program for mothers and their young children is now in progress at the Y.W.C.A., 620 Sutter Street.

From 1000 to 1230 each Tuesday, mothers may choose either a mother-child craft program in which each learn together various skills such as construction with heated crayons, or a bridge and book review session for herself while her child or children are cared for in the nursery.

The nursery will accept chil-dren from two to five years of age and they will spend the morning cutting and pasting, drawing and listening to stories and records. A snack will also be served.

Open to all young mothers, a $2.00 Y.W.C.A. membership fee as well as a fee to cover costs is necessary for the sessions.

Also open to interested women, is a Monday night dressmaking course at the "Y." A professional dressmaker and tailor instructs each week from 1900 to 2100.

Vet News Notes

More psychiatrists are need-ed for Veterans Administra-tion mental hygiene clinics to prevent expensive hospitaliza-tion for the increasing load of service-connected psychiatric cases, VA announced today.

VA said its mental hygiene clin-ics are able to treat certain types of psychiatric cases at a cost of 70 to 80 per cent below that of hospitalization in even the most economically operated hospitals.

As a result, VA estimates its clinics now save more than $2.-000,000 a year in money that would be required if the clinic cases had to be hospitalized.

Service-connected cases are the only group of veterans entitled to both outpatient clinic care and hospitalization; and approximately 500,000 veterans are service-con-nected for psychiatric and neuro-logic disabilities.

By treating more of this load in clinics, the need for expensive hos-pitalization among the service-con-nected psychiatric cases may be re-duced proportionately, VA said.

Moreover, these clinics enable VA to shorten the hospitalization of service-connected cases whose hospital treatment can be com-pleted on an outpatient basis.

Another advantage of the clinic program, VA said, is that it permits the treatment of serv-ice-connected veterans in or near their home communities without loss of time from work. This is of particular value to veterans and their families, VA said.

VA said it has openings for psy-chiatrists who prefer to work with outpatients or who are interested in organizing or administering mental hygiene clinics.

In addition, VA needs chiefs for clinics in Cincinnati, O.; Hunting-ton, W. Va.; Louisville, Ky.; Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Columbus, O.; Little Rock, Ark.; Wichita, Kan-sas, and Des Moines, Ia.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hos-pital during the past week were:

Twins, boy and girl, to A 1/c and Mrs. Matthew J. Ryan, 41st Air Rescue, Hamilton AFB.

Daughters to:

14 June: PFC and Mrs. Richard G. Baldwin, 115 CIC, PSF; Lt. and Mrs. Hugh Daly, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF; SFC and Mrs. Richard Rogers, 6012 SU, Camp Stoneman, Calif.

16 June: PFC and Mrs. David E. Fink, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF; Sgt. and Mrs. Billy R. McFarland, Btry. B, 752nd AAA, Berkeley, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Ralph L. Stone, 6930 MP Det., LAH, PSF.

17 June: PFC and Mrs. Joseph Duples-sis, Co. D, 752nd AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Funston; PFC and Mrs. Donald V. Tucker, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSF; A 2/c and Mrs. Robert J. Williams, Hq. Sq. 28th Air Div., Hamilton AFB.

18 June: PFC and Mrs. Robert Ward, Det. 4, 6002 SU, Armed Serv. Police Det., T. I.

Sons to:

14 June: Lt. and Mrs. Carl H. Swa-dell, 1108 MSTs, Pacific, Ft. Mason; SFC and Mrs. Joe Ventura, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSF.

15 June: Lt. and Mrs. Glenn Millar, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF; Pvt. and Mrs. Walter Pike, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF.

16 June: Lt. Col. and Mrs. Everett L. Beasley, 5477-A Joint Center (USAF), Ft. Scott.

18 June: Cpl. and Mrs. Aaron B. Coates, 740th AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Baker; PFC and Mrs. Robert C. Noe, 6000 US, Det. 1, Hq. 6th Army, PSF; Lt. and Mrs. Gordon S. White, 666th AC&W Sq. Mill Valley, Calif.

19 June: Lt. and Mrs. Gene Dahl, 6001 D.I.O., Federal Office Bldg., S.F.

20 June: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Homer O. Baizer, 566th Supply Sqdn., Hamilton AFB.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 26 June—June formal at Pre-sidio Officers Club, dancing from 1900 to 2400.

Saturday, 27 June—Lounge around at the TAC.

WACs Knock Two Parks AB Pitchers For 12-2 Victory

Presidio WAC softballers drove two Parks AFB pitchers out of the box and thrashed five runs in the first inning of a game here this Wednesday to win easily 12-2 for their fourth Bay Area Armed Forces Women's League victory this season.

Ruth Gavigan hurled for the local women, with Argue catching.

Biggest gun for the WACs was Dee Nordstrom, who poled a three-bagger in the fourth inning to bring in two runs.

A good defense held the Waves' scoring to a minimum—the infield in particular played excellently—with Nordstrom at first, Thompson at second, shortstop Vieira, and Bernardino at third.

Next game for the WACs comes against the league-leading S. F. Marines on Wednesday on the Presidio field at 1700 hours. Visitors are welcome.

Bay Area Women's Softball League standings as of Thursday of this week are as follows:

Team	W	L
S. F. Marines	5	0
Alameda	5	1
Presidio	4	1
Parks	3	3
Hamilton AFB	2	2
Oak Knoll	1	3
Fort Mason	0	4

Water Trials!

Swimming and Diving Meet Slated for Ft. Ord in August

Sixth Army Swimming and Diving Championships are to be held at Fort Ord, California, 12-13 August, it was announced by Headquarters, Sixth Army, recently.

Each installation in the area may enter a squad of not more than 15 individuals plus a non-competing officer-in-charge.

Events slated for competition on the first day of the meet include, 100 meter butterfly breaststroke, 200 meter freestyle, 100 meter backstroke, 200 meter conventional breaststroke, 800 meter freestyle and 400 meter medley relay (four-man team).

On the second day will be the 400 meter freestyle, 200 meter backstroke, 100 meter freestyle, three meter springboard diving and 400 meter individual medley.

In accordance with the 1954 AAU regulations individual and relay medley events will consist of 100 meter legs in the butterfly, backstroke, breaststroke, and freestyle.

Five points will be awarded first place in an event, three points for second, two points for

Detachment 1 Softballers Notch Ninth Straight Victory; 21st Engineers Win

★ ★ ★
By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

It was nine straight for the phenomenal Detachment 1, 6002 SU, softballers this week and likewise nine straight for the one pitcher on Post who just doesn't seem to know how to lose a ball game, Dave Scott.

On Wednesday of last week the luck-laden crew clobbered the Fort Baker-based C Company, 505th MP nine, 10-2. Scott did his to score two runs on three errors taking over mound chores for the police in the absence of veteran Johnson.

Detachment 1 bats barked most decisively in the first and second frames—they picked up three runs in each—wielded by Kealing, Gailius, Clancy and Sergenian.

The following day the intramural behemoths rolled over MPs of A Company, 505th, this time to a close 5-4. Scott opposed Lazano.

The winner, powered by Jones, Gray and Van Ausdall at bat, had stuff against MP Hobbs, the latter registered a sizeable five-run advance by the crucial sixth inning.

★ ★ ★
whereupon MP Holstrum tripled and threaten the Deuce's lead.

A tight defense enabled the clerks to keep their gains, however.

Largest score of the week was recorded by the up-and-coming Headquarters, Sixth Army softballers, who flattened the 16th Base Post Office nine 21-8.

Hurler Brown, who hasn't lost a game in some weeks, performed well on the pad and as usual ac-for the Engineers, allowing only two hits. He opposed MP Lazano.

★ ★ ★

The 21st was in bad shape all the way into the top of the last frame. They were behind 4-3, with two men out. Pitcher Kafolla started the crucial rally when he banged a double to get on base. He came in on an error seconds later to tie the score.

Matsumoto singled his way on the bags and came home on a combination bobbie and single by teammate Fujita.

Doble followed with a double to score Fujita, then Ditto singled to right field to score Doble.

Kafolla came up to scratch in the later part of the inning when he set down the last trio of MPs in order and sealed the game.

Standings as of Wednesday morning:

Team	Won	Lost
Detachment 1, 6002 SU	9	0
B Company, 505th MP	8	1
21st Engineers	5	1
30th Group	7	3
315th Engineers	5	3
Headquarters, Sixth Army	5	4
102d MRU	4	4
9th AAA	4	4
99th Engineers	3	4
Hill Toppers	2	5
C Company, 505th	2	5
A Company, 505th	2	6
16th BPO	2	6
Harbor Defense	0	7

Dave Scott

39ers Point 6 Army Ord; Lofters Split No Names; D. MacDonald Still Tops

In the Mixed Bowling League last Friday, the 39ers took the contest from the 6th Army Ordnance 3-1, adding a total in the win-loss column of 11-5.

39er Ross rolled 162 high and averaged 141 with loser D. MacDonald taking high game for the league of 207 and a 158 average.

The Tag Lofters split with the No Names 2-2 with Lofters Alexander placing second in league standings with a high game of 181 and averaging 149. He was trailed by No Namer H. Youngdahl 165 and 146.

The Tag Indians took a bye.

Team	Win	Loss
39ers	11	5
6th Army Ord.	9	7
Tag Indians	8	8
Tag Lofters	6	10
No Names	6	10

Hurler Kafolla went the route

Army Tracksters Win Two Firsts, Place Two in AAU

Members of the U. S. Army track and field team divided two first places and two seconds in the National AAU championships at St. Louis last Saturday as meet records fell in 15 of 21 events.

Veteran Army cinder man Henry Cryer won the 880 in 1:51.3 to smash Mal Whitfield's 1953 record and beat 1952 Olympic 1,500 meter champ Josey Barthel of Luxemburg.

Pvt. Fred Dwyer of Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., won the mile run in 4:09.5.

1953 broadjump champ George Brown, of Fort Ord, placed second in his specialty with a leap of 24 feet 9 3/4 inches. Bob Bennett of Marquette won the jump with 24 feet 10 1/4 inches.

Billy Tidwell of Ord placed second to defending champion Mal Whitfield in the first 880 heat.

Other Army placings included Dave Kenley, Sixth Army, tie for fourth in pole vault; Lang Stanley, Sixth Army, fourth in 880 run; Charles Holloway, Sixth Army fifth in 220 hurdles; Phil Coleman, fourth in two-mile steeplechase; Pvt. Willie Stevens, sixth in 120 hurdles, and Glen Beerline, sixth in hop-step-jump.

Predators Hunted!

Hunter-trappers employed by the California Department of Fish and Game accounted for three mountain lions, 67 bobcats, and 126 coyotes during April.

A total of 540 lesser predators were also taken on game ranges throughout the State.

Private hunters turned in the skins of 10 mountain lions for bounties of $50 and $60 each.

Lewis Strong

Ft. Lewis, Wash., has quite a roster of baseball players. Out of the 18 men on the squad, 14 were with major league clubs, two with a Pacific Coast League team, one was assigned to a Class "C" organization, and only one player is unattached.

third and one for fourth. Team trophies will be awarded to winning and runner-up teams.

Individual medals will be awarded the first four places in each event.

A Sixth Army team will be chosen from among competitors at the All-Area meet for entry in the All-Army Championships, scheduled for Fort Bragg, North Carolina, 26-27 August.

A spokesman for Presidio Special Services Office this week indicated that a team would be gathered from this installation for entry in the Fort Ord meet.

Record Haul!

More hunters took more pheasants on more acreage last year than ever before in the five-year history of the State's expanding cooperative hunting program, final figures just issued by the Department of Fish and Game show.

Some 73,000 hunters took 26,700 birds on the co-op areas during last November's 10-day shooting period. This was 14 per cent more hunters and a harvest of 13 per cent more birds than in 1952, the highest previous year.

Short Timer?

Lt. Col. Carl A. Vollrath, USA, of Ft. Lewis, Wash., was an assistant timer in the Indianapolis Speedway classic.

Non-Pareil!

By winning its 28th consecutive crew race, Navy has now won more races in a row than any other crew in the 101-year history of the intercollegiate sport.

counted for much of his team's batting power. He and others of the Headquarters lineup knocked three postmen out of the pitcher's box. Shortstop Buss knocked a bags-loaded homer in the fourth to contribute to the hefty final score and Brown fetched a sizzling triple in the fifth, stretched the blow into a homer on a miscue in the field, and marked five more runs.

The third-place-21st Engineer Company took their fifth win of the season this Monday in a 7-4 decision over the Able Company MPs.

Hurler Kafolla went the route

PRESIDIO GOLF TEAM posed for a team photo this week prior to entering the All-Sixth Army Golf Tournament the middle of next month. In front row is Lt. Colonel Tom Ward, runner-up this year; Pfc. Dick Yost, Post Champion and defending Sixth Army

titlist; Pfc. Ray Steelsmith, third-place golfer in Post Tournament and ex-UCLA divotter. Back row, left to right, Pfc. Dave Bull, seventh in Post tourney; Colonel Peter Peters, fifth; Cpl. Bob Carter, sixth, and Captain Rollin Kapp, fourth. (Star-Presidian)

SERVICE STARS

Lt. Frank A. BETTUCCI
U.S. ARMY

OUTSTANDING MAT ACE

at Ft. BRAGG, N.C.

WON THE TOP SERVICEMAN TROPHY IN THE NAT'L AAU WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP MATCHES THIS YEAR

EASTERN INTER-COLLEGIATE CHAMP AT CORNELL U. IN '51, '52, '53—NEXT OBJECTIVE... PAN AMERICAN GAMES TO BE HELD IN 1955.

Still Rolling!

Engineer, 56th MRU, Sleuth
Keglers Stay Loop Kingpins

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

The National Bowling League's new high team is Engineer Section 6th Army, which overcame last week's tie by beating 16th BPO 3-1, putting them out front of league standing 15-9. The builders were spirited by Holtz, who piled up 164 average and 195 high game. Mailman Matcaroff helped his five retain second place standing with 158, 190.

Also tied for second place win-loss honors is HQ Co. 6th Army with a total of 13½-10½, although dropping three games to the Compt-Rollers this week. HQ was led by Yoshida who averaged 166 and high 190, with the winners fired by Vurdick's 155 and 173.

102nd MRU edged the 6513 SU 3-1 paced by Nichols' 167 average, 214 high game. Loser Horder scored 153 and 171.

Coming from behind, Det. 1 6002 SU #1 crushed the Maroos 4-0 powered by Evans' 171 and 201 high. Maroo Johnson outpinned his quintet with 150, 181.

Again the top team in the Eastern League, the 56th MRU totaled a 16½-7½ in the win-loss margin. Det. #1, 6002 SU dropped the 56th 3-1 sparked by Morgan's average of 155 and high game 209. Jacobsen topped the 56th with 160 and 188.

The B MPs vanquished HQ Co. 6th Army G-2 3-1. MP Gallo piled up a startling 173 average and took league high game honors of 236. Lawson fired the losers with 145 and 191.

The 99th Engineers #2 forfeited last Thursday's set to the Slow Rollers.

Keystone Kops crushed the 6300 ASU 4-0 powered by Johnson's 155 average and high 201. Loser Sikorski garnered 160 and 219.

For the Western league this week, the Constables turned the tables on the Pinsplitters 3-1. Cop Hoskins bowled 162 and high 190. Power for the beaten was Dias, 149, 162.

99th Engineers #1 trimmed the MP Flashers 3-1, paced by Eisele's 158 average and high 202. Flasher Houston rolled 148, 154.

HQ 6th Army led the Moneybags 3-1, sparked by Alexander averaging 168 and high game of 182. Money Bag Hamaguchi fired his five with 140, 158.

The Sleuths outpinned the Topos 3-1. Sleuth Farmer averaged 169 and 186 high. Topo Myers 148, 167.

WESTERN LEAGUE
Team	Win	Loss
Sleuths	20	8
Money Bags	12	8
Constables	17	11
Tags	12	12
Pinsplitters	10	14
Flashers	9	15
HQ Co. 6th Army	10	14
Topos	8	16
99th Engr. #1	10	10

EASTERN LEAGUE
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	16½	7½
Co. B, 505th MP Bn.	15	9
Slow Rollers	15	9
6300 ASU	12	12
99th Engr #2	8	16
Det. 1, 6002 #2	11½	12½
Keystone Kops	10	14
Hq. 6 A G-2	8	16

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Team	Win	Loss
Engr. Sec. Hq. 6th Army	13	9
16th BPO	13½	10½
HQ 6th Army #1	13½	10½
102 MRU	13	11
Compt-Rollers	13	11
Det. 1, 6002 ASU #1	12	12
6513 SU	9	15
Maroos	7	17

Arizin Back!

Quantico, Va., recently lost one of the greatest basketball players ever to wear a marine uniform, when Paul Arizin, a notable pivot man, was discharged. "Peerless Paul" will return to professional basketball with the Philadelphia Warriors.

Hamaker Hurls Alameda Shut - Out,
Reds Tromp Moffett in BAAF Play

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The recent loss of pitchers Troy Herriage and Bob Hill to civilian life left the Presidio Red Raiders perhaps short-handed but no less strong.

The Reds awoke sizzling following a close loss to the San Francisco Police last Wednesday and summarily bowed three opponents in a row—the semi-pro Stockton Braves and two Bay Area Armed Forces Baseball League competitors, previously unbeaten Alameda Naval Air Station and Moffett Field. The BAAF wins put the Raiders into an 8-4 second spot in loop ratings, behind Alameda and Parks' 10-1 records.

Moundsman Kenny Klopp started against the police but had to be pulled and replaced by Sal Fucile in the fifth due to a recurrence of his painful shoulder spasm. Fucile finished for the locals against the cops' McGuire.

Gene Jacobs and Ed Jacobsen were the heavy stickers for the losers with two hits apiece. Errors proved the soldiers' undoing as seven of the opposition's runs were unearned.

Presidio played without the help of three regular infield stalwarts—Bert Fowler, Johnny Ethridge and Bobbie Brown.

On Thursday of last week the Reds regained their characteristic flash and walloped the visiting Moffett Field "Flyers" 11-1. Pitcher Wayne Hamaker took the game into his own hands, limiting the sailors' heaviest artillery to a slim four hits, whiffing nine. He allowed only three bases on balls, as against Navyman Brown's six.

Star batter for the local garrison was walloping Kenny Klopp, who hit his second 1,000 in as many weeks, poling a triple and two doubles in three appearances.

George Asepermy, Jacobsen, Jacobs, Ethridge and Fowler all contributed to the final score.

Good News

Cutthroat trout weighing an average of two pounds each were planted in Alpine County streams last month. The 3,000 lunkers were surplus breeders from Heenan Lake.

On Sunday the Raiders edged the Stockton Braves 3-1 in a well-played game on the Presidio field. Hurler Hank Monroe, whom other Raiders have been calling Rookie because of the righthander's slight experience, showed seasoned ability in holding the strong Stockton semi-pros to only three hits. He fanned seven of the Braves.

Sal Fucile led the soldiers' attack with two hits, supported by Jacobs and Jacobsen who slammed one apiece.

Wayne Hamaker was still hot this Tuesday when he served the league-leading Alameda Naval Air boys to a 2-0 freeze. It was a tight pitching duel between Hamaker and Stewart for the Navy. Both allowed only three hits.

It was in the seventh frame that the soldiers seized the runs that led to their snapping the Alamedans' ten-game win streak. Fucile took an Annie Oakley to first and went on to third on Bert Fowler's sacrifice fly. Kenny Klopp then drove a long fly into deep left to score Fucile. George Aspermy's single later in the inning brought Jacobs home with the surplus marker.

The game was one of the best contests the Presidians have participated in for a long while. Strong-armed Hamaker dumped five of the opposition via strikeouts. Stewart fanned four.

Next games for the Raiders will be played here at the Presidio on Sunday and Tuesday of next week against Vallejo, at 1330 hours, and Parks AFB at 1700 hours.

Wayne Hamaker

One Dollar Ocean Fishing
Licenses Will Be Back For Californians Soon

California's popular $1 three-day Pacific Ocean fishing license has been reinstated by this year's session of the Legislature and will go on sale July 1 at more than 3,000 license agencies of the Department of Fish and Game.

Until that date, regular full-year angling licenses will be needed by all ocean fishermen except those specifically exempted by state law.

No three-day licenses have been sold since September, 1953, when the original law establishing them expired. License Officer C. L. O'Leary reports that nearly 21,000 of the special licenses were sold last year during the eight months they were in effect.

Meinert, Velarde,
Somerville Top Post
Tennis Tournament

Colonel B. Meinert won the Presidio Tennis Championship last Thursday afternoon defeating M/Sgt. Anas Velarde two straight sets, 6-3, 6-3, to finish the week-long tourney unbeaten in four contests.

Second-placer was Colonel Duncan Somerville, who had to withdraw from competition just prior to a finals match with Meinert.

Third-placer Velarde will head a three-man Presidio team to the forthcoming Fort Ord Central Division Sixth Army prelims, to be held 7-9 July. Both Colonel Meinert and Colonel Somerville are not able to attend the All-Sixth owing to military duties.

Rounding out the local threesome will be Cpl. Bob Williams, 102d MRU netter who was defeated by Velarde, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, in semi-final play last week, and Pfc. Christian Blom, whom Velarde defeated, 6-1, 6-3, in the quarter-finals of Presidio play.

The All-Sixth Championships will be staged at Madigan Army Hospital 27-30 July.

Presidio Golfers Eye
Fourth BAAF Victory
In Hamilton Meet Today

The Presidio Bay Area Armed Forces golf team is scheduled to meet the tough Hamilton Air Force Base sextet today at 1230 at Sharps Park.

The meeting will be the Presidians' fourth Bay Area tilt of the season, and the locals will be shooting for their fourth straight victory.

Hamilton, a strong favorite for the loop crown, has beaten Mather AFB, Parks AFB and Camp Stoneman in prior contests.

Golfers representing the Presidio in today's match play round, include Post Champion and defending Sixth Army titlist Pfc. Dick Yost, Post third-place teeman and ex-UCLAn Pfc. Ray Steelsmith, Captain Rollin Kapp, Cpl. Bob Carter, Pfc. Dave Bull and Cpl. Bill Hawley.

Yank Boxers Jolted
As Polite British Referee Bans Boos

Heidelberg, Germany—United States Army soldiers accustomed to the American way of life and play are a bit flabbergasted as they learn European sporting customs.

In a recent boxing match pitting U. S. Army men against pugilists from the British Seventh Armored Brigade, a Briton refereed and British amateur rules were followed.

The American boxers were amazed when:

1. The referee prohibited cheering and booing.
2. Didn't break the boxers by force but simply called "Stop" when a clinch occurred.
3. Always congratulated the loser and—no matter how one-sided the bout was—commented: "It's been a very close scrap."

The British were jolted, too, by American habits of wearing brightly colored robes and the traditional last-minute warm-up gyrations which included shadow-boxing, rope-swinging and arm-waving when introduced.

Auspicious Recall!

Wes Santee, the Kansas flash, has been recalled to active duty in the Marine Corps. Santee, pardon, Sgt. Santee is taking a platoon leaders course at Quantico, Va. He recently set a new American mark for the mile with the remarkable time of 4:00.6. Many track experts believe that he will break Don Landy's world record. Only time will tell.

Tee Test

Ft. Dix, N. J., will be the site of the First Army Men's Golf Championships July 11-16.

POST TENNIS TITLISTS lined up for congratulations this week from Colonel William Magill, Deputy Post Commander (right), as the latter presented first, second and third-place trophies to, left to right,

Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, third-place netter; M/Sgt. Anas Velarde, second-placer, and Colonel B. Meinert, Post champion. Meinert won championship with four wins. (Army Photo by Brink)

PLAYING HOST to ROTC cadets from the University of California were the officers and enlisted men of "C" Battery, 752nd AAA Gun battalion, located on Government Island near Alameda. The cadets toured the installation in three groups, and the above group is being shown the operation of a 90 mm anti-aircraft gun. (U. S. Signal Corps photo)

Cadets Get Looksee!

ROTC Cadets Visit 'C' Battery, 752nd AAA; Learn Rudiments

Future officers of the Army's anti-aircraft Artillery corps had an opportunity recently to witness the high state of preparedness of one of the Bay Area's anti-aircraft batteries.

These men, Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets from the University of California, visited "C" Battery of the 752nd AAA Gun battalion, an element of the 30th AAA Group, commanded by Colonel P. H. Wollaston.

Commanded by Colonel T. L. Waters, PMS&T at the University of California, the cadets were conducted to the demonstration by Captain Robert H. Singer, officer in charge.

They saw highly trained cannoneers of "C" Battery go rapidly into action as an "enemy plane" was picked up on the radar scope. The battery is commanded by Lt. Frank A. Mleko and is one of the most excellent of the 752nd AAA Gun battalion, which is commanded by Lt. Colonel Donald V. Schafbuch.

Following the exercise, the cadets were given a demonstration of a AAA meteorological station at work. The station is commanded by WOJG Paul Chong and impressed the young visitors with the importance of correct meteorological data for directing accurate anti-aircraft fire in event of enemy attack.

"Such things as density of the air, temperature and varying wind speeds, even at thousands of feet in the air, must all be taken into consideration as factors affecting the flight of a shell to its target," the cadets were told.

CG Inspects NG Division at Lewis

Lt. General Willard G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, spent a day at Fort Lewis, Washington, on Wednesday, inspecting the summer encampment of the 41st National Guard Division of Oregon and Washington.

The unit is commanded by Major General Harold G. Maison, of Salem, Oregon.

General Wyman also reviewed 1,300 senior ROTC cadets in summer training at Fort Lewis. The cadets were from 42 colleges and universities in states west of the Mississippi River and in Hawaii and Alaska.

General Wyman returned from Ft. Lewis Wednesday night.

Observation balloons were used by the Army as far back as 1862.

DOD Housing Bill Proposes 25,000 Dependent Units

Washington — The Defense Department has sent to Congress proposed legislation authorizing the construction or rehabilitation of 25,000 family housing units for Armed Forces personnel.

The estimated cost for the 25,000 units is $350 million with the Air Force receiving the largest share — 13,000 units and almost $180 million. The Army receives 7500 units and about $108 million while the Navy and Marine Corps are given 4500 units and about $62 million.

A request for a similar authorization was contained in the Defense Department's military public works bill but the House Armed Services Committee sent it back to the Pentagon asking for more specific information.

The bill states that no more than 250 of the family housing units can have a net floor area of up to 2100 square feet. None of the other family quarters would have a net floor area of more than 1250 square feet, while the average area of these would not exceed 1080 square feet.

The following Army installations would receive dependent housing units under the Defense Department proposed legislation:

Ft. Dix, N.J., 260; Ft. Campbell, Ky., 325; Ft. Bliss, Tex., 272; Ft. Hood, Tex., 639; Ft. Sill, Okla., 224; Camp Carson, Colo., 723; Camp Crowder, Mo., 74; Ft. Lewis, Wash., 1110; Camp Cooke, Calif., 50; Yuma Test Station, Ariz., 20; Belle Mead General Depot, N. J., 10; Dugway Proving Ground, Utah, 60; Ft. Huachuca, Ariz., 208; Department of the Army Transmitting Station, Va., 10; Ft. Belvoir, Va., 306; Ft. Eustis, Va., 271; Wilmington Ammunition Terminal, N. C., 4; Two Rock Ranch Sta., Calif., 10; Sandia Base, N. M., 3; Killeen, Tex., 5; Japan, 2000; France, 616; Various ZI tactical sites, 300. (AFPS)

The 24-hour clock system was adopted as official time by the Army in 1942.

News in Books

Recent books on the intricacies of Russian history, present and past, are now available on the shelves of the Sixth Army Reference library, Building M-13. If these books are not available at your local library, they may be borrowed from the Reference library for a two-week period.

"HOW RUSSIA IS RULED," by Merle Fainsod. Its aim is to analyze the physiology as well as the anatomy of Soviet totalitarianism and to communicate a sense of the living political processes in which Soviet rulers and subjects are enmeshed."

"MOSCOW AND CHINESE COMMUNISTS," by R. C. North. A history outlining the beginnings of the Chinese Communist movement and the course of its relations with Moscow.

"FROM LENIN TO MALENKOV," by Hugh Seton-Watson. A comparative analysis of Communist movements the world over.

"STRATEGIC PLANNING FOR COALITION WARFARE," by Maurice Matloff and E. M. Snell. Presents the problems of the Chief of Staff, the joint and combined problems of the Army and Navy, and the integration of American and British views with those of other associated powers, notably Russia.

"THE QUARTERMASTER CORPS," by Erna Risch. Analyzes its activities in the zone of the interior.

"VISUAL AIDS FOR THE PUBLIC SERVANT," by R. M. Goetz. Contains new tools for public management, visual - aids know - how tips on displays, graphics, films, film strips, still projectors and showmanship.

Summertime Food Tips:

Dangers Lurk In Leftovers, So Thrifty Housewives Warned

(First of two articles)

Washington—The U. S. Army has a hot weather cooking tip for housewives: The best thing you can do with the bowl of leftover salad is—throw it away!

This goes also for chicken, tuna or other summer salads made with mayonnaise or salad dressings, for custards, cream-filled pies, deviled eggs, cream sauces or "made" dishes such as seafood casseroles.

A waste of good food to scrape these leftovers in the garbage?

Not at all, answer the preventive medicine experts at the Office of the Army Surgeon General. What you'll be throwing away will be a lot of bacterial growth. The gesture can save your family many a tummy-ache.

Dishes based on egg, milk, mayonnaise or salad dressing can carry the invisible menace of staphylococci—the bacteria which causes the most common type of food poisoning.

Unless the housewife is using laboratory-sterile cooking equipment and scrubbing her hands as a surgeon would before an operation, the spoon that dips the mayonnaise and the thumb that splits the eggshell may be loaded with staphylococci.

You will not die when the poison produced by the staphylococci goes to work on your digestive system, but you may wish you had before the infection has run its course. And all because you couldn't resist the slice of yesterday's banana cream pie on the pantry shelf.

For this reason, Army cooks figure very close to consumption needs when they build a menu around any of the egg-milk-mayonnaise family of foods. Housewives are advised to do the same.

The Army advises also that ingredients for such dishes be kept cold and mixed as near serving time as possible—no longer than three hours in advance of serving.

And if you have an infected cut or any other infection on your hands, the Army has a kitchen rule that is applicable. Let somebody else do the cooking. (ANF)

New Custodian

Major Elsie L. Weible has returned to the United States from 26 months of duty in Japan with the 229th Ordnance Base depot, Comptroller section.

She is now the funds custodian, Presidio of San Francisco.

Entering the WAC at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, when it was still the WAAC, Major Weible has served a total of 11 years.

During World War II, the major was assigned to Stark General hospital at Charleston, South Carolina.

DOD Proposes UCMJ Changes; Would Aid COs

Washington — The Defense Department has proposed changes in the Uniform Code of Military Justice after more than a year's study by military legal authorities.

The Omnibus Amendment Bill to the UCMJ is now in the final stages of processing at the Defense Department and Budget Bureau. If the plan gets administration approval, it will be sent to Congress for action.

The revisions to the UCMJ would reduce the number of multiple-member courts-martial, restore some of the commanding officer's power to impose non-judicial punishment, and permit release to civilian life of men who have served their sentences as prisoners and who are awaiting the outcome of appellate review action.

To cut the number of multiple-member courts-martial, the Pentagon suggests that an accused serviceman be allowed to request trial before a single qualified law officer, serving in the grade of major or lieutenant commander or higher, and specially selected and certified by The Judge Advocate General.

The Pentagon also wants commanders to be able to confine EM of their units for a period up to seven days and impose a forfeiture of half of one month's pay—without putting a permanent black mark on the EM's record. Briefly, this is a strengthening of Article 15.

Among the other suggested changes are the elimination of present difficulties in prosecuting servicemen for writing a bad check, the reduction from 30 to 10 days of the time in which the accused may petition the Court of Military Appeals, and a streamlining of the present system of keeping and transmitting records of courts-martial. (AFPS)

The Army Ordnance Corps is the largest of the Army's technical services. It has more than 160,000 military and civilian employees at more than 100 installations throughout the United States.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BOND CAMPAIGN

Wilful Waste makes Woeful Want. BUY UNITED STATES SAVINGS BONDS.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 5

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 2 July, 1954

FIELD CHOW UNDER simulated battle conditions was only part of the intensified two-weeks training period just completed by the 49th Infantry Division, California National Guard. Among those at the encampment at Hunter Liggett Military reservation were these members of Company B, 159th Infantry Regiment, l to r: Cpl. Donald L. Kratky, Cpl. James Y. Ewing, Pvt. James D. Stavert and Pvt. Don G. Grove. The 49th is the largest single Reserve component unit in the western United States. (U.S. Army Photo.)

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

9,000 Men Participate!

49th Reserve Division Ends Successful Summer Training

Departing from Hunter Liggett Military reservation today after a highly successful two weeks of summer maneuvers is the 49th Infantry Division, California National Guard, the largest single Reserve component unit in the western United States with some 9,000 officers and enlisted men.

Major General C. D. O'Sullivan, commanding general of the division, which includes men from northern and central California units, stated today that the annual summer encampment was the culmination of a year's training at weekly armory drills. "This was the time for the men to put into practice the lessons learned at the drills throughout the year," the general said.

Living in the field under simulated battle conditions the entire time, the men of the 49th were subjected to two weeks of intensified training in the fundamentals of soldiering.

In addition to an assortment of the latest in weapons, the Division, for the first time, this year had a number of helicopters added to its complement of aircraft. These craft were used especially for artillery spotting and rescue demonstrations.

This, the third annual summer training program of the Division, stressed small unit "team" operations and the training of recent recruits in fundamentals. A special recruiting drive this year has resulted in a 30 per cent increase in net strength of the Division since 1 January.

The 49th or "Argonaut" Division

now has an Infantry company, Artillery battalion or special unit in practically every major community in northern California.

Dependent Housing

The Defense Department's proposal for Dependent Housing has been introduced in the House and now is being considered by the Armed Services Committee. The bill (HR 9647) calls for 25,000 housing units costing a total of $350 million. The only change made in the original legislative proposal is that it will be financed by a rotating fund. This will not affect individual servicemen in any way.

JAG Promotions

Officers of the Army Judge Advocate General's Corps are several steps closer to being integrated with the Army promotion list. The House Armed Services Committee has reported out a bill (HR 9000) which will repeal the separate JAG promotion list. Because of the separate list, most JAG officers are more than three years behind their contemporaries in promotions.

Low Furlough Fares Continued Longer

Washington—Reduced furlough fares on the nation's railroad have been extended to 31 January, 1955, for military personnel traveling in uniform at their own expense.

The reduction in fares for members of the Armed Forces would have ordinarily expired on 30 June, 1954.

The tax-exempt action will continue on round-trip fares for military personnel on furlough at the rate of 2.025 cents a mile or less. The ticket is good in coaches and includes regular stopover and baggage privileges.

Military Budget

Both the Senate and the House have passed President Eisenhower's "New Look" Military Appropriations bill (HR 8873) but in slightly different versions. The bill now is in conference with a decision expected sometime this week. In both versions a total of about $29 million was approved with a great reliance being placed on airpower. An amendment by Sen. Kennedy would have increased Army strength from 17 to 19 divisions but this was defeated.

Leavenworth Confab

The civilian aides to the Secretary of the Army and commanders of armies within the continental U.S. are meeting at Ft. Leavenworth, Kans., for conferences on personnel problems, security, organization and training, logistics and community relations.

Moving Ahead!

Army Makes Rapid Progress On Womble Group's Ideas

(This is the first of three articles on the Army's implementation of the recommendations of the Womble Committee.)

Washington—The Army has made substantial progress toward putting into action the Womble Committee recommendations on increasing the attractiveness of the military service as a career, according to a summary just released.

The Womble Committee was appointed to study this problem in the early part of 1953. On 30 October, 1953, it made its final recommendations which since have been approved by Defense Secretary Wilson and forwarded to the President.

The Army's summary divides the recommendations into three categories—those completed, those still in process and those requiring legislation. This article will detail the actions completed while succeeding articles will discuss the two remaining categories.

Officer Classification—Officer MOSs have been reduced from 825 to 407 categories, resulting in broader training and less specialization.

Higher Standards—3200 reserve officers were released including many of marginal effectiveness. About 20,000 RA EM in the lower portion of mental group IV have been separated and re-enlistment standards have been raised.

Officer Training—All RA combat arm lieutenants now must take either airborne or ranger training.

Assignment Stability—EM returning from overseas get at least 18 months in U.S. Those with more than 20 years' service are not sent overseas unless they volunteer.

Overseas Tours—Extensions in the better areas have been curtailed thus giving more opportunity for men to be assigned there.

Resignations and Retirements—RA officers who have completed their minimum service obligation

Stay Home Monday!

We can all stay home from work Monday (5 July) since the 4th of July, a public holiday, falls on Sunday. So plan a long weekend holiday and above all, play it safe!

can resign on request. EM with 20 years' service and RA officers with 30 years' service can retire without restriction. Reserve officers can retire voluntarily after 20 years' service without restriction.

New Uniform—A new Army Green uniform has been selected and plans for its adoption will be announced soon.

Unit Traditions—History and achievements of Army units have been compiled and published to help increase the pride of members.

Commissary Surcharges—Savings in overhead costs have resulted in lower surcharges in sales commissaries, both in the U.S. and overseas.

Enlisted Promotions—EM now can be promoted while they are students at service schools of 20 weeks' length or more.

Leave for Overseas Personnel—Travel in a duty status is authorized for those returning from overseas on morale and re-enlistment leave. Thus the leave time does not begin until arrival in U.S. (AFPS)

His Spirit Marches On!

GRADUATED from the high school equivalency USAFI course, were, left to right, Sgt. J. R. Parker, Det. #1 6000 SU, Reyno, Ark., SFC Igor Tebneff, 46th Ordnance, Shanghai, China, Sgt. Alvin M. Brinkmeyer, HQ & HQ Co., 660th Eng. Bn., San Francisco, Calif.,

PFC Russell E. Nosgovitz, 521st Eng., Lena, Wisc., SFC Cesrio F. Ferrer, 6002 SU, Manila, P. I., and SFC Edward C. Y. Lee, D Btry, 752nd AAA Bn., Honolulu, T. H. (Army Photo by Tycenski.)

Graduation Day!

High School Diplomas Awarded Seven Area Army Personnel

Seven men, one now a civilian living in San Francisco, received their high school diplomas last Tuesday as the culmination of 192 hours of study with the Post I&E High School Equivalency USAFI program.

Colonel William Magill, Deputy Post Commander, presented the seven men their diplomas in his office and expressed his wish that more men would take advantage of the opportunities offered them through USAFI courses.

Those receiving diplomas were: Cpl. Alvin N. Brinkmeyer, 660th HQ & HQ Co.; SFC Cesrio F. Ferrer, 6002 SU, SFC Edward C. Y. Lee, D Btry., 752nd AAA; PFC Russell E. Nosgovitz, 521st Engineers; Sgt. J. R. Parker, 6000 SU; Sgt. Igor Tebneff, 46th Ordnance; and Herbert H. Harris, former Corporal now discharged and living in San Francisco.

Sgt. J. R. Parker is continuing with his studies and has already completed several college courses taught on post. He is currently enrolled in night classes at Golden Gate College.

Although only seven men were presented their diplomas by Colonel Magill, Captain Clinton D. Reglin, Post I&E Officer, announced that a total of 18 in all have completed the high school course and the remaining graduates will be mailed their diplomas.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGLIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

since they have either been discharged or transferred. These include: Robert H. Della Rovere, Btry. A, 459th AAA, A1/c Oris L. Dupree, 13th Crash Boat, Sgt. Victor Gomez, 6000 SU (Far East), Cpl. John R. Hamond, 99th Engineers, Airman Charles Hawkins, Dental Laboratory, Seaman Anthony F. Iacono, Point Bonita Light Station, PFC Albert Jansen, 359th EVO, PFC James Kortkanp, Btry. B, 740th AAA, PFC Frank Kozak, Btry. B, 740th AAA, PFC Roland J. Lasseigne, Det. A, 6002 SU, and Cpl. Alan H. Weckworth, 110th Boat Company.

By September the I&E Section expects 17 more students to earn their diplomas and become high school graduates.

Wanted: Museum For Army's Giant Collection of Relics

Washington — Anybody got a spare circus tent where they can put Gen. Ulysses S. Grant's camp wagon, four of Adolf Hitler's watercolors and about 10,000 other items the Army has collected over the years?

For want of a museum to store its collected items, Gen. Grant's wagon is now stored—of all places—at Richmond, Va., in custody of the Quartermaster Depot. About 4000 other war-chest treasures are on loan throughout the country.

The Historical Properties Office of the Chief of Military History, Maj. Gen. Albert C. Smith, is now crammed full with scarcely any place to put new items.

These footnotes of history include Matthew Brady Civil War portraits, Gen. George S. Patton Jr.'s jeep and captured Japanese murals.

The other services have similar treasures. They are waiting for the day when Congress might establish a Museum of the Armed Forces, as proposed by the Federal Commission of Fine Arts. (AFPS)

Moral: Don't Lose It!

Sergeant James H. Atwell of A Company, 505th MP Bn., was in the Post Office on Wednesday of this week. It was payday and he had just been through the line. His business at the Post Office left him with $120 in bills, which he carried in his wallet.

But when he left the PO Building he discovered he didn't have his wallet anymore!

Atwell at once alerted the Provost Marshall's Office. MPs immediately commenced a thorough search of the postal building and surrounding area.

About 20 minutes after the MPs were called into action, Assistant Provost Marshal Major Charles Goslee received a call from Major Robert B. McIntire of Post Finance.

Major McIntire had been to the Post Office and found Atwell's wallet and the money and was prepared to return it to its owner.

Thus, even before the case was half underway, it was brought to a close by someone's prompt and thoughtful kindness.

Power Punchers!

You've Got To Hit First Or Die, Tank Men In Germany Learn

Baumholder, Germany—Every conceivable problem they might face on the battlefield is being solved by U.S. Army tank men in Europe.

Second Armored Division soldiers know that a wrong decision or a second's hesitation in combat might mean sudden death. In order that they may make correct decisions instinctively—and instantly—they are being schooled on one of the most unusual tank firing ranges in the world.

The course, a veritable snake pit of "enemy" targets, is designed to give individual tank commanders and crews experience in realistic battle situations. At every turn a tactical situation presents itself for instant solution. Every second is precious.

No sooner does the Patton 47 tank thunder onto the two-mile course than silhouette targets of enemy infantry pop up. They may be seen by the entire tank crew—but they are so located that only the bow gunner can score hits. This machinegun must be brought to bear in a matter of seconds, for the silhouettes—like enemy infantrymen—dive for low ground when faced with hostile tanks.

Second target on the course also is enemy infantry, but—unlike the first—can be brought under fire only by the turret machineguns.

The tank commander's ability to react quickly is tested in the third situation. An airplane silhouette, suspended from a cable, zips across a canyon and the tank commander must fire on it with his .50-caliber machinegun before it disappears.

Around the next bend, a square of armor plate—representing an anti-tank gun—appears on the hillside 400 yards away. In exactly 14 seconds, the tank must move into a position offering cover and the gunner must blast the target with a high explosive shell.

Target No. 5 is a typical one encountered by tanks in combat—an enemy jeep making a dash for safety. This silhouette target, which moves on rails, is released from a bunker and the turret guns must rip it during the few seconds it is in view.

Next a truck silhouette appears 100 yards in front of the tank. Like the jeep silhouette, it also rides on rails and must be destroyed by the co-axial guns in the tank turret.

Last target is regarded by tankers as the prize of them all. It is a moving enemy tank silhouette 700 yards away. For only fifteen seconds is it in view, and during that brief quarter-minute a supreme test is given the teamwork of the tank commander, the gun loader, and the cannoner. The tank commander must direct the gunner's attention to the target, the gunner must bring his powerful weapon to bear, the gun loader must shove an armor-piercing shell into the breech, and the gunner must score a direct hit. One mistake anywhere along the way and the enemy tank gets away unscathed.

The seven-situation course is one of the two ranges in Europe where armor-piercing as well as other live ammunition may be fired by tankers. The other is at Belsen, in the British Zone, and is used for platoon-sized (five tanks) units.

The Baumholder course was built by the 17th Armored Engineer Battalion. Suggested by Major General L. L. Doan, division commander, design of the course was supervised by First Lieutenant Thomas R. Woodley of Detroit. Woodley also directs its operation.

Cost of the unique course was only $875. It was paid for from occupation funds. (ANF)

Mashppe, Mass., boasts the oldest still active Indian church congregation in the U.S. A little Baptist Indian church in the nearby forest dates from 1634.

HIGHEST HONOR it has yet achieved in the field of safety was won by Letterman Army hospital recently when it was presented the Department of the Army Award of Merit for Safety. Here Mr. Andrew F. Schmitz, safety consultant, bureau of labor standards, U.S. Department of Labor, congratulates Brigadier General James O. Gillespie, commanding general of Letterman, on winning the award. At the right is Major General George E. Armstrong, Surgeon General of the Army, who made the presentation to General Gillespie. The scroll, representing the second highest safety award possible, was signed by General Matthew B. Ridgway, Army chief of staff, and reads: "For superior achievement in the prevention of accidents by the establishment and maintenance of a comprehensive and effective safety program embracing all its operations and activities during the year 1953." Letterman was nominated for the award by Headquarters Sixth Army, and has also been the recipient of the Sixth Army Safety Award Certificate for the years 1952 and 1953. (Army Photo by East.)

STAR SCOUT AWARD was presented to William Adair by Colonel Magill recently at the Original Charter Presentation and First Honor Court of the newly organized Boy Scout Troop 178 sponsored by the Presidio of San Francisco. Star Scout status is earned by obtaining five merit badges in various specified fields such as Safety, Reading, Home Repairs, and Scholarship. In the same ceremony, William Adair's younger brother, Larry, was invested as a Tenderfoot. (Army Photo by Tycenski.)

First Honor Court!

Presidio's New Boy Scout Troop Awarded Original Troop Charter

Wednesday night at the Fort Scott Officers' Mess, Colonel Magill, the Deputy Post Commander, presented Boy Scout Troop 178 with their Original Troop Charter. The presentation was made to Major Robert Evett, chairman of the troop committee.

With the deliverance of the charter, the troop became an official functioning unit of the Boy Scouts of America. The charter award was made to the group to carry on the Boy Scout and Explorer programs for character building and citizenship training.

The First Court of Honor included awards for First Class Scout, Second Class Scout, Merit Badges, and the presentation of the Star Scout Award to William Adair.

First Class Scout Award went to Robert Evett. Second Class Scout Awards went to Tom Icager, Gary Hand, Arthur Brody, Marvin Lupo, and Kelly Hudson.

Merit Badges were conferred on Jimmy Reynolds in the fields of scholarship, home repairs, rowing, and life saving. Roger Ware earned his in reading, and William Adair for safety and life saving.

The Tenderfoot Investiture saw Larry Adair and Byers Coleman taking the oath as beginning tenderfeet.

The Honor Patrol Award went to Fox patrol for obtaining the highest number of merits in such fields as excellent spirit, neat uniforms, constructive projects, and meeting attendance.

The people primarily responsible for organization and the working trimness of the troop are Major Evett, troop committee chairman, Robert Mackie, scoutmaster, Richard Lyddon and Jerry Shuart, assistant scoutmasters.

Looking Ahead!

The Army is already thinking about Christmastime. It has reminded commanders that the use of service helicopters and conventional aircraft to carry Santa Claus into civilian communities is neither appropriate nor authorized. But it is still permissible to use aircraft on Army posts for flyovers or other types of air shows.

The military academy at West Point was founded in 1802 under the jurisdiction of the Corps of Engineers and for many years was the only engineering school in the United States.

Summer Playtime Program Open at Fort Scott School

Winfield Scott school playground, located on the Presidio, is one of the many schools in San Francisco, which offer supervised summer play programs under the auspices of the San Francisco Public Schools recreation department.

Presidio youngsters who must stay in the city during the summer months will find the Fort Scott playground open daily except Sunday from 1030 to 1700.

And on Wednesday of each week, while the playground itself is closed, children will meet the playground director at 0930 in the schoolyard and she will accompany them on an all-day outing such as swimming, boating, play days, fishing, etc.

On the playground during the other days there will be such activities as handicrafts, story-telling, talent shows, team sports, tournaments, contests, group games and relays, a softball league and day camp.

While most of the activities are free of charge, a very few of them entail a small cost. Complete information on the program may be obtained from the director at the playground any day of the week.

Air Force Academy

A 15,100-acre section of Colorado ranchland, six miles north of Colorado Springs in El Paso County and 60 miles south of Denver has been selected by Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott as the site of the AF's new academy. The ranchland area is about 6400 to 7500 feet in altitude. The climate is semi-arid with cool summers and moderate winters. An all-season resort center, Colorado Springs is served by three airlines and five railroads.

BPO Soldier of Month

Sgt. Harold K. Flade, recently assigned as supply sergeant with the 16th Base Post Office, Presidio of San Francisco, has been named soldier of the month with that unit. Sgt. Flade entered the service in January 1947 from Chicago, Illinois, and following basic training was assigned to Germany where he remained until March of this year in various Base Post Offices.

VULCAN'S HAMMER—a single action No. 1 Vulcan steam hammer we mean, that can give out with 50,000 foot pounds of energy every time it drops three feet. The monster is 63 feet high, drives a 22 foot pile capable of a 75-ton load, and is operated by Sam Countryman of Raymond Concrete Pile Company. If the first two piles stand the tests given them, 71 more will be smashed into the adobe within a week, bringing the noisiest part of the new PX construction to a close. (Star-Presidian Photo by Metcalf.)

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Walter A. Fleckenstein has become the Bay Area Exchange officer, Presidio of San Francisco.

He formerly served six months as commander of troops, Camp Stoneman, and prior to that, six months as Post Exchange officer at Camp Roberts, California.

Colonel Fleckenstein served two tours in Korea, the most recent from July 1950 to April 1951 with the 24th Division, and, prior to that, the period 1948-1949 with the 24th Corps.

During World War II the colonel was with USARPAC in Hawaii. He has served the Army a total of 21 years.

Lt. Colonel John M. Brown Jr. has become chief of the highway and transport division, Transportation section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past year he has been assistant zone Transportation officer, 2nd Transportation zone, Memphis, Tennessee, prior to which he attended and completed the 10-months Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Colonel Brown spent two and one-half years in the Far East with the Japan Logistical command from July 1950 to June 1952, and during World War II, he served 32 months with Headquarters Alaskan department, Fort Richardson, Alaska.

In the Army for the past 11 years, the colonel served with the San Francisco Port of Embarkation during 1946-1947, following which he attended the Transportation Corps advanced officers course at Fort Eustis, Virginia, and then served a tour with the Military District of Washington, Washington, D. C.

Lt. Colonel Edward Purdy has joined the supply division of G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He has just returned from 18 months with KCAC in Korea.

With 15 years Army service behind him, Colonel Purdy was commanding officer of a tank destroyer unit in Eastern and Southern France, Germany and Tunisia during World War II for three years. He then served a three-year tour from 1946-1949 with occupation forces in Germany and Italy.

Prior to his Far East assignment, Colonel Purdy served three years as an ORC Unit instructor, Shreveport, Louisiana.

Lt. Colonel George T. Stump has just completed seven-months of duty with a military advisory group, Thailand, Far East Command.

He is now with the plans division, G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

During World War II, Colonel Stump was likewise in the G-4 Section on the Presidio, when its designation was Headquarters Western Defense Command and Fourth Army.

A veteran of 20 years Army service, the colonel served six years with Headquarters EUCOM in Germany during the period 1946-1952.

Lt. Colonel Anne E. Sweeney is now a member of the plans division, G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

She has just completed a two and one-half year tour as WAC staff advisor, Headquarters

Fourth Army, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

During World War II, Colonel Sweeney served overseas with the Southeast Asia command in Ceylon, and in the China theater, both in the operations division.

The colonel, who entered the WAC in July 1942 at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, when it was still WAAC, makes her home in San Francisco.

Major Alexander Cohen returned recently from two and one-half years in the Far East. The first year he spent with the Taegu Military commission in Taegu, Korea, and the past 18 months he has been at Camp Yokohama, Japan.

His new assignment is with the plans and training division, Quartermaster Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Major Cohen spent five years with the Newfoundland Base command, St. John's Newfoundland, during World War II.

He has been in the Army for the past 22 years.

Major Karl W. Lillge is newly assigned to the G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In the Army for the past 13 years, the major's most recent assignment was with the 179th Infantry Regiment, 45th Division, in Korea for the past 14 months.

As a member of the 507th Parachute Infantry Regiment in the ETO during World War II, Major Lillge was among those who joined with the 82nd Airborne division for the Normandy jump, and later with the 17th Airborne for the Ardennes and Rhine jumps. His combat time totaled 18 months.

Returning to Europe in 1947, Major Lillge spent three years with G-3 Section, Headquarters, U. S. Forces Austria. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with "V" and two Oak Leaf Clusters, and the Purple Heart with one Oak Leaf Cluster.

Captain John W. Harrop has assumed his new duties in the officers branch, manpower division, G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Captain Harrop has just been released from Letterman Army hospital where he has been convalescing the past nine months following duty in Korea with the 9th Infantry Regiment, 2nd Infantry Division.

In the Army for the past 11 years, the captain served a year with the 44th Infantry Division in the European theatre during World War II.

He has been decorated with the Combat Infantry Badge, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster.

WOJG Harry A. Clayton has spent the past 13 months at the Personnel center, Camp Stoneman, California.

He is now commanding officer of the 102nd Machine Records Unit, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Mr. Clayton served in the European theater for five years prior to his Camp Stoneman assignment, in machine records work, and it was while there, in 1952, that he received his warrant.

In the Army for the past 12 and one-half years, Mr. Clayton was a first sergeant with the 27th Infantry Division in the Pacific during World War II, serving overseas for a total of 30 months at that time.

ALL WORK and no play would make life in a field camp very monotonous so some of the boys in the 660th Hq. Co. at McGrath, Alaska, find other things to do to pass the long Alaskan evening. Left to right, Cpl. Ed Bluestein tries his hand at oil painting while Sgt. James Irish and Cpl. Jerry Odon would rather match wits over a game of chess. Kibitzing in the background is M/Sgt. Steven Popovich. Pvt. Richard

Malia is doing a good job on a model airplane, and Cpl. Frank McCall is an onlooker contented watching the rest work. In the foreground SFC Noel Gann has a good start on his model boat. All the men with the exception of Pvt. Malia of Radio Section, work for S-3 of 660th Engineer Battalion. (Photo by Sgt. Drow)

AERIAL VIEW of the 542nd Engineer Company's camp area in McGrath, Alaska, showing utility, living, mess, and vehicle tents aligned neatly in a newly bulldozed location. One of the many jobs performed by the group is drainage and decontamination of stagnant ponds in the area to kill mosquito larvae with face and bed netting a particular requirement now that mosquito "season" is in full bloom.

FISHERMAN'S PARADISE it would seem for the 30th Engineers in Alaska after Captain Hennington, Major Goodwin, and CWO Uno pulled in 26 trout (count 'em), not to include the ones thrown back, on a short excursion to the Naknek River recently. The familiar fish stories will abound when the group returns but it'll be hard not to believe them after evidence of this type.

Tundra Bunnies!

30th Engr. Group In Alaska Finds Life Not Dull After All

How's life in Alaska these days? It'll do, according to the task force of the 30th Engineer Group now stationed somewhere in Alaska.

The 660th Engineer Battalion (Base Topographic), comprising the field elements of the 30th Engineer Group (Topographic Survey), departed last April from the San Francisco Port of Embarkation and headed north to begin their annual summer project of surveying and photographing the vast uncharted areas of Alaska.

Led by Battalion Commander Col. Arthur T. Snell, the surveyors are now on their fifth journey to Alaska since 1950 on an extension of the mapping operation that began 5 years ago.

The surveyors are again spotted across the almost inaccessible marsh tundra and mountain slopes. Taking advantage of the long hours of sunlight, the units are whittling down their objective of surveying and charting the important areas of the territory of Alaska. These data are later transferred to aerial photographs to be used in compiling and reproducing large scale maps for use by our Armed Forces.

The four survey companies assigned to the battalion are performing their surveys in widely scattered areas across the face of Alaska. Operations underway for the current season cover a much greater area than did programs of previous years. The 537th Engineer Company is working in the Southern Alaska Peninsula and Clark Lake areas; the 542nd is in the McGrath area; the 549th and 551st have been assigned to the Galena and Bethel areas, respectively.

The Aviation Command, 30th Engineer Group, under command of Lt. Col. Wayne E. Downing, is directly supporting the battalion's field survey operations by performing the vital function of transporting personnel and supplies across the rugged terrain. The aviation support, in keeping with the stepped-up mapping effort, has been greatly increased over previous years. The majority of the members of the Aviation Command, including many helicopter pilots and mechanics, accompanied the water shipment aboard the President Jackson. Fixed wing pilots flew their craft directly to Alaska from Crissy Field.

The 110th Transportation Platoon (Boat) is supporting the 537th and the 551st Engineer Companies with landing craft at their particular locations.

A Photo Evaluation Detachment from the 21st Engineer Company also is attached to the 660th in order to provide contact prints and evaluate aerial photography taken this year.

While landing operations were in process 26 April, word came through that the charred wreckage of a civilian airplane had been spotted in the rugged country almost 100 miles south, near the village of Platinum.

660th pilot 1st Lt. William W. Fairchild and Dr. John Ferger of Bethel, Alaska, flew to Platinum to learn the exact location of the reported wreckage, but were met with a blizzard and forced to remain overnight. What followed was a harrowing experience of flight through the storm, two forced landings, lack of food and shelter from the raging blizzard for over 24 hours, and final success.

The weary fliers had completed what started out to be a routine mission of mercy to be accomplished within a few hours, but which had extended into nearly 72 hours of an experience they would not soon forget.

Not all life on this summer mission is so exciting, since the work must go on and so too the routine chores from chlorinating water to improving the camp theater, which provides much of the recreation available to the groups. Hobby shops too are popular where the surveyors can play chess, build models, paint with oils, or listen to music on the short wave sets.

Nat'l Guard Units Trace Their Origin Back 3 Centuries

Washington—Thanks to one of the earliest conscription orders in North America, two National Guard units can trace their military origins to Oct. 7, 1636.

The 101st Engineer Combat Battalion of Medford, Mass., and the 182nd Infantry of Charlestown, Mass., lead the list of the 15 oldest battalion-size units in the U. S. Army. Their 317-year history derives from a general order of the Massachusetts Bay Colony which drafted every man and boy, with the exception of "magistrates and ministers," to the defense of white settlers from Indian raiders.

The American Indian could be described as the "father of the U. S. Army." The oldest units of our present Army structure were organized in defense against the redskins. Since they began as militia, or "trained bands," all now are National Guard units.

In addition to the two Massachusetts units, the 15 oldest, in order of their organization, are:

176th Light Infantry, Richmond, Va. ("Virginia Blues"), 1652; 104th Infantry Regiment, Springfield, Mass., 1662; 102nd Infantry Regiment, New Haven, Conn., 1672; 169th Infantry Regiment, Hartford, Conn., 1672; 192nd Field Artillery Battalion, Stamford, Conn., 1672; 963rd Field Artillery Battalion, Norwalk, Conn., 1672; 201st Armored Field Artillery Battalion, Fairmont, W. Va., 1735; 197th Tank Battalion, Wheeling, W. Va., 1735; 126th Heavy Tank Battalion, Boston, Mass., 1741; 111th Infantry Regiment, Philadelphia, Pa. 1747; 230th Field Artillery Battalion, Savannah, Ga., 1751; 118th Field Artillery Battalion, Savannah, 1751; 967th Armored Field Artillery Battalion, Wilkes Barre, Pa., 1775. (ANF)

Many people can't enjoy what they have now for fear of losing it.

UNITED STATES SAVINGS BOND CAMPAIGN

Your Friends and Associates respect you for being thrifty as much as they do for spending the price of a Savings Bond on a Party. IT IS SMART TO SAVE. Buy a Bond Per Month thru the Pay Roll Savings Plan.

FINAL ARRANGEMENTS on the score Freedom's Saga are made by Cpl. Curt Hungerford, narrator, M/Sgt. Fred C. Rose, Conductor, Cpl. Bill Mundy who did all the musical arranging, and Cpl. Richard Smith, scorer. This composition will be the highlight of the Fourth of July concert to be given at 2:00 p. m. in the Stern Grove Memorial Park by the Sixth Army Band and Pipe Band. (Photo by Guittierez.)

Band Concert!

Fourth of July Concert To Be Given At Stern Memorial Park

The Sixth Army Band will give a concert on Sunday at 2:00 p. m. as the fourth program in the Sigmund Stern Music Festival series at Sigmund Stern Grove, 19th and Sloat Blvd.

The program will consist of "Toccata Marziale" by R. Vaughan Williams; "Overture for Band" by Felix Mendelssohn; "Semper Fidelis March" by John Philip Sousa; "Komm, Susser Tod," J. S. Bach; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," J. S. Bach; "Gettysburg," by David Uber featuring horn soloist Pvt. Richard M. Smith; "Water Music Suite," Handel; "First Suite in E Flat for Military Band" by Gustav Holst; "Zacatecas" Mexican March, Codina; "Sabre and Spurs," Sousa; Coronation Scene from "Boris Godounov" by Moussorgsky; "None But The Lonely Heart" by Peter Tschaikovsky; "Oh! How I Hate To Get Up In The Morning" arranged by Cpl. William H. Mundy with soloist Cpl. Richard L. Armbrust, baritone; "Trois Pieces Breves" by Jacques Ibert; "Divertimento for Band" by Vincent Persichetti; "Joyous Interlude" by Dai-Keong Lee.

A group of Scottish compositions by the Sixth Army Pipe Band with Sergeant William E. Allen, Pipe Major; "Stars and Stripes Forever" by Sousa; and finally "Freedom's Saga" featuring the Sixth Army Band and Chorus in a progression of many of this nation's patriotic songs from the Revolution of 1776 to the Korean War.

The script and narration are by Cpl. Curtis R. Hungerford, arrangement by Cpl. William H. Mundy and scoring by Pvt. Richard M. Smith.

San Francisco famous Midsummer Music Festivals are held annually in the Sigmund Stern Grove in a setting unsurpassed by any open-air concert area in the United States. This year there will be a series of 12 concerts comprised of such groups as the San Francisco Ballet, performing on 29 August, and the 49th Infantry Division Band giving their presentation on 12 September.

Public transportation available to 19th & Sloat Blvd. includes streetcar K, and busses M, 28 and 18.

The Sixth Army Band is under the baton of Chief Warrant Officer Erling H. Erlandson, with M/Sgt. Fred C. Rose as the Assistant Conductor.

Bus for Concert

Transportation will be furnished Presidio personnel wishing to attend the Sixth Army band concert to be held Sunday at Stern Grove. The bus will leave the Presidio Service club at 1300 hours and will also make a stop at the Fort Baker Service club to pick up personnel from the sub-posts on the Marin side.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

- Daughters to:
- 21 June: A2 c and Mrs. Paul E. James, 573rd AF Band, Hamilton AFB.
 - 22 June: S Sgt. and Mrs. William E. McGrath, 6400 Army-AF Recruiting Sta., SF.
 - 23 June: PFC and Mrs. Henry L. Hammonds, Btry. C, 752nd AAA, Oakland Army Base; Sgt. and Mrs. Harold McNaulty, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSF; Lt. and Mrs. John M. Nutter, AST, DIR, PAC. Docks, SF; CWO and Mrs. Kay K. Sasaki, 115 CIC Det., PSF.
 - 24 June: PFC and Mrs. Jim Pugh, 740 AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Baker; Pvt. and Mrs. Lattrell T. Wilkinson, Med. Holding Det., Letterman AH, PSF.
 - 25 June: A3 c and Mrs. Stephen Fong, WADF Hq. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB; TE-1 and Mrs. Charles H. Hopkins, USN, Rm. 328, Fed. Office Bldg., SF.
 - 27 June: M Sgt. and Mrs. Francis Labes, 9956 TSU-SGO, Letterman AH, PSF.
- Sons to:
- 21 June: M Sgt. and Mrs. Kurt G. Bullinger, 6002 SU, PSF; Lt. and Mrs. Vern M. Williams, 9956 TSU-SGO, Letterman AH, PSF.
 - 22 June: Lt. and Mrs. Henry S. Knudson, 666th AC&W Sq., Mill Valley, Calif.; PFC and Mrs. Richard Perkins, 505th MP Bn., Ft. Baker.
 - 23 June: Pvt. and Mrs. William P. Fleck, 3rd QM P.P. Lav., OAB; Lt. and Mrs. John J. Harris, 31st Ftr. Intep. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB; Sgt. and Mrs. William Satele, Hq. 6th Army, PSF.
 - 25 June: Sgt. and Mrs. James Simpson, Hqs. Det. 1, 60th Engr. Bn., Ft. Scott.
 - 26 June: S Sgt. and Mrs. Emilio G. DeLeon, Air Def. Gp., Hamilton AFB; Capt. and Mrs. Rollin Kapp, Det. 1, 6001 SU, PSF; Lt. Col. and Mrs. John Scroggs, 9560 Mt. View, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. William Segrest, 8602 AU, Two Rock Ranch Sta., Petaluma, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Donald Welch, Co. B, 505th MP Bn., PSF.
 - 27 June: Capt. and Mrs. Richard Oeser, Det. 1, 6901 SU, OAB; PFC and Mrs. Ralph Serigne, Btry. D, 752nd AAA Gun Bn., Ft. Funston.

Vet News Notes

Veterans Administration today speeded the way for hundreds of disabled post-Korea veterans to begin training under the Korean GI Bill before the forthcoming August 20 starting deadline.

The Korean GI Bill deadline faces all veterans separated from active service before August 20, 1952. Those who left active service afterward have two years from separation in which to begin.

VA's new system short-cuts a step that disabled veterans previously had to go through in order to enroll under the Korean GI Bill.

In the past, service-disabled veterans were required to take VA's vocational counseling before they were allowed to begin training under the Korean GI program. Reason was to find out whether they had need for training under another law created specifically for the disabled—Public Law 16, the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

Under the new system, these veterans will be permitted to start Korean GI Bill training before they undergo counseling, rather than wait until after it has been completed.

Whichever of those computations is the greater would be his maximum training time allowed under Public Law 16.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

- Friday, 2 July—Scrabble tournament, 2000. Crafts room open.
- Saturday, 3 July—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.
- Sunday, 4 July—Bus leaves Service club at 1300 for Sixth Army Band concert at Stern Grove.
- Monday, 5 July—Patriotic quiz, coffee hour, and guitar and ukelele instructions with Bob Best, 2000. Crafts room open.
- Tuesday, 6 July—Square dancing, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
- Wednesday, 7 July—Pinochle tournament, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
- Thursday, 8 July—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

- Friday, 2 July—Tournaments, 2000.
- Saturday, 3 July—Horse racing, 2000.
- Sunday, 4 July—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Starlites stage show, 2000.
- Monday, 5 July—Ceramics and allied crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
- Tuesday, 6 July—Post Independence day dance, 2000.
- Wednesday, 7 July—Drama group meeting with Marilyn Tobener, 2000.
- Thursday, 8 July—Sqaure dancing, 2000.

The first Army officer to be named president of the American Medical Association was Major Joseph Janvier Woodward.

Unintentional Borgia?

Is Your Wife Poisoning You? Check On Her Serving Habits

(Second of two articles)

Washington—Torn between tuna and egg salad as the best sandwich to take to the church picnic?

The U.S. Army can help you make up your mind.

Don't take either—for health's sweet sake.

Army regulations prohibit mess sergeants from making box lunch sandwiches from materials mixed or spread with salad dressing, ground meat or chopped egg.

The preventive medicine experts of the Office of the Surgeon General who wrote this regulation have nothing against salad dressing, mayonnaise, eggs or ground meat. They like all of them—when served fresh from the refrigerator and consumed immediately.

Carefully aged in summertime heat, these are the ingredients from which come attacks of the most common—staphylococcus—food poisoning. Symptoms of the infection are nausea and vomiting followed by cramps and diarrhea.

Creamed and casserole dishes, custards, cream pastries and foods mixed with hands also carry the danger of this type of food poisoning. Three hours is as long as any of them should stand at room or outdoor temperature without fear of contamination—cooked or uncooked.

Commercial mayonnaise and salad dressings should be refrigerated as soon as they are opened. Such products are completely sterile when they leave the manufacturer and the grocery shelf, but the first spoon dipped into the jar may leave a trail of bacteria.

If you are using only a portion of canned fruit, vegetable or juice, leave the remainder in the can, cover and return to the refrigerator immediately. The can is sterile; the dish you pour into, is not.

Use as few kitchen tools and utensils as possible when preparing any dish. You not only save work but cut down on the number of bacteria introduced into food. Each separate utensil carries its separate load. (ANF)

Home Cooking

The Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero, offers Bay Area servicemen a home-cooked meal at its weekly Tuesday supper club get-togethers, which begin at 1800. The price is only 35 cents and a round-table or movies follow the supper. There is also dancing at the Y on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday nights beginning at 2030.

CMD Civilian Employee Is Also WAC Reservist

A girl with a two-fold career is Miss Laverne Blakely who is a civilian employee with the California Military District Headquarters, along with being a private in the WAC Reserves.

Miss Blakely, who has just returned from two weeks of basic training at Fort Ord, joined the Reserves to learn more about the service before making it a full-time career.

Enlisting in September 1953, Pvt. Blakely became a member of the 351st Military Government unit on the Presidio and took a 12-hour pre-basic course at Reserve meetings prior to going to Fort Ord. She now serves in the Recruiting section of the MG unit each Tuesday night.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

- Friday, 2 July—"Captain Kidd and the Slave Girl," with Anthony Dexter and Eva Gabor.
- Saturday, 3 July—"The Outcast," with John Derek and Joan Evans.
- Sunday, 4 July—"Man With A Million," with Gregory Peck and June Griffiths.
- Monday, 5 July—"Skirts Ahoy," with Esther Williams and Barry Sullivan.
- Tuesday, 6 July—"Return from the Sea," with Jan Sterling and Neville Brand.
- Wednesday, 7 July and Thursday, 8 July—"Francis Joins the WAC," with Donald O'Connor and Francis, the Talking Mule.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

- Friday, 2 July—"The Outcast," with John Derek and Joan Evans.
- Saturday, 3 July—"Man With A Million," with Gregory Peck and June Griffiths.
- Sunday, 4 July—"Captain Kidd and the Slave Girl," with Anthony Dexter and Eva Gabor.
- Tuesday, 6 July—"Francis Joins the WAC," with Donald O'Connor and Francis, the Talking Mule.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

- Friday, 2 July—"Living It Up," with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.
- Monday, 5 July—"Captain Kidd and the Slave Girl," with Anthony Dexter and Eva Gabor.
- Wednesday, 7 July—"Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

- Sunday, 4 July—"Francis Joins the WAC," with Donald O'Connor and Francis the Talking Mule.
- Tuesday, 6 July—"Captain Kidd and the Slave Girl," with Anthony Dexter and Eva Gabor.
- Thursday, 8 July—"Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

- Friday, 2 July—"Ivanhoe," with Robert Taylor and Joan Fontaine.
- Saturday, 3 July—"Captain Kidd and the Slave Girl," with Anthony Dexter and Eva Gabor.
- Sunday, 4 July and Monday, 5 July—"Living It Up," with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis.
- Tuesday, 6 July—"The Outcast," with John Derek and Joan Evans.
- Wednesday, 7 July—"Return from the Sea," with Jan Sterling and Neville Brand.
- Thursday, 8 July—"Man With A Million," with Gregory Peck and June Griffiths.

Cinema Previews

"CAPTAIN KIDD AND THE SLAVE GIRL," F*. A swashbuckling saga of adventure and romance on the high seas.

"THE OUTCAST," F*. Based on a novel by Todhunter Ballard, it tells the suspenseful story of the battle waged by a young westerner to regain his inheritance from a thieving uncle.

"SKIRTS AHOY," F*. Reissue of the colorful portrait of life at the WAVE barracks as recruits, Esther Williams, Vivian Blaine and Joan Evans adjust themselves from civilian to service living.

"RETURN FROM THE SEA," F*. Heroic action by the crew of a U.S. destroyer on Korean duty, plus their exploits while on shore leave make this one a thriller.

"FRANCIS JOINS THE WAC," F*. Service comedy of errors when, through a clerical error, Donald O'Connor and his Talking Mule, Francis, are assigned to the Women's Army Corps.

F*—Family.

Teen Age Club

- Friday, 2 July—Shuffleboard tournament with prizes; distribution of newspaper.
- Saturday, 3 July—Checker tournament with prizes and dancing.

HITTING DIDN'T COUNT for much in the 30th Engineer-Detachment 1 tilt of last Friday. The two teams were locked 1-1 right into the final inning, when three walks and a struck batter finished the game for good. Engineer Mike Hanley was one of the new stickers to get in a lick against opposition pitcher Dave Scott, however. He is shown here in action with Detachment 1 catcher "Wally" Wallace behind, and ump Green at work. (Star Presidian)

Engineers Beat 6002 SU, 9th AAA Whips Baker MPs in Week of Upsets

★ ★ ★

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

An unbeaten giant of the Post softball circuit was brought down hard this week as the Headquarters, 30th Engineer Group, crew snapped the back of the Detachment 1, 6002 SU, nine-game winning streak with a close 2-1 tally Friday.

It was no dramatic seventh-inning circuit clout that brought this most precious victory of the year to the hard-playing engineers. The teams were tied one-all with three aboard in the seventh when unbeaten 6002 hurler Dave Scott faced engineer Jerry Wilson. He made the error of hitting Wilson with a pitched ball, thus walking in what was probably the most decisive run of the season for either team.

George Hammond faced Scott for the engineers in one of the closest pitching duels of the season. He allowed a single hit as against Scott's trio. Engineers' Smith, Sheetz and Hammond collected those three.

On Monday of this week the same winners went on to an 11-2 victory over the 99th Engineers, proving that Friday's gambit was no fluke. The charmed Scottmen churned out a total of 15 hits off 99th hurler Vincent to rack up a hefty margin after a second inning deadlock.

Bigstickers for the winners included once more Sheetz and Hammond, who thrashed a double, and a single, double and triple, respectively, and Holquin and Huff, the latter homering in the big sixth.

In another key contest the hustling 9th AAA nine clobbered the once-tough B Company, 505th police 14-7, with pitcher Coleman registering seven strike-outs and allowing only five hits against usually heavy batters. He opposed Tanner.

The artillerymen allowed some shilly-shallying through the first three stanzas then blasted five markers in the fourth for their edge.

Triple A stickers included Shepherd, Ethridge, White, Calcano and Wilson. Ethridge, Wilson and White all three accounted for roundtrippers.

Last Friday the hard-playing Headquarters Sixth Army team went into their eight straight victory (counting practice games)—this one against the benighted C Company police, 5-4.

Hero of the day was Headquarters' Riemer, bench-rider for much of this season—who thrashed out three hits and brought in three runs to account for much of his team's punch. The win came, in fact, on Riemer's strategic bop in the seventh which served to score teammate Buss and break a 4-4 tie.

Hurler Brown accounted for his fourth consecutive victory.

A Company, 505th MP Battalion, served the 16th Base Post Office nine a 19-5 defeat. Everybody got into the act against the postmen. Batters Acton and Carpenter homered; Dowell, Kinney and Holstrum all tagged three hits or better off hurlers Blake and Horn, opening up strongest in the first inning with nine runs.

MP Lazano pitched the winner.

On Wednesday of last week the 9th AAA softballers won a 9-5 decision against the Fort Baker MPs. Coleman opposed Johnson, fanning five as against the MP moundsman's eight.

Bigstickers for the winners were Coleman, 3/4, Reynolds, 2/3, Wilson, 1/2 and Ethridge, 1/2.

The Hill Toppers broke their long-lasting losing streak this week with a close 16-15 nod over the 102d MRU. Doug Smith pitched an overtime stint for his debut with the Toppers, and it was Campbell who knocked in Handley for the winning run to break a ninth inning 15-15 tie.

MRU bats included Kovack, Malinski, and Poetker—with his fat three doubles.

On Tuesday the 315th Engineers blooded the Fort Baker MPs for the third time in a week, 8-4.

Official standings, as of Wednesday and based on the recent HQ, 505th, and Harbor Defense withdrawals:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Det. 1, 6002 SU	8	1	.889
21st Engineers	5	1	.833
Co. B, 505 MP	7	2	.777
Hq. Det., 30th Engineers	8	3	.727
315th Engineers	5	2	.714
9th AAA	5	4	.555
Hqs. 6th Army	4	4	.500
102 MRU	3	5	.375
Ft. Scott Hilltoppers	3	5	.375
Co. A, 505 MP	3	6	.333
99th Engineers	2	6	.250
16th BPO	1	7	.125
Co. C, 505 MP	0	8	.000

Swimmers Needed

Post Special Services has issued an urgent call for all swimmers on the Presidio to be sure to attend a meeting at 1300 hours, Thursday, 8 July, in Building 122. The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss the possibility of forming a Post swimming team for competition in the forthcoming All-Sixth Army Swimming and Diving Championships to be held at Fort Ord, 12-13 August. Individual medals will be awarded for the first four places in each of the events. A Sixth Army team will be chosen from among competitors at the All-Area meet for entry in the Army Championships.

American Wins!

M/Sgt Harold G. Ridgeley, USAF, stationed in southern England, fired a 143 for 36 holes to win the Golf Illustrated Gold Vase Tournament in Sunningdale, England.

Ridgeley was the only American entered. The weather was very poor. Rain made the greens soggy and the fairways were soaked.

The use of rifles or pistols for hunting jackrabbits in Los Angeles County is prohibited.

Ornery Luck!

Reds Lose Terror to Marines; Hamaker Freezes Parks 5-0

The Presidio Red Raiders played their poorest and their best baseball this week against two Bay Area Armed Forces foes. They lost a sloppily-played 13-5 rout to the cellar-dwelling San Francisco Marines; then came back brilliantly on Tuesday of this week to squelch the league-leading Parks Air Force Base Flyers, 5-0.

Three soldiers — Sal Fucile, Wayne Hamaker and Hank Monroe —hurled against the leathernecks. The two teams were tied going into the ninth inning when the visiting Marines clobbered the locals for eight runs on a combination of walks, errors, and hits by Bieck and Grady.

The soldiers had trouble mastering the slowballs of Marine Stewart, who mounded a good game.

Wayne Hamaker pitched the Reds to his tenth personal victory of the season this Tuesday and his second shut-out in two weeks, limiting the Parks flyboys to five hits, fanning eight batsmen.

Heavy hitting Ken Klopp led the Presidio attack with four for four —his third .1000 in as many weeks. He was abetted by Gene Jacobs' two hits.

The game looked like a pitching duel up through the top of the third frame, when Presidio bats exploded for four runs and the lead.

Another practice game this week gave the Reds a decisive 10-1 nod over the Oakland Army Base team. Wayne Hamaker pitched a four-hitter and whiffed all of 15 opposition batsmen. Klopp took batting honors with three hits, one of them his third homer of the season, with Bert Fowler and Sal Fucile in there with two hits apiece and three RBI's.

Last Saturday the soldiers dropped an error-loaded 6-3 decision to the visiting Vallejo Builders. It was a tied ball game until the eighth inning, when the construction boys pushed across three runs on Presidio miscues and two base hits off loser Hank Monroe.

Bert Fowler led the soldiers' offense with two hits. Fucile tied up the game in the second stanza as he hit his sixth homer of the season.

Bay Area Armed Forces Baseball League standings as of Wednesday:

Team	Won	Lost
Parks	14	2
Alameda	13	2
Presidio	9	5
Hamilton	8	6
USS Oriskany	6	6
USS Kearsage	6	8
Moffett Field	6	9
SF Marines	1	12
Treasure Island	1	13

Kenny Klopp

Cleveland-Owned Kenny Klopp Leads Raider Batting with .518 Ave.

Red Raider Kenny Klopp was leading the Presidio baseball team in batting average with an unparalleled .518 per cent as of this week.

The Reading, Pennsylvania, professional is the property of Cleveland and expects to return to Indiana Triple A ball when he gets out of the Army in December.

Batting and pitching averages for the Raiders are as follows:

Batting	AB	Hits	Aver.
Klopp	54	28	.518
Jacobs	143	53	.371
Fucile	140	47	.336
Fowler	128	43	.336
Youngdahl	3	1	.333
Ethridge	113	35	.310
Asepermy	149	46	.309
Brown	96	29	.302
Jacobsen	155	44	.283
Terry	55	12	.218
Ardito	52	9	.173

Pitching	W	L
Fucile	4	0
Klopp	2	0
Hamaker	10	7
Monroe	2	5

Baker MP Tops Eastern

Baker MP Gallo is high man for the Eastern Bowling League with a high game score of 236, average 168, and a total pin-fall of 3534.

George Hammond

Two Ford Family?

Another Ford may be parked on the mound in Yankee Stadium some day. Bill Ford, a 22-year-old right-hander under contract to the Bombers, is now stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla. He gets discharged in December.

Intra-Mural Bowling!

Baker MPs Move Up; Sleuths, Engineers Keep Kegler Leads

Engineer Section 6th Army remained on top of the National Bowling League for a second straight week today, their last win being against the 6513th SU, 4-0. Pilkington was high man for the Engineers with an average of 165 and high game 188, while Horder took the lead for the losers 167, 184.

16th BPO toppled to fourth place with a loss to the 102nd MRU, 3-1. Machine record man Williams bowled 181 average and high 207, followed by mailman Weilgus' 158, 163.

HQ Co. 6th Army and the Maroos both bettered last week's losses by tying each other 2-2. High-pinner for HQ was Yoshino, who rolled 161 average, high 184. Financier Bryant bowled 172, 175.

Repeating last week's win, Det. 1, 6002 SU #1 crushed the Compt-Rollers 4-0, sparked by Evans' 192 and high 211. Loser stalwart Morgan fired 142, 159.

Moving up from last week's second place, the B Company MPs captured the league's first slot with a 3-1 win over the Slow Rollers. Policeman, Gallo rolled an average 163 and high 236 followed by Slow Roller Thorne's 154, 180.

Keystone Kops overwhelmed the 56th MRU 3-1, fired by Johnson, who averaged 157 and 201 high game. Records man Jacobsen totaled 161, 188.

Once again victorious, Det. #1 6002 #2 took 6300 SU, 3-1, powered by Morgan's 150 average and 209 high game. Loser Sikorski bowled 155, 219.

The Western Sleuths are still on top of loop standings with a total of 20 wins and 8 losses.

Close runners up are the Constables, who took the roll-off from the Tags 3-1, paced by Miller, who bowled an average 154 and high game of 174. Defeated Delaney summed 141, 187.

Money Bags Arawaka helped his team overcome last week's loss by outpinning the Flashers 3-1. Arawaka rolled 155 average and high 167, followed by Flasher Hooper's 161, 183.

99th Engineers #1 worsted the Pinsplitters 3-1, fired by Decker's 153 average and 173 high. Splitter Doyle totaled 146, 164.

The results of the HQ Co. 6th Army-Topos game were not available as this paper went to press.

NATIONALS
Team	Win	Loss
Engineer Sec. 6th Army	19	9
Det. 1, 6002 SU #1	16	12
102nd MRU	16	12
HQ, 6th Army #1	15½	12½
16th BPO	14½	13½
Compt-Rollers	13	15
6513th SU	9	19
Maroos	9	19

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
Co. B, 505th MP Bn	18	10
56th MRU	17½	10½
Slow Rollers	16	12
Det. #1, 6002 #2	14½	13½
Keystone Kops	13	15
6300 ASU	13	15
HQ 6th A-G-2	12	16

WESTERN
Team	Win	Loss
Sleuths	20	8
Constables	19	13
Money Bags	15	9
Tags	13	15
99th Engr. #1	13	11
Pinsplitters	12	16
HQ Co. 6th Army	10	14
Flashers	10	18
Topos	8	16

Adcock Rejected

Milwaukee first baseman Joe Adcock has been rejected for military service for the third time. He has a cartilage condition in his knee.

In California it is unlawful to take any fish for the purpose of removing the eggs.

WACs Gig Hamilton Softballers 15-13 For Fifth Loop Win

Nine hits — three of them homers—six stolen bases and some classy defense work put the Presidio WAC softball team ahead 15-13 over the Hamilton WAFs this week for the locals' fifth win in six starts of Bay Area Armed Forces Women's League competition.

Pitcher Ruth Gavigan and catcher Argue served the same indomitable battery combination that has seen victory in the last three games, and batted the WAFs to only two hits. They opposed Hamiltonians Thompson and Daniels.

The WACs grabbed a substantial 11-2 lead in the second bracket of play and kept it through the full seven innings. They were threatened momentarily in the sixth when WAF artillery and base-runners opened up for almost ten runs, but the local girls held their ground.

Home runs were registered by Presidiennes Nordstrom, Thompson and Gavigan. Bernardini thieved a record four bases, with Nordstrom and Argue at one apiece. Vieira tagged one hit with bombers Nordstrom, Argue, Thompson and Gavigan accounting for two each.

Bay Area league standings as of Wednesday this week:

Team	W	L
Alameda	6	1
S.F. Marines	5	1
Presidio	5	1
Parks	3	3
Hamilton	3	5
Oak Knoll	2	3
Fort Mason	2	5

Tag Lofters Outpoint Indians; 39ers Still Head Mixed Keglers

The Mixed Bowling League's 39ers remained on top of the loop with a 4-0 win over the No Name last Friday. Leader for the 39ers was Ross with an average of 141 and high game 162. High man for the losers was H. Youngdahl with 146 and 165.

Coming up from last week's tie game, the Tag Lofters crushed the Tag Indians 4-0 sparked by Alexander who turned in 152 average and high 202. Indian A. Rosenberg rolled 144, 161.

The high man for the league was still D. MacDonald, who totaled 1429 pins, averaged 158, high game score 207 and high series of 551.

Team	Win	Loss
39ers	15	5
6th Army Ord	9	7
Tag Lofters	10	10
Tag Indians	8	12
No Names	6	14

He's OK!

CWO O.K. Weinmeister of Ft. Knox, Ky., outshot 86 competitors to win the Kentucky pistol-shooting championship for the second straight year. The sharp-shooting Army officer scored 1,727 out of a possible 1800 with .22 and .38-cal. pistols.

SIXTH ARMY CHAMPIONS who went on as members of the All-Army team competing at the Inter-Service track and field meet last weekend at Camp Lejeune, N. C., included Earl Putnam (left) and George Brown, both Fort Ord soldiers. Putnam won the meet shot put championship with a 54 feet 1¼ inch heave. He bowed to Navy's Ron Drummond in the discus. George Brown, who has won every service broadjump title since the 1953 All-Sixth Army meet lost his specialty this time to airman Harold Schultz's 23 feet 7½ inches. Brown teamed with Ordster Ollie Matson, Bob Green of Fort Sill and Alex Litman of Fort Sam Houston to nab a flashy 41.4 victory in the 440 relay. Army won the meet 64 points over its nearest competitor—Navy. (Army Photos.)

Golfers in First Bay Area Defeat To Hamilton Six

The Presidio Bay Area Armed Forces Golf team suffered its first loss of the season last Friday against a steady Hamilton Air Force Base sextet, 20-7.

Presidians Dick Yost and Ray Steelsmith lost the first match 2-1 and 2½-½, respectively. Hamiltonian Staats, playing against Yost, carried a slim 71 for medalist honors. Yost seconded with 72.

Local Bob Carter stroked the most successful round for the Presidio point-wise. He won three points, but playing-mate Dave Bull dropped three to his opponent, evening things out.

Gus Wendt and Bill Hawley bowed to their adversaries 8½-½, the latter picking up the lone half digit.

The match was played on the Presidians' home course at Sharps Park.

Next meeting for the soldiers comes on Tuesday against Mather Air Force Base. The match will be played at Sharps.

Presidio Tennis Team Leaves for Fort Ord Area Prelims Tuesday

The Presidio tennis team will leave for Fort Ord this coming Tuesday morning to compete in the Southern Division Preliminaries for the All-Sixth Army Tennis Championship.

The local contingent includes M/Sgt. Anas Velarde, G-3; Pfc. Christian Blom, 21st Engineer Company; and Cpl. Robert Williams, 102d MRU.

The All-Sixth Army Championships will be staged at Madigan Army Hospital 27-30 July.

National's Evans High

The National Bowling League's Evans of Det. 1, 6002 SU No. 1, is high game honor winner for the league with a score of 211, total pinage for the series, 576, and an average of 192.

10 Firsts!

Army Wins All-Service Track; V. Wilson Ties For Jump Title

Bolstered by a large segment of Sixth Army tracksters, the U.S. Army track and field team completely dominated the two-day Inter-Service Meet at Camp Lejeune, N. C., last weekend. The khaki thinclads swept ten first places and 113 points to dump the Navy with 49, Marines at 35½ and Air Force at 18½.

The Jayhawk Express, Wes Santee, former University of Kansas miler, who was only recently recalled to 12 weeks' active service with the Marine Corps, won the mile in a service record time of 4:12.1, trailed by Fred Dwyer of Aberdeen Proving Grounds, and T. Wheeler, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. Santee's other victory came in the three-mile run.

In one of the most exciting events of the meet an over-worked Santee was beaten in the 880 by fleet Billy Tidwell, Fort Ord flash, who broke the meet record in a final burst of speed to set the new time of 1:51.8.

Good news came for the Presidio of San Francisco, too, as 505th MP highjumper Vern Wilson hurtled six feet 6 inches to tie Navy's Bob Smith for the Inter-Service title.

Other U.S. Army firsts went to Fred Faucett, APO 710, who raced the 440 hurdles in 53.8. Russell Smith and Bill Schimmel of the Army placed behind him.

Big, blond, 300-pound Earl Putnam of Fort Ord bowed to Navy's Ron Drummond's 162 feet 9½ inches in the discus, but won the shot put with a heave of 54 feet 1¼ inches.

Fort Ord's Walter Burnett streaked to a 48.6 first place in the 440 yard run, while Phil Coleman, Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., flash captured two-mile steeplechase laurels in 10:32.6, seconded by Fort Lewis' Benny Wilson.

Benjamin Witherspoon, of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, won the hop-step-and-jump with a distance of 48 feet, ¾ inches.

Willie Stevens of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., won the 120 hurdles in 14.4.

Sixth Army's George Brown and Ollie Matson of Fort Ord, Robert Green of Fort Sill, Okla., and Alex Litman of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, went to a 41.4 second victory in the 440 relay. The Army team also captured the mile relay with a time of 3:18.5.

Sixth Army pole vaulter Lindsey Kenly tied with Easterner Lyle Dicky for an Inter-Service first place in his specialty. Fort Devens hammer-man Steve Dillon won his event over Bill Burton of Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Army won first, second and third in the triathlon with a sweep in the 220 yard freestyle swim and first and second in the pistol.

Other Army placings included Howard Hertz, third in shot put; Ollie Matson and Bob Ulrich, second and third in 100 yard dash; Bill Walker, third in javelin; Ralph Bonham, Wayne Robins, tied for third in high jump; Bill Purdue, second in 220 hurdles; George Brown and Russell Smith, second and third in broadjump; Ollie Matson, second in 220 yard dash; Lang Stanley, third in 880 yard run; Glen Beerline, third in hop-step-and-jump, and C. Swearingen, third in discus.

Golf Prelims Played!

Golfers in the Sixth Army Northern and Mountain Divisions went into preliminary play on Monday of this week through today to determine the winning and runnerup teams and first five low medalists in the Main Division and two medalists in the Senior Division for entry in the Sixth Army Championships.

The titular play is scheduled for the Presidio Golf Course 12-16 July.

MANY COLORFUL RITES attended last weeks three day celebration of San Francisco's 178th birthday. Here, Father Henry Meyer, representing Bishop Guilfoyle, pays tribute to the indomitable spirit of founding genius Father Junipero Serra. The address followed ceremonies at Mission Dolores where a wreath was placed on the statue of Father Serra in the courtyard cemetery. Other principals include (l. to r.) Reverend Eric O'Brien, O.F.M., vice postulate for the Cause of Canonization of Father Serra; Miss Paula Fatjo who represented the famed La Favorita and Major General William F. Dean, deputy commanding general of Sixth Army. (Army Photo by Hilmer.)

Cake-cutting Here!

Presidio Joins in Observing San Francisco's 178th Birthday

Most intricately woven into the historical pattern of San Francisco is the Presidio of San Francisco, which this week played host at luncheon ceremonies honoring the 178th anniversary of the founding of the city of San Francisco on 29 June 1776.

Alexander T. Leonard, M.D., was general chairman of the affair held at the Presidio Officers club, at which Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army deputy commander, gave the greetings.

His ceremonial sword was used by Miss Paula Fatjo, "La Favorita" of the celebration, to cut the huge cake lettered "Happy Birthday San Francisco." Miss Fatjo, a direct descendent of Francisco Pacheco, early California Spanish inhabitant, proposed a toast to "health, money and love—and the time to enjoy them."

Further greetings were given by the Honorable Joseph R. Knowland, president of the California Historical Society, and an enlightening narrative titled "The House In Mallorca," was presented by Ernest Ingold of the California Historical Society.

In it, he related how a group of 23 men in 1932 purchased the birthplace on the island of Mallorca of Father Junipero Serra, founder of the California Missions, for presentation to the City of San Francisco. Only three of these original 23 are still alive.

Besides Father Serra, the founding also honored Father Francisco Palou and Captain Jose Joaquin Moraga, and, following celebration of a Mass at San Francisco's Mission Dolores at 1000, wreaths were placed in the adjoining cemetery to honor each of the three men.

General Dean placed the wreath and gave the tribute to Captain Moraga; Albert Shumate, M.D., to Father Palou; and Edward J. Wren to Father Serra.

At the Mass, which was celebrated by Most Rev. Merlin J. Guilfoyle, D.D., Rev. Eric O'Brien, O.F.M., gave the address in which he recalled the great works of Father Serra. Rev. O'Brien is vice postulate for the Cause of Canonization of Father Serra.

Music was furnished by the Sixth Army band. The annual celebration is co-sponsored by the California Historical Society and the Citizens Committee.

Sixth Army Letterman Fete Medical Dignitaries During AMA Convention

While convening in San Francisco last week for the annual American Medical Association convention, a group of dignitaries from the medical profession were welcomed to the Presidio of San Francisco and Letterman Army Hospital.

Among those who were greeted by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, and Brig. General James O. Gillespie, Letterman Army Hospital commander, were the Honorable Frank B. Berry, assistant secretary of defense for health and medicine; Major General George E. Armstrong, the Surgeon General of the Army; Major General Silas B. Hays, deputy Surgeon General of the Army; Major General William E. Shambora, commanding general of Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas; and Colonel Reuel E. Hewitt, Sixth Army Surgeon.

Dr. Berry and his advisory council lunched at the Letterman Officers club with Generals Wyman and Gillespie and other Army dignitaries and in the evening were feted at an "Army party" also held in the LAH Officers club. The affair was co-sponsored by General Gillespie and Colonel Hewitt.

Top Combat Unit!

The Army's 32nd Infantry Division is generally credited with more combat time than any other WWII division. In action in the Pacific theater, the division piled up more than 600 combat days.

BPO Aggressors Best Maneuver With 46th Ord

Ten EM and one officer of the 16th BPO acted as aggressors against the 46th Ordnance Group at Benicia Arsenal from 21 to 24 June. The test of three days length was divided into various phases simulating actual enemy operations in wartime.

The problem got off to a flying start when the Ordnance Group, showing great confidence and ingenuity, removed a road-block which had stopped their convoy, and counter-attacked the BPO Aggressor Squad with great success.

Later an aggressor surrendered and warned the 46th Ord Gp of a planned nuclear detonation on their position at 0800 hours the next day. Despite the advance information, the atomic blast was successfully carried out. However, the personnel of the 46th Ord Gp were disconcerted when informed by an umpire that all of them had been killed several hours previous to the attack. It seems that one of the BPO men had penetrated their bivouac area under cover of darkness and planted a biological agent in the mess truck.

A lesson learned in the test was the fact that security is a twenty-four hour problem. This was clearly pointed out when two aggressors infiltrated the 46th Ord Gp area and wiped out their CP, S-1, S-4, and Message Center. As further proof of the need for alert guards, the Mailman captured a jeep and trailer.

Captain Jack D. Hillman, the aggressor commander, was assisted by the following BPO men: SFC Stanley Smith, Sgt. Rocco Torro, Cpl. Francis Attley, Cpl. Mitchel Berdoux, Cpl. Emmit Higgins, Cpl. Alvin Harp, Cpl. Kenneth Ladwig, PFC Robert Cantrell, PFC Edward Frohm, and PFC Guy Mangano.

The test was made more realistic by the constant use of the latest psychological warfare techniques including an air attack in which hundreds of surrender leaflets were dropped by the Aggressor Forces. Propaganda broadcasts were also used extensively and Propaganda Posters were placed throughout the area.

Basic Education!

Army Must Teach Three R's To Ten Percent Of Draftees

Washington—One out of every ten men who arrive at an Army induction station has less than a fourth grade education.

Mr. One-in-Ten may think he has just marching and shooting ahead of him in his first military training—but learning also is on the menu.

Transitional training units, set up at basic training camps by the Army's Troop Information and Education Division, get Mr. One-in-Ten before he even has a rifle in his hands. Before his basic training begins he gets approximately four weeks of another type of basic—the three R's. With the three R's comes lectures to help bridge the gap between civilian and military life. The pre-trainee is briefed on military courtesy, adjustment to military life and his obligations as a citizen.

Inclusion in a transitional training unit does not mean that the inductee is illiterate. He is given the four weeks' training if he states that his formal education did not go as far as the fourth grade or if preliminary Army aptitude tests reveal that he does not read, write or speak English with the fluency of an adult who has completed the fourth grade.

In many cases, of course, the man with only one or two years in grammar school has absorbed enough thorough experience to rank him considerably above the fourth grade level in comprehension and capability.

In the first two quarters of 1954, a total of 59,381 basic education certificates were awarded. The certificates have a double meaning—that the holder either has been taught the rudiments or that he has passed tests showing his abilities are of the fourth grade level or higher.

The immediate practical value of this instruction is to enable the new soldier to understand the orders and read the charts which are an integral part of his basic training. In addition, it eliminates the need for on-duty education.

Worldwide, the three main objectives of the troop education program continue to grow, and the proof is in statistical reports. Since the Korean war began in 1950, for example, 197,632 basic certificates have been granted. Intermediate certificates (through the equivalency of eighth grade) went to 34,462. High school tests were passed by 137,726 persons while 29,184 hurdled the one-year college equivalency exams.

High school and college diplomas and degrees are not awarded by the Army. The results of these tests are forwarded to schools all over the country, which make their own awards according to their requirements.

The underlying purpose of these ambitious undertakings is threefold. Aim No. 1 is to increase the efficiency of the Army. The second goal is to assist the serviceman in his civilian educational pursuits, and third, the program provides a wholesome, profitable activity for off-duty hours.

Five means are offered to all Army personnel to add to their store of gray matter. They are:

1. Correspondence and self-teaching courses.
2. Group-study classes, under military and civilian instructors.
3. Residence classes; enrollment in classes made available either on or off post by accredited high schools or colleges.
4. Testing and examination services.
5. Educational advisement.

Every quarter since fiscal 1951 has seen a jump in the number of tests administered. The first quarter figure for 1954 of 112,109 contrasts strongly with the 31,105 three fiscal years ago.

Priority—to exhume that familiar word from World War II days—is given to four immediate goals of I & E. They hope to eliminate the basic categories, see that all non-commissioned officers have the equivalent of the eighth grade, raise all senior non-commissioned officers and lieutenants to high school level and establish the two-year college equivalency as desirable for all officers.

The biggest impetus to the program has been the end of combat in Korea. One hundred educational centers have been set up in the Eighth Army by General Maxwell D. Taylor since June. The centers operate in quonsets, tents, trucks, bunkers—anywhere the troops are. They are part of the 489 total such centers operating around the world, staffed by both officers and non-commissioned officers.

In addition, center "faculty members" also include civilian instructors and education advisors—1,546 of them at last count.

If it's really king-size statistics you want, since the third quarter of fiscal 1949, a total of 1,627,686 (M) tests have been administered! (ANF)

Numbers Game!

Kitzingen, Germany—Private Narciso W. Luge of (553 Bushwick Ave.) Brooklyn, N.Y., a clerk in the 701st Ordnance Battalion, doesn't know whether he's coming or going. His Army service number—51233215—reads the same backwards and forwards.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

(Third Class Mail)

Two Cents

Postage

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 6

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 9 July, 1954

3 Awards for Korea Service Slated At Decoration Ceremony Here Today

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Award of the Silver Star Medal, the Bronze Star Medal with "V" and the Purple Heart, will highlight the weekly retreat parade set for 1630 hours today on the Presidio's Main Parade ground.

Colonel William T. Cathcart, Post Engineer, will present the awards in a ceremony preceding a review of the Sixth Army band and troops including both Post and Sixth Army units.

All three men to be decorated were involved in courageous performance of their duties while serving in the Korean conflict.

Cpl. Daniel J. Martin, presently assigned to the Post Motor Pool, Presidio of San Francisco, will receive the Silver Star Medal for his action while serving with the Fifth Regimental Combat Team near Sohui-ryong, Korea, on 28 January 1953.

The citation accompanying the award reads:

"By direction of the President, the Silver Star is awarded to Cpl. Daniel J. Martin (then Pfc. Martin), for distinguishing himself by gallantry in action near Sohui-ryong, Korea, on 28 January 1953. Cpl. Martin was in the command post of his company reporting the results of an ambush patrol from which he had just been relieved when he heard the savage screams of an enemy attack. With complete disregard for his personal safety, Cpl. Martin rushed to the center of the action, pouring deadly fire from his automatic rifle into the enemy horde, causing innumerable casualties. When Cpl. Martin expended his ammunition, he continued his vicious attack using the butt of his rifle as a deadly club against the enemy. Through Cpl. Martin's unsurpassed bravery, the enemy were forced to retreat at at a cost of many casualties. Cpl. Martin's initiative, selfless regard for personal well being and sincere devotion to duty served as a great inspiration to all with whom he served and reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army."

Cpl. Dan Martin

Cpl. Martin attended Stockton Junior college in California, prior to entering the service on 1 October 1951. He trained at Fort Ord, California, and served with the Fifth RCT from 2 May 1952 to 25 February 1953. He joined the 6002 SU on the Presidio in April of this year.

The Bronze Star Medal with "V" device will be presented to Mr. (then Sergeant) Theodore H. Pretzer, who now makes his home in South San Francisco.

Sgt. Pretzer, who was retired from active duty on Army pension, due to wounds received in action in Korea, spent approximately one year in Letterman Army hospital following his return to this country in January 1951. He was discharged from the Army on 30 January 1952, following which he attended San Jose State college for a year. He later ran for the post of assemblyman from the 25th District.

Entering the service in March 1943, Sgt. Pretzer numbers among his decorations three Purple Hearts, the Combat Infantry Badge with Star, the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the French Croix de Guerre, two Distinguished Unit Citations and all the theatre and service ribbons.

His award today will be in recognition of his "heroic achievements in connection with military operations against the enemy of the United States on 14 February 1951 (the day he was wounded) near Chungun-ni, Korea. The Third platoon of

(Please turn to page 3)

Plans Approved To Revamp DA Stress Logistics

Washington—Army reorganization plans have been approved by the Defense Department and are being put into effect. The program designates areas of responsibility for civilian and military officials in the Army Department and outlines two major mission areas in the Army.

The two mission areas are tactical personnel and operations, and logistical personnel and wholesale-level logistical operations. The plan provides a new Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics.

The functions of the Army Field Forces will be absorbed by the new Continental Army Command which will assume jurisdiction over the continental armies and the Military District of Washington.

The Inspector General will now be located in the immediate Office of the Chief of Staff.

If Congress approves the appointment of two new assistant secretaries, the Under Secretary will be free to assist the Army Secretary in general management. Under the plan, four assistant secretaries would have functional responsibility in financial management, personnel, civil-military affairs, and logistics. (AFPS)

CARE OF THE SUFFERING to the utmost of her ability during the Korean conflict, resulted in the presentation this week to Captain Thelma E. Hadlock, Army Nurse Corps, presently stationed at Letterman Army hospital, of the Bronze Star Medal. Her Korean service as operating room supervisor, 43rd Surgical hospital (mobile Army), was from April 1953 to April 1954. Here, Brig. General James O. Gillespie, commanding officer of Letterman, presents Captain Hadlock with her award. (Letterman photo by East.)

Valor in Korea!

Army Nurse Gets Bronze Star In Award Ceremony at Hospital

One of the highest achievements to come to women in the service of their country was awarded this week to Captain Thelma E. Hadlock, Army Nurse Corps, now stationed at Letterman Army hospital on the Presidio of San Francisco.

It was the Bronze Star Medal, and it was awarded to her for her meritorious achievements and selfless devotion to duties while serving in Korea.

From April 1953 to April 1954, Captain Hadlock was operating room supervisor, 43rd Surgical hospital (mobile Army) and was responsible for the supervision and training of nurses and enlisted technicians and for the status of equipment and supplies required for the operating room.

In all these things, Captain Hadlock excelled, as part of the citation accompanying her award states: "Under her able direction, the hospital was able to admit hundreds of patients and provide immediate emergency surgical treatment to all cases requiring such. Her superior performance of duty, her selfless attitude and long arduous hours of work were instrumental in alleviating much suffering and in saving lives which might otherwise have been lost."

Actual presentation of the medal was made to Captain Hadlock by Brigadier General James O. Gillespie, Letterman's commanding officer.

Following her graduation from nurses' training at St. Joseph's hospital in Phoenix, Arizona, Captain Hadlock entered the Army in October 1942. During World War II she served with the 215th Hospital complement aboard the hospital ship USS Hope. The Hope called at islands throughout the south and central Pacific theatre, evacuating the sick and wounded to base hospitals. This tour of duty lasted until October 1945.

Discharged from the Army in February 1946, Captain Hadlock next entered the University of Colorado from which she received her B.S. degree. Maintaining an active Reserve status during this time, she re-entered on active Army duty in July 1951, and served at Camp Carson, Colorado, prior to going to Japan in August 1952, and later to Korea.

Her mother, Mrs. Mamie Hadlock, resides in Mesa, Arizona.

Specialist Plan Delay

Washington—The Army specialist program which has been approved and tentatively set to begin 1 January, 1955, will be put into effect 1 March, 1955, the Department of the Army announces. (AFPS)

Retired Serviceman Medical Aid Policy Restated in Memo

Policies regarding the furnishing of medical care to retired Army personnel and their dependents were reemphasized in a memorandum issued by Headquarters, Sixth Army, recently.

The release indicated that any former member of the Army who is or has been awarded retirement pay as a result of Army service—other than those entitled to it by the Equalization Act of 1948—is eligible for Army medical treatment facilities.

Those who meet the above requirements continue to be eligible even though they have elected to receive a part or all of their compensation from the Veterans Administration. However, if the person is retired for a chronic disease as listed in paragraph 6b, AR 40-506, the hospitalization should be the responsibility of the VA.

Such individuals may still receive hospital care in Army hospitals for other than the listed chronic ailments and are eligible for outpatient care regardless of the nature of the illness for which treatment is required.

A more exhaustive study of the subject is available for those interested in AR 40-506.

Weapons and Tactics!

Ranking General Officers Will Attend Top Level Conferences

Orientation conferences on latest military developments will be attended by 35 Army general officers from the Sixth Army Area between July 8 and July 13, it was announced today by Lt. Gen. W. B. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander.

Participating in the meetings which are scheduled for July 8-9 and July 12-13 at Sixth Army Headquarters, Presidio of San Francisco, will be general officers of the Army Reserve and National Guard as well as those on active duty at all Sixth Army installations.

A three-man instruction team, Col. J. H. Lynch, Lt. Col. J. C. Jeffers, Jr., and Lt. Col. C. C. DeReys from the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans., will present the orientation.

Among those who will be present for the July 8-9 meetings, in addition to General Wyman are: Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, Deputy Sixth Army Commander; Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink, Commanding General, 44th Infantry Division, Fort Lewis, Wash.; Maj. Gen. Edwin K. Wright, Commanding General, 6th Infantry Division, Fort Ord, Calif.; Brig. Gen. James G. Devine, Commanding General, Western Army Anti-Aircraft Command, Fort Baker, Calif.

Brig. Gen. Francis M. Day, Commanding General, 47th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Brigade, Fort MacArthur, Calif.; Brig. Gen. E. C. B. Danforth, Jr., Chief, California Military District, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.; Brig. Gen. James O. Gillespie, Commanding General, Letterman Army Hospital, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.; Brig. Gen. Emil Lenzner, Commanding General, Army Electronics Proving Ground, Fort Huachuca, Ariz.

Brig. Gen. Charles H. Swartz, Commanding General, 44th Infantry Division Artillery, Fort Lewis, Wash.; Brig. Gen. John P. Willey, Commanding General, Camp Irwin, Calif.; Brig. Gen. Harry Van Wyk, Deputy Commanding General and Chief of Staff, San Francisco Port of Embarkation, Fort Mason, San Francisco, Calif.; Brig. Gen. Stephen B. Elkins, Finance Officer, Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.

(Please turn to page 8)

INVENTOR Cpl. William J. Ring, formerly of the Training Aids Subcenter at Camp Roberts, demonstrates the plastic working model of the Operating Rod and Catch Assembly Mechanism which he developed while at the Sixth Army Training Aids Branch, here at the Presidio. Cpl. Ring developed these and six other plastic working models for the View-Master Projector.

Training Aids Section Makes Bay Area Military Instructors' Teaching Easier

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

If you've ever wondered who makes those M1 functional charts for Saturday training periods, or who provides scale models of land mines for all those refresher courses, here's the answer—The Sixth Army Training Aids Section located in building 223 just below the Bay Area Exchange.

Until recently commanded by Lt. Ronald Kilmartin, the section has been taken in charge this week by the Training Aids Supervisor, Sgt. Monroe W. King.

The main mission of the section is to provide training aids for the Regular Army, enlisted reserve, National Guard, and ROTC units in the San Francisco Bay Area. With only six men striving to fulfill this operation, the load is quite great, but the quality of workmanship never ceases to be anything short of excellent.

The boy wonder of this crew is Cpl. William J. Ring, formerly of the Training Aids Subcenter at Camp Roberts, who has invented seven different plastic working models of weapons to be used on the View-Master Projector. This throws an image of the model on a screen and by simply pulling levers on the models it will perform the normal function of the weapon it is designed from. The models are of the trigger housings of the .45, M1, Carbine, .30 caliber light machine gun, and the .57 recoilless rifle. They illustrate cocking, firing, automatic firing mechanism, and safety grip release.

Used on the viewing machine, large groups of students can be instructed at one time with excellent perspective of just how a weapon operates with no distortion that so often is prevalent on other media. It is also very inexpensive and easy to ship transparent and plastic models to all units in the area since it cuts down on the size of some illustrations considerably and economy nowadays plays an ever increasing role in SOP.

The section encourages the various instructors in the San Francisco region to come in and consult the artist and craftsmen as to just what they desire in the form of a teaching aid. "If we don't have it, draw it and we'll make it" is a motto well lived up to. A catalogue that lists all of the aids carried, from blank forms to disarmed land mines is provided. It was pointed out by Sgt. King that all of the Department of the Army posters are carried.

The workshop is complete to the last detail and a carpenter's dream. The frames to hold many of the posters and illustrations are made here, along with rifle rests used to "zero" in the weapon, exact replicas of German schu and teller mines, CBR Kits used in determining the students' detection ability, and finally Aggressor Uniforms usually worn by 16th BPO personnel during field exercises.

Two native San Franciscans, Frank and Al Simonpietri, operate the Art Department. The shop boasts that these boys can develop anything in the art line. They prove their versatility by producing decals along with the complicated process of silk screening. All of the plastic models developed by Cpl. Ring were started on the drawing boards of the Simonpietri brothers.

The Chief Illustrator is SFC Wylie M. Nielson who wears the interesting shoulder patch of the Allied Forces, South Europe. After his return from Naples, Italy, he was assigned as an illustrator for the Fort Ord Panorama, before coming to the Presidio. SFC Nielson attended the California Arts & Crafts School in Oakland and handles art, illustrations, posters, and all of the general commercial art work that comes to the section.

Both of the carpenters have three years of civilian experience in back of them. PFC Allen D. Pallesen, of Manila, Utah, helps Cpl. Ring with the model work by hand cutting all the plastic parts and assembling the finished product. PFC John B. Hanson plans to make the Army his career and remain in carpentry or related fields.

There you have it. If you need any art work or visual aids, if merely posters for bolstering office efficiency, call on the Training Aids Section and see what we mean by a satisfaction guaranteed job!

1st Army Honor Guard Disbands for Economy

Ft. Jay, N. Y.—The First Army Honor Guard—known officially as the 64th Military Police Platoon—marched in its last parade as part of the ceremonies accorded Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie when he visited New York.

The outfit has been disbanded as an economy measure and its men are now being reassigned to other units. The Honor Guard paraded in almost every major ceremony held in New York City since 1946. (AFPS)

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Grant J. Williams has spent the past two and one-half years with Headquarters Southwest command, Japan, as assistant staff Judge Advocate.

He is now assigned to Headquarters Sixth Army as assistant Army staff Judge Advocate.

On active Army duty since 1942, Colonel Williams first entered federal service with the National Guard from 1913 to 1916, followed by three years in the Army from 1916 to 1919. He joined the Reserve corps in 1938 and served with them until his entrance on active duty.

During World War II, the Colonel served as Post Judge Advocate at Camp Tyson, Tennessee, and Camp Sutton, North Carolina, following which he served two and one-half years in the European theater with the Chanor and Delta Base sections as well as the Berlin District in JA work. He has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Lt. Colonel Earl F. Pegram has become chief of the administrative services division, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His past three years has been spent as deputy Adjutant General, USA Pacific, with headquarters at Fort Shafter, Hawaii.

In the Army for the past 22 years, Colonel Pegram, in World War II, was assistant AG of the 28th Division, and later was S/GS, First Army, serving a total of four years in the European theater.

Upon his return to this country he attended AG School and, among other assignments, served three and one-half years as executive officer, administrative services division, office of the Adjutant General in the Pentagon. Colonel Pegram's decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, the French Croix de Guerre, the Belgian Fourragere, a Luxembourg decoration, and six battle stars, one for Sicily and five for the ETO.

Lt. Colonel Edward L. Davis, Jr., has just completed four years in Army security work at Frankfurt, Germany.

He has now been assigned to the G-3 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

At Virginia Military Institute in 1940, Colonel Davis spent the following two years with tank destroyers and entered the training cycle with the 77th Infantry division, accompanying that unit to the Pacific theater, where they participated in the campaigns at Guam, the Philippines, Ryukus islands, Ie Shime, Okinawa and finally the occupation of Japan and Korea, the latter partially with the 7th Division. The colonel began as commanding officer of a Reconnaissance group and completed the tour commanding a battalion.

Decorated with the Bronze Star Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters, the Combat Infantry Badge, the Purple Heart, the Presidential Unit citation and all theater ribbons, the colonel, who is a veteran of 17 years' Army Service, spent a year following the war at Air C/GS, Maxwell Field, Alabama, and two years in logistics work at the Pentagon.

Lt. Colonel Walter McCarthy is slated to become the Post Quartermaster on 31 August when he relieves Lt. Colonel Baird Miller.

Colonel McCarthy, in the Army 14 years, recently completed 14 months in the G-4 Section, procurement division, AFPE, and prior to leaving was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal.

During the period December 1942 to April 1945, the colonel was in the ETO in various Base sections in North Africa and Italy, doing Quartermaster procurement work. He was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his services there.

A native of San Francisco, Colonel McCarthy was graduated from the University of San Francisco, class of 1934, with a degree in business administration.

Major Robert McIntire has taken over the duties of chief, accounting branch, Finance office, Presidio of San Francisco.

Until recently, the major was at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, where he spent a year as supply and training aids officer, and four months attending the Finance officers' basic course there.

In April 1944, Major McIntire arrived in the European theater for service with the 35th Division. While serving as a platoon leader in France six weeks later, the major was captured by German forces and remained a prisoner until 2 May 1945. Following approximately 18 months in the ZI, he was next assigned to a three-year tour in Japan.

Returning to the Far East in November 1950, Major McIntire entered Korea with the X Corps and served with them and also the 9th Corps for a total of 27 months. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, the Korean Presidential Unit Citation and all theater ribbons. He has served the Army for the past 12 years.

Lt. Frank L. Rhodes has been assigned to Headquarters detachment, 660th Engineer battalion, 30th Engineer Group, Fort Scott.

His duty will be that of assistant battalion S-4.

Entering the Army two years ago as an enlisted man, Lt. Rhodes attended Engineer OCS at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, and this is his initial duty assignment as an officer.

Prior to entering the service, the lieutenant attended the University of Arizona.

Lt. John A. Heidengren is now a member of the 99th Engineer company, 30th Engineer Group, Fort Scott.

Lt. Heidengren completed Infantry OCS at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, on 23 April of this year, and this is his first duty assignment.

Entering the service as an enlisted man in June 1952, the lieutenant took his basic training at Fort Dix, New Jersey, prior to entering OCS.

A graduate of the Cooper Union School of Engineering, New York City, he has his B.S. in civil engineering.

CWO Leo P. Day has become the new chief of the distribution unit, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Mr. Day was among the advanced planning group for SHAPE in Europe and has been in Paris, France, for the past 40 months.

In the Army for 12 years, Mr. Day served in Signal Corps administrative work in Washington, D. C., during World War II.

Enlisting in August 1942, he received his warrant on 1 September 1951.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM E. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

COMMENDATION AWARD was presented to M/Sgt. Wienand A. Tolch by Lt. Col. John E. Geiser, Executive Officer to the Deputy Post Commander, Presidio of San Francisco, at an informal ceremony recently. Sergeant Tolch of Seattle, Washington, was cited for meritorious service with the Provost Marshal Section, Headquarters, Central Command, Japan, from April 1953 to April 1954. He is presently assigned to the Provost Marshal Section at the Presidio of San Francisco. (Army Photo by Brink.)

Mission Accomplished!

Presidio Enlisted Man Is First To Earn A. B. On Active Duty

The first Presidio enlisted man to be graduated from college while on active duty with the Army has just completed all the requirements and will receive his degree in September from San Francisco State College.

He is M/Sgt. John W. Sunday, a criminal investigator with the 60th CID. He will receive his A.B. degree in Social Science as the result of ten months' work at San Francisco State toward completion of 24 units he needed to graduate.

M/Sgt. Sunday already has an LL.B. from Southwestern University in Los Angeles, awarded in 1950. Before entering the Army in WWII, he had attended Southwestern for 3½ years, and upon his return from the South Pacific, as a disabled veteran, he was allowed to enroll in Law School and work 3 more years toward a law degree.

His 3½ years of pre-law schooling were counted as acceptable by S. F. State and he was permitted to finish the work essential toward an A.B. degree in Social Science, so as to graduate in September.

Over six years of military experience have already been accrued by Sunday. He served his first "hitch" during WWII in New Guinea and Australia and is now on the way to FECOM for a second tour.

After returning from his first enlistment, the Sergeant joined the National Guard as a 2d Lt. Following discharge he signed up with the 264th CIC (Counter Intelligence Corps) reserve unit here at CMD HQ on the Presidio. He came on active duty, was sent to the Provost Marshal General School, Camp Gordon, Georgia, and graduated as number three man in his class of 20.

Education seems to attract other members of his family as well, since Sunday's daughter, a student of San Francisco City College, is planning to study law.

Decorations

(Continued from page 1)

Company 'B,' 7th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Division, was attacked by a large enemy force and was ordered to withdraw to more tenable positions. Sgt. Pretzer, remaining in position to cover the withdrawal, was subjected to an intense hand grenade attack and although severely wounded, continued to cover his unit's withdrawal by firing his weapon until he fell unconscious. Sgt. Pretzer's heroism and devotion to duty reflect great credit upon himself and the military service." He had served with the unit since October 1950.

Following basic training at Camp Roberts, California, Sgt. Pretzer served in the Aleutians with the 7th Division during 1943-1944 and in August 1944 went to the ETO where he served with the 80th Division. Sgt. Pretzer was also stationed on the Presidio for two years (1948-1949) where he was an investigations clerk in the Post claims office.

For Major Walter Z. Brown (then captain) now the Post Dental surgeon on the Presidio, award of the Purple Heart "for wounds received in action in Korea on 21 August 1950," seemed rather unusual.

Discussion of the award with Major Brown disclosed that in those first early days of fighting, Medical men were at a premium, and dentists were utilized in front line aid stations in a variety of medical capacities. "In fact," the major recalled, "three or four dentists were killed in action, and at least a dozen have received the Purple Heart."

Major Brown's Purple Heart came one day as he was returning from a battalion to a regimental aid station and he and his party were caught on the road by a burst of shell fire.

Stationed in Japan since April 1949, Major Brown had been one of the first to enter Korea in August 1950. Following his service there, he came to the Presidio in July 1951. His father is Colonel V. Z. Brown, who was, prior to his retirement last year, the Sixth Army Dental surgeon.

Major Brown attended the University of Oregon Dental School, enlisted in the Army in February 1943, and was assigned to various stateside stations through October 1944. His first duty station as an officer was Letterman Army hospital where he was stationed from July 1947 to August 1948.

Later this month the major will leave the Presidio for Walter Reed Army Medical center, Washington, D. C., where he will attend the advanced dental school.

Winner Take All!

The Army will receive all 23,000 men to be inducted by Selective Service during the month of August. The Marine Corps utilized draftees during the early phases of the Korean War but has not since then. The Navy and Air Force have not used Selective Service since the end of WWII.

Happy Ending!

The Army appears satisfied with its plan allowing the early separation of EM to accept cyclic employment or to enter schools. Thus within the next few weeks Army Cir. 94, dated 6 October, 1953, will be replaced by SR 615-360-5. It will contain no basic changes in present policy but will explain the requirements more specifically.

Desert Crawlers!

Purdue Profs. Analyze Yuma Test Station Terrain For Army

A field team from Purdue University has been at Yuma Test Station since 1 June engaged in a study of soils, rocks, topography and vegetation of the Test Station, for the US Army Corps of Engineers.

This activity is part of Project Anilog, one phase of which is to study and determine in what respects Yuma Test Station is representative of other desert areas in the world. The purpose of the Purdue study is to obtain detailed information about the physical characteristics of the Yuma Test Station and their military significance.

The Purdue group first came to Yuma Test Station in December of 1953, for a six week survey. Members of the group are Professors Robert E. Frost, James G. Johnstone, and Mr. James R. Shepard. They are members of the faculty of the School of Civil Engineering, Purdue University. For many years, Purdue University has been active in developing techniques for the use of air photos in soil survey, air field selection, permafrost studies, terrain analysis, and intelligence.

In the terrain analysis of Yuma Test Station, air photos have been used as the basis for both office and field study procedures. A considerable amount of mapping and analysis has been accomplished from a study of photos and literature prior to field operations. Field procedures consist of obtaining samples of soil and rock, classification of the terrain into various units, study and classification of vegetation, taking of ground and low altitude oblique photographs, and determination of the military significance of terrain features.

In addition to field sampling, the group has interviewed other test team personnel for their views on the military significance of desert terrain and its environment with respect to each test activity.

A report is being prepared which will be a comprehensive treatment of the terrain and its physical characteristics, environmental factors influencing the terrain and the military significance of the various terrain units.

Defense Chiefs Stress Priority Need For Top Reserve Force

The Defense Department is giving top-level consideration to the problem of setting up an effective military reserve force. Latest public indication of this came at the recent Quantico Conference of Defense Leaders when Assistant Defense Secretary John A. Hannah said:

"Nothing in the defense picture rates a higher priority than the necessity for establishing a firm, practicable system for organizing and training our Reserve forces."

The plan now being considered will continue to utilize Selective Service and the current eight-year reserve obligation. However, it also will have a provision that men will be drafted to meet the requirements of the reserves.

British VIP Here!

The British Minister of Defense, Lord Alexander, is scheduled to arrive in Washington for a visit to the U.S. July 16. He is making the trip on the invitation of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, with whom he will confer.

Singing Recruiter

The Presidio's own Cpl. Richard L. Armbrust, baritone soloist with the Sixth Army Band, will appear on the recruiting TV show "Soldier Parade," the 14th of July in New York City. The program will be telecast on ABC-TV and kinescoped for West Coast viewing later.

Pvt. James F. Rinehart, whom Presidians remember for his sensational juggling act in the Sixth Army Talent Contest, will also appear on the show. Pvt. Rinehart was just released from Letterman Army Hospital and upon his return from New York will report to Fort Ord.

Embarkation Port Given Award for Outstanding Accident Immune Year

San Francisco Port of Embarkation at Fort Mason received recently the nation's highest safety award, the Award of Honor for distinguished service to safety.

It was presented by Mr. Donald S. Buck, Safety Director, Office of the Chief of Transportation, Washington, D. C., to Brig. General Harry Van Wyk, Port Commander, at a ceremony in the Fort Mason Post Theater. In attendance were Port division chiefs, division safety directors, and other personnel of the command.

The award was created by the National Safety Council to accord special recognition to commercial, military or governmental organizations with truly outstanding records in the prevention and reduction of accidents, in the promotion of safety education and practices, in command interest in and support of a safety program, in a reporting and analysis system that is pointed toward correction of accident causes, and in the training of all personnel.

San Francisco Port of Embarkation was selected from among all other Transportation Corps installations for the Award of Honor on the basis of its overall safety program and its 1953 record of effecting a 60.13 per cent overall reduction in accident frequency rates as compared with the average rates for the preceding two years.

One of the unique features of the Port safety program is the Coordinating Council consisting of representatives of unions, contractors, and the Port, and their concern with reducing accidents among contract workers, including longshoremen.

Hedge Military Money Bill For Early Okeh

The compromise bill on Military Appropriations (HR 8879) has been approved by both Houses and sent on to the White House. Although the nearly $29 billion authorized is about $2 billion less than President Eisenhower requested, he is expected to sign it.

Final Senate approval of the measure was highlighted by debate on whether defense contracts could be used to ease unemployment in some areas. Senate leaders assured the body that such was prohibited.

Puzzle Answers

REVISE	SPEARS
ELATED	KENNEL
LI	STIPEND TO
ADE	STOWS PIP
TENT	ODE BORE
ESTHER	REARED
EAR	ART
GARNET	STOICS
ALEE	RAT NORA
OLD	MALAR NEB
LE	VACATES AR
EGOIST	ESTATE
RESETS	STYLES

"WATCH THAT CORNER," says Cadet Captain Richard Bush, Alameda, as he gives instructions to three members of the California Cadet corps as they prepare for their first inspection. Beds must be ruler-smooth, clothes neatly arranged, the floors spotless. Orderliness of this type is but one of the many things the Cadets learn at their two weeks' summer training, just completed this year at Fort Ord, California. Following Cadet Bush's instructions are, l. to r.: Cadet Sgt. Robert Harmon, Cadet Richard Jaramillo and Cadet Sfc. Rowland McNeil, all of Alameda. The four cadets are all students at Encinal High school. (U. S. Army photo.)

"OH BOY, CHOW," and it looks mighty good after a busy day of rifle marksmanship, map reading, first aid training, swimming and physical education. These young men, members of the California Cadet corps, last week completed their annual two-weeks training period at Fort Ord, California. The boys train all through the year at weekly drill sessions in their home town high schools. Part of the group shown in line for all that food include, l. to r.: Jeff Stearns, Redding; Robert Ratto, Anderson, and Wayne Rickard, Orinda. All three boys attend Anderson Union High school. (U. S. Army photo.)

"CLEAN THAT RIFLE MAN," 'cause the first inspection is coming up! Care of equipment as well as its proper use is an important phase of the California Cadets training cycle. The cadet corps is today the only organized course of military instruction which does not create or impose any military duties or obligations on its members to serve in any federal or state military force. Shown here making with the cleaning rags are, l. to r.: Cadets Harry Demoro, Ray Rasmussen and Charles Rhodes, all of Alameda and all classmates at Alameda's Encinal High school. (U. S. Army photo.)

Tomorrow's Soldiers!

California Cadet Corps Finishes Summer Training at Fort Ord

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

Do you know about the California Cadet Corps?

Do you know that each year thousands of young California boys of high school age assume the roles of for-real soldiers and dig into every phase of military life?

This year's two-week summer training program has just been completed.

It was held at Fort Ord, California, and was attended by more than 1,000 Cadets representing nearly 100 California high schools.

The Corps itself was established by a California legislative act back in 1911, and is prepared and administered by The Adjutant General through the Corps Executive officer.

There is the Colonel Raymond E. Smith trophy for the best NCO in camp, the Stilwell Saber award for the outstanding cadet in camp, and the Ladies Auxiliary Military Order of the Purple Heart for the best drill team in camp composed of nine cadets from the same school.

There is also the Order of the Silver Ribbon award, for outstanding qualities in personal character, appropriately embellished for either Christian or Jew. And the summer camp attendance bar is awarded each cadet who successfully completes camp, with a numeral indicating how many summer camps he has participated in.

Each cadet successfully completing the basic leadership course is awarded an appropriate ribbon, and a cluster is added when he completes the advanced leadership course. Cadets who wear a ribbon with the letter "E" shows that they were members of an outstanding company during summer camp. And the Community Service award is presented for meritorious service.

Cadet Organization

Organized just like its big "half-brother," the U. S. Army, the California Cadet corps begins with the individual cadet who is in turn a member of a squad, a platoon, a company and a battalion, the whole of which is administered by a commandant and assistant commandant, as well as by the school board and school principal of each school in which there is a cadet unit.

He in turn is aided by an assistant executive officer and five regional supervisors as well as warehouse and office personnel, all of whom hold civil service positions and devote full time to the program.

Under the statute, units of the Corps may be established only in regularly chartered schools of the state, such units to be controlled by local school authorities. Local boards select, with the approval of The Adjutant General, commandants who are charged with the military instruction of the unit.

Membership in the California Cadet Corps does not create or impose any military duties or obligation to serve either federal or state governments in any military force.

It is today the only organized course of military instruction in which a young man does not commit himself to a fixed period of service.

Based primarily on current United States Army instructional methods and practices, Cadet corps members are taught the principles of intelligent leadership, promptness, neatness and courtesy.

Leadership, citizenship, first aid, sanitation, map reading and rifle marksmanship are stressed and leadership schools are held regularly throughout the school year as well as at summer camp.

And the young men who spend two weeks of their summers in "basic training" with the California Cadet Corps progress to horizons beyond the mere play-boy.

The learning is in numerous fields: rifle firing, survival swimming, communications, physical education, advanced map reading, advanced first aid, armed forces orientation, and leadership, both basic and advanced.

Each year, as summer camp closes, there are the proud moments of accomplishment in the final camp review and parade when trophies and medals are presented by The Adjutant General and various civic and veterans' organizations to the honor cadets.

The Adjutant General's trophy is awarded the first place winner who has achieved the highest individual score for summer camp.

"Essayons!"

"Essayons," or "Let Us Try!" What more appropriate motto for the California Cadet corps. For this group of high school youths who want to try out the business of being soldiers and men. It also means let us try to do all things as a credit to ourselves as cadets and citizens. And these young men mean it. It is apparent in everything they do right up to the proud way in which they wear their uniforms with the colorful blue and gold coat of arms (State of California colors and blue also representing the Infantry). The shield-like patch is divided into three sections: the California grizzly bear on top, the torch representing school and education to the left and the sword for the military at the right.

The Military Order of the Purple Heart award by the Department of California is won by those with the highest percentage of qualifications in rifle marksmanship.

Rifle marksmanship is a very vital thing with the California cadets since it qualifies their crack gunners for the annual state rifle matches, usually held in the spring of the year.

In addition, summer camp awards for rifle marksmanship include The Adjutant General's award for the highest score; Commandants Association award for second place, the State Staff award for third high, and the American Legion marksmanship awards for those placing fourth through 30th.

At the state rifle matches, the awards which can be won include the Governor's Trophy match and the Major Veronda Trophy, both individual with the latter for the highest score in either a five-man or 10-man team match, the Lt. Robert A. Clausen Trophy match for 10-man team, and the Dion O'Sullivan Trophy match for a five-man team.

Presidio Championship Too!

Giant Army 'Singing Soldier' Contest in Second Year Soon

Plans are being formed for Sixth Army participation in a Second All-Army Soldier Singing Contest, to be conducted under the sponsorship of the Adjutant General from October, 1954, through January, 1955, it was announced by Headquarters, Sixth Army, recently.

Installation elimination contests in all the major Army areas are to be planned early enough to permit the winning entries to reach area headquarters prior to 5 November.

A Sixth Army elimination contest will be held prior to 30 November so that first place winning entries in each of the ten classes of competition may be selected to represent this command in the All-Army Grand Finals in January of next year.

The purpose of the All-Army Soldier Singing Contest is to improve morale, encourage formation of organized singing groups which will continue to function after the contest, and to interest leading segments of the music world in the development and support of an active soldier singing program.

To these ends, all Army personnel currently on active duty are eligible to enter the forthcoming contest.

Classes of competition are wide enough in scope to include every type of vocalist. Categories are Popular Singer, Classical Singer, Country and Western Singer, Barbershop Quartet, Spiritual Group (3 to 5 singers), Open Ensemble (3 to 5 singers), Army Band Chorus (not less than 12 singers), and Battalion or Regimental Chorus (not less than 12).

Judging in the Grand Finals of the championship will be aimed at the selection of the overall winner in each of the 10 classes of competition. Judges will include officials on leading music organizations or periodicals such as "The Billboard," Metropolitan Opera Association, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Incorporated, National Association of Teachers of Singing, "Downbeat," National Music Council, Broadcast Music Incorporated, Music Educators National Conference, and the National Recreation Association.

Contestants will be judged on a basis of the full scope of singing technique, appearance, and choice of material.

Career Club Sponsors Friday Night Dances For Servicemen at Richelieu

With three highly successful dances already part of their history, the young women who are members of the Career club of San Francisco, announce that the Friday night dances, which are held in the Royale room of the Richelieu hotel, Van Ness avenue at Geary, has become an established feature of the club.

Bay area servicemen who are 21 years of age and over may attend and orchestra dancing begins at 2030 and continues until 0100. Refreshments will be available at a minimum cost.

Each week the door prize will be a "night on the town," and the lucky serviceman may choose the girl he wishes to escort for an evening of free entertainment including dinner at Shanghai Lil's floor show and champagne at the Italian Village, and refreshments and floor show at Bimbo's 365 club, with transportation to all points furnished by the DeSoto Cab company.

Let's All Play

The Winfield Scott school, located at Beach and Divisadero streets in San Francisco's Marina district, is one of many schools offering supervised summer play programs on its playground, under the auspices of the San Francisco Public Schools recreation department.

All play facilities will be available to Presidio and sub-post youngsters during the summer months daily except Sunday, from 1030 until 1700 hours. On Wednesdays, outing day, activities begin at 0930 hours when the children meet the supervisor who accompanies them on an all-day outing swimming, boating or fishing. Full details may be obtained from the playground director any day of the week.

Miss Valerie Carter

Presidio Service Club to Observe 5th Anniversary

The Presidio Service club will be five years old Sunday (11 July).

Appropriate ceremonies in observance of the day will take place at 2000, the highlight of which will be the cutting of a huge anniversary cake.

As in previous years, it will also be an evening for handing out bouquets in the form of certificates for all those civilians who have aided the club's activities throughout the year.

The Sixth Army Combo will provide musical entertainment.

"Braden Follies," which presents a monthly stage show at the club, will appear following presentation of awards.

Those who will show in Sunday night's event will include John Dina and David Coropassi, accordion and marimba numbers; Valerie Carter and Cpl. Richard Armbrust, vocalists; Bonnie Ludwig, Richard Fields and the Mason-Kahn Soubrettes, dance numbers; Diana and Joe Bondanza, pantomime; Three Apostoles brothers, comedy routine; Diane Shelton, baton twirler, and Mrs. Peggy Duncan, accompanist.

For the week following the actual anniversary, there will be special programs at the club including a birthday week square dance exhibition in conjunction with the regular square dance on Tuesday, and a specialty show of skits and music on Wednesday, given by the Old St. Mary's Center Players.

On Thursday (15 July) the annual anniversary formal dance will be held at which time awards will be given outstanding dance hostesses.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 9 July—Cootie tournament, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 10 July—Decorating party, 1400; Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 11 July—Presidio Service club fifth anniversary party with Braden Follies, 2000.

Monday, 12 July—Old St. Mary's Players variety show, coffee hour and guitar and ukelele instructions, 2000. Crafts room open.

Tuesday, 13 July—Square dance and demonstrations by square dance group, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 14 July—Pinochle and scrabble tournaments, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 15 July—Formal anniversary dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 9 July—Drama group meeting, 2000.

Saturday, 10 July—Quiz, 2000.

Sunday, 11 July—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Rhythm Review stage show, 2000.

Monday, 12 July—Ceramics and allied crafts with Miss Rippon, 2000.

Tuesday, 13 July—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 14 July—Tournament night, 2000.

Thursday, 15 July—Square dancing, 2000.

More Attractive!

Many Womble Group Ideas Now Incorporated by Army

(This is the second of three articles on the Army's implementation of the recommendations of the Womble Committee.)

Washington—The changes currently underway to improve the Army as a career indicate the rapid progress being made in putting the Womble Committee's recommendations into effect.

The final Womble report on making the Army more attractive was made 30 October, 1953, and its recommendations have been approved by Secretary of Defense Wilson and forwarded to President Eisenhower.

The previous article discussed those actions that already have been completed, according to an Army summary of progress on carrying out the report. The final article of this series will consider those actions that are awaiting the necessary legislation.

The following actions are now in progress:

Assignment of Master Sergeants—The Army is considering a proposal to establish centralized control of assignment, by name, of master sergeants, similar to the system used for officer assignments.

Concurrent travel—Restoration of concurrent travel of dependents with their sponsor to overseas stations, is being pushed to lessen family separation. The target date is the first of next year for all overseas stations except in the Far East Command.

Unit Replacement—Rotation of battalions and regiments between the U.S. and oversea theaters, instead of rotating individuals, is being planned for 1955 to create increased stability of assignment and better team spirit.

Enlisted MOS—Study is underway on proposal to substantially reduce the number of enlisted MOSs to simplify assignment procedures.

Regular Army Augmentation—Proposal to offer RA appointments to qualified reserve officers on active duty has been submitted to the Defense Department.

Reserve Officer Program—More security and better incentives for reserve officers who serve on active duty for extended periods are being considered. These include provisions for contract tours and rehabilitation pay in event of relief from duty.

Improved Quarters for Female Officers—Minimum standards for government quarters provided for female officers are being established.

Regimental Bands—A study is underway on restoration of unit bands in infantry regiments and division artillery to create increased esprit de corps. (AFPS)

Cinema Previews

"ABOUT MRS. LESLIE," M*. About two lonely people who seem to find a meaning for life through a secret love life they share. This one's not for the kiddies!

"CREATURE FROM THE BLACK LAGOON," F*. A scientific expedition searching for the remains of a primitive Amazon gill-man, come upon him, shall we say, "in the flesh!"

M*—Mature F*—Family

Exercise Big Lick!

Washington—More than $16,000,000 (M) worth of stamps and $233,000,000 (M) worth of money orders were bought by military personnel from 285 Army-Air Force Post Offices during 1953. Post offices making the sales were located in the United States and 32 foreign countries.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 9 July—"About Mrs. Leslie," with Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan.

Saturday, 10 July—"Creature from the Black Lagoon," with Richard Carlson and Julia Adams.

Sunday, 11 July—"Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak.

Monday, 12 July—"Above and Beyond," with Robert Taylor and Eleanor Parker.

Tuesday, 13 July—"Titfield's Thunderbolt," with Stanley Holloway.

Wednesday, 14 July and Thursday, 15 July—"Magnificent Obsession," with Rock Hudson and Jane Wyman.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 9 July—"Creature from the Black Lagoon," with Richard Carlson and Julia Adams.

Saturday, 10 July—"Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak.

Sunday, 11 July—"About Mrs. Leslie," with Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan.

Tuesday, 13 July—"Magnificent Obsession," with Rock Hudson and Jane Wyman.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 9 July—"Francis Joins the WAC," with Donald O'Connor, Mamie Van Dorn, and Francis, the Talking Mule.

Monday, 12 July—"About Mrs. Leslie," with Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan.

Wednesday, 14 July—"Her 12 Men," with Greer Garson and Robert Ryan.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 11 July—"Magnificent Obsession," with Rock Hudson and Jane Wyman.

Tuesday, 13 July—"About Mrs. Leslie," with Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan.

Thursday, 15 July—"Her 12 Men," with Greer Garson and Robert Ryan.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 9 July—"Skirts Ahoy," with Esther Williams and Barry Sullivan.

Saturday, 10 July—"About Mrs. Leslie," with Shirley Booth and Robert Ryan.

Sunday, 11 July and Monday, 12 July—"Francis Joins the WAC," with Donald O'Connor, Mamie Van Dorn, and Francis, the Talking Mule.

Tuesday, 13 July—"Creature from the Black Lagoon," with Richard Carlson and Julia Adams.

Wednesday, 14 July—"Titfield's Thunderbolt," with Stanley Holloway.

Thursday, 15 July—"Pushover," with Fred MacMurray and Kim Novak.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

28 June: Sgt. and Mrs. Bernard Corpus, Ft. Mason.

1 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Richard D. Houston, 99th Engr. Bn., Ft. Scott.

2 July: BM/1 and Mrs. Thomas Gibson, HDU, Ft. Miley; Sfc. and Mrs. Harper Taggart, Det. 4, 6002 SU, Arm'd. Serv. Police Det., T. I.

3 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Rodney Rumbaugh, Calif. Mil. Dist., PSF.

4 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Hart L. Robinson, Btry. B, 9th AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Scott; Lt. and Mrs. Noel Taylor, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSF; Pfc. and Mrs. Otto Thiele, Btry. B, 740th AAA Gn. Bn., Benecia, Calif.

5 July: Lt. and Mrs. L. C. Hambley, Navy Recruiting Sta., SF.

Sons to:

28 June: Sgt. and Mrs. Edward Fee, Det. 6, 6400 SU, 30 Van Ness Ave., SF; Capt. and Mrs. Donald Yabe, 115th CIC, Ft. Scott.

29 June: Lt. and Mrs. Richard E. Docter, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSF; Cpl. and Mrs. Richard H. O'Connell, 505th MP Bn., PSF.

30 June: Lt. and Mrs. Edmond Hobbs, Hq. Co., 505th MP Bn., PSF.

1 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Robert L. Reed, Hq. Co., 740th AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Baker; Pfc. and Mrs. Kenneth G. Trimble, 6901 SU, Ft. Mason.

5 July: Pfc. and Mrs. Dudley Hubbard, 6901 SU, Oakland Army Base.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 10 July—Browse around and play games of your choice.

Saturday, 11 July—Mixed doubles ping pong tournament with the winning couple receiving tickets to downtown stage show.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

- 1—Change
 - 7—Lances
 - 13—Puffed up
 - 14—House for dogs
 - 15—Chinese mile
 - 16—Compensation
 - 18—Toward
 - 19—Fruit drink
 - 21—Lacks away
 - 22—Fruit seed
 - 23—Temporary shelter
 - 25—Poem
 - 26—Uninteresting person
 - 27—Girl's name
 - 29—Raised
 - 31—Organ of hearing
 - 32—Skill
 - 33—Semi-precious stone
 - 36—People of strong wills
 - 39—Toward the sheltered side
 - 40—Rodent
 - 42—Girl's name
 - 43—Aged
 - 44—Pertaining to the cheek
 - 46—Bird's beak
 - 47—French article
 - 48—Moves out
 - 50—Land measure
 - 51—Self-centered person
 - 53—Landed property
 - 55—Puts into position again
 - 56—Modes
- DOWN
- 1—Tell
 - 2—Strikes out
 - 3—A state (abbr.)
 - 4—Possessive pronoun
 - 5—Places
 - 6—Newspaper executive
 - 7—Wooden pin
 - 8—Writes
 - 9—Goal
 - 10—Indefinite article
 - 11—Withdraw
 - 12—Slanted
 - 17—Seed container
 - 20—Went in
 - 22—Section
 - 24—Freeman
 - 26—Nobleman
 - 28—Before
 - 30—Consume
 - 33—Prison keeper
 - 34—Assert
 - 35—Pamphlets
 - 36—Declares
 - 37—Originate
 - 38—Swords
 - 41—Wing
 - 44—Spar
 - 45—Remainder
 - 48—Content
 - 49—Bolt on eye
 - 52—Bone
 - 54—Indian mulberry

Photo by United Picture Syndicate, Inc.

(Answers on page 3)

21st Engineers Whip Deucers, Baker Police, for Intramural Softball Lead

★★★
By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

The tallest timber in Presidio intra-mural softball continued to crash this week as the relatively untouted and unheralded 21st Engineer Company cracked two of the biggest skulls—Detachment 1, 6002 SU, and Company B, 505th MP—and clambered happily to the top of the heap.

Last Thursday the 21st combined some power pitching by veteran Tafolla, some hard swinging by Ditto and Ayala, to clamp the weakening Deuce nine 10-6—the mid-season favorites' second straight loss in ten games.

The Fort Scott crew went to an immediate 10-1 lead and held it up into the sixth, in which frame the detachment softballers banged five runs to threaten the lead and the game.

It is to Tafolla's credit, and thanks to a good tight defense, that the winners weren't headed.

Smooth-working Dave Scott hurled his usual good game for the losers.

Presidio Golfers Clamp Mather AFB In Fourth Loop Win

The six-man Presidio golf team recovered from last week's BAAF loss to strong Hamilton AFB and whipped Mather Air Force Base 19-8 this Tuesday.

In the first round Mather golfers Day and Dixon combined to totals of 72 and 74 to beat Presidians Yost and Kapp 7½-1½. Day was medalist for the afternoon.

Locals Tom Ward and Bob Carter fired 79 and 80, respectively, to clamp Matherites Wilson and Bates 8½-½.

Soldiers Dave Bull and Ray Steelsmith stroked 77 and 80 to whip airmen Jones and Hooper for all nine points.

The win was the Presidians fourth in five starts in Bay Area Armed Forces League play.

Next meeting for the soldiers comes 20 July against Parks AFB in the two teams' second meeting in the double round robin tournament.

PRESIDIO TENNIS TEAM in preliminary matches at Fort Ord this week included (left to right) Pfc. Christian Blom, 21st Engineers, and Cpl. Robert Williams, 102d MRU. The local netters went into competition on Wednesday. Prelims close today with winning combinations slated to enter the All-Sixth Championships at Madigan Army Hospital, Washington, 27-30 July. (Army photo by Tycenski.)

★★★

Second victory for the engineers came Tuesday of this week. They handed the Company B MPs their fourth loss of the season, 15-9, with Tafolla once more taking top honors on the mound. He opposed Hoskins and Tanner for the police.

Biggest innings for the winners were the first three, when heavy sticker Dobbel started his nine toward a hefty 15-4 margin by the fourth bracket. The heavy swinging engineer tagged three for three—a homer, double and single. Hoskins powered the losers with two doubles.

It remained for the heretofore unlucky Hill Toppers to hand the Baker police another loss this series. Topper Doug Smith, a new member of the team, hurled his second straight win of the season, battering the opposition 14-7. Hoskins was the loser.

Smith was well supported in the garden and infield by some sprightly returns and one double play. Kemper sparked at bat with two blows.

Headquarters, 9th AAA, moved up another game this week to threaten top league placements, thrashing the Headquarters, Sixth Army, 20-4. Reynolds hurled for the artillerymen, fanning five of the opposition and allowing six hits. He was opposed by Brown and Marlor.

Ack Ack hitters White, Coleman, Reynolds, Bellinger and Bush slammed 16 hits and capitalized on seven errors to run up the sizable-margin victory.

A well-oiled winners' infield col-

Tenth BAAF Win!

Hank Monroe Pitches Raiders To 6-0 Victory Over Oriskany

"Rookie" Hank Monroe hurled the finest game of his first season with the Presidio Red Raiders this week as he blanked the Bay Area Armed Forces League U.S.S. Oriskany 6-0.

The win was the blond righthander's third in eight starts for the soldiers this year. It was the Raider's tenth victory in 15 and helped maintain their third place in current BAAF League standings.

Monroe allowed only three hits and fanned five opposition batsmen. There was never a moment he was in trouble.

Biggest gun for the local nine against their single opponent laborated successfully on two double plays to whittle the clerks' scoring chances to practically nil.

★★★

The 102d MRU softballers came back into the sun once more this week with a 13-7 win over the A Company MPs. Recordsman Ryan hurled against MP Lazano.

The game was tied and see-saw throughout much of the afternoon and found the two teams knotted right into the latter half of the seventh. Then the MRU blasted a sensational six runs to fight their way to a last-minute decision.

Bigstickers for the winners were Poetker, Walstrom, Weymant and Waldron, all of whom connected for two hits apiece.

Standings as of Wednesday morning:

Team	W	L
21st Engineers	7	1
Detachment 1	8	2
Headquarters, 30th Engineers	8	3
315th Engineers	5	2
B Company, 505th MP	7	4
9th AAA	6	4
Headquarters, 6th Army	4	5
102d MRU	4	5
Hill Toppers	4	5
A Company, 505th	3	7
99th Engineers	2	6
16th BPO	1	7
C Company, 505th	0	8

Putnam Signed

The New York Giants, professional football team, signed Earl Putnam, 300-pound tackle from Arizona State at Tempe, as their fourth choice in the 1953 college player draft, it was announced this week. The 22-year-old six foot, six inch soldier was member of the Service Championship Fort Ord Warriors last year.

This week was Sal Fucile, who walloped a double and triple. Ed Jacobsen came out of a comparative hit-drought to pole in two important runs, while both Ken Klopp and Bert Fowler singled across a run apiece for the home team.

The Reds picked up single runs in the first and fourth stanzas then exploded for a quartet of markers in the sixth to cinch their lead.

Bert Miller of the Navy was biggest power at bat for the losers. He racked up two hits out of four appearances.

A home game was scheduled yesterday between the Raiders and fifth-place Hamilton Field Tigers—too late for this week's Star-Presidian deadline.

Coming tilts for the local garrison include Sunday's at 1330 hours on the Presidio against the S. F. Jefferson Club. On Tuesday and Thursday of next week they meet the U.S.S. Kearsarge and Treasure Island—BAAF Leaguers—both at 1600 hours on the Presidio diamond.

League standings as of Tuesday:

Team	W	L
Parks	14	2
Alameda	13	2
Presidio	10	3
Hamilton	8	6
Oriskany	6	7
Kearsarge	6	8
Moffett Field	6	9
SF Marines	1	12
Treasure Island	1	13

SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE—Officers and men of the 30th Engineer Group currently engaged in their annual summer mapping project in Alaska have discovered exciting sport awaits them during their off-hours in the land of the tundra. Lt. Colonel Arthur T. Snell, Commanding Officer, 660th Engineer Battalion, Base Topo, is shown above with his catch of Alaskan "Shees"—a sporting fish that has all the weight, guts and fighting trim of our own California steelhead. (36th Engineer photo.)

Rollers Continue!

Sleuths, Engineers, 56th MRU Top Keglers In Their Leagues

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

With a 3 line split 2-2 over HQ Co. 6th Army, Engineer Section 6th Army still remained on top of the National Bowling League with a win-loss total of 21-11, this week. Builder Pilkington averaged 153, high gamed 165. HQ's Brown bowled 168, 210.

102 MRU crushed the Maroos 4-0 led by Williams who pinned a 162 average and 176 high. Records keeper Bryant paced the losers 159, 172.

Det. 1, 6002 SU No. 1 was sparked by Evans' 4-0 triumph over 6513 SU with a 182 average and high game 214. Horder garnered a 151, 168 for the trimmed.

Compt-Rollers rolled over 16th BPO 3-1 fired by Morgan's 153 average, 164 high. Matcaroff bested the losers 163, 172.

The 56th MRU surged upwards from last week's defeat to smash the Baker MPs 3-1 and put themselves on the tip top of the Eastern League. 56th stalwart Malinski rolled 159 average, 218 high game. Loser Gallo bowled 172, 236.

Det. No. 1, 6002 No. 2, steamed over HQ 6A-G-2 3-1 led by Morgan's 152 average, high 218. Lawson powered the conquered 141, 191.

Moving up from last week's defeat, 6300 ASU clobbered the Slow Rollers 4-0 sparked by Sikorski's 153 average and high game of 219. Big gun for the vanquished was Thorne with 156, 180.

NET ACE M. Sgt. Anas Velarde, this year's Post runnerup, heads the local court contingent entered in the Sixth Army Championship prelims at Fort Ord this week. (Photo by Tycenski.)

The Western Bowling League's results were incomplete at the time this edition went to press.

The Money-Bags crumbled the Pinsplitters 4-0 led by Arawaka who turned in a 174 high game.

The Tags split 3 lines 2-2 with the 99th Engineers No. 1. Tag Jacobs sparked his five with 196 average.

HQ Co. 6th Army bested the Sleuths 3-1 sparked by Gregor's 173 high game score.

The Flashers and the Topos postponed their meet until next Monday, and the Constables byed this week.

NATIONAL
Team	Win	Loss
Engineer Sec. 6th Army	21	11
102 MRU	20	12
Det. 1, 6002 ASU No. 1	20	12
HQ 6th Army No. 1	17½	14½
Compt-Rollers	16	16
16th BPO	15½	18½
Maroos	9	23
6513th SU	9	23

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	20½	11½
Co. B, 505th MPs	19	13
Det. 1, 6002 No. 2	17½	14½
6300 SU	17	15
Slow Rollers	16	16
Keystone Kops	13	15
HQ 6th A-G-2	13	19

WESTERN
Team	Win	Loss
Sleuths	21	11
Constables	19	13
Money Bags	19	9
Tags	15	17
99th Engr. No. 1	15	13
Pinsplitters	12	20
HQ Co., 6th Army	13	15
Flashers	10	18
Topos	8	16

Hole-in-One Tourney Set Locally 1 August

The 1954 Presidio Hole-in-One Tournament will be held Sunday, 1 August, it was announced by Post Special Services, Sports Division, this week.

The yearly golf event, held for the benefit of the annual Army Emergency Relief drive here, will be staged at the first tee of the Presidio Pitch and Putt Course.

Entry fee will be 50 cents for five balls.

Prizes will be awarded to the winner and runner-up.

First Aid instruction for Army personnel by medical officers was initiated in November, 1886.

All-Sixth Army Golf Title on Line Here Monday

Presidio, Fort Ord May Prove Toughest in Team Competition

The current crop of over 100 golfers signed on to compete in the Sixth Army Championship here at the Presidio links next week promises one of the toughest fairway tests in Area golfing history.

Individuals entered in the four-day trial include some familiar names in Army and civilian sporting circles and a greater number of lesser known, as yet untried golfers.

Presidio's team has been bolstered considerably over last year's by the leadership of Pfc. Dick Yost, defending Sixth Army champion whose sensational sub-par play spear-headed the Camp Roberts, California, contingent last year to that installation's second consecutive title. Yost's recent record-smashing four rounds enabled him to cop the Presidio title two weeks ago and made the local garrison's chances of winning an area title more possible.

The Portland, Oregon, amateur will be supported by Presidians Pfc. Ray Steelsmith, Captain Rollin Kapp, Colonel Peter Peters, Cpl. Bob Carter, and Cpl. Bill Hawley. The latter gained team membership in the place of Pfc. Dave Bull only this week. In the Senior Division Presidio's hopes will be pinned on Lt. Colonel Tom Ward, this year's Post runner-up.

Other installations entered in the Area tournament by Star-Presidian deadline this week included Fort MacArthur, Camp Stoneman, Letterman Army Hospital, Sacramento Signal Depot, National Guard Advisory Group, Sacramento, Fort Ord, Sharpe General Depot, Stanford R.O.T.C., and the Oakland Army Base, California; Navajo Ordnance Depot, Two Rock Ranch, Arizona Military District and Yuma Test Station, Arizona; Dunway Proving Grounds and Utah General Depot, Utah; Army Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, and Fort Lawton, Washington.

The two latter teams entered the Championship lists by virtue of their winning first and second places in the Northern Regionals at Fort Lewis, Washington, a week ago.

PFC. RAY STEELSMITH, ex-UCLA golfer, placed third in the Presidio Championship—faces even tougher competition this Monday in All-Sixth test.

CAPTAIN ROLLIN KAPP bears Presidio colors into the All-Sixth Golf Championship for second year running. He fired 313 for four days' golf and stands fourth on the team roster.

Local fans will be familiar with the Senior Division entry from Two Rock Ranch—Colonel Wiley O'Mohundro—Sixth Army Senior titlist in 1953.

The lone golfer from Stanford, Lt. Colonel Henry B. Glaister, played on the Sixth Army team at Pebble Beach in the 1953 All-Army matches.

Low cards seem to be promised from the power-laden Fort Ord team this year. It is headed by Pvt. Don McCallister, Southern California Junior Champion and finalist in the Southern California Amateur in 1951. He fired 63 in the Palm Springs tournament in '52.

He will be accompanied by Pfc. Ronald Nicol, Scottish National Junior Champion in '49, semi-finalist in the British National Junior in '48, a member and one-time captain of the Scottish International Junior team in '48 and '49, and an ex-R.A.F. team-member; Cpl. Frank Neimeyer, California State Junior Champion in '47 and U. of Texas golfer from '46 to '48; Pvt. Richard Bunkle, UCLA golfer from '47 to '50 and 1948 National Open contender.

Where entries from any installation are so few as to disallow team participation, golfers will be competing for individual honors and placement on the All-Sixth team.

Presidio golf fans are invited to attend the tournament play from Tuesday to Friday of next week.

Ft. Lewis Leads North

Golfers representing the Army Personnel Center at Fort Lewis, Washington, stroked an aggregate of 1555 to win handily over second-place Fort Lawton in last week's Northern Preliminaries to the All-Sixth Army Golf Championships.

Other totals were Fort Lawton, 1642; Alaska Communications System, Seattle, 1660; Madigan Army Hospital, 1749.

Colonel Schmidt, APC, won the Senior Division play with a 380 card, seconded by CWO Rush of ACS.

★ ★ ★

Over 100 individual linksmen representing more than 14 Sixth Army installations—the cream of golfdom from the eight Western states comprising the Area—will converge on the Presidio this Monday in preparation for Tuesday's opening of the 1954 All-Sixth Army Golf Championship, slated for the Presidio Golf Club 13-17 July.

Following a kick-off meeting in the Post Theater at 6900 hours, Monday, at which time rules and order of play will be discussed, many of these visiting golfers, unfamiliar with the local links, will head directly for the neighboring fairways to practice for Tuesday's important first round.

That evening Post Special Services has scheduled a banquet honoring the incoming divotmen, with key guests and speakers from Post and Headquarters, Sixth Army.

The following morning championship play gets underway. Medalist honors will go to winners and runners-up in the Senior and Main Divisions in Tuesday's first round—trophies to the low-scorer and runner-up in Senior play, pen and pencil sets to the two low scorers in the Main Division.

Team championship will be determined on Friday from the aggregate score of the five lowest golfers on each team. The individual champion and runner-up will be determined from the cards compiled in the full four days of contention.

The six lowest-carding golfers in the Main Division, regardless of team affiliation, and the two lowest Seniors, will be delegated to represent the Sixth Army in the forthcoming All-Army Golf Championship, scheduled for the Woodmont Country Club, Rockville, Maryland, 26-31 July.

From that tournament five Main Division and two Senior Division golfers will be chosen to represent the Army in the Inter-Service Golf Championship later in the summer.

CPL. BOB CARTER, a newcomer to the Presidio, stroked an aggregate 328 for four days' play in this year's Post Championship to gain a berth on the Presidio golf team, slated for Sixth Army competition this Monday.

Ord Strength

Pfc. Ronald Walk of Headquarters Company, A.L.S., Officers Field Mess, Fort Ord, won the Fort Ord Spring Golf Championship this year to earn a place on the southern team now competing in the Sixth Army Championship.

All-Sixth Baseball!

Ord to Host Area Ball; Army, Inter-Service Games to Carson

Fort Ord, California, will be host for the All-Sixth Army Baseball Tournament, to be held 30 August to 3 September, it was announced by Special Services, Sixth Army, this week.

There will be no preliminary tournaments. All Sixth Army installations are invited and encouraged to enter a team of not more than 18 members, including team officials, to participate in the tournament.

The Sixth Army Commander's Trophy will be awarded to the team winning the Sixth Army Championship. The award will be made for temporary possession for one year. In addition to the Army Commander's Trophy, a replica will be presented to the winning team for permanent possession. A runner-up team trophy will also be presented.

Individual awards will be presented to each member of the winning and runner-up teams.

In last year's Area event, the Fort Ord Warriors, 1953 California Semi-Pro Champions, thrashed their way undefeated through first-rate competition, rounding out their performance with a 5-0 shutout over the top-ranking Camp Roberts All-Stars, Sixth Army runners-up.

The Ord team ran into difficulty at the All-Army tournament at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, however. The 1953 Army title went to the Fort Belvoir, Va., Engineers.

This year's All-Army and Inter-Service tournaments are slated for Camp Carson, Colorado, 13-18 September, and 23-24 September, respectively.

WACs in Alameda Less; Whip Marines For Second Place

Presidio WAC softballers dropped a tough test to the Alameda Waves 8-2 last Thursday but rebounded this Wednesday to throttle the S. F. Marines 12-11 to take an unvalued second place in Bay Area Women's League standings.

Ruth Gavigan hurled both stints for the local girls. On Thursday Alameda led all the way behind some power hitting by Gerlach. Dee Nordstrom, traditionally the WAC's heaviest bat, connected for two but there was not enough support from elsewhere to help the home team across.

The Marines led 10-3 all the way up to the fifth inning this Wednesday. Hitters like Bernardini, Gavigan, Kite and Vieira slammed enough blows to register four markers in the fifth, four in the sixth, tie it up in the seventh, and whip them on a solid single by Bernardini in the overtime eighth.

League standings as of Thursday morning of this week:

Team	W	L
Alameda	7	1
Presidio	6	2
S. F. Marines	5	4
Parks AFB	5	3
Hamilton	4	4
Oak Knoll	2	4
Fort Mason	2	5

'Through The Ranks'

Michigan State's new head football coach, Hugh Duffy Daugherty, entered the Army as a private in 1940 and was discharged in 1946 as a major.

Third Army Team Wins All-Army Rifle, Pistol Title

Fort Benning, Ga.—A strong Third Army rifle team rallied at the 600 yard line of the All-Army Championship slow fire team event this Tuesday to capture the team trophy in the first running of the all-khaki firearms meet.

Lagging behind a powerful Second Army combination up to the 600 yard test, the winners battled strong gusts of wind and a thunderstorm with superior knowledge of windage to take a strong lead with a total of 2063 points.

Second-place Fifth Army had 2039 points.

Earlier in the meeting the Third Army Pistol team Blue Squad won the All-Army Service Pistol Team Championship over 22 other teams representing 12 major Army commands with a team score of 1639 out of a possible 1800.

Fourth Army's Blue Squad fired 1628 for second.

On Thursday of last week Major Carl Byas, Fort Benning, Ga., took the individual rifle honors. M/Sgt. Joe Benner, West Point firearms instructor and member of the First Army pistol team, won the individual All-Army pistol championship.

U. S. Army rifle and pistol squad candidates will be named this weekend.

Mixed Bowling League Rolls Two 4-0 Games; 39ers Still Loop Tops

Mixed Bowling League action last week showed two 4-0 tilts.

6th Army Ord crushed the No Names by taking the 3 lines. Ord man A. Rosenberg rolled an average of 144 and high game of 161 followed by loser D. Leahy's 147, 163.

Top team for the league was still the 39ers who took 3 lines from the Tag Indians. The winners were powered by Ross' average of 136 and high game of 162 followed by loser D. MacDonald's 162, 225. D. MacDonald is still top bowler for the loop. The Tag Lofters byed.

Team	Win	Loss
39ers	19	5
6th Army Ord	13	7
Tag Lofters	10	10
Tag Indians	8	16
No Names	6	18

Guardsman Golfer!

CWO Paul Ludlow of the California National Guard team from Sacramento, now competing in the Sixth Army Golf Championship, was a member of the Eighth Army team in Japan in 1949 and a member of the Fort Ord team in 1953. He is currently playing as an honorary member of the McClellan AFB team.

MAPPING CHIEFS from Washinton, D. C., paid a visit to Fort Scott last week to confer with Colonel William C. Holley, Commanding Officer, 30th Engineer Group (center), and make a tour of inspection of the engineer barracks, map reproduction and photomapping plants of the 30th. Colonel Julian D. Abell, Commanding Officer, Army Map Service (left), and Major Walter R. Mazetis, AMS Staff Officer (right), expressed their satisfaction with the soldierly appearance and manners of the men of the engineer outfit, as well as their technical proficiency. (21st Engineer photo.)

Operation Topo!

Chief of Army Map Service Checks Local Engineer Unit

Colonel Julian D. Abell, Commanding Officer, Army Map Service (AMS), Washington, D. C., and Major Walter R. Mazetis, AMS Staff Officer, inspected the 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) at Fort Scott last week.

After paying his respects at Sixth Army Headquarters, 30 June (Wednesday), Colonel Abell conferred with key military and civilian personnel of the Sixth Army Engineer Section, discussing mapping and surveying matters.

Following the meeting, he visited the headquarters of the 30th Engineer Group where he was briefed by Colonel Wm. C. Holley, Commanding Officer of the 30th Engineer Group, and his staff, on the Group operations at Fort Scott and the Task Force operations in Alaska. He later inspected the barracks, and map reproduction and photomapping plants of the 30th. Colonel Abell expressed his satisfaction with the soldierly appearance and manners of the men, as well as their technical proficiency.

Following a reception and dinner for Colonel Abell and Major Mazetis at the Officers Club, 2 July (Friday) by the officers of the 30th, the two officers, accompanied by Colonel Holley departed the following day for Alaska for an inspection of the 30th Task Force.

A native of Indiana, Colonel Abell graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1932, where he received his commission as Second Lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers.

During World War II, he commanded the 660th Engineer Base Topographic Bn. producing topographic maps and photomaps for the field armies in Europe.

In September of 1953, Colonel Abell took command of the Army Map Service in Washington, D. C., and previous to this assignment, he was Chief of the Engineer Intelligence Division, FECOM. ((RCB))

One water faucet that leaks a drop a second will waste 175 gallons of water a month.

YOUNG IN HEART, 49-year-old Sergeant First Class Charles H. McCoy receives silver jump wings of a U.S. paratrooper from Brigadier General Derrill M. Daniel at Fort Bragg, N. C. To become a trooper, McCoy was in competition with soldiers 30 years younger.

Cheaper Means!

The Army has started to switch from silver to cheap alloys in making rings for recoil systems of heavy artillery pieces. Army Ordnance reported tests proved that in many cases aluminum, babbitt and other metal alloys may be used.

The Army's 280mm atomic gun is one of the first weapons to switch to the new metal rings.

Operation Big File!

Washington — The Army Adjutant General's office at St. Louis, Mo., keeps 19,800,000 files on Army and Air Force veterans.

The office handles more than 1,500,000 inquiries a year which must be answered by referring to these files.

Conference

(Continued from page 1)

Brig. Gen. George S. Cook, 5800 40th NE, Seattle, Wash., Assistant Commanding General, 41st Infantry Division, Oregon-Washington National Guard; Brig. Gen. C. Lyn Fox, 476 Molino Dr., San Francisco, Calif., Commanding General, 91st Infantry Division, Army Reserve; Brig. Gen. Orland G. Hunt, 9843 Marine View Dr. SW, Seattle Wash., Commanding General, 41st Infantry Division Artillery, Oregon-Washington National Guard.

Brig. Gen. Henry K. Kellogg, 5027 Maplewood Ave., Hollywood, Calif., Commanding General, 409th Engineer Brigade, Army Reserve; Brig. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, 1611 Harvard Ave., Salt Lake City, Utah, Adjutant General, State of Utah; Brig. Gen. James T. Roberts, 8553 Sunset Blvd., Hollywood, Calif., Commanding General, 63rd Infantry Division, Army Reserve.

Brig. Gen. William F. Weiler, 2494 South 13th St., Salt Lake City, Utah, Commanding General, 11th Corps Artillery, Utah National Guard; Brig. Gen. Charles F. White, 730 N. Central Ave., Stockton, Calif., Commanding General, 49th Infantry Division Artillery, California National Guard; Brig. Gen. Clifford F. Beyers, Commanding General, 114th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Brigade, California National Guard, Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, Calif.

Attending the conference on July 12-13 will be:

Brig. Gen. William T. Sexton, Chief of Staff, Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.; Brig. Gen. W. E. Dunkelberg, Assistant Commanding General, 6th Infantry Division, Fort Ord, Calif.; Brig. Gen. Emery E. Alling, Commanding General, Madigan Army Hospital, Tacoma, Wash.; Brig. Gen. Richard G. Prather, Assistant Commanding General, 44th Infantry Division, Fort Lewis, Wash.

Maj. Gen. Harold G. Maison, 185 S. 15th St., Salem, Ore., Commanding General, 41st Infantry Division, Oregon-Washington National Guard; Maj. Gen. Curtis D. O'Sullivan, Napa, Calif., Commanding General, 49th Infantry Division, California National Guard; Brig. Gen. LeRoy H. Anderson, Conrad, Mont., Commanding General, 96th Infantry Division, Army Reserve; Brig. Gen. Wayne C. Bailey, 8230 Magnolia Ave., Pasadena, Calif., Assistant Commanding General, 40th Armored Division, California National Guard.

Brig. Gen. Roy A. Green, Carmichael, Calif., Assistant Commanding General, 49th Infantry Division, California National Guard; Brig. Gen. Neil R. McKay, 905 W. 5th St., Olympia, Wash., Commanding General, 115th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Brigade, Washington National Guard; Brig. Gen. Harry T. Ostler, 1775 S. 13th East, Salt Lake City, Utah, Assistant Commanding General, 96th Infantry Division, Army Reserve; Brig. Gen. Charles A. Ott, Jr., 3440 S. Hope St., Los Angeles, Calif., Commanding General, 40th Armored Division Artillery, California National Guard and Brig. Gen. Lamar Tooze, 3814 NW Thurman St., Portland, Ore., Commanding General, 104th Infantry Division, Army Reserve.

The rare metal germanium, extensively used in electronics, is being recovered in the fly ash of coals burned at utility power plants.

NAMES MAKE NEWS
call Ext 4244

Consolidation!

6013, 6516 SU Units Merge In Ft. Lawton Reorganization

Reorganization and consolidation of two U.S. Army activities now headquartered at Fort Lawton has been made by Lt. Gen. Willard G. Wyman, commanding general, Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, in the interests of economy and more effective utilization of manpower, it was announced last week. The reorganization became effective 1 July.

Under the integration order, the 6013 Service Unit at Fort Lawton has been discontinued and its personnel transferred to the 6516 Service Unit, Washington Military District. Up to this time, Fort Lawton and the Washington Military District have separate commands, both located at Fort Lawton. The new command is known as the Washington Military District with Headquarters at Fort Lawton, Washington, and is headed by Col. Norman C. Caum, present chief of the Washington Military District. Washington Military District headquarters is moving from its present location in Building 57 to the Fort Lawton headquarters in Building 48.

With the integration, Col. Bernard A. Tormey, who has been in command of Fort Lawton, becomes deputy chief of the district; Col. R. E. Beauchamp, who has served as executive officer at Fort Lawton, becomes executive for post affairs, and Col. N. W. Dagneff, who has been chief of staff for the military district, becomes executive for reserve component affairs.

The reorganization will not affect the 26th AAA Group, the returnee station or the Seattle Port of Embarkation station complement battalion, all housed at Fort Lawton.

Formerly under the jurisdiction of Fort Lawton and now under Washington Military District are the Fort Lawton operations and the 100-bed U.S. Army hospital. Continuing under the command of the military district will be the Army Reserve Advisor Group; the National Guard Advisor Group, and the ROTC instructor groups covering Washington State College, University of Washington, Gonzaga University, Seattle University, Eastern Washington College of Education and Walla Walla High School.

Bonus Bill Readied!

The Senate is ready to consider the Defense Department's proposed Re-enlistment Bonus Bill. It already has been cleared by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The bill provides for an increase in the bonus paid for the first re-up and tapers off bonus payments toward retirement. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, committee chairman, says the annual cost of the program will be about $68 million more than the present bonus system, but that the change will pay for itself by eliminating training costs for new recruits.

Former Sixth Army DCG Named for Immigration Post

Congress has been asked by Attorney General Herbert Brownell to approve the appointment of Maj. Gen. Frank H. Partridge, former deputy commanding general of Sixth Army, to the post of Assistant Commissioner of the Border Patrol, Detention and Deportation Division of the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

If approved, General Partridge's new position would parallel his last Army assignment with Sixth Army Commander Lt. Gen. Joseph M. Swing: General Swing now heads the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Noting the growing "wetback" problem, the Attorney General said he is satisfied that General Partridge's "experience, background and temperament eminently qualify him for the post, and that his military experience will stand the Government in good stead in the battle to hold the river line against the hundreds of thousands of aliens illegally entering the country each year."

He said it is his intention to "initially" appoint General Partridge as Assistant Commissioner. This may mean that the General will be elevated to a higher post at some future date.

General Partridge retired as Deputy CG of the Sixth Army last December and was succeeded by Maj. Gen. William F. Dean. During WWII he commanded the 97th Infantry Division, first in Europe and later in the Far East. He had completed more than 36 years' service at the time of his retirement.

The Border Patrol post pays over $11,000 annually.

For Safe Crashing!

Plastic panes for the windows of industrial plants are designed, according to Science Service, to reduce damage in the event of an explosion. The panes are shatterproof and eliminate the hazard of sharp-pointed glass fragments.

Four and one-half million dollars was saved by Army installations in Japan during a single three-month period. Biggest savings — $2,300,000 — were reported by Ordnance units. Most of this came from the reclamation and reuse of scrap and salvage material.

Send The Star-Presidian Home
(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

New Post Exchange Set For December Completion

PARAGON POST EXCHANGE or what may be the model to be followed in all future building of PX's throughout the nation is pictured above. The structure, now going up just north of the Presidio ball field, is to be the most complete soldier's store in existence, and will feature one large sales floor, to better facilitate selection of merchandise, and a new parking lot.

The Star-Presidians

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 7

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 16 July, 1954

Top Assignment!

General Sexton Will Head New Military Mission to Pakistan

Brigadier General William T. Sexton, chief of staff of the Sixth Army since August 1951, has been named chief of the first United States Military Assistance Advisory Group to Pakistan. He departed this week for conferences at the Pentagon in connection with his new assignment, and will proceed to NATO headquarters in Paris for additional briefings before going to Karachi.

His appointment follows the conclusion of a mutual defense assistance agreement between the United States and Pakistan signed in Karachi on May 19. The agreement contained a provision for a United States Military Advisory Group.

Born in Leavenworth, Kansas, September 3, 1901, General Sexton was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1924 as a Second Lieutenant of field artillery. Following a series of assignments with various artillery units in the United States and in the Philippines, in 1936 he returned to West Point as an instructor in economics, government and history. Three years later he entered the Command and General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth, Kans., and upon graduation in February, 1940, was assigned to the 83rd Field Artillery at Fort Bragg, N. C. In September 1940 he was assigned to the War Department General Staff and in February 1941 was named Assistant Secretary of the General Staff. In March 1943 he was appointed Secretary of the General Staff.

In March 1944 he was named Commanding General of the Third Infantry Division Artillery and served in that post through the division's campaigns in France, Germany and Austria.

In May 1946 he was appointed U. S. Army military attache to Iran serving there until November 1948, when he was assigned to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, as Director of the Extension Course Department of the Command and General Staff College until June 1950 when he was named Chief of Staff and Deputy Post Commander of the College.

Brig. Gen. W. T. Sexton

General Sexton was named Artillery Commander of the 82nd Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N. C., in March 1951 and held that post until he reported to the Presidio of San Francisco as Sixth Army Chief of Staff in August 1951.

(Please turn to page 2)

July Promotions

While, for the seventh consecutive month, no master sergeant ratings are available, Sixth Army area promotions to sergeant first class show a considerable jump over June figures. A total of 62 will be promoted during July as compared to only 35 in June. In addition, this month there will be 215 promoted to sergeant, 1,741 to corporal and 2,379 to private first class.

Chief of Dental Corps Arrives on 9-Day Staff Visit

Major General Oscar P. Snyder, assistant to the Army Surgeon General and chief of the Army Dental corps since April of this year, arrived in San Francisco Thursday night for a nine-day staff visit to Dental installations in the Sixth Army area.

He will be guest of honor at a dinner set for tonight in the Presidio Officers club. A meeting with Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, is slated for Saturday morning.

General Snyder will tour the Presidio of San Francisco, Letterman Army hospital, the Central Dental laboratory at Alameda, Fort Ord, California, and Forts Lewis and Lawton and Madigan Army hospital, all in Washington. He will be accompanied by Colonel Kenneth P. Fulton, Sixth Army Dental surgeon.

Receiving his degree as DDS from Ohio State University, class of 1916, General Snyder was commissioned on 11 November of that year and has spent most of his Army career as an instructor in Army Dental schools.

Prior to his present assignments, the general served as director of Dental activities at Brooke Army Medical center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and before that in the same capacity at Walter Reed Army Medical center, Washington, D. C.

Beauty and Service!

$130,000 Mart Will Boast Latest In Construction Skills

A $130,000 one-story, ultra-modern structure which may be the prototype for future Army Post Exchange lay-outs in the United States is currently being constructed on the Presidio.

Site for the brand new soldier's mart is across Moraga Boulevard from the Presidio Theater.

The building will house a sales area of 144 feet by 74 feet—enough space to handle the overflow clientele Presidio personnel are expected to provide the new PX facilities, which will equal the best of any post in the country.

Plans also include janitor's storeroom and administrative area.

Work began on the project the beginning of June, at which time Pacific Coast Builders, under the supervision of the U. S. Army District Engineer's Office, put a 5,000-pound steam-driven hammer to work sinking two reaction test piles to determine the suitability of the ground for foundations.

With the completion of the reaction piles the first of this month, the go-ahead was given for 71 more piles to be buried into bedrock, or, in engineering parlance, "point bearing," to depths from 20 to 58 feet.

Due to the sandy surface soil on the site, the gang of "pile bucks" in charge of these preliminary operations have had to work overtime to achieve the desired 30-ton test load that each of the sub-structures must withstand. The piles themselves are made of reinforced concrete with a corrugated steel shell, a recent innovation in construction technique.

An eight-inch reinforced foundation will be set over the piles. Walls of the building will be constructed of eight-inch reinforced pilasters. The entire structure is to be insulated with one inch of fibre glass and poured gypsum.

Painters will complete their end of the job around the 10th of December, which will have the building in timely readiness for Christmas shopping.

The one story structure will cost $91,163, but costs for pile-driving, water lines, sewers, concrete and electrical work will bring the total to $130,600.75.

Army, USAF Set Terminal Date For 3 Medals

Washington (AFPS) — A termination date has been set by the Army and Air Force for the three service medals that have been awarded since the beginning of the Korean war.

The date is July 27, 1954, the first anniversary of the beginning of the truce period. After that date, personnel cannot qualify for the Korean Service Medal, the United Nations Service Medal or the National Defense Service Medal.

The Navy has made no official announcement, but is expected to follow a similar policy.

Two other awards also are being discontinued by the Army and AF. They are overseas service bars and the Accolade, a certificate forwarded to the next of kin of persons killed in line of duty during a period of operations against an armed enemy.

No action at present is contemplated by any of the services on terminating the awards of the Occupation Medal for service in Germany or the waters nearby. However, the Navy would like to terminate the China Service Medal (extended), and is expected to do so at the same time it terminates the other three.

A request has been received from Gen. John E. Hull, Commander-in-Chief Far East, that consideration be given to authorizing a new medal for service in Korea or the waters adjacent thereto between July 27, 1954, and a future date.

Its purpose would be to recognize service in what Gen. Hull termed a "highly sensitive area." No decision has yet been reached on his request.

Col. William T. Epes

Former Comptroller Appointed Acting Chief of Staff

Colonel William J. Epes, GS (Arty.), former deputy chief of staff, Comptroller, has been named acting chief of staff for Sixth Army. He replaces Brig. Gen. William T. Sexton, who has been ordered to MAAG, Karachi, Pakistan.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy, Colonel Epes has served with the Sixth Army Comptroller Section since 1952. He reported here following assignments, '49 to '52, in Hawaii as deputy chief of staff, Comptroller; deputy chief of staff plans and operations, U. S. Army Pacific; and chief of staff of the Hawaiian Defense Command.

During WWII he served as deputy chief of staff, plans and operations and chief of staff for the Trinidad Sector and Base Command, from '41 to '43. He was then appointed chief of staff of the 63rd Infantry Division and accompanied the division into combat under General Patton's 3rd Army. He later served with the occupation forces in Austria, following which he was appointed chief of staff of the 23rd Infantry Division.

Ordered back to the U. S. in '46, he was named an instructor and departmental chief at the Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas. He served in this capacity until ordered to Hawaii in '49.

Colonel Epes' decorations include the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star and several foreign decorations.

Sexton to MAAG

(Continued from page 1)

Mrs. Sexton and their 16-year-old daughter, Elaine, who has been attending school in San Francisco, will remain in the Bay Area until they join General Sexton in Pakistan. Their son, William T., Jr., 19, is a student at Georgia Institute of Technology.

More Generals!

A conference committee of the Senate and House is working on a bill that would authorize honorary promotions to the rank of General for 11 retired or deceased Army generals. The difference between the House and Senate versions is that the Senate list had only nine. Those on the list are all lieutenant generals.

One Out Of Three Men Disqualified For Army Service

Washington — One of every three men currently processed for military duty under Selective Service Regulations is disqualified.

According to the Army Office of the Surgeon General, approximately 3,900,000 pre-induction examinations were given to Selective Service registrants from the beginning of the Korean conflict in July, 1950, through December, 1953. About 1,250,000 of the men examined were disqualified.

The total disqualification rate during this period was 32.4 per cent, broken down as follows: 15.0 turned down for medical reasons only; 13.4 failed the mental examination; 3.2 failed both mental and medical examinations; and 0.8 per cent were not acceptable for administrative reasons (criminal records, moral and other reasons).

The principal disqualifying medical defects, based on a sample of medical records of men found not acceptable for the period July, 1950, through December, 1951, revealed the following diagnostic breakdown:

Defect	Per cent
1. Circulatory system diseases	15.5
2. Bones and organs of movement diseases and defects	14.7
3. Psychiatric disorders	12.8
4. Digestive system diseases and defects	10.5
5. Eye defects	7.6
6. Ear and mastoid process defects	6.4
7. Allergic diseases	5.8
8. Congenital malformations	4.4
9. Infective and parasitic diseases	3.3
10. Failure to meet height and weight standards	2.7
11. Neurologocila diseases	2.5
12. Neoplasms (tumors, etc.)	2.5
13. Skin and cellular tissue diseases	2.1
14. Endocrine system diseases	1.6
15. Respiratory system diseases	1.3
16. Genito-urinary system diseases	1.1
17. Blood and blood-forming organ diseases	0.2
18. Metabolic and nutritional diseases	0.1
19. Miscellaneous	4.9

States having the highest disqualification rates for mental, physical and other deficiencies from July, 1950, through June, 1953, were: South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Arkansas. Lowest rates for this period were experienced by Minnesota, Kansas, Utah, Iowa and South Dakota.

Commander's Time for Next Week's TI&E

The Troop Information and Education conference hour for next week, 19 July to 24 July, will be given over to Commander's Time, it was announced by Post I&E this week.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TI&E Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

RETIRING QUARTERMASTER OFFICERS on hand for a dinner in their honor at the Officers' Club recently included, left to right, Colonel Paul Kellam, formerly Sixth Army Quartermaster; Colonel Louis G. Bumen, Sixth Army Quartermaster and host to retiring officers; Lt. Colonel Bayard Miller, Post Quartermaster, Presidio of San Francisco; Major James

Barrett, G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, who is not retiring but has a new assignment with the military mission in Turkey; Lt. Colonel Angus Werrell, former Chief, Miscellaneous Services Division, QM Section, Sixth Army; Colonel James B. Clearwater, formerly Commanding Officer, Sharpe General Depot. (Army Photo by Gutierrez.)

Over Century of Service!

Quartermaster Officers Have 109 Years Combined Service

A total of 109 years of active Federal service duty was represented by four retiring Quartermaster Officers at a Presidio Officer's Club dinner party held recently. The party, attended by 65 persons, was sponsored by Quartermaster Officers in the San Francisco Bay area.

Colonel Paul Kellam, former Sixth Army Quartermaster Chief, will retire after completing more than 39 years of active service. A native of Harris County, Georgia, the Colonel entered military service in January 1915. He has served in the Philippines, Canal Zone, and was the Seventh Army Quartermaster Commander in Europe prior to his assignment to the Sixth Army in 1951.

Colonel James B. Clearwater, former Commanding Officer of the Sharpe General Depot, will retire after completing more than 32 years of active service. Born in Highland, Ulster County, New York, he entered military service in August 1921. He was assigned Commanding Officer of Sharpe General Depot in 1953 after completing more than three years as Chief, Memorial Division, Office of The Quartermaster General, Washington, D. C.

Lieutenant Colonel Bayard A. Miller, Post Quartermaster Chief, Presidio of San Francisco, will be retired after completing more than 22 years of active duty. A native of Portland, Oregon, Colonel Miller served as an enlisted man in WWI between February 1913 and June 1919. He was commissioned a Reserve 2nd Lieutenant in May 1933, and entered into active service. He served in Korea from August 1950 to March 1952, and upon returning to the US was assigned Post Quartermaster, Presidio of San Francisco, in May 1952.

Lieutenant Colonel Angus J. Werrell, formerly Chief Miscellaneous Services Division, Quartermaster Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, will retire with more than 16 years of active Federal service to his credit. After entering the service as an enlisted man July 1914, he served until 1916. Commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant, USAR, in 1924, he was ordered to extended active duty in June of 1941. He has served in Europe, and on the Staff and Faculty of the Quartermaster School, Fort Lee, Virginia from 1951 to 1953.

Major James Barrett, presently assigned to the G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, will leave in the near future for an assignment in Turkey.

Gen. Taylor Says 8th Army Troops Study in Korea

New York (AFPS) — The Eighth Army, while guarding the armistice line in Korea, is "the greatest educational institution in the world today," Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, USA, its commander, recently told the Rotary Club of New York.

He said that nearly everybody in the Eighth Army was receiving instruction, giving it or doing both.

Illiteracy is being eliminated from among the 10 percent of the men who never got beyond the fourth grade, he explained. More than 55,000 soldiers are taking general education courses to bring them up to the fourth-grade level or better. All NCOs are being brought up to the eighth grade or better.

College courses and correspondence courses in specialized subjects also are being offered.

The 650,000 Korean members of the Eighth Army are receiving intensive military training and U. S. units are giving technical instruction to South Korean civilians to help them rebuild schools and villages, General Taylor said.

In addition, farmers have been helped to resettle the rich rice-growing areas that have lain barren since the fierce fighting of the Korean conflict raged over them. Sixty-five thousand farmers already have been returned and 200,000 will be eventually.

White Sands Ordnance Proving Grounds at White Sands, N. M., is 4,000 acres of desert where guided missiles and long-range rockets are tested.

Vet News Notes

Veterans planning to start Korean GI Bill training before the forthcoming August 20 cut-off date were urged today by the Veterans Administration to give extra-special thought to their choice of a training program.

The reason, VA said, is that after the cut-off date, the law tightens up appreciably on a veteran's right to change his course.

He no longer will be allowed to make his one-and-only course change with the same ease that it could be made before the deadline.

At any time before the cut-off date, the Korean GI Bill permits a veteran one change of course. So long as his conduct and progress were satisfactory, he has a relatively free hand in making the change. It could be from law to engineering; from air conditioning to airplane mechanics; the choice was his.

But once the cut-off date passes, VA said, the one-and-only free change-of-course provision no longer holds good.

After that time, a veteran may change his course only under one of the following circumstances:

1. The course he wants to change to is a normal progression from the course he has already taken. For example, if he obtained his AB degree, he would be permitted to change to an MA degree.

2. He hasn't been making satisfactory progress in the course he was taking, due to no fault of his own. If this is the case, he will be required to undergo VA vocational counseling, to help him select a new course more in keeping with his aptitudes and abilities.

The August 20 Korean GI Bill cut-off date applies only to post-Korea veterans separated from active service before 20 August, 1952. Veterans who got out of active service after that date have two years from separation in which to begin their training.

Newly-separated veterans in the latter group need not worry about having their one-change-of course rights curtailed until after their individual cut-off dates come around, VA said.

Average Vet's Age

Washington—A recent survey by the Veterans Administration shows that of the 20,408,297 veterans in civil life, the average is about 38 years.

Initial Meet Friday!

23 July Set For Kick-off of Army Aid Groups Campaign

A meeting of all representatives who will launch the kick-off of the 1954 Joint Army Emergency-Army Relief Society fund campaign, will take place in the Post theatre, Building 99, at 1330 hours Friday, 23 July.

Military AER representatives will be chosen from each section and unit and their names submitted to the Funds Custodian office, Building 220, by 22 July. These personnel will be oriented at the meeting and given necessary materials to complete their mission.

The actual campaign will be conducted during the period 23 July through 31 August. It is held each year to permit a voluntary contribution from Army personnel to raise, in a single campaign, the necessary funds required for both organizations named above.

Purpose of the campaign is really twofold:

To raise sufficient funds to cover anticipated net annual disbursements for assistance by the Army Emergency Relief and Army Relief society to needy candidates.

To inform Army personnel of the financial assistance which they and their dependents may receive from the AER and of the society's assistance to widows and orphans of regular Army personnel.

Army Policy Change Permits RA Officers To Retire in 20 Yrs.

Washington (AFPS)—An Army policy change will allow commissioned RA officers who have completed 20 years active Federal service—at least 10 of them commissioned—to apply for voluntary retirement.

Applications submitted under the following provisions will be considered:

1. Chronic illness or disability of a dependent which will hinder the universal assignment of the officer.
2. Financial hardship.
3. Domestic hardship affecting the immediate family.
4. National health, safety or interest.
5. Imminence of mandatory retirement.
6. When retirement will not be contrary to the best interests of the service as determined by the DA.

The new policy is contained in AR 605-245, C 3.

Army Engineers Win National Safety Award For Top Services

Washington (AFPS)—The National Safety Council's Award of Honor has been presented to Brig. Gen. Robert G. Lovett, Army East Ocean Div. Engineer, for his unit's "distinguished service to safety" in the construction of military installations in Canada, Greenland and Iceland.

The plaque commends the division for an average reduction of 64 percent in accident, injury and fatality rates during its $700 million construction program in the Arctic and in the Atlantic.

At the same time the division's Northeast District, which built Thule AB, received a special award from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, USA, Chief of Staff.

Col. C. V. Cadwell

Col. C. V. Cadwell Named Acting Post Inspector General

Colonel Carol V. Cadwell began his second tour of duty at the Presidio this week when he was named acting Post Inspector General. His new assignment follows a tour of duty in Washington, D. C., where he served as deputy to the then Provost Marshal General, Major General W. H. Maglin.

Previous to that assignment he headed the United Nations' Prisoner of War Command in Korea, succeeding Major General Haydon L. Boatner in September of '52. Colonel Cadwell was later succeeded by Major General W. H. McGarr.

From '47 to '51, Colonel Cadwell served as Provost Marshal of Sixth Army. He had previously served in this Army area as Provost Marshal and headquarters commandant of the III Corps at the Presidio of Monterey under the late General Joseph W. Stilwell. During WWII he was overseas three years, starting as Provost Marshal of the Eighth Army from its operations in New Guinea, and continuing in this capacity through the Philippine campaigns and the Japanese occupation. He flew into Japan with the advance echelon to prepare the way for the occupation troops even before Japan's formal surrender.

A veteran of 37 years' military service, Colonel Cadwell's decorations include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Commendation Ribbon, Philippine Presidential Unit Citation and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation.

Servicemen's Deposits

The Servicemen's Deposits bill (S 3284) now on the floor of the House will change the requirements by which an EM can withdraw his deposits. Under existing law, he can do so only upon final discharge. By special permission the Army and Air Force have permitted emergency withdrawals, but the Navy and Marine Corps have not. The change in the bill will give permanent authority to the three service secretaries to permit emergency withdrawals.

Good books should surround us and be kept within reach—as nothing compares with their power to teach.

Recently Assigned

Colonel Stacy W. Gooch has joined the G-3 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

Colonel Gooch, a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1934, has spent the past 10 months attending the Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania. He is also a graduate of the Command and General Staff school, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the Armed Forces Staff college, Norfolk, Virginia.

The colonel, prior to his recent schooling, spent three years in Puerto Rico, the first two as executive to the commanding officer of the Depot, Port and Personnel center, and the last year as deputy chief of staff, Headquarters USARFANT.

A veteran of 20 years' Army service, Colonel Gooch, in World War II, was battalion commander of a Medium Artillery battalion with the 69th Infantry in the ETO, and, at the close of the fighting, was named executive officer of Division Artillery. He completed a 30-months tour overseas at that time. Colonel Gooch has been decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal with "V" device, and Oak Leaf Cluster, and the French Croix de Guerre.

The colonel's wife, Natalie Tompkins Gooch, and their two children, daughter "Lee," 14, and son "Bill," age six, are presently residing at 744 Hyde street.

Colonel Clifford M. Snow has likewise recently become a member of the G-3 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

His most recent assignment was in Japan with the Safety Military Advisory command to the Northern Corps, National Safety Forces Japan, with station at Hokkaido. He served in this capacity for 20 months, prior to which he spent 11 months in Korea with Headquarters 8th Army, G-4 Section.

With 14 years' active service, Colonel Snow entered service in 1940 with the 36th Division, Texas National Guard, and went with that group to the ETO where he served in North Africa, Italy, Southern France and Germany throughout World War II to 1945.

Integrated into the Regular Army in 1946, Colonel Snow served two years as an instructor at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, following which he attended the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. His next three-year tour was with G-4 at Fort Riley, Kansas. Colonel Snow has the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Purple Heart, the French Croix de Guerre, and numerous theatre and service ribbons.

With him, presently residing at 2 Alhambra street, are the colonel's wife, Lois K. Snow, and their 10-year-old son, "Rickey."

Colonel Roland J. Halada this week also joined the staff of the G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past 22 months, Colonel Halada has been civilian personnel officer at the Ryukyus command, with station in Okinawa.

During World War II, the colonel served 26 months in the ETO with Headquarters, 1st Airborne Army.

His next overseas tour was with a Joint Military Advisory and Planning group, stationed in Greece for a year. Returning to the ZI, he attended the Army General school at Fort Riley, Kansas. Colonel Halada is also a graduate of the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Colonel Halada has served the Army for the past 22 years. His wife and family have joined him at his new station here.

Captain Felipe Fernandez has recently been assigned as a company officer with Detachment 1, 6002 SU, Presidio of San Francisco.

His past 18 months have been spent on Okinawa, where he was connected with Provost Marshal activities.

In the Army for 17 years and seven months, Captain Fernandez served nine months in Korea, from October to December 1951 with the 24th Division, and the following six months with the 40th Division.

During World War II the captain served with the 26th Horse Cavalry in the Philippines. His decorations include the Silver Star Medal and the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Lt. William M. Jones has joined the JA Section of Headquarters Sixth Army as assistant Army staff Judge Advocate.

Entering on active duty in August 1952 following receipt of a direct commission, Lt. Jones served first at Camp Roberts, California, in the JA Section.

He has just completed 15 months in Korea, serving in the JA Section of the 25th Infantry Division.

Lt. Jones was graduated from Loyola University Law School, Los Angeles, class of 1952, and has also attended the three-months JAG school at Charlottesville, North Carolina.

CWO Donald J. Martin's last assignment was as assistant adjutant, 129th Infantry Regiment, Fort Lewis, Washington, where he has been for the past 21 months.

His new assignment is as chief of the administrative branch, G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In Korea, Mr. Martin served eight months with the 224th Infantry Regiment and 10 months in Japan. It was while in Japan in 1951 that Mr. Martin received his warrant. He has 11 and one-half years of Army service.

During World War II, he served two and one-half years in the ETO with the 368th Engineer Combat Battalion. His decorations include the Combat Infantry Badge, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation.

CWO Harry Hersh has received his second Bay area assignment, this one as legal administrative assistant in the Post Judge Advocate Section, Presidio of San Francisco.

In 1950, while stationed at Fort Mason, California, engaged in JA work, Mr. Hersh received his warrant.

Prior to coming to the Presidio, Mr. Hersh served three years in the JA division of Headquarters, USFA, with station at Heidelberg, Germany.

In World War II, Mr. Hersh, who is a veteran of 29 and one-half years in the Army, served a year in the Pacific theater with the 64th Field Artillery Battalion, 25th Infantry Division.

Education Pays Off . . .

New Haven, Conn.—A Book-maker was arrested after a Yale professor translated his betting slips. They were written in Hindustani.

Presidio Named 1954 Fire Prevention Winner

The Presidio of San Francisco recently won an award for fourth place for educational activities conducted during Fire Prevention Week.

The award was announced by the National Fire Protection Association who recently named the top 20 installations in the U. S. Army to place in the contest. This is the fourth consecutive year that the Presidio was named among the winners.

The consistently high standards made in this annual Army wide competition is indicative of the clear cut and wholehearted cooperation given the Presidio Fire Prevention and Protective Division by Presidio personnel, both military and civilian, in eliminating fire hazards.

The Presidio Fire Department is anxious for the continued support of all personnel in this program.

Embarcadero Y Sets Two More Outings

More summer outings are being planned by the Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero, in which servicemen can get a day or weekend in the country swimming, boating and just plain relaxing.

An all-day picnic and outing is set for Lake Temescal, located in East Bay, on Sunday, 1 August. For a total of 75¢, those attending may take part in hiking, boating, swimming, games, and of course, plenty of food.

For the weekend of 14 and 15 August, there will be a jaunt to the "Y" camp where the days will be spent sunning, swimming, and in a variety of outdoor games, and the nights will be spent singing and relaxing around the campfire.

Complete details on both of these programs are available at The Embarcadero Y program office.

505TH SOLDIER OF THE MONTH, Cpl. Luther Price of A Company, receives congratulations from Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, Commanding Officer, 505th MP Battalion, on his winning the June best soldier award. Between them stands Cpl. Richard L. Curtis, of Headquarters, one of three other runners-up to the title. Cpl. Price, a graduate of U.C., plans to enter the U. S. Forest Service when he is released from the Army. (Army Photo by New.)

Sharp Soldier Too!

Able Co MP, Future Forester, 505th 'Best Soldier' Winner

Cpl. Luther S. Price of A Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, has been named Soldier of the Month for that unit for the month of June, it was announced this week.

The A Company noncom's win broke a three-month straight monopoly on the award held by neighboring B Company of the same battalion.

Cpl. Price won the honor following a series of examinations in general and military police subjects, current events, motor maintenance and CBR warfare and a close, company level scrutiny of job efficiency, personal appearance and military courtesy.

The San Leandro, California, MP won the final battalion-level exam against finishers from three other companies. The other nominees for the title were Cpl. Richard L. Curtis, Headquarters Company; Cpl. Philip D. Joliff, B Company, and Cpl. David Hoerning, C Company.

Cpl. Price, originally from San Leandro, California, is now living off-post in San Francisco with his bride of only a few months.

Prior to being stationed at the Presidio, he undertook basic training at Fort Ord and then advanced to Military Police training at the Fort Baker MPTC. He graduated in April, 1953, and he and his brother, Vincent, were among the top five graduates in a class of 300.

Prior to the Service, Price graduated from the University of California in 1952 with a B.S. in Forestry. He plans to make this field his life work and will probably work for the U. S. Forest Service either in Arizona or New Mexico.

Doc's Face Real Thing!

The Doctor Draft Act has been amended (S3096) to allow the induction into the Armed Forces of physicians and dentists as enlisted personnel if they do not complete their loyalty certificates to the thorough satisfaction of the military. Previously it was necessary to commission all doctors called into Service.

General Glasgow Leaves SFPOE for London Job; Gen Van Wyk Succeeds

Brig. General Ralph I. Glasgow, commanding officer of the San Francisco Port of Embarkation for the past 16 months, has departed for the east coast prior to leaving for his new assignment in London where he will become U. S. Army military attache to the United Kingdom.

His successor at the Port is Brig. General Harry Van Wyk, formerly the Port's chief of staff, and a classmate of General Glasgow's at the U. S. Military Academy, class of 1924.

General and Mrs. Glasgow were honored at a retreat parade and review at Oakland Army base Friday, followed by a reception in the OAB Officers club. The general served in the Pacific in World War II, and served five years at Army headquarters in Washington before taking command of the Port in March 1953.

General Van Wyk, who commanded the Port previously during the period December 1952 to March 1953, is a veteran Transportation officer. Both he and General Glasgow have sons who were graduated from West Point, class of 1953.

More POW Awards!

About two dozen more former prisoners of war from the Korean conflict soon will be decorated by the Army for outstanding conduct while POWs. The awards will be either Bronze Star medals or Commendation Ribbons. A group of six Army former POWs was honored similarly about six months ago and awards for about 40 more are still pending in the JAG office.

Army Volunteers Undergo 24-Day Food Ration Test

Minneapolis, Minn (AFPS)—Twelve enlisted men and one officer from the Army Quartermaster Research and Development Unit at Ft. Lee, Va., are now engaged in a test of emergency foods that would sustain a body of men for two weeks.

Since July 9 the 13 volunteers have been undergoing special experiments at the University of Minnesota. These tests are expected to last at least 24 days.

The soldiers are getting only starched jelly bars for food, the emergency ration the Army would issue to survivors ditched in Alaska who would have to walk home.

The men arrived at the university June 15 and immediately undertook a three-week diet of "C" rations. The meal consisted of canned meats, desserts, cookies, crackers and powdered milk, coffee and cocoa.

Dr. Ansel Keys of the University of Minnesota's physiological hygiene laboratory, describes the "C" ration menu, consisting of 3800 calories a day, as "nutritionally adequate."

Unified At Last! All Services Officially Adopt First Standard Field Ration

Washington (AFPS)—The first unified field ration has been officially adopted by the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

Developed jointly by the four services, the Armed Forces Standard B Ration consists of 111 canned, dehydrated and other types of non-perishable food items. It is designed for field kitchen facilities where refrigeration is not available. It covers three meals a day for 15 days.

It will replace the present B Ration of the Army and Air Force and the B-type rations of the Navy and Marine Corps. Where refrigeration is available, each service will continue to serve its present A-type rations, which include fresh foods.

One of the major innovations in the new ration is the use of canned solid meats, instead of combination meat and vegetable items. Another new feature is the desserts, which include pastries, cakes and cookies.

The new ration will be issued as stocks of the present rations are exhausted. Following is a typical day's menu selected from the menu guide accompanying the ration:

- BREAKFAST
- Citrus juice
Grilled sausage
Corn-meal griddle cakes
Maple syrup
Bread
Margarine
Jam
Coffee
- DINNER
- Vegetable soup
Crackers
Tomato chile meat sauce and macaroni w/grated cheese
Buttered green lima beans
Bread
Margarine
Rich oatmeal bars
Ice cream
Coffee
- SUPPER
- Grilled franks w/sauerkraut
Mustard
Mashed potatoes
Buttered peas
Bread
Margarine
Peanut butter
Pineapple upsidedown cake
Coffee
Hot cocoa

Presidio Review Honors Famed Third Infantry Division at 35th Reunion

Members of the Society of the Third Infantry Division, holding their 35th annual reunion at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco were honored with a parade and review yesterday at the Presidio of San Francisco.

More than 1000 Presidio troops, led by the Sixth Army Band, passed in review before the division which earned its nickname, "Rock of the Marne," in France in World War I, fought in 10 campaigns against the Germans and Italians in World War II, and fought in Korea from the fall of 1950 until the signing of the Armistice in July 1953.

Representing the Department of the Army at the three-day meeting was Chaplain (Maj. Gen.) Patrick J. Ryan, Army Chief of Chaplains and Third Division Chaplain in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

Other highlights of the reunion included a special showing of wartime drawings by the celebrated combat artist, George Biddle, at the DeYoung Museum, a Hawaiian jamboree today and a final banquet and installation of new officers tomorrow. The San Francisco Municipal Band will also present a half-hour concert in Union Square in honor of the Division at 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

Although the history of the separate regiments of the Division extend back to the 18th century, it was in World War I that they first fought under the battle flag of the Third. Following its service in France and brief occupation service it returned to the United States with the 30th Infantry Regiment ordered to duty at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Prior to the entry of the United States in World War II the division was streamlined with the 38th Infantry lost and the artillery units changed. The 15th Infantry Regiment returned from its long stay in China and the "new" Third, composed of the 7th, 15th and 30th Infantry Regiments with its four artillery battalions and separate units prepared for its entry into battle against the Germans.

The division landed in North Africa on the first D-Day invasion against the Germans on November 8, 1942 and within three days had captured Casablanca. It saw brief action in Tunisia and then, under command of Maj. Gen. (later Lt. Gen.) Lucien K. Truscott, Jr., participated in its second D-Day, landing in Sicily on July 10, 1943. Within the next 38 days it had overrun much of Sicily and captured Palermo and Messina.

Shortly after the invasion of Salerno the Division was ordered to Italy, arrived there in mid-September 1943 and in 67 days fought to the walls of Cassino. It then returned to the Naples area for more amphibious training and on the morning of January 22, 1944, made its third major invasion, landing south of Rome near the town of Anzio. Four months from the date of its landing at Anzio the division, now commanded by Brig. Gen. John W. "Iron Mike" O'Daniel (presently the top American officer in Indo-China) spearheaded the breakout from Anzio and entered Rome on June 4, 1944, the day before the Normandy landings.

On August 15, 1944, the Division made its fourth and last invasion, landing on the Riviera beach near the French resort town of San Tropez. It moved with lightning speed up the Rhone Valley and within a month was fighting in the hitherto considered impregnable Vosges Mountains. By the middle of February 1945, with no halts for rest, it had led the Seventh Army into Strasbourg and then turned south to reduce the Colmar Pocket. For its exploits in France and for its reduction of the Colmar Pocket it became the first infantry division in Europe to receive the Presidential Distinguished Unit Citation and was awarded the Croix de Guerre by the French Government.

After a brief breather it returned to combat, this time with the mission of breaking through the Siegfried Line near Zweibrücken, Germany, on March 15, 1945. This mission accomplished, it raced to the Rhine, crossing that river late in March and moved on to capture Nuremberg, participated in the capture of Munich and, finally, early in May, to capture Salzburg and Berchtesgaden. On May 5, 1945, General O'Daniel accepted the surrender of the commander of German Army Group G to end the war in that part of Europe.

The division returned to the United States in the summer of 1946 and was reduced to a handful of men at Fort Campbell, Ky. But in 1948 it was reorganized at Fort Benning, Ga. Two years later, the 65th Infantry Regiment from Puerto Rico replacing the 7th Infantry returned to war, this time in Korea.

First great and dangerous mission of the Division in Korea as the holding of the beachhead at Hungnam so that American troops, trapped by the Chinese Communists after their drive to the Yalu, could be evacuated. The Division then led the second great drive north across the 38th parallel and under command of the late Maj. Gen. Robert H. Soule entered Seoul in March 1951, and established a defense line across the traditional invasion corridor from the north. From that time until the signing of the armistice agreement the Division fought on all fronts in Korea. Just prior to the armistice signing it successfully halted the last great Communist offensive aimed at capturing a vital lateral supply line.

During World War II the Third Infantry Division suffered more casualties than any other American infantry division, fought in 10 campaigns in the North African, Mediterranean and European Theaters and won approximately one-fourth of the Medals of Honor awarded during the entire war.

Ladies to Meet

A "get-acquainted" buffet luncheon for NCO wives of the Presidio and its sub-posts will be held Thursday (22 July) at 1300 hours in the Presidio NCO annex. Purpose of the get-together will be to map plans for a future organization among the women whose husbands are members of the club annexes which are located on the Presidio, at Fort Scott and at Fort Cronkhite. Recently, these three NCO clubs consolidated their operations under a single program with each club becoming an annex. M/Sgt. Joseph San Nicholas has been named secretary-treasurer of the organization and each club has assigned its own steward.

More Voices Needed For Newly Organized Presidio Men's Chorus

More voices are urgently needed to fill out the newly organized Presidio Servicemen's chorus. The chorus meets twice weekly, Tuesday and Thursday, from 1400 to 1630 hours, and those desiring to sing with the group, will be authorized to attend the rehearsals on duty time. Held in the Presidio Service club, rehearsals are directed by Cpl. Lewis Thompson, himself a major of choral music at Bethany college, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and who has directed civilian church choirs in St. Louis, Missouri, LaFayette Church of the Nazarene, Fort Scott Children's choir and the 30th Engineer Group choir. Further details may be obtained at the Post Special Services office, Ext. 2002 or 3637.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE
Friday, 16 July—"Never Wave at a Wac," with Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas.
Saturday, 17 July—"Sins of Rome," with Massion Girotti and Ludmilla Tcherina.
Sunday, 18 July—"Her 12 Men," with Greer Garson, Robert Ryan and Barry Sullivan.
Monday, 19 July—"Home of the Brave," with Arthur Kennedy and Marilyn Maxwell.
Tuesday, 20 July—"Project M-7," with Phyllis Calvert and James Donald.
Wednesday, 21 July and Thursday, 22 July—"Apache," with Burt Lancaster.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE
Friday, 16 July—"Sins of Rome," with Massion Girotti and Ludmilla Tcherina.
Saturday, 17 July—"Her 12 Men," with Greer Garson, Robert Ryan and Barry Sullivan.
Sunday, 18 July—"Never Wave at a Wac," with Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas.
Tuesday, 20 July—"Apache," with Burt Lancaster.

FORT BAKER THEATRE
Friday, 16 July—"Magnificent Obsession," with Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson.
Monday, 19 July—"Never Wave at a Wac," with Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas.
Wednesday, 21 July—"Cross Swords," with Errol Flynn and Gina Lollobrigida.

FORT BARRY THEATRE
Sunday, 18 July—"Apache" with Burt Lancaster.
Tuesday, 20 July—"Never Wave at a Wac," with Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas.
Thursday, 22 July—"Cross Swords," with Errol Flynn and Gina Lollobrigida.

LETTERMAN THEATRE
Friday, 16 July—"Above and Beyond," with Robert Taylor and Eleanore Parker.
Saturday, 17 July—"Never Wave at a Wac," with Rosalind Russell and Paul Douglas.
Sunday, 18 July and Monday, 19 July—"Magnificent Obsession," with Jane Wyman and Rock Hudson.
Tuesday, 20 July—"Sins of Rome," with Massion Girotti and Ludmilla Tcherina.
Wednesday, 21 July—"Project M-7," with Phyllis Calvert and James Donald.
Thursday, 22 July—"Her 12 Men," with Greer Garson, Robert Ryan and Barry Sullivan.

CAKE CEREMONY marking the local Service Club's fifth anniversary of serving Presidio military personnel was attended by representatives of the company. Left to right are, Cpl. Luther Price, A Company, 505th MP Battalion, "Soldier of the Month" for June; Marine Pfc. James Vanderberg, S. F. Marine Corps Depot; Presidio WAC Sgt. Julian Kite; Air Force's A-3 Ioannis Giannakopoulos; Sailor ET-SN Allan Kuhn, Treasure Island, and Presidio Acting Special Services Officer 1/Lt. Monroe G. Thomas. (Army Photo.)

Awards Galore! Overflow Crowd Celebrates Fifth Year for Service Club

Playing to a standing room only audience, the Sixth Army Band Combo opened the 5th Anniversary Birthday Party festivities of the Presidio Service Club last Sunday, the 11th of July.

In attendance were Colonel William F. Magill, Deputy Post Commander, and Colonel Carl T. Schmidt, representative from the Chief of Staff Office. Both remarked as to how great the need for the Club is and wished it many more birthdays.

1st Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Acting Special Services Officer, then presented awards to the civilian volunteers who have given so unselfishly of their time in helping the Club's activities.

For aiding in distributing tickets to servicemen in the last year, awards were given to Mr. Spencer Barefoot, Mr. Reynolds Barbieri, Mr. Howard Skinner, Mr. William Skafedy, Mr. George Campbell, and Miss Elaine Erman.

Hilda Braden was commended for presenting a high calibre service show every month since the Service Club began five years ago.

Mrs. Ruby Colton, Chairman of the Jewish Welfare Board Committee, was given a certificate for bringing the popular "Night in Reno" and "Bingo Party" to the men. The club also is responsible for the monthly birthday party.

An award was bestowed on Mrs. Elizabeth Holloway, Director of the Holloway Players, for giving such stage hits as "Dear Ruth" and "Kiss and Tell" in the past year.

The group of women who organize new hostesses and chaperone them to the weekly Post Square Dance were presented certificates. They are, Mrs. Magnel Schneider, Mrs. Ann Caveny, Miss Susan Sveda, and Miss Leone Robertson.

Lastly, awards were conferred on Miss Joan Wentz, Miss Sylvia Granow, and Miss Ruth Mulcahy, of the American Women's Volunteer Association, who weekly assist in clerical work for the club and attend the information desk.

End of the presentations signaled the Anniversary Show—"Braden Follies"—to begin. Featuring such talents as Miss Valerie Carter, soprano, and Diana and Joe Bondanza, pantomime, the Follies merited enthusiastic applause by the packed house.

A Cake Cutting Ceremony followed with representatives of each of the Armed Services on hand to take sabre cuts from the huge triple decked cake.

Let's Go Hiking!
A field trip within the limits of the Presidio is being planned, to get underway from the Presidio Service club at 1800 hours Monday. Miss Maryellen Pearson, assistant Service club director, will accompany the group, and equipment may include cameras, sketch pads and pencils, and energy. Food and refreshments will be served upon return to the Service club.

New Arrivals
Births to personnel at the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:
Daughters to:
7 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Boyd B. English, Co. B, 505th MP Bn., PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Sidney G. Entin, Hq. Det., 30th Engr. Gp. (Topo Serv.), Ft. Scott, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. John E. Jordan, 566th Oper. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Jack Knudson, 22nd Army Band, Ft. Mason, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. William E. Webb, Patient on B-1, LAH, SFC.
8 July: Pfc. and Mrs. William Mizelle, Ft. Funston, Calif.; A/1C and Mrs. Norman Smith, 84th Ftr. Intep. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
9 July: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Norman H. Roderick, 9206 TSU TC, Hq. and TC Det., Ft. Mason, Calif.
10 July: Pvt. and Mrs. Raymond L. Drew, 9956 TSU, SGO, LAH, PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Michael C. Hanly, 30th Engr. Gp. (Topo Survey), PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. Hanson D. Hong, Hq. Btry., 5th AAA Gp., Camp Hanford, Wash.; Capt. and Mrs. David E. Johnson, 9956 TUS, SGO, LAH, PSFC.
11 July: A/3C and Mrs. Edward A. Hallett, Co. C, 820th Av. Engr. Bn., Beale AFB, Calif.
Sons to:
6 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Farrell Riley, Det. 1, 6002 SU PSFC.
7 July: Sfc. and Mrs. Daniel L. King, B Btry., 752nd AAA Gun Bn., OAB, Calif.
8 July: Capt. and Mrs. Richard S. Munger, 9956 TSU SGO, LAH, PSFC; Sfc. and Mrs. Joseph P. Spencer, 359th Engr. Det. (Unit.) PSFC.
9 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Edward M. Monk, Co. B, 505th MP Bn., PSFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Robert J. Schimek, Hq. Det. 660th Engr. Bn., Ft. Mason, Calif.
10 July: Lt. JG and Mrs. William E. Merritt, US Naval Shipyard, SF, Calif.
11 July: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Albert Q. Rodriguez, 6000 SU, PSFC; Lt. and Mrs. James O. Skelton, Hqs., 46th Ord. Gp., PSFC.

Units of the Army's Fourth Infantry Division—the Ivy Division—were the first on the beaches of Normandy on D-Day, June 6, 1944.

Violin and Piano Concert Planned By Bagpipe Pair

Two talented musicians, currently pipers with the Sixth Army Bagpipe band, will appear in a joint recital at the Presidio Service club Wednesday (21 July) at 2015 hours.

The men are Cpl. Robert Groth, violinist, and Pfc. Robert Wright, pianist, and they will present a program of classical selections. The recital is open to all interested personnel.

Cpl. Groth began his study of the violin at the age of seven. During his youth in Portland, Oregon, he was a member of the Portland Junior symphony and Chamber Music ensemble, and appeared in several recitals for two violins.

He earned his BA in music at the University of Oregon and was assistant concertmaster and soloist with the University Symphony. He has also appeared on numerous radio programs and has played with a variety of chamber groups. Following his discharge from the Army, Cpl. Groth will return to the University of Oregon as a graduate assistant in the school of music.

His selections, which will feature Pfc. Wright as accompanist, include:

Incorde in G. Minor, OP 26...Bruch
Adagio
Allegro Energico
Nocturne in E Flat, Op. 9 No. 2...Chopin
Nigun (Improvisation)...Bloch
Scherzo-Tarantelle...Wieniawski

Pfc. Wright, who was born in Pasadena, California, began his piano studies when he was eight years old. In his early years he studied with Lee Pattison of the piano team of Maier and Pattison.

After high school, Pfc. Wright studied at the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston where his tutor was Howard Godin, present head of the piano department there. He soloed with the Conservatory orchestra, gave numerous recitals, and received his BA in music there in June 1953. When discharged from the Army in September he plans to return to the Conservatory for graduate work leading to an MA in piano.

Pfc. Wright's portion of the program will include:

Chromatic Fantasy in D Minor...Bach
32 Variations in C Minor...Beethoven
Arabesque...Schumann
Suite, Opus 14...Bartok
Allegro Molto
Sostenuto
Toccata...Poulenc

BOOK CORNER

Summertime always provides more leisure hours for such hobbies as reading, and the shelves of the Sixth Army Reference library are filled with fascinating new books on every subject. These books, if not available at your local library, may be borrowed from the Reference library for a two-week period.

"GENERAL DEAN'S STORY," by Major General William F. Dean as told to W. L. Worden. In a recent review of the book it was stated, "detailed reports on such matters as the rude discipline of Immun Gun, enemy maintenance methods under our air bombings, living standards in North Korea and Communist indoctrination procedures composes the best-informed view of the enemy camp to come from the war."

"FROM THE DANUBE TO THE YALU," By M. W. Clark. A forceful account by this retired general of his year as commander-in-chief in the final phase of the Korean conflict and of his previous contacts with the Russians.

"PROGRAM BUDGETING," by F. C. Mosher. Theory and practice of same with particular reference to the Department of the Army.

"FRIEND OR FOE?" by Oreste Pinto. A Dutch counter-intelligence officer in England continuing the record of his work begun in "Spy-Catcher," describes his experiences in separating spies from the mass of refugees who poured into England during World War II, and gives details of seven of his most baffling cases.

"ROCKET PROPULSION," by Eric Burgess. Material collated by this British writer from various lectures which help provide a link between the highly technical and the popular literature on the subject of rocket propulsion, "an introduction to the idea of interplanetary travel."

"KESSLERLING," by Albert Kessler. A soldier's record by this top-ranking German officer, of his version of the German cause during World War II and the facts of the war as they appeared to him in his military capacity.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 16 July—Horse racing, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 17 July—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 18 July—California Varieties stage show, 2000.

Monday, 19 July—Outdoor excursion for painting, sketching, photography, etc., leaving club at 1800; coffee hour and guitar and ukelele instructions, 2000. Crafts room open.

Tuesday, 20 July—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 21 July—Wright-Groth violin and piano recital, and pinoche and scrabble tournament, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 22 July—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 16 July—Tournament night, 2000.

Saturday, 17 July—Raid the Icebox, 2000.

Sunday, 18 July—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; stage show, 2000.

Monday, 19 July—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 2000.

Tuesday, 20 July—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 21 July—Drama group meeting, 2000.

Thursday, 22 July—Square dance, 2000.

12-0 Shut-Out

21st Engineers Lead League Softball With Two More Wins

The league-leading 21st Engineer softballers picked up a duo of wins recently over two cellar-dwellers of Post intramural play.

On Thursday of last week 21st hurler Cobb clamped the 16th Base Post Office crew 12-0, and this Tuesday lifted a default victory from the Fort Baker-based C Company, 505th MPs.

Lt. Col. Hilton Densley and Catch

Presidio Angler Hooks Big Salmon In Recent Outing

A record 46-pound salmon was caught off the Farralones by Presidio's Colonel Hilton Densley recently off a "Q" boat, one of the craft available to Post soldiers and their guests under the local Harbor Craft Recreational Program.

The catch was only one of many limits taken by men and women on the same trip with the Colonel.

Conditions for the trip were perfect, reported Colonel Hensley later. The day was warm and sunny, the water calm and black—circumstances favored by the feeding salmon.

It took the colonel a good thirty minutes to land the giant and would have required longer had it not been for the valuable assistance of the boat's skipper, Sfc. Guy T. Long, Harbor Craft Section, Post Transportation, who helped on the final gaffing and decking of the fish.

Colonel Densley has whipped freshwater in most of the Western States, and Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Oklahoma, and has been out of the Golden Gate in Presidio craft about five times before.

His 46-pounder sets a new weight record for fish taken on Army craft. The previous high was held by Lt. Colonel Joseph Swing, former Commanding General Sixth, Army, who was credited with a 35-pounder.

The Army and Air Force consume approximately 2,000,000 (M) pounds of butter or oleomargarine a month.

Against the postmen it was engineers Jackson and Ditto who powered the winners at bat with three blows apiece.

Detachment 1, 6002 SU, went to their ninth win of the season this week registering 5-2 against the 39th Engineers. Dav Scott fired for the winners, pitching a total of 12 strikeouts.

Deuce's first baseman Jones had an auspicious day at bat, which included a sixth inning round-tripper. George Renaldo also hit well.

Headquarters Sixth Army picked up two more victories—these against the 315th Engineers and A Company, 505th.

Hurler Brown opposed 315th moundsman Perez in the first one. The winners, powered by Pinnick and Pico—the latter took all of five strolls to first, earning five RBIs—blasted the boatmen for six runs in the second and six in the third, Pinnick homering to unsack three others and help produce the final 21-8.

It was tighter against the A Company police. Brown, shortstop Drew, basemen Pico, Sorentino and Thompson, played the best defensive ball of the year against the hard swinging MPs, holding them 2-0.

The winners' two markers were scored by Pico, who connected for a hard single to score Thompson and Kono.

On Wednesday of last week the third-place 30th Engineer Group's pitcher George Hammond and company blasted the Hill Toppers for 18 hits, allowing only three, to lambast the unfortunates 14-0.

The engineers opened strong in the first, second and third brackets, powered by homerun batters Beasley, Engle and Wilson.

Team	W	L
21st Engineer	9	1
Detachment 1	9	2
HQ 30th Engineers	9	3
B Company, 505th MP	7	4
9th AAA	6	4
315th Engineers	5	4
HQ, 6th Army	6	5
102d MRU	5	5
Hill Toppers	4	6
A Company, 505th MP	3	8
99th Engineers	2	7
16th BPO	1	8
C Company, 505th MP	0	9

Three Swimmers Set To Represent Presidio In Coming All-Sixth

Three Presidio soldiers signed on for membership in the Post swimming team in a meeting held last Thursday at the Special Services Office.

Those desirous of entering All-Sixth Army competition slated for Fort Ord, 12-13 August, included 2nd/Lt. Richard Ehni, Company A, 505th Military Police Battalion; Pvt. Patrick O'Daly, Headquarters, 30th Engineer Group, and Pvt. Arnold Vanderbert, also of the 30th.

It was determined at the time of the meeting that no Post meet will be held due to lack of competitors.

Lt. Ehni will be player-coach and will train the team weekdays at the Letterman Army Hospital pool.

Lt. Colonel Arthur W. Gustafson

New Special Service Chief Has Solid Sports Background

Lt. Colonel Arthur W. Gustafson, AGC, has been named to succeed Lt. Colonel Eugene Bogard as Special Services Officer, Sixth Army, it was announced by Headquarters this week.

Colonel Gustafson, a native of the Bay Area, has had a wide background in sports and special services activities in and out of the Army for many years.

As a student at Oakland High School "Snowy" Gustafson, as he was known then and still is referred to in sporting circles, was All-City Fullback and Center.

He played basketball, football and baseball for Oregon State from 1928-33, and played on the PCC Basketball Championship team there in 1933.

Entering the Army in 1941 out of the Reserves, he served successively as Athletic Officer of Division and Post with the Fort Ord Seventh Division; Athletic and Special Services Officer for the Middle East; Special Services Officer for Ground Force Reinforcement Command in London; Special Services Officer, V Corps, Fort Jackson, S. C.; Special Services Officer, United States Military Academy, West Point; Presidio Special Services Officer, 1950; Eighth Army Special Services Officer, Fecom, and with the Special Services staff in the Pentagon.

At Fort Ord he coached one of the most famous service grid teams in history, and engineered games before 40,000 and 60,000 persons here at Kezar and at Los Angeles in the Coliseum.

At Fort Jackson he coached what was considered to be the best-playing ball club in the country, while at the Point he mentored the enlisted men's teams.

With Eighth Army in Fecom he qualified several men for the last Olympics in both track and boxing.

His ribbons include the Legion of Merit and Commendation Ribbon; five battle stars with the European Theater Ribbon and four battle stars with the Korean Service Ribbon, Presidential Unit Citation and the Korean Legion of Merit.

Rifle Shoot!

The Middle Atlantic National Rifle Assn. Regional High-Power Rifle Championships will be held at Ft. Meade, Md., July 23-25.

Third-Place Victors!

Presidians Blast Hamilton AB In Loop Tilt; Jeffersons Win

"Rookie" Hank Monroe of the Presidio Red Raiders once more demonstrated how inapt was his nickname when he followed his expert 6-0 shut-out over the Oriskany crew with a tightly-played 8-7 decision over the hot-stuff Bay Area Armed Forces League Hamilton AFB nine last Thursday.

The Presidio soldiers were being edged by two markers all the way into the eighth inning when big Ed Jacobsen cracked a single to score Texan Johnny Ethridge and tie the ball game.

It was then Ken Klopp's deciding blow which scored Jacobsen for the winning tally.

Klopp, with over .518 percent at bat to date, took highest honors again with four hits for five appearances, one of which was his fifth homer of the year.

He was backed by Johnny Ethridge, with three hits, and Jacobsen, who tagged two, one of them his fourth roundtripper of the season.

Big gun for the Hamiltonians was George Stamp, who clipped a bleacher-marked blow for the air-men's fifth inning rally against the Raiders.

It was Hank Monroe's fifth win of the year. He limited the Defenders to six hits, fanning four.

The local garrison team meets Treasure Island here today at 1600 hours in another loop mix. On Sunday they tackle the Oakland Army Base nine at 1330, also at home.

The soldiers lost an error-ridden game to the San Francisco Jeffersons last Sunday, 11-9, utilizing four pitchers—two of them untried.

Ken Klopp started, allowing two hits. He was followed by Bob Car-

Gavigan, WACs, Blast Hamiltonians 12-0 in 7th Victory

Pitcher Ruth Gavigan and catcher Dolores Argue of the Presidio WAC softball team finished their best effort of the season this Wednesday, having blanked the Hamilton AFB WAFs 12-0 on home-grounds.

The local femmes grabbed a hefty 7-0 lead in the first inning, and allowed only one error during the entire defensive game to keep the WAFs scoreless for the afternoon.

Power-laden Dee Nordstrom sparked the local bats with a home run and single. Thompson connected for two base hits off air-woman Northrup and stole a pair of bases.

Other hits were collected by Long, Kite and Vieira.

Team	W	L
Alameda	8	1
PRESIDIO	7	2
Parks AFB	6	3
SF Marines	5	4
Hamilton	5	5
Oak Knoll	2	6
Fort Mason	2	6

Services Represented

Lt. Joseph Conrad of Lackland AFB, Tex., has been named by the U. S. Golf Assn. to the seven-man team of amateurs who will compete against Canada and Mexico for the biennial Americas Cup Competition at London, Ont., Aug. 12-13. Army Pvt. Ken Venturi California champion, was selected as an alternate.

ter, of the Presidio golf team, who hurled three brackets and allowed one marker.

Dexter Cochran of Detachment A and regular Hank Monroe finished off.

Biggest guns for the local club were Bert Fowler and Johnny Ethridge, with two hits apiece.

The Raiders meet Treasure Island here today at 1600 hours in a loop tilt. On Sunday they tackle the Oakland Army Base in a practice game, 1330 hours, also at home.

Team	W	L
Alameda	14	2
Parks	14	2
Presidio	10	5
Hamilton	9	7
USS Oriskany	6	7
Moffett Field	5	11
SF Marines	1	13
Treasure Island	1	14

Deuce Team Nabs National Top; 56th MRU Leads East

Detachment 1, number one, team bowlers went to the top of the National Bowling League this week with 16 straight victories behind them and a 24-12 win-loss total. Most recent win came over the 102d MRU keggers, 4-0. Evans powered the winners with a 168 average, 221 high. Recordsman Williams scored 145, 162.

The Compt-Rollers split three lines 2-2 with the Sixth Army Engineers. Roller Morgan pinned 163, 173 to help force the Engineers into the loop's second place spot. Builder Pilkington totaled 157, 191.

16th BPO reversed last week's loss by pounding HQ Co. 6th Army 3-1. Mailman Weilgus rolled 160 average and 188 high game. HQ was powered by Yoshida's 178, 190.

6513th SU changed places with the Maroos at the bottom of the league ladder by winning 4-0. SU's Horder bowled 164 average and 191 high, followed by loser Bryant's 170, 193.

It was a week for sweep victories in the Eastern League. 56th MRU took HQ 6th Army G-2 to the wall 4-0 led by Jacobsen's average 151, high game 188. Defeated Fischer rolled 142, 188.

Slow Rollers came up from under last week's loss to scorch the Keystone Kops 4-0. Roller Thorne pinned 159 average, 193 high and Kop Johnson turned in 157, 201.

Detachment No. 1, 6002 No. 2, slammed the Baker MPs to the tune of 4-0 led by Morgan's 159 average and 218 high game. Constable Gallo racked up 170, 236.

NATIONAL
Team	Win	Loss
Det. 1, 6002 SU No. 1	24	12
Eng. Sec. 6th Army	23	13
102d MRU	20	16
16th BPO	18½	17½
HQ Co. 6th Army	18½	17½
Compt-Rollers	18	18
6513th SU	13	23
Maroos	9	27
EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	24½	11½
Det. No. 1, 6002 No. 2	21½	14½
Slow Rollers	20	16
Co. B 505th MP Bn.	19	17
300 ASU	17	15
Keystone Kops	13	19
HQ 6th Army G-2	13	23

Sixth Army Golf Champion Will Be Found Today

Local Tom Ward Leads First Two Days for Seniors

Lt. Colonel Tom Ward, representing the Presidio in Sixth Army Senior golf, was in a fair way to whipping defending champ Colonel Wiley O'Mohundro and the entire Senior field hands down following the first two rounds this week.

Colonel Ward, stroked a medalist's 82 in Tuesday's play, and repeated the performance on Wednesday, netting a slim 164 for two days' work.

O'Mohundro, Two-Rock Ranch delegate, racked up 85 the first day, then blew 94 the second, totaling 179, a bracket in which he had two for company: Captain Lawrence Rinehart of Camp Stoneman, 87, 92, 179, and Fort MacArthur's Colonel J. A. Castillo, 91, 88, 179.

Other Senior Division cards turned in Wednesday night included Fort Huachuca's Lt. Colonel Russell Jernigan, 88, 92, 180; Fort MacArthur's Lt. Colonel Forrest King, 89, 96, 185; Colonel Edward Schmitt, 84, 96, 190; Fort Ord's Major Shirley Thomas, 90, 102, 192; Alaska Communications System's CWO Ralph Rush, 97, 99, 196, and Arizona Military District's Colonel Augustine Dugan, 106, 109, 215.

DEFENDING SENIOR Colonel Wiley O'Mohundro was on hand once more this year. He fired an 85 his first day to second Presidio's Tom Ward for Senior Medalist honors. Both golfers were awarded trophies for their first day's play. (Gutierrez.)

Meade Mound Whiz

Lefty Jim Archer of the Ft. Meade, Md., baseball team looks like a good prospect for the majors. In winning his fifth straight for the Generals, Archer hurled a no-hit, no-run game against the Cherry Point, N. C., Marines. He fanned 11 and walked three. Although Archer was given a tryout by the Pittsburgh Pirates he's a free agent. His discharge comes in December.

Ex-Gob Turns Pro

John Skicko, a 217-pound end who played for Southern California, has been signed by the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League. Skicko played Service ball at the San Diego Naval Training Center, Calif.

EARLY FINISHERS on Tuesday were members of the first threesome, left to right, Pvt. Robert Whisman, Fort Lewis Headquarters, Pfc. Dick Yost, Presidio, and Pvt. Bob McCallister, Fort Ord, shown here holing out on the ninth green. Whisman, coming in here with a two-over par 38, chopped four strokes off the back

nine par and finished the day with a trim two-under 70, which was good enough for medalist honors. Playing mates McCallister and Yost finished with 75's to place them among the top four. (Army Photo by Gutierrez.)

Ord, Presidio Lead in Two Rounds; Whisman of Fort Lewis Heads Field

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

A strong Fort Ord contingent swept the golfing field with a slim 767-point total in the first two rounds of the Sixth Army Golf Championship here Tuesday and Wednesday to grab a lead of 29 points over second-place Presidio of San Francisco.

The results echoed last year's play, in that the 1953 results showed the tough Camp Roberts crew leading by 778, 11 strokes over this year's.

Trailing were Headquarters, Fort Lewis, with 811, and Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, 830.

A record 11 teams and still more individual competition made every stroke a crucial one.

Mixed Bowling League Produces Two Shut Out Victories; Three Kings

The Mixed Bowling League had two shut out victories last week.

The first of these, 6th Army Ord's triumph over the Tag Indians 4-0, was led by D. MacDonald's 168 average and high game total of 234. Indian A. Rosenberg rolled a 139 average and 161 high.

Tag Lofters crumbled the 39ers 4-0 sparked by Tag Alexander who pinned 154 average and 202 high game. 39er Cabe bowled 134, 165.

D. MacDonald took triple honors this week by holding the men's high game score of 234, men's high series of 570, and men's high average of 168.

Women's high gamer was Fernandez with 170. Stewart took both the women's high series of 419, and the women's high average of 128.

STANDINGS
Team	Win	Loss
6th Army Ord	17	7
39ers	19	9
Tag Lofters	14	10
Tag Indians	8	20
No Names	6	18

Individual medalist after Tuesday's and Wednesday's cardings was a long-hitter representing fourth-place Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, was Bob Whisman, whose 38-32, 36-37, 143 total was better by six strokes than Presidio's own Post champion, Pfc. Dick Yost.

Yost finished Wednesday with a second place 38-37, 35-39, 149 total.

Individuals finishing among the top five scores included Whisman and Yost; Dick Runkle, Fort Ord, 38-38, 38-37, 151; Henry Glaister, Stanford (unaffiliated), 39-37, 37-38, 151; Bob Lursen, Headquarters Fort Lewis, 39-35, 40-38, 152; Bob McCallister, Fort Ord, 39-36, 39-38, 152, and Marvin Nischan, Headquarters, Fort Lewis, 39-37, 39-37, 152.

Membership on the leading Ord delegation included Runkle, McCallister, Ron Nichol, Scottish amateur champ, who stroked 39-38, 38-38, for 153; Addie Geiser, most consistent of the tournament golfers, with 39-39, 39-39, 156; Robert Wald, 42-38, 37-38, 157, and Frank Neimeyer, 42-39, 44-40, 165.

Chief of Staff Receives Marksmanship Trophy; 1954 Nationals Near

The Gold Cup Trophy, signifying championship in the National Trophy Team Match in nationwide pistol competition, in 1953, was formally presented to Army Chief of Staff General Matthew B. Ridgway in ceremonies held this week at the Pentagon.

The title was won last year at Camp Perry, Ohio, by the Army pistol team.

The presentation was made to General Ridgway by Lt. Colonel Ellis Lea, of Fort Benning, Ga., Captain of the four-man Army team which scored 1103 points out of 1200.

The Army's 1954 rifle and pistol teams, selected in the first annual All-Army Rifle and Pistol Championships at Fort Benning last week, went into training this week for the national matches starting at Camp Perry next month.

Presidio golfers in support of Yost included Colonel Peter Peters, 39-36, 43-39, 157; Captain Rollin Kapp, 39-37, 51-43, 170; Bob Carter, 38-40, 42-37, 157; Pfc. Ray Steelsmith, 40-39, 39-37, 155; Bill Hawley, 45-43, 40-40, 168.

Whisman's low 70, which won him medalist honors on Tuesday, was two under course par of 72. Bob Lursen of Headquarters, Fort Lewis, netted 74 for second place, but lost his advantage on Wednesday when he stroked a fat 78 for a 152 total.

Yost, whose 75 on Tuesday matched Bob McCallister of Ord and Peter Peters of the Presidio, chopped three strokes off his front nine and added two on his back, still playing a good steady game, to snatch a close second by Wednesday.

Tournament Participants Feted at Golf Banquet Night Before First Play

An official culinary welcome was given the 87-odd golfers participating in the Sixth Army tournament Monday night at a banquet at the El Portal Restaurant in San Francisco.

Top Post and Sixth Army Special Services were on hand to give the visiting divoteers a send-off on tourney play starting the following morning.

Major Emmett Townsend, Sixth Army Sports Officer, revealed the awards going to the winners in the current test and spoke of the All-Army trip back to Woodmont Country Club, Rockville, Md., awaiting the five low golfers.

Lt. Colonel Eugene D. Bogard, Sixth Army Special Services Officer, welcomed them on behalf of Army Headquarters.

Lt. Colonel Roger L. Bilewicz, S-1, and Lt. Colonel John E. Geiser, Post Executive Officer, welcomed the men on behalf of Post.

The evening was MC'd by 1/Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, tournament chairman.

Wind, Fog, Big Field Make Play Keenest in Years

Over eighty golfers from 19 installations in four states lined up on the Presidio Golf Course's first tee this morning for the final round of this year's Sixth Army Golf Tournament.

Beginning Tuesday of this week, the cream of the Area's golfers were on hand to shoot the 72-hole medal play route and aim for a place on the exclusive five-man team destined for All-Army competition 26-31 July at the Woodmont Country Club, Rockville, Md.

Outstanding older golfers were trying for one of two vacancies in the Senior Division finals which are being held in conjunction with the regular matches.

The visiting linksmen drove for much of this week into a blustery wind and moisture-laden fog, which on many holes obscured the line of sight from tee to pin.

Moreover early morning soggy-ness of the greens and an overactive sprinkler system made putting an unnerving, hit-or-miss affair.

In spite of these difficulties, competition was keener this year than last, perhaps because there were 30 more participants and a number more installations represented than last.

Coming off Tuesday's first round all of fifteen had scored 79 or under, the lowest card belonging to Bob Whisman, a long-hitter from Fort Lewis, who wrote himself a two-under 38-32, 70 for the first day's play.

In contrast, only seven of last year's leaders were in the 79-or-under bracket, and medalist honors went to Presidio's George De Rosia for his two-over-par, 74.

Following today's final round, which should be completed by 1500 hours this afternoon, aggregate scores will be computed and trophies and medals disbursed to the low golfers.

Full details of this week's tourney and a preview of the All-Army test will be published in next week's Star-Presidian.

NEIGHBORING participant, Lewis Robinson of Letterman Army Hospital team fired a hefty 45-46, 91 for his first day's play. Medic golfer had trouble, like others, with fog, wind and mushy greens. (Gutierrez.)

ATTEND CONFERENCE—Meeting at the Presidio for orientation on latest military developments were, front row: 1 to r: Brig. Gen. James G. Devine, Brig. Gen. William T. Sexton, Lt. Gen. Willard G. Wyman, Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, Brig. Gen. C. Lyn Fox, Brig. Gen. John P. Willey. Second row: Brig. Gen. Stephen B. Elkins, Brig. Gen. Orland G. Hunt, Brig. Gen. William F. Weiler, Brig. Gen. Maxwell E. Rich, Brig. Gen. Henry K. Kellog, Maj. Gen. Edwin K. Wright. Third row: Brig. Gen. James T. Roberts, Maj. Gen. Robert F. Sink, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Swartz, Brig. Gen. Emi Lenzner, Brig. Gen. Charles F. White. Fourth row: Brig. Gen. James O. Gillespie, Brig. Gen. Frances M. Day, Brig. Gen. E. C. B. Danforth, Brig. Gen. Clifford F. Beyers. Top row: Brig. Gen. George S. Cook, Brig. Gen. Harry Van Wyk. (Photo by Brink.)

SECOND GROUP to attend the orientation conferences on latest military developments held for Army general officers at Sixth Army HQ were, first row: Brig. Gen. George P. Lynch, Brig. Gen. Lamar Tooze, Col. Dan Gilmore, Maj. Gen. Curtis D. O'Sullivan, Brig. Gen. Neil R. McKay. Second row: Brig. Gen. Richard G. Prather, Brig. Gen. W. E. Dunkelberg, Brig. Gen. Roy A. Green, Maj. Gen. Harold G. Maison. Third row: Brig. Gen. LeRoy H. Anderson, Brig. Gen. Harry T. Catler, Brig. Gen. Emery E. Alling, Brig. Gen. Wayne C. Bailey, Brig. Gen. Charles A. Ott, Jr. Fourth row: Col. J. H. Lynch, Lt. Col. Clarence C. DeReus, Lt. Col. J. C. Jeffries, Jr.

List New Army Regs To Aid Indefinites

Washington (AFPS)—Army EM who have served at least six years in an unspecified period of enlistment, and whose unconditional resignation has been accepted under Par. 3, AR 615-367, will be able to re-enlist in the Regular Army in grade. They must re-enlist within three months in order to retain the same grade they held at the date of separation.

EM who have served less than six years in an unspecified tour of enlistment will not be eligible for this privilege.

The new Army policy is contained in AR 615-367, C 2, dated June 11, 1954.

Delayed Medals

The House has before it a Delayed Medals bill (HR 9001), which may correct many injustices in the awarding of decorations to members of the Armed Forces. The bill provides that awards may be made without regard to time limits in cases where the medal has been held up or denied because of an administrative error. The Defense Department has put its support behind the bill.

K-Vet Re-employment

Korea veterans have 90 days following the date of discharge to apply for restoration to federal civil service lists from which they were dropped due to military service after June 30, 1950.

Re-Up Bonus Bill Should Get Approval

Washington (AFPS)—The House is expected to take prompt action on the Re-Enlistment Bonus bill (S 3539) passed by the Senate. The bill, which has the approval of both Pentagon and Congressional leaders, sets up a new formula for computing the amount paid for re-enlistment.

Instead of payments being based solely on the serviceman's term of re-enlistment, the new plan takes into consideration both his grade and the number of times he has re-enlisted previously. The largest bonus will go for his first re-enlistment.

This bill will probably become law before Congress adjourns.

Army Announces!

Resuming of Off Post Salute To Signify Mutual Respect

Chief of Staff, General Matthew B. Ridgway recently announced that on 1 September of this year, officers and enlisted men will revert to the traditional practice of saluting off military reservations. Exceptions to this will be when they meet on trains, buses, in public places such as theatres, or when a salute would be manifestly inappropriate or impractical.

Jump Course Okayed For TDY Off. Grads From Infantry School

Washington (AFPS)—Army officers attending the Infantry School on a TDY basis from units other than the XVIII Airborne Corps may take airborne training after completing successfully a course at the school.

Officers must be qualified for airborne training under the provisions of SR 600-160-5. Their applications must be submitted at least six weeks prior to the date of their graduation from the original course of instruction at the school.

Officers may apply through channels to The Adjutant General before departing from home station. If the officers apply after arriving at the Infantry School their parent unit will be queried before the application is forwarded to The Adjutant General.

Those accepted for airborne training will be placed in the first available jump class after their graduation from their original course of instruction.

The Army policy is contained in DA Cir. 64, dated June 11, 1954.

All Airborne Troops Eligible to Join New Fraternal Association

Fayetteville, N. C. (AFPS)—An association of airborne troopers has been incorporated here. More than a million men who served in the Army's airborne units during and since WWII will be eligible for membership.

The organization's purpose is to "unite fraternally and for mutual benefit, protection, improvement and association, former, present and future airborne troopers."

The new group, The Airborne Assn., Inc., was founded by five combat veterans representing each of the five airborne divisions—the 11th, 13th, 17th, 82nd and 101st.

The 13th and 17th were organized during WWII but no longer are active. The 101st is a training unit at Ft. Jackson, S. C., the 82nd has its home at Ft. Bragg, N. C., and the 11th is stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky.

Headquarters for the association will be in Fayetteville, near Ft. Bragg, "the home of the airborne."

Odd Hobby!

The U. S. Army Quartermaster Corps may have one of the strangest "hobbies" in this country today. At Philadelphia, the Corps maintains the world's largest collection of fungi known to attack military textiles and leather.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

(Third Class Mail)

Two Cents

Postage

Army Commander Urges AER Support

The joint Army Emergency Relief—Army Relief Society fund campaign will be held at the Presidio of San Francisco during the period, 23 July-31 August, 1954.

It has always been the Army's proud boast, frequently proven, that "The Army takes care of its own." Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society are agencies through which this spirit has been demonstrated and through which Army personnel and their dependents are provided financial assistance in cases of emergency. However, the expansion of the Army and the more frequent separation of soldiers from their families due to world-wide commitments have greatly increased the requirements for Army Emergency Relief and Army Relief Society aid. In 1953 alone, $2,258,796 was disbursed for assistance to over 22,300 active members of the Army and their families.

Your wholehearted support of this fund campaign will be a great contribution to the common welfare of the Army, and will enable the Army Emergency Relief and the Army Relief Society to continue their operations during this period of greatly increased demands. I urge each of you to help in making this campaign a success.

W. G. WYMAN,
Lieutenant General, U. S. Army,
Commanding.

Oldest Infantry Division Reunion Set for August

The Society of the First Division, composed of men who served in the Army's oldest infantry division in two world wars, has planned its annual reunion for Washington, D. C., August 20-22nd.

Guests of the Society will be the 1st Infantry Division's five best soldiers, winners of a competition held by the Division, which has been stationed in Germany since the end of World War II.

These five men, demonstrating the outstanding qualities of the American soldier, were chosen to represent the military at the gathering of the Division "alumni," after a series of competitions involving tests of military knowledge, tactics, history and current events.

In honor of the thousands of men killed in the Division in two wars, memorial services will be held at the First Division Monument next to the White House. Of special interest will be the fact that for the first time since World War II, the Monument is no longer obstructed by the temporary building erected to house the White House guard. This building, one of more than fifty such temporary buildings erected in the Nation's Capitol during World War II, was razed by the Government as a result of the Society's campaign to have the Monument restored to its original setting.

Among the many activities will be the presentation of a scholarship to a man now serving in the First Division, or a son or daughter of a man who has served in the unit. Judging will be based on an original essay, entitled, "Democracy's Role in a Divided World."

Finance Chief Soon To Be Placed Under Comptroller Office

The Office of the Army Chief of Finance will soon be placed under the direct supervision and control of the Comptroller of the Army, as part of a new plan for organization of the Army, it was announced this week.

Placing of the Chief of Finance under the Comptroller of the Army is part of a comprehensive plan for reorganization, announced recently by the Secretary of the Army, which is designed to bring about major improvements in the structure of the Army establishment. Approval has been given this initial step by the Ad Hoc Committee on the Secretary of the Army's plan for Army organization.

This committee includes Assistant Secretary of the Army (Financial Management) George H. Roderick, Lt. General Walter L. Weible, Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Administration; Lt. General George H. Detker, Comptroller of the Army, and Lt. General Williston B. Palmer, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4 (Logistics).

Up until now, the Chief of Finance has been under the direction of the Comptroller only for those functions for which the Comptroller has statutory responsibility. For all other functions, the Chief of Finance has been an independent staff agency. The office will now be directly responsible to the Comptroller in all matters.

In announcing this new organizational move, the Army stated that one of the objectives of the change is the broadening of career horizons for Finance Corps officers.

The Comptroller of the Army, under the direction and supervision of the Secretary of the Army, integrates the review and analysis of Army programs and formulates, coordinates and supervises accounting, fiscal, audit, budgetary, statistical and management engineering activities of the Army, including the supervision of legislative policies and programs pertaining to appropriation acts.

Assistant Secretary for Manpower, Reserves to Visit Sixth Army Area

Honorable Hugh M. Milton II, assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and Reserve forces, arrives at Camp Irwin, California, today to begin a six-day visit in the Sixth Army area. He will be accompanied by Lt. Colonel Wallace M. Hanes.

While here, he will inspect Reserve and National Guard training activities and other matters within the sphere of his responsibility.

His schedule on 28 and 29 July will include Hunter Liggett Military reservation, Headquarters Sixth Army, and Oakland Army base.

New Asst. Secretaries

Immediate House action on the bill to create two more assistant secretaries each for the Army, Navy and Air Force was held up last week when several representatives rose to point out that this would bring the total of top civilian aids in the Pentagon to 29. Now the bill will have to be brought up to the floor under regular procedures. It has already passed the Senate and is not expected to meet any concerted House opposition. The purpose of the bill is to insure complete civilian control of the defense establishment.

A DESIRE TO SEE all phases of actual operation within the Presidio Dental section prompted Major General Oscar P. Snyder, assistant to the Army Surgeon General and chief of the Army Dental Corps, to visit the oral surgery department while Major Merle Halberg and Miss Nina Kriloff administer to a patient. General Snyder has spent the past nine days visiting the Sixth Army area, and while on the Presidio, conferred with Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander. (Army photo by Hilmer)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 8

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 23 July, 1954

Summer Reserve Training Hits Peak; Over 5000 Troops at Hunter Liggett

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, Jolon, Calif. — United States Army Reservists, representing five major units from Northern and Southern California and Southern Oregon, began full-scale operations last week as more than 5,000 men moved into this military installation for their annual two-week summer encampment.

Several smaller support units from California, Oregon, Utah, Idaho and Arizona are attached to these units for their two-week bivouac training.

Two reserve infantry divisions set up their headquarters in separate bivouac areas during the week end and are currently undergoing intensified infantry training. The 63rd Infantry Division from the Los Angeles County area began its training with preliminary classroom work in preparation for their actual field problems later this week. Also giving short preliminary classroom exercises before going into the field work is the 91st Infantry Division from the Northern California Area.

The 311th Logistical Command, also from the Los Angeles area, and the 304th Log Command from Southern Oregon have set up their headquarters in the same bivouac area and are working closely together during their two-week stay. The 499th Engineer Brigade, from San Francisco, has several smaller units attached to it for summer training.

The 63rd Infantry Division, commanded by Brigadier General James T. Roberts, is composed of approximately 500 officers and 1000 enlisted men. The division was activated by General Roberts in 1947 as the 13th Armored Division and in 1952 was changed to its present status. This is the third straight year the "Blood and Fire" division has held its summer camp at Hunter Liggett. The reserve headquarters for the 63rd is at Fort MacArthur, Calif.

Northern California's largest reserve unit, the 91st Infantry Division, is commanded by Brigadier General C. Lyn Fox. Over 1300 reservists, including 400 officers, pitched camp here to transform their area into a complete tent city. The "Evergreen" division became an active reserve division in 1946 with units as far north as Redding and Fort Bragg, Calif., and as far south as Fresno. This is also the third consecutive year of training at Hunter Liggett for the 91st. The division with headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco, was reactivated in 1941 and saw action in Italy during World War II.

The 311th Logistical Command, with approximately 150 officers and 100 enlisted men, is commanded by Colonel Fernando C. Mencaccy. The unit has maintained headquarters at Fort MacArthur, Calif., and is a high-level headquarters group with a responsibility of giving supply and administrative support to an army in the field. Another Logistical Command unit, the 304th from Southern Oregon, is commanded by Colonel R. C. Prentice and is working in conjunction with the 311th. A large part of the unit is from Medford and Klamath Falls, Oregon.

Another reserve outfit making their headquarters at the Presidio of San Francisco is the 499th Engineer Brigade, commanded by Colonel Knute Hansston. Units attached to the 499th Engineer Brigade are the 881st Engineer Company, the 717th Engineer Equipment Company, the 391st Engineer Panel Company and the 307th Special Services Company.

New CG for 44th

Major General Robert F. Sink, Commanding General, 44th Infantry Division, Fort Lewis, Washington, has been assigned to the Airborne Troop Board, 8680th AAU, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, it was announced in Washington, D. C., this week.

His successor, Major General Thomas S. Timberman, United States Commander at Berlin, Germany, will return to the United States next month and take over command of the 44th at that time.

General Sink served as Commanding Officer at Camp Roberts, California, prior to his assignment with the 44th Division.

Dependent Housing

The Dependent Housing Bill (HR 9647) is due to move onto the floor of the House soon after having been examined carefully by the House Armed Services Committee during the past few weeks. This bill has had difficulty getting underway from the beginning and speedy action by both Houses will be necessary if it is to be passed this session. The Defense Department's original proposal called for construction of 25,000 family units at a total cost of $350 million. This has been pared down some already with a strong chance it will be reduced even further.

THE INTRICACIES of electro shock therapy equipment and treatment, how and why it is administered and its healing effects, are explained to this group of enlisted members of the 328th General Hospital Reserve unit, presently on two weeks' active duty training at Letterman Army Hospital, by Major Jesse E. Taylor, chief nurse of the 328th, whose members come from the Salt Lake City area. Watching her demonstrate the equipment are, l. to r.: Cpl. Steve Knaras, Pfc. Roger K. Neilson, Pfc. Hobart J. White, and Pvt. Ronald L. Jansen. (Letterman photo)

Reservists Learn! 328th Hospital Studies Latest Medical Advances at Letterman

The 328th General Hospital, whose original counterpart served brilliantly in the South Pacific during World War II, is now constantly on the job as a Reserve unit, backstopping its readiness with the very latest in techniques and procedures.

To learn some of these most recent advances, the 328th, whose members reside in the Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah area, are presently on two weeks active duty training at Letterman Army hospital on the Presidio of San Francisco.

Maintaining a continuous training program since its re-activation in 1947 (the unit was deactivated at the close of World War II) the 328th is a complete hospital unit in itself from plastic surgeons right down the line to corpsmen. Their complement includes 41 male officers, eight female officers (nurses) and 42 enlisted men.

The staff of doctors includes practicing physicians and surgeons from the Salt Lake City area, professors at the University of Utah Medical school and members of various state and county medical societies.

At weekly Reserve meetings of the professional staff, specialists address the group on the current medical advances and group discussions of these advances and problems in the field, bring the membership into close working harmony. Medical Service corps personnel receive their administrative training in a typical general hospital set-up.

Enlisted personnel, who are primarily medical students at the University of Utah, attendants at local hospitals and some employees of private industries, follow prescribed Army training manual courses designed to fit them for a specific MOS. At Letterman these men are embarked upon studying various phases and stages of x-ray and laboratory work.

"While, understandably, the 328th is lacking in some specialized MOS," related Captain Frederic E. Wessel, the group's Public Information officer, "nevertheless, it is sufficiently staffed and trained to meet its mobilization mission in the event of any emergency."

The unit is commanded by Colonel Carvel S. Evans, veteran of more than 20 years with the Army Medical corps. During World War II, he commanded the hospital ship complement of the USS Hinds and the USS Koranda. Now a prominent physician of internal medicine in Salt Lake City, Colonel Evans also serves as psychiatric consultant to the Veterans Administration regional office there.

Chief of Medical Service is Lt. Colonel Wallis L. Craddock, who recently was singularly honored as the recipient of the Sir Henry Wellcome Silver Medal and scroll, plus an Honorarium of $500. His paper on "Evaluation of the Pulmonary Features of Systemic Fungus Diseases," was judged the most useful and original investigation in the field of military medicine. Colonel Craddock is presently chief of Medical Service at the Veterans Administration hospital, Fort Douglas, Utah.

Colonel Paul D. Keller is chief of the 328th's Surgical service, and Lt. Colonel Robert R. Robinson is the plastic surgeon. Major Madison H. Thomas is the neurologist, and Major Kenneth L. Dedekind, oral surgery specialist, heads the Dental unit.

Lt. Colonel Floyd A. Abbott, pharmacist, is the unit's executive officer while Major Owen D. Wilson, unit advisor, Medical section, Utah Military district, acts as administrative advisor to the group.

Chief nurse is Major Jesse E. Taylor who has had 13 years' service in active and Reserve Army nursing. She is currently employed in the civilian dispensary at Hill Air Force base, Utah.

M/Sgt. Byron D. White is first sergeant of the detachment. With 10 years' active and Reserve duty service, Sgt. White served during World War II in Europe with the 41st Armored Infantry, 2nd Armored Division. His civilian occupation is with the American Smelting and Refinery company of Salt Lake City.

So it is that members of the 328th General Hospital are carrying on a tradition of preparedness that began to make history about the same time that George Washington did, and was carried on in laudable fashion through both World Wars I and II... that of a strong well-trained Reserve to augment, at a call, the nation's standing Army.

Army to Rebuild 2 Combat Units For A-Warfare

Washington (AFPS) — The Army is ready to begin experiments to determine the best battlefield organization for fighting an atomic war.

Two "guinea pig" divisions—one infantry, the other armored—will be taken apart and rebuilt in the autumn to test tentative conclusions reached by Army staff officers after several years of study.

Army planners are convinced that the conventional division structure must be radically changed and strengthened to win the kind of battles that may lie ahead.

They believe, for example, that an atomic-age division must have much more mobility, flexibility and self-sufficiency in combat than ever before.

It must be able to disperse at a moment's notice to hold to a minimum the devastating effect of nuclear weapons. But at the same time, each segment of the scattered division must be under the firm control of the division commander. Each must be able to stand and fight out of its own resources.

The Army has not yet identified the two divisions slated for reorganization. They are to be trained through the winter along wholly new lines and will be put through a series of tests next spring.

The program is experimental and the Army planners have no fixed ideas about what they will learn from it. They believe that the self-sufficiency needed by the new units will require some duplication of support forces—artillery, armor, signals and so forth.

How large such a division would have to be is one of the questions that the tests should answer. The present infantry division calls for 17,509 and the trend in recent years has been downward.

However, preliminary studies indicate that a truly flexible division, one that could split into several self-sufficient combat units, may require more men.

Army Wetwash!

A single Army Quartermaster laundry company of 244 men is capable of providing individual service to approximately 33,600 soldiers per week when their laundry does not exceed five and one-half pounds per bundle.

Recently Assigned

Major Herman G. Kleikamp, executive officer, JA Section, 5th Corps, EUCOM, with station at Frankfurt, Germany, since August 1951, is now assigned to the Presidio.

His new position here is that of Post Judge Advocate, Presidio of San Francisco.

Inducted into the Army in March 1942, Major Kleikamp attended OCS and was commissioned, Armored, on 30 April 1943. He served initially as unit commander of an Armored company and tank gunnery instructor at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

He next completed a military intelligence course at Camp Ritchie, Maryland, and, in November 1944, was ordered to the European theatre as an MI officer in charge of a team. In February 1945, the major joined the 65th Infantry Division and, at its inactivation, joined the 9th Infantry Division as detachment commander of an MI detachment. He planned and supervised screening of displaced persons to establish their eligibility or non-eligibility as such, and remained in his capacity until August 1947.

Following his return to the ZI, Major Kleikamp completed a CIC course at Camp Holabird, Maryland, and, in 1949, changed his branch to JAGC.

Captain Leslie F. Gorman has just returned from 16 months in Korea with the 91st Military Police battalion.

He is now assigned as training officer, Provost Marshal section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Serving two years in the South Pacific with the American Division during World War II, Captain Gorman has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal and the Combat Infantry Badge.

With 23 years' Army service behind him, 10 of those as an enlisted man, Captain Gorman, a Reserve officer, came on active duty commissioned in February 1942.

Captain Genous S. Hodges has been a student in the Transportation Advanced Officers class, Fort Eustis, Virginia, for the past two years.

His new assignment here is chief of the equipment and supply division, Transportation section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In Japan with the 25th Division since August 1949, at the outbreak of Korean hostilities, Captain Hodges accompanied that group to Korea in August 1950 where he remained until August 1952. His World War II service was in the ETO from August 1944 to August 1945 with the 104th Division.

A member of the Army for the past 12 years, the captain has the Bronze Star Medal, the Combat Infantry Badge with Star, and the Purple Heart.

Lt. Lester L. Ryan has been assigned as a platoon leader with Detachment A, Honor Guard, Presidio of San Francisco.

He returned a short time ago from 14 months of service in Korea with the 25th Division.

Lt. Ryan was with Anti-aircraft of the 27th Division in Hawaii, Okinawa and Japan for a year during World War II. Following his discharge, he joined the Reserves and eventually was recalled to active duty. He has eight years of active duty service.

The lieutenant's decorations include the Combat Infantry Badge and the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Lt. Richard S. Peterson entered the Army a year ago from ROTC ranks at Washington State university, where he received his degree in economics.

He is now a platoon leader with Detachment A Honor Guard, Presidio of San Francisco.

Following Basic Officers course at Fort Benning, Georgia, Lt. Peterson went to Camp Gordon, Georgia, where he spent six months as a training officer in the Regimental Basic course.

After two months' duty at Fort Lewis, Washington, he was assigned to the Presidio. Lt. Peterson is a native of Seattle, Washington.

CWO Andrew E. Collins has been with AFFE Headquarters in Japan for the past two years, and the year prior to that, with 8th Army Headquarters in Korea.

His new assignment here is with the civilian components division of AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In the Army the past 20 years, Mr. Collins received his warrant in 1950 while serving with Third Army Headquarters at Fort McPherson, Georgia. During World War II he served 11 months in the Pacific with the Hawaii AAA Command. Other duties have included a tour in the G-3 Section Replacement depot, Fort Ord, California, and as an assistant ROTC instructor at the University of Alabama.

SecDef Orders Study Of Present Officers' Career Programs

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has expressed concern over the possibility that present officer career programs may be detracting from the operational readiness of the Armed Forces.

In a memorandum to the three service secretaries and the Assistant Defense Secretary (Manpower and Personnel), Mr. Wilson pointed out that the post-WWII policies relative to education, training, rotation of duty, etc., may be adding unnecessary expenses and damaging officer morale because of the frequent duty station changes.

As a result, a study is now underway to examine the possibility of lengthening many officer assignments. (AFPS)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.

Post TL&E Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

40-HOUR DISCUSSION LEADERS' COURSE got underway at the Harmon Armory this week, hosting TI&E Instructors from a variety of units in the Bay Area. In above picture, Pfc. Richard Anderson, of the Post Troop Information and Education Office, instructs students in his class. They are, left to right, first row, Cpl. Joseph Froehling, B Battery, 752d AAA;

Pvt. Robert Camp, LAH; Pvt. George Richmond, A Battery, 752d AAA; Sgt. Darrell Stewart, 315th Engineer Company; second row, Pvt. Tommy Diggs, LAH; Sgt. Lawrence F. Leonard, LAH; Sfc. Hugo G. Winkler, LAH; Sfc. Louis E. Johnson, LAH; third row, M/Sgt. Ruel A. Goff, LAH, and M/Sgt. Stanley J. Kekule, LAH. (Army photo by Weiss)

Learning to Teach!

Presidio I&E Gives Week-Long Instructor's Course to 47 EM

Forty-seven enlisted men from a variety of installations and units on the Presidio and in the immediate Bay Area were undergoing this week a 40-hour Discussion Leaders' Course given under the auspices of the Post Troop Information and Education Office.

A semi-annual presentation, the school is aimed at techniques of instruction, the purposes of the Army T. I. & E. program and the development of the students' methods of presentation of discussion topics.

Each student enrolled in the course is required to be able to deliver three short introductory briefings, then two complete hour-long presentations of subjects. His final grade is based upon these presentations and a written examination.

The course includes one hour instruction in the use of audio-visual aids, another hour in the preparation of visual aids for presentation.

Men selected for the course were chosen by their unit commanders for educative background, aptitude and interest in T. I. & E.

The course has been in progress Monday through today and entailed two two-hour evening sessions, a total of 44 hours.

The program was prepared and coordinated by Captain Clinton D. Regelin, Presidio I. & E. Officer, M/Sgt. Eulin Kinsey, I. & E. NCOI C, and Pfc. Richard Stephan. The latter has handled the motion picture projector and audio-visual aids for the classes.

Assistant instructors include Pfc. Richard Anderson, Sfc. Robert Kinnu, both of 6002 SU, Detachment 1; Cpl. John Cartwright, 505th MP Battalion, and Pfc. Robert Gilman, 16th Base Post Office Company.

Students of the course will return to their units as discussion instructors.

Aid to Thailand!

A new program of increased military aid and technical assistance to Thailand has been announced by the Defense Department. Designed to increase the capability of the Thai armed forces to resist aggression, the program will emphasize support for Thai training activities, including development of junior officers and non-coms, and the provision of weapons, equipment and technical assistance in their use.

Korean Medals Oked!

Authorization for U. S. servicemen to accept and wear foreign decorations for Korean service has been published by all three services. For the Army the information is contained in Army Cir. 68, dated June 22, 1954; for the Navy it is in BUPERSINST 1650.5, dated June 18, 1954; and for the Air Force it is in changes to AFR 30-14. Each service specifies the conditions required for official acceptance.

10 Special!

Womble Committee Proposals Awaiting Legislative Action

(This is the third of four articles on the Army's implementation of the recommendations of the Womble Committee.)

Washington (AFPS)—A number of the Womble Committee's proposals to make the Army more attractive as a career are awaiting the legislative action necessary before they can be put into effect.

These are in addition to those recommendations, discussed in the previous articles, that have either been completed or are in progress.

The following actions are being proposed:

Home Loans—A bill to provide FHA-guaranteed home loans for personnel in the service, up to 95 per cent of the appraised value, at an interest rate comparable to "GI Loans" for veterans, has passed the Senate.

Quarters Allowance — A bill to authorize occupancy of sub-standard government quarters without forfeiture of the entire rental allowance is in the Bureau of the Budget.

Dislocation Allowance — Legislation to reimburse military personnel for unusual expenses incident to permanent change of station has been sent to the Bureau of the Budget.

Dependent Education — Legislation being prepared provides for the education at government expense of military dependents entitled to a free public school education, replacing the existing system of authorizing a specific sum in annual appropriations to partially offset tuition charges.

Survivor Benefits—Defense Department is preparing legislation to equalize survivor benefits for all regular and reserve personnel who die in active service.

Dual Compensation—A bill has been introduced in Congress raising the salary limitations of retired personnel who are employed by the Federal Government to $6,250 a year without loss of retired pay.

Incentive-Hazardous Duty Pay—A bill to increase the $45 a month combat pay authorized during the Korean conflict has been sent to the Bureau of the Budget. Legislation is also being prepared to make certain increases in special pay for flying duty.

Basic Pay—Since enactment of the Career-Compensation Act of 1949, the cost-of-living index has risen from 101.5 to 114.8 per cent. A military pay increase of 5.7 per cent was authorized in 1952. Two bills providing for a military cost-of-living increase of eight per cent have been introduced in Congress. The Defense Department, however, has no proposal for a pay increase in its current legislative program.

Re-enlistment Bonus — Legislation to increase the bonus paid for re-enlistment of regular Army, Navy and Air Force personnel has been introduced in Congress.

431st Ordnance Unit Finishes Training

Completing two weeks of field training on the Presidio of San Francisco today are 16 San Francisco and Bay area members of the 431st Ordnance company, Reserve unit.

The Reservists, most of them auto mechanics in civilian life, are motor vehicle assembly specialists. In their active duty summer training they processed military vehicles slated for overseas shipment.

It Pays to Think!

Suggestions Give Cash Awards, Plus Pride of Accomplishment

By Edith Harris
Secretary, Efficiency Awards Committee

Some people never let an opportunity slip by. They see a way to do a job more efficiently, a way to cut out "red tape," a way to save material and money. They do not just dream of these ideas—they hand them in as suggestions. When the suggestions are good ones and are adopted, the reward comes not only in the form of cash, but in the personal satisfaction of seeing their ideas at work.

Among those whose ideas have recently been put into effect is Norman F. Peters, Artillery repairer, Post Ordnance section. Mr. Peters suggested the cutting of bearing grooves into the body of the drill fuse of the 120 mm gun, reducing fuse and fuse setter damage to a minimum. Estimated yearly savings on the Presidio as the result of adoption of this suggestion are $1,500. Mr. Peters was presented with an award check for $75 by Mr. Eugene Schlueter, armament shop foreman. Mr. Peters is not a newcomer in the suggestion business—this is his sixth suggestion award.

Mr. Delbert O. Tanner, telephone repairer lead foreman, Signal repair shop, handed in two suggestions recently, both of which were

Miss Mary J. Hansen, payroll clerk, Post Finance and Accounting section, suggested the posting of grade, salary rate and date of last periodic step increase on all leave record cards when an employee resigns or transfers, resulting in savings of approximately $65 yearly in the payroll office. Miss Hansen received an award check of $10, presented to her by Lt. Col. B. H. Johnston, Post Finance and Accounting officer.

Mr. Clarence W. Cleeland and Mr. Joseph J. Murphy, Post Engineer section, each were presented with Sixth Army Certificates of Achievement by Colonel William T. Cathcart, Post Engineer, upon their retirement from federal civil service. Mr. Cleeland retired on 9 July after 28 years of civilian service with Department of the Army, and Mr. Murphy on 11 July after 16 years of federal civil service.

SIXTH SUGGESTION to be put to use on the Presidio as a result of Mr. Norman F. Peters' experiments is that of cutting bearing grooves into the body of drill fuses of the 120 mm. gun. Estimated yearly savings here by use of the new method will be $1,500. Here Mr. Peters (right), a member of the Post Ordnance section, is presented a $75 award check by Mr. Eugene Schlueter, armament shop foreman, Post Ordnance section. (Army photo by Lycenski) adopted. One was for a jig to resurface the 4T7318 levers, used in postal transmitters, M-15 keyboards, and M-15 perforator transmitters. Levers heretofore discarded are reclaimed, resulting in $100 yearly savings in the shop. The other was for a tool for adjusting tape pins on M-14 transmitter distributors. Adjustment with the tool can now be made in one minute, whereas formerly it took 10 minutes. Savings of $110 yearly will result through adoption of this suggestion. Mr. Tanner received two award checks of $10 each for these suggestions, presented to him by Major Lawrence W. Bucy, Post Signal Officer. Mr. Tanner, too, is more than a one-time winner—he has four adopted suggestions to his credit.

Mr. W. B. Shawler, real property officer, Sixth Army Engineer section, suggested a revision to include subtitles of publications listed in the publication memorandum emanating from the Sixth Army Engineer section, which was adopted, resulting in savings of time and money. He was presented with a $10 award check.

New 12-Week Course Open to Army Medics

Ft. Sam Houston, Tex. (AFPS)—A new course to train enlisted administrative personnel for Army Medical Service duty has begun at Brooke Army Medical Center here.

The course, conducted by the Medical Field Service School, prepares students for supervisory positions in a medical records and statistics office, admission and disposition office and the office of the hospital commander in Army hospitals.

Enlisted personnel must qualify as both clerk-typists and as medical corpsmen for admission to the 12-week course.

Well Clothed!

Men and women entering the Army during the past year received an initial clothing issue costing $172.91 and $202.83, respectively. Each issue consisted of 31 different items.

IN CONJUNCTION WITH nation-wide observance of the Exchange system's 59th birthday, two employees of the Bay Area Exchange received their ten-year service pins this Wednesday. Awards were presented by Colonel William F. Magill, Deputy Post Commander (left), to Marian Culligan, Assistant Merchandise Manager, and Mr. Peter Sojda, Branch Manager of Mobile PX. Also present at the ceremony was Lt. Colonel Walter Fleckenstein, Bay Area Exchange officer (right). (Army Photo by Brink)

Service to the Troops!

Awards Highlight Observance Of Exchange System Birthday

Presidio observance of the 59th birthday of the U. S. Army and Air Force Exchange system was highlighted this week with a ceremony in the office of Colonel William F. Magill, Deputy Post Commander, awarding 10-year service pins to two employees of the local Exchange.

Colonel Magill presented the pins to Mrs. Marion Culligan, assistant to the Merchandise Manager, and Mr. Peter Sojda, Branch Manager of the Mobile Unit.

The latter started his service with the Exchange following his retirement after 30 years of Army service.

Exchange Officer Lt. Colonel W. A. Fleckenstein was also present at the ceremony.

Mr. Rudy Aehnlich, Manager of the Letterman Army Hospital Main Post Exchange, who was also due a 10-year pin, will receive his award when he returns from summer vacation next week.

The Army and Air Force Exchange system dates back to General Order Number 46, dated 25 July, 1895, when Exchanges were first established as part of the military services. They have served American servicemen in peace and war continuously since that time.

Major General H. L. Peckham, Chief of Army and Air Force Exchange Service, in observance of the 59th anniversary recently pledged that the Exchange Service would continue to provide "the world's best service to the world's best servicemen."

Entering their sixtieth year of service, exchanges still operate under a mission almost identical with the original one of 1895—service and revenue. The concept of exchanges was formed during the 1880's when Army personnel banded together and formed co-operative canteens. They found this necessary to escape poor service and overcharging by roving merchants. Canteens sold merchandise and food at low prices. Profits were placed in recreation funds.

Bonus Bill Set!

The new Re-enlistment Bonus bill has been approved by the House and Senate, and sent to the President for signature.

The U. S. Army built the only paved highway in Korea. It is a 20-mile stretch between Seoul and Incheon.

Simple Plea Gets Big Response From Troops at Center

Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, Washington—This week, coin boxes labeled "Survival in Korea" told the story of how men at the Personnel Center were aware of the plight of the Korean people. For this campaign, a drive which was conducted without the usual posters, notices or talks, men here contributed almost $3,000.

When Chaplain Wilson B. DeChant handed the check for $2,950.30 to Chaplain Daniel W. Fielder, Fort Lewis director for the campaign, both men agreed that the military people have and always will open their hearts to those less fortunate than themselves.

This money will be used for the rehabilitation of the Korean people—for schools, books and supplies—hospitals, facilities and medicine—and orphanages for children who find themselves parentless through no fault of their own.

For men who have seen the conditions that exist in Korea, or know about them, all that's necessary is a little box labeled "Survival in Korea"—a combination of memories and heart does the rest.

250 Give Blood!

Approximately 250 members of the 315th Engineer Port Construction Company at Fort Baker volunteered and gave blood in a mass donation yesterday morning commencing at 0800.

Blood collected from the organization, which is commanded by Captain John J. Hahn, will be credited to Letterman Army Hospital for use in treatment of wounded veterans, other military patients and dependents of military personnel.

A mobile unit from the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of the San Francisco Medical Society handled the collection.

Camp Rucker, Ala., To Be Site of New Army Air School

The Army Aviation School, now at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, will be moved to Camp Rucker, Alabama, beginning late this summer, the Department of Army announced this week.

The move, designed to solve a critical training problem confronting the Army, will take about nine months and will be phased so that it will not interrupt training.

Fort Sill, home of the Artillery School, is no longer capable of providing space and facilities required by the growing Aviation School, without seriously interfering with the mission of training artillery personnel.

Camp Rucker, until recently the home of the 47th Infantry Division, now stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., has three large runways and facilities to support aviation training. Relocation of the school at Rucker will utilize part of an existing Army installation; reduce the requirement for construction, material, manpower and operating costs, and entail minimum dislocation and movement of Army troops.

Chaplain, Korean Vet, Returns for Service With Old CMD Outfit

Chaplain (Captain) Deane F. Babbitt has been assigned to Headquarters, California Military District at the Presidio of San Francisco, and is beginning his second tour of duty with the same unit.

The chaplain returned from Korea earlier this month, where he was assigned as depot chaplain for the Pusan Replacement Depot. Prior to this, he served in the same assignment he now holds.

Chaplain Babbitt entered the Army in 1944 and served in North France, the Rhineland and Central Germany in 1944 and 1945. He was recalled to active duty in April, 1951.

He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in business administration from the University of Southern California, and Master of Arts and Bachelor of Divinity degrees from the San Francisco Theological Seminary.

Alaska Calling!

30th Engineer Group's MARS Station Keeps Troops Posted

Since more than 500 members of the 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) are calling Alaska home this summer, their morale status is of prime importance in accomplishing the mission of mapping the vast areas of uncharted wilderness.

In keeping with the Army's policy that a happy soldier is a good soldier, a communication system between Alaska and the ZI has been established. This consists of cost free phone patches and radio conversations from the men in Alaska to their loved ones in the states, whether they reside in San Francisco or Bangor, Maine.

All of this is accomplished by an amateur radio station affiliated with the Military Affiliate Radio System (MARS), and located at Fort Mason, San Francisco. Manned by Sfc. Jack Ellison and Sfc. Jim Bryant, members of the 660th Engineer Battalion (Base Topo), Station K6WAS is on the air from 0700 to 2400 seven days a week. All equipment is the property of MARS, but kept in a high state of maintenance by Sfc. Jim Egan and Pfc. Bob Schimek, also members of the 660th.

Through these four men's efforts, it is possible for a member of the 30th Task Force to talk to his wife, mother, or sweetheart in the wilds of Alaska without her ever leaving the comparative comfort of her home. This is effected by contacting Station KL7AIR at Elmendorf where T/Sgt. Bill Waller (USAF) controls the MARS radio station. Sgt. Waller holds an amateur radio operator's license and has a Ham station at Baton Rouge, La. While a member of the 30th is waiting at Elmendorf a phone is dialed at Ft. Mason to contact the second party. When the phone is answered, a switch is then turned at Ft. Mason which makes the conversation a reality.

This is done on the average of five times a day but often the calls total more than 60 in number during the course of a week. Station K6WAS is powered with 500 watts and in addition to the heavy Alaska traffic, is in regular contact with such far away places as Guam, Japan and Kwajalein.

Sfc. Ellison, when interviewed, also referred to K6WAS as a "Stork Station" due to his lengthy and detailed reports to the men up North on the condition of their expectant wives.

He also added that although there has been considerable concern at times, there have been no fathers lost during the station's four month existence.

"CALLING ALASKA" Contact with home and loved ones is available without charge to the men of the 30th Engineer Group Task Force presently stationed in Alaska, through Station K6WAS, MARS affiliated, which is located at Fort Mason near the 30th's home station of Fort Scott on the Presidio of San Francisco. Here Radioman Sfc. Jack Ellison, 660th Engineer battalion, is shown in one of his many conversations with Anchorage, Alaska. The station operates 17 hours a day, seven days a week.

'Supreme Command,' New Historical Book

Washington (AFPS)—An official book describing in detail operations of the war in northwest Europe during 1944-45 was recently published by the Army's Chief of Military History.

"The Supreme Command," by Dr. Forrest C. Pogue, is another volume in an overall series "The U. S. Army in World War II." "The Supreme Command" is sold by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, for $6.50.

Puzzle Answers

NAG	ABASE	ABA
OVA	DEMON	GAS
RENTED	OTHERS
	DON	TEEN
STENOGR	RADIO
ERR	IOTA	RANT
NO	DAILS	DT
OPAL	TRIP	PIE
RELAY	STELLAR
	AGES	NEE
VASSAL	IDEATE
ARK	RAISE	TIL
TEA	STEER	STA

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE
Friday, 23 July—"Phantom of the Rue Morgue," with Karl Malden and Patricia Medina.
Saturday, 24 July—"Return to Treasure Island," with Tab Hunter and Dawn Addams.
Sunday, 25 July—"Crossed Swords," with Errol Flynn and Gina Lollobrigida.
Monday, 26 July—"Gunga Din," with Cary Grant, Victor McLaglen and Joan Fontaine.
Tuesday, 27 July—"The Law Versus Billy the Kid," with Scott Brady and Betta St. John.
Wednesday, 28 July—"Dawn at Socorro," with Rory Calhoun and Piper Laurie.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE
Friday, 23 July—"Return to Treasure Island," with Tab Hunter and Dawn Addams.
Saturday, 24 July—"Crossed Swords," with Errol Flynn and Gina Lollobrigida.
Sunday, 25 July—"Phantom of the Rue Morgue," with Karl Malden and Patricia Medina.
Tuesday, 27 July—"Dawn at Socorro," with Rory Calhoun and Piper Laurie.

FORT BAKER THEATRE
Friday, 23 July—"Apache," with Burt Lancaster and Jean Peters.
Monday, 26 July—"Phantom of the Rue Morgue," with Karl Malden and Patricia Medina.
Wednesday, 28 July—"The Living Desert," plus Walt Disney short, "Ben and Me."

FORT BARRY THEATRE
Sunday, 25 July—"Dawn at Socorro," with Rory Calhoun and Piper Laurie.
Tuesday, 27 July—"Phantom of the Rue Morgue," with Karl Malden and Patricia Medina.
Thursday, 29 July—"The Living Desert."

LETTERMAN THEATRE
Friday, 23 July—"Home of the Brave," with Douglas Dick and Steve Brodie.
Saturday, 24 July—"Phantom of the Rue Morgue," with Karl Malden and Patricia Medina.
Sunday, 25 July and Monday, 26 July—"Apache," with Burt Lancaster and Jean Peters.
Tuesday, 27 July—"Return to Treasure Island," with Tab Hunter and Dawn Addams.
Wednesday, 28 July—"The Law Versus Billy the Kid," with Scott Brady and Betta St. John.
Thursday, 29 July—"Crossed Swords," with Errol Flynn and Gina Lollobrigida.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:
Daughters to:
14 July: Capt. and Mrs. Jack Ballentine, Det. 5, 6002 SU PSFC; Lt. and Mrs. A. B. Elbon, 9206 TSU TC, Ft. Mason, Calif.; SFC and Mrs. Craig E. Funk, Hq. Det. 660 EBTE 30 Gp. Ft. Scott, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas W. Harris, 30th Engr. Gp. 537th Co. Ft. Scott, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Eugene Schebler, 6th Army Finance, PSFC.
15 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Denny D. Dalton, 41 Air Res. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. John E. Graf, 1080th Hosp. Sq. LAH, PSFC; Major and Mrs. G. B. Haffey, 6513 SU Army Reserve, PSFC.
16 July: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph Christian, 566 Fd. Svs. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; PFC and Mrs. Paul W. DuChien, 6513 SU, CMD 6th Army, PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Howard G. Schultz, B Btry, 752d AAA Gn. Bn., Berkeley, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Warren J. Skuarill, Procurement Officer, Federal Office Bldg., San Francisco, Calif.
17 July: T/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert W. Green, 13 Air Ftr. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Lee D. Stewart, Btry. B 459th AAA Bn., Travis AFB, Calif.
Sons to:
12 July: A/2C and Mrs. Lester B. Osborn, March AFB, Calif.
13 July: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Ekin, 505th MP Bn., PSFC; Capt. and Mrs. Marvin O. Weber, VF 191 CAG 19, Moffet Field, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Ken Wilson, 3539th Maint. Sq., Mather AFB, Calif.
14 July: Pvt. and Mrs. Clinton Dixon, Co. 1, 20th Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.; PFC and Mrs. Albert McKithen, Hq. Btry, 740th AAA Bn., Ft. Baker, Calif.
15 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Leslie E. Bradley, Co. A 505 MP Bn., PSFC; Capt. and Mrs. Donald D. Seely, Det. 1, 6002 SU Post Trans., PSFC.
17 July: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Theodore Baltes, CMD Hq. SU, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. Oliver Cravens, 375th MP Co., Camp Stoneman; WO and Mrs. Joseph E. Hutchison, USMC, 100 Harrison St., SF, Calif.

Teen-Age Activities

Friday, 23 July—Summer dance from 2030 to 2300, music by Sixth Army orchestra; boys are to wear sport shirts and coats. Club doors open at 2000.
Saturday, 24 July—"Crazy eight" card tournament and "nine-ball" pool tournament. Teenage newspaper will also be distributed.

THERE'S NO LIMIT practically to the "weapon" you may choose to show off your abilities artwise. It's a big opportunity in the form of the All-Army Art contest which has begun and will continue until entry deadline of 20 September. So that gives you plenty of time to get your entry blanks from the Presidio or Fort Baker Service club, Presidio Officers club, or the Post Special Service office, and do up something elegant in oils, water colors, pencil, brush, pen and ink, chalk, etching, silk screen and many more (read the story). Here, Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, acting Special Service officer, looks over the advertising posters done up by Miss Ruth Rippon, Post Arts and Crafts director. (Army photo by Purcell)

For Art's Sake!

All-Army Art Contest Begins, Four Categories to Exhibit In

A chance for you to display untold artistic abilities—and maybe get paid for it yet—is offered during the second annual All-Army Art contest, which has just begun on the Presidio of San Francisco.

Deadline for entries here will be 20 September so you still have ample time to work up something simply fascinating.

Entry blanks to go with your creation are available all over—at the Presidio and Fort Baker Service clubs, the Presidio Officers club, Presidio library and the Post Special Services office, Building 122. Also, you can talk over the contest in detail with Miss Ruth Rippon, the Post Arts and Crafts director, by phoning Ext. 2002.

Basically, the contest is broken down into four categories:

Category A: Oil paintings, minimum size 12 x 18 inches and maximum, 30 x 45 inches, appropriately framed without glass, for display.

Category B: Water colors, including transparent and opaque media, minimum size 12 x 18 inches and maximum 25 x 30 inches, appropriately matted or framed without glass, for display.

Category C: Drawings and cartoons, including pencil, brush or pen and ink, crayon, chalk, scratch board, minimum size 5 x 7 inches and maximum 20 x 24 inches mounted without glass, for display. Because of the nature of this medium, entries designed with charcoal, pastel or colored chalk are to be fixed and protected with a plastic cover.

Category D: Prints, including etchings, lithographs, linoleum cuts, wood blocks, silk screen and other print processes. Minimum size 5 x 7 inches and maximum 20 x 24 inches mounted without glass for display.

The following information will appear on a 3 x 5 card glued to the reverse side of the entry, upper right corner: name, grade, service number, military address, major command and name of installation, and category and title of entry.

Winning entries from each Sixth Army installation will be forwarded to Sixth Army Headquarters, and appropriate prizes will be awarded at Post level competition.

At the Sixth Army Command Level contest, three prizes each will be awarded in Categories A and B; $50, $35 and $20, while in Categories C and D, the three awards will be $25, $15 and $10. In addition there will be two honorable mentions in each category.

Purchase prizes will be awarded by Department of the Army for those entries judged best by them in each of the four categories. Therefore, entries designated to receive these prizes will become the property of the Department of the Army, and will be utilized by them in the further implementation of the Army crafts program and also considered for possible inclusion in the documentary files of the Army.

Cinema Previews

"CROSSED SWORDS," F*. First of all, a power-hungry official wants to grab a dukedom in medieval Italy; then there is this law to force all eligible bachelors to marry! Well, of course, Errol Flynn and his cohorts will have none of it and they fight and fight and in the end—everything turns out beautifully!

"GUNGA DIN," F*. A trio of sergeants in the Queen's Own Sappers live through an era of adventures and hair-breath escapes from baddies and death, not to mention amorous love affairs.

"DAWN AT SOCORRO," F*. Western drama of a war of nerves fought in a frontier town, combining a saloon girl, a gunfighter and a gambler. F*—Family.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE SLUB
Friday, 23 July—Scrabble and pinocle, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 24 July—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 25 July—Mason-Kahn Review, 2000.
Monday, 26 July—Jewish Welfare Board "Night in Reno," and monthly birthday party for those with July birthdays, guitars and ukelele instructions, 2000. Crafts room open.
Tuesday, 27 July—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 28 July—Post pinocle tournament, $5.00 prize, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 29 July—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 23 July—Mixed tournament night, 2000.
Saturday, 24 July—Horse racing, 2000.
Sunday, 25 July—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; G. D. Martin stage show, 2000.
Monday, 26 July—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 2000.
Tuesday, 27 July—Red, White and Blue dance with intermission entertainment, 2000.
Wednesday, 28 July—Irene Weed Folk Dancing group presents, 2000.
Thursday, 29 July—Square dancing, 2000.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

1—Scold
4—Dishonor
9—Arabian garment
12—Eggs
13—Imp
14—Aeriform fluid
15—Leased
17—Ones remaining
19—Put on
20—Age between 12 and 20
21—Office workers (slang)
25—Wireless
28—Be mistaken
29—Tiny amount
31—Rage
32—Negative
33—Irish parliament (pl.)
35—Delirium tremens (abbr.)
36—Semi-precious stone
39—Journey
40—Baker's product
41—Fresh set of horses
43—Pertaining to the stars
45—Matures
47—Born
48—Slave
50—Form ideas
53—Wooden vessel
54—Lift
56—Sesame
57—Afternoon party
58—Beef animal
59—Music: as written

DOWN

1—Conjunction
2—Hail!
3—Male goose
4—Pertaining to a gland
5—Article of furniture
6—Part of "to be"
7—Chimney carbon
8—Go in
9—Things to be done
10—Prohibit
11—Beast of burden
16—Measure of weight
18—Listen to
21—Spanish title
22—Figure of speech
23—Horned animal
24—Mixes
26—Country of Asia
27—Aquatic mammal
30—Landed
34—Squanderer
37—Country of North America
38—Falls behind
40—Folds
42—Period of time (pl.)
44—Shelter
46—Narrow, flat board
48—Large tub
49—Exist
50—Suffix: subject to
51—Small bird
52—Culdo's high note
55—That is (abbr.)

Vet News Notes

Veterans planning to start Korea GI Bill training before the forthcoming August 20 cut-off date were urged today by the Veterans Administration to give extra-special thought to their choice of a training program.

The reason, VA said, is that after the cut-off date, the law tightens up appreciably on a veteran's right to change his course.

He no longer will be allowed to make his one-and-only course change with the same ease that it could be made before the deadline.

At any time before the cut-off date, the Korean GI Bill permits a veteran one change of course. So long as his conduct and progress were satisfactory, he has a relatively free hand in making the change. It could be from law to engineering; from air conditioning to airplane mechanics; the choice was his.

But once the cut-off date passes, VA said, the one-and-only free change holds good.

After that time, a veteran may change his course only under one of the following circumstances:

1. The course he wants to change to is a normal progression from the course he has already taken. For example, if he obtained his AB degree, he would be permitted to change to an MA degree.

2. He hasn't been making satisfactory progress in the course he was taking, due to no fault of his own. If this is the case, he will be required to undergo VA vocational counseling, to help him select a new course more in keeping with his aptitudes and abilities.

The August 20 Korean GI Bill cut-off date applies only to post-Korea veterans separated from active service before August 20, 1952. Veterans who got out of active service after that date have two years from separation in which to begin their training.

Newly-separated veterans in the latter group need not worry about having their one-change-of-course rights curtailed until after their individual cut-off dates come around, VA said.

Two hundred and seventy Army chaplains won 332 decorations for service during the Korean war.

SLAMMIN' NORDSTROM of the Presidio WAC softball team makes it a habit to tour her opponents' bases at least once in a game. Here is "Dee" as she looked this Monday following her roundtripper against Parks AFB. The local ladies walloped the airgals 14-3 for their eighth win of the season. (Army photo by Bennett)

21st Engineers Lead! Post Softballers Battle for Top Four Positions in Loop Play

The top four positions in Post intra-mural softball were the subject of more than one hotly-contested ball game in the last few weeks.

The hard-playing Headquarters, 9th AAA, nine won one such position this week as they clobbered the 102d MRU 12-3 last Thursday and finished their year this Tuesday with a 6-4 decision over A Company, 505th MPs.

Moundsman Coleman opposed MRU's Ryan on Thursday, allowing three hits, which wasn't enough to overtake the active artillerymen's bats. Triple A stickers Shepherd, Ethridge, White, Vallendeir, and Fussel put together 12 blows to take the game hands down.

This Tuesday it was ack ack's Wilson mounding against MP Guthry.

The MPs took a 3-1 lead in the first bracket, then the 9th socked a trio of markers across in the third to take the lead for good.

Two base hits by Wilson and Reynolds and a double play engineered by hurler Wilson helped turn the trick.

The 21st Engineers insured their position as league kingpins on Monday with a 12-4 defeat of Headquarters, Sixth Army. Engineer Tafollo played a dual role at bat and on the mound, walloping three for three and clamping clerk batters to a minimum of blows.

The photomappers were behind 2-0 in the first, tied it up in the second, and moved out front with the five-run third.

Matsumoto and Ditto tagged two each to help power the winners.

Detachment 1, 6002 SU, held to second place with a 10-2 decision over the 16th Base Post Office. Dave Scott and Bart Grimes shared mound chores for the winners, with Grimes and teammate Bob Wilkins homering.

The Fort Scott Hill Toppers took a squeaking 7-6 win from the 99th Engineers last week. Doug Smith hurled for the winners, fighting out a see-saw battle toward a tied seventh inning.

The Fort Scott boys banged two runs in the top of the eighth and held the engineers to a single bingle in the bottom of that stanza to take the tilt.

Toppers Jim Lund, McCarthy and Smith starred at bat with three hits apiece. McCarthy sparkled in the crucial eighth inning when he caught a sizzling liner that looked like a sure hit and turned the situation into a double play.

League standings as of Wednesday morning:

Team	W	L
21st Engineers	10	1
Detachment 1	10	2
30th Engineers	9	3
9th AAA	8	4
Company B, 505th MP	7	4
315th Engineers	5	4
Hill Toppers	5	6
102d MRU	5	6
Headquarters, Sixth Army	5	7
Company A, 505th MP	3	9
99th Engineers	2	7
16th BPO	1	9
Company C, 505th MP	0	9

Presidiennes Blast Parks AFB Women 14-3 in Eighth Win

Heavy bats, good pitching and sensational fielding characterized the Presidio WAC's eighth softball victory in Bay Area Women's competition this Monday. They walloped the Parks AFB women 14-3 on home ground.

Hurler Gavigan and catcher Argue worked their usual best against the Air Force battery combination of Perry and Witt.

A blustery wind from the outfield kept hitting to a minimum; however, Presidio's Dee Nordstrom banged a double and homer and Argue and La Due accounted for a hit apiece to lead the local scoring. Others took full advantage of passes and overthrows to lead 5-2 to the end of the fifth inning, then annex a hearty eight-run rally in the sixth to win effortlessly.

La Due performed the season's sensation when she nabbed a solid liner with a backhand catch and prevented further scoring by the visitors. Nordstrom, Thompson and Gavigan worked smoothly in two nice double plays.

League standings to date:

Name	W	L
Alameda	9	1
PRESIDIO	8	2
Parks	7	4
Marines	6	4
Hamilton	5	5
Oak Knoll	2	6
Fort Mason	2	7

Constables, Deuce, 56th MRU, Lead Post Kegler Loops

Detachment 1 of the National Bowling League split 2-2 with Sixth Army Engineers this week to continue two points ahead of them in a close battle for the loop top. Evans rolled a 204 high, 177 average to power the clerks, with Pilkington of the engineers at 165, 157.

The Marroos blasted the 16th BPO 4-0. Bryant sparked the winners 211, 172, with postman Matcaross scoring 186, 154.

Headquarters, Sixth Army, gassed 102d MRU keggers 4-0. Brown rolled a 213 high game, 179 average for the winners, with Bob Williams of the recordsmen at 175, 159.

6513 SU clobbered the Compt Rollers 4-0. Reams bowled 172, 169 for the winners, 'Roller Dell marked 154, 142.

In the Eastern League this week the 56th MRU drew with the Slow Rollers, 2-2, to stay ahead of the rival rollers a full nine points. MRU's Jacobsen totaled 517 for the series, as against Roller Broderhausen's 480.

6300 SU thrashed the cellar-dwelling Headquarters, Sixth Army, G-2 crew 4-0. Rogers sparked the winners with a 531 total. Fisher led the losers with 385.

The Keystone Kops from Fort Baker clamped the B Company MPs 4-0, Hobbs powering the winners with 474 and MP Swartz totaling 456.

On the Western front, the second-place Money Bags tromped the league-leading Constables 3-1, with Hamaguichi rolling 180 high, MP Hoskins at 212.

Sixth Army's Wooten led his team with 193 to beat the Flashers, 3-1. Flasher Chamberlain registered 197 for the losers.

The Tags walked over the Topos 3-1. Piombino powered the winners with a 499 total. Engineer Myers pinned 402.

The Pinsplitters lost to the Sleuths 3-1.

League standings:

EASTERN LEAGUE
Team	Won	Lost
56th MRU	26½	13½
Detachment 1, No. 2	21½	14½
6300 ASU	21	15
Slow Rollers	22	18
Company B, 505th MP	19	21
Keystone Kops	17	19
Headquarters, G-2	13	27

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Team	Won	Lost
Detachment 1, No. 1	26	14
Engineers, Sixth Army	25	15
Headquarters, Sixth Army	22½	17½
102d MRU	20	20
16th BPO	18½	21½
Compt Roller	18	22
6513 SU	17	23
Marroos	13	27

WESTERN LEAGUE
(These are unofficial tabulations.)
Team	Won	Lost
Constables	24	16
Money Bags	22	14
Sleuths	22	18
Tags	22	18
HQ, Sixth Army	20	16
Pinsplitters	19	21
99th Engineers	15	17
Flashers	18	22
Topos	10	30

Hawaiian, 4th Army, Won 1953 Golf Test

Cpl. Tom Nieporte from Hawaii slashed one from the par-72 Pebble Beach, California, Golf Course to take the 1953 All-Army Golf Championship last August.

Six Army golfers who placed included Dick Yost, fourth, and Ken Towns, third.

A sensational Fourth Army team, powered by Texan Buster Reed, won the team competition.

MDW's Major General Floyd L. Parks won the Senior title.

Monroe Fans Eleven!

Raiders Notch Two Straight Wins in BAAF League Attack

Slamming a total of 35 runs to their foes' eight and hitting a new high in pitching and all-around defensive work, the Presidio Red Raiders snuffed two Bay Area League opponents and one practice-game adversary this week.

Last Friday the Reds thrashed out 20 hits to drub Treasure

Island of the BAAF 18-2. Pitcher Hank Monroe notched his sixth mound win in 11 starts. The blond Presidian whip-armed eleven opponents down by strikes, allowing only three hits.

Every player on the Presidio roster collected at least one hit, with Monroe, Ken Klopp, Ed Jacobsen and George Asepermy tagging three apiece.

Klopp continued his late-season batting spree of eleven games by driving in five runs. Jacobsen and Asepermy were credited with four each.

Last Sunday soldier Sal Fucile twirled a six-hitter to the Oakland Army Base nine, winning 10-2—his fourth victory of the season. Sal whiffed 10 batters and was never in any serious trouble at any time.

Ken Klopp murdered Oakland hurler Bob Scott by banging out three hits to lead the Presidio attack. Fucile, Monroe, Bert Fowler and Gene Terry chipped in with two connections apiece.

This Tuesday the Raiders met Moffett Field in BAAF play. They tied the visitors in a crucial eighth inning, 4-4, then went on to score three more markers in the top of the ninth to beat the flyboys 7-4 in a close tilt which was marked by brilliant plays on both sides.

With the score tied and runners on first and third, Sal Fucile poked a line single over short to drive in what proved to be the winning tally for the home side.

Bobby Brown led the Raider attack with four base hits in five trips to the plate. For pitcher Hank Monroe, it was his sixth straight mound win and eighth victory of the season.

The Reds meet Mather Air Force Base tomorrow on the Main Athletic Field at 1400 hours. Presidio fans are urged to attend.

League standings up to Tuesday's Raider victory:

Team	W	L
Parks AFB	14	2
Alameda	14	2
PRESIDIO	11	5
Hamilton	8	6
USS Oriskany	6	6
Moffett Field	6	9
S. F. Marines	1	12
Treasure Island	1	14

Presidio Soldier Will Enter National Roller Test Sunday

The Presidio of San Francisco will have a representative at the National Roller-skate Championships in Denver, Colorado, starting this Sunday.

Cpl. Lawrence H. Lovejoy of the 315th Engineer Company has taken the necessary leave to enter the competition. He won the right to participate as West Coast representative by becoming California State and Pacific Coast Novice Dancing Champ and runnerup in the Intermediate Men's Freestyle Singles in a recent regional test. His partner in the dance division was Miss Joyce Lamperti of San Francisco.

Cpl. Lovejoy has been roller-skating for five and one half years. He took up the sport while attending high school in his home town of Monterey, California.

In 1951 he won the California State Novice Men's Figure and Freestyle Championships and placed fourth in the National Championships.

Cpl. Lovejoy will be released from the Army in May of next year. He intends to become a professional rollerskater eventually.

Ken Klopp, Veteran Bert Fowler, Lead Raider Batting Roster

Ken Klopp, Cleveland-owned heavysticker with the Presidio club, has augmented his batting average by .034 over the last count, according to latest Raider statistics.

Complete batting and pitching records are as follows:

Batting
AB	Hits	Average
Klopp	76	.552
Fowler	149	.350
Fucile	155	.342
Youngdahl	3	.333
Ethridge	121	.322
Aspermy	158	.310
Jacobsen	166	.301
Brown	106	.292
Terry	69	.275
Ardito	61	.213
Cochrane	5	.200
Burroughs	3	.000
Pitching
	Won	Lost
Klopp	2	1
Fucile	4	0
Monroe	8	5
Hamaker	10	7

HOLE-IN-ONE CONTENDER—The above - pictured long - hitting, par-smashing denizen of the Post Pitch 'n' Putt course is Master Michael Domingue, 2 years, and son of M/Sgt. Sid Domingue, Special Services NCOIC. His Pop has played golf all over the world, finished third in the International Amateur tournament in Germany—on his honeymoon, incidentally. This picture is to remind Presidians of the coming Hole-In-One Tourney, scheduled for Sunday, 1 August, the day after payday. Winner and Runnerup will be awarded trophies. Price: five balls for 50c. All proceeds go to the Army Emergency Relief Fund.

More Swimmers!

Three members of the Presidio's 16th Base Post Office Company have signed on for membership on the Post Swimming Team.

They are Stanley M. Smith of Cedar Lake, Indiana; Donald L. Mayers, Whitmore Lake, Michigan, and Alvin C. Harp, San Francisco.

Eleven Sixth Army Marksmen Try Out For All-Army Slots

Eleven enlisted men from the Sixth Army area have been chosen to participate as members of the All-Army rifle and pistol teams in the near- ing Southeastern Regional Pistol Matches, Jacksonville, Florida, and the National Rifle and Pistol Matches, Camp Perry, Ohio, it was announced by Headquarters, Sixth Army, recently.

Fort Lewis, Washington, claims the best percentage of representation, with four of the five pistol- ers from the 44th Infantry Division, and three of the six riflemen also from Fort Lewis.

Sixth Army riflemen selected to participate in the National Matches as members of the All-Army Rifle Squad, unless elimi- nated in further tryouts, include, M/Sgt. J. Svela, Fort Lawton; Cpl. W. C. Stickney, Fort Ord; Pfc. J. D. Dwyer, Fort Ord; Pfc. G. R. Anderson, Fort Lewis; Pfc. G. B. Bennett, Fort Lewis, and Pvt. R. Senechal, Fort Lewis.

Elimination exercises will con- tinue at Fort Benning, Ga., until 16 August. The National Matches begins 16 August at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Pistolmen selected to participate in the Southeastern Regionals and the National Matches as members of the All-Army Pistol Squad, un- less eliminated in further tryouts, include M/Sgt. C. R. Barnett, Camp Stoneman; and M/Sgt. H. W. Hankins, Cpl. T. J. Kurupas, Pfc. R. C. Amundson and Pfc. R. L. Rose, all from the 44th Infantry Division.

LT. COL HENRY GLAISTER, who tied for a Sixth Army fourth with Bob Gustafson of Fort MacArthur at 304, is entering the All-Army tourney Monday for the second straight year. He attended Pebble Beach championship in 1953 with another returnee, Presidio's Dick Yost. (Gutierrez)

Golfers in Match

The Presidio golf team will meet the Parks AFB sextet in Bay Area Armed Forces League action on Tuesday. Local membership will include Dave Bull, Ray Steelsmith, Bob Carter, Rollin Kapp, Bill Hawley, and one other, not yet assigned.

Retired middleweight champ Ray Robinson's real name is Walker Smith.

SIXTH ARMY RUNNERS-UP—Presidio Golf Team poses for official photo at the close of last week's All-Sixth Army Golf Championship at the Presidio Golf Links. Local contingent captured second place next to Fort Ord with 1584 point total—Ord stroked 1540—to whip seven other teams for top laurels. Lt. Colonel Thomas Ward, bottom left, won the Senior Division

Championship without any trouble at all. Other team members included, left to right, top, Captain Rollin Kapp, Cpl. Bill Hawley, Cpl. Bob Carter, and Pfc. Ray Steelsmith; bottom, Ward, Pfc. Dick Yost, Sixth Army medal runnerup, and Colonel Peter Peters. (Army photo by Gutierrez)

Ord, Bob Whisman, Win Golf Test; Yost, Ward Fly East for All-Army

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Private Bob Whisman of the Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, golf team shot 70-73-74-77, 294, to win the 1954 All-Sixth Army Golf Championship here last week and to finish three strokes below defending champion Dick Yost of the Presidio.

The local garrison scored more than its share of tourney laurels as Lt. Colonel Tom Ward scored heavily in Senior play, winning an unchallenged first-place in that division over eleven other entrants. He fired 82-82-79-81, 324, 31 strokes better than runner up Lt. Colonel Russell Jernigan of Fort Huachuca, and 39 strokes under defending champion Colonel Wiley H. O'Mohundro of Two Rock Ranch. The latter tied Captain Lawrence Rinehart of Stoneman for third.

A strong Fort Ord sextet captured five of the first ten places in medalist ratings to undershoot Presidio for the team championship. The local contingent led the southern crew by a meager three strokes at the end of Tues- day's first round, but had to settle for a runnerup trophy on Friday.

Team scores ran as follows: Fort Ord, first, 1540; Presidio, second, 1584; Headquarters, Fort Lewis, third, 1612; Fort MacArthur, fourth, 1642; Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, fifth, 1666; Fort Hua- chuca, sixth, 1756; Dugway Proving Grounds, seventh, 1763; Yuma Test Station, eighth, 1789; and Oakland Army Base, ninth, 1927.

Top five golfers and their scores among the 68 Main Division entries were Bob Whisman, 294; Richard Yost, 297; Pvt. Bob McCallister, Fort Ord, 303; Lt. Colonel Henry Glaister, Stanford R.O.T.C., 304, and 2nd Lt. Bob Gustafson, Fort MacArthur, 304.

These men, along with Seniors Ward and Jernigan, were sched- uled to arrive by air in Washing- ton, D. C., this morning prior to next week's All-Army Cham- pionships.

Runnerup Yost's performance on the Presidio links last week came as a surprise to many who had seen him shoot four days of record- breaking golf over the same turf less than a month ago to win the Post title.

SPECIAL MILE race between Roger Bannister and John Landy (above), only two men ever to crack the four- minute barrier, will be telecast 7 August on NBC in a pickup from the British Empire Games at Vancouver, B. C.

The Oregon amateur ace carded three over par 75 for his first day in Sixth Army competition, tying with McCallister of Ord for third, and was never able to beat 74 the rest of the tournament. His tally was 75-74-74-74. He was having disappointments with his putter and still worse luck with his ap- proaches to the greens.

Misfortune frowned on Bob Lursen of the Headquarters, Fort Lewis, team, as well. First day out he carded 39-35, 74, to second Whisman's 70. On Wednesday he fired a 78, to re- main definitely in the running. But on Thursday and Friday the northerner blew an 80 and 84 to finish with an eleventh place 316.

Lean and lanky MacArthurite Bob Gustafson worked in the re- verse, improving his cards each day. He began with a fat 80 and whittled it 75-76-73, to earn him- self a ticket on the All-Army ex- press.

Members of the championship Fort Ord team were McCallister, Cpl. Bob Neimeyer, 312; Pfc. Ron Nichol, 310; Pvt. Dick Runkle, 307, and Lt. Adie Geiser, 308.

Presidio team members were Yost, Pfc. Ray Steelsmith, 312; Colonel Peter Peters, 320; Cpl. Bob Carter, 322, and Captain Rollin Kapp, 333. Alternate was Cpl. Bill Hawley, with 337.

All-Army Golf Gets Start in Rockville, Maryland, Monday

Five Main Division and two Senior Division golfers com- prising this year's Sixth Army delegation to the All-Army Championship left the West Coast by Military Air Transport yesterday and arrived in Wash- ington, D. C., this morning.

The 72-hole Army golf tourna- ment will be held at the Wood- mont Country Club, Rockville, Maryland, commencing Monday, 26-31 July.

Visiting golfers from the right Army areas and other overseas commands will be billeted at Fort Myer, Va., a short distance from the suburban links.

They will be welcomed at the official All-Army Golf Banquet over the week-end and treated to sight-seeing through the Cap- ital, to include a visit in the Senate.

A practice round is scheduled Monday. Championship play com- mences Tuesday.

The Open Division Team Cham- pionship will be determined from the aggregate scores of the first 36 holes of medal play, the four lowest cards on each team being combined for the aggregate.

The Open Division Medal Championship will open with 36 holes of qualifying play. Fifty per cent of the field will be dropped following this, while the other half will complete another 36 holes to determine the indi- vidual championship. A 72-hole total will be used to select win- ners.

The Senior Division Champion- ship is to be match play.

Trophies to be awarded include the 1954 Team Championship award plus five individual awards for team members; trophies for medalists and runner-up; Malin Craig Cup for All-Army Cham- pion, and the Gordon Gray Trophy to the Senior Champ.

PVT. BOB WHISMAN of Akron, Ohio, and Personnel Center, Fort Lewis, carded 70-73-74-77—294 to win the Sixth Army Championship three strokes under defending champ Dick Yost. He heads area contingent to Rockville, Maryland, All-Army Tournament. (Gutierrez)

Shawnee Champs

Pvt. Bob Malaga of Ft. Knox, Ky., beat Bob Savitt, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1, to win the men's singles title of the Shawnee Open Tennis Champion- ships.

Down Memory's Lane!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

SOME OF PERSHING'S OWN men were undoubtedly among this group of World War I "buddies" who were using the facilities offered by the Presidio branch of the Army YMCA. The "Y," which has operated continuously on the Post for the past 38 years, was closed out last week. As you will note, lighting was excellent in those days, the uniforms were natty, and the cuspidor—well IT was always displayed in a prominent place! Furnishings and facilities improved with the years, but spirit of service remained constant always.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

"MAYBE YOU WERE THERE." It was 1942 or maybe 1943 (the skirt lengths and the Sam Brown belts gave the year away didn't they!) But anyway, World War II was booming and banging its way around the world, and at the Presidio YMCA, these men and women were momentarily engaged in forgetting that perhaps next week or next month, not all of that group would still be around. The "Y," which recently closed down, was the scene of many thousands of such brief moments of relief and laughter from those hectic days with the big guns. The Embarcadero "Y" will continue many of the traditional programs that have best served the serviceman down through the years!

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

FAMILIAR TO ALL patients at Letterman Army hospital as well as to local duty personnel are the checkerboards, books and magazines and letter writing desks which were available for their use at the Presidio Y. In recent years, the largest number of Letterman patients to use the facility were veterans of the Korean conflict. Here, while Pvt. William Yates and

Pfc. Dennis Seymour engage in a game of checkers and Pvt. Albert Underwood checks a magazine, Miss Ileene H. Brough, field director, Letterman Army Hospital Red Cross, and Mr. L. M. Wahlquist, in past years the Y's executive secretary, discuss disposition of the building, which in the future will house a patient Red Cross program. (Army photo by Hilmer)

End of an Era!

Presidio YMCA Branch Closes Colorful 38-Year Program Here

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

An era was "phased out" of the Presidio's existence last Friday night.

It was an era that began some 38 years ago, when, at the Panama Pacific Exposition held in San Francisco, authorities constructed a servicemen's clubhouse and requested the YMCA to operate it for them.

At the close of the exposition, the building was offered for sale to the Army and Navy departments of the YMCA for $1.00, provided it could be moved to a suitable location and continued in use for servicemen.

Then began what in those days must have constituted an engineering masterpiece. Over San Francisco's, shall we say, "hilly" terrain, mounted on stout stilts and worried along by the experts of the day in that business, came the structure that to this day has been the Presidio's army YMCA, located across the street from Letterman Army hospital.

Now, under a decision resulting from a joint study conducted by Department of the Army and the YMCA, facilities of this type will no longer be conducted on any military posts proper.

And so, the "Y" is gone. The foundation on which the structure was tendered placed those many years ago was built almost entirely by soldier labor, with materials furnished by the government. Cost of moving the building from the Exposition grounds to the new location were, incidentally, met by private subscription.

In the future, the upper and main floors of the building will be taken over by the Letterman Army Hospital American Red Cross for an exclusively patient program, while the Post will gain the use of the lower floor which houses the swimming pool and an area now set up as a ceramics studio.

During the reconversion interim, the building will remain closed.

Original "Y" activities on the Presidio date back as far as 1898, during the mobilization of troops for the Spanish-American war. Its home was an old wooden barracks and programming continued until the fire and earthquake of 1906 when lack of funds and destruction of property made it impossible for the San Francisco City association to continue the program and so, in 1908, it was taken over by the Army and Navy department of the national YMCA.

In 1922, the rear wing of the building which housed the games room on the street floor and the swimming pool in the basement, was constructed through a $50,000 grant from the war work fund.

During both World Wars I and II, as well as the Korean conflict, the Y was the center of massive BEST OF PALS with all the men who used the Presidio YMCA was its old mascot, "Mr. Didi." Didi, once the companion of a warrant officer who moved on and willed the animal to the Y, was a great confidant and would sit for hours just listening to Army talk. In recent years, he has been cared for by Mrs. J. J. Kittel of the Y Weavers.

activity, offering a meeting place, a recreation area, a "home" for thousands of homesick, battle-weary men.

Since it was located within the most important military installation on the Pacific coast, the Presidio branch found itself taxed to and above capacity in its efforts to cater to the interests of all the men who used its facilities.

Activities were geared to meet the needs not only of the thousands of men who were patients at Letterman Army hospital over the surge of wars, but likewise the active duty personnel stationed on the Presidio and its sub-posts.

There was swimming, dancing, stage and camp shows, movies, pool, ping pong and most recently, the addition of television.

The "Y" program also has included day and night time creative programs such as the ceramics and pottery classes, the Y Weavers and the Y Handicrafters.

The Girls Service Organization, junior hostess group, carried out weekly orchestra dances, picnics for Letterman patients and also served as card and game partners.

There was always something cookin' at the "Y" even if it was only coffee at the Snack bar.

For those of you who have lost your "home," we can only recommend the Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero, which offers a host of diversified activities.

Send The Star-Presidian Home
(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....	Two Cents Postage
Address.....
Name.....
Street.....
City..... Zone..... State.....
(Third Class Mail)

Colonel Charles N. Hunter

Colonel Hunter Now ACofS, G-4 For Sixth Army

Colonel Charles N. Hunter has taken up his duties as assistant chief of staff, G-4 Headquarters Sixth Army.

Colonel J. W. Gaddis, who has been the acting G-4, will now take over the post of executive officer of the section.

Colonel Hunter, graduate of the U. S. Military academy at West Point, class of 1929, was last assigned to the joint faculty of the Armed Forces Staff college, Norfolk, Virginia, as director of the academic planning division.

The colonel was graduated with the first class of the Armed Forces Staff college, and is likewise a graduate of the Infantry school, Fort Benning, Georgia, and the National War college, Washington, D. C., the latter in 1951.

In 1947, Colonel Hunter went to Korea as commander of the 17th Infantry Regiment at Taejon, later going to Seoul where he was chief of staff, 7th Infantry Division. When the division moved to Japan, he became chief of staff, Headquarters 7th Infantry Division, at Sapporo. His last assignments in the Far East were as deputy and later as chief of staff with the IX Corps.

The colonel's early Army years were spent with the 1st and 20th Infantry Regiments and also included three years with the Philippine Scouts.

In 1942, he was weapons instructor at Fort Benning's Infantry school, and the following year went to Burma where he served with the famed, "Merrill's Marauders."

The year 1944 found Colonel Hunter assigned as a member of the G-3 Section, for the combat training section of Army Ground forces, Washington, D. C. He later served at Headquarters Third Army, Fort McPherson, Georgia.

Among the colonel's decorations are the Silver Star Medal, the Bronze Star Medal and the Presidential Unit citation.

Mrs. Don Mae Hunter, the colonel's wife, and their three daughters, the 17-year-old twins, Sue and Anne, and 13-year-old Sara, will reside with him on post.

Big Blow!

During World War II, the United States spent more than $12,000,000,000 (B) to produce ammunition items in more than 160 large plants. This ammunition weighed 20,000,000 (M) tons and represented about 80,000,000,000 (B) individual rounds.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 9

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 30 July, 1954

From Fort Lewis!

Brig General Prather Becomes Chief of Staff for Sixth Army

Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, former assistant commander of the 44th Infantry Division, Fort Lewis, Washington, has been named chief of staff for Sixth Army.

He replaces Brigadier General William T. Sexton who has taken up his new assignment as chief of the first United States Military Assistance Advisory group to Pakistan.

In the interim before General Prather's arrival at Headquarters Sixth Army, the post of chief of staff was handled by Colonel William J. Epes, who has now returned to his position of deputy chief of staff, Comptroller.

General Prather, a graduate of the US Military academy at West Point, class of 1924, served three years as chief of staff of the Alaskan command, with headquarters at Fort Richardson, Alaska, prior to his Fort Lewis assignment which began in August, 1953.

Prior to World War II, in 1939, after his graduation from the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, General Prather became an instructor in the department of tactics at the US Military academy. He remained there until 1943, becoming assistant commandant of cadets during his last year. Following that, he was assistant commandant of the Armored school at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

He served as chief of staff of the 100th Infantry Division during its final training phase in the United States, its movement to the European theatre and its combat operations. These latter included the Rhineland, Central Europe, Ardennes and Alsace campaigns.

In June, 1945, the general was designated commanding officer of the 397th Infantry Regiment and he commanded that unit during its tour of occupation duty in Germany. While still in Europe, he became commanding officer of the 9th Labor Supervision area in 1946, and chief of military labor service for the European command in 1947.

In these latter assignments, General Prather established a large training center near Mannheim, Germany, for the organization, equippage, and training of civilian guard companies, composed of liberated Allied military personnel, principally ex-soldiers of Poland and the Baltic nations. These units were used for guard missions throughout the American occupation zone, including guarding prisoners of war, war criminals and military installations.

Upon his return to the United States, he served as assistant chief of staff, G-1, Army Field Forces, Fort Monroe, Virginia, working under General Jacob L. Devers and later, under General Mark Clark.

General Prather's decorations include the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, the Commendation Ribbon with Oak Leaf Cluster and the French Croix de Guerre with Palm.

Mrs. Prather is the daughter of retired Brigadier General and Mrs. James B. Gowen. She and General Prather are the parents of a son, James, 21, and three daughters, Marjorie, 18; Elizabeth Lucille, 15, and Nancy Lavinia, five.

Brigadier Gen. Richard G. Prather

Former Member of PIO Office Here Is Awarded Bronze Star in Korea

Lt. Colonel Charles E. Diehl, formerly special events officer with the Sixth Army Public Information section on the Presidio, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service in Korea for the period 24 May to 3 November, 1953.

During the above named period, Colonel Diehl was executive officer of the 54th Quartermaster battalion engaged in providing logistical support of United States and United Nations forces.

Upon his arrival in Korea in May, 1953, the colonel was assigned to the 54th and remained with them until the cessation of hostilities. Last November he became chief of the Information section, United Nations Civil Assistance command, and will shortly complete his second tour in Korea.

During World War II, Colonel Diehl served in the Asiatic-Pacific theatre and remained in Korea with occupation forces until 1946.

Commissary Hours

Beginning next week, the Commissary Sales store will be open each Thursday from 1630 to 1830 for military personnel in uniform only. It will likewise be open Thursdays from 1145 to 1630 for all authorized personnel. This change has been made to provide more adequate service for military personnel in uniform, those in charge stated. On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday of each week, hours will be from 0815 to 1115 for all authorized personnel, from 1200 to 1300 for military personnel in uniform only, and from 1300 to 1500 for all authorized personnel.

Army Will Test Soldiers' Memory Of Basic Training

Tests designed to show how much Army enlisted personnel remember of their basic military training will be given during the next few months in order to provide data upon which refresher courses may be planned for those now in service and for Reservists who may be recalled to active duty in the event of increased or total mobilization, Department of the Army announced recently.

More than 15,000 men in the active Army and the enlisted Reserve will be tested in the coming weeks.

"In any future mobilization, a large number of men who have had prior military service would be assigned to the Army. The tests, which will be given this summer, will make it possible to plan efficient and economical retraining programs for these former servicemen," DA said.

A guide as to how proficient such personnel might be expected to be in retaining basic military knowledge, how much retraining is required to bring them to their former level of proficiency and the areas of knowledge which require special emphasis in retraining programs, are expected to be provided by the tests.

Selected personnel of five Reserve Infantry Divisions will take the tests during their summer training. These include the 89th of Kansas to train at Camp Carson, Colorado; 81st of Georgia at Fort Jackson, South Carolina; 98th of New York at Camp Drumm, New York; and the 83rd of Ohio and the 100th of Kentucky, both to train at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Award Ceremony

Awards will be presented to three officers and one enlisted man at the weekly retreat parade set for 1630 hours today on the Main Parade Ground of the Presidio. Lt. Colonel William L. Boland, Lt. Colonel John P. MacNeil, and Sergeant Kenneth Hamanaka will each receive the Bronze Star Medal, and Captain Chester B. Searls will be awarded the Purple Heart. Colonel C. V. Cadwell will be the reviewing officer and Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon will be commander of troops.

Promotions Likely to Increase in Future

Washington — (AFPS) — There should be more chances in the Army for promotions to the top two enlisted grades in the near future. Quotas for these two grades have been very small for several months with little indication that the situation will change anytime soon. However, now it is no longer possible for reservists to come on active duty as master sergeants or sergeants' first class.

This will mean that the two top NCO positions will be filled almost entirely by standard promotion procedures. Enlisted reservists, including top two graders, still can apply for EAD but they cannot expect to be called in a grade higher than E-5.

Colonel Thomas J. Seigler, Jr.

Colonel Seigler Is Named DCofS For Public Affairs

Colonel Thomas J. Seigler, Jr., arrived at Headquarters Sixth Army this week to become its first deputy chief of staff for public affairs.

The newly created office will become a vital function in the chain of operations due to the ever increasing need to keep the public informed of Army activities, officials stated.

One of the principal missions will be that of coordinator of those functions concerning civilian aides and civilian advisors of the area.

The colonel has just completed the 10-months course at the Army War college, Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, prior to which he spent three years as deputy chief, plans and operations division, office of the chief Signal officer in the Pentagon.

Other recent assignments included a three-year tour as Signal advisor to the Iranian Army at Teheran, Iran, and that of assistant Signal officer, Third Army, Fort McPherson, Georgia.

Colonel Seigler began his World War II service with the 9th Infantry Division in 1941. Upon the activation of the 71st Infantry Division in July 1943, the colonel became its Signal officer and accompanied that unit to the European theatre, serving with it until its deactivation at the close of hostilities.

Remaining on in the ETO following the war, Colonel Seigler was Signal officer throughout the Nuremberg war crimes trials.

A graduate of Georgia Tech, class of 1934, the colonel has a B.S. degree. He is also a graduate of the Army's Command and General Staff school, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Among his decorations are the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant and the Iranian Medal for Merit.

Colonel and Mrs. Seigler (nee Mary 'Snow') are the parents of three children, Virginia, 12 years old, Katherine, nine and Thomas, five.

German Efficiency Helps U.S. Army Save

Last year German employees made 5,447 suggestions of which 2,257 were accepted by the Army. These resulted in an estimated savings of $389,129 and 7,418,340 in Deutschmarks.

The program of giving rewards for workers' suggestions began in 1949. The Germans did not accept it too well at first.

Editorial

Toward Understanding

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the first of four editorials dealing with the importance of the Army Troop Information and Education program, its objectives and principles of application.)

Every enterprise, whether military or civilian, must offer a good product. But it must not stop there. In addition, it must convince its own employees that the product is good and that the individual is making a worthwhile contribution to its production.

One of the greatest assets of any enterprise is the employee who has faith in the importance of what he is doing, who is proud of his contribution and who has sufficient education to perform his duties in an intelligent manner. The Armed Forces form no exception. Those whose duty it is to defend the United States have perhaps an even greater need to understand and to believe in the importance of their jobs than does the civilian. The leader of any segment of the Armed Forces, be it large or small, must give his personal and continuing attention to developing this essential element of efficiency.

There is a tendency carried over from the early days of World War II to look upon troop information as an innovation, something unknown to armies of the past. In reality, it is simply the application of sound old principles of leadership. It is not a special activity for which a certain amount of time is set aside each week. It is an aspect of leadership which requires attention every hour of the day.

In the Army of pre-World War II days, composed of volunteers, where organizations remained relatively intact over long periods of time and when no national emergency existed, the objectives of troop information then necessary could be attained without a formalized program. The situation today is not the same. In the long emergency period which lies before the Army, without the stimulus of war, with a million-man Army dependent upon Selective Service for at least half of its men, and with organizations continually in a state of flux, troop information must take on additional objectives. Furthermore, reliance cannot be placed upon the unorganized methods of former times.

The troop information program was started in World War II because it became evident to top military leaders that many men in the Army felt they were serving no useful purpose. Although there was certainly no question that a war had to be fought and that men had to be trained to do it, many soldiers did not understand why they personally had to be in service.

A somewhat similar situation exists in the Army today. Hence it is incumbent upon all commanders, at whatever level, to derive the maximum advantage from this aspect to leadership.

It should be noted that all of the specific objectives outlined hereafter are centered about the development of a more understanding and, hence, more efficient soldier. The aim of troop information today is to determine which informational areas are of most importance to the Army and to the individual soldier and to concentrate media and materials on these areas; in other words, to produce in troop information a tool in the hands of the commander to help him solve his leadership problems.

Colonel Robert S. Nourse has arrived for duty with the Adjutant General section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past three years, the colonel has been with Headquarters Caribbean command with station at Quarry Heights, Canal Zone. As staff secretary, his duties were a combination of Adjutant General, J-1, and Secretary General Staff. The command is joint Army, Air Force and Navy.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1926, Colonel Nourse is a native of Palo Alto, California, and came with his parents to San Francisco at the age of eight, where he grew to manhood and was graduated from Lowell High school. Following two years at Stanford University, he entered West Point.

From approximately 1937 to his retirement in 1947, Colonel Nourse's father, Joseph P. Nourse, was superintendent of schools in San Francisco. He died early this year but Colonel Nourse's mother resides on Arguello boulevard in San Francisco.

Colonel Nourse, who is also a graduate of the Command and General Staff college at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, served as Adjutant General of the 1st Army in the European theatre during World War II, and was overseas approximately 18 months.

He has been decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Commendation Ribbon with Oak Leaf Cluster, the French Croix de Guerre and French Legion of Honor, and five battle stars for his ETO ribbon.

Colonel and Mrs. Nourse are the parents of a son, Robert H., who is presently a first classman at West Point, and a daughter, Joan, 11, who resides with them here.

Colonel Loren D. Buttolph, Armor, has been assigned to Headquarters California Military District, Presidio of San Francisco, as acting chief of staff.

The colonel returned from Korea recently, where he served from October 1952 to May 1954. His assignments were as an Armor officer with I Corps and as a member of the POW Committee of the Military Armistice commission. While in Korea, he was awarded the Legion of Merit.

Colonel Buttolph has been in the Army for 22 years. He was stationed in Europe from May 1942 to November 1946, serving chiefly with the 91st AFA Bn., 1st Armor Division.

Among his other decorations are the Silver Star, the Air Medal, the Purple Heart with one cluster, the European Theater ribbon with six stars, and the Korean ribbon with three stars.

Lt. Colonel Arthur M. Jacoby is the new chief of the plans and training division of the Engineer Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He has spent the past 16 months in Korea as Engineer Supply officer of the Korean Communications zone.

Colonel Jacoby is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1936, and has also been graduated from the Command and General Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

During World War II, the colonel first served as executive officer of a general service regiment with duty on the Alcan highway, and later joined the 9th Engineer command of the Ninth Air Force, for two and one-half years' duty with them in the European theatre. Colonel Jacoby wears among other awards, the Legion of Merit.

Lt. Colonel Charles N. Gruber has taken charge of the personnel actions branch of the personnel division, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His assignment for the past three and one-half years has been in the Adjutant General's office in the Pentagon.

In Shanghai, China, in October 1948, Colonel Gruber served with an advisory group from January 1949 until his evacuation to Japan in March 1951, where he served at the Japan Replacement Training center.

A member of the Army for the past 20 years, the colonel served in the office of the chief of staff during World War II, and also served a tour in the European theatre, with Headquarters EUCOM. He has been decorated with two Commendation Ribbons, the French Medal of Recognition and Czechoslovakian Military Medal of Merit.

Lt. Colonel Francis J. Palmer has joined the manpower division, G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past 15 months, Colonel Palmer has been in Korea, serving with the G-3 Section of Headquarters 8th Army and the Joint Operations center, Headquarters 5th Air Force.

With 13½ years' Army service, Colonel Palmer served in the European theatre during World War II, with the 13th Armored Division.

His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters and the Combat Infantry Badge.

Lt. Colonel Herber C. Leney has become claims Judge Advocate with Headquarters Sixth Army.

His most recent assignment was as Judge Advocate of the Wurzburg District in Germany for two years. Prior to this assignment the colonel had served with the 7th Corps which he joined at Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, in January 1951 and accompanied to Stuttgart, Germany, where he continued to serve with them for eight more months.

Entering on active duty in 1942, Colonel Leney served in the Pacific theatre in the New Guinea, Southern Philippines and Luzon campaigns and was awarded, in addition to three battle stars, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant from the commanding general of the Philippine Base section.

After the war, the colonel served from 1945 to 1946 as base claims officer, Bilibid prison, Manila, before returning to this country where he was commanding officer of the branch office of JAG at Holarbird, Maryland, and, from 1948 to 1949, executive officer to the chief of the claims division, office of the Judge Advocate General.

Colonel and Mrs. Leney, the latter presently undergoing treatment at Letterman Army hospital for polio, have two sons, Herber, Jr., four and one-half years old, and John, 13 months.

Lt. Colonel John E. Hendry, Jr., has spent the past year with Headquarters, Southwest command, in Japan.

Prior to that he served 15 months in Korea with I Corps.

He is now assistant Inspector General, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In the Army for 18 years, Colonel Hendry also served three years in the European theatre with graves registration and as Port commander, Cherbourg.

Major William L. Cooper, who has been a patient at Letterman Army hospital since last September, is now on duty with the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Major Cooper, wounded in action in Korea after serving nine months with the 955th Field Artillery battalion, spent three months in the hospital at Yokohama, Japan, prior to being returned to this country.

In the Army for the past 12 years, the Major saw 18 months of action with the 280th Field Artillery battalion in the European theatre during World War II.

Major Cooper has been decorated with the Silver Star Medal, the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart.

Major Norma M. Flachsland is presently the acting chief of the personnel actions branch, Reserve components division, AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

She has spent the past two years at the WAC center, Fort Lee, Virginia.

In the Army for the past 12 years, Major Flachsland first entered the WAC (then WAAC) at Fort Des Moines, Iowa. She served in the dependents section of the personnel administration division, Headquarters EUCOM for two years during World War II.

Following her return to the United States, the major was stationed with First Army Headquarters, Governor's Island, New York, for three and one-half years.

CWO James W. Bruce recently completed 34 months at Fort Kobbe, Canal Zone where he was Post Supply officer.

He is now supply officer with Headquarters company, Presidio of San Francisco.

While serving with the 106th Infantry Division in the ETO during World War II, Mr. Bruce was taken prisoner and held four months before being released. He later served 39 months at Fort Lewis, Washington, and it was while there that he received his warrant.

A veteran of 17½ years' Army service, Mr. Bruce wears the Combat Infantry Badge and numerous theatre and service ribbons.

Recently Assigned

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Enlistment Incentive!

Re-Up Bonus Bill Now Law; Raises Total Payment $600

Washington (AFPS)—The new Re-enlistment Bonus Bill was signed into law by President Eisenhower recently and became effective immediately.

The bill—now Public Law 506—amends the Career Compensation Act of 1949 to increase the average re-enlistment bonus payment from about $250 to more than $500. It also raises the maximum total payment to an individual from about $1400 to $2000.

The purpose of the new law is to increase re-enlistments among EM serving their initial tours of duty. The amounts to be paid are determined by a sliding scale by which the largest payments go to those re-enlisting for the first time. Both the Defense Department and Congress believe that the plan will pay for itself by eliminating a large part of the training costs for replacements.

The bonus payable to a member who re-enlists before completing a total of 20 years of active Federal service, but under that re-enlistment will complete more than 20 years of such service, is computed on the following basis: The multiplier used is the number of years which, when added to his previous service, totals 20 years.

However, old timers who would stand to gain more under the old re-enlistment law may elect that law until they have received a total of $1400.

Officers being released from active duty are entitled to receive a re-up bonus if they served as EM in the same service immediately before accepting a commission. Their bonus will be computed on the monthly EM basic pay at time of re-enlistment.

Re-enlistment involved ¹	Column (1) Take	Column (2) Multiply by
First	Monthly basic pay to which the member was entitled at the time of discharge. ²	Number of years specified in re-enlistment contract, or six, if none specified. ³
Second	Two-thirds of the monthly basic pay to which the member was entitled at the time of discharge. ⁴	Number of years specified in re-enlistment contract, or six, if none specified. ³
Third	One-third of the monthly basic pay to which the member was entitled at the time of discharge. ⁵	Number of years specified in re-enlistment contract, or six, if none specified. ³
Fourth (and subsequent)	One-sixth of the monthly basic pay to which the member was entitled at the time of discharge. ⁵	Number of years specified in re-enlistment contract, or six, if none specified. ³

¹Any re-enlistment when a bonus was not authorized is not counted.
²Two-thirds of the monthly basic pay in the case of a member in pay grade E-1 at the time of discharge.
³On the sixth anniversary of an indefinite re-enlistment, and on each anniversary thereafter, the member is entitled to a bonus equal to one-third of the monthly basic pay to which he is entitled on that anniversary date.
⁴No bonus may be paid to a member in pay grade E-1 or E-2 at the time of discharge.
⁵No bonus may be paid to a member in pay grade E-1, E-2, or E-3 at the time of discharge.

D Battery of 752nd Has Best Mess 5 Times

For the fifth time since the advent of the award, D Battery of the 752nd AAA Gun battalion has won the best mess award, this time for the month of June. D Battery is currently tied with Headquarters Battery of the 9th AAA Gun battalion for honors as having the outstanding mess hall of the year.

Colonel P. H. Wollaston, commanding officer of the 30th AAA Group of which the 752nd is a part, presented the trophy to the mess steward, SFC Connie Prechtel of Nocona, Texas.

Old Timer

The Medical Officers Reserve Corps, established in 1908, is the oldest organized reserve element of the United States Army. It was the forerunner of the reserve program instituted by the National Defense Act of 1916.

Pioneer

Charlotte Amalie, Virgin Islands—The first military unit in the history of the Virgin Islands was established here Feb. 7, 1954. The unit is the 420th Quartermaster Service Company, an Army Reserve company.

All WO Selectees Must Notify TAG Of Intent by Sept.

Washington (AFPS) — All Army officers holding letters of selection for appointment and those entitled to reappointment as RA warrant officers must notify The Adjutant General, ATTN: AGPB-R, prior to Sept. 1, of their intention to accept or decline such appointment, according to an Army announcement.

Those indicating acceptance must send a completed DD Form 98 and a certificate by the custodian of their 66-1 or field 201 file attesting that the files include evidence that a satisfactory national agency check or background investigation has been completed.

If such a certificate cannot be provided, four copies of DD Form 398 (Statement of Personal History) and one copy of National Defense Program FBI Fingerprint Card must accompany the notification.

Acceptance of appointment or reappointment will not terminate present commissioned officer status. Intention to decline will end further right to warrant officer appointment.

SWEEPING UP—Army combat engineers sweep a stream in Korea with a mine detector. After the armistice was signed, clearing mines from old battlegrounds became a major task.

Investment in Freedom! NATO as Vital Security Link To Be I&E Topic Next Week

The subject for next week's Troop Information and Education discussion hour will be NATO.

What are the factors that helped bring NATO into being? What is its purpose?

How much can it contribute to the defense of the free world?

How does it affect you as a serviceman?

The answers to these and other questions are necessary if we are to understand the vital importance of NATO to free world security.

Next week's T.I.&E. conference will be aimed at answering them. The discussions will be carried along seven lines of thought.

Why NATO? will explain how the 14 different nations comprising the mutual security alliance have combined to develop a collective defense system designed to deter possible aggression.

How is NATO organized? will outline the individual powers involved in the alliance, how it is governed by the North Atlantic Council, and what other governing councils take part in its administration.

The United States and NATO, will show the different cost ratios, involving the U. S. and other NATO countries, which are required to keep the alliance in fighting trim.

NATO has come a long way. European defense spending as well as the production of military items have increased substantially since the alliance was first established in 1949.

Despite NATO's progress, its defenses are still not strong enough to give adequate protection to its members. Next week's troop conference will point out how World War II seriously weakened the economy of most NATO countries, how Europe has many complex political problems.

Discussion pointers will be based on Armed Forces Talk Number 471, entitled NATO.

For Better Service!

More Womble Group Proposals Passed by Congress, Now Law

(This is the last of four articles on the Army's implementation of the recommendations of the Womble Committee.)

Washington (AFPS) — The following list includes those Womble Committee recommendations that have been passed by Congress and become law, and that have not been previously mentioned in these articles:

Promotions — The Arends Bill (P.L. 349) repeals riders restricting promotion and retirement of officers, and establishes a sliding scale grade structure for officers in each service. This is designed to permit a normal rate of promotions.

Warrant Officer Career Program — A law (P.L. 379) establishing a long-range career program for warrant officers was enacted in this session of Congress.

Air Force Academy — Public Law 325 authorized the establishment of an Air Force Academy, which will be situated in Colorado Springs, Colo. More young men desiring Regular appointments now will have the opportunity to gain military academy training.

Weight Allowance — The maximum weight limitation on transportation of household goods at government expense, during a permanent change of station, has been increased from 9,000 to 11,000 pounds.

Dependent Legislation — The average yearly allowance for the education of military dependents overseas entitled to a free public school education has been raised from $225 to $235.

Survivor Benefits — Retired military personnel may exercise the option of receiving a reduced amount of retired pay to create a monthly life income for their surviving widow and dependent children.

LEADERS' COURSE GRADUATES—47 enlisted men from units on the Presidio and installations around the San Francisco Bay Area graduated from Presidio Information and Education Section's 40-Hour Discussion Leaders' Course last Friday at the Harmon Armory. Students spent a week here in intensive study of the various techniques of presenting

I&E topics and their audio and visual presentation. The program was prepared by Captain Clinton D. Regelin, Presidio I&E Officer (far left, front row), M/Sgt. Eulin Kinsey, NCOIC, I&E (far right, front row) and SFC Robert C. Kinnu, I&E (not in picture). Class included one woman (center, front row), Sgt. Clara Dyer, Fort Mason. (Army Photo by Payne)

Puzzle Answers

FAR	MAB	TATAR
ADO	ONA	AGORA
TOO	OINTMENTS
ARSON	TAPS
LEES	SERE	SAW
	VAPOR	RATIO
OMEGAS	BECAME
RELET	SODOM
ANT	RITA	RISK
	SIDE	INNER
BALLOONED	APA
AWAIT	ORE	TAA
NEEDS	GAS	ELL

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

7—Distant
4—Queen of fairies
7—Turkic tribesman
12—Fuss
13—Tierra del Fuego Indian
14—Greek marketplace
15—In addition
16—Soothing salves
18—Malicious burning
20—Knocks
21—Dregs
22—Withered
23—Carpenter's tool
26—Steam
28—Proportion
30—Greek letter (pl.)
32—Suited
33—Leased again
34—Biblical city
35—Emmet
36—Girl's name
38—Chance
41—Take one's part
42—Interior
43—Puffed up
47—The wallaba
48—Tarry
49—Native metal
50—Chinese pagoda
51—Wants
52—Aeriform fluid
53—Cloth measure

DOWN

1—Deadly
2—Worship
3—32nd U. S. President
4—Heavenly body
5—Southern blackbird
6—Persiflage
7—Tinkered with
8—Matures
9—Measure of weight
10—Skill
11—Ethiopian title
17—Thick, black substance
19—Siouan Indian
22—Distress signal
23—Having stamens but no pistils
24—Goal
25—Misery
27—Those who love their country
29—Fruit of oak
30—Anglo-Saxon money
31—Males
32—Neckpiece
34—Office worker (colloq.)
37—Artificial language
39—Part of flower
40—South African hut
41—Skidded
42—Roman date
43—Prohibit
44—Reverence
45—City in New Guinea
46—Period of time

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11

12 13 14

15 16 17

18 19 20

21 22 23 24 25

26 27 28 29

30 31 32

33 34

35 36 37 38 39 40

41 42

43 44 45 46 47

48 49 50

51 52 53

Blair, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Sixth Army QM
Donations, Sales
Are "Big Business"

Figures released this week by the Sixth Army Quartermaster property disposal branch, indicate a vast amount of donations of valuable equipment for educational and health service enterprises.

A recapitulation of property disposal activities within Sixth Army area for the Fiscal Year 1954 reveals that approximately $6,000,000 worth of surplus property was donated to these service educational activities and educational and public health institutions in the Sixth Army area during that period.

The type of property donated is wide and varied in nature ranging from nuts and bolts to electric generators; anything which is useful for instructional purposes, arts and crafts and material used in maintenance of building and grounds.

A total of $88,000,000 worth of surplus property was likewise sold to the general public, bringing a return of $1,500,000.

In addition, slightly over $1,000,000 was realized from the sale of garbage, waste, etc., generated at Sixth Army installations.

And approximately $5,000,000 worth of property was redistributed for further federal use after having been turned in to property disposal.

Servicemen in France
Turning to Libraries
During Off-Duty Hours

Orleans, France—The Army in France is turning to library books for amusement.

Circulation in volumes at the 21 libraries in France tripled during the past two years and still is going up, the Special Services office announced.

From a 1951 level of 37,169, the circulation soared to 139,465 in 1953, the records show. Stocked books jumped from 22,166 in January of 1952 to 54,443 early this year and is increasing by 1,600 volumes a month.

The Army's phonetic alphabet first came into use during World War I.

Army's Mechanical Mule

A Mule is a Mule is a ...
Army's New 'Mule' Tested
For Combat Area Transport

Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. (AFPS)—The "Mechanical Mule"—the first Army vehicle designed solely for off-the-road operations in forward combat areas — has been undergoing high-priority tests here.

The Mule is designed to transport weapons, ammunition, food and essential supplies from the nearest roads right up to front line positions. It takes the load off the foot soldier's back.

Weighing 750 lbs., the Mule can carry 1,000 lbs., be transported by rail, water, truck, helicopter or cargo plane and can be dropped by parachute.

Its overall length is 100 inches; its width 46 inches; the chassis is only 27 inches high giving it a low silhouette.

In forward areas infested with snipers, the driver can operate the Mule while walking or crawling at the rear or side. The steering wheel and steering column adjusts to swing down close to the ground.

The driver shifts the Mule into reverse, sets the speed as low as one mile per hour, and walks or crawls behind.

Four-wheel steering allows the Mule to be turned in an 18-foot circle. It can operate in temperatures from 25 degrees below zero to 125 degrees above. The Mule can be tipped over on its side or back for maintenance without loss of fuel or oil.

Organization of NCO
Wives Club Begins As Officers Are Chosen

Displaying a great deal of enthusiasm and spirit for the whole idea, more than 60 NCO wives met at a buffet luncheon at the Presidio NCO annex to discuss plans for a consolidated wives group aimed at service as well as pleasure.

The women who represented both Forts Scott and Cronkhite as well as the Presidio planned to elect their officers this week and set up a definite program. In the interim, Mrs. Betty Loebig was chosen temporary chairman and Mrs. Bunny Deshazo, assistant.

Major William H. Zarro, chief of the Mess section, and Captain G. S. Stene, both welcomed and addressed the group and expressed the desire to see an active club get underway. Also present were members of the NCO board of governors. M/Sgt. Joseph San Nicholas is secretary-treasurer of the organization, which now has consolidated all NCO clubs under a single function.

Hq. Detachment of 30th Group Assigned
New Commander

Recently named commanding officer of Headquarters and Headquarters detachment, 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey), was Captain Clarence L. White.

Previous to this current assignment, Captain White was CO of the 359th Engineer detachment (Utilities) and will retain this post in addition to his new duties. Before assuming command of the 359th approximately a year ago, Captain White served a three year tour of duty in England.

Lt. Jerald R. Beasley was formerly Hqs. and Hqs. CO and will remain with the detachment in an administrative capacity.

Worthy Service

The United States Army Medical Library in Washington, D. C., maintains a photo-duplication service that makes copies of printed medical material available at cost to research workers throughout the world.

Little Does Lot!

American-Korean Foundation
To Seek Funds in August Drive

"So much for so little!"

Korea—the land where a little will buy so much to aid so many.

For instance, $1.00 will maintain a hospital bed for a day, fifty cents will provide complete care for an orphan for a day, and $4.00 will pay for a year's schooling for a child.

These are little amounts — yet look what they do!

During the period 1 through 15 August, the American-Korean Foundation will appeal for funds to aid—their long range objective being two-fold:

To ease the sufferings and hardships of the Korean people.

And to help Korea demonstrate the democratic way of life in Asia, a way of life which will stop the spreading curse of Communism.

Military and civilian personnel of the Presidio and its sub-posts are given the opportunity to help.

The end of hostilities in Korea saw more than 500,000 homes destroyed and another half million damaged, leaving some 9,000,000 persons homeless refugees.

More than 2,000,000 Korean people had been killed, leaving 100,000 children without either parent.

General James Van Fleet, USA Retired, chairman of the American-Korean Foundation says:

"Having lived and worked with the Korean people during the fighting days, I am full of admiration for their courage amid adversity and suffering. The way our GI's have taken the Koreans to their hearts with help and affection demonstrates how our fighting men feel about their Korean allies.

"The men of the Eighth Army began, even before the fighting ended, to help the Koreans rebuild their country. But this is a task not alone for the GI's or for the government—it is a task for all Americans."

We are those Americans.

Servicemen's Deposits

The Armed Forces now have a new uniform law governing enlisted personnel deposits. EM in all branches now are able to withdraw deposits in cases of emergency instead of only at the time of discharge. The Army and Air Force had temporary authority to allow this while the Navy and Marine Corps did not. There were no other basic changes in the law.

Army Reservoirs Set
To Counteract Drought

The Army Corps of Engineers has about 14 trillion gallons of water ready to go to work in the event of drought in the U. S. this summer.

The water, stored in flood control and navigation dams and reservoirs, would provide supplemental water supply to aid navigation, irrigation, pollution abatement and municipal water needs.

Last fall, the Corps of Engineers provided from 75 to 90 per cent of flows in various reaches of the Mississippi - Missouri - Ohio river system. It helped southwestern communities and industries to meet critical shortages which—in some instances—resulted in rationing of water for home use.

MASS OFFERING of blood by members of the 315th Engineer Post Construction company of Fort Baker, resulted in the collection of 134 pints of the precious fluid. The entire company of 220 men was screened, with 86 rejects due to their having returned recently from malaria areas. The company is commanded by Captain John J. Hahn, and volunteered the blood which will be credited to Letterman Army hospital for use in treatment of wounded veterans, other military patients and dependents of military personnel. A mobile unit from the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank of San Francisco processed the group, part of whom are shown here. Any unit and/or individual who desires to give blood may make an appointment by calling the Post Surgeon's office, Ext. 2003 or 2025. (Army Photo by Brink)

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 30 July—"Security Risk," with John Ireland and Dorothy Malone.

Saturday, 31 July—"Sword of Venus," with Robert Clarke and Catherine McLeod.

Sunday, 1 August—"The Living Desert."

Monday, 2 August—"The Lost Patrol," with Victor McLaglen and Boris Karloff.

Tuesday, 3 August—"Tobor the Great," with Charles Drake and Karen Booth.

Wednesday, 4 August and Thursday, 5 August—"The Black Shield of Falworth," with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 30 July—"Sword of Venus," with Robert Clarke and Catherine McLeod.

Saturday, 31 July—"The Living Desert."

Sunday, 1 August—"Security Risk," with John Ireland and Dorothy Malone.

Tuesday, 3 August—"The Black Shield of Falworth," with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 30 July—"Dawn at Socorro," with Rory Calhoun and Piper Laurie.

Monday, 2 August—"Security Risk," with John Ireland and Dorothy Malone.

Wednesday, 4 August—"Susan Slept Here," with Dick Powell and Debbie Reynolds.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 1 August—"The Black Shield of Falworth," with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.

Tuesday, 3 August—"Security Risk," with John Ireland and Dorothy Malone.

Thursday, 5 August—"Susan Slept Here," with Dick Powell and Debbie Reynolds.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 30 July—"Gunga Din," with Cary Grant and Victor McLaglen.

Saturday, 31 July—"Security Risk," with John Ireland and Dorothy Malone.

Sunday, 1 August and Monday, 2 August—"Dawn at Socorro," with Rory Calhoun and Piper Laurie.

Tuesday, 3 August—"Sword of Venus," with Robert Clarke and Catherine McLeod.

Wednesday, 4 August—"Tobor the Great," with Charles Drake and Karen Booth.

Thursday, 5 August—"The Living Desert."

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

- Daughters to:
- 19 July: Sfc. and Mrs. Hiawatha Crowe, Det. #1, 6002 SU, PSFC; A/2C and Mrs. Forrest V. Dalton, 28th A.D., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. J. D. Van Winkle, 752nd AAA Gun Bn., OAB, Calif.; Major and Mrs. William L. Young, 4th Air Res. Sq. Gp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
 - 20 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Theo R. Williams, 839th T.P.C., Oakland, Calif.
 - 21 July: Sfc. and Mrs. Charles R. Hill, Det. 2, 6002 SU, PSFC.
 - 23 July: Pfc. and Mrs. Robert A. Bernard, 72nd Army Band, Cp. Hanford, Wash.; Cpl. and Mrs. Chester A. Flanders, D Btry., 752 AAA Bn., Ft. Funston, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Richard J. Freeman, 6th Army Band, PSFC.
 - 24 July: Sfc. and Mrs. Donald A. Morey, 315th Engr. (TC) PSFC.

- Sons to:
- 17 July: M/Sgt. and Mrs. James E. Bailey, Patient Wd. E-1, LAH, PSFC.
 - 18 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Harry L. Huff, 6012 SU, Svc. Co., Cp. Stoneman, Calif.
 - 19 July: Major and Mrs. Edward G. Cobb, Hqs. West Army AA Comd., Ft. Baker, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Moll, 325th Ftr. Intcep. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
 - 22 July: Pvt. and Mrs. Kenneth Bowen, 744th Ord. Co. A, Ft. Lewis, Wash.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert A. Frederickson, H&S Co. 106 Tk. Bn., 44 Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Sgt. and Mrs. Leonard H. Mullican, Hq. Det., 30 Engr. Gp. (TS) Ft. Scott, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Lawrence Richardson, 3623rd Ord. Co., PSFC; Sfc. and Mrs. Robert Timmons, Co. 1, 20th Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.
 - 23 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Harry R. Haines, 9956 TSU SGO LAH PSFC; WO and Mrs. Dennis K. Trulove, 21st Engr. Co., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Virgil L. Vermeire, Hq. 28th AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.
 - 24 July: Pfc. and Mrs. Francis W. Berndt, 6300 SU, Sig. Svc. Ctr., Det. #1, PSFC.

Oldest Service

The Army Nurse Corps, oldest of the women's military services, was established in 1901.

HOW TO "SHOOT" in the Army's Medical corps, is one of the many things learned by members of the Unit advisor's office, 347th General Hospital Reserve unit, which meets at the California Military District for its sessions. Here WOJG Charles J. Carlstein, demonstrates the proper way to give an innoculation while Cpl. J. H. Klinger poses as his patient. Observing the process are l to r: M/Sgt. Harold L. Gamble, M/Sgt. William S. Howell and Major Gean B. Haffey. (Army photo by Martinez.)

At Peak Activity!

CMD is Watchdog for Reserve Champs, Year-round Training

Activities at Headquarters, California Military district, are now at their peak, since summer training camp for thousands of Reservists is now in full swing.

Summer training is carried on at ROTC, Army Reserve and National Guard camps, and encompass the Presidio of San Francisco, Camp Stoneman, Oakland Army base, Sharpe General depot, Camp Irwin, Fort Ord, armed forces examining stations throughout the area, and Hunter Liggett military reservation.

Administratively speaking, records of approximately 30,000 Reservists are kept at CMD, training is scheduled and inspected and recruiting and publicity carried on. Since the volume of records to be kept is so enormous, the Adjutant General staff of the district is necessarily large.

Peculiar to a military district headquarters is the office of the senior Army advisor. He, with his unit advisors scattered throughout the military district area to assist him, directs the supervision and assistance given Reservists.

At CMD, weekly and bi-monthly meetings of various Reserve units goes on throughout the year.

Largest Reserve unit is the 91st Infantry division which is organized as a standard Infantry division with its Headquarters, three Regiments, Artillery, Signal, Quartermaster, Engineer, Ordnance, and Medical segments as well as a band.

Stilwell hall, Harmon armory and two rows of barracks-type buildings are in use when the local Reservists are training.

Units in Chemical, Military Intelligence, Transportation and other fields also meet at the Presidio, not the least of which is the 353d Loudspeaker and Leaflet company, whose members are trained to produce and disseminate propaganda to enemy forces by means of printed leaflets and loudspeaker broadcasts.

A variety of trades and occupational specialties are taught Reservists too. Among them are photography, multilith operation, layout aristry, script writing, lin-guism, interrogation and photolithography.

Most of the units have vacancies for a variety of specialists and technicians, and with this in mind, an active publicity and procurement program is carried on constantly. Prime targets are the young men who incur an eight-year military obligation and can ease the possibility of recall by participating in Reserve unit activities.

Immediate benefits realized from participation include a day's pay for each training meeting attended, specialized training, promotion and commission opportunities, active duty tours and eventual retirement.

Brig. General E. C. B. Danforth, Jr., is chief of the California Military district, and has as his chief of staff, Colonel W. N. White.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

- Friday, 30 July—Scrabble and pinochle, 2000. Crafts room open.
- Saturday, 31 July—Tony's dance class, 1930; horse racing, fireside party and refreshments, 2000.
- Sunday, 1 August—Al's Review stage show, 2000.
- Monday, 2 August—Guitar and ukelele instruction, coffee hour, 2000. Crafts room open.
- Tuesday, 3 August—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
- Wednesday, 4 August—Pinochle tournament, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
- Thursday, 5 August—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

- Friday, 30 July—Mixed tournaments, 2000.
- Saturday, 31 July—Horse racing, 2000.
- Sunday, 1 August—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Starmates Stage show, 2000.
- Monday, 2 August—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2000.
- Tuesday, 3 August—Post dance, 2000.
- Wednesday, 4 August—Dramatics, 2000.
- Thursday, 5 August—Square dance, 2000.

News in Books

Published unit histories of "the old outfit," provide a memoir for members and former members of the unit as well as a graphic description of their exploits for the general public and their brother units. Two such newly published unit histories are now on the shelf of the Sixth Army Reference library, Bldg. M-13, and may be borrowed for a two-week period if your local library does not have them.

"BAYONET: THE HISTORY OF THE 7th INFANTRY DIVISION IN KOREA." This excellent pictorial history of the 7th was prepared by the Public Information Office for the 7th Infantry Division Historical Council, 1 January, 1953.

"IMPACT," by L. M. Nichols. Woven into a narrative of World War II, this is the battle story of the 10th Armored Division.

"SECRET TIBET," by Fosco Maraini. A translation of the author's trip to Tibet in 1950 in which he combines anecdotes of travel with more serious comment on the life and culture of the Tibetans.

"CONTEMPORARY ETHIOPIA," by D. A. Talbot. Exciting description and observations of the progress of Ethiopia under Haile Selassie, as made by an American journalist.

"THE FEDERAL LOYALTY-SECURITY PROGRAM," by Eleanor Bontecou. An attempt "to present with accuracy and objectivity the facts about the background, organization operation and results of the security-loyalty program in the Federal government."

Home Loan Bill OK'd

Washington (AFPS)—Career Servicemen will soon be eligible for home loan benefits similar to those given to WWII and Korean vets returning to civilian life. The National Housing Act of 1954 containing this provision has been approved by Congress and sent to the White House where quick approval is expected. To qualify, a serviceman must get a certificate from the Secretary of Defense indicating that he requires housing, that he currently is on active duty and that he has been for more than two years.

Vet News Notes

The Independent Offices Appropriation Act for Fiscal Year 1955 extends the time in which veterans with service-connected noncompensable dental conditions may apply for out-patient dental treatment, Veterans Administration announced recently.

The new date is December 31, 1954, or one year after discharge, whichever is later. Under last fiscal year's appropriation act, the delimiting date was July 27, 1954.

The Act containing the December 31, 1954 date. Public Law 428, was signed by the President June 24, 1954. This law expires June 30, 1955.

VA said the new delimiting date applies only to one group of veterans—those having service-connected noncompensable dental disabilities or conditions which are shown to have existed at time of discharge.

The delimiting date does not apply to veterans in the following two classes:

1. Veterans having service-connected compensable dental conditions or disabilities, which means they must be rated 10 per cent or more disabled for the dental condition and,

2. Veterans having a dental condition, whether or not service-connected, but medically determined to be aggravating a service-connected physical disability or injury.

Under VA regulations, veterans with service-connected dental conditions or disabilities not severe enough to rate disability compensation—the group affected by the delimiting date—are entitled to one-time dental treatment with three exceptions.

These exceptions are: (1) those dental disabilities which are the result of combat injuries; (2) dental disabilities of prisoners of war, and (3) disabilities resulting from service injuries.

The one-time dental treatment limitation, VA said, does not apply to veterans not affected by the delimiting date.

Veterans who qualify for outpatient dental treatment may be referred either on a fee basis to "home town" participating dentists or to VA dental clinics.

Cinema Previews

"SECURITY RISK," F*. Through the efforts of the FBI, a traitorous assistant to a prominent scientist is discovered and brought to justice.

"THE LIVING DESERT," F*. This academy-award winner portrays an array of strange desert personalities and their adventures in the never-ending struggle for survival.

"THE LOST PATROL," F*. A dozen trapped men, facing inevitable death at the hands of unseen enemies—what are their emotions, reactions, schemes for survival?

"TOBOR THE GREAT," F*. A pair of American scientists go to work on the construction of a mechanical man which they hope will pilot an experimental space ship.

"THE BLACK SHIELD OF FALWORTH," F*. From the classic novel, "Men of Iron," comes this tale of adventure of a fabulous outlaw knight who wooed the fair lady and crushed the black-guards plotting against England's throne.

"SUSAN SLEPT HERE," F*. All about a man-about-town and a girl about 18 and how she moved in—to his life!

F*—Family.

Teen-Age Activities

Friday, 30 July—Gym night at the LAH gym. Meet at gym at 1930 hours, dressed for sports. Free donuts after the games.

Saturday, 31 July—Birthday party at TAC beginning at 2100 hours with free cake and coffee.

All-Sixth Softball Candidate Decided Next Week

21st, 30th Engineers, Detachment 1, 9th AAA Slated for Elimination Play

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio representative to the nearing All-Sixth Softball Championship at Fort Ord will be determined in a double elimination tournament starting this Monday.

Following the close finish of the season's softball tournament here this week, four teams emerged as finalists: Co-leaders of the intramural loop 21st Engineer Company and Detachment 1, 6002 SU; second-place Headquarters Detachment, 30th Engineer Group, and Headquarters, 9th AAA Battalion.

The last-named team made the top-four roster only by the skin of its teeth. Tied at an 7-4 win-loss record with the tough B Company, 505th MP, up to the middle of this week, they met the police in a sudden death battle on Wednesday afternoon to decide which would go onto final elimination matches Monday.

The artillerymen won 12-1 on the two-hit pitching of W. C. Reynolds, who opposed moundsmen Tanner and Barnes for the MPs.

The 9th AAA opened strong in the first inning, scoring three markers to their opponents' one. In the second bracket, sniffing victory in the wind, the ack ack bats blasted a total of eight runs to cinch the game. A single marker in the seventh finished the scoring.

Two-baggers were smashed by Ethridge, Wilson, Reynolds and White, who were helped by Belendier and Bush toward the final 10-hit total.

Reynolds whiffed a total of five opposition batsmen.

In other season's end skirmishes this week, the 102d MRU thrashed the 99th Engineers 15-1, banging out a high of four homers in the process.

Batsman Sponable for the recordsmen hit the year's top in batting as he clobbered the ball for three homers and a double.

Malinski connected for one homer and two doubles.

Ryan hurled for the MRU.

The 16th Base Post Office clamped the 315th Engineer Company 6-5 in eight innings of play. The winning marker was scored when Horn singled and reached second on an engineer miscue. Herbold came up, bunted, and teammate Horne came home on another error.

Matcaroff played an excellent third base for the winners.

The 315th Engineers came out of the limbo for a brief flash this week, beating the mammoth 21st Engineers 6-5. The story was not available by deadline this week, suffice it to say that the loss put the 21st into a tie with Detachment 1, 6002 SU, for the league's top place.

Drawings were scheduled early Thursday to determine order of play on Monday. Games will commence at 1530, two at a time, on diamonds one and two. The play-offs will continue through Friday if necessary.

Final league standings:

Team	Won	Lost
21st Engineers	9	2
Detachment 1	9	2
30th Engineers	8	3
9th AAA	8	4
Company B, 505th MP	7	5
315th Engineers	5	6
Hill Toppers	5	6
102d MRU	5	6
Headquarters, Sixth Army	5	6
A Company, 505th MP	2	9
99th Engineers	2	9
16th Base Post Office	2	9
C Company, 505th, withdrew from league

Waldorf Clinic Will Prime Gridders for Fall Kick-Offs

A Bay Area Armed Forces Football Clinic is scheduled for Treasure Island Naval Station, at 0900 hours, 4 August, it was announced jointly by the Bay Area Armed Forces Commanders this week.

University of California coach Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf and his staff will head the clinic, which will cover T-Offense, Backfield Play, Line Play, Administration and Organization, Team Defense, and other timely topics of interest.

Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, and his Staff will head up the Clinic which will cover T-Offense, Backfield Play, Line Play, Administration and Organization, Team Defense, and other timely topics of interest.

Service coaches, their staffs, and players from Treasure Island, Naval Air Station, Alameda, Naval Air Station, Moffett Field, Mare Island Naval Shipyard, San Francisco Naval Shipyard, Hamilton Air Force Base, Camp Parks Air Force Base, Mather Air Force Base, Fort Ord, Edwards Air Force Base, and Presidio of San Francisco will be present.

Approximately 56 games have been scheduled among service and civilian teams in this area. The public is cordially invited to witness any of these games.

The Bay Area Armed Forces Football Competition will commence on or about 17 September with the local Red Raiders meeting the Treasure Island Pirates at Treasure Island. On 18 September, Hamilton Air Force Flyers tangle with the ever-strong Camp Pendleton Marines at Hamilton Field, while Alameda's Hellcats take on the Stanford Braves at Alameda.

Baseball Climax!

Camp Carson, Colo., will be the scene of some fine baseball in the near future. Carson Park, sometimes called "Kit Carson Stadium," will be the site of the Fifth Army Tournament, Sept. 1-8. The All-Army tourney moves into the park Sept. 13-18, and the World Series of Service baseball, the Inter-service tournament, is scheduled for Sept. 23-24.

Presidio to Vie! Fort Ord Will Host All-Sixth Male, Female Softball in Aug.

Fort Ord, California, has been named host installation for the 1954 All-Sixth Army combined male and female Softball tournaments, scheduled 6-10 September, it was announced by Headquarters, Sixth Army, recently.

Prior to the Sixth Army affair, preliminary male tournaments will be conducted 18-20 August in three divisions.

Fort MacArthur, California, will host Southern Division teams. The Mountain Division will be determined at Dugway Proving Ground, Dugway, Utah. Northern Division teams will meet at Madigan Army Hospital, Tacoma, Washington.

No preliminary tournament will be conducted in the Central Division. Thus, the unit team winning the Presidio play-offs scheduled next week will go direct to Fort Ord for the Championship play. Preliminary matches will not be conducted for female teams either.

Each installation in the Area is authorized to enter a male and a female team consisting of not more than 14 individuals, to include 12 playing members, team official and Officer-in-Charge.

Company level teams only are eligible to compete.

The Army Commander's Trophy will be awarded to the male team winning the Sixth Army Softball Championship for temporary possession for one year, or until competed for again. The Army Commander's Replica Trophy will be presented for permanent possession of the winning team. A runnerup team trophy will also be presented.

Appropriate trophies will be awarded to winning and runnerup teams in the women's tourney. Awards will not be made at prelims.

Fort Ord, California, and the Presidio battled to an extra-game elimination in the 1953 series here, with the southerners taking the final nod for the championship.

There will be no All-Army competition this year.

Hole-in-One!

Calling all duffers!

Longhitters, short-hitters and nondescripts from the ranks of Presidio golfers are invited, nay, urged to be on hand this Sunday at the Post Pitch'n Putt Course for the Annual Hole-in-One Tournament.

Contest hours will run from 1000 to 1700.

Anybody—military personnel and civilian alike—is eligible for competition. All you need is 50 cents for five balls. Contestants are allowed to buy as many balls as they need to ace the hole.

All proceeds from the event will go to the Army Emergency Relief.

First and second-place trophies will be awarded.

The Post Pitch'n Putt Course is located on the Presidio off MacArthur Blvd. between Liggett and Rodriguez.

Airmen Waxed! Presidio Golfers Defeat Parks In Fifth Bay Area Win of Year

M/Sgt. Sid Domingue and Pfc. Dave Bull of the Presidio Golf Team fired slim cards of 77 and 78 respectively to power the locals to their fifth Bay Area League victory this Tuesday over the Parks airmen at Sharpe's Park.

Medalist Domingue negotiated 37-40, 77, for the afternoon to overcome Parksman Robert Cook 5 and 4.

Bull shot 38-40 to defeat Bill Garst 3 and 1.

Presidian Ray Steelsmith played against Don Bracken in the first match. He lost the first nine 4 and 2, recouped in the second 3 and 4 to win one up for the overall 18 holes.

Bob Carter whipped Craig Lowry of Parks 7 and 6 for the full route, scoring 38-45, 83 for the day.

Bill Hawley stroked an even 40-40, 80 and paced George Hydrick of Parks 5 and 4 for the match.

Newcomer Leroy Colgate of Letterman was the only local to lose his match. He bowed to Mike Clifford the hard way, dropping one down the first nine, winning two up coming in, and losing one down the full 18.

Presidio golfers lost only one point on best ball.

Total scores: Presidio 23, Park 4.

Next match for the home team comes Tuesday against Camp Stoneman. The locals beat the southerners in their first match with them in the double round-robin tournament in May.

We All Go . . .

Holy Cross baseball captain Paul Brissette, Jr., recently signed by the Chicago White Sox, has been inducted into the Army.

DAVE BULL, playing for the Presidio Golf Team, stroked a slim 78 on Tuesday at Sharpe's Park to contribute handsomely to the team's easy 23-4 victory over the Parks AFB team.

Homerun Happy! WACs Wax Two Bay League Rivals in Fast Season Finish

The Presidio WAC softball team finished girding itself for coming All-Sixth Army combat in August with two straight decisions over the Bay Area Women's League Oak Knoll Nurses, giving the local ladies their ninth and tenth victories of the year.

Last Thursday Presidio hurler Gavigan and catcher Argue worked the best defensive play of the year, clamping the nurses' scoring opportunities to nil with four double places and some beautiful pitching.

WAC batters Long, Viera, Bernardini, Argue, LaDue, Gavigan, Thompson and Kite parlayed three runs in the first inning, one in the second, two in the fourth, a single in the fifth and four in the sixth to break the visitors' spirits 12-1.

This Wednesday in the latter part of a two-game series it was the same story. Zarah Christian took over backstopping Gavigan's sizzlers, opposing Vick and Brenner of the Nurse Corps.

The WAC defenders performed one double play this time. Presidio bats pounded out two homers (Thompson and Gavigan) and 17 assorted blows. Biggest innings were the first and fifth, where the Presidiennes scored six markers in each to go ahead easily.

On Saturday the WACs met the San Francisco Bell Telephone Company nine in an exhibition game at home.

Gavigan and Christian paired against Kyles and Yuma for the operators. The local defensive team added to their fat stock of laurels with two more double plays.

Heavystickers for the winners included Thompson, Kite, Gavigan, La Due and Bernardini, who homered.

Next appearance for the Presidiennes comes tomorrow when they meet a travelling Los Angeles semi-pro combination at 1300 hours on the garrison diamond.

On Wednesday they play the cellar-dwelling Fort Mason WACs in their last League game of the season. They hold a 10-2 game record, second to Alameda's 11-1 first-place.

SAFETY ZONE

HEAT EXHAUSTION MAKES BODIES ACHE - SALT TABLETS ARE THE THING TO TAKE!

Yost Tied at Second In All-Army Golf; Ward Wins Match

Favored Cpl. Billy Maxwell, former National Amateur Champ and representing Fort Hood, Texas, and Fourth Army fired a 71 in the currently contested All-Army Golf Tournament at the Woodmont Country Club in Rockville, Maryland, this week, but had to take a back seat to first-day leaders, Cpl. Billy Maca, Second Army golfer from Fort George Meade; and Cpl. Clifton Harrington, a member of 82nd Airborne from Fort Bragg, both of whom carded two under par 70's.

Tied with Maxwell at 71 was Presidio's Dick Yost, who shot a 34 on the front nine, but faded to 37 coming back.

Trailing Maxwell and Yost with par 72's were Pfc. Claude "Buster" Reed, Fourth Army, who was runnerup last year at Pebble Beach; Cpl. Eddie Johnson of Third Army; Pfc. Daniel Sikes from Second Army, and Cpl. John Weaver from Camp Carson, Colorado, representing Fifth Army; Cpl. George Bigham of Fort Belvoir and MDW, and 2/Lt. Bob Jacobs, Fourth Army.

In Senior Division play, Lt. General George Decker, Army Comptroller, representing the Military District of Washington, led the way into the quarter-final round on Tuesday by firing one under par 71, to defeat M/Sgt. Leo Dawson of Fort Benning, 6 and 4.

Lt. Colonel Thomas Ward of the Presidio scored a mild upset when he defeated Colonel Robert Chard of Fort Meade 3 and 2.

Defending Champ Lt. General Floyd L. Parks successfully opened defense of his crown on Tuesday by taking an easy four and three match from Sixth Army's Lt. Colonel Russell Jernigan. Major Frederick Potts of Third Army coasted

FORT ORD golfer Bob McCallister took a third-place 303 against All-Sixth Army divotmen here at the Presidio links two weeks ago. This week he played on behalf of Sixth Army against golfers representing the Pacific, Far East, European and ZI commands.

SIXTH ARMY RUNNERUP Dick Yost of the Presidio met All-Army competition for the second straight year this week as representative of this area at the big Army golf meeting at Woodmont Country Club, Rockville, Maryland.

to a seven and five win over Lt. Colonel Henry J. Heinichin of Fifth Army. Potts, in winning his match, fired a 75, two strokes better than Parks, who finished with a 77.

Last-minute reports on Wednesday's play indicated that Bill Maxwell fired 71-70—141, to continue to pace the Main Division field.

One stroke behind were Presidian Yost and John Weaver of Houston. Yost had 71-71, 142 and Weaver 72-70, 142.

In Senior play Major Potts upset defending champion Lt. General Parks, 2 and 1. Lt. Colonel Mannie Raley of Fort Monmouth, N. J., defeated local Lt. Colonel Ward, 1 up.

Results other than those of Tuesday and Wednesday were not available by this week's deadline. Complete results will be listed in next week's Star-Presidian.

Mixed Kegler League's 39ers Win at a Stroll; Another Tourney Soon

The Mixed Bowling League's 39ers came up from second place to win the loop championship by a broad nine-point margin according to tournament-finish figures released this week. Their final tally was 23-9.

Runnerups were the TAG Lofters, with 19-13.

D. MacDonald copped all male honors for the series with a high game of 234, high series of 570, and a 165 average.

Captain Georgia Henegar won high game and high series for the ladies with 171 and 425, respectively. D. Steward had high average with 128.

Mixed League administrators plan to open a new tournament to commence in two or three weeks. A meeting is scheduled for next Wednesday, 4 August, at the Presidio Service Club Bowling Alleys, 1900 hours.

Final League Standings:

Team	W	L
39ers	23	9
TAG Lofters	19	13
Sixth Army Ord.	17	15
No Names	12	20
TAG Indians	9	23

Slow Rollers Hot In Kegler Battle; Deuce, Engrs Vie

Detachment 1 and Sixth Army Engineers of the National Bowling League continued to fight it out for loop dominance two points apart this week, each collecting 3-1 victories from their respective opponents.

Evans of the Deuce toppled a total of 190 for his high game this week, with a 172 average, to power his team to victory over the 16th Base Post Office.

Losers Torro summed 180, 163.

Engineer Pilkington took high game honors with 203, a 157 average, to spark the Sixth Army Engineers to a 3-1 win over the Marroos. Marroo Lawton bowled 215, 156.

Headquarters Sixth Army took the only sweep-victory this week, against 6513 SU. Brown powered the winners with 178, 165. Horder boosted the losers with 177, 163.

102d MRU defeated the Compt Rollers 3-1, with Dennis of the machine records unit totalling 178, 157. 'Roller Tajima scored 166, 143.

In the Eastern League this week, the Detachment A, 6002 SU, Slow Rollers took a decided upswing, defeating the Detachment 1 of the same outfit 4-0 and moving up from last week's fourth place to runnerup spot. Broderhausen of the winners marked 443 total, with Morgan of the Deuce at 523.

Company B, 505th MP Battalion, whipped 6300 SU 4-0. Gibson led the police with a 484 pin-total. Sikorski and Bobbitt shared high total at 404 for the losers.

The Keystone Kops took a 3-1 victory from Headquarters, Sixth Army. Johnson bowled a 509 total for the winners, with Fisher of Headquarters at 438.

In the Western League, the Constables annexed another 3-1 win to their league-leading total with victory over the 30th Engineer Topos. Hoskins led the police with a 519 total. Hair sparked the engineers at 483.

The TAGS defeated the Sleuths 4-0, with Jacobs at 567. Sleuth Yonemura registered 504.

The 99th Engineers whipped the Money Bags 3-1, McAdoo rolling 490 total. Arawaka led the finance boys with 534.

Headquarters Sixth Army beat the Pinsplitters 3-1.

Standings as of Thursday morning of this week:

NATIONAL
Team	Won	Lost
Detachment 1	29	15
Engineers, Sixth Army	28	16
Headquarters, Sixth Army	26½	17½
102d MRU	23	21
16th BPO	19½	24½
Compt Rollers	19	25
6513 SU	17	27
Marroos	14	30

EASTERN
Team	Won	Lost
56th MRU	27½	12½
Slow Rollers	26	18
Co. B 505th MP Bn.	23	21
Det. #1, 6002 #2	21½	18½
6300 SU	21	19
Keystone Kops	20	20
Hq. 6 A-G-2	14	30

WESTERN
Team	Won	Lost
Constables	27	17
Tags	26	18
Money Bags	23	17
Headquarters, Sixth Army	23	17
Sleuths	22	22
99th Engineers	18	18
Pinsplitters	20	24
Flashers	18	22
Topos	11	33

Swimmer at Chaffee

Pvt. Wayne Moore, who finished sixth in the 400-meter swimming event in the 1952 Olympics and was a member of the victorious 800-meter relay team, feels right at home at Camp Chaffee, Ark. Moore, captain of the 1953 Yale swimming team, is a life guard at Chaffee's swimming pool.

First Place Tie! Raiders Drop Test to Alameda, Beat Marines, for Loop Third

The Presidio Red Raider dropped their third game of the season against Alameda Naval Air Station and clobbered the San Francisco Marines to finish the Bay Area Armed Forces League series in an uncontested third place this week.

Alamedan Dick Stewart limited the Raiders to two hits in the first frame and nothing there after last Thursday as the Navy whipped the local garrison 8-2. In two previous meetings the teams had divided victory evenly.

Stewart fanned seven batters in all, and was tough to beat throughout, though he got into serious trouble in the fourth, sixth and eighth innings as he loaded the bases on walks.

George Asepermy and Bobbie Brown split one apiece on the only connections claimed by the Presidio. Kenny Klopp and Sal Fucile divided mound chores.

On Tuesday of this week, the soldiers rebounded to shellack the San Francisco Marines 8-2. Sal Fucile pitched and batted the Raiders to victory, chucking a six-hitter, fanning 11 opposition batsmen, and leading the hit-attack with four for five.

Presidio guns banged out a field-day total of 18 hits, with Asepermy, Ed Jacobsen, Johnny Ethridge, Bobbie Brown and Coleman collecting at least two hits apiece.

It was Fucile's fifth mound win against no losses. The manager-catcher is currently helping out the undermanned Presidio mound staff due to a shortage of pitchers. Ken Klopp is still sidelined with a sore shoulder.

On Saturday, the Reds split a double bill with the visiting Mather AFB Knights. In the opener, Hank Monroe posted his eighth mound win, 9-1, choking the airmen's bats to a slim two blows.

Biggest gun for the Raiders was Pittsburgh-owned Ed Jacobsen, who led the Presidio attack with three hits. Fucile supported him with two.

Presidio errors proved costly in the second game of the twin bill, as the Matherites came back to win 11-5. Newcomer Ted Rossie hurled for the locals. The diminutive portsider tossed good leather on the whole, giving up but three hits. Walks were his downfall, as he tired in the fifth and was relieved by Fucile.

LT. COLONEL THOMAS WARD, Sixth Army Senior Champion and representative of the Presidio of San Francisco, played against All-Army competition this week. Championship ends tomorrow.

The game was loosely played. Both sides issued too many free bases. The Presidio was unable to push across the markers they needed during their many scoring opportunities.

As of Star-Presidian deadline this week, Alameda had sole possession of second place in the BAAF League, but if the Reds whipped Parks AFB in a game scheduled against the league-leaders yesterday—as they have done before—it would necessitate a play-off between Alameda and Parks for first.

Standings as of Thursday morning:

Team	Won	Lost
Parks AFB	17	2
Alameda	17	3
PRESIDIO	13	5
USS Oriskany	9	8
Hamilton AFB	9	9
Moffett NAS	6	13
SF Marines	2	16
Treasure Island	1	17

First Annual Service Bowling Tourney Set For San Leandro Soon

First Annual Bay Area Servicemen's Handicap Bowling Tournament will be staged at the Midway Bowl, San Leandro, 7-15 August, it was announced recently.

Keglers may bowl as many times as they wish toward the first place 40% of total prize money and trophy, but may place only once in the money. Their highest score plus handicap will be used to compete winners.

An entry fee for the first line must be in by midnight, 5 August.

Squad dates have been set for Saturday, 7 August, through Sunday, 15 August, for 1000-1700 hours.

Entry blanks are available at the Midway Bowl, Special Services Office at the Presidio or the Post Bowling Alley.

If a contestant has no A.B.C. average of 21 games or more he will take an automatic 170.

The tournament is in no way connected with either the local Special Services Office or Sixth Army Special Services functions. It is a private undertaking.

Ft. Ord to Meet Rams; Cannamela Sidelined

The Fort Ord Warriors, 1953 All-Service football champions, will enter their first contest of the season at Long Beach tomorrow night against the professional Los Angeles Rams.

They go into action without rugged guard Pat Cannamela, ex-USC All-American lineman and veteran of last year's team, who suffered a broken ankle in recent scrimmage.

Well-known Army and collegiate gridders expected to see action against the Rams include Ed Henke, Dave Mann, Gene Mitchen, Ollie Matson, Chuck Holloway, and Bob Peviani.

GIANT PHOTOSTAT MACHINE, here operated by photostat operator Pfc. Martin J. Wolf of Marshfield, Wisconsin, performs preliminary reproduction chores at AG Printing Plant. Staff of four enlisted men, eight civilians, work hard turning out everything from 50-page memorandums, brochures and handbooks, to one-page directives. (Army Photo by Gutierrez)

A BUSY PRESSROOM, equal to any Army plant and many first-class civilian lay-outs is found at the Fort Scott Adjutant General's Class A Field Printing Plant. Here is a view of the main floor housing the five multilith machines upon which falls the brunt of the workload which comes into the plant each day. These men and machines turn out an average of over two million impressions a month, filling orders from Headquarters, Sixth Army, and the many area installations with no facilities for full-scale reproduction. Press operators are, from front to back, Mr. August Hayes, offset press operator; Mr. Cloyd Casey, offset press operator; Sgt. John C. Craig, offset press operator; M/Sgt. Earl Gearlds, Administrative NCO; Mr. James C. Roat, offset press operator, and Mrs. Gertrude Gambs, pressroom foreman. (Army Photo by Gutierrez)

LAYOUT WORK is another responsibility of personnel at the AG Printing Plant at Fort Scott. Here are two of the staff, Mr. Orion Von Stetten (left), and Mr. Carl Saner, doing some close precision work on the plant's lay-out table. Other chores performed by the plant personnel, besides actually preparing the offset plates and printing the material on the presses, include integrating the many pages of booklets, stapling them together and binding the finished product. Recent example of plant's handiwork was 22-page booklet in honor of the California National Guard 40th Division, just returned to San Francisco from the Far East. (Army Photo by Gutierrez)

Impressive Performance!

Fort Scott Printing Plant Fills Big Bill for Whole Sixth Army

With an average of 2,400,000 impressions a month, the Class A field printing plant operated by the Publications Branch of the Sixth Army Adjutant General's Section turns out a continuous flow of forms, manuals, memorandums, letterheads and charts for Headquarters, Sixth Army, Presidio units, and other small Area installations.

Formerly part of the Sea Coast Branch of the Artillery School, the plant at Fort Scott was turned over to Headquarters, Sixth Army, in April 1949 when the Sea Coast Branch was discontinued. Since that date it has proven a valuable asset to Sixth Army and Presidio units.

Since 1952 alone, the number of impressions a month has been doubled from 1,300,000. The plant is geared to handle emergency printing of classified material for the entire Army area. These jobs may entail 25,000 impressions of a one-page memorandum, or 50,000 copies of a 20-page brochure. Whatever the requirements, the AG plant is equipped with the machines and technically-skilled workers to complete it.

Plant facilities include five small offset presses, a giant photostat machine and an Ozalid machine. From photographing the material to final etching, plates for the offset presses are made right at the plant.

The Ozalid machine can make reproductions from tracings, diagrams or charts with a maximum width of 42 inches and any desired length. It is in use over 25 per cent of every day performing its highly specialized work.

More floor space, equipment and manpower is put to the tedious job of stapling, binding and integrating the many pages that go into the average job.

At present the plant is turning out a 300-page handbook for the Sixth Army Comptroller which is being run off in sections of 3,900 copies each.

Just recently they completed a 22-page brochure entitled "Welcome Home"—a tribute and memento of the return of California's famed 40th Division to San Francisco. This particular job entailed on one page a three-color reproduction of the order of march of the 40th in the downtown area and took many hours overtime for completion by the specified deadline.

In the near future the plant will print the Retired Officers' List of the entire Sixth Army Area—a job they turn out once a year.

The staff of four enlisted men and eight civilians is under the direction of Mr. E. J. Hodgkins, Superintendent, a veteran of 16 years in the publications field.

He is assisted by M/Sgt. E. Gearlds, Administrative NCO, and shop foreman Mr. Carl Saner and Mrs. Gertrude Gambs.

Army's New Look For '55 Will Be Green, Shade 44

Adoption of a new Army general duty uniform, to be known as Army green, shade 44, was announced this week by Department of the Army.

No rush to line up for issue however, fellows, since the uniforms will not be ready for distribution until the winter of 1955-56!

Purchase of cloth will commence in the immediate future, but existing stocks of shade 33 uniforms will be disposed of before the Army green is required for general duty.

Wear-out periods for old uniforms for both officers and enlisted men will be announced soon, and the Army green will not be authorized for either on- or off-duty wear until after dates to be announced by D/A.

"Past experiences in uniform change-overs indicates that it will be at least several years before the entire Army is clad exclusively in the new Army green, since five months will be required to produce the cloth and another 13 months for manufacture and distribution," D/A said.

"Initially, some 6,000,000 yards of cloth will be purchased by the Army, resulting in the manufacture of 1,400,000 new uniforms."

Transportation Corps Cadet Wins Nat'l Title As Top ROTC Officer

Richmond, Va.—The National Society of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity, has selected A. Dick Howard as the top ROTC officer of the nation.

Howard, cadet colonel and regimental commander of the Transportation Corps ROTC at the University of Richmond, was presented a $300 cash award by Col. Robert C. Larson, professor of military science and tactics at the University.

He received the award for his general all-around excellence in military science, academic records and leadership qualities in all activities. He will be commissioned in the Transportation Corps.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

(Third Class Mail)

Two Cents

Postage

Syngman Rhee Here Tomorrow

star presidian

serving those who serve a nation!

Vol. 3, No. 10

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 6 August, 1954

Deputy Chief of Staff

Army Commander Names Ex G1 to Top Staff Assignment

Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, former assistant chief of staff, G1, and prior to that deputy post commander of the Presidio, has been named by Army Commander Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman to succeed Colonel LeCount Slocum, retired, as deputy chief of staff for administration, plans and operations.

Prior to his assignment to Sixth Army last March, Colonel Somerville served in Korea as assistant IX Corps artillery officer, chief of staff for the U.N. Truce Delegation and artillery officer for 8th Army.

Previous to combat assignment he served with the operations division, G3, of the Department of the Army, holding assignments as troop control officer and chief of the Latin American Branch. In the latter capacity he was a member of the Inter-American Defense Board, Joint Mexico-U. S. Defense Commission, and Joint Brazil-U. S. Defense Commission.

Following two years of study at the University of Maryland, Colonel Somerville entered West Point and graduated with the class of '28. He served with various artillery units returning to the Academy in 1935 for a four-year stint as an instructor.

During WWII he was assistant artillery officer for Second Army and later went overseas with the 86th Division as executive officer of division artillery. He served with the division both in Europe and the Pacific.

Following the war he was assigned to activate the U. S. Army Mission to Venezuela.

Colonel Somerville is a graduate of the Command and General Staff and the Armed Forces Staff college and has completed special studies at University of Michigan and Columbia University.

Colonel Garlan R. Bryant has been named acting assistant chief of staff, G1. He formerly served with the same staff section as chief of military personnel. He recently completed 10 months as G1 of the IX Corps in Korea.

Decorated with the Silver Star Medal, the Legion of Merit with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal and the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, Colonel Bryant is a veteran of 19 years' Army service.

In World War II, the colonel, who is a graduate of Texas A&M, served in the European theatre with the 4th Infantry.

Exception to Rule!

The Army announcement that it is no longer possible for reservists to come on active duty as master sergeants and sergeants first class does not apply to those applications for active duty accepted by chiefs of Military Districts on or before June 17, 1954, or to any requests for extension of current periods of active duty submitted under provisions of SR 135-210-5, according to a subsequent Army message.

Colonel Somerville

Army Decorates 22 Additional K-POWs; 40 Awards Pending

Washington (AFPS)—Twenty-two more former prisoners of war from the Korean conflict have been decorated by the Army for meritorious services during the time they were imprisoned.

The awards included seven Bronze Star Medals and 15 Commendation Ribbons with Metal Pendant. The award winners are being notified now and will be honored at ceremonies at their respective posts in the near future.

Those no longer in service are being invited to attend ceremonies at installations near their homes. Forty awards are still pending for other POWs.

The only officer on the list was Capt. Clarence L. Anderson, USA, a Medical Corps officer who was cited for his work in tending the sick and wounded despite hardships placed on him by his captors. Also named was M/Sgt. Billy C. Knowles, who won two Silver Stars, two Bronze Star Medals and a Purple Heart while serving with the 2nd Div. in WWII.

New Assignments!

Lt. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, USA, has left Korea for his new post as superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy. Brig. Gen. John H. Michaelis, commandant of cadets at the Academy, will leave next month for a new assignment at Hq. Allied Forces Southern Europe in Naples. He will be replaced at West Point by Brig. Gen. Edwin J. Messinger, former assistant commander of the 24th Inf. Div. in Korea.

Green Uniform Gets Army Okay; Due in 18 Months

Washington (AFPS) — The Department of the Army has officially announced the adoption of its new general duty uniform to be known as Army Green, shade 44. Procurement of the new uniform will begin soon, but it will not be issued until the winter of 1955-56.

Stocks of the present shade 33 OD uniforms will be below $5,-000,000 in value by that time, the Army announcement indicates.

Complete details of the new uniform and its accessories plus the wear-out period for old uniforms for both officers and EM will be announced soon. The Army Green uniform is not authorized for either on-duty or off-duty wear until after dates to be announced later by the Army.

Five months are required for the production of the cloth and about 13 months for the clothing industry to manufacture and distribute the new uniform. Initially, the Army will purchase some 6,000,000 yards of cloth to go into 1,400,000 uniforms.

The DA explained that changes of uniform in the past have indicated that it would be several years before the entire Army would be garbed in the new uniform.

Sixth Army Plans Top Welcome For Noted Anti-Communist Ally

South Korea's fiery patriot and president, Syngman Rhee, will be accorded top military honors when he visits the Presidio of San Francisco tomorrow morning. Scheduled to arrive on the Presidio at 1115 hours, President Rhee will be greeted by Sixth Army Commander Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman. Following the Army Commander's welcome, colorful ceremonies will get underway in honor of the diminutive "lion of Asia," who is on the last leg of a high level visit to the United States.

President Rhee

Upon the arrival of President Rhee at the Presidio a 21-gun salute will be fired in his honor. Escorted by military police, President Rhee and his party will drive to a reviewing stand between Buildings 39 and 40, opposite and facing the Presidio flag pole. The streets along the route will be lined at regular intervals with men of Sixth Army Headquarters Company and the 505th Military Police Battalion.

A guard of honor, composed of Sixth Army Band members, Sixth Army Honor Guard and the mass colors of the United States, Republic of Korea, United Nations and the Sixth Army, as well as the colors of the 20 nations who took part in the Korean conflict, will be formed facing the reviewing stand. Behind the Guard of Honor will be color bearers holding other United Nation flags.

On arrival at the small reviewing stand, President Rhee will be met by Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commanding General, Sixth Army, and Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, Sixth Army Chief of Staff. Mrs. Wyman and Mrs. Dean will also be on hand to greet the President and Mrs. Rhee. The ladies will be seated behind the reviewing stand with the remainder of the presidential party.

Upon President Rhee's arrival on the parade ground he and General Wyman will mount the stand and the Sixth Army band will immediately accord the president honors—four ruffles and flourishes. The band will then play the Korean national anthem and without pause "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The Commander of the Guard, Captain Chester D. Searls, will then report to President Rhee, and General Wyman will ask him if he wishes to inspect the troops.

To the left of the guard will be lined approximately 350 officers assigned to Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, all of whom formerly served in Korea.

Immediately following the ceremony the members of the (Please turn to page 2)

First Since Lafayette!

Nurse Heroine of Dienbienphu Will Visit Letterman Tuesday

Lieutenant Genevieve de Gallard-Terraube, nurse heroine of Dienbienphu, will arrive at the Presidio next Tuesday, 10 August, for a tour of Letterman Army Hospital facilities. Lieutenant Gallard-Terraube is the first person since Lafayette to be invited to the United States as a guest of Congress.

The courageous nurse has earned the celestial title of "The Angel of Dien Bien Phu" for her work with wounded troops in the besieged Indo-Chinese fortress.

A wounded survivor of the bastion's last stand, parachutist Cpl. Didier Lecomte, was evacuated in the first group of wounded from the fortress, and gave this account of the 29-year-old nurse.

"She was wonderful, always smiling and cheerful as she moved around from one bed to the next and doing everything in her power to make us rest easier."

"I was hit not long after I got to the fortress," he reported. "In a way, it was worse being in the hospital during those heavy Red bombardments, which sometimes caused timbers to fall, than to be in the trenches where the Reds were pouring heavy fire down."

"I was hit by a shell in the arm and in the thigh almost at the same time. When I was taken down into the dark hospital, Lt. de Gallard-Terraube came up to me and helped with the dressings the doctors put on my wounds."

"When she learned I was from Paris, too, we talked about home—it took my mind off what the doctors were doing," he said. The nurse was the only woman in the fortress garrison.

The wounded parachutist said that when the fortress fell Communist doctors came into the wards with French Army doctors. The Communist asked questions about each man's wounds.

"Lieut. de Gallard-Terraube was allowed to stay with us and she worked tirelessly to help us," he said. "She had won our admiration before, and she quickly won the admiration of the Communists too."

Career Benefits Lag!

Final action on the bill to provide home loan benefits for career servicemen similar to those given to WWII and Korean veterans was held up by the extended Senate debate on the administration's atomic energy bill.

Actually both Houses of Congress have approved the bill but, because of a few minor differences, it will be necessary for the Senate to reaffirm its position.

ENTERING ITS SECOND week of appeal for funds to aid Korea, is the American-Korean Foundation drive which seeks wholeheartedly to prevent scenes like the one above from occurring in that ravaged land. The Foundation, which military and civilian personnel on the Presidio are requested to help, hopes, in addition to easing the suffering of the Korean people, to help them demonstrate the democratic way of life in Asia in a manner that will negate the growing jungle of Communism.

IT'S SIMPLE MATHEMATICS

Editorial

Broad Objectives

(Ed's Note: The following is the second of four editorials dealing with the importance of the Army Troop Information and Education program, its objectives and principles of application as transmitted to Headquarters Sixth Army by DA through OCAFF.)

Troop information is designed to accomplish three major objectives. The first of these is to convince the soldier that he is of personal importance to the Army and has an important job to do, which, if not well done, will keep his unit from operating effectively. Development of individual pride of service and of his military skill promotes this objective.

The second objective is to convince the soldier that his unit is the keynote of a larger organization and one upon which all other units of his team must lean heavily if they are to accomplish their mission. This objective is furthered by development of unit esprit de corps.

The third objective is to convince the soldier that he belongs to an organization which has a vital mission in a worthy cause that demands the utmost of every soldier and merits the support of every citizen. An understanding of American principles and of the communist threat to them assists in attaining this objective.

The last of the above objectives, while of great importance, does not subordinate the others. The attainment of all three is necessary to the mental development of the soldier. Under present conditions, it is admittedly difficult for young commanders to explain fully this third objective. It is in order to assist these junior leaders that troop information guidance and materials are provided by the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army. However, this particular field of information is not, as so many feel, a separate and detached program. It is only one aspect of the entire process of leadership.

New Army Regulation To Help Unit COs Stop Heat Casualties

Washington (AFPS)—Responsibility for recognizing symptoms of heat injury has been placed on unit commanders by a new Army regulation, SR 40-260-5, prepared by the staff of the Surgeon General.

The regulation lists preventive measures COs may take: serving the heavy meal of the day in the evening; allowing an hour of rest after the noon meal; providing plenty of water and salt to make up for that lost through perspiration.

The Surgeon General also recommends scheduling the most strenuous activities during the cooler parts of the day and letting the troops wear clothing and equipment loosely—permitting free circulation of air between the uniform and the body surface.

The new regulation charges leaders with alertness in spotting dizziness, headaches, nausea and other signs of heat injury. They must be prepared to render first aid at all times.

Poor Carrier!

The Adjutant General's Office—the heart of the Army's administrative operation—receives on an average, more than 45,000 pieces of mail every day.

1700 Will Be Offered Positions as Regular AF Warrant Officers

Washington (AFPS)—The USAF will tender regular warrant officer appointments to about 1700 persons during fiscal year 1955.

About 1300 appointments will be offered to USAF non-regular WOs now on active duty. About 400 appointments will be offered to active duty master sergeants including those holding reserve warrant officer appointments.

Appointments will be made only in skills where a stated requirement exists. A list of those specialties will be published in November. No person will be permitted to apply in more than three specialties.

Temporary WOs will be appointed in the permanent grade of Chief Warrant Officer, W-2, or Warrant Officer, W-1. Master sergeants will be appointed in the permanent grade of Warrant Officer, W-1. Acceptance of a regular WO appointment will not affect a higher temporary WO grade held on extended active duty.

Application procedure will be announced later. Eligibility requirements can be found in USAF Information and Compliance Letter 6-67, dated July 8, 1954.

President Rhee

(Continued from page 1)

President's party will enter their cars and leave the Post for the St. Francis Hotel and then to the Palace Hotel for a luncheon and civic reception sponsored by the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, Commonwealth Club and the American-Korean Foundation.

Other activities include a reception at the Korean consulate general in the late afternoon and dinner at the Press and Union League Club later in the evening.

The South Korean president will stay in Honolulu three days before resuming the flight to Seoul, where his trip began two weeks ago.

The 78-year-old Rhee received his primary education at Pai Jai Mission, Seoul, Korea. In the United States he attended George Washington University in Washington, D. C., where he received his B.A., Harvard, his M.A. and Princeton, his PhD.

Rhee began his spirited fight for Korean independence in 1897 at which time his first efforts resulted in his arrest, six months of torture and a sentence of life imprisonment. He was released under political amnesty in 1901 and came to the United States.

He returned to Korea in 1910 and became a YMCA worker. Almost immediately he got into trouble for resisting the Japanese occupation and was forced to flee.

Between the two world wars, Rhee lived in Washington, D. C., with a $300,000 bounty on his head placed there by the Japanese. At the close of World War II, when he reappeared in Korea, public rejoicing was great and the patriot was overwhelmingly voted first president of the Republic. He was reelected in the midst of the Korean conflict.

Included in the group visiting the Presidio will be: Mrs. Rhee; Dr. Chey Soon Choo, vice-chairman of the Korean National Assembly; Mrs. Chey Choo; You Chan Yang, Korean Ambassador to the U. S.; Dr. Karl Hongkee, director, Korean Office of Public Information; Whang Kyu Myun, presidential secretary; Young Han Choo, Korean consul general in San Francisco; Mrs. Young Han Choo; Yu Chang-Jun, secretary to the President of Korea; Dr. William Glenn, physician to the President.

Suy Chung Hak, Korean chief of police; Captain C. Y. Kim, presidential aid; Captain Yu Hoon, Korean police; Miss Crystal Crone, secretary to Korean Ambassador Yang; John F. Simmons, chief of protocol, U. S. Department of State; Dion Holm, representative of San Francisco; Henry Suydam, press officer, Department of State; Leo Crunpsey and James Moriarty, security officers, Department of State, and Jess Kisis, film officer, Department of State.

The South Korean leader will end his brief visit to the United States at noon Sunday. He has been in Washington, D. C., conferring with Administration officials on Korea's military and economic problems.

New Command Chain!

Army Post Exchange officers soon will be under the supervision of the Quartermaster General. According to a plan recently approved, about 225 officer spaces will be reallocated to the QMG for this purpose and hereafter he shall be responsible "for their training, assignment and career management." Officers not desiring transfer will be reassigned within their own branches. There will be a two-year implementation period for the plan.

FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICE—Colonel Carol V. Cadwell, Post Headquarters, presented the Bronze Star Medal to Sgt. Kenneth Hamanaka at a retreat parade here on the Main Parade Ground last Friday. Sgt. Hamanaka was cited for meritorious service in Korea with the Third Infantry Division. The Los Angeles, California, veteran was one of four Californians, presently stationed at the Presidio, who were decorated for their service in the Far East. (Army Photo by Brink)

Awards to Four!

Bronze Stars, Purple Heart Given at Decoration Ceremony

Four California veterans of the Korean conflict, presently stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco, were decorated for their service in the Far East at a parade and review on the Presidio's main parade ground last Friday.

Those who received the Bronze Star Medal were Lt. Col.

William L. Boland, 26 Work Avenue, Monterey; Lt. Col. John P. MacNeil, 8 Alida Court, Oakland, and Sgt. Ken Hamanaka, 1219 N. Commonwealth Avenue, Los Angeles. Capt. Chester B. Searls, 1635 Sweetland Drive, Colma, will receive the Purple Heart.

Approximately 1000 Presidio troops, led by the Sixth Army Band, passed in review following the presentation of the awards by Col. Carol V. Cadwell of Presidio Post Headquarters. Chairs and bleacher seats were provided for the public, which was invited to visit the Presidio for the ceremony.

Colonel Boland's award was for meritorious service as an ordnance advisor to various Republic of Korea Army units including the ROK First Corps from April 1953 to June 1954. He is presently assigned to Ordnance Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif.

Colonel MacNeil's award was for "exceptional ability" displayed while a team commander of a Civil Assistance Team in Korea from August 1952 to November 1953. He is now acting senior army advisor to the California Military District.

Sergeant Hamanaka received a Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service with the 3rd Infantry Division in Korea from April 1953 to April 1954. He is stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco.

The Purple Heart was awarded to Captain Searls for wounds received in Korea on May 18, 1951, while serving with the 38th Infantry Regiment of the 2nd Division on the east central front. He is now commander of Detachment "A," 6002 Service Unit at the Presidio.

star presidian
serving those who serve a nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

ARMY'S NEW "BAZOOKA" is not a gun but a camera developed by Army Signal Corps for its new 100-inch infra-red lens. Either this gun-barrel model or the box-type can be carried easily by two men and used five minutes after arrival at the shooting site. The new lens can photograph up to 35 miles away despite fog or haze and substitute for aerial photography when planes are grounded by weather or enemy gunfire. The Army will also use the Peeping Tom lens in television cameras.

30-Mile Range!

Model of Unique 'Peeping Tom' Camera Set for Local Display

A "mock-up" or full scale model of the newly developed "Peeping Tom" camera that can record images up to 30 miles away and more, will be the star of the Armed Forces photographic exhibit which will open 2 September in the California Academy of Sciences building in Golden Gate Park.

For 60 days, the exhibit, which will include all types of photographic and Signal equipment, will be presented at this, the opening of the permanent photographic museum. A member of the Sixth Army Signal section will be present throughout the exhibit to explain the various pieces of equipment.

The remarkable long-distance "Peeping Tom," was developed by the Army Signal Corps engineering laboratories at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

Built about a 100-inch telephoto lens, this far-sighted Cyclops will be able to take battlefield pictures never before possible with smaller-eyed cameras as well as when aerial photo flights are grounded or too dangerous.

Among the test pictures taken with the long F: 12.5 infrared lens were those of New York City's Coney Island, Wall Street and midtown Manhattan from the bluffs of Atlantic Highland, New Jersey, the farthest distance being approximately 25 miles.

The nation's capitol was photographed from Maryland's Sugar Loaf Mountain, and through more than 20 miles of haze, the camera was able to picture a number of landmarks in the Washington area.

In tactical military use, the camera has many advantages. At six miles it can pick out in detail a jeep or weapons carrier. At the closest distance it can operate—about 500 yards from the camera, the coverage is 105 feet wide.

And at 20,000 yards or 11 and one-half miles—the last setting on the range scale before infinity—it gobbles up a 3,000-foot front or approximately 3/5 mile in its field of view!

For certain close support military missions, the "Peeping Tom" could watch areas for enemy activity, locate fortifications, obstacles, supply points, artillery, armor and other critical features as well as perform other tactical duties.

There are two types of camera boxes, each with different optical systems, which are presently being used by the Army Signal corps to test the new lens, which, not incidentally, weighs 40 pounds and is two feet long and nine and one-half inches in diameter.

One camera uses the beam bending or folding system which bounces the light in a "z" line between a pair of eight-inch mirrors before registering on the film. This 100-pound aluminum model has a camera box 12 inches wide, 21 inches high and 32 inches long, with stretcher handles for ease in carrying. When in action it is mounted on heavy-duty motion picture tripods.

The second model looks more like a bazooka than a camera, and features a gun-type barrel seven feet long. Since it weighs 120 pounds, it must be mounted on its own out-size tripod and requires two men to operate.

Either camera can be ready for action in five minutes, and both take 5 x 7 still pictures with cut film or plates. Roll film adapters take a 30-exposure roll, but not all 30 have to be taken before processing, since a built-in knife slices off as many stills as the Signal corpsman wants printed immediately, and the remaining unused film is merely fed to another take-up spool and the shooting continues.

At present, a second type 100-inch telephoto lens that takes pictures with ordinary "visible" light is also being tested by the Signal Corps laboratories, for still and 35 mm motion picture use.

Ammo Renovated

Army maintenance facilities renovated more than 117,972 tons of World War II ammunition and salvaged 227,617 tons of material during the past year.

Vet News Notes

Veterans have repaid in full 684,623 GI loans for homes, farms, and businesses totalling more than $3 billion in the past decade of the GI loan program, Veterans Administration announced today.

The 684,623 loans repaid as of June 25, 1954, represents nearly 19 per cent of the 3,632,518 loans made, totalling $23.9 billion.

This high rate of repayment is matched by the low rate of claims VA has paid on foreclosed loans—32,574, or less than one per cent, of the total number of loans made.

To date, the Government has suffered an out-of-pocket loss of only $27 million and that amount is subject to substantial further recoveries either by sale of acquired security or from veterans themselves.

Although the majority of the loans repaid are for homes, more business loans have been paid off percentage-wise.

More than 135,714 business loans, or 63 per cent of the 214,544 loans made, have been paid back in full.

Total amount of the business loans repaid is more than $332.9 million out of $577.7 million borrowed by veterans.

Of the 214,544 business loans made, VA has paid claims on 11,643, or only 5.4 per cent. The current loss before further recoveries is $9.4 million.

Fifteen per cent, or 512,090 of the 3,351,643 home loans made since 1944 have been repaid in full. Money-wise, nearly $2.7 billion has been repaid out of $23.1 billion borrowed. GI home loans are usually written with 15 to 30-year terms.

Claims paid by VA on foreclosed home loans amount to only 18,886 or approximately one-half of one per cent of the loans made. Current loss to VA before further recoveries is $16.3 million dollars.

As for farm loans, veteran-farmers have repaid 36,819 loans totalling $108 million out of 66,331 farm loans totalling $257 million that have been closed since 1944.

VA has had to make good on only 2,045 foreclosed farm loans and the current loss before further recovery is $1,470,000.

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Sidney L. Parsell is now with the inspecting and testing branch of the G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His last assignment was as executive officer of the 138th AAA AW Group in Japan, a position he held for 30 months and which necessitated numerous inspection trips to Korea.

During World War II, Colonel Parsell's service was also with AAA units for three years in the ETO, serving in England with the 455th AAA AW, in France with the 491st and in Germany with the 787th.

A veteran of 22 years' Army service, the colonel is a graduate of the Artillery school courses at both Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and Fort Bliss, Texas, and was awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for his services with the 787th.

Lt. Colonel Forrest W. McKie has been assigned to the training branch of the active Army division, G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Colonel McKie has just completed seven months of schooling at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, including the associate Command and General Staff short course and special weapons (atomic) course.

Prior to that the colonel spent 18 months as senior Army instructor of the Wyoming National Guard, and from 1949 to 1951, he was in the ETO where he served as Regimental S-3 and executive officer of the 14th Regimental Constabulary in Germany. His initial assignment on that tour was in France where he was logistical planning officer with the advanced section of USEURCOMZ for a year.

Enlisting in the Army in 1941, the colonel spent a year as an enlisted man before attending OCS at Fort Knox, Kentucky. He went to the ETO during World War II with the 5th Armored Division, was wounded in action and was hospitalized for a year.

Lt. Colonel Karl L. Rudser is a new addition to the Engineer Section of Headquarters Sixth Army, where he has become special projects officer.

For the past three years, Colonel Rudser has been in Japan serving in the Engineering Section of AFCE Headquarters. He was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for his services there.

During World War II, the colonel spent 24 months in Alaska as an Engineering officer with the Air Force. He is a veteran of 26 years' Army service.

Colonel and Mrs. Rudser have three children, Lt. John L. Rudser, presently serving with the 13th Engineer Combat battalion, 7th Division, in Korea, and a daughter, 17 and a son 14, at home. Lt. Rudser is a recent graduate of North Carolina State where he was graduated as an atomic engineer.

Major Charles R. Weiss II is newly assigned to the supply division of the G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He returned recently from Camp Zama, Japan, regional area, where he has been Post billeting and dependent housing officer, USAFFE, his station since September 1950.

During World War II, Major Weiss was in the Philippines, and as assistant G-4, 12th Infantry Division, he assisted in the reactivation of the Philippine Scouts, and served with them for a total of 27 months.

Major Weiss has been in the Army for the past 12 years.

Major Thomas Davies is another new addition to the staff of the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army. He recently spent two and one-half years with a safety advisory group in Japan.

During the period 1938 to 1941, Major Davies was stationed on the Presidio of San Francisco with D Company of the 30th Infantry Division. He had entered the Army in 1936 and the first two years were spent in the Hawaiian Islands with the 19th Infantry.

When World War II broke out, Major Davies went to the ETO with the 3rd Division, served there from 1942 to 1947, and in 1944, during the fighting in Italy, he received a battlefield commission.

He has been decorated with the Silver Star Medal, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, and all theatre ribbons.

Captain Russell B. Karr has just returned from three years' service as Headquarters commandant, 516th Signal group, Karlsruhe, Germany.

He has begun his new duties as chief of the personnel and training sections, plans and operations division, Signal Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

During his 18 months of service in the ETO during World War II, Captain Karr served with the 102nd Signal company of the 102nd Signal Division, 9th Army, and participated in the Rhineland and Central Europe campaigns.

The captain entered the Army 14 years ago.

Captain Leroy K. Norem has been named assistant chief of the Supply division, Medical section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past two years, Captain Norem has been at the Alameda (California) Medical depot, prior to which he attended eight months of schooling in hospital administration and supply, first at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and later at the St. Louis Medical depot.

In Korea during the recent conflict, Captain Norem served 18 months with the 7th Division, and was awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

During World War II, the captain served 18 months in the China-Burma-India theatre with the 821st Medical Air Evacuation squadron of the 10th Air Force, and received the Air Medal for his services there. He has been in the Army for 14½ years.

Captain Kenneth L. Jackson returned recently from three and one-half years in Germany where he served as Detachment Engineer, Schwaebisch Hall Detachment, and sub-Post Engineer, Southern Area Command.

He is now assistant Post Engineer, Presidio of San Francisco.

Recalled to active duty in January 1951 after having been a Reservist since 1946, Captain Jackson has 10 years of duty service. His World War II unit was the 1285th Engineer Combat Battalion of the 1124th Engineer Group with Headquarters in Munich. Among his assignments was one in which a floating bridge was erected on the Rhine river near Durisberg. He likewise stayed on in Munich after the war working with German civilians as communications officer.

Captain and Mrs. Jackson and their five children have their family home in Watsonville, California.

INTREPID CROTALUS ADAMANTEUS HUNTERS from the Presidio's 505th Military Police Battalion were kept busy for four days recently following an alert in the Fort Barry-Cronkhite area. A sergeant stationed in the coastal billets recently seeing one of the dread rattlesnakes in his front yard. The hunt called for these three seasoned veterans of the open spaces, left to right, Cpl. Ralph Spreen, a rancher from Ballinger, Texas; Pvt. Dean Millett, a reptile hobbyist, and Cpl. Lou Price, a U. S. Forestry ranger. After four days they found no signs of dangerous snakes. (Photo by New)

Rattler Rattlers!

MP Experts Clear Presidio Area of Dangerous Reptiles

Presidio military personnel and their families living in the Fort Barry and Cronkhite areas who have suspected the presence of poisonous reptiles in the grass and rocks around their billets may feel at ease.

Three members of the Presidio's 505th Military Police Battalion, all of whom may claim a reasonably expert knowledge of rattlesnakes, their habits and conditions of habitat, conducted an unsuccessful four-day search recently in the Cronkhite and Barry areas for venomous reptiles.

The hunt was called on when Sfc. Gilbert Whaithe, a soldier billeted with his family in the Fort Barry apartments, reported seeing a medium-sized rattler in the grassy area immediately to the front of their building. The sergeant was unable to kill the snake.

Cpl. Lou Price of A Company, 505th, in civilian life a ranger with the U. S. Forestry Service in California; Cpl. Ralph Spreen, A Company, a rancher from Ballinger, Texas; and Pvt. Dean Millett, Company B, whose hobby happens to be the study of reptiles, were assigned to the task of combing the neighboring hills and rough for any further signs of the rattlers.

A thorough search of the environs by the threesome turned up no rattlers at all. They did find, however, four harmless snakes, one dead nonvenomous reptile, and several skins of nonvenomous snakes.

It is the opinion of Price, Spreen and Millett that there are very few if any rattlesnakes in the areas of Fort Barry and Cronkhite. While the rock outcroppings would make choice dens for the rattler, the temperature and weather conditions render the possibility of their living in them extremely unlikely.

Thrifty Soldiers!

More than $40,000,000 is being carried in soldiers' deposits by the Army Finance Office. More than 300,000 soldiers are participating in this savings program which pays an interest rate of four per cent per annum on all sums of more than $5 left on deposit for a period of six months or longer.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Sons to:
25 July: BMA and Mrs. Chester Collins, USN, Stockton, Calif.
26 July: A/2C and Mrs. Arnold Averhoff, 43rd Comm. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; AB and Mrs. William P. Rowland, 93rd Field Maint., Castle AFB.
27 July: Lt. and Mrs. Dwane B. Minor, 1080th Hosp. Sq., LAH, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. William Shaw, Hq. 740th AAA Gun Bn., Fort Baker, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. Genzo Soraoka, 21st Eng. (Proto Mapping Co.), Fort Scott, Calif.
28 July: Pfc. and Mrs. John E. Gordon, Hq. Btry., 20th AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Barry, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Jose Ramos, Hq. and Hq. Sq., 6020 SU, Oakland Army Base, Calif.
29 July: A/2C and Mrs. Richard Blevins, 5th Fld. Maint. Sqdn., Travis AFB, Calif.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Floyd E. Giltner, 43rd Comm. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Max A. Gutierrez, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. William C. Waldron, 102nd MRU, PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Earl C. Williams, 6020 SU, OAB, Calif.
30 July: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Ronald W. Clark, 4th AF Intell. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Frank McNeill, Svc. Co., Cpl. Stoneman, Calif.
31 July: A/1C and Mrs. Robert Hanna, 325th Fighter Inter. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; HMS and Mrs. Johnny E. Wilson, US Naval Hosp., Oakland, Calif.
Daughters to:
26 July: Sfc. and Mrs. John Austin, 8602 AAU, Two Rock Ranch, Calif.
27 July: A/3C and Mrs. Chester Gardner, 5th Crash Resc. Boat Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Joseph M. Kilmer, 9956 TSU, SGO, LAH, PSFC.
28 July: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Charles M. Blaisdell, Hq. Co., Det. 1, 6002 SU PSFC.
29 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Marvin E. Gardner, 3623 Ord., Hunter Liggett Mil. Resv., Hunter Liggett, Calif.
30 July: Sgt. and Mrs. Gerald Benedik, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC; Sfc. and Mrs. Paul M. Whiteside, 9956 TSU, SGO, LAH, PSFC.
31 July: Cpl. and Mrs. Joaquin Hernandez, 6002 SU, Det. 1, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. Albert A. Robinson, 752nd AAA Gn. Bn., Grizzly Peak, Berkeley, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Cecil B. Rowe, 56th MRU, PSFC.
1 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Rodney Dias, 6513 SU Calif. Mil. Dist., AG Sec., PSFC; Capt. and Mrs. Raymond H. Hutchins, 28th Air Div., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

Nice Gesture!

More than 4000 servicemen were guests of the Jewish War Veterans at a recent game between the Dodgers and Chicago Cubs at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn.

LAH Medical Officer, Former POW in Korea, To Address Staff Meet

Major Clarence L. Anderson, one of five medical officers at one time held prisoner by the enemy during the Korean conflict, who collaborated in preparing a paper titled, "Medical Observations in Communist Captivity," will speak on "Military Experiences in Communist POW Camps in North Korea," at a Letterman profession staff conference set for 2000 Monday, 9 August, in the Letterman Officer's Open Mess.

Major Anderson is now a member of Letterman Army hospital's department of medicine. The paper on their observations was read at the American Medical Association conference held here in San Francisco in June.

Presidio and Bay Area Medical service officers who wish to may attend the conference.

Your Paper—
support it with news
Call ext 4244

OFFICERS ELECTED to guide the newly organized Consolidated NCO Wives club for the Presidio of San Francisco and its sub-posts include, l to r: Mrs. Peggy Suttas, vice-president; Mrs. Betty Loebig, president, and Mrs. Bunny DeShazo, secretary-treasurer. The idea for the club was introduced recently at a buffet luncheon for the NCO wives of the Presidio, Fort Scott and Fort Cronkhite, each of whom have an NCO annex. More than 60 women were present for the occasion and expressed enthusiasm for the idea. (Army photo by Amaral)

Yardstick of Power!

TIC Topic Next Week: How to Measure a Nation's Strength

Why are some countries weak and others strong?

In the State Department in Washington, in the Kremlin in Moscow, and in all the major capitals of the world, experts are measuring and weighing the power of nations. These experts use at least seven basic measuring sticks to size up a nation: (1) location, (2) size and shape, (3) climate, (4) raw materials and industry, (5) population, (6) political and social organization, and (7) armaments on hand.

Each of these seven basic factors is qualified by others. For example, when you consider the population of a country as a power factor, you must consider not only the quantity, but also the quality of the population. A nation might have all the physical resources needed to make it strong, and all the human resources except the willingness of its people to defend it. Such a nation might be conquered by an aggressor that is stronger only in determination.

Since each factor is influenced by many others, no exact measurement is possible.

When you start to study the various basic factors that explain a nation's weakness or strength, you soon find that each one is influenced by many others. You find that while there are three kinds of power in world politics—military power, economic power, and power to influence world opinion—a nation does not usually possess any one of these powers very long without possessing the other two.

Although there will always be certain factors—mainly some of the human factors—that the experts can't measure exactly, they are learning more every day about the elements of strength. By using the basic methods employed by the experts, any citizen can also learn a great deal more about the countries that shifts the world and the power that shifts uneasily among them.

Soldier of Month

Pfc. Edward M. Frohm has been chosen "Soldier of the Month," of the 16th Base Post Office for the month of July. Currently in training with the 16th BPO, Pfc. Frohm's present tour of duty began on 7 January of this year. The Kansas City, Missouri soldier first entered the Army in August, 1949, and after basic training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, was in Korea with the postal service until his discharge in September 1952.

Veriteens Sunday

The Veriteens, a stage troupe composed of San Francisco teenagers, will present a variety show at the Presidio Service club Sunday at 2000. Making its initial appearance at the Service club, the group will include singers, dancers, baton twirlers and instrumentalists.

Department of Army Details New Policy For Tuition Assistance

Army officers who accept tuition assistance from the government for voluntary off-duty courses at accredited schools will be required to agree to remain on active duty for two years after completing the course, according to DA message 529298.

During fiscal year 1955 payment of tuition assistance will be as follows: 75 percent for Army EM and warrant officers, and 75 percent for commissioned officers—provided the officers agree to remain on active duty for two years after completing the course for which tuition assistance is given.

Tuition assistance will not exceed $7.50 per semester hour; $5.00 per quarter; or $22.50 per Carnegie Unit for high school courses.

Puzzle Answer

SOT	DALES	AFT
AVA	ADORE	LEE
GAM	IVAN	FAWN
POSED EL
PO	SEN	IRONIC
UMP	STONEWALL
LIES	URN	SILO
STATEROOM	LET
ESTATE	CAW	RS
NA TENET
MEND	BANG	ARE
AGE	DANCE	LEO
DOE	EAGER	CAN

NATURE STUDY CLASS conducted by Brownie Day Camp director, Mrs. William Sarlin, is learning the finer points of how a garden snake wiggles. The camp is a day school for Brownies ages seven and eight from 1000 hours to 1400 hours Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Most of the children are from the Presidio. (Signal Corps Photo by Weiss)

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 6 August—Scrabble tournament, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 7 August—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party, games and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 8 August—Varieteens stage show, 2000.
Monday, 9 August—Guitar and ukulele instructions and coffee hour, 2000. Crafts room open.
Tuesday, 10 August—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 11 August—Old St. Mary's Players present, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 12 August—AER Benefit dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 6 August—Raid the Icebox, 2000.
Saturday, 7 August—Tournaments, 2000.
Sunday, 8 August—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Old St. Mary's Players present, "Westward Ha!" 2000.
Monday, 9 August—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Tuesday, 10 August—Post dance, 2000.
Wednesday, 11 August—Club night, 2000.
Thursday, 12 August—Square dance, 2000.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 6 August—Stamp club meeting at 1900, club will be open early only for meeting. Shuffleboard tournament with prizes begins at 2100, and juke-box dancing at 2200.
Saturday, 7 August—"Guess-Ho," game with prizes, general meeting and distribution of newspaper at 2030; checker tournament and TV show, Laurel and Hardy, at 2100.

Beaver Patrol to the Rescue!

Brownie Day Camp Ends With Girls Better Cooks, Citizens

Fifty-five little "brownies" scampered through the timber just west of the Julius Kahn Playground last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursdays, as guests of the Presidio. The land was made available by the Army so that the eighth city area Brownie Day Camp could go into operation.

The "Camp," really a day school in citizenship for seven and eight year olds, runs for six days, Tuesday through Thursday for two consecutive weeks.

The girls planned their own schedule of events with the main emphasis put on citizenship and learning to get along with others of the same age group. Mrs. William Sarlin, Scout Director, claims that if 55 youngsters can be together all day without fighting, the program will have succeeded in one of its major objectives.

Cooking a one-pot meal seemed to hold the most interest of all the projects entered into. And they had to eat their own cooking too. Nature observation was the second most interesting item on the schedule. The birds in the area seemed to leave immediately at 10 o'clock, when the school began, but the girls were able to catch a two-foot garden snake which became a bit too inquisitive.

Mrs. Sarlin, director, and Mrs. Halber, registered nurse on duty during school hours, were aided by 12 civilian volunteers to keep the youngsters in tow. All but three of the women volunteers are wives of Presidio military personnel.

The price for attending camp was nominal, only $1.25, which included insurance and a small carton of milk every day. Since children of military personnel usually don't have a chance to attend camps, due to their highly mobile way of life, this school offered them an unusual opportunity to study nature, sing, and hike in the outdoors.

Other Brownie Day Camps in the city area include one at Balboa Park, two at Golden Gate Park, two at Camp Merced, one at Park Presidio, and one at Buena Vista. There are also two sessions for intermediate girl scouts.

Army Major to Act As Technical Advisor In Audie Murphy Film

Ft. Lewis, Wash. (AFPS)—Maj. Leonard E. Murray, USA, assistant training and operations officer of the 44th Inf. Div., will act as technical adviser on actor Audie Murphy's life story, "To Hell and Back."

Murphy, the most decorated hero in WWII and currently under contract to Universal-International films, served under the major with the 3rd Inf. Div. from the invasion of Africa to the end of the war in Europe.

Col. Michael Paulik, USA, in Hollywood the past two months, has been aiding in the preparation of the movie. Murphy saved the colonel's life during heavy fighting in the Vosges Mountains in Eastern France.

It's Coming Soon!

The Fort Baker Service Club's carnival dance, with all proceeds slated to go to the Army Emergency Relief fund campaign now in progress, will take place on Tuesday, 17 August. Booths will feature such carnival amusements as ring-toss, penny-pitching and dart games, with fabulous prizes for the lucky winners! In addition, a carnival queen and queen will be chosen to reign over the festivities, and some fabulous "special" refreshments will be served up all through the doings.

BOOK CORNER

Among those volumes called "important professional military reading" by the experts, are two new books currently available at the Sixth Army Library Depot, Bldg. M-13. If these books are not available at local library, they may be borrowed from the Depot for a two-week period.

"A HISTORY OF MILITARY AFFAIRS IN WESTERN SOCIETY SINCE THE 18th CENTURY," by G. B. Turner. Developed as a text for a course to include historical training in the academic field and military training for university ROTC students, it "surveys the main developments in the art of war and analyzes the reciprocal relationship between the nature of a military establishment and the political, social, and economic character of the society of which it is a part."

"SOVIET MILITARY DOCTRINE," by R. L. Garthoff. Prepared as part of the research program undertaken for the US Air Force, it analyzes the basics and principles of Soviet warfare and doctrine on the operational and tactical employment of the combat arms.

"SYNGMAN RHEE," by T. T. Oliver. The man behind the myth; this full biography of the fighting president of the Republic of Korea is by a professor who has written much on Korea and has known the president personally.

"FROM FLINTLOCK TO M1," by J. W. Shields. A fascinating tale of the development of American muskets, rifles, metallic cartridges and magazine rifles from 1776 to the present.

"THE NEW OFFICIAL GUN BOOK," by C. R. Jacobs. This new volume contains an extensive revision of this, the standard guide to guns, equipment, ammunition and shooting.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 6 August—"The Stranger In Between," with Dirk Bogarde and Elizabeth Sellars.
Saturday, 7 August—"Guy With A Grin," with James Stewart and Rosalind Russell.
Sunday, 8 August and Monday, 9 August—"Susan Slept Here," with Debbie Reynolds and Dick Powell.
Tuesday, 10 August—"Jungle Gents," with the Bowery Boys.
Wednesday, 11 August and Thursday, 12 August—"On the Waterfront," with Marlon Brando and Karl Malden.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 6 August—"Guy With A Grin," with James Stewart and Rosalind Russell.
Saturday, 7 August—"Susan Slept Here," with Debbie Reynolds and Dick Powell.
Sunday, 8 August—"The Stranger In Between," with Dirk Bogarde and Elizabeth Sellars.
Tuesday, 10 August—"On the Waterfront," with Marlon Brando and Karl Malden.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 6 August—"The Black Shield of Falworth," with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.
Monday, 9 August—"The Stranger In Between," with Dirk Bogarde and Elizabeth Sellars.
Wednesday, 11 August—"Dial M for Murder," with Robert Cummings, Ray Milland and Grace Kelly.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 8 August—"On the Waterfront," with Marlon Brando and Karl Malden.
Tuesday, 10 August—"The Stranger In Between," with Dirk Bogarde and Elizabeth Sellars.
Thursday, 12 August—"Dial M for Murder," with Robert Cummings, Ray Milland and Grace Kelly.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 6 August—"The Lost Patrol," with Victor McLaglen and Boris Karloff.
Saturday, 7 August—"The Stranger In Between," with Dirk Bogarde and Elizabeth Sellars.
Sunday, 8 August and Monday, 9 August—"The Black Shield of Falworth," with Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh.
Tuesday, 10 August—"Guy With A Grin," with James Stewart and Rosalind Russell.
Wednesday, 11 August—"Jungle Gents," with the Bowery Boys.
Thursday, 12 August—"Susan Slept Here," with Debbie Reynolds and Dick Powell.

Cinema Previews

"GUY WITH A GRIN," F*. James Stewart is this nice, friendly happy-go-lucky guy from a small town who comes to the big city. We next find our hero married to the star of a Broadway show! Then things become hilarious, really hilarious!

"JUNGLE GENTS," F*. Ever smell a diamond? Wouldn't you like to? Hunt Hall, one of the Bowery boys, can. As a result, he and his pals are off to the remote regions to find a fortune in stolen diamonds buried there. Well, it becomes quite a struggle to say the least!

"ON THE WATERFRONT," M. Thick, heavy, grown-up entertainment all about the turbulent waterfront and two-fisted way of life its people are forced to lead.

"DIAL M FOR MURDER," M. Another heavy adult drama, filming of a highly successful international stage play, about the sadistic method a man chooses for murdering his wife.

F*—Family M—Mature

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

- 1—Drunkard
- 4—Small valleys
- 9—Rear of ship
- 12—Hummingbird
- 13—Worship
- 14—The sheltered side
- 15—School of whales
- 16—Russian name
- 17—Young deer
- 18—Portrait
- 20—Spanish article
- 21—River in Italy
- 23—Japanese money of account
- 24—Satiric
- 28—Arbiter (colloq.)
- 30—General Jackson's nickname
- 32—Falsehoods
- 34—Vase
- 35—Storage pit
- 36—Compartment on ship
- 39—Permit
- 40—Landed property
- 41—Cry of crow
- 43—Rupees (abbr.)
- 44—A continent (abbr.)
- 45—Doctrine
- 47—Repair
- 50—Loud noise
- 51—Imitate
- 54—Mature
- 55—Frolic
- 56—Man's name
- 57—Female deer
- 58—Ardent
- 59—Container

DOWN

- 1—Sink in middle
- 2—Eggs
- 3—Pound down
- 4—Platforms
- 5—Daring feat
- 6—Burden
- 7—Sea eagle
- 8—Compass point
- 9—Wing
- 10—Indefinite number
- 11—Number
- 17—Gushes
- 19—Bone
- 20—Before
- 21—Throb
- 22—Leaves out
- 24—Guiltlessness
- 25—Metal fastener
- 26—Sicker
- 27—Coagulates
- 29—Fuel
- 31—Polynesian god
- 33—Remain erect
- 37—Greek letter
- 38—Trough
- 42—You and I
- 45—Zest
- 46—Soapstone
- 47—Insane
- 48—The self
- 49—Born
- 50—Cry of sheep
- 52—Edible seed
- 53—Vast age
- 55—Prefix: down

BULL'S EYE FOR YOU in the second annual All-Army Art contest now in progress, may mean a tidy earning of as much as $50 for first place, depending on the medium you chose for expression. The field can be any of those indicated by the arrows, and each is to be accompanied by an entry blank which you can procure at the Post Special Service office, the Presidio or Fort Baker Service clubs or the Presidio Officers club. Contest deadline here on the Presidio is 20 September and the best from here, together with Post level winners from the other Sixth Army installations, will be forwarded to Sixth Army Headquarters for cash prizes to be awarded at Sixth Army Command level. Further prizes will be awarded at Department of the Army level in each of the four categories.

9th AAA Bn Wins Two, Meets Other Softball Finalist in Battle Royal

★★★

The Cinderella Headquarters, 9th AAA Battalion, softballers, a team which a scant two months ago was in the Post intra-mural cellar with four losses under its belt, no wins, put in a decisive bid for the right to represent the Presidio at coming All-Sixth Army competition, whipping two opponents in a row during the play-offs here this week.

The artillerymen's first victory came 4-0 against Headquarters, 30th Engineers, behind the superb no-hit, no-run hurling of Texan W. C. "Allie" Reynolds, a lightening portsider whose advent on the Ack Ack contingent mid-season put hopes for the Post title in the mind of every man on the team. Reynolds fanned seven engineers, pitching against 30th's Hammond, who allowed a scant four runs himself.

The gun battalion's Wilson and Coleman powered the winners' batting with two blows apiece.

On Tuesday the Ack Ack racked up its second triumph, 4-2, against Detachment 1, 6002 SU.

Reynolds pitched the second day running, as did the Deuce's Dave Scott, and both hurlers allowed six and nine hits respectively.

Heaviest wood for the winners were Calcagno, Bellendir and Coleman, each of whom tagged two hits apiece.

Overmyer led the losers with a

Swimmers Embark For Fort Ord All-6th Next Week

Five members of the Presidio swimming team will leave this installation next Wednesday night for Fort Ord to participate in the 1954 All-Sixth Army Swimming and Diving Championships, scheduled to begin on Thursday.

2nd Lt. Richard Ehni, 505th MP Battalion, coach and officer-in-charge, will enter the 100-yard backstroke, 200-yard backstroke and medley relay.

Captain Irvin Cohen, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, ex-University of Pennsylvania swimmer, is scheduled to compete in the 100-yard butterfly, medley relay and individual medley.

Cpl. Alvin Harp, 16th BPO, will participate in the medley relay and 100-yard freestyle.

Pvt. Patrick O'Daly and Pvt. Arnold Vandenberg are both representatives of the 30th Engineer Group. The former, an alumnus of North Hollywood, California, High, will compete in the 100-yard freestyle (crawl), and medley relay.

The latter, who was fourth breaststroke swimmer in the Netherlands before his entry in the service, will participate in the 200-yard conventional breaststroke.

Lt. Ehni lettered four years at Berkeley on the swimming and water polo teams. He made All-Pacific Coast Conference in the latter sport while a freshman there.

The All-Sixth Army test will be staged at the Carmel, California, High School Gym. Pre-tourney favorite is Fort Lewis, Washington, with a team of 15 competitors.

A team will be picked from Area swimmers to represent this command at the All-Army Championship set for Fort Bragg, North Carolina, 19 August.

DETACHMENT 1's Whitfield blazed a speedy trail around the bags on Monday following his strategic roundtripper in the third inning against the 21st Engineer Company. The Deuce won this, their first game, then succumbed to W. C. Reynolds and the 9th AAA Battalion on Tuesday. (Signal Corps Photo by Staknis) pair of connections, one of them a two-bagger.

The game was errorless for both sides.

Detachment 1 earned its first victory on Monday 10-2 against the 21st Engineers, Dave Scott buckling the Fort Scott crew to a slim four hits, fanning seven.

The clerks opened strongest in the fifth and sixth innings, augmenting their preliminary four runs with homeruns off Whitfield and Hamaguchi. Red Raider Hank Monroe helped the Deuce out on third, tripling with two on at the plate. Bart Grimes tripled with one on to help boost the final score.

The 21st got their own back on Wednesday, eliminating the 30th Engineers from further play 7-2, behind the two-hit hurling of Tafolla.

Biggest guns for the 21st against their hilltop brethren were Dougherty, Fujita, Ditto and Matsumoto. Fujita doubled with the bags loaded to score three RBIs.

The 21st win set the photomappers up for a losers' bracket meeting yesterday against the Detachment 1 nine. The winner there, unavailable for this week's Star-Presidian deadline, was scheduled to meet the unbeaten 9th AAA today at 1530 for the championship. If an engineer win necessitates an extra game, it will be played on Monday.

The All-Sixth Army Softball Tournament is slated for Fort Ord 6-10 September, at which time the male championship will be played concurrently with the women's.

All-Sixth Army Next!

Raiders Finish BAAF Season With Victory Against Oriskany

One of the worst beatings in a single inning was administered to the Presidio Raiders last Thursday by Parks AFB as the airmen marked seven times in the first bracket to win hands down 9-1 by the end of nine. This Tuesday the locals returned strong to whip the Oriskany sailors 8-1 in their final Bay Area Armed Forces League appearance of the season.

Parks' win over the Presidio gave the Air Force the BAAF pennant, putting them one game ahead of Alameda.

Big Lefty Lee set the Raiders down with four hits, two of them by Ed Jacobsen and one each by Kenny Klopp and Joe Coleman.

Starter Hank Monroe, who had won seven straight, failed to retire any batters in the first, so Ken Klopp came in to send the hot airmen packing.

In the second inning Klopp gave way to fielder Ed Jacobsen, who pitched superbly to shut out Parks the rest of the way.

Monroe vindicated himself Tuesday against the U.S.S. Oriskany, picking up his ninth win of the year, his third against the same team.

The understaffed Raiders made their biggest innings the fifth and sixth. Wayne Hamaker, Pittsburgh-owned hurler with ten wins behind him for the Reds, returned from leave to blast the sailors for two base hits, three RBIs. Klopp, Jim Ogilvie, and Ray Ardito, each connected for a single blow.

The Reds finished third in BAAF standings behind first-place Parks and runnerup Alameda.

Next important action for the Raiders comes at the end of this month when they enter the All-Sixth Army lists at Fort Ord, 29 August.

A practice tilt is scheduled this Sunday at 1330 against the semi-pro Johnnie's Billiards. Everyone is welcome.

Teen Golf Class!

Post Special Services has announced a new series of golf classes for teenagers to be conducted by Pfc. Dick Yost, 1954 Sixth Army runnerup who has just returned from the All-Army Championships in Maryland.

Yost will teach the fundamentals from 0900-1100 hours, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and 1300-1530 hours Tuesday through Thursday.

Classes will be given at the Post Pitch'n Putt Course.

Call extension 3942 for appointments.

One Week To Go!

Upsets Mark Western, Eastern Bowling Leagues; Det. 1 Tops

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

Detachment 1 bowlers widened the gap between themselves and Sixth Army Engineers for Post loop leadership with a four-point difference this week.

Van Ausdall of the Deuce helped his team to a 4-0 sweep over HQ Co. 6th Army with a roll of 203 high game and 190 average. Defeated Brown bowled 182, 154.

Engineer Holtz aided his quintet to whip 102 MRU 3-1 by a pin-fall of 185 high and 182 average. Loser Williams rolled 198, 171.

16th BPO overcame last week's loss when they toppled 16513th SU 3-1. The mailmen were led by Kay who pinned a 180 high and 159 average. 6513's Horder turned in 169, 157.

Compt-Rollers were on the upswing with a 3-1 victory over the Maroos. Roller Peckham bowled 196 high game and 172 average. Maroos' Bryant rolled 189, 160.

The big upset in the Eastern League this week was the 4-0 trouncing HQ 6th Army G-2 gave to second place Slow Rollers. Headquarters was led by Fischer who racked up an average of 142 and high game of 188. Loser Thorne rolled 156 and 193.

The 56th MRU trampled 6300 SU 3-1 paced by Jacobson's 163 average, 192 high game. Defeated high man Morgan pinned 151, 184.

Keystone Kops whipped Det. 1, 6002 No. 2 4-0. Kop Johnson bowled an average of 159 and high game of 210. Deuce stalwart Morgan rolled 156, 218.

In the Western League the Tags went down under the onslaught of HQ Co. 6th Army to the tune of 3-1. HQ ace was Stewart with a high game of 200 and a 526 series. Tag leader Jacobs bowled a high game of 197 and series score 525.

Standings:

NATIONAL
Team	Win	Loss
Det. 1, 6002 No. 1	33	15
Engr. Sec. 6th Army	31	17
HQ Co, 6th Army	26½	21½
102 MRU	24	24
16th BPO	22½	25½
Compt-Rollers	22	26
6513th SU	18	30
Maroos	15	33

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	30½	13½
Slow Rollers	26	22
Keystone Kops	24	20
Co. B, 505th MP. Bn.	23	21
6300 SU	22	22
Det. No. 1, 6002 No. 2	21½	22½
HQ 6th Army G-2	17	31

HOLE-IN-ONE runnerup M/Sgt. Wayne Goyette, who has played golf only a year and a half, came within five inches of the cup last Sunday to win second-place laurels in this year's Post Hole-In-One test.

Non-Coms Nab Top-Place Prizes In Hole-in-One

In spite of bad weather, last Sunday's Annual Hole-In-One tournament at the Presidio Pitch 'n Putt Course turned into one of the most successful contests ever held here, according to Post Special Services reports this week.

Competing golfers, in their all-out efforts to come nearest to the cup on hole number one, dropped a total of $60.50 into the Army Emergency Relief kitty, the biggest take in years.

First-place trophy winner was a veteran linksman from the Presidio Provost Marshall's office, M/Sgt. Merley Hutson, whose closest ball was four inches from the hole.

Runnerup was less experienced M/Sgt. Wayne Goyette, of 8921st TSU, whose meager one and a half years of golfing didn't seem to deter him from coming a close five inches within an ace.

Special mention went to Cpl. Robert Carter, Post Special Services, who fired 6½ inches from the hole.

Major Lee Tours

Olympic diving champion Major Sammy Lee, USA, last year's winner of the James E. Sullivan Memorial Award as the outstanding amateur athlete, will make a three-month good-will tour of Southeast Asian countries beginning this week. Major Lee, currently with the 121st Evacuation Hospital in Korea, plans to hold clinics and give diving exhibitions on his tour.

W. C. "ALLIE" REYNOLDS hurled an expert 4-0 no-hitter against Headquarters, 30th Engineers on Monday to power the 9th AAA Battalion nine to their first win in the current Post intra-mural play-offs.

WHAT'S THE FUTURE of the Presidio Red Raider gridders? It lies with men like the above, who are part of the mass turn-out which sparked the local squad into early-season workouts this week. Coach 2/Lt. Steve Glick (second from right), ex-U.C. guard, heads the garrison roster, which includes last year's ace passer, Don Burroughs (left), end, Gerry Wilson (second from left) and newcomer, Don Holstrum, who in other seasons has bolstered the 505th MP Battalion's judo team. (Signal Corps Photo by Pvt. Staknis) ...

Record Turnout for 1954 Presidio Grid Team; First Scrimmage Today

★ ★ ★

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Autumn's harbinger appeared on the Presidio this week.

The Main Athletic Field, up to this month bespotted on afternoons and weekends by the lightly clad garrison baseballers, became the playground for a crimson tide.

Clad in the red jerseys and white helmets of the Presidio football team, the 52-odd enlistees for this year's grid squad turned out this week for the first contact work of the season.

Brisk fall weather gave the daily workouts an anticipatory zip, as coach 2/Lt. Steve Glick, ex-University of California (Berkeley) guard, sent the aspirants through calisthenics, T-formation play patterns, blocking and tackle sessions. The first scrimmage of the year was scheduled for this afternoon. Fans are welcomed out to observe.

Weight seemed to be the most obvious improvement over last year's Raider lineup—and a good edge in overall squad depth. Whether experience and playing ability will be commensurate, however, is something that Presidio fans will discover for themselves as the season progresses.

So far this year, a hefty balance of the 1953 first-string grid roster has returned, although many of these players are due discharge by the middle of November or before.

Returnees include first-string quarterback, now doubling as line-coach, Don Burroughs, ex-Colorado A&M play-caller who developed into the kingpin of Presidio's sizzling overhead attack last year.

Halfback Dave Marcelli, whose collegiate conquests include San Francisco Poly High, where he made High School All-American, St. Mary's College, and the semi-pro San Francisco Broncos, is tagged assistant backfield coach.

Fullback position will be filled by Marquette alumnus Dick Wilkinson, who joined the '53 Raiders mid-season and held first-string fullback for the balance of the year.

Second-string halfback Ralph Spreen is also on the return. Light and speedy, the MP backfielder scored well in support of Marcelli during last year's sorties.

On the line, second-year Raiders will include hefty guard Jim Fairchild, whose '53 teammates thought enough of to elect Captain at the finish of the season. Fairchild hails from Stockton, California, and made a name for himself in PCC competition with the College of Pacific line.

Roscoe Morris, ex-UC Santa Barbara trackster, resumes his old slot at center, while ends Gerry Wilson and Jack Barnes will be on the receiving end of Burroughs' herculean tosses for their second year.

Acquisitions to the Raider roster this year include nine men from the Honor Guard, SFC Jim Carlisle (HB), Pfc Bill Cochran (HB), Pfc Ed Colarossi (HB), Pfc Tom Flaherty (G), Pfc Gene Hendrickson (C), Pfc Ronald Judson (G), Pfc Mario Masia (T), Pfc Norm Reber (G) and Pfc Ira Jacoves.

From Detachment 1, 6002 SU, Pfc Ralph Biccick, Cpl. Gerald

Red Raider Football Schedule

*Sept. 17—Treasure Island at PSF, 1400 hrs.

Sept. 25—Stanford Braves at Stanford (prior to Stanford-Oregon game), 1400 hrs.

*Oct. 2—Alameda NAS at Alameda, 1400 hrs.

Oct. 9—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.

*Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.

*Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.

Oct. 30—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.

Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.

Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).

Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.

*Denotes Bay Area Armed Forces League games.

Smalley, Pvt. Jim Bright, Sgt. Ernest Dobbins, Pvt. John Gabrielson, Pfc. Roland Hindsman, and Pvt. Hugh Jones.

102d MRU; Pfc. Jim Stoecklein and Pfc. Willie Wheeler.

16th BPO: Pvt. Dick Jackson (HB), and Pfc. Guy Mangano (Trainer).

21st Engineers: Pvt. George

Chief of Staff Lauds Inter-Service Victors

A letter from General M. B. Ridgway, U. S. Army Chief of Staff, praising the Fort Ord trackmen who took seven first places and contributed substantially to the Army's victory at the Inter-Service meet was received by Major General Edwin K. Wright, Fort Ord Commander, recently.

The Chief of Staff particularly commended the performances by Cpl. Billy Tidwell, Pfc. George Brown, Pfc. Earl Putnam, Pvt. Walter Burnett, Pvt. Lindsey Kenly, Pvt. Ollie Matson and Pvt. Lang Stanley.

Hammond, Pvt. Pat Logan, Cpl. Ira Smith (E) and Pfc. Sherman Womble (FB).

315th Engineers, Pvt. Don Dixon (T), Pvt. Bob Trotter, and Pvt. Daniel Lang.

From the 505th Military Police Battalion, Pvt. Fred Yndestad (Trainer), Pfc. George Acton (FB), Pvt. Randall Franklin, Pvt. Don Holstrom (G), Pfc. Ralph Ripley, Pfc. Milt Garfield (HB), Pvt. Anthony Mader, Cpl. Charles Patterson (HB), Pvt. Don Wimbish and Pvt. Ron Wislinsky.

Other try-outs include Ernie Stenfeld (T), 359th Engineer Detachment; Pvt. Norman Abott, and Pfc. Cantino Armando, 9956 TSU; Pvt. Andrew Clarke, 9th AAA; Pvt. Bob Taylor and Pvt. Clifford Swartz, 740th AAA; Pfc. Roosevelt Hainery, 752d AAA; Pvt. Bob Gladden (G) and Pvt. Bob Tufo, Headquarters, 30th Engineers.

WACs Clobber Masonettes 22-7 In BAAF Finale

The Presidio WAC softball team earned its eleventh victory of the season in a final Bay Area Women's League game here against Fort Mason on Wednesday, 22-7.

The win gave the local women an 11-2 win-loss record for the season, second to Alameda in final league standings.

Hurler Gavigan and catcher Christian worked against the duel mound combination of Pannell and Krause and backstop Kuga, limiting the visiting Masonettes to a minimum of hits, supported by a characteristically smooth-working infield and garden.

On the hitting slate Argue, La Due and Long each picked up two apiece. Dee Nordstrom, playing her final game for the Presidio prior to embarking for Eucom, also accounted for two hits.

The game commenced slowly for the Presidiennes, who were perhaps overconfident against their weak sisters from Mason, but they buckled down in the fourth inning and marked seven runs to take a decisive lead.

Coach Virginia Brown plans to put the girls through strenuous practice sessions between now and the All-Sixth tilts in September. She hopes to schedule several practice games in that time.

Yost in Seventh!

Maxwell, First Army, Victors In Golf; Raley Beats Seniors

Cpl. Billy Maxwell, Fourth Army, and Lt. Colonel Mannie L. Raley, First Army, won the Open and Senior Division Championship in the Fifth All-Army Golf Tournament held during Monday through Friday last week at the Woodmont Country Club in Rockville, Maryland.

Team winner, Fifth Army, edged Fourth Army 583 to 585.

For Maxwell the victory was expected, although not by the narrow two-stroke margin of 283 to the 285 posted by runnerup Cpl. John Weaver of Fifth Army, who dogged Maxwell throughout the tourney and who closed the gap to one stroke after the first 63 holes.

In the Senior Division, Lt. Colonel Raley finished his fine play of the week by outlasting Lt. General George Decker, Army Comptroller, Military District of Washington, to win three in two. Raley pested a one-over par 73 while Decker came in with a 75. The new champion provided most of the thrills of the tournament in the first two rounds by beating Major Frederick Potts, Third Army, who earlier had upset defending champ Lt. General Floyd L. Parks, Commanding General, Second Army, and firing a 164-yard ace on the seventh hole.

Raley, a left-handed golfer, depends heavily on his iron play, but one unique feature of his golf equipment is his putter, which he has used for the past 30 years.

Maxwell entered the final 18 holes leading the field by three strokes. His steady 71-70-70-72 sewed up the tourney even though there were flashier cards.

Cpl. Cliff Harrington, Third Army, finished third with 288. Harrington, who tied for first on opening day, faded two consecutive 73's to drop from the leaders. Fourth place finishers were Cpl. Monte Sanders, Fifth Army, Cpl. Eddie Johnson, Third Army, and Pfc. Claude Buster Reed, Fourth Army, with 289. Reed, last year's All-Army runnerup, fired a disastrous 74 on his second day and could never close the gap.

After trailing close to Maxwell and Weaver through the first three days of competition, Presidian Dick Yost dropped to seventh with 290, followed by Cpl. Billy Maca, Second Army, with 292; Pfc. Daniel Sikes, Second Army, 293, and Cpl. Billy Phillips, Fourth Army, with 294. The latter tied for tenth place with Cpl. George Bigham, top representative from MDW.

The twelfth through twenty-second places were: Cpl. John Guenther, Fifth Army, 296; Pvt. Purvis Ferree, Third Army, 298; Cpl. Ted Vickerman, Fifth Army, 298; Pvt. Robert Togikawa, USARPAC, 300; Cpl. Jack Hessler, First Army, 300; Pfc. Roger Horton, MDW, 301; Pvt. Bob McCallister (Fort Ord), Sixth Army, 300; 1st Lt. Wesley Brown, Fourth Army, 304; Major Keith S. Lain, MDW, 306; and Cpl. Sammy Reynolds, Third Army, 308.

Presidio's Open Division representative, Lt. Colonel Thomas Ward, was eliminated by Raley one-up in Wednesday's play. He won his first match from Colonel Robert Chard of Fort Meade 3 and 2.

Post Footballers Attend Cal's "Pappy" Waldorf Service Grid Clinic

The entire squad of Presidio Red Raider footballers, accompanied by coach Steve Glick, journeyed to Treasure Island this Wednesday to attend the Bay Area Armed Forces Football Clinic, mentored by U. C. coach Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf and his staff.

The class covered T-Offense, Backfield Play, Line Play, Administration and Organization, Team Defense, and other timely topics of interest.

Service coaches, their staffs and players from Treasure Island, Alameda NAS, Moffett Field, Mare Island, San Francisco Naval Shipyard, Hamilton AFB, Mather AFB, Fort Ord and Edwards AFB attended the clinic with the Presidians.

Approximately 56 games have been scheduled among service and civilian teams in this area.

Filipski In

Gene Filipiski, former West Point and Villanova gridiron star, has been inducted into the Army.

"DEE" NORDSTROM, homerun hitting queen of the Presidio WACs and mainstay on first base, left for Europe this Friday, leaving the women pretty weak offensively and defensively. Delores, who registered a round-tripper in every game she played for the garrison, also majored in basketball and bowling on behalf of Post and Motor Pool, where she worked. She spent two years on the Presidio and made a multitude of friends, all of whom wish her the best of luck. (Signal Corps photo by Sgt. Bennett)

RECEIVES AWARD—Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commander of the Sixth Army, presents a Department of the Army Certificate of Appreciation to Dr. John D. Hicks of Berkeley, California, Professor of History at the University of California, as Mrs. Hicks looks on. Dr. Hicks was cited by Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens for his contributions to the development of the Army Historical Program from December, 1946, to April, 1954. The ceremony took place in General Dean's office at Sixth Army Headquarters. (Army Photo by Brink)

Mind Menders!

Misfits Become Good Soldiers With Help from Psychiatrists

(First of three articles)

Washington—This year five out of every 1,000 young men in U.S. Army training centers each month will find adjustment so difficult that their military usefulness will be questionable, according to Brigadier General Rawley E. Chambers of the Office of the Surgeon General.

During their first weeks of training, some will seem to be complete misfits, incapable of becoming soldiers. Others will suffer such emotional strain from their new life that their efficiency will be impaired.

However, almost all these men will turn into good soldiers—thanks in part to the Mental Hygiene Consultation Service that has existed in the Army since World War II.

Operating in 18 training centers, the clinics are staffed by a psychiatrist, a clinical psychologist and a psychiatric social worker. They exist to help the ill-adjusted soldier fit into his new life, to help the company commander find out how and where these young men can be most useful to the Army, and to identify promptly and process out of the Army the man who is emotionally or mentally unfit for service.

The psychiatrists usually are captains or majors. Too much rank might discourage the patients. However, the officers must meet the highest professional standards. They must have had sufficient experience and training to diagnose personality disturbances in a very short time. No long, drawn-out therapy is possible or recommended when handling eight-week trainees.

The clinics themselves are located in the training area, not in the hospital set-up at the training center. Medical officers and company commanders work together to effect the mental hygiene program and proximity is a large factor in their effectiveness.

Psychologically, it is better for the individual soldier to consult someone in his own field area rather than to go away from "home" for advice. These same psychological reasons ban the traditional medic's white coat. The mental hygiene officers wear the same field uniform other officers do.

Men referred to mental hygiene clinics basically are immature—regardless of their years.

The average young man who enters the Army makes a very quick adjustment. He soon gets used to living in a barracks even though he may have had his private room since childhood. He adapts to the restrictions of Army life even though he is used to making his own decisions and moving on his own initiative.

This is not true of the emotionally immature trainee. Barracks living to him is a file that severs his self-control. He may burst into tears when some small thing goes wrong. He will become increasingly timid and withdrawn to the point that he literally walks alone.

The independent but immature soldier faced with restrictions may react in such ways as going absent without official leave or turning up too often for sick call—his strong emotional conflict displaced by physical symptoms.

When this soldier reports to the clinic he is encouraged to express his fears, anxieties and hostilities in an uncritical atmosphere. As the psychiatrist comes to know the soldier's problems, he can help him adopt the new attitudes which make Army life more acceptable.

"Primarily," Chambers said, "the Mental Hygiene Consultation Service helps conserve the fighting strength of the Army. At the same time, the service helps the individual preserve his self-esteem and make a successful adjustment that can be of lifelong importance."

The New Look!

The Presidio Post theatre will have achieved its new look on or about 15 August, with introduction to patrons of cinemascope and a stereophonic sound system. At present, Mr. Carl S. Williams, engineer with the Army and Air Force motion picture service, is supervising theatre personnel in the initial revisions necessary, and next week the crew is expected to arrive with the 20 by 40 foot screen, which, along with 17 speakers and nine amplifiers will transform the theatre into a modern movie house equipped to show the very latest in cinematic advances.

Gen. Devers to Mark Invasion Anniversary

Washington (AFPS)—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, USA (Ret.), will represent President Eisenhower at ceremonies celebrating the 10th anniversary of the Allied landings in Southern France during WWII.

The former Deputy Commander of Allied Forces in the Mediterranean, named as the President's personal representative, will attend ceremonies at Le Canadel, France, Aug. 14, where French advance troops landed. The following day he will visit St. Tropez where the American Seventh Army landed in force.

Gen. Devers, was the highest ranking U. S. officer in the command which planned and executed the major amphibious operation for the liberation of Southern France. A number of other U. S. Army and Navy officers, veterans of the landings, are expected to attend the ceremonies.

Like Sports?
Got a Hobby?
GIVE US YOUR STORY
Call Ext 4244

Battle Stars!

History of the Sixth Army To Promote Pride in Troops

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the first of six articles dealing with the history of the Sixth Army. The information for the series was prepared by Headquarters Sixth Army Troop Information and Education Section.)

PART I

Now in its twelfth year as one of the United States Army's major organizations, Sixth Army stands guard, with the other Armed Forces, over one of the most strategically vital regions in the nation. Its area stretches from Canada to Mexico, from the Rocky Mountains down the slopes to the Pacific, encompassing eight Western states. Within this vast expanse lies the nation's greatest mountain ranges, watersheds, rivers for power, irrigation and navigation, rich lands for agriculture, and fast growing industries so important to the nation's prosperity and security. Sixth Army must be ready at all times to defend this area against hostile attack, and at the same time it must be able to render immediate assistance whenever disaster strikes.

Headquartered at historic Presidio of San Francisco, overlooking the entrance to San Francisco Bay, Sixth Army administers virtually every activity known to the United States Army. Sixth Army shares, with five other Armies, the defense of continental United States.

Established in early 1943, at the request of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, then Commander-in-Chief, Southwest Pacific Theater, to spearhead the return to the Philippines and subsequent defeat of the Japanese military forces, Sixth Army blazed a combat record which is regarded as unparalleled in the annals of military advancement. For the men and women wearing the Sixth Army star, these fascinating chapters of Sixth Army's rich history provide the all-important elements of pride and loyalty—for here is a major Army organization in which every member can share in contributing ever more to its brilliant record of service to the nation.

On 25 January 1954 the Sixth Army observed the 11th anniversary of its original activation. However, it could have been its 26th anniversary had it not been for a slight alteration in plans in 1927. In October of that year the Sixth Army was authorized on the activation list of the War Department but was not included in the mobilization plan of 1933. It seemed so certain back in 1927 that the Sixth Army would be shortly activated, that within two days from the War Department authorization a shoulder patch insignia was designed and officially accepted. The Sixth Army insignia today differs from the original only slightly in design—in that the present Sixth Army six-pointed star is centered on an unbroken circular field, while the original design called for a hexagonal field.

The Sixth Army was constituted by the War Department on 22 January 1943 and was activated on 25 January 1943 at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. General (then Lt. General) Walter Krueger, who was at that time Commanding General, Third Army, at Fort Sam Houston, was appointed Sixth Army's first Commanding General. He assumed command of the Sixth Army on 16 February 1943 and continued in command from early May 1943 at Milne Bay, New Guinea, to the recapture of the Philippines later in June 1945, and into the early phases of the occupation of Japan.

(Next Week: One of the U. S. Army's largest World War II field commands goes into action in the Pacific.)

AER Dance Thursday

The annual dance program at the Presidio Service club to obtain funds for the Army Emergency Relief campaign will be held Thursday beginning at 2000. A carnival atmosphere will prevail with dart and guessing games and "taxi" dances to music furnished by the dance band. In addition, refreshments will be served throughout the evening.

Little Chance for Pay Raise This Session!

Washington (AFPS)—Two factors are working against the possibility for a pay raise for servicemen as Congress aims for an adjournment date now tentatively set at Aug. 7. The first is that Congress has not yet voted to raise the national debt ceiling (which definitely will be necessary if civilian government workers receive a salary boost), and the second is that none of the service pay bills has received support from either Congressional leaders or the Defense Department.

Thus the matter probably will receive renewed study, as Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson indicated at his last press conference, with a good chance for a DOD recommendation to be submitted next January.

Huge Shrink Job

Microfilming of records makes molehills out of mountains. The Adjutant General microfilmed 11,000 file drawers of Army records during 1953 and put the finished films in just 55 film filing cabinets.

An army abroad is of little use unless there are prudent counsels at home. . . . Cicero.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....	Two Cents Postage
Address.....
Name.....
Street.....
City.....Zone.....State.....
(Third Class Mail)

AND EVER THE TWAIN—Two old friends were on hand to greet South Korea's President Syngman Rhee when he visited the Presidio last week. Shown welcoming the gifted Asian leader are Sixth Army Commander Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, who commanded the IX Corps during the early days of the conflict in Korea; and Major General William F. Dean, famed POW and Medal of Honor winner, who commanded the 24th Infantry Division in the early fighting at Taejon, now deputy commander of the Sixth Army. President Rhee was given a top military welcome by Presidio troops during his brief visit. (Signal Corps photo.)

Syngman Rhee!

Presidio Troops Stage Colorful Review for Visiting Patriot

In farewell ceremonies climaxing a historic, crusading tour of the United States, the Presidio of San Francisco welcomed the aging but still vigorous South Korean president, Syngman Rhee.

The ceremony, touched off by a twenty-one gun salute, was a carefully planned, full dress military show.

The official party was met at the Arguello Boulevard gate of the Presidio by Lt. General Willard G. Wyman, Commanding General of the Sixth Army, who commanded the IX Corps in Korea, and Maj. General William F. Dean, Deputy Sixth Army Commander and Korean War hero. The president said he was "overcome by emotion" when he met these two old comrades during the Presidio ceremonies.

From the Arguello gate, Army men standing stiffly at attention lined the route to an open space adjacent to the Sixth Army Headquarters.

The president and General Wyman ascended a miniature reviewing stand just big enough for the two of them as the formal ceremonies opened.

A guard of honor, composed of Sixth Army Band members, Sixth Army Honor Guard and the mass colors of the United States, Republic of Korea, United Nations and the Sixth Army, as well as the colors of the 20 nations who took part in the Korean conflict, were formed facing the reviewing stand. Behind the Guard of Honor were the color bearers holding other United Nation flags.

The Sixth Army band immediately accorded the president honors—four ruffles and flourishes. The band then played the Korean national anthem and without pause "The Star-Spangled Banner."

To the left of the guard were lined approximately 350 Army officers who fought in Korea and are now assigned to Sixth Army

Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the Korean chief of state was taken to the Hotel St. Francis for a brief rest before his Palace Hotel address.

President Rhee left San Francisco at noon Sunday for Honolulu where he spent a three day rest before continuing on his journey back to Korea.

Budget Bureau Gives Belated Approval for 4,080 Regular CO's

Washington — Following months of delay at the Defense Department and Bureau of the Budget, the Pentagon has sent to Capitol Hill legislation which would authorize an increase of 4,080 officers in the Regular Army.

There is no chance of any action this year. The measure is expected to be a priority bill on the Defense Department legislative program for 1955. This will be possible because of the newly given Budget Bureau approval.

The Army is anxious for its passage in order to give recognition to outstanding Reserve officers currently serving on active duty. This motivation is expected to receive a favorable reaction in Congress.

The legislation includes the appointment of 4,000 male officers and 80 WAC officers in the Regular Army up to and including the rank of Captain.

Army, Air Force EM May Apply For Air Academy

Washington (AFPS) — Eligible members of the Army and Air Force—both regular and reserve—may compete for admission to the Air Force Academy. All preliminary screening tests for military personnel must be completed by Dec. 31, 1954.

There are four ways that military personnel may apply.

Applicants seeking Congressional nomination should write to their Senator or Congressman, giving their correct address, date of birth and a statement that they have not been married.

Men seeking admission under the military quota should obtain application forms from their unit commanders. The completed form will be scanned for disqualifying factors. If none are found, the applicants will take preliminary medical and mental exams, the results of which will be forwarded—after a review of their service records—to the Academy Appointment Branch. Those men selected will take a final series of qualifying exams.

Personnel of all military services who are sons of members of any of the regular components of the Armed Forces also may compete for Air Academy appointments. An applicant in this category should write to the Appointment Branch, giving his parents' name, rank, service number and branch of service. He should also include his own full name, address, date of birth, military address and service number.

Sons of deceased veterans—and sons of Medal of Honor winners—should write the Appointment Branch giving the same information outlined in the preceding paragraph.

The correct address of the Appointment Branch is: Air Force Academy Appointment Branch, AFPTR-P-5, Hq. USAF, Washington 25, D. C.

Combat Ready!

New Military Plan Provides For 6.1 Million Man Force

Washington (AFPS) — A sweeping new military manpower plan designed for the possibility of all-out war with the Soviet Union has been submitted to the Defense Department by Dr. John A. Hannah, former Assistant Secretary of Defense for manpower and personnel.

The proposed set-up would establish a combat-ready force of 6,100,000 men either on active duty or in active reserves. Dr. Hannah disclosed the program on his last day at the Pentagon, where he served for 18 months. He has returned to the presidency of Michigan State College.

One of the objectives of the plan is to see that "all qualified young men will be required to serve, through voluntary enlistment or induction, as members of one of the Armed Services."

The plan would have to receive Congressional approval before the current Selective Service law expires next June 30.

Secretary of Defense Wilson said the plan was subject to modification and he was "very open-minded about it." At the same time, he added, he would insist that "we do a sound job this time (because) if we got in a war right now our reserve set-up would be a . . . very disturbing thing for the American people — what we have now would not answer the purpose."

The program calls for organized reserve forces of 3,055,894 men immediately available in combat units in time of war. Of these, 1,692,235 would be in "fully trained, manned and equipped divisions" that could be called up "within an hour" by the Army. The remainder would be in Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Coast Guard reserves.

"The whole thing is geared to the day of active war with the Soviet Union," Dr. Hannah emphasized.

Plans to cut the active forces to 2,815,000 by mid-1957 have been abandoned, he said, and there will be a leveling off next June 30 at 3,047,000.

The present maximum requirement of a total of eight years active and reserve duty would be retained. However, each year in excess of 24 months spent on active duty would count as two years of reserve time.

Another objective of the plan is to remove as soon as possible from reserve status those WWII and Korean veterans who do not choose to serve in the reserves.

August Promotions Drop Sharply, No Master Sergeants

The Army recently announced promotion quotas for the month of August to include four enlisted grades. There was a great drop from the July quota.

There are still no E-7, Master Sergeant, ratings available, but Sixth Army has received 30 slots for E-6, Sergeant First Class, 544 slots for E-5, Sergeant, 1214 slots for E-4, Corporal, and 2181 slots for E-3, or Private First Class.

The Army Language School at the Presidio of Monterey received one slot for E-4, Corporal, and 41 slots for E-3, Private First Class. The Army announced that students in Department of the Army schools were eligible for promotion along with troops in line duty.

Colonel Burbach

Colonel Burbach Named Comptroller For Sixth Army

Colonel Claude F. Burbach has been named deputy chief of staff, Comptroller, Sixth Army. He succeeds Colonel William J. Epes who will retire shortly.

A graduate of the U. S. Military academy at West Point, class of 1925, Colonel Burbach is likewise a graduate of the Field Artillery school and the National War college.

From 1950 until 1953, the colonel was chief of staff of the 4th Infantry Division, serving with it from its reactivation at Fort Benning, Georgia, and accompanying it to Germany.

In 1953, Colonel Burbach assumed command of the Bremerhaven, Germany, Port of Embarkation, a post he held until his arrival at Headquarters Sixth Army.

Early in World War II, he commanded Artillery battalions of the 7th and 85th Infantry Divisions. In 1942 he was named director of materiel at the Field Artillery school at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and the following year was designated chief of staff of the 8th Armored Division.

During the period 1944-1945, he commanded the 418th Field Artillery group, a heavy Artillery unit, in the Pacific theatre. At the end of the war, Colonel Burbach was assigned to the planning section of Army Forces, Western Pacific, in Manila.

Following his graduation in 1947 with the first class to attend the National War college, the colonel served three years on the general staff of the Department of the Army.

Colonel and Mrs. Burbach have one son, Jerald, 22, who is now serving with the Army at Fort Holabird, Maryland.

Editorial

Specific Objectives

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the third of four editorials dealing with the importance of the Army Troop Information and Education program, its objectives and principles of application as transmitted to Headquarters Sixth Army by DA through OCAFF.)

The specific objectives of troop information, supporting the three broad objectives, are as follows:

- A. To develop in the soldier:
 1. Initiative and the cooperative spirit, by insuring his clear understanding of the conditions and policies which affect him as an individual.
 2. Pride of service, by informing him on the accomplishments—past and present—of the Army and of his unit, on the reasons for proper conduct as a soldier and on his position as a representative and agent of the United States Government.
 3. A general understanding of the missions of the Armed Forces and of his individual role in the Army, in order that he may perform his duties more intelligently.
 4. An appreciation of and belief in the principles of the American form of representative government which he is being called upon to defend, to include his responsibilities and privileges under that form of government.
 5. An understanding of Soviet communism, against which he is defending America, to include its meaning, its objectives and its threat to the free world and to our form of government.
 6. An increased maturity, thoughtfulness and sense of responsibility.
- B. To combat rumor, subversion and the effects of enemy propaganda by supplying him with full and factual information.
- C. To insure that complete general news coverage, from American sources, is available to the soldier, no matter where he may be stationed, to include news on national and international problems and issues which affect his life, his attitudes and his conduct at home and overseas.

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Joint Command For Air Defense Set Up By DOD

Washington (AFPS) — A new joint command comprising elements of all branches of the military services soon will be set up by the Defense Department for defense of the U. S. against air attack.

The target date set for the establishment of the Continental Air Defense Command is September 1954 with headquarters at Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Air Force has been designated as the executive agency and Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw, USAF, will be the commander in chief of the new command. He will continue to function as commander of the Air Defense Command.

Lt. Gen. John T. Lewis, USA, will command the Army anti-aircraft command which will be the Army element of the new joint command. A Navy flag officer will be designated soon to command its naval elements.

In addition to permanent forces assigned to CADC, provisions have been made to utilize all available Army, Navy, AF and Marine forces as support troops in the air defense program.

In recommending the establishment of the command the Joint Chiefs of Staff stated that they felt it was necessary in order to:

1. Provide for the development of coordinated plans and requirements for the air defense of the continental U. S.
2. Insure effective control and utilization during time of emergency of all available military activities and forces necessary to defend the U. S. against air attack.
3. Provide a single military agency to coordinate with the Federal Civil Defense Administration, state civil defense agencies and other governmental and civilian activities having responsibilities or capabilities relating to the defense of the U. S. against air attack.

Secretary of Defense Wilson announced that this step is being taken to formalize the defensive arrangements which have worked well in the past on a coordinated basis. He stated, however, the development of new weapons and increased forces available for continental air defense have made advisable a closer knit organization with central direction.

Mr. Wilson added that he felt that this new joint command would prove to be a means of strengthening our defensive arrangement.

Army EM Cautioned To Have Return Fare For Overseas Leave

Washington (AFPS)—The Army has instructed ZI commanders to ascertain that military personnel have sufficient funds to return by commercial transportation before granting them permission to visit outside the U. S.

The Army noted that many soldiers, transported overseas by MATS and intending to return by the same means, were unable to do so because the air service's heavy priority requirements enabled it to carry only a few.

As a result, the Army pointed out, many of the troops had to borrow money or request partial pay to obtain the funds to return to their organizations. The Army intends to prevent the recurrence of this situation by making sure that soldiers on leave who visit outside the country have sufficient funds.

ANGEL VISITS LETTERMAN and found time during her busy schedule of tours and conferences to spend some time in the wards, consoling those patients much as she did the beleaguered hundreds with whom she was trapped in the garrison at Dien Bien Phu. Mlle. Genevieve de Galard-Terraube is shown here speaking with Sfc. Felix Raya, a veteran of Korea. During her two-day visit to the San Francisco bay area, Mlle. Galard-Terraube was feted at numerous functions, among them a luncheon at the Letterman Officer's club which was attended by numerous Sixth Army and Letterman dignitaries. The heroic nurse has become the first woman ever to be invited to tour the United States as a guest of Congress. (Letterman photo.)

Mlle. de Galard Visits!

Dien Bien Phu Angel 'At Home' In Letterman Hospital Wards

by Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

When a wounded man called "nurse," at Dien Bien Phu, she alone could answer.

She was the only nurse in the besieged fortress.

She was Mlle. Genevieve de Galard-Terraube, the famed "Angel of Dien Bien Phu."

And visiting Letterman Army hospital Tuesday of this week, she was in her element.

Here there were wards filled with sick and wounded servicemen whom she could visit and cheer.

And she did.

Perhaps in each ward she visited, in each face she looked at, she was reminded in a way of those 58 days at Dien Bien Phu, while, as the fortress slowly died, Mlle. de Galard did her valiant best to save as many hundreds of the wounded as she could.

She recalled that at the time of the big attack, 20 operating rooms and 20 doctors would not have been enough to care for the wounded.

The 29-year-old nurse hopes to return to Indo-China, since, because of the struggle there in which she played such an immense part, she feels a deep attachment to the country.

Her two-day visit to the San Francisco bay area, part of a nation-wide tour arranged for her by the Congress of the United States in recognition of her great service to mankind, was marked by visits to hospitals, luncheons and dinners.

Upon her return to France, she will have a short vacation before reporting to North Africa for her next tour of duty.

Mlle. de Galard is a French air-borne nurse and these women have no rank, "but we like it that way," she explained.

In addition to her military air transport emblem, she has been decorated with the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor, the red ribbon of the Gold Palm of the Medal of Freedom, presented to her by President Eisenhower, the Red Cross of the French Nurse corps and a patch signifying her honorary membership in the Foreign Legion.

Dr. Hannah Leaves DOD, Returns to College Post

Washington (AFPS)—Dr. John A. Hannah, Assistant Secretary of Defense (Manpower and Personnel) has resigned his government post to resume the presidency of Michigan State College.

Dr. Hannah, on a leave of absence from the college, took office as Assistant Defense Secretary Feb. 7, 1953. His leave was extended at the request of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and President Eisenhower.

No successor has been named. Dr. Hannah, however, will remain U.S. Chairman of the Permanent Joint Board on Defense with Canada.

$266,000,000 Goes For New Vehicles

The Army will award new contracts for combat and tactical vehicles valued at $266,000,000 to be delivered during June 1955 through May 1956.

All of the types vehicles involved are being produced under current contracts. They include the Patton M48 medium tank, the M59 Armored Infantry Vehicle, the M42 twin 40mm Self Propelled Gun built on the light tank chassis and the five-ton cargo truck.

More Secretaries!

Washington—The House recently approved legislation creating two additional assistant secretaries each for the Army, Navy and Air Force.

A similar Senate measure has been reported by the Armed Services Committee.

When enacted, the bill will give the Defense Department a grand total of 29 secretaries, deputy, under and assistant secretaries.

SOLDIER OF THE MONTH, 505th Military Police Battalion, for July was Cpl. Jamie Constance (seated, left), who accepted congratulations this week from Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, Battalion CO (seated, right). Other runners-up to the battalion honor title went to (back row, left to right) Cpl. Leonard Reitz, Headquarters; Pfc. Robert Poole, C Company, and Pfc. Andrew Farenga, A Company. Cpl. Constance is a member of B Company and a student of political science. (Army photo by New.)

Political Science Student! Santa Barbara Corporal Wins 505th MP Best Soldier Title

Soldierly know-how and performance of duty combined to win the 505th Military Police Battalion "Soldier of the Month" award for Cpl. Jamie W. Constance of B Company, 505th, for the month of July.

In close competition with Cpl. Constance for the title were representatives from the three other companies of the battalion.

They were Pfc. Andrew A. Farenga, A Company; Pfc. Robert L. Poole, C Company, and Cpl. Leonard Reitz, Headquarters Company.

The names of the four finalists were chosen by their respective company commanders on a basis of soldierly conduct and appearance and performance of duty throughout the month of July.

They were then submitted for the battalion-level examination.

Constance was born in North Carolina, but he is now a resident of Santa Barbara, California. Just prior to entering the service he graduated from the University of California at Santa Barbara with a degree in Political Science, a field in which he plans to continue his studies upon discharge.

The B Company MP's police training was completed at the Fort Baker 505th MPTC in April, 1953, following eight weeks' basic training at Fort Ord, California.

During the War Between the States, the Army Signal Corps built 15,000 miles of telegraph lines.

Puzzle Answers

PORT FEAT
SHREWS EROTIC
ER DIMPLES NO
NAG NERVE ODE
TSAR AYE BRED
ETHER SOLAR
HEM PAT
BEAUX ASCOT
HERS EAT KRIS
ESS OBITS SPA
WE AMERICA PT
STATIC CANDLE
SLAT NAPE

Library, Service Club Workers Are Needed Overseas

A number of service club directors and librarians are urgently needed by the Department of the Army for Special Service activities in overseas areas.

Service club directors needed in Europe number 25, while 11 are needed in the Far East and one in Alaska. Prerequisites are a college degree in recreation or a related field and three years' professional experience with educational, recreational or similar organizations, one year of which was with an Army or Air Force Service club. Age limit is 30 to 40 years but consideration may be given to waiving the minimum age.

A total of 15 librarian positions are open in Europe, nine in the Far East and one in Alaska. Experience requirements vary according to the position, but all applicants are to be graduates of a library school accredited by the American Library association. Age limits are 23 to 40 in Europe and 23 to 45 in the Far East.

All positions will be filled by unmarried women except in Korea where unmarried men will be accepted. Each position pays $4,205 per annum.

Applicants may submit U. S. Civil Service Form 57 (application blank) in triplicate to: Special Services Recruitment section, Overseas Affairs branch, Office of Civilian Personnel, Department of the Army, Washington 25, D. C.

House Approves New Armed Forces Housing Legislation

The revised military housing bill which provides for construction of almost 14,000 family units costing up to $175 million was approved recently by the House of Representatives.

A similar bill was favorably reported by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

The House-passed measure (HR 9924) calls for replacement of substandard housing at numerous Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps bases, and the rehabilitation of additional units.

In reporting the bill, the House Armed Services Committee, said: "The failure in recent years to provide adequate housing for military personnel has . . . created a serious morale problem." The Committee noted that the present plan provides for "less than 10 per cent of the family housing needs of the Armed Forces even on the basis of the permanent hard core strength."

The bill will "enable the military departments to make a modest start toward alleviating the critical shortage of housing for military personnel," the Committee said, "until the housing problem can be given more detailed study and a long-range plan evolved."

Substantially all of the housing in overseas areas was eliminated from the original bill. Certain foreign housing for the Navy remains in the bill, however, with the understanding that it will not be used unless the Defense Department is convinced that it cannot be obtained through rental guarantees.

The Committee said it "feels that the modest housing program contained in HR 9924 is a sound one and will constitute an important step toward solving the critical housing shortage of the Armed Forces."

Volunteer Reserve

Approximately four and three-quarters per cent of the men returning from a two-year period of duty in the Army are going into active pay status in the Reserve.

Recently Assigned

Colonel John M. Finn has assumed the duties of chief of the military personnel division, G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Just graduated from the 10-months Army War College, Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, Colonel Finn was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1938. His other schools include the Infantry Advanced short course, Fort Benning, Georgia, and the six-months course at the NATO Defense College in Europe.

The colonel was among the first class to be graduated from the NATO college, and, while in Europe, he also served a year with Army Land Forces, Central Europe, a subordinate of SHAPE, with station at Fontainebleau.

During World War II, Colonel Finn was overseas 34 months, 29 of them under battle conditions. His unit was the 7th Infantry Division, 32nd Infantry, which left the states in April 1943 for Attu, Aleutian Islands, with the colonel as a battalion commander. In September, the unit moved to Hawaii and then to Kwajalein, Leyte and Okinawa where it took part in amphibious assault landings. At Kwajalein, Colonel Finn was Regimental executive officer, and at the latter two, he served as Regimental commanding officer. After the war, with occupation forces in Korea, the colonel also served as Regimental commanding officer.

Colonel Finn has been decorated with the Silver Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Bronze Star with "V" device, the Legion of Merit, the Combat Infantry Badge and the Purple Heart.

The colonel is the father of three children, two sons 14 and 12 years old, and a daughter, seven.

Lt. Colonel William Troy has joined the G-4 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army for his new assignment.

He returned recently from a year's service with Joint Task Force 7 in the Pacific and has just been awarded a Certificate of Achievement for his meritorious service there.

Signed by Major General P. W. Clarkson, Commander, the letter accompanying the certificate reads in part: "I wish to commend you for your outstanding performance of duty during the period 20 January through 15 May 1954. . . . In the course of your duties as Army supply and evacuation officer, you were confronted with numerous complex problems incident to requisition, receipt, storage and issue of supplies and equipment. The manner in which you effectively resolved these problems, and the tireless and enthusiastic efforts you expended, often during irregular hours . . . is particularly noteworthy."

Prior to his Pacific assignment, Colonel Troy served two years as S-4 of the Virginia Military district.

A veteran of nearly 27 years Army service, Colonel Troy was with the Quartermaster Corps, detailed to the Air Force, during World War II. At Pearl Harbor when it was attacked on 7 December 1941, the colonel served on the Quartermaster staff of the 7th Air Force, returning to the states on 31 October 1944. He has also been awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Major Arthur N. Whitley comes to the Presidio following his graduation from the 10-months course at the Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

He is now assigned to the enlisted personnel branch of the military personnel division, G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Prior to schooling, Major Whitley spent three years with Army Field Forces Board No. Two at Fort Knox, Kentucky, and is also a graduate of the Advanced course (Armor) at Fort Knox.

Serving brilliantly with the 10th Tank Battalion of the 5th Armored Division in the ETO for 20 months during World War II, the major was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star Medal, the Bronze Star Medal and the Purple Heart. He has been with the Army for the past 18 years.

Major Harold D. Adams is now a member of the G-4 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

Major Adams served the past three years in Germany where he was with the 2nd Armored Division, Division Artillery.

Entering the Army in 1941, the major served in the China-Burma-India theatre for two years during World War II, and was with the Chinese Army in Burma as liaison officer.

He is a graduate of the Advanced course, Artillery, Fort Sill, Oklahoma.

Captain Bernard L. Heller has assumed the post of Commissary Sales officer, Post Commissary, Presidio of San Francisco.

In Europe for the past three years, with station in Germany, Captain Heller was chief of subsistence for the Western Area Command, which included supervision and operation of six commissaries, seven issue points, two bakeries and two coffee roasting plants.

Entering the Army as an enlisted man, the captain served a year in the Infantry before entering OCS at Grinnell, Iowa, where he was graduated in June 1943. He served in a Military Police Escort Guard and also as a training replacement officer at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin, during World War II. Recalled to active duty in 1950, Captain Heller in civilian life supervised a chain of super markets in Miami, Florida.

Lt. Samuel P. Marshall has spent 30 months at Camp Stoneman, California, where he was budget and fiscal officer and later, under a new setup, chief of the accounting division, Finance accounting office.

He further assisted in integrating and establishing the new Finance accounting system recently set up in the area, at both Fort Lawton, Washington, and Camp Irwin, California, prior to being assigned to the Comptroller Section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

A total of 8½ years of his 12 years active Army service were spent as an enlisted man, and as a master sergeant in Finance, he received a direct appointment and Reserve commission in March 1948, and came on active duty in September of that year as Post disbursing officer, Fort Sheridan Illinois.

Prior to World War II, Lt. Marshall served two tours with the 1st Arctic Test detachment, 7099th ASU, Fort Churchill, Manitoba, Canada, as chief clerk of the Finance office. He later served in Kodiak, Alaska, from August 1941 to December 1944. A graduate of the Army Finance school, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, the lieutenant also attended the University of Missouri. He and Mrs. Marshall and their three daughters reside in Mill Valley.

Talk it Over!

TIC Topic Next Week Will Emphasize Free Discussion

Free discussion, as a way of keeping informed, is a basic principle of American democracy.

It pays to talk things over. Behind each forward move in our Nation's history was an idea—a suggested solution to a problem. Someone—perhaps more than one—had the idea first and discussed it with others. And they discussed it with others. The idea didn't remain unchanged. It was modified as it spread and as it gathered strength from being considered by many thinking men. It became public opinion. It became the will of the people that a definite action be taken on the problem.

The discussion will point out that a truly representative government offers more rights and privileges to the governed than does any other system, but it also imposes more obligations upon them. For every right there is a corresponding duty and an individual responsibility.

Americans, including Service personnel, have ample opportunity to keep well informed. So much information is available to the American public that its very abundance becomes a problem. You must, in some way, select your sources so as to get the information you need and find out what is going on in the world. So the individual job of being informed involves two major problems — how to select sources of information and how to interpret information.

Among the most valuable sources of information, the conference will point out, are newspapers, radio and television, news and picture magazines, books and general magazines, and discussion.

Knowing where to get information is of little importance unless you know how to sift and evaluate it. Analyzing information is not easy. This is partly because such a large amount of information is available and because few sources of news are completely objective or entirely free from personal bias. Because newspapers are run by human beings, they cannot be purely objective despite the honest efforts of their editors and reporters. When analyzing information, whatever its source, it is very important that you distinguish between facts and opinion.

During peace and war our Armed Forces maintain information programs for their personnel. These programs have been battle-tested in World War II and in Korea, and have not failed. They are based on thoroughly American principles. Through them, American soldiers, sailors, air men, and marines are encouraged always to keep themselves informed, to talk things over, to know the "common sense of the subject," to know the "reasons why."

600 Non-Reg WOs to Get Involuntary Release

Washington (AFPS)—About 600 non-Regular Army warrant officers will be involuntarily released from active duty prior to July 1, 1955. The releases will begin late in the fall and will be in addition to those whose tours of duty normally will end prior to the above date.

Individuals selected for release will be given at least three months' notice with the first being effective in November. The Army says this release of WOs is not expected to extend beyond the current estimate of 600 and that those affected may apply for enlistment under present policies.

Three Presidio WAC's Change Their Names in Vows Taken Saturday

Wedding bells rang all day Saturday, the reason being that three WAC's from the Presidio acquired new names almost simultaneously. Sgt. May Gilroy became Mrs. Frederick Brockhaus by her union with Sgt. Brockhaus, a Ward Master at Letterman Army Hospital. The husband is from Michigan and was a captive of the Reds in Korea for 23 months. The bride is a native of Gilroy, California, and attended art schools in the San Francisco area before her entrance into the WAC's. She is now an illustrator for the Post TI&E Section.

Pfc. Joan Heath, of Post Finance, became Mrs. George Booth. The bride is a native of York, Pennsylvania, and has been in the WAC's for 13 months. Her husband is a cook with the 6002 Consolidated Mess and hails from Los Angeles.

Pfc. Maxine Gregich, of AG Personnel, was also married. However, her husband's name was unavailable for this week's paper. The couple departed immediately following the ceremony for a short honeymoon.

The "Point" Is This

That by agreement among the three services, influenza vaccine will be administered this fall to all United States military personnel on active duty. In addition, all individuals coming into the armed services will receive the vaccine as soon as practicable after induction or reporting for active duty throughout the period 15 November 1954 to 15 March 1955. The immunization against influenza within the Sixth Army area is to be accomplished not later than 15 November, or earlier if possible, according to a Department of the Army directive. Dosage of vaccine is 1cc administered subcutaneously in a single injection.

Performance Rating of Outstanding Given to Signal Corps Worker

Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, Chief of Staff, Sixth Army, has awarded an "outstanding" performance rating for the period 24 February 1953 to 24 February 1954, to Mr. Eric F. Burtis, director, Sixth Army film library services Sixth Army Signal section.

Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Sixth Army Signal officer, in keeping with the Department of the Army's policy of promoting the most effective use of audiovisual aids in military training programs, established this civilian position on 24 February 1953, and Mr. Burtis was hired to fill it.

Mr. Burtis was also given an "outstanding" rating just prior to his transfer to Sixth Army, by Brigadier General Harold R. Duffie, commanding officer of the Transportation center at Fort Eustis, Virginia, where the former was also employed as director of film library services.

HERE ARE the new warrant officers' insignia which have been approved by all four services. The Navy will use a Navy blue background; the Marine Corps scarlet and the Air Force AF blue. The Army has not decided on a color yet. W-1 and W-2 insignia will have gold stripes; W-3 and W-4 will have silver.

'New Look' in Uniform To Extend to Warrant Insignia in Services

All of the Services eventually will use the same style of warrant officer collar insignia with only a variation in color denoting the branch of service, a Pentagon official revealed recently.

The creation of new rank designations was made necessary by the passage of the Warrant Officer Bill which established military grades of W-1, W-2, W-3 and W-4, effective 1 November this year.

The proposed plan calls for the reversal of the present stripe and background colors in the Naval grades of warrant. Navy approval for the new collar insignia was expected this week.

The Army, however, which has been making use of a bar with brown markings, has not yet made a decision regarding the adoption of a color. Army officials feel that the present "muddy-brown" will not wear well with the Army-green uniform which was approved for future wear recently.

Centers Close Shop

Washington — The Army maintained 11 reception stations during 1953. Late in 1954 that number will be reduced to nine. In 1955, it is anticipated that there will be only seven reception stations throughout the United States.

New Innovation!

Addressograph Set-up is Boon To Quartermaster Operations

The Post Quartermaster section, Presidio of San Francisco, has recently adopted the addressograph machine method of repetitive writing resulting in more efficient use of manpower and increased efficiency of operation.

For approximately one year the Post Quartermaster has been conducting pilot tests on the use of addressograph equipment in comparison with present methods of repetitive writing and to determine, from standpoint of economy and efficiency, acceptance of addressograph procedure for supply and procurement activities.

In the past it has been necessary to reproduce stock numbers and narrative description of stock items by typing and/or handwriting. The average number of line-items typed and/or handwritten on the necessary forms is approximately 30,000 monthly.

A minimum of 24 separate forms are prepared in Post Quartermaster section pertaining to supply and storage. These forms are processed through one or more of the branches covering the supply cycle of requisitions, issues, turn-ins, and final disposition.

It was obvious that for maximum efficiency the supply cycle, from initial request to final disposition, necessitated an accurate recording of stock item numbers and description without deviation from the catalog nomenclature. The manual system could not guarantee such accuracy. The many different times such descriptions must be typed and the many different typists doing such work are subject to human error.

The huge total of repetitive data which must be written precluded maximum efficiency and is responsible for many non-productive manhours being spent in checking, adjusting and correction of inventory and other stock record omissions.

Embossing of the standard description on the individual addressograph plate provides a certainty that such description will be identical on all forms printed, regardless of the number of forms transcribed and the quality of the work of many individuals handling these forms. (R.E.B.)

Homeliness, like beauty, is often only skin-deep.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:
2 August: Pvt. and Mrs. Bernard J. Barden, Co. B, 63rd Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Bobby L. Davidson, 566 Food Svs. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
3 August: A/2C and Mrs. Frank H. Cox, 413 Ftr. Inter. Sq., Travis AFB, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Ivan C. Pokrefky, 758th AC&W Sq., Neah Bay, Wash.; Lt. and Mrs. Cecil W. Thomas, Hq. and Hq. Det. 30th En. (Topo Survey), PSFC.
4 August: Pvt. and Mrs. Clayborn Breland, Co. C, 1st Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Frank Bullard, OAB, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Archie McCull, Camp Pendleton, Calif.
5 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Richard L. Nicora, 99th Eng., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Edward Crepeau, OAB, Calif.
6 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Albert H. Brown, 72nd S.R.S., Travis AFB, Calif.
7 August: A/1C and Mrs. Wilbur L. Jiegetts, 566 Ops. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
8 August: Cpl. and Mrs. Dwight A. York, Hq. Co., 6000 SU, PSFC.

Sons to:
2 August: Pvt. and Mrs. Richard Alley, Hq. Det., 6017 SU, Camp Hanford, Wash.
3 August: SH2 and Mrs. Alfred V. Burkley, MSTs Pacific Area, Ft. Mason, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Raymond M. Dixon, Armed Services Police, T. I., Calif.; A/3C and Mrs. Lionel Ross, 99th Fld. Maint. Sqdn., Fairchild, AFB, Wash.; Pvt. and Mrs. Hubert Talley, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSFC.
6 August: CWO and Mrs. H. L. Butcher, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSFC; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Byron T. Johnson, Hq. Sec. Sq., WADF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.
7 August: A/2C and Mrs. Harry J. Castano, Det. 1-1, AACs, I&M Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Simmon J. Cohen, Med. Co., 63rd Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. Bert W. Fowler, Det. A, 6002 SU, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. Daniel Martin, Post Motor Pool, PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. John N. Quinne, 9956 TSU-SGO, Med. Det., LAH, PSFC; Pvt. and Mrs. Ralph H. Woodworth, 6th Army Band, PSFC; Lt. and Mrs. Ralph Viskochil, Dist. Eng., 180 Montgomery St., SF.

Pershing Honored

Ft. Jay, N. Y. (AFPS) — Ceremonies marking the First Army's 36th anniversary Aug. 10 featured the designation of the First Army Hq. Building on Governor's Island as "Pershing Hall," in honor of the late General of the Armies John J. Pershing. Gen. Pershing was the original commander of the First Army.

BEST MESS award went to HQ Btry., 9th AAA Gun Bn., which was cited as the recipient of the "Yearly Best Mess Award" for the year of 1953-54. HQ Btry. had the distinction of having the most outstanding mess hall in the entire 30th AAA Group for the year. Col. P. H. Welliston, CO of the 30th AAA Group, is shown presenting the Trophy for Best Mess to Capt.

John F. McDermott, HQ Btry. CO. Others in the picture are (2d row) Sgt. William Townsell, Sfc. Robert W. Byers, and Pvt. Fred J. Bludau. Shown overlooking the ceremony is Lt. Col. G. Neil Wilcox, Battalion Commander. (Signal Corps photo by Pfc. K. Brink.)

GETTING PREPARED for the big AER Carnival dance to be held Tuesday at the Fort Baker Service club are the above group who are setting up the board for the dart game, only one of many to be in operation at the carnival. Assisting Miss Elizabeth delaTorre, director of the club, are Cpl. Lee C. Dixon, left, and Pvt. Charles Motabartolo, right, both stationed at Fort Baker. The carnival and dance is an annual affair to assist the Army Emergency Relief fund campaign now in progress. (Signal Corps photo by Pvt. Christiansen.)

AER Benefit Set!

Carnival, Dance at Fort Baker Service Club Will Assist Fund

Everything is practically in place for the carnival and dance slated for Tuesday night at the Fort Baker Service Club.

The festive doings will get underway at approximately 2000 hours and proceeds will be presented to the Army Emergency Relief fund, which is presently conducting its annual campaign.

A king and queen will be selected early in the evening to preside over the show and, in addition to being appropriately crowned, they will be awarded "gifts" suitable to their station as reigning sovereigns.

Booths will include games of skill such as are featured at carnivals, including ring toss, dart throw, stake your claim, breaking old phonograph records and penny pitch. In addition, there will be numerous "surprise" booths. Tickets will be three for 10 cents except for the penny pitch, and, of course, elegant prizes await the winners.

Dancing all evening with music to be furnished by the Gary Johnson Combo.

As to refreshments, they will include all the specialties of a carnival atmosphere such as popcorn balls, peanuts, candy and apple cider.

Former Army Sergeant Will Play New Tarzan

Hollywood, Calif. (AFPS)—A former Army drill sergeant and MP will become the new Tarzan of the films, marking the 11th since the original Tarzan movie was released in 1918.

Deep-chested Gordon Scott was selected by Producer Sol Lesser after he was spotted in a newsreel shot at a Las Vegas, Nev., hotel swimming pool where he was working as a lifeguard. He beat out 15 other contenders for the job.

Did You Know?

That you can take part in a weekly coed swim night at the Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero? Each Wednesday is coed swim night from 1800 to 2100, and service wives may attend with their husbands. Junior hostesses are also on hand. And maybe you don't wanna swim? For you, there are weightlifting instructions each Wednesday from 1830 to 2030 hours.

Final Swim Classes Set for Fleishhacker Beginning 23 August

A special "learn to swim" class has been scheduled by San Francisco Red Cross at Fleishhacker pool, beginning 23 August, the chapter's safety service announced today. It will be held from 1000 to 1200 daily through 3 September.

This extra end-of-season session has been set up in response to heavy public demand for one more class before school opens in mid-September, a Red Cross official explained, since routine cleaning and special repairs on Fleishhacker pool interrupted a Red Cross swimming class originally scheduled to run 9 through 20 August.

Classes will be divided as follows: from 1000 to 1045, boys and girls eight to 10 years of age; from 1045 to 1130, boys and girls six to eight years of age, and 1130 to 1200, boys and girls 10 to 18 years of age.

Students may register by writing or phoning safety services at San Francisco Red Cross, 1625 Van Ness avenue, PRospect 6-1500.

Cinema Previews

"A BULLET IS WAITING," F* This dramatic presentation divulges the emotions of four persons trapped in the remote regions of the high Sierras. "TWO GUNS AND A BADGE," F*. A happy-go-lucky young deputy sheriff is faced with the task of tracking down a gang of murdering cattle rustlers that have been terrorizing the countryside. "BETRAYED," F*. The stage setting is World War II and the plot is the Dutch resistance movement of that time, climaxed with the battle of Arnhem.

F*—Family

French Honor Patton

Paris (AFPS)—On the 10th anniversary of its liberation the city of Avranches unveiled a blue granite monument dedicated to the United States Third Army and its hard-bitten commander, the late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ACROSS

- 1—Harbor
- 5—Accomplishment
- 9—Brawling women
- 11—Amatory
- 13—Teutonic deity
- 14—Depressions in cheeks
- 16—Negative
- 17—Scold
- 19—Tendon
- 20—Poem
- 21—Former Russian ruler
- 23—Affirmative vote
- 24—Raised
- 25—The clear sky
- 27—Pertaining to the sun
- 29—Dress border
- 30—Stroke
- 31—Sweethearts
- 33—Broad neck scarf
- 35—Possessive pronoun
- 36—Dine
- 38—Malay dagger
- 40—Worm
- 41—Death notices
- 43—Resort
- 44—Plural pronoun
- 45—Land of the free
- 47—Liquid measure (abbr.)
- 48—Quiescent
- 50—Taper
- 52—Narrow, flat board
- 53—Back of neck
- 2—Conjunction
- 3—Crimson
- 4—One of a pair
- 5—Liberate (abbr.)
- 6—Dawn goddess
- 7—Near
- 8—Kindling wood
- 9—Dispatched
- 10—Besmirch
- 11—Fairies
- 12—Female college student
- 15—Lift with lever
- 18—Collects

Dist. by United Features Syndicate, Inc.

- 20—Speakers
- 22—New Zealand parrots
- 24—Inky
- 26—Large bird
- 28—Harvest goddess
- 31—Assails
- 32—Mediterranean vessel
- 33—Uppermost room in house
- 34—Drink
- 35—Cuts
- 37—Ventilate
- 39—Satisfy
- 41—Leave out
- 42—Peruse
- 45—Indonesian tribesman
- 46—Collection of facts
- 49—Indian mulberry
- 51—Displaced person (abbr.)

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 13 August—Scrabble and pinocle tournaments, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 14 August—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party, horse racing and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 15 August—"Starlights of Marin County," stage show, 2000.
Monday, 16 August—Guitar and ukelele instruction and coffee hour, 2000. Crafts room open.
Tuesday, 17 August—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 18 August—Pinocle tournament, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 19 August—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 13 August—Tournaments, 2000.
Saturday, 14 August—Horse racing, 2000.
Sunday, 15 August—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Mason-Kahn Review, 2000.
Monday, 16 August—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900.
Tuesday, 17 August—AER Carnival dance, 2000.
Wednesday, 18 August—Drama club meeting, 2000.
Thursday, 19 August—Square dancing, 2000.

Innovation!

The Beardslee Telegraph—patented by George Beardslee in 1859—was the first electrical field signaling equipment used by the Army.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 13 August—Back by special demand: Walt Disney's "The Living Desert."
Saturday, 14 August—"Road to Bali," with Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Bing Crosby.
Sunday, 15 August and Monday, 16 August—"River of No Return," with Marilyn Monroe and Robert Mitchum.
Tuesday, 17 August—"Two Guns and A Badge," with Wayne Morris.
Wednesday, 18 August and Thursday, 19 August—"Betrayed," with Clark Gable, Victor Mature and Lana Turner.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 13 August—"Road to Bali," with Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Bing Crosby.
Saturday, 14 August—"Dial M for Murder," with Robert Cummings, Ray Milland and Grace Kelly.
Sunday, 15 August—"A Bullet Is Waiting," with Stephen McNally and Jean Simmons.
Tuesday, 17 August—"Betrayed," with Clark Gable, Victor Mature and Lana Turner.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 13 August—"On the Waterfront," with Marlon Brando and Karl Malden.
Monday, 16 August—"A Bullet Is Waiting," with Stephen McNally and Jean Simmons.
Wednesday, 18 August—"Human Desire," with Glenn Ford and Gloria Grahame.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 15 August—"Betrayed," with Clark Gable, Victor Mature and Lana Turner.
Tuesday, 17 August—"A Bullet Is Waiting," with Stephen McNally and Jean Simmons.
Thursday, 19 August—"Human Desire," with Glenn Ford and Gloria Grahame.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 13 August—"Susan Slept Here," with Debbie Reynolds and Dick Powell.
Saturday, 14 August—"A Bullet Is Waiting," with Stephen McNally and Jean Simmons.
Sunday, 15 August and Monday, 16 August—"On the Waterfront," with Marlon Brando and Karl Malden.
Tuesday, 17 August—"Road to Bali," with Bob Hope, Dorothy Lamour and Bing Crosby.
Wednesday, 18 August—"Two Guns and A Badge," with Wayne Morris.
Thursday, 19 August—"Dial M for Murder," with Ray Milland, Robert Cummings and Grace Kelly.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 13 August—Splash party at Letterman Army hospital pool from 1930 to 2100. Pot-luck supper at Teen Age Club at 2130 hours.
Saturday, 14 August—Ping-pong tournament at TAC, boys vs. girls (boys will be handicapped), 2030.

The first jet plane aerial combat took place on Nov. 10, 1950, when Lt. Russell J. Brown, flying an F-80, shot down a MIG.

Your Paper—
support it with news
Call ext 4244

9th Ack Ackers Will Enter Area Softball Tilt

Artillerymen Shell 21st Photomappers 2-1 in Close Post Intra-Mural Finale

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

The unbeaten 9th AAA Gun Battalion softballers reached the zenith of their Post intra-mural season last Saturday, topping the runnerup 21st Engineer Company in champion style, 2-1, to emerge installation titlists and winning a slot in the coming Fort Ord Sixth Army Championships, 6-10 September.

It was pitcher W. C. "Allie" Reynolds, the whip-arming portsider from Texas who clinched a no-hitter against the 30th Engineers the preceding Monday and hurled a winner against the Deuce on Tuesday, who really sewed the title up proper for the try-hard artillerymen.

In a final performance against Post competition, the moundster allowed the engineers a scant four hits and fanned seven batsmen to put the quietus on the Fort Scott photomappers' chances of recovering their battling power—a power which, for other pitchers, has been something to contend with season-long.

Ack Ack bats Wilson, White, Clarke and Calcagno thrashed out six blows off Engineer hurler Tafolla to score the two runs that counted in the fourth frame.

The knell sounded for the 21st when Wilson upped and singled to get on base. Following him, White singled and Reynolds flied to left field, scoring Wilson. Clarke then connected solidly for his historic three-bagger to send White scooting in for the paying marker.

The scales hung in the balance throughout the game, however. It was in the tailend seventh that Ditto came to bat and banged a mistimed home run to vacant bases, scoring himself and none other for the single Engineer run.

The runnerup 21st reached the finals by virtue of their 3-2 triumph over Detachment 1, 6002 SU, on Thursday.

The Engineers opened strongest in the first bracket. Fugita walked to first. Matsumoto gained first on a fielder's choice. Doughety took another Annie Oakley. Strong man Ditto entered the batter's box then to bat in Fujita and Matsumoto on a sizzling double. Subsequently Lund reached first on an error and on the same miscue Doughety scampered in for the third and final score.

The Deuce chalked once in the first inning when Bart Grimes came home on an overthrow. Then in the fifth Gallius came around on a base hit by Grimes, which ended the losers' try.

Moundster Tafolla took credit for the victory. He opposed Bart Grimes, who took the place of regular Dave Scott. Scott's pitching hand was injured in play on Tuesday.

Running down earlier play-offs: The 9th AAA won their opener against Headquarters, 30th Engineers; Detachment 1 whipped the 21st Engineers.

On Tuesday the 9th AAA won against Detachment 1, and the 21st eliminated the 30th on Wednesday.

Near-future plans for the victorious artillerymen include as many practice games as can be fitted in between now and early September. Sports activities in the gun battalion are expected to be slowed somewhat in the next week or so by the 9th's recent move to new offices in Fort Baker, however.

The unit will enter the All-Sixth lists as representative of the Presidio of San Francisco under the name of the 9th Ack Ackers.

PRESIDIO SWIMMING TEAM members were busy in training every afternoon for the past month in preparation for this week's All-Sixth Army Swimming and Diving Championships, which started at Fort Ord, California, yesterday. Participants are, left to right, back row: Captain Irving H. Cohen, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; 2nd Lt. Richard Ehni, coach and trainer, 505th Military Police Battalion, La Canada, California; and Pvt. Patrick O'Daley, Headquarters, 30th Engineers, North Hollywood, California. Front row, left: Pvt. Arnold Vandenburg, 315th Engineer Company, Tulare, California, and Cpl. Alvin Harp, 16th Base Post Office Company, Kenbir, Ky. (Signal Corps photo by Mr. Weiss.)

"Wasp" Stung!

Raiders Snatch Two Straight, Ready for All-Sixth Tourney

The Presidio Red Raiders rolled over two practice game opponents this week in preparation for the nearing All-Sixth Army Baseball Championships, slated for Fort Ord at the end of this month.

On Sunday Wayne Hamaker, back from a month-long furlough, registered his eleventh mound win of the season against Johnnie's Billiards, serving the local semi-pros a neat four-hitter for a final 6-3 tally.

Heavystickers for the Reds included two 9th AAA Battalion ballplayers, Johnny Ethridge and Forrest Coleman, both of whom collected two hits.

Big Ed Jacobsen smashed his seventh four-bagger of the season, this one with a man on.

This Tuesday, with the giant 39,000 ton aircraft carrier "Wasp" drydocked at Hunter's Point, the soldiers moseyed into a close 5-4 victory over the visiting crewmen, hurler Hank Monroe taking his tenth victory of the season. The blond from Rhode Island chucked a six-hitter, fanning four of the navymen. He was a bit wild in the first inning, during which the shipmen scored their first two runs on wild pitches, but after that he had them eating out of his hands.

Sal Fucile Signs Interim Agreement With San Francisco

Presidio's versatile baseball manager, Sal Fucile, who in the past year has doubled for positions in the outfield, on the mound, and in his specialty as catcher, was signed to a San Francisco Seal contract this week.

Fucile, property of the New York Giants, played four years pro ball with Erie, Pa., in the Mid-Atlantic League and Sioux City in the Western League, prior to being drafted.

The local club has a working agreement with New York to use the 24-year-old catcher for the balance of this season.

He was batting .342 up to his departure from the Raiders a week ago. As a pitcher he had won four, lost none.

Fucile is presently on leave from the Presidio. He will return to duty in September and gets his discharge in November.

Ed Jacobsen and "Stretch" Ogelvie banged out two hits apiece as the Raiders totaled ten. Their biggest burst came in the fourth and fifth frames when they edged the Navy two markers for the lead.

Next home game for the locals comes this Sunday against Guy's Drugs of Oakland at 1330 hours.

SERVICE STARS

S/Sgt. Martin BLACK

PLAYED 3rd BASE & OUT-FIELD FOR SELF-RIDGE AFB, MICH., BATTING OVER .350.

A MEMBER OF 10th AF'S GREAT LAKES CONFERENCE SOFTBALL CHAMPS

ORIOLES AND DODGERS ARE AFTER THE VERSATILE ATHLETE

Locals Dick Yost, Ray Steelsmith in No. Calif. Amateur Championship

Two Presidio soldiers turned in good enough scores last Sunday to qualify for this weekend's championship flight in the Northern California Amateur tournament at the San Jose Country Club links.

Dick Yost, this year's Sixth Army runnerup and instructor at the Post Pitch'n Putt Course, turned in 70-71, 141, for last Sunday's first round try, tying with Scotty McBeath for the sixth lowest card of the day.

Ray Steelsmith, ex-UCLA golfer and member of this year's Post team, fired 71-75, 146, to tie with Hank Lucente, Paul Miklica, Peter Scheffick and Dale Lazier in tenth.

Jack Lovegren of San Jose blizztered the course for a record 62—eight under par—and took a four-stroke lead in the 72-hole medal play last week-end.

Still Hot!

Boston Red Sox bonus baby Frank Baumann has twirled two no-hit, no-run games in Post League Play at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

Big Splash!

Five Presidians Vie in Area Swimming Meet at Ord Today

Five soldiers from units on the Presidio entered the 1954 Sixth Army Swimming and Diving Championships yesterday at Fort Ord.

The participants were 2nd Lt. Richard Ehni, 505th MP Battalion, coach and trainer of the Presidio contingent, who was to enter the 100 and 200-yard backstroke events; Captain Irving Cohen, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, ex-University of Pennsylvania athlete who specializes in the 100-yard butterfly, medley relay and individual medley;

Cpl. Alvin Harp, 16th Base Post Office, who was to participate in the medley relay and 100-yard freestyle; Pvt. Patrick O'Daley and Pvt. Arnold Vandenburg, both of the 30th Engineer Group, who were set for the 100-yard freestyle and medley relay, and the 200-yard breaststroke, respectively.

The All-Sixth test began yesterday, in the Carmel, California, High School Gym near Fort Ord.

Pre-tourney favorite was a full, 15-man team from Fort Lewis, Washington. Other teams entered by mid-week besides the Presidio included Fort Ord, Alaska Communications System and Letterman Army Hospital.

Sixth Army sports authorities will pick a team of likely competitors for entry in the All-Army Championships 26-27 August, Fort Bragg, North Carolina.

Local Ball Club Ends BAAF Loop in Third

The Presidio Red Raider baseball team finished the recent Bay Area Armed Forces League 4½ games out of first place.

The title was won by Parks AFB. Runnerup contingent was Alameda NAS.

Complete standings are as follows:

Team	W	L	Pct	GB
Parks AFB	19	2	.904
Alameda NAS	17	4	.809	2
PRESIDIO	14	6	.700	4½
USS Oriskany	11	9	.550	7½
Hamilton AFB	11	10	.523	8
Moffett NAS	6	15	.285	13
SF Marines	4	17	.190	15
Treasure Island	1	20	.047	18

DICK EHNI, Presidio swim coach and trainer who lettered four years at Berkeley on the swimming and water polo teams there will enter the 100- and 200-yard backstroke events in this week's All-Sixth title swim.

Baumann Hurls

Pvt. Frank Baumann, Boston Red Sox moundsman, who has twirled two no-hitters at Camp Chaffee, Ark., will hurl for the Sox against the New York Giants in a benefit game at Boston, Aug. 9.

Yoiks!

Pfc. Lawrence Ginsberg, a trophy winner in many eastern seaboard equestrian events before entering the Army, is the only American member of the Bamberg Hunt Club in Germany.

Lee Casaba Star

Ray Ragelis, an AFPS Basketball All-Star for the past two seasons while at Ft. Lee, Va., has been appointed cage coach at Lake Forest College in Illinois.

COACH-TRAINER-HALFBACK Dave Marcelli, well-known Raider and San Francisco gridder, has turned his talents to the bandages this year. Here he prepares the ankle of Ralph Ripley, a newcomer on the Presidio squad. Both footballers are members of the 505th Military Police Battalion. Coach Steve Glick of the Reds has issued a call for more players. Discharges and sectional commitments promise to cut the present roster to half its size by mid-season. Soldiers with any experience—or only the desire to learn—are urged to contact Post Special Services at extension 3968 for information. (Signal Corps photo by Mr. Weiss.)

Red Raider Football Schedule

- *Sept. 17—Treasure Island at PSF, 1400 hrs.
 - Sept. 25—Stanford Braves at Stanford (prior to Stanford-Oregon game), 1400 hrs.
 - *Oct. 2—Alameda NAS at Alameda, 1400 hrs.
 - Oct. 9—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
 - *Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.
 - *Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.
 - Oct. 30—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.
 - Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
 - Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).
 - Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.
- *Denotes Bay Area Armed Forces League games.

Golfers Lose First In Six to Alameda; Yost Fires 6-Under

Playing with borrowed clubs and no spikes Presidio's Dick Yost shot a sparkling six-under par 65 to win his match against Alameda's Art Nealy in the Presidio golf team's loser against the East Bay naval station this Wednesday.

The Alameda sailors compiled a slim 14½-12½ edge to break the home team's five-game win streak.

In the second match, Dave Bull defeated sailor Dave Travis one up at the end of eighteen. Yost and Bull copped best ball 3 and 2.

Ray Steelsmith of the Presidio lost his first nine to George Laffin 3 and 2, sneaked two up coming in to take his match 4 and 3.

Sid Domingue surrendered to M. Neal both ways, 4 and 3, 3 and 2, 4 and 3 for the eighteen. Steelsmith and Domingue lost best ball 2 and 1 on the full route.

In the last two matches, Bob Carter was dumped by Dan Hogan 3 and 2 and Bill Hawley overcame Steve Young 3 and 2, but the Presidio pair lost best ball and chances of dumping the smooth swinging Alameda team.

Next match for the locals comes Wednesday when they meet Alameda in a return practice match at Sharpe's Park.

Miller Vies for U. S.

Cpl. Bill Miller of Camp Pendleton, Calif., was a member of an 11-man American team picked by the AAU to compete in a recent track meet in San Juan, P. R. Miller is a javelin thrower.

Quit Hiding!

Presidio Coach Issues Appeal For Gridders; Shortages Loom

With their first full-dress scrimmage session due at 1400 hours on the Main Field this afternoon and a moderately hopeful outlook as far as performance factors go, Red Raider gride coach Steve Glick and his associates still had a beef coming this week.

With early releases, discharges, injuries, leaves and sectional commitments already whittling his player-roster to slim proportions today Glick's terse but ardent appeal was simply for "more men!"

Post Special Services authorities supported this appeal, feeling that there is still plenty of material going to waste from Cronkhite to the lower Post that could put championship caliber into this year's grid squad. There is no mass draft for the football team, and so such hidden talent can only turn up voluntarily.

Aspirants for the team, whether they have had experience or not, are urged to contact Special Services at extension 3968 at the earliest possible time.

In the meanwhile, threatened personnel shortages to the contrary, yesterday coach Glick had roughed out a tentative first-string for this afternoon's first scrimmage.

In the backfield, play-caller will be Don Burroughs, who is entering his second year in the Raider quarterback slot. Flanking him on the right and left halfback positions, respectively, will be Bill Cochrane and another returner, fleet Dave Marcelli. Fullback is again Dick Wilkinson.

Eugene Hendrickson has been tabbed center, backed by '53 kingpin Roscoe Morris. At guards, newcomers Tom Flaherty and 'Swede' Holstrum have been named.

Tackles will be Mario Masia and Frank Wilson, with veterans Jack Barnes and Gerald Wilson at ends.

Keystoner Coaches

Herb Agocs, ex-University of Pennsylvania gridder, has been named coach of the Bainbridge Naval Training Center, Md., football team for this season. He played end for the Bainbridge Commodores in 1951 and 1952.

HOLE-IN-ONE CHAMPION M/Sgt. Merley Hutson, left, 60th MP Detachment, of Corpus Christi, Texas, is congratulated on his winning the Presidio's annual ace tourney two Sundays ago by 1st Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post Special Services officer. Runnerup M/Sgt. Wayne Goyette, 8921 TSU, of Duluth, Minnesota, stands by with his second-place trophy. Hutson fired his winning ball four inches from the cup to triumph. Tourney, held yearly on behalf of the local Army Emergency Relief Drive, netted $60.50 for the campaign, best sum in years. (Signal Corps photo by Mr. Weiss.)

Last Week!

Engineers Gain Top Position In Nationals; 56th, MB's Best

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

Engineer Section 6th Army shot to first place position in the National Bowling League this week by taking a four-game forfeit from the 16th BPO.

Det. 1, 6002 SU, bowlers dropped to second place this week with a loss to the surprisingly agile Maroos 4-0. Big gun for the rallying Maroos was Lawton who rolled 179 high game and 159 average. Evans topped the losers with 172, 159.

HQ Co., 6th Army remained in third place and took three lines from the Comptrollers. Brown of HQ bowled a 190 average and 199 high game and loser Morgan rolled 141 and 142.

It was a week for upsets in the Nationals with the 6513th SU whipping the 102 MRU 3-1. Winner Horder rolled a 215 high game and a 172 average with MRU Dennis' 164 and 141.

In the Eastern Bowling League this week Baker MPs trampled HQ 6A G-2 by a score of 4-0. The policemen were sparked by Gallo who pinned a 170 average and a 236 high game. Defeated stalwart Fischer turned in 143, 188.

56th MRU's Jacobsen turned the tide for his five to trounce Det #16002 #2 4-0. Jacobsen rolled an average 163 and high gamed 192. Loser Morgan bowled 156, 218.

6300 ASU came from under last week's loss by taking two lines from the Keystone Kops. 6300's Morgan rolled 151 average and high game of 184. Kop Johnson bowled 158 and 210.

In the Western Bowling League this week the Money-Bags bested the Topos 4-0 led by Bagger Hamiguchi who rolled a 185 high game and 155 average. Topo Hair rolled 184, 153.

Tags squeezed by the Flashers 2½-1½. Tag Jacobs pinned a 185 average and 212 high game with loser Gonzales turning in 166, 183.

In other games in the Western League HQ Co. 6th Army trimmed the Constables 3-1 and the Sleuths crushed the 99th Engineers 4-0.

NATIONALS
Team	Win	Loss
Engr. Sec. 6th Army	35	17
Det. 1, 6002 No. 1	33	19
HQ Co., 6th Army	30½	21½
102 MRU	25	27
16th BPO	22½	29½
Compt-Rollers	22	30
6513th SU	21	31
Maroos	19	33

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	34½	13½
Co. B, 505th MP	27	21
Slow Rollers	26	22
6300 SU	25	23
Keystone Kops	25	23
Det. No. 1, 6002 No. 2	21½	26½
HQ 6th Army G-2	17	35

WESTERN
Team	Win	Loss
Money Bags	27	17
HQ Co., 6th Army	29	19
Constables	31	21
Tags	29½	22½
Sleuths	27	25
Pinsplitters	23	25
99th Engineers	19	25
Flashers	20½	27½
Topos	14	38

Big Leaguer at Jax

Faye Throneberry, former Boston Red Sox outfielder, is currently one of the top batters for Ft. Jackson, S. C.

For the Sportsman!

California Fish Biologists Are Seeking Improved Trout Breed

Mt. Shasta, Siskiyou County — Producing a handsome, fighting rainbow trout that's hardier, faster growing, and more prolific than any now being raised is the goal of the new selective trout breeding project currently under way at Mt. Shasta State fish hatchery.

The trout will be bred for choice qualities in much the same way farmers breed prize livestock, explains biologist Eugene R. German, who has charge of the Department of Fish and Game federal-aid project.

Anglers probably won't feel the full results of the project for about ten years—time for three or four generations of the special fish to go through their spawning cycles. But before then, the quality of State-planted catchables will profit by a slight boost from time to time as surplus spawners from the selected stock are put back into the Department's regular hatchery stock.

The project's first eggs were taken from about 75 specially chosen hatchery brood fish last fall. Now about 1½ inches long, this initial crop will reach spawning size in one or two more years. Meanwhile other lots of special fingerlings will be started soon.

How much difference will the new program make? German can't say for sure. Water temperatures, food, and disease all play a decisive role in trout development. But selective breeding, he maintains, will at least make certain that hatchery fish get off to the best possible start.

Championships Set

The seventh annual Armed Forces Golf, Swimming and Tennis Tournaments will be held at the Philmont Country Club in Philmont, Pa., Aug. 25. Sponsoring the tourneys will be the Philmont Club in cooperation with the USO-Jewish Welfare Board.

ASSAULT RIVER CROSSING will be one of the spectacular maneuvers to be staged by third class cadets of Camp Buckner, which will be shown on "TV on the Battlefront," an experimental simulated combat field exercise to be aired over KRON-TV, Channel 4, San Francisco, Wednesday at 1100 hours. Headquarters Sixth Army chiefs will view the broadcast in their conference room and unit commanders of all Sixth Army Class I installations have been encouraged to arrange their troop training time to correspond with the broadcast. A series of prints such as the one shown above will be on display in the hallway of Building 38 Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

Signal Extravaganza!

'TV On Battlefront' To Present Graphic Picture to Viewer Here

"TV On the Battlefront," a simulated combat field exercise staged by the 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment, and televised from Fort George G. Meade, Maryland, will be shown in the Sixth Army area Wednesday.

In the San Francisco bay area, KRON-TV, Channel 4, will carry the half-hour program beginning at 1100 hours.

All Class I installations within the Sixth Army area have been notified to check the time of the showing in their locale and have been encouraged to incorporate it into their training programs wherever possible.

At Headquarters Sixth Army, a television set will be placed in the conference room of Building 38, so that the exercise may be viewed by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, and his general staff.

In addition, the Sixth Army Signal section will view the televised show in their building, with emphasis there centering on the technical aspects of the presentation.

Unit commanders on the Presidio of San Francisco have been advised to make every effort to arrange for troops under their command to view this extraordinary demonstration.

In preparation for the show, there will be on display a series of 16 by 20-inch prints emphasizing the techniques for effective classroom use of TV as an instructional medium, which will be set up in the entrance of Building 38 on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. These prints will be available to all military and civilian personnel who may wish to view them.

According to Lt. Colonel Howard A. Gorman, Sixth Army Pictorial officer, the combination of the prints and the broadcast will enable personnel to get "the whole picture" of just what combat via television can do.

"The prints show graphically just what can be done to make it possible for troops to see and feel the impact of battle while actually settled in a classroom," Colonel Gorman said, "while the broadcast itself will be a revelation to the viewer who, in his mind, can picture himself actually in the field, but watching from a rear area.

"Those in the technical branches of the service, such as Signal, Ordnance, Quartermaster and the like, will be given a preview of advanced techniques in logistics, supply, etc., as applied to TV warfare," the colonel explained.

This first public demonstration of experimental combat television, televised by the Army Signal Corps with the cooperation of the Radio Corporation of America, will include a water-crossing operation and the assault on a mythical enemy-held position.

Portable cameras will be operated by Signal Corps personnel working in close support with assaulting troops.

"With experience and development, the military application of television will be practically unlimited," Colonel Gorman emphasized. "Already, in noncombat, television may be utilized within the ZI for troop training, Troop Information and Education, morale and recreation.

"In combat or tactical maneuvers, which still require considerable development to tailor the equipment for the job, there are the fields of reconnaissance and surveillance, fire control, commanders conferences and data transmission just waiting to be tapped."

Act Allows Home Loans for Active Duty Servicemen

A home loan plan for active duty military personnel has been approved by both the House and Senate.

The plan permits servicemen to buy homes on easy credit terms similar to those now available to veterans. It is included in the revamped Housing Act (HR 7839).

Members of the Armed Forces would be eligible, under the plan, for a low interest rate, Government insured mortgage loan, with a five per cent down payment and a maximum of 30 years to pay, provided the Defense Department certifies that the member needs housing and will be on active duty for at least two years.

A conference report adopted by both houses provides an increase in the maximum dollar mortgage amount available to Service personnel for home loans. It also permits them to take advantage of both the new home-loan benefits and those provided in the GI Bill when they become veterans.

The Senate committee also included a proviso that servicemen who took advantage of the mortgage insurance assistance under the Housing Act would not be eligible for a GI Bill home loan. This limitation was knocked out by Senate and House conferees. The new version permits an individual to avail himself of both types of benefits "if he is appropriately qualified."

Before the serviceman would be entitled to the benefits of the new program, the Secretary of Defense or his designee would have to issue a certificate to him indicating that he requires housing, is serving on active duty, and has served on active duty for more than two years.

The serviceman would be required to either occupy the property or certify that his failure to do so is the result of his military assignment.

Measurements have been made so accurate as to record the distortion of a bar of steel when a housefly lights on it.

Like Sports?
Got a Hobby?
GIVE US YOUR STORY
Call Ext 4244

Baptism of Fire!

Sixth Army Hit by Disaster; Then Rugged Tortuous Battle

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the second of six articles dealing with the history of the Sixth Army. The information for the series was prepared by Headquarters Sixth Army TI&E Section.)

Almost at the very outset disaster beset the Sixth Army when many of its staff officers were killed in an airplane crash en route across the Pacific to Australia in early February 1943. The plane crashed in the ocean as it was landing at Canton Island, a small but important atoll—a refueling stop—in the Ellice Islands Group, 2,000 miles southwest of Hawaii and 3,000 miles northeast of Brisbane, Australia. Sixth Army advance echelon which had been drawn largely from the Third Army, reached Brisbane, Australia, on 8 February 1943. Headquarters were established in the outskirts of Brisbane at Columbia. General Krueger assumed command six days later, and within 90 days the army was in action at Milne Bay, New Guinea.

Meanwhile, on 30 April 1943, the Alamo Task Force was constituted and continued in operation until 25 September 1945. The task force was for all practical purposes Sixth Army. Headquarters Sixth Army staff served as the General Staff for the task force. CINC, Southwest Pacific created the Alamo Task Force as a tactical device — as Sixth Army's missions expanded and contracted during the 25 months campaign through the southwest Pacific, units assigned to the Sixth Army—Marines, Rangers, Air and Navy attack and landing forces — constituted the Alamo Task Force.

Sixth Army's first action in Milne Bay was of comparatively short duration. On 20 June 1943, Headquarters Sixth Army was moved from Australia to the New Guinea holding. The next action in which Sixth Army participated was a much tougher one—the landing on Woodlark and Kiriwana Islands 30 June 1943, with the 112th Cavalry and the 158th Infantry RCT's leading the assault. The action was successfully closed by 4 August 1943. From that date, Sixth Army was in almost continuous action against the enemy until July 1945, taking part in 15 amphibious operations which included 22 major assault landings.

Conspicuous among the Sixth Army operations in the island hopping campaign from Milne Bay to the Philippines, which culminated in the total defeat of the enemy forces in the Pacific, were—capture of the western end of the island of New Britain—the seizure of the Admiralty Islands group, one of the most difficult missions of the entire campaign—the battle for Cape Gloucester in which the famed 1st Marine Division fought, under Sixth Army Command, after their bloody tussle at Guadalcanal—the Hollandia-Aitape Operation—the seizure of Biak Island—the final New Guinea landings—the occupation of Morotai—and finally the heroic landings and bitter battles for the occupation of the Philippine islands of Leyte, Mindoro and Luzon.

The distance that the Sixth Army traveled from its original base of Brisbane, Australia, to the final goal of Manila in the Philippines was approximately 3,600 miles. Over 2,000 miles of this bitterly-fought, two-year-long journey involved island hopping—attacks and operations of a type never before conducted in such a manner, and on so broad a scale.

The campaign through the southwest Pacific under the leadership of General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur has been praised by military commanders as one of the greatest military achievements ever accomplished. It is well to remember that the Sixth Army was the spearheading force of General MacArthur's dramatic return to the Philippines, and the subsequent defeat of Japan.

(Next Week: Campaign in the Philippines.)

Joint Army, AF Storage Cuts to Slash Expenses

Joint action by the Department of Defense, the Army, and the Air Force in consolidating and reallocating Army storage facilities will reduce the annual operating costs of the Army by $30,000,000 it was announced today.

During the next two years the Army will consolidate storage facilities and close 17 of its supply depots in the United States, about a third of which will be utilized by the Air Force. It is estimated that half of the Army's civilian employees affected by the consolidation and inactivations will be reemployed by the Air Force.

New control methods, devised and put into effect by the Army, combining financial accounting, newly installed management techniques, and a major increase in direct shipments from supplier to Army consumer resulting from six months' study of facility utilization permitted these economies to be made.

Send The Star-Presidian Home
(Fold and fasten securely)

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

Wearin' Th' Green!

Accessories Listed by Army For Wear with New Greens

Washington (AFPS)—Following the announcement that it will change its general duty uniform from the present Olive Drab (Shade 33) to Army Green (Shade 44), the Army has made public the accessories authorized with the new uniform and the summer uniform.

List Critical Job Opportunities for Qualified Civilians

Four critical position vacancies for civilian personnel were listed this week by authorities of the Presidio. Applicants who can meet the following experience requirements were urged to apply for the positions at the Civilian Personnel Division, Bldg. 36, Presidio of San Francisco:

MEDICAL BIOLOGY TECHNICIAN, GS-5, $3410 p/a. Duty at Ft. Baker, Marin County, California. Three years progressively responsible experience in a clinical or research laboratory required.

ELECTRONIC ENGINEER, GS-13, $8360 p/a. Two vacancies. Duty Station: Presidio of San Francisco and Mountain View, California. College degree in engineering or four years equivalent professional engineering experience, and four additional years of professional engineering work in the field of electronics required. The position at the Presidio of San Francisco also requires a minimum of six months' experience in the field of guided missiles at the GS-12 level; the position at Mountain View, California, requires an additional 6 months' experience at the GS-12 level in microwave research or utilization.

PHOTOGRAPHER (General), GS-8, $4620 p/a. Four and one-half years of progressively responsible work in photography required. The work must show that applicant has a thorough knowledge of photography and clearly indicate ability to supervise a large photographic laboratory. Education in the field of photography may be substituted year for year for work experience up to a maximum of two years of the required experience.

ORTHOPEDIC SHOE TECHNICIAN, GS-5, $3410 p/a. Duty at Letterman Army Hospital. Applicant must have a total of three years experience in shaping, assembling or modifying orthopedic appliances, of which six months' experience must have demonstrated ability to perform research in the testing and development of orthopedic shoe appliances.

Added Stars!

Seven lieutenant generals on the Army retired list have been promoted to general. They are John L. DeWitt, Ben Lear, Robert L. Eichelberger, William H. Simpson, Lucian L. Truscott, Leonard T. Gerow, and Albert C. Wedemeyer. In addition, the following four deceased lieutenant generals were promoted to general: Lesley J. McNair, Simon B. Buckner, Jr.; Alexander M. Patch, and Robert C. Richardson, Jr.

POW Converts

More than 50,000 prisoners of war in Korea attended classes of religious instruction during their captivity. The classes were conducted by former missionaries who could speak the prisoners' language.

No date has been announced as to when the new uniform and its accessories may be first worn.

The accessories authorized for wear with the Army Green uniform are:

Shoes — Black low-quarters identical with those now worn by Navy and Air Force personnel.

Socks — Black, replacing the present tan.

Neckties — Black, replacing the present dark green.

Service (Visored) Caps — Army Green with EM wearing black leather chin straps and WOs and officers wearing gold or gold colored chin straps. The visor will be plain black leather for EM, WOs and company grade officers but with embroidered gold nylon or rayon oak leaves for field grade officers and embroidered gold bullion oak leaves for general officers. All cap bands will be plain green except for general officers, who will have embroidered gold bullion oak leaves.

Garrison (Overseas) Caps — Army Green with all personnel wearing a cord edge braid of matching green in place of the present distinctive braids and branch colored pipings.

Poplin Shirt — Will be modified slightly to harmonize with the Army Green uniform. This does not effect the cotton khaki summer shirt.

Chevrons — Will be changed from the present olive drab and black to green and gold.

Auction Sale of Surplus Items Is Set for October

An auditorium type public auction sale of Sixth Army surplus property will be conducted at Sharpe General depot, Lathrop, California, from 4 through 8 October, it was announced today.

Catalogues containing detailed information about the items to be sold may be obtained by contacting either of the auctioneering firms which are to conduct the sale jointly. These are: Milton J. Wershaw company, 7213 Melrose avenue, or David Weisz company 840 San Julian street, both in Los Angeles, California.

In addition, the property may be inspected during the two weeks prior to the sale, at the installation in which it is physically located, these being Sacramento Signal depot, Benicia Arsenal, Oakland Army Base, and Sharpe General depot.

The property, originally valued at more than 20 million dollars, is made up of several classifications including boats, clothing, machinery, plumbing and building materials, tentage, vehicles, electronic equipment, power units and many types of spare parts.

It was emphasized that sale of the property will NOT be made to officers, enlisted personnel, Army civilian employees, Army and Air Force Exchange service civilian employees and members of the Army and Air Force Motion Picture service.

Vol. 3, No. 12

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 20 August 1954

AMONG THE POSTERS to be displayed in prominent places throughout the Presidio and its sub-posts during the cancer education campaign (not a fund drive) to be conducted in the area beginning Monday, is this one. It is being held by l to r: Lt. Colonel Harry Spitz, Presidio surgeon; Mrs. David O. Harrington, member of the board of directors, San Francisco county branch, American Cancer society, and Captain Clinton D. Regelin, assistant Post S-3 and T.I. & E. officer.

All-Out Information Program Will Alert Personnel To Cancer Dangers

One of the most intensive and thorough educational campaigns ever attempted on a military installation will get under way on the Presidio this Monday when military authorities join with the American Cancer Society to present a detailed information program on America's second deadliest killer . . . cancer!

This all-out drive will utilize every type of information media available in a major effort to reach each individual—military or civilian—with the vital facts that could save their lives.

Working with experts from the Society, Captain Clinton D. Regelin, Post T.I.E. Officer, has gained enthusiastic support from every unit on the Presidio. As a result, the vital facts about cancer will be available to all.

Full scope of the presentation will include such media as films, black and white as well as color, posters, mobiles, lectures, medical experts for on-the-spot questions, newspaper articles and such other media that proves feasible during the course of the campaign.

During the week 23 through 28 August, male personnel will view the movie, "The Warning Shadow," depicting the operation for lung cancer (the most common cancer type in men), and an interview with the first man to survive lung cancer following removal of the affected lung. This will be shown during I and E programs.

The movie "Breast Self-Examination" will be shown to women on the post, outlining the procedures in examining for growths in the breast area, this type cancer being the most common in women. A medical officer will be present to answer questions at the conclusion of the showings.

Dates for this movie are: 28 August and 1 September, for WACs in the WAC dayroom; 30 August, for women civilian employees at Post theatre at 1300 and 1430; 31 August, for women civilian employees of CMD at Harmon armory, 1300 and 1430; 2 September, for women civilian employees of the Western Antiaircraft command and Fort Baker, in Fort Baker theatre at 1300 and 1430; 2 September, for dependents and all who missed the above showings, Fort Scott theatre, 1930.

Throughout this entire educational campaign, the Post and sub-post theatres will be showing a short cartoon subject on cancer, "Man Alive," in conjunction with their regular evening performances.

The American Cancer Society, in its program to educate the public, insists that early diagnosis and treatment is absolutely essential to affect a cure.

Though hard to detect in its early stages, cancer often betrays its presence through one of these seven danger signals:

1. Any sore that does not heal.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. Any change in a wart or mole.
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. Persistent hoarseness or coughing.
7. Any change in normal bowel habits.

The society explains that every adult should have a medical examination every year. Women over 35 years of age should return each six months for a pelvic checkup while men over 45 years of age should do likewise for a semi-annual chest X-ray.

Last year, out of every seven deaths in this country, one was caused by cancer. And, surprisingly enough, the fifth straight year, more men than women died of cancer.

On the credit side of the ledger for 1953 are the 73,000 persons who were saved from dying of cancer, but, the society says, this number could easily have been doubled if every cancer case had been treated soon enough!

That's the point of this program—to learn about cancer.

Editorial

You Could Be Next!

Next week, you, and every other military or civilian member of this major command, will become a target. A target for information not only aimed at saving your life, but also saving millions of man-hours for your employer—the U.S. Army.

Cancer will strike one out of every five Americans at some time in their life.

It has been estimated that 530,000 new cancer cases (diagnosed for the first time) will be found this year.

These 530,000 new cases of cancer represent a loss of 3,500,000 man-years of work and will cost society $12,000,000,000 in lost goods and services.

That's not hay, is it? So you see our motive isn't altogether altruistic. Our selfish interest lies in a better, more efficient and economical Army.

So, for that matter, should yours. For you not only work for the National Defense Establishment, soldier or civilian, you also help supply the funds that keep it operating.

You might say then that this cancer information program is aimed at saving for you the two things you value most—your life and the fruit of your labor.

On this basis you would hardly consider yourself intelligent if you failed to take complete advantage of every scintilla of this free information.

In the next few weeks you will be given every opportunity to avail yourself of each pertinent fact about cancer. Take advantage of this "chance for a lifetime."

You could already be that one in every five!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

General Peckham Feted at PSF by QM Association

Major General Howard L. Peckham, chief of the Army-Air Force Exchange system, and formerly commanding general of the Quartermaster Training command at Fort Lee, Virginia, was feted Wednesday at the Presidio Officers club, by the board of managers, Northern California chapter of the Quartermaster association.

General Peckham succeeded Major General Edward H. White as Exchange system chief on 1 July of this year, after 12 years of service with the Quartermaster Corps. He is presently on the west coast on business pertaining to Exchange activities.

A graduate of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1 November 1918, commissioned Corps of Engineers, General Peckham returned to West Point in 1926 and instructed in Engineering for four years.

The next nine years were spent with the Civil Work program in Puerto Rico and the Florida Ship Canal project. During three of these years he was also director of the WPA program. He then entered the Command and General Staff college and was graduated with the class of 1940.

Early in World War II, the general was commanding officer of the 17th Engineer battalion (Armored); assistant chief of staff, plans and training, 2nd Armored division; chief of staff, 8th Armored division; and combat commander, 12th Armored division.

Promoted to brigadier general in August 1942, General Peckham was then appointed director of the fuel and lubrication division, office of the Quartermaster General. In January 1946 he was appointed director of procurement, also in the office of the QM General, a position he held until May 1947 when he was ordered to Paris, France, to assume command of the American Graves Registration service command.

Returning to this country in 1950, General Peckham next served as commanding general, Quartermaster Procurement agency, New York, and later was named acting Quartermaster General.

On 1 October 1952, General Peckham became the commanding general of the Quartermaster Training command at Fort Lee, a position he held until his new assignment last month.

Army Signal School In Germany Graduates 22,000 in Nine Years

Ansbach, Germany (AFPS) — This U. S. Army Signal School is proud of its 22,000 graduates. They have kept the network of military communications open in Western Europe since 1945.

Students from NATO nations share in the Army's training in radio repair, wire and allied communication fields. More than 400 have been graduated.

Established shortly after WWII to train replacement communication specialists for the U. S. forces in Germany, the school had a normal enrollment of 250.

When the size of our forces increased in 1950-51, the school expanded to handle a capacity load of 1100 students. This figure has now tapered off to about 960.

The school boasts a 97 per cent graduation record, although it contends most of its students enter completely "green" in knowledge of communications.

Needed: Application!

(Ed's Note: The following is the last of four editorials dealing with the importance of the Army Troop Information and Education program, its objectives and principles of application as transmitted to Headquarters Sixth Army by DA through OCAFF.)

Principles of Application:

(a) Troop information is a part of the command function.

(b) Troop information is a continuing process: It is not limited to a prescribed period of time at stated intervals. Every action taken by a commander, as well as his daily attitude toward his men, reflects on his troop information program. The command conference is simply the group instruction phase of troop information. It is frequently—and erroneously—considered to be the entire process. A commander should use informal briefings for groups or individuals, his unit newspaper, his news summaries, his information display, and all other media available to him to carry out his troop information mission.

(c) Troop information must have application to the group at which it is directed. Immediate problems of the command itself must be emphasized.

(d) At the regimental and lower levels, individuals must be trained to act as assistants to the commander in matters involving troop information and education. Their job is to help the commander do his job, as is the case with personnel of any staff section.

(e) Continuing effort must be made to anticipate problems so that they may be met before they become serious ones. Analyzing comments of officers and enlisted personnel and examining complaints received by inspectors general will assist in this.

(f) All staff officers have a part to play in troop information. Staff officers should be trained to recognize and bring to the attention of the commander or of the TIE officer, if one is present, any matter that requires special explanation in order to insure proper understanding.

(g) A troop information plan, based upon Minimum Standards, is necessary to a systematic accomplishment of the mission. Some problems, however, cannot be foreseen and the commander must be ready to handle them as they arise.

(h) Information presented to troops must be timely, factual, as nearly complete as possible and couched in readily understandable language. The applicability of the information to the particular group to which it is presented should always be brought out.

(i) The effectiveness of troop information instruction is largely dependent upon the quality of presentation. The best of materials are made ineffective by poor instruction.

SIENDER BAYONETS of reinforcing steel rise up out of the dirt to form the foundation of the new Post Exchange now in process of building. The 74 by 144 foot floor can be seen taking shape with the workmen laying forms, pouring concrete, and adjusting the reinforcement material. The $130,000 structure will be ready by the 10th of December, in time for the holiday shopping. (Star-Presidian-Metcalf)

ENROUTE TO FORMOSA following completion of a course at the U. S. Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Major General Chiang Wei-Kuo, son of Generalissimo and Mrs. Chiang Kai Shek, stopped at Headquarters Sixth Army on the Presidio of San Francisco to pay a call to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander. General Chiang is commander of an Armored brigade in the Chinese Nationalist Army. General Wyman's association with the Chinese Army and people dates back to 1928, when he began a four-year course as a language student at Peking, and also served as topographer for the Central Asiatic expedition in Mongolia. In 1932 he served with the Chinese 19th Route Army during the defense of Shanghai against the Japanese, and in World War II, General Wyman served from February to June of 1942 in Burma as General Joseph W. Stilwell's G-3 representative with the Chinese Fifth Army, and from June until January 1943 when ordered to Africa, he was assistant chief of staff, G-3, U. S. Army forces in the China-Burma-India theatre.

Color Combat!

Color TV Used by Army In Mock Regimental Assault

Ft. Meade, Md. (AFPS)—The Army has made its first public demonstration of military combat color-television coast-to-coast over the NBC-TV network. An audience estimated in the millions watched a regimental assault on an aggressor strong point, viewing on their home TV screens exactly what the regimental officers saw on the screens in the simulated command post.

Present in the 3rd Armored Cav. Regt. CP were Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. S. Army Chief of Staff; Maj. Gen. George I. Back, Chief Signal Officer; and Brig. Gen. David Sarnoff, USAR, chairman of the board of R.C.A.

All commented on the success of the demonstration and predicted wide use of television as an aid to field commanders during combat—to give swift on-the-spot accurate combat intelligence.

Eight monitors on the wall of the command post were fed by eight cameras in the field during the maneuver—an amphibious assault on an aggressor strong point. The cameras were mounted in an Army observation plane, in helicopters, in the armored personnel carriers, and in fixed positions on the ground.

The audience also saw the portable TV camera being used by infantrymen in the field—a small hand camera with transmission mechanism carried on the back similar to the larger-type field radio.

Front-line intelligence on artillery effects, close combat, landings, tank maneuvers and prisoner interrogations were relayed to the command post. The pictures, punched from the monitors to a large-screen monitor in the command post for close scrutiny—were presented on the TV screens across the nation.

The demonstration was in color, but conventional sets picked up the pictures in black and white.

No Uniform On Off-Duty Jobs

Army personnel will not be permitted to wear uniforms while engaged in off-duty civilian employment. The new directive was issued in early July to countermand AR 600-32 which was announced in April 1951.

Permanent Title Designates Camp As Fort Carson

It's Fort Carson, Colorado now.

The new designation making a permanent installation out of Camp Carson has been received from Fifth Army Headquarters, with effective date of 15 August.

Fort Carson, which covers some 65,000 acres of prairie land adjacent to the Rocky Mountains, was established in May, 1942, and on 15 July of that year, the 89th Division was activated there. The 89th, now a Reserve Division, only recently completed its annual two weeks' training period at the fort.

Following World War II, Fort Carson became a summer home for mountain ski troops who trained winters on the slopes of Camp Hale, a sub-post of Carson.

During the past year, the fort has almost doubled in size, its most recent addition being the 31st Infantry Division of Camp Atterbury, Indiana. There are presently more than 25,000 troops station there and approximately 2,000 civilian employees, the majority of these latter residing in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Recent legislation granted $3,582,000 to the installation for the construction of 15 permanent-type barracks as well as bachelor officer's quarters.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

6 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Lawrence Stippich, Fld. Sta., 8602 AAU, Two Rock Ranch Sta., Petaluma, Calif.

8 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Bonifacio Amolo, 537 Engr. Bn., Base Survey Co., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Billy G. Estes, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC.

9 August: Pvt. and Mrs. Donald E. Easton, 9th QM Co., 9th Inf. Div.; Lt. and Mrs. Dean Schneider, 566th Hq. Sq., Air Def. Gp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. O. D. Starks, 325 Ftr. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

11 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Daniel Kim, 6002 SU, PSFC; Sfc. and Mrs. James Littleton, 6513 ASU, Univ. Calif.

12 August: Pfc. and Mrs. James T. Colt, Co. B, 505th MP Bn., PSFC; Capt. and Mrs. Jack Lobel, Unit Adv. Reserve Units, PSFC; T/Sgt. and Mrs. James N. Manning, Hq. Sq. WADF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Col. and Mrs. Lee Montgomery, 9956 TSU SGO, LAH, PSFC; Capt. and Mrs. Rufus H. Newton, Alameda Medical Depot, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. John V. Panozzo, Hq. Det., 660, Co. 30, Engr. Bn., Ft. Scott.

13 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Ralph P. Goehring, Two Rock Ranch Sta., Petaluma, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Morris McClelland, AAA Bn., Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.

14 August: Sfc. and Mrs. Elmer Hobbs, Hq. 6002 SU, PSFC.

15 August: Lt. and Mrs. John R. Baylis, San Francisco Naval Shipyard, SFC.

Sons to:

6 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Gerald Oldenburg, Hq. Det. 660th Engr., Ft. Scott, Calif.

9 August: Lt. Col. and Mrs. Ernest Dehne, 9956 TSU SGO, LAH, PSFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Larry D. Higbee, Hq. Det. 6020 SU, OAB, Calif.

10 August: Lt. and Mrs. Charles H. Griffiths, USS Hammerhead, SS 364, S. F. Naval Shipyard, SFC; M/Sgt. and Mrs. James M. Hibbard, 566 USAF Hosp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Guy B. Moffett, 9956 TSU-SGO, LAH, PSFC.

12 August: Sgt. and Mrs. George J. Breit, Sig. Corp., Two Rock Ranch Sta., Petaluma, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. William B. Levings, 35th Comm. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. Dewey G. Mayes, Jr., 315 Engr. Co. (PC), Ft. Barry, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Stacy M. Myers, 566th Fld. Maint. Sq. N, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Robert F. Robinson, 325th Ftr. Interceptor Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

13 August: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Peter Raffeo, 6510 Maint., Edwards AFB, Calif.; WOJG and Mrs. Charles H. Wilt, Calif. Mili. Dist., PSFC.

15 August: Pfc. and Mrs. Robert C. Bennett, Engr. Co., Port Const., Ft. Barry, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Milton A. Jones, Hq. West ARAACOM, Ft. Baker, Calif.; A/3C and Mrs. William M. Meirs, 325th Ftr. Inter. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. John W. Walls, Svc. Co. 6012 SU, Cp. Stoneman, Calif.

For Better Service

Civilian News Notes

By EARL F. REINKE

On August 17 the President signed the new Federal Employee Group Life Insurance Law. This law which will go into effect as soon as final plans have been worked out by the Civil Service Commission (probably 3 or 4 months) provides for automatic group life insurance for all employees of the Federal Government.

Under the new program, an employee can be insured to the nearest $1,000 above his annual salary for a yearly payment of not more than $6.50 per thousand dollars coverage. Thus a $3,200 employee could purchase $4,000 insurance, for which he would pay about $1 per bi-weekly pay period—or $26 a year—and the Government would contribute up to $13 as its share of the cost.

Employees will be automatically insured when they become eligible for the new program, unless they notify their agency that they do not wish to participate in the plan. Each employee who joins in the program must carry the full coverage for his salary; he cannot select a smaller amount of insurance.

Employee payments, to be made through payroll deductions, will be at a flat rate per $1,000 coverage for all employees, irrespective of age, provided they are under 65. Employees who retire before age 65 with 15 or more years of service will continue to receive full coverage until they reach 65 without being required to make payments into the plan.

Upon reaching age 65 an employee or retired annuitant will not be required to pay into the plan; however, the amount of insurance will be reduced by 2 per cent each month until it reaches a minimum of 25 per cent of the paid coverage.

* * *

The 1615 employees of Headquarters Sixth Army, Letterman Army Hospital, Presidio of San Francisco, California Military District and the Western Army Antiaircraft Command participated in the chest X-ray program presented by the San Francisco Tuberculosis Association during the week of 9 August. This program started four years ago as the result of a suggestion by an employee of the Civilian Personnel Division, and has grown each year until now more than 70 per cent of the available personnel are taking annual chest X-ray through the service offered by the mobile unit of the San Francisco Tuberculosis Association.

* * *

Recent instructions received from the Department of the Army have placed increased emphasis on determination of general suitability and security status of applicants for employment with the Department of the Army.

Written inquiries to former employers and others qualified to give pertinent information must now be made for all employees before they enter on duty, regardless of the type of position for which they are being employed.

The Civilian Personnel Division, and, where necessary, the Security Officer, must evaluate the information received as a result of these inquiries from the standpoint of suitability and security. This procedure is apart from the normal procedure which is still in effect for determining the qualifications of employees to occupy Confidential, Secret and Top Secret positions.

In those instances where employees have had former Federal service, the Civilian Personnel Division must ascertain from the latest Federal employing office whether or not any adverse suitability information is on record. Likewise, the security status of all former Federal employees must be determined prior to entrance on duty.

While this procedure will materially strengthen the Department's program relative to suitability and security, it of necessity will delay the entrance on duty of most applicants for employment.

* * *

A recent addition to the list of installations serviced by the Centralized Civilian Personnel Office, Presidio of San Francisco, California, is the Personnel Center, 6020 SU, Oakland Army Base. The Personnel Center processes military personnel going to and returning from overseas assignments, and was formerly located at Camp Stoneman. The Personnel Center employs approximately 50 civilians.

On 1 September the civilian personnel administration for the Care-taking Detachment, Camp Stoneman, also will be taken over by Centralized Civilian Personnel Office, Presidio of San Francisco. Following the deactivation of Camp Stoneman, the civilian compliment will consist only of those essential maintenance and security personnel. Approximately 50 civilian employees will be engaged in these operations.

Army Advisors

Washington—More than 1,770 Army personnel are serving with military assistance advisory groups in 24 foreign countries.

These men are stationed in Belgium, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Ecuador, Ethiopia, Formosa, France, Greece, Indo-China, Iran, Italy, Norway, Peru, Portugal, Saudi Arabia, Spain, Thailand, The Netherlands, The Philippines, The United Kingdom, Turkey, Uruguay and Yugoslavia.

Signal Grandpappy

The forerunner of the Army Signal Corps—the Signal Department—was created in 1860. It was then that a system of visual signaling was adopted.

Army Builds Windmill For Korean Villagers

24th Inf. Div., Korea—The Army has built its first windmill in this country, but not to drive away evil spirits as some Korean children in the Yang-gu village thought.

The windmill draws water for the village from a 15-ft. well. Although the villagers had never seen a windmill before and could not understand how the wind could draw water from deep in the earth, they are assured the contraption will save them hours of labor.

It was built by the 3rd Eng. Combat Bn. The idea was suggested to the 24th's commander, Maj. Gen. Paul D. Harkins, by Mrs. Syngman Rhee, Austrian-born wife of the President of the Republic of South Korea.

PRESIDIO'S BEST MESS award went to Sfc. Harry Kuroiwa, Mess Sergeant for the 99th Engineer Group. This is the third time that the 99th Engr. Group has won the above award and they now retain permanent possession of the trophy. Shown presenting the award is Colonel Magill, Deputy Post Commander. In the future a silver dinner plate will be given each month to the winner of the award.

AWOLs Only Lose!

The High Price of AWOL Will Be Next Week's TIC Topic

The Troop Information topic for next week will be the high price of AWOL.

The conference will be introduced with the thought that many soldiers think about going AWOL; most, however, don't go since they know the price is too high.

The definition of AWOL is "absence without leave." It is an absence without leave when a soldier is, through his own fault, not at the place he is required to be at the right time. Usually, specific intent is not a part of this offense. That is, in the usual AWOL case, it doesn't make any difference whether a soldier goes AWOL deliberately or whether he is AWOL for some other reason.

In some AWOL offenses specific intent can be a factor, such as AWOL with intent to avoid maneuvers or field exercises. In cases like this, the soldier may receive a severe penalty if he is convicted.

Desertion is a much more serious and more involved offense. There are three general ways that a soldier can desert:

- (1) Leaving place of duty permanently.
- (2) Quitting hazardous duty or important service.
- (3) Serving in some other military force without legal separation from the Army.

Intention and circumstance differentiate AWOL and desertion. Sometimes a soldier is not at fault if he is delayed, but he should notify his Commanding Officer.

AWOLs and deserters are expensive for the nation, the Army, and for you.

The conference will point out that it costs the nation $10 per AWOL for each AWOL day which adds up to millions of dollars spent yearly for guards alone. The money comes from the taxpayers.

The cost for the Army is great in not only loss of manpower of the AWOL, but also the soldiers sent out to find, guard, and try the prisoner. The Army loses prestige and reputation with every AWOL that "goes over the hill."

And YOU share the cost of AWOLs since you do his work, and indirectly, you lose reputation as a soldier.

The topic will stress that you, the soldier, can help solve the problem by talking to the prospective AWOL and explain to him how much he has to lose by going AWOL. Appeal to his pride, his sense of duty and explain the possible monetary losses. Also tell him he may lose his freedom, and he will lose his prestige. This disgrace follows him into civilian life and may deny him veterans' benefits, job rights, or civil rights.

You help pay for the AWOL's mistakes. If a soldier is going AWOL—set him straight—you both have a lot to gain.

National Guardsmen Can Take Basic Training in Summer Months

Recruits in the National Guard could voluntarily take eight weeks of full-time basic training with the United States Army under a plan now being prepared, the Department of the Army announced today.

In order to speed up the progress of National Guard recruits towards training as specialists, National Guard Privates without previous basic training would be enrolled in an eight-week basic training school at Army training centers, according to Major General Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau.

Enrollment would be in the same manner as Guardsmen who now can take some 200 specialized courses lasting from three weeks to nine months in the Army school system. Trainees would be entitled to full military pay while taking the basic training course.

It is expected that the majority of National Guardsmen applying for the basic training school would be high school or college students who would attend during the summer months.

Training Ground!

The largest Signal installation in the Army is maintained at Camp Gordon, Ga., known as the Signal Corps Training Center.

Presidio Students To Register for School Next Week

Representatives of the San Francisco Public School System will be available in Bldg. 122 on the 26th of August at 1330 hours to register Presidio children from grades one through six for the school year starting 13 September.

On the 25th of August at 1330 hours they will be in the Billeting Office at the Wherry Housing District to register students.

Students will attend the same schools as they did last year. However, new students will not know until later which school they will attend.

Schools that service the Presidio are, for grades one through six, Winfield Scott School, Sherman School, Grant School.

For Wherry Housing the schools are Alamo School, Aragon School, and Sutro School.

Junior High and Senior High School students will register at the schools which are, for the Presidio: Presidio Junior High, Marina Junior High, Galileo High School, and Lowell High School.

For Wherry Housing the schools are: Presidio Junior High, Lincoln High School, Balboa High School, and Washington High School.

Labor Day Outing At YMCA Camp Planned

About the best way in the world to spend the coming Labor Day weekend is at the "Y" camp, a permanent camping establishment located in the country which offers a wide variety of activities, one or more of which you are bound to enjoy.

For a three-day period, servicemen and their wives and dependents may take part in swimming, boating, tennis, baseball, hiking and both social and folk dancing.

In addition, there will be good things to barbecue and eat, and nightly campfires for singing and telling tales.

Families or individuals wishing to take part in the outing may sign up at The Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero, or phone EX-2191 for further information.

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Kenneth W. Seymour has become chief of the personnel division, Medical Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past 39 weeks, Colonel Seymour has been attending the Advanced Hospital Administration course at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, which is affiliated with Baylor University, and which offers its graduates eligibility for a master's degree in Hospital Administration, providing they complete their paper within five years. The colonel has already begun work on his.

Prior to attending school, Colonel Seymour was assistant chief of personnel, Medical Field Service school, Fort Sam Houston, and for four years prior to that, he was with the personnel division of the Surgeon General's office, Washington, D. C.

The colonel, in the Army for the past 18 years, spent 39 months during World War II in the Panama Canal area and Costa Rica, and later served 30 months in Japan as executive officer of a station hospital.

In addition to all appropriate theatre ribbons, Colonel Seymour has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Lt. Colonel Andrew J. Eaken has joined the Provost Marshal section of Headquarters Sixth Army as chief of the apprehensions and investigations division. This is his second assignment with Colonel S. F. Jarrell, Sixth Army Provost Marshal, whom he previously assisted for three years in EUCOM.

In the Army for the past 12 years, Colonel Eaken has just completed the four-months course at the Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the eight-week Criminal Investigation course at Camp Gordon, Georgia.

His last duty assignment was as liaison officer, Military Police Training Films, office of the Provost Marshal General, a position he held for 15 months.

In EUCOM, the colonel was at one time executive officer of the 709th MP Battalion at Frankfurt, Germany, during the time of the famous airlift, and later was chosen by the then General Norman Schwarzkopf, Retired, to become chief of the Military Police Highway Patrol, U. S. Forces in Germany, when it replaced the Constabulary.

During World War II, Colonel Eaken was first assigned in charge of MP forces in Times Square, New York, for a two-year period, following which he spent a year in Manila as chief of operations for the Provost Marshal of Manila. His work in this latter assignment won for him the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Major Elizabeth P. Hoisington is now in her new assignment in the Reserve components branch, Military personnel division, G-1 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

She has come to the Presidio from Fort Lee, Virginia, where, for the past five months, she has been attending the WAC Officer Advanced course. Prior to that Major Hoisington served two and one-half years in the office of the director of the WAC, Washington, D. C.

Her World War II service was in London, Paris, and Frankfurt, where she was a company officer. And during the period February 1948 to February 1950, the major was in Tokyo, Japan, also as a WAC company officer.

In the WAC for the past 11 years, Major Hoisington has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant and all theatre ribbons. Her parents reside in Santa Barbara, California.

Major Robert A. Cuzick has just completed attendance at the 10-months Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, prior to which he first graduated from the Infantry Advanced course, Fort Benning, Georgia, and then remained on there as an instructor for three years.

His new assignment is with the G-2 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

During World War II Major Cuzick served 17 months with the 91st Division in North Africa and Italy, and during the period 1946-1949, he was with the 24th Division in Japan.

In the Army for the past 14 years, the major has received the Bronze Star Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantry Badge, Qualified Airborne, and the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Captain Alexander Lemberes has taken over duties of aide-de-camp to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1947, Captain Lemberes is also a graduate of both the basic and advanced Infantry courses at the Infantry school, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Overseas for the past 60 months, the captain served 42 months with the 1st Division in Germany, and, for the past 18 months, he has been at NATO Headquarters, Izmir, Turkey.

Captain and Mrs. Lemberes are the parents of one son and are presently residing here. Their home is in Reno, Nevada.

CWO James M. Peterson has joined the 551st Engineer Company of the 30th Engineer Group, Fort Scott.

He returned recently from 32 months of service with the 64th Engineers in Tokyo, Japan.

During World War II, as an enlisted man, Mr. Peterson served 30 months in the ETO with the Third Infantry Division.

A member of the Army for the past 10 years, Mr. Peterson, in 1949, attended the Survey school at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and the following year, in September 1950, while still at Fort Sill, he received his warrant.

UP AND OVER in true motorcycle high climber fashion is Pfc. George Acton, Company A, 505th MP Battalion, piloting his "cut-down" Harley Davidson 45 cubic inch machine. Pfc. Acton is the 505th motorcycle instructor at the motor pool and is showing some new MPs (not in the picture) how to fly their machines over a dirt abutment at the now unused Lancaster Shore Battery near the Golden Gate Bridge entrance. (Star-Presidian-Metcalf)

NOVICE DANCE WINNER—Cpl. Lawrence Lovejoy of Detachment 1, 6002 SU, here at the Presidio became Novice Dance Champion during July's Denver-held North American Rollerskate Championships. Lovejoy (third from right) is shown here with perpetual trophy for the event and second and third-place teams.

Skaters are, left to right, Robert Castro and Shirley Stough of San Francisco, second place; Lovejoy and his partner Joyce Lamperti of San Francisco, and third place brother and sister duo Michael and Mary Wahlig of New York City.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE
Friday, 20 August—"Jesse James vs. the Daltons," with Brett King and Barbara Lawrence.
Saturday, 21 August—"Dial M for Murder," with Robert Cummings, Ray Milland and Grace Kelly.
Sunday, 22 August and Monday, 23 August—(Cinemascope) "The Robe," with Victor Mature, Jean Simmons and Richard Burton.
Tuesday, 24 August—"Human Desire," with Glenn Ford and Gloria Grahame.
Wednesday, 25 August and Thursday, 26 August—(Cinemascope) "New Faces," with Eartha Kitt, Robert Clary and Ronnie Graham.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE
Friday, 20 August—"Champion," with Kirk Douglas, Marilyn Maxwell and Arthur Kennedy.
Saturday, 21 August—"Human Desire," with Glenn Ford and Gloria Grahame.
Sunday, 22 August—"Jesse James vs. the Daltons," with Brett King and Barbara Lawrence.
Tuesday, 24 August—"Sabrina," with William Holden, Audrey Hepburn and Humphrey Bogart.

FORT BAKER THEATRE
Friday, 20 August—"Betrayed," with Clark Gable, Lana Turner and Victor Mature.
Monday, 23 August—"Jesse James vs. the Daltons," with Brett King and Barbara Lawrence.
Wednesday, 25 August—"The Naked Alibi," with Sterling Hayden and Gloria Grahame.

FORT BARRY THEATRE
Sunday, 22 August—"Sabrina," with William Holden, Audrey Hepburn and Humphrey Bogart.
Tuesday, 24 August—"Jesse James vs. the Daltons," with Brett King and Barbara Lawrence.
Thursday, 26 August—"The Naked Alibi," with Sterling Hayden and Gloria Grahame.

LETTERMAN THEATRE
Friday, 20 August—"Dial M for Murder," with Robert Cummings, Ray Milland and Grace Kelly.
Saturday, 21 August—"Jesse James vs. the Daltons," with Brett King and Barbara Lawrence.
Sunday, 22 August and Monday, 23 August—"Betrayed," with Clark Gable, Lana Turner and Victor Mature.
Tuesday, 24 August—"Champion," with Kirk Douglas, Marilyn Maxwell and Arthur Kennedy.
Wednesday, 25 August—"The Diamond Wizard," with Dennis O'Keefe and Margaret Sheridan.
Thursday, 26 August—"Human Desire," with Glenn Ford and Gloria Grahame.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 20 August—Fun in the LAH gym, 1930 to 2100, free donuts and coffee following at the TAC.
Saturday, 21 August—"Crazy-eight" and pool tournaments, 2000.

Presidio Corporal Wins National Rollerskate Title

A Presidio soldier, Cpl. Lawrence Lovejoy of Detachment 1, 6002 SU, became National Novice Dancing Champion in the recently-held National Rollerskate Championships in Denver, Colorado.

Cpl. Lovejoy, who took leave to enter the competition, won the right to participate as West Coast representative by becoming California State and Pacific Coast Novice Dancing Champ and runnerup in the Intermediate Men's Freestyle Singles in a previous regional test. His partner in the dance division who journeyed with him to Denver last month was Miss Joyce Lamperti of San Francisco.

Cpl. Lovejoy has been rollerskating for five and one-half years. He took an interest in the sport while attending high school in his home town of Monterey, California.

In 1951 he won the California State Novice Men's Figure and Freestyle Championships and placed fourth in the National Championships.

He will be released from the Army in May of 1955 and intends to become a professional skater.

24th Div. NCO Academy Renamed To Honor Hero

Korea (AFPS)—The name of the 24th Inf. Div. NCO Academy—formerly Camp Speicher—has been changed to Camp Brittin in honor of the 19th Inf. Regt. Medal of Honor winner, the late Sfc. Nelson Brittin.

Then a member of Item Co., Brittin was killed at Yong Gong Ni, Mar. 7, 1951. With his squad pinned down, Brittin—badly wounded—killed 20 Reds and wiped out four automatic weapons in a courageous one-man charge.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 20 August—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 21 August—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party, sing around the piano and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 22 August—"Starmates" stage show, 2000.
Monday, 23 August—Military talent show, guitar and ukelele instruction and coffee hour, 2000. Crafts room open.
Tuesday, 24 August—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 25 August—Partnership pinocle tournament, $5.00 prize for winners. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 26 August—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 20 August—Tournaments, 2000.
Saturday, 21 August—Horse racing, 2000.
Sunday, 22 August—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Rhythm Review Stage show, 2000.
Monday, 23 August—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900.
Tuesday, 24 August—Post dance, 2000.
Wednesday, 25 August—Irene Weed Folk Dance group, 2000.
Thursday, 26 August—Square dance, 2000.

WORTH FISHIN' FOR are the many money prizes to be awarded in the second annual All-Army Art contest which is now in progress on the Presidio and its subposts. You can fish for prizes in the field of watercolors, prints, oils or drawings, and each entry is to be accompanied by an entrance blank. These latter may be obtained at the Presidio or Fort Baker Service clubs or the Presidio Officer's club. Prizes will be awarded at Post level, Headquarters Sixth Army level and finally, Department of the Army level. Deadline for entry here is 20 September and a phone call to Post Special Services, Ext. 2002, will answer all further questions in regard to the contest.

Philatelic Anyone?

Millions Spent Each Year for Ordinary, Valuable Stamps

"The postage stamps of a nation are a picture gallery of its glories. They depict in miniature its famous men, the great events of its history, its natural wonders.

"Because of this, philately has a distinct educational value. No one can pursue this hobby intelligently without developing a greater knowledge of his national heritage."

So wrote Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield in the Foreword of the "Postage Stamps" book recently issued by the Post Office Department.

He could have stated, with complete accuracy, that due to the twelve million or more avid hobbyists in the United States known as stamp collectors, philately is profitable big business for Uncle Sam.

During the calendar year 1953, for instance, the Post Office Department issued 13 commemorative stamps. First day covers, totalling 5,427,603, were handled and the number of stamps sold on the first day sales amounted to 13,447,150 with a total value of $434,712.49.

The greatest profit, however, from the sale of ordinary and commemorative stamps is made in the Philatelic Agency located in postal headquarters in Washington. The sales for the last fiscal year amounted to $1,829,505.08, an increase of 16% over the fiscal year 1952. Most of the stamps sold in the Philatelic Agency go into stamp albums and are never used for postage.

It is estimated that collectors of United States stamps spend $15,000,000 or more per year on the purchase of both ordinary and commemorative stamps from the Philatelic Agency and the various post offices.

The Post Office Department's publication entitled "Postage Stamps of the United States" is one of the more popular items for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. The price of this publication is 65¢. A total of 66,379 copies has been sold in the past five months.

The Philatelic Section, located at the Main Post Office, Seventh and Mission Streets, catering exclusively to the needs and desires of stamp collectors is open Tuesdays through Saturdays, 11:30 a. m. to 3:00 p. m., Postmaster John F. Fixa announced.

$5.00 Anyone?

Once again the monthly military talent shows are being resumed at the Presidio Service club, and the next one is set for Monday at 2000. If you have singing, dancing or musical ability, you can put yourself in line for the $5.00 prize award by signing up now to enter the contest or by merely appearing on Monday night prior to 2000 at the Service club.

Cinema Previews

"JESSE JAMES VS. THE DALTONS," F*. Brett King is believed to be Jesse James' son, and as such, is the object of scorn. Determined to discover the true identity of his parentage, he seeks out the outlaw.

"HUMAN DESIRE," M*. Based on an Emile Zola novel, the story concerns a seductive young wife who spends more time and affection than necessary on a railroad official, supposedly discussing the dismissal of her husband from the railroad. NOT for the kiddies!

"SABRINA," F*. Based on the Broadway play, the film is a modern Cinderella story of a chauffeur's daughter who is transformed from an average adolescent into a charming young woman.

"NAKED ALIBI," M*. Action-packed drama in which a detective tries every means at his disposal to prove that a series of brutal police murders in his city are the work of a supposedly average "honest citizen" whom the detective has long suspected.

"THE DIAMOND WIZARD," F*. A treasury department investigator has the job of tracking down an international syndicate of crooks who aim to destroy the economic structure of the world.

F*—Family M*—Mature

Hands Across the Sea!

The 1st Tank Battalion of the 1st Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas, winner of 68 battle streamers during its 121-year history, will sponsor a tank unit in the ROK Army.

The U. S. tank unit is planning to send complete lesson plans for teaching basic trainees the operation and maintenance of the M4A3E8 tank, which the ROK battalion is now using.

9TH ACK ACKER Adam Bellendir, from Iliff, Colorado, demonstrates the proper sliding technique as Cpl. James E. Wilson, from Comanche, Texas, (second from left) explains the demonstration to teammates Pvt. Ken Bush, extreme left; Pvt. Andrew Clarke, second from right; and Pfc. Joe Calcagno, standing. Ack Ackers are preparing for action in the coming All-Sixth Army contest at Fort Ord, California, 6-10 September.

★ ★ ★

Hamaker Hurls

Raiders Feel Player Shortage, Nab 5th Straight Win Anyway

The close of the Bay Area Armed Forces League season meant the beginning of a win streak for the Presidio Red Raiders, it seems. This week, even though they were suffering mightily from a cropped player-roster and meager turnouts, the Reds walloped Oakland's Guy's Drugs 9-4 for their 5th straight victory in a row.

The local bombers took a 1-0 lead in the last half of the first inning as big Ed Jacobsen, the Vallejo pounder, cracked one over the Presidio's rightfield boundary marker, his ninth roundtripper of the year.

The Drugmen struck back in the fifth, scoring twice, to take a slim 2-1 lead.

The visitors' advantage didn't last long. The Raiders scored a total of seven times in their half of the fifth on five consecutive blows, three for extra bases.

The rally began with Gene Terry's double. "Chief" Aserpmysingled to bring in Terry for the tying run. Jacobsen followed with a two-bagger, putting men on second and third. Lean and lanky Ken Klopp entered the box to line a double to left-center and drive in what proved to be the winning markers.

John Ethridge's big bat also proved costly to Guy's boys as he drove in four runs for the soldiers. Bob Dealba homered for the visitors in the eighth but the one boodle couldn't retrieve the game for the civilians.

Wayne Hamaker pitched for the locals, his twelfth victory this year.

Another home game for the Reds comes this Sunday when they tangle with Concord A.C. at 1330 hours. Visitors are welcome to attend the game free of charge.

New Raiders!

The Presidio Raider baseball club has acquired four new players with the recent departure of Sal Fucile, Arkie Stanton, Gene Jacobs and Bob Hill.

Newcomers include Forrest Coleman, outfield, W. C. Reynolds, outfield, Jim Wilson, outfield, all from the 9th AAA Battalion, and Jim Ogelvie, Detachment 1, first base.

9th Ack Ackers Sharpen Practice For All-Sixth Play

The 9th AAA Gun Battalion softballers who won this year's Post crown and the right to represent the Presidio at the coming Fort Ord All-Sixth Championships coasted through their first week of non-league practice this week.

The Ack Ackers, as their team is called, are in preparation for the Area affair which is to be run at Ord 6-10 September.

Pitcher W. C. Reynolds is currently on leave and will return on the 27th of this month in time to warm up for the All-Sixth. Pitching chores in the meantime are being filled by team captain Forrest Coleman and relief-hurler J. M. Fusell, a hefty speedballer from Franklinton, Louisiana, whose rightside delivery will contrast Texan Reynolds' lefthanded approach when they face tournament opposition.

Coleman is joined by two others from the Presidio Red Raider baseball squad, all members of the 9th AAA. They are infielder, Johnny Ethridge, whose basketball and baseball skill earned him an All-Around Athlete Award at Texas Christian U. prior to his entry in the Service, and third-sacker Jim Wilson.

The 9th Ack Ackers, utilizing as many of their roster as possible, dropped a corker, 20-3, to the strong Letterman nine on Tuesday of this week in their first practice appearance to date. The mound was weak without Reynolds, and general outfield and infield performances left a good deal to be desired.

Prelims Over Today!

Preliminary regional tournaments for the All-Sixth Softball matches at Ord, 6-10 September, were scheduled to finish today in three divisions.

Fort MacArthur hosts the Southern Division, Dugway Proving Ground the Mountain Division, and Madigan Army Hospital the Northern Division.

The team winning each prelim will participate in the Sixth Army tournament.

Three Triple Winners

Lewis Natators Win All-Sixth; Alaskans Take Six Victories

A power-packed swim team from Fort Lewis, Washington, made away with 16 first, second, third and fourth places to win an easy team championship at the All-Sixth Army Swimming and Diving meet at Carmel, California, last week.

The northern crew, which garnered its winning point-total with one first-place and 15 second-ary placings, edged runnerup Fort Ord 100-66.

A small but speedy Alaska Communications System (Seattle) contingent took third-place with 42. Presidio and Letterman Army Hospital, the only other contenders, trailed with 30 and 10 respectively.

In spite of Lewis' brilliant showing in the team totals, two ACS contestants and one Ordster made away with all but one of the tourney's first-place honors. They were Alaskans Bob Miller and Dick Elliot, who split six of the meet's 10 swimming events, and Joe Phillips of Ord, who was also a triple-winner.

Elliot commenced with a 1:03.9 victory in the 100-yard butterfly. He was followed by John Mikell and Broede of Lewis, and Captain Irving Cohen of the Presidio.

Second title for Elliot came in the 200-yard conventional breast-stroke, which he won in 2:46.2, followed again by Mikell. Arnold Vandenberg of the Presidio copped third, with Opiopio of Lewis in fourth.

Elliot's third win was registered in the 100-yard freestyle event. He won in 0:55.5, a stroke ahead of Lewis' Dick Hall, Ord's Graham and Wood. Presidio's Dick Ehni finished sixth in that event.

Miller's triumphs occurred in the 100, 200-yard backstroke and 400-yard individual medley. In the first event he flayed the water in 1:08.7, seconded closely by Presidio's Ehni, Lewis' Bernard Garbacik and Fort Ord's Plaubeck.

The longer backstroke test he won in 2:24.5, again seconded by Ehni. Sherman and Garbacik of Lewis followed, with Cohen of the Presidio in fifth.

Dick Ehni's second-place efforts in the backstroke earned him a place on the Sixth Army team.

Miller's medley triumph was turned in at 5:20.1. Alex King, Broede, and Garbacik of Lewis trailed, with Cohen again in fifth. Ordster Phillips' firsts came in the 200, 400 and 800-yard freestyle events, which he won in times of 2:06.1, 4:38.8 and 10:04.7.

In the 200-yard competition he was followed by Eric Scott of Ord, King of Lewis and Bill Buda of Letterman; in the 400, by King, Scott and Buda, and in the 800, by Scott, Buda and Wood of Ord.

The Fort Lewis combination of Garbacik, Mikell, King and Hall won the medley relay in 4:46.4. They were followed by Presidio's Ehni, Vandenberg, Cohen and Al Harp. Fort Lewis won third with Sherman, Karner, Dohrmann and Mattox.

The springboard diving was copped by Bob Iserman of Ord. Lewis' John Pimentel and Keith followed.

Lewis' biggest edge came in the first day when they won 22 points for their medley relay victory, and on Friday when they took 13 points for the individual medley event.

Area natators named to represent the Sixth Army at the All-Army Championships at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, 26-27 August, were: Fort Lewis, Lt. Ellery Krueg, John Pimentel, Bernard Garbacik, John Mikel, Dick Hall and Alex King; Fort Ord, Joe Phillips, Eric Scott and Bob Iserman; Seattle ACS, Bob Miller and Dick Elliot; Presidio, Dick Ehni, and Letterman, William Buda.

ARNOLD VANDENBERG, Presidio swimmer who vied in last week's All-Sixth meet at Fort Ord, won third place in the conventional breast-stroke and helped the Presidio team to second-place in the relay for the local contingent's fourth-place standing. Teammate Ehni was named to the All-Sixth squad.

Last-minute reports from Sixth Army Special Services this week indicated that Presidio's Ehni would probably be unable to make the trip East, due to Service School commitments.

Dick Yost Finishes Fifth in Northern California Amateur Test

As golfer Jack Bariteau won his third title in the space of four months at the Northern California 72-hole medal play at San Jose Golf Club last weekend, former Pacific Northwest amateur champ Dick Yost of the Presidio missed a second-place tie through bad luck in his final round.

Yost could have had the runnerup spot had it not been for an official's adverse ruling on the 13th hole Sunday afternoon.

The Presidian went into that hole three under par for the round, putting him in a tie with runnerup Jack Lovegren and a stroke behind Jack Bariteau. The soldier hit his tee shot into the base of a staked tree.

Yost elected to play his original ball and also a provisional ball while waiting arrival of officials for a ruling. His original ball buried itself into a sand trap and he took a double bogey six. His provisional ball was on the green and he sank a 35-foot putt for a birdie. But then came the official ruling that the stakes around the tree did not interfere. Hence he had to play the original ball—costing him three strokes.

Yost bogeyed the next one, birdied the 18th, and finished with a one under par 69. His other cards had been 70-71-72.

San Jose's Lovegren and Alameda's Tal Smith finished in second at 269.

Fewer Hunters, Bigger Deer Kill In Early Season

Sacramento—Fewer hunters but more deer was the general story for this year's opening weekend over most of the California coastal deer season area, where shooting started a half-hour before sunrise on Saturday, 7 August.

Deer tag returns tallied by the California Department of Fish and Game as of the fourth day of the season (10 August) showed 1,926 deer killed, an increase of 20 percent over last year's fourth-day returns.

The top county was Mendocino, with 355 tag returns against 256 for the fourth day last year. Monterey returns totaled 225, compared with 198 for 1953. Sonoma County hunters sent in 214 stubs, and Lake County accounted for 140. In Southern California, Santa Barbara County returns totaled 25 and Los Angeles County 22, both slightly up from 1953.

Wardens and Department game managers reported hunter numbers down as much as 50 percent in some Mendocino and Lake County areas and in much of Southern California. But along the coast from Santa Clara south to San Luis Obispo County, hunting pressure was described as slightly above normal and the kill was slightly down from last year.

Hank Aaron to Sign

Milwaukee's sensational rookie outfielder Hank Aaron has been ordered by his local draft board to report for a physical examination Aug. 17.

Series Ends!

National, Eastern Close Shop, Western League Still Bowling

By Pfc. Ross Metcalfe

Set to fight it out for first place next week in the last run-off of the current season are Det. 1, 6002 No. 1 and Engineer Section, Sixth Army, who both have racked up a 37-19 tally in the win-loss column for the National Bowling League.

Det. 1, led by Evans, slaughtered Compt-Rollers 4-0 in their last game of the current bowling tourney. Evans piled up a 194 high game and 165 average and Tajimo of the Compt-Rollers rolled 147 and 141.

Engineer Section 6th Army split 3 lines with 6513th SU with Engineer Holtz bowling 194 high game and 160 average. SU's Horder rolled 181, 166.

Also splitting three lines were HQ Co. 6th Army and the Maroos. Yoshino of HQ's pinned 168 high, 164 average and Maroo Bryant rolled 181, 155.

The 16th BPO forfeited 4 games to the 102d MRU.

With three more weeks left of play, the Western Bowling League had only two game scores available at press time.

The Money-Bags beat the Sleuths 3-1 with Bagger Hamaguchi rolling 157 average and a high game of 169. Sleuth Gregor rolled 164, 181.

The Constables split even 2-2 with the Flashers. Constable Hoskins bowled 175 average and 191 high game followed by Flasher Green's 150, 189.

This also marked the last week in the current series for the Eastern Bowling League who plan to start up another run on the 26th of August.

Gene Jacobs

Former Red Raiders Find Work in Calif. State, AA League Ball

Word has reached the Presidio of the post-discharge professional baseball performances of three ex-Red Raiders.

Hurlers Troy Herriage and Arkie Stanton have both found employment on rival teams of the California State League.

Herriage, who went to the league-leading San Jose Red Sox immediately following discharge, has pitched 14 games for the southerners, has an 8-6 record, and allowed a 1.6 earned run average.

Stanton, relief pitcher for the Salinas team, has won two, lost four. Reports indicate that though handling a majority of losers, he has mounded some expert games against the league's heaviest batters.

Gene Jacobs, Pittsburgh-owned outfielder who copped the Raider batting crown last year and ran close to Ken Klopp this season, above the .400 mark, is hitting over .300 with Charleston of the American Association.

All three games were shut outs. 56th MRU smashed the Keystone Kops a 4-0 win with the 56th's Jacobsen rolling an average of 160 and high game 192. Kop Johnson bowled 158 and 210.

In the second encounter, Co. B, 505th MPs smashed the Slow Rollers 4-0, lead by MP Gallo's 170 average and high 236. Slow Roller big gun was Thorne who pinned 156 and 193.

6300 SU took 3 lines from Det. 1 6002 No. 2, led by SU's Morgan who bowled 151 average and 184 high game. High man for the losers was also Morgan (of the Deuce) who rolled 156, 218.

Gallo of Co. B 505th MPs took all individual honors for the league circuit by his individual high series of 634, high game of 236, and high average of 170.

The Best Team High Series went to the 56th MRU which piled up 872 for the season.

STANDINGS NATIONAL

Team	Win	Loss
Det. 1, 6002 SU No. 1	37	19
Engr. Sec. 6th Army	37	19
HQ Co. 6th Army	32½	23½
102 MRU	29	27
6513 SU	23	33
16th BPO	22½	33½
Compt-Rollers	22	34
Maroos	21	35

WESTERN

Team	Win	Loss
Money Bags	30	18
HQ Co. 6th Army	29	19
Constables	33	23
Sleuths	28	28
Pinsplitters	23	25
99th Engineers	19	25
Flashers	22½	29½
Topos	14	38
Tags	29½	22½

EASTERN

Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	38½	13½
Co. B, 505th MP Bn	31	21
6300 SU	29	23
Slow Rollers	26	26
Keystone Kops	25	27
Det. No. 1, 6002 No. 2	21½	30½
HQ 6A G-2	17	35

Presidio Golfers Wax Alameda NAS In Return Meeting

The Presidio golf team rectified their loss to Alameda last week with a decisive 25-2 victory over the airmen this Wednesday in a practice outing at Sharp Park.

In the first pairing, local Dick Yost defeated Art Nealy, 4 and 3. Dave Bull tromped Dave Travis, 5 and 4. The Presidians won best ball, 6 and 5, for the 18 holes.

In the second foursome Ray Steelsmith and Sid Domigue combined talents to outstroke George Laffin and W. Neal one up and two up and one up on best ball.

Bob Carter and Leroy Colgate whipped Bob Anklerag and Steve Young, both matches 5 and 4, and copped best ball, 4 and 3, to make the team victory one-sided.

Yost was medalist with 34-38, 72. Other Presidio cards were: Bull, 40-36, 76; Steelsmith, 36-41, 77; Domigue, 39-39, 78; Carter, 38-40, 78; Colgate, 43-39, 82.

Next Bay Area League game for the garrison team comes at the end of the month against Hamilton Field.

BAAF GOLF STANDINGS

	W	L
Mather Air Force Base	5	1
Presidio	5	1
Hamilton Air Force Base	4	2
Parks Air Force Base	0	6

Army Team Wins First Team Match In NRA Meeting

Camp Perry, Ohio—In the first of the team competitions in the 1954 National Rifle Matches here this Tuesday the strong All-Army team fielded a winner to take the Nevada Trophy team match from the U. S. Marine Corps by a five-point margin.

With 587 out of a possible 600, the top Army "Red" team topped the Marines in the newly-instituted team match.

In individual competition All-Army team shooter Major William Brophy, Aberdeen, Md., lost a close decision to Commander Christian Couser, USCG, Washington. Both men fired perfect 100 scores, and had identical V-ring scores of 13 out of 20 shots in the match. Under NRA rules set up to break such ties, the decision was awarded to the Coast Guardsman, whose last string of 10 shots included the greater number in the V-ring than the Major's.

Fourteen of the shooters in the match fired perfect 100 scores, with the place decisions hinging on the V-ring scores. In third place with 12 V-shots was Lt. Colonel V. M. Corbin of El Cerrito, Calif.

Other Army winners were: M/Sgt. Francis Conway, Ft. Benning, who had the best score of the quartet with 149 out of a possible 150; Captain Murvale Nelson, Fort Eustis, former National Trophy individual rifle titlist and 1/Lt. Herbert Voelker, Fort Monmouth, who both had scores of 148; and SFC John Martin, ROTC instructor from Arkansas, with 142.

Army winners in the Coast Guard rapid fire match were: Captain Albert Blasco, Fort Sheridan, Ill., first place, expert class, with 100; SFC Gerald McMath, Louisiana National Guard, with same score, second place; and Cpl. Charles White, Fort Campbell, Ky., in third place with same score. In sharpshooter class SFC Antonio Miranda, member of the USA-REUR rifle team, was second with a score of 100. Melvin Mowden, Kansas State National Guardsman, won the marksman class with 96, and M/Sgt. Trobert Turner was third with 94.

Red Raider Football Schedule

- *Sept. 17—Treasure Island at PSF, 1400 hrs.
- Sept. 25—Stanford Braves at Stanford (prior to Stanford-Oregon game), 1400 hrs.
- *Oct. 2—Alameda NAS at Alameda, 1400 hrs.
- Oct. 9—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
- *Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.
- *Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.
- Oct. 30—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.
- Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
- Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).
- Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.

*Denotes Bay Area Armed Forces League games.

UCLAN in AF

2nd Lt. Jack Spargo, a former All-American water polo player from UCLA and a member of the U. S. Olympic water polo team in 1952, is now stationed at Bartow AFB, Fla.

Ex-Jaxman Stars!

The St. Louis Cardinals have another rookie sensation in first baseman Joe Cunningham. Last season Cunningham played at the initial sack for the Ft. Jackson, S. C., Golden Arrows, Third Army champions.

PRESIDIO RED RAIDERS continued tackle and blocking practice this week, following Friday's successful initial scrimmage session. Backs like Ed Colarossi (above with ball) and Sherman Womble (tackler) who carried their blackboard and dummy exercises into the field Friday to show the speed and power potential in this year's Raider squad were still working in grim contact sessions this week.

Talent's There!

Mentors Term Presidio Raider First Scrimmage a Success

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

There was plenty of optimism showing in the Red Raider grid camp this week following last Friday's successful first scrimmage between the Preseidio's first-string red and second-string white teams.

All-around performances were very satisfying, according to coaches Steve Glick, Dave Marcelli, and Don Burroughs, considering the meager three weeks the squad has been practicing the plays and returning to the fundamentals and conditioning of the game.

Marcelli and Burroughs, being playing coaches and not side-line mentors like Glick, had fewer specific points in mind following the scrimmage, more general optimism. The first-string backfield, with returnees Burroughs and his elastic throwing skill, Dave Marcelli the speedster and bulldog Dick Wilkinson, with newcomer Bill Cochrane, seemed to be performing with a brilliance reminiscent of the 1953 backs. Whether Cochrane will deliver the goods like last year's right half "Pop" Daigle is something that will be proven later in the season. At any rate, the foursome was displaying a teamwork and smoothness that is bound to pay dividends, as the season nears.

Glick and his ubiquitous clipboard had more specific accolades to deliver. In particular he singled out the work of end Pig-got, whose defense and offense bode plenty of support for the catching skills of returnees Gerry Wilson and Jack Barnes in the future. Tackle Frank Wilson looked very good on defense, while centers Roscoe Morris and Gene Hendrickson handled the center slot with skill.

In the backfield, quarterbacks Burroughs and George Hammond, a newcomer, looked good as a pair who may be sharing the pass-calling duties for the rest of the season, and contributed some bullseye tosses to what Glick termed a "promising" pass attack.

Halfback Sherman Wamble turned in a fine account of himself, charging with a hard-to-stop leg-pumping drive on the attack through and around his would-be tacklers and effecting some first-rate stops himself.

Weakest point in the whole scrimmage, according to Glick, was the Raiders' defense, particularly over the guards. There were moments during Friday's hassle when second-string backs like Milt Garfield and Charles Patterson made the "big team" line look all too pregnable.

BIG ENOUGH? Strong enough? These two members of the Red Raider line will be the men to show Presidio stuff in coming grid contests. Guard "Swede" Holstrum runs interference for end Gerry Wilson.

Glick and associates are not losing any hair over these weaknesses, however. Between now and 17 September, when the Reds crash with Treasure Island in their first league game of the season the team needs, and will get plenty of polishing and reworking.

A second scrimmage this afternoon at 1400 hours, Fort Scott Field, promises just the sort of bone-crushing action Presidio fans have grown to expect from their Raiders. Be there if you can to enjoy the fun.

In 1919 and 1920, a typhus epidemic in Poland threatened Western Europe. U. S. Army medical officers with large quantities of medical supplies helped bring the disease under control.

DEFENSE PLANS for the western portion of the United States were discussed recently in a high level meeting at the Joint Center located at Fort Scott on the Presidio. Present for the meeting were 1 to r: Henry S. Eaton, region seven administrator, Federal Civil Defense administration; Vice Admiral Francis

S. Low, commander, Western Sea Frontier; Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander; Brig. General C. D. Vincent, vice-commander, Western Air Defense force; and Brig. General C. E. Duncan, vice-commander, Fourth Air Force.

Stitches in Time!

Trainees' Minor Mental Ills Treated Fast by Hygienists

(Second of three articles.)

Washington—In 1953, 21,940 soldiers were referred to the Mental Hygiene Consultation Service of the U. S. Army, a group of medical teams which help emotionally disturbed trainees become good soldiers.

For the most part, according to Brigadier General Rawley E. Chambers of the Office of the Surgeon General, these young men were not mentally or emotionally ill.

Not much different from the boys next door, they perhaps were more sensitive, timid or shy; stubborn, rebellious or independent; sick too often or drank too heavily.

Unlike the average inductee, however, they were unable to establish new relationships easily and well. Under the pressure of Army living, what had been at home a small personality distinction became exaggerated—a handicap to the man and the Army.

At the Mental Hygiene Clinics, operated in 18 training centers by a psychiatrist, a clinical psychologist and a psychiatric case worker, most of these troubled young men found the guidance or support they needed to help them become soldiers. They came on the recommendation of their company commanders, post hospitals, chaplains or provost marshals.

Sometimes a change of job was indicated. However, as Chambers said, re-classification is resorted to only in extreme cases as it tends to "reward ineffectiveness."

One such extreme case at The Artillery Center involved a young man who had suffered severe headaches all his life. They became more frequent and more severe after he entered the Army. Repeated hospital examinations revealed no organic source of the pain, and he was referred to the Mental Hygiene Clinic.

By this time the soldier was bitter and hostile. He thought Army authorities either knew and wouldn't tell him what caused his headaches or didn't care if he had them. He resented his assignment on a gunnery detail because the noise intensified his pain.

The psychiatrist convinced him that his headaches were due to long standing emotional conflicts. Furthermore, the soldier found out that his superior officers did care about his problem. On recommendation of the clinic, he was transferred to a fire direction control job where he could use his talent for mathematics.

The headaches did not disappear but the man's hostile attitude did. He completed basic training and became a very good soldier.

Sometimes a change of approach on the part of the company commander can help the poorly-adjusted man fit into Army life.

A 22-year-old trainee fainted every time he had to face the eyes of a company officer. After each instance, he was sent to the hospital and time was lost to his training. The hospital could find nothing wrong, so the company commander sent him to the clinic.

Here the medical officers discovered that the soldier always had feared his father, a violent man who punished him constantly and often without cause. He fainted before him. The soldier reacted as he did before his officers because they represented authority—something he had come to dread.

If he did not have to look authority in the eye, however, he did not try to escape it by fainting. The psychiatrist explained to the company officers: the man was not being insolent when he avoided their gaze.

The cooperative company officers saw that the man got through basic training. The change of attitude on their part had such a healthy effect on the soldier that he began to change his viewpoint on authority.

The recommendations of the mental hygiene clinics are as varied as the problems the men bring. Some need pressure, others need a more protective attitude. Some need a more demanding job, others need identification with and pride in their unit. All need to maintain their self-esteem.

Essentially, as Chambers puts it, the clinics make use of the positive in each man and minimize the negative.

"Whatever we do," he said, "we do it right now—during basic training. That's when it counts—for the man and for the Army."

Children often are mirrors that reflect either the good or bad in their parents.

Division Rotation Studied In Terms Of Savings, Esprit

The Army has launched an inquiry into the possibility of rotating divisions between overseas and U. S. duty.

The study is still in tentative stage, but chances appear 50-50 the plan will be implemented. If so, it would mean that many enlisted men and officers would serve extended periods with the same division.

Army authorities see such a result as a boon to combat efficiency and individual morale. They also envision large savings in money and manpower through rotation at division strength.

Here is how the division rotation would be executed:

In a hypothetical case, the 47th Infantry Division, now at Fort Benning, Ga., is to be switched with the 4th Infantry Division in Germany.

The transfer of the divisions would be initiated by the shipment of a battalion from the 47th to Germany. Only men—no equipment—would be shipped.

In Germany, the battalion from the 47th would replace a battalion of the 4th, which conceivably might return to the U. S. on the same vessel which brought the unit from the 47th.

The 47th would use equipment left by the 4th Division battalion and vice versa.

This would be repeated, with additional battalions coming from the 47th to replace sister units of the 4th.

Army authorities point out that the division overseas would retain full battalion strength at all times.

The Army has been pleased with the growing success it has had in rotating personnel by units—which started with four man "buddy" teams.

As a consequence, it has pushed for rotation at battalion and regiment level.

Now division rotation appears a good possibility.

*Like Sports?
Got a Hobby?*
GIVE US YOUR STORY
Call Ext 4244

Philippine Bloodbath!

Sixth Army Knives, Envelops, Smashes Its Way To Victory

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the third of six articles dealing with the history of the Sixth Army. The information for the series was prepared by Headquarters Sixth Army TI&E Section.)

As in any bitterly contested football game, the nearer the Sixth Army approached its goal in the Philippines—the liberation of Manila—the more difficult the advances became. During the eight months of almost continuous action from October 1944 to June 1945, the Sixth Army battled its way from the Gulf of Leyte to and over the islands of Samar and Mindanao, to Mindore, and finally to Manila. Among the spectacular achievements in the Philippines Campaign made by the Sixth Army were the liberation of civilian and military prisoners of war from scattered prisoner camps, the capture of Olongo Naval Base, Bataan, Corregidor and Manila. All these were realized within the first 90 days of 1945.

After the occupation of Manila and the liberation of thousands of civilian internees and American military prisoners of war who had spent nearly three years in internment camps throughout the island of Luzon, the Sixth Army still faced the backbreaking job of destroying enemy strong points to the East, and North, as well as in the Southern reaches of Luzon, plus the surrounding islands.

The one most difficult obstacle in the closing days of the Philippines Campaign was encountered in the middle of April 1945, when the enemy attempted to hold the Balete Pass north of Manila. More than 100,000 Japanese troops, commanded by the long-heralded "Tiger of Manila," Lt. Gen. Yamashita, were estimated to be concentrated in Northern Luzon. These remnants of the once proud Japanese Army in the Philippines intended to make the American forces fight for every foot of the remaining portion of Northern Luzon.

The 11th Airborne Division under the command of General Swing is credited with cracking the enemy force at Balete Pass. The 11th Airborne Paratroops were dropped into the rugged mountain terrain in the rear of the enemy and immediately began to harass him from many directions. For an entire month, paratroops of the 11th Airborne received food, munitions, and equipment via air drops. They were forced to evacuate casualties at night over tortuous mountain roads and a long semi-jungle trail. However, by 13 May 1945, the consolidated elements of the Sixth Army broke through the Pass, overran northern Luzon, and routed the enemy's main forces. Mopping-up operations and freeing of prisoners followed immediately. The 11th Airborne operation in this phase of the Philippines Campaign ranks as one of the most outstanding operations by airborne forces in World War II.

Some units of the 11th Airborne Division carried out one of the surprise exploits of the entire Philippines when they were dropped to seize a notorious enemy prison camp at Los Banos, north of Manila.

After the breakthrough in the Balete Pass the going became easier. The enemy's main forces were broken up, destroyed or captured. By 28 June 1945, the Commander-in-Chief of the Southwest Pacific Theater declared all former enemy-held territory in the Philippines secure. The Sixth Army was directed to relinquish control of the Philippines to the Eighth Army, which had been recently activated and placed under the command of Lt. General Robert L. Eichelberger. Sixth Army was about to embark on the greatest and most crucial campaign of the entire war—the invasion of Japan itself.

(Next Week: Spearhead!!)

New Plan Would Assign NCOs With Minimum Red Tape

Washington (AFPS) — The Army is considering a plan to give all top three grade NCOs leaving overseas stations for the United States specific unit assignments before their departure. The plan would also apply to specialists of the upper three grades.

The new procedure would enable the top three graders to proceed directly from the Port of Debarkation to the new station, without being returned through reassignment stations.

Specific station assignments would continue to be secured from army commanders and technical and administrative services under the proposed system. They would, however, be made in advance.

At present, NCOs of the upper three grades whose dependents have been residing with them overseas are the only ones to receive specific station assignment orders by name.

The new plan is expected to decrease by about 40 per cent the workload and cost presently involved in processing personnel through reassignment stations, as well as to enhance the prestige and morale of NCOs and specialists in the first three grades.

The Army Signal Corps maintains a total of 11 telephone channels connecting the United States with Alaska.

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

Retirement Ceremony Will Honor 22 Veterans

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

One of the largest retirement ceremonies ever to take place on the Presidio of San Francisco is slated for 31 August 1954 at 1630 hours. The observance will see 20 officers and two enlisted men honored for over 500 years of faithful and courageous service and duty in most of the far reaching outposts that the U. S. Army has maintained in the last 40 years.

Heading the list of the retiring veterans is Brigadier General Edward C. B. Danforth, Jr., until recently the District Chief of the California Military District. General Danforth enlisted in 1915 and was commissioned in 1917. He was recalled to active duty in November of 1940 and was assigned as a member of the Secretary of War's Separation Board in 1944. In 1949 he was assigned to the Office of the Chief of Staff in the Far East.

On 9 April 1952, General Danforth was assigned as Chief, California Military District.

Colonel Milo V. Buchanan was graduated from Wabash College in 1917 and received his commission in that year. From 1941 on he has had continuous service with the Inspector General, from the Office of the IG in Washington, D. C., in 1941 to his present position as Inspector General, Sixth Army, Presidio of San Francisco from 1952 to 1954.

Colonel William N. White, the present Chief of the California Military District, entered the Army at Champaign, Ill., in August 1917, and has completed 37 years' service. He was commissioned as a 1st Lt. in the Air Service on 3 June 1918 and before coming to California Military District in May 1950, was G-4 for the American Mission in Athens, Greece.

Colonel Guy H. Stubbs, PMS&T at the Univ. of San Francisco, is a survivor of the Bataan Death March. An artillery graduate of West Point in 1923, Colonel Stubbs is retiring after 35 years of Army Service. In 1942, as commanding officer in charge of 1500 troops, he made the first Japanese prison ship trip from Manila to Davao on Min-anao Island. He was liberated on 3 Sept. 1945 after 1246 days as a POW.

General C. B. Danforth

Colonel Thomas L. Waters is retiring from his post at the Univ. of California at Berkeley. A native of Pennsylvania, he received his commission from West Point in 1919. Colonel Waters has been assigned to the University since 1950 as the PMS&T. He is a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College, Coast Artillery School, and the AA School.

Colonel Valentine R. Smith, Artillery, has been assigned to the Senior Army Advisor's office at Headquarters California Military District for the past year. Colonel Smith received his commission from West Point in 1923. He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School, the Field Artillery School and the Strategic Intelligence School.

Colonel William T. Epes, former Sixth Army Comptroller, is a graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. During WWII he served as deputy chief of staff, plans and operations and chief of staff for the Trinidad Sector and Base Command, from '41 to '43. He later served as chief of staff of the 63d Infantry Division under General Patton. Before assuming his position as acting chief of staff, Sixth Army, he served as deputy chief of staff, Comptroller, here at the Presidio.

Lt. Colonel Albert D. Getman, officer-in-charge of the Department of the Army's Personnel Management team, Presidio of San Francisco, since November 1951, has completed 26 years' service. Enlisting in the Army in 1929, Colonel Getman was commissioned in 1942 and in 1944 served as adjutant, Headquarters Command, U. S. Army in Italy and Germany.

Captain Leslie F. Gorman, Training Officer for the Provost Marshal Section, Sixth Army, entered the Army in 1931, and served from '31 to '34 in the Philippines. From 1937 to 1939

(Continued on page 2)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 13

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 27 August, 1954

Famed POW-Doctor Wins Second Award; Bronze Stars Slated For Two Others

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

An Army doctor previously cited for "extraordinary heroism in action" in Korea will be among the four recipients of awards at a retreat parade and decoration ceremony here at the Presidio today at 1630 hours.

Major Clarence L. Anderson, a prisoner of war of the Communists in North Korea from 3 November, 1950 to 4 September, 1953, will receive the Army's Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, while Lt. Colonels Edward Purdy, Francis J. Palmer and Charles J. Schauers will be decorated with the Bronze Star Medal.

Participating in the ceremony will be approximately 1000 Presidio troops and the Sixth Army Band. The public has been invited to attend the event and bleacher seats will be provided for spectators.

Major Anderson, now serving as resident in internal medicine at Letterman Army Hospital, "distinguished himself," as the citation accompanying his award reads, "by meritorious service while a prisoner of war interned by the Communist forces in Korea from 3 November 1950 to 4 September 1953. Despite the multitude of difficulties confronting him, Major Anderson (then Captain) tirelessly administered to the needs of sick and wounded comrades, skillfully relieving pain and suffering day and night by use of such meager and improvised means as were available to him. Through his constant vigilance, determination and professional knowledge, he contributed materially to the reduction of the death rate among his fellow prisoners of war. Major Anderson's outstanding achievements reflect credit upon himself and the military service."

Surgeon of the 3rd Battalion, 8th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division since September 1950, Major

Doctor Anderson

Anderson was captured by the Communists in the vicinity of Unsan. When his battalion was subjected to heavy and intense enemy fire he repeatedly exposed himself to administer medical aid to the wounded. Then, when his battalion was ordered to withdraw, he remained with a group of 100 to 200 wounded who required medical assistance. After being captured he was interned in Camps 2 and 5 in North Korea until "Operation Big Switch" in the summer of 1953. He returned to the United States in September 1953, arriving at Fort Mason, California, on 20 September.

A graduate of the University of Tennessee College of Medicine, Major Anderson was commissioned in the Army Medical Corps in 1948 and accepted a Regular Army commission the following year. From 1948 until 1950 he interned at John Gaston Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., under the Army intern program.

Colonel Palmer will receive the second Oak Leaf Cluster to his Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service as ground liaison officer for the 58th Fighter Bomber Group in Korea from April 1953 to May 1954. Presently assigned to Sixth Army Headquarters here at the Presidio, Colonel and Mrs. Palmer and their two children live in San Francisco.

Colonel Purdy, assigned to Sixth Army Headquarters since last June, is receiving his Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service as a member of the Korea Civil Assistance Command from April 1953 to April 1954. With Mrs. Purdy and their three daughters, he resides in San Francisco.

The Bronze Star Medal is being awarded to Colonel Schauers for his meritorious service from March 1953 to March 1954 as a member of the United States Military Advisory Group to the Republic of Korea Army. Colonel Schauers, now assigned to Sixth Army Headquarters, also lives in San Francisco.

AER Needs Your Help!

And at sometime in your military career you may need the help of the Army Emergency Relief. Army Emergency Relief is the only agency of its kind singularly dedicated to aiding the soldier in the myriad financial problems that are all too often a part of military service. Each day thousands of soldiers are helped over temporary financial hurdles with funds that have been contributed by fellow service men and women all over the world. Truly the "soldier's own welfare agency," AER is your best insurance against future adversity.

Here at the Presidio, as at other installations throughout the Army, AER has made an appeal for funds. Funds that are the lifeblood of the organization dedicated to helping the soldier to help himself. So far the response has been far less than enthusiastic and unless contributions are greatly increased in this last week of the drive, you will have failed to carry your share of a worthy cause. Help AER now! So that in the future AER will be able to help you or a needy buddy.

High Praise!

Division Commander Lauds Former Assistant Commander

A letter of appreciation from Major General Robert F. Sink, commanding general of the 44th Infantry Division, was presented to Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, former assistant division commander of the 44th Infantry and recently appointed chief of staff of Sixth Army, by Army Commander Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman today.

In presenting the letter General Wyman said, "It is doubtful that a finer compliment can be extended to a commander than the knowledge that all members of his command looked to him with unqualified confidence and felt a distinct loss when he was called to higher service."

"Let the 44th Infantry Division be assured that their loss only reflects a gain, since the exceptional ability and devotion that you bring to your new assignment will prove beneficial to the entire Sixth Army area."

General Prather recently paid a return visit to Ft. Lewis and was honored with a series of parades and an official farewell dinner.

In his letter, General Sink lauded General Prather's exceptional combat leadership and training ability and noted that he joined the division in '53 following service in Alaska. He went on to say:

"As assistant division commander, General Prather has supervised the training of the three Infantry Regiments of the Division, as well as that of the 106th Tank

General Prather

Battalion. Under his guidance the Division successfully completed cold weather exercises in Alaska and tank tactics on the desert of California. During Exercise HILLTOP, General Prather supervised regimental combat team training and was instrumental in the first successful fielding of mobile forces by the 44th Infantry Division.

"Understanding the need for military preparedness and successful combat training, General Prather has given the 44th Infantry Division a realistic program which advanced this Division from a basic training outfit to a battle ready combat Division in training.

"The 44th Infantry Division is fortunate to have had the leadership and guidance of this most capable soldier. We regret very much his departure and shall miss his valuable assistance in the training of this Division. I am sure I speak for all of you when I wish him the best of luck in his new assignment."

Editorial

Old Tradition Revived!

Next Wednesday, 1 September, the Army will return to its tradition of saluting off military reservations. This renewal of one phase of military courtesy, by order of Chief of Staff, General Matthew B. Ridgway, is one of many moves to strengthen esprit de corps within the Army itself.

The practice of saluting has frequently been criticized in the past on the misapprehension that the enlisted man's salute to the officer implies servitude or inferiority. This is certainly not the case, as the officer's obligation to return the salute is much stronger than the enlisted man's obligation to salute in the first place. The salute is NOT a gesture of servitude from a serf to his master, but rather a symbol of recognition and friendship to one's comrade in arms. It is a gesture which implies mutual respect and association for a common cause.

The tradition of saluting originated centuries ago in the days of knighthood when soldiers wore complicated head gear concealing their faces. When approaching a friend it was the custom for a knight to remove his helmet, revealing his face, and raise his right hand, or battle hand, palm upward in a gesture of peaceful intent. The idea is the same today; the salute is an active gesture showing one soldier's respect and good intent toward another. The officer's return of the salute is just as important as the salute of the enlisted man who has the privilege of initiating it.

Saluting is a reflection of the respect and loyalty of both enlisted man and officer to each other and to the armed force in which they serve.

Your duty, your privilege, both on and off post.

A Company MPs Leave For Hunter Liggett Sunday on Bivouac

One hundred and fifteen members of A Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, will journey south this Sunday for Camp Hunter Liggett Military Reservation and a week of bivouac.

The trip is part of a post-cycle training program that will take each of the battalion's three line companies through advanced training in MP and general military subjects.

An advanced party of 10 men will take one jeep and two 2½ ton trucks to the bivouac site on Saturday. Sunday morning at 0600 the main convoy will leave the Presidio. The problem will end the following weekend.

Training will include the firing of the heavy machine gun and bazookas, emphasis in military police techniques, and some night problems.

Companies B and C of the 505th will make similar trips on successive weeks.

Captain Earl J. Martin is commanding officer of A Company.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve a Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

'Arden de Boyaca,' Colombian Award, To General Wyman

Doctor Eduardo Zuleta-Angel, the Colombian Ambassador to the United States, will arrive on the Presidio of San Francisco Wednesday to present honors from his government to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Commanding General, Sixth Army.

Doctor Zuleta-Angel will arrive on the Post at 1500 hours, accompanied by his wife and three daughters, and Colonel Jaime Polanica, Colombian military attache to the United States, and Consul-General and Mrs. Sebastian Ospina, Colombian Consul-General in San Francisco.

The "Arden de Boyaca," one of Colombia's highest awards, will be presented to General Wyman by Doctor Zuleta-Angel on behalf of his government, for the General's outstanding leadership while commanding the IX Corps in Korea, under which Columbian troops served.

Servicemen's Insurance Allows Mortgages to the Soldier on Active Duty

The Housing Act of 1954, Public Law 560, 83rd Congress, 2d Session, approved by the President August 2, 1954, contains provisions authorizing mortgage insurance to certain members of the Armed Forces for the purchase of homes.

Eligible under the law are active duty personnel who have been on active duty for more than two years and who have a need for such housing.

The law authorizes the Commissioner, Federal Housing Administration, to insure loans on homes purchased by members of the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps and Coast Guard up to 95 per cent of the FHA-appraised value of the property and not to exceed an insured loan of $17,000. The Commissioner has advised that both borrowers and property must meet FHA requirements.

The Army Signal Corps established the world's first long distance commercial wireless circuit across Norton Sound, Alaska, in 1903. The Signal Corps gradually expanded its radio circuits until today they cover the entire Territory of Alaska—serving both civilians and military.

New Auction Dates!

The public auction sale of Sixth Army surplus property to be held at Sharpe General depot, Lathrop, California, has been postponed, it was announced today. The sale is now scheduled to be held October 25 through 29.

Catalogues on the items to be sold may be obtained from Milton J. Wershaw company, 7212 Melrose avenue or David Weisz company, 840 San Julian street, both in Los Angeles, California. The property may be inspected at Sharpe General depot and at Sacramento Signal depot, Benicia Arsenal, Oakland Army Base.

It was emphasized that sale of the property will NOT be made to Army personnel or employees of the Army, Army and Air Force Exchange, or members of the Army and Air Force Motion Picture service.

ENROUTE TO JAPAN after spending some time in the United States studying American communication methods, Major General Yoshio Sakura, chief Signal officer, Self Ground Defense force of Japan, visited Headquarters Sixth Army and the Presidio of San Francisco and is shown here chatting with Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army deputy commander, and Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Sixth Army Signal officer.

Meet a Deadly Foe!

During the three long years of the Korean war cancer killed 25 times as many Americans as the Korean war, itself.

Incredible? Yes, but last year one out of every seven deaths was caused by cancer. And it was not the kind of death that you can fight off with a gun in your hand. It was an enemy which struck the aged, the children, the women, as mercilessly as the soldier. Yet, last year alone, 73,000 Americans who might have been saved died needlessly of cancer.

The American Cancer Society, now supporting an information program on the Presidio, is our only weapon against this incredible, bloodthirsty enemy. Through the research made possible by the American Cancer Society, the survival rates for breast cancer, for example have been increased 100 per cent in the last ten years. Last year ACS supported research in some 140 hospitals, universities, and laboratories. It provided nearly 1800 scientists to devote all or part of their time and energies to cancer research.

Almost every branch of science is in some way contributing to the attack on cancer. The wide range of research which is being undertaken by the American Cancer Society is indicated in some of the ways in which the battle against cancer is being fought.

For example, radioactive materials are now being used both as methods of treatment and research tools. New methods in high energy radiation—betatron, cobalt 60, and others—are being studied for their potential efficiency as weapons against cancer.

Although x-ray, radium, and surgery are the only acceptable cures for cancer at the present time, there are a hundred new avenues of approach in the war against cancer. These are being studied through ACS research.

We cannot let the battle against cancer wane now. We must continue to arm ourselves more effectively against the insidious invasion of the dread enemy of all of us—cancer. Information can save your life!

The Army helped build the first roads and canals in the United States. Army engineers and cavalrymen played a major role in surveying and building the route of the Union Pacific, the first railroad in the world to span a continent and join two oceans.

Retirements

(Continued from page 1)

he served in China and was commissioned in February 1942 in the Infantry. During WWII he served in the South Pacific, and from February '53 till July '54 he saw duty in Korea. Captain Gorman transferred to the MPs in 1946 and is a graduate of the Provost Marshal General School, Camp Gordon, Georgia.

CWO Lawrence H. Berning has been assigned to the Senior Advisor's office for the 91st Infantry Division (USAR). Mister Berning entered the Army in 1921 at Lima, Ohio, and has completed 30 years' service. He served overseas with the 13th Armored Division, and attended the AG School at Fort Washington, Maryland, and the PIP School at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania. Prior to his assignment with the 91st Division, Mister Berning was the Post Adjutant at Wurzburg, Germany.

Also slated for retirement, but unable to be reached for personal details are: Brigadier General Harrison Shaler, Colonel James B. Clearwater, Colonel Howard C. Curtis, Colonel Paul Kellam, Colonel Douglas Smith, Lt. Colonel Albert C. Bornemann, Major Arthur D. Baker, Major Gerald T. Conners, CWO William H. Little, M/Sgt. Glen D. Cohee, and M/Sgt. Isral Sternberg.

Enviably Record!

DPC Announces Retirement; Successor Not Yet Selected

Colonel William F. Magill, Jr., veteran of over 37 years of military service and deputy post commander of the Presidio since August of 1953, has announced tentative plans for retirement the last of this month. His successor has not been named as yet.

Col. Wm. F. Magill, Jr.

The Presidio of San Francisco has played an important role in the brilliant career of this Infantry officer. It was here that he was first commissioned a second lieutenant on 15 August in 1917. He later spent a five-year assignment, 1938-1942, with the 30th Infantry Regiment and Headquarters Fourth Army, elements then assigned to the Post.

Colonel Magill came to his present assignment from Germany where he was commanding officer of the Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation. His four years in Germany were preceded by two years with the Veterans Administration in Washington, D.C., immediately following WWII.

During WWII he was in command of the 363d Infantry Regiment, 91st Division, in Italy.

Colonel Magill was stationed in the Philippines for two years and also served in Hawaii. His assignments in the United States have taken him to Ft. Lewis; Vancouver Barracks and Ft. Benning. He was with the Organized Reserve of Oklahoma for four years. He later commanded a Junior ROTC unit at Waukegan, Illinois.

He has been awarded the Legion of Merit and the Bronze Star.

Following retirement, Colonel and Mrs. Magill will reside in Parkmerced, San Francisco. Their son, 1st Lt. William F. Magill, III is currently assigned the Military Department, University of California, Berkeley. Mrs. James E. Corum, their daughter is the wife of Captain Corum, Parsaund Canton, Ft. Ord, Calif.

*Like Sports?
Got a Hobby?*
GIVE US YOUR STORY
Call Ext 4244

Conservation of Army Equipment Is Essay Theme

An essay contest offering military personnel of the Presidio and its sub-posts a chance to compete for cash prizes, will begin here Monday.

Subject of the contest will be, "Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment," and essays are limited to 500 words or less.

First place winner will receive $25, second, $15 and third, $10. Entries are to be in possession of the TI&E NCO, M/Sgt. Eulin L. Kinsey, Building 122 on the Presidio, prior to 1300 hours 27 September 1954.

Judging will take place during that week and winners presented their awards on 1 October, the day on which their essays will be published in the Star-Presidian.

Chosen to act as judges are Captain Clinton B. Goodman, assistant S-4; Captain Clinton D. Regelin, assistant S-3, and Mr. Kenneth S. Erwin, editor of the Star-Presidian.

San Francisco Port of Embarkation Chief Is Promoted to Star Rank

Colonel William J. Deyo, Jr., Deputy Port Commander, San Francisco Port of Embarkation since July 19, was promoted recently to the rank of Brigadier General in the Army of the United States.

The 49-year-old New York State native is a 1926 graduate of the United States Military Academy.

He came here last month from Japan where he had commanded the 2nd Transportation Major Port Command at Yokohama for almost 30 months.

The first 15 years of his Army career were spent in Infantry assignments and as a student at Army signal, infantry, and quartermaster branch schools. He is a graduate of the Command and General Staff School, the Army Industrial College, and Harvard School of Business Administration, where he received his master's degree.

General Deyo was one of the first officers chosen to plan and organize the Transportation Corps for its unprecedented logistical mission in World War II.

STILL GOING STRONG in his first love, fire-fighting and fire-prevention, Presidio Fire Chief George Geller this week became the recipient of a $50 cash award, his second on the Post, for his fire-warning device now a part of all fire extinguisher equipment not only here, but throughout both the First and Fifth Armies who recently adopted the plan. Presenting the award to Chief Geller is Lt. Colonel George Burgett, executive officer, Post Engineer section. Chief Geller has been in command of the Presidio fire-fighting units since 1950.

40 Years of Service!

Presidio Fire Chief's 2nd Award Here Only Part of Career Story

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

"When you think of fire, you think of fighting, and so, with me, it's been a fight all the way."

This was Presidio Fire Chief George Geller speaking, and summing up, in a sentence, his fabulous career which has included several accomplishments not duplicated by his fellow men.

Only last week, Chief Geller received an award of $50, which was in addition to a previous $15 award, for devising a fire-warning sign to be placed on all fire extinguishers, effectively calling attention to the number to be called in case of fire.

First put into use on the Presidio, the device proved so successful that when information concerning it was disseminated to other Army areas, it was adopted by both the First and Fifth Armies.

In his four years as chief of the Presidio fire-fighting units, which includes one company each for Two Rock Ranch, Angel Island, Fort Cronkhite, Letterman Army hospital and the Presidio, Chief Geller is especially thrilled with the fact that not only has there never been an accident within his command, but that fire losses have been practically nil.

"I'm very proud of that record," the chief said, "and proud of the men who made it. They are all top fire-fighters who know their job. Each year since I've been here we have won an annual award from the National Fire Prevention association, in competition with Army installations throughout the United States."

The chief decided way back before he was 17 years old, that the U.S. Navy was the place for him. So he joined up for four years and fought through World War I, coming out of it all a machinist mate first class. His service was primarily aboard a submarine-chaser.

In 1920, he entered the New York City Fire Department, and, in the short space of 18 years, he rose, through competitive civil service examination, to lieutenant, captain, battalion chief, and finally deputy chief of the entire New York City Fire Department, an accomplishment never duplicated in that length of time.

In his work as battalion and then division chief, he was in charge of 35 fire stations, among them those in the Harlem district of New York. "And we were the busiest," the chief said, "since living quarters were so overtaxed in that area."

Born and educated in New York City, the chief found time somehow while a member of the fire department to get through two years of college at City College of New York. "You know, sort of catch-as-catch-can," he explained, "but it was something I just wanted to do."

When World War II got going, Chief Geller decided his place was back in the U.S. Navy, so he retired from the fire department and accepted a commission with the fleet.

He served in fire-fighting schools instructing and was fire-fighting officer with ship's salvage, rescue and fire-fighting unit of the 7th Fleet. Besides, he served as fire marshal at Pearl Harbor and altogether spent three years in the South Pacific area.

This all began in 1942, and by 1947 when he left the service, that working, fighting spirit had brought him up to the grade of lieutenant commander, a position he still holds in the Reserve.

Speaking of the Reserves got him going on the subject and he pointed out that his outfit was one of two fire-fighting Reserve units in the entire country. "And we are always on the lookout for more men to join our group," he said. "It's unique, it's worthwhile and we meet right here on the Presidio at Harmon Armory every Tuesday night."

Before coming to the Presidio, Chief Geller spent four months as fire consultant for the California State Hotel association.

He and Mrs. Geller and one son who also served in the Navy in World War II, reside here in San Francisco. Their oldest son is a psychiatrist in Los Angeles, while the youngest son is a student at the College of Marin.

C BATTERY of the 9th AAA Battalion is shown at attention while their commanding officer, Captain Richard L. Esacson, receives the monthly Morale and Welfare plaque awarded to C Battery. Lt. Colonel

G. Neil Wilcox, commanding officer of the 9th AAA, is making the presentation. The plaque is awarded each month to the battery with the most merits and the least demerits.

YEARLY BEST MESS award within the 9th AAA Gun Battalion went to Headquarters battery this year. Above, Colonel P. H. Wollaston, commanding the 30th AAA Group of which the 9th is a part, presents the trophy to Sfc. Robert W. Byers, mess steward. Watching the presentation are Lt. Colonel G. Neil Wilcox, commanding the 9th, and Captain John F. McDermott, commanding Headquarters battery.

Motorama Carnage!

Live and Let Live is Next Week's Troop Topic for TIC

"Live and Let Live"—addressed especially to the minority of Service personnel who menace life and property when behind the wheel of a privately-owned vehicle.

This will be the Troop Information Topic for next week, 29 August to 4 September 1954.

The conference will discuss mainly that more service personnel are killed or injured in off-duty motor vehicle accidents than in any other type of accident. Military personnel are involved in about one out of every 30 deaths caused by motor vehicle accidents in the continental United States.

The number of service persons killed in 1952 while off duty, in privately-owned vehicle accidents, was 2,150. In addition, for the same period, some of you were responsible for a total of 18,500 service personnel injured in such accidents. These figures represent three-quarters of a million days lost to the Armed Forces and an estimated loss of $50,000,000 in the value of vehicles and property destroyed or damaged in the accidents.

Motor vehicles account for one-half to two-thirds of all off-duty accidents. In the last 40 years the automobile has killed more Americans than have all the wars this nation has fought.

That's the problem the conference will stress. Are you convinced that it is very important that something should be done to solve it? Do YOU want to live and let live? If your attitude toward this problem has been one of indifference in the past, are you willing to change and try to help?

Something can be done. Men and women in uniform have only to look at past history to realize that you—that is you and the people in uniform before you—had some tough nuts to crack in the past, and you've always done the job—once you had made up your minds it had to be done.

Results have shown clearly that the number of fatal accidents are reduced when drivers are made aware of their responsibilities.

It's up to you to be alert and use common sense. If you train yourself to think, feel and act in terms of safety—if you really work at it, you can create the habit of safety.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

20 August: Twins, boy and girl, to Sfc. and Mrs. Leroy N. Chandler, 9956th TSU Med. Det., LAH.

Daughters to: 13 August: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Morris McClellan, AAA Bn., Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.

15 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Donald E. Barton, Hq. Co., 46th Ord. Gp., PSFC.

16 August: Major and Mrs. Lawrence Bach, 84th Ftr. Intec. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Gerald E. Carkhuff, 3623 Ord. Co., Hunter Liggett, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Leo R. Heer, 8602 ASA, Two Rock Ranch, Petaluma, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Charlie Hoskins, Hq. 30th Engr. Gp., Ft. Scott, Calif.

17 August: SN and Mrs. Hinson McClure, USS Comstock, Naval Shipyards, SFC; Lt. and Mrs. James J. Riley, Army Lang. Sch., Presidio of Monterey, Calif.

19 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Leonard E. Phipps, 9956 TSU SGO, LAH, PSFC.

21 August: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Raby C. Moses, 6000 SU, Hq. 6th Army, PSFC; Capt. and Mrs. Clyde K. Steele, 30 Engr. Gp., Ft. Scott, Calif.; A/IC and Mrs. Alvin L. Winters, 566th AP Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

22 August: A/2C and Mrs. Marvin E. Bales, 28th AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; MN-2 and Mrs. John J. Caputo, HDY-USN, Ft. Miley, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Barclay C. Taylor, USMC Casual Co., MB, NS, Treasure Island, Calif.

Sons to: 15 August: Sfc. and Mrs. Maynard M. Matthiesen, 9956th TSU, SGO, LAH, PSFC.

16 August: Cpl. and Mrs. James E. Gardner, 375th MP Co., Cp. Stoneman, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Twilley, Hq. Btry., 752nd AAA Bn., Berkeley, Calif.

18 August: Lt. Colonel and Mrs. William A. Allison, Engr. Dist., 180 New Montgomery St., SFC; and Mrs. Veron Jones, 667th AC&W Sq., Mill Valley, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. William P. Syler, 9956 TSU SGO, LAH, PSFC.

19 August: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Albertus A. Powell, A Btry., 740 AAA Missile Bn., Ft. Baker, Calif.

20 August: A/2C and Mrs. Eldon Chrest, Hq. Sq., 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

21 August: Cpl. and Mrs. Thomas E. Grover, 6901 SU, Ft. Mason, Calif.

22 August: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph W. Harrell, 28th AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert V. Kinney, Det. 4, 6002 SU, TI, SFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Don L. Peyrucam, Co. D, 63rd Inf. Reg., Ft. Ord, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. Fred L. Shinkle, 521 Engr. Co. (TopoAVN), 30 Engr. Gp. Ft. Scott, Calif.

This year, some 700,000 Americans will be under treatment for cancer at a hospitalization cost estimated at $175,000,000, the American Cancer Society reports.

Cancer Education Program Continues Here Next Week

Continuing the drive which began this week on the Presidio of San Francisco to point up as vividly as possible all aspects of the killer, cancer, movies will be shown separately tomorrow to male and female military personnel here.

Men will see, "The Warning Shadow," a study in lung cancer, found to be the most common type in men, while women will see "Self Breast Examination," showing all the aspects of breast cancer, the most common type in women.

All next week, this latter movie will be shown to women civilian employees: Monday at 1300 and 1430 at the Presidio theatre; Tuesday, same hours, at Harmon Armory; Thursday, same hours, at the Fort Baker theatre, and Thursday night at 1930, at the Fort Scott theatre.

Posters have been placed in prominent places throughout the posts and sub-posts depicting what you should do to combat this dread disease and how you can go about discovering its presence.

And, since one out of every seven deaths in this country is due to cancer—it is exceedingly important to know cancer in all its phases.

Captain Clinton D. Regelin, Post TI&E officer, is the Post's cancer officer, and has coordinated details of this campaign with local officials of the American Cancer Society.

Puzzle Answers

PIP SARA MEAL
AVE ATEN EDDY
RAN BEATITUDE
ANNUL LILAC
SEA ELATE
MATE STYX TEA
ERAS ERE MOAS
SOL MAYA ARMY
SWEDE STY
SEWED ASHES
SEMESTERS ROVA
ADAM NEAT POT
DENS IAPSE SEE

Cancer will invade an average of one of every two American homes and will strike one in every five Americans at some time in their lives, the American Cancer Society estimates.

Recently Assigned

Colonel Fred W. Ludecke has become the Chemical officer, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Colonel Ludecke, for the past year, has been with the Chemical Corps Training command as chief of a joint Army-Navy orientation team, Fort McClellan, Alabama.

Prior to that, the colonel spent two and one-half years in the Chemical Corps Biological laboratory at Camp Detrich, Maryland.

In the Army for the past 15 years, Colonel Ludecke was graduated from the University of California, class of 1933, with a degree in physics. His later schooling included the Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, class of 1944.

During World War II, the colonel served as a Chemical officer assigned to the then Army Air force Western Flying Training command. He next went to the European theatre with the War Crimes organization, 12th Army group, which later merged with the 7708th War Crimes group. At the time of deactivation of this merged group in 1948, Colonel Ludecke was its commanding officer.

Among his decorations are the Commendation Ribbon, the Luxembourg Croix de Guerre, the Polish Polonia Restituta, and the French Legion of Honor.

Lt. Colonel Helbert J. Slagle has just returned from two and one-half years' service with a U. S. Military mission to the Iranian Army, with station at Tehran, Iran.

He is now the chief of the plans and operations division, Signal Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

A veteran of nearly 27 years of Army service, Colonel Slagle was enlisted from 1927 to 1941, at which time he became a member of the first OCS class at the Signal Corps school, Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, from which he was graduated and commissioned on 30 September 1941. He then remained at the school as a member of the staff until 1944.

His next assignment was in British Columbia where his work centered on testing Signal equipment in a wet-cold climate. A year later he was ordered to the FECOM Signal Section Headquarters, and following the Japanese surrender, he moved to Tokyo in October 1945, where for three years he served with the Civil Command Section, General Headquarters, SCAP. Colonel Slagle was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for his services with this latter group.

Lt. Colonel Dow L. Bonnell, Jr., has been assigned as chief of the industrial security division, Provost Marshal section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Colonel Bonnell has been the Provost Marshal of Camp Stoneman, California, for the past nine months, prior to which he spent a year at Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago, Illinois.

In Korea, the colonel spent 22 months as Provost Marshal of the Port of Pusan, and in World War II, he was also in the Far East, in China, where he was Provost Marshal, 701st Military Police Battalion, the battalion which formerly was stationed on the Presidio of San Francisco following its return from overseas in 1949. Colonel Bonnell accompanied it to the Presidio at that time and then left the organization.

The colonel entered the Army in 1940 and is a graduate of the Military Police school.

Lt. Colonel Herbert C. Ritze has recently assumed the duties of executive officer, Finance and Accounting section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past three years, Colonel Ritze has been in Paris in the U. S. Army's Finance office.

Entering the service 13 years ago, the colonel served with the 86th Infantry Division in both the ETO and the Philippines during World War II, and has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Colonel Ritze received his M.A. in business administration from the University of Pennsylvania, and he is also a graduate of the Basic Officers Finance course. His wife and their three sons have accompanied him to his new station here.

Major Florence Shulman has been assigned as officer in charge of the administrative services division, Headquarters, California Military district.

Prior to her last assignment as a student in the WAC Advanced course, Fort Lee, Virginia, the major was stationed at Camp Yokohama, Japan. She was the billeting and housing officer there from September 1950 to October 1952, and later was assigned in the Post Quartermaster section.

Major Shulman entered the Army in January 1943. She was stationed in Heidelberg, Germany, during World War II with Headquarters, Seventh Army, Third Army and the U. S. Constabulary.

She wears the WAAC Service Medal and Commendation Ribbon in addition to other service decorations, and is a graduate of the Cortland, New York, State Teachers college.

Major Joseph P. O'Connor, Jr., is the newly assigned Post Transportation officer, Presidio of San Francisco.

His past three-year tour has been spent in the ETO where for the last 18 months he was plans officer with the 37th Highway division with station in Heidelberg, Germany. His first 18 months there he was director of training in the Transportation office of USAREUR.

Enlisting in the National Guard (Field Artillery) in 1935, Major O'Connor received a National Guard commission in 1941. His World War II service was as battery commander and Battalion S-3 with the 141st Field Artillery battalion, which began its operations in Africa and moved on through Italy, France and Germany.

The major was integrated into the Regular Army, Transportation Corps, in February 1947. He is a graduate of both the Field Artillery Officers course and the Advanced Officers Transportation course, and has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Distinguished Unit citation, seven battle stars and the invasion Arrowhead. The major's wife and four children are now residing with him here.

Captain James H. Hutchison is a new addition to the military justice staff of the Judge Advocate section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past three years, Captain Hutchison has been stationed at the school of law, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, where he was a student.

In the Army for 11 years, the captain was with the 1st Cavalry division in the Pacific theatre for two years during World War II.

His decorations include the Purple Heart and the Combat Infantry Badge.

WIRING FOR SOUND is Dick Fernandez, civilian sound technician making the adjustments in the rear of the amplifier just before recording gets under way for the Sixth Army Band's weekly radio show. Watching him with interest is Cpl. Curt Hungerford, PIO script writer, who writes and narrates programs heard in Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles and elsewhere in the Sixth Army area.

On The Air!

Sixth Army Band Tape Record Of Weekly Show Huge Success

Here Comes The Band!
The Sixth Army Band has been tape recording musical shows for the last 14 months for release to the major stations and networks throughout the Sixth Army area.
Recently completed was their 60th show, 15 minutes long and featuring four tunes plus a one-minute commercial for the Army.

Starting with a classical type program over a year ago, the band has developed currently a lighter more "military" type program consisting of marches, semi-classical, and novelty tunes.

Recording sessions occur usually every two weeks. The first rehearsal room was in building 100, but that soon became too cramped, what with all the recording equipment that had to be operated in the room, so the entire group moved to the old Army YMCA building and used the generous facilities of KLAH, "The Bedside Network" of Letterman Army Hospital. With the moving of the Army YMCA, and the subsequent closing of its building here, the band again moved, this time to the Service Club, where they are currently recording.

Due to the huge success of the show, the Sixth Army graciously gave the band the latest in recording equipment to carry on their work with the greatest fidelity available in sound transcription.

Sixth Army Recruiting service is paying to have several spools of tape made of each show, to be aired in all major populated areas in the Sixth Army.

CWO Nathan Cammack started as the conductor of the band over a year ago, and today CWO Erling Erlandson is in charge of the group. M/Sgt. Fred Rose acts as assistant conductor.

Corporal Curt Hungerford, narrator of the show, was the originator of the program many months ago. Cpl. Hungerford also writes the commercial along with the narrative.

Soloists with the band on radio have been numerous. They include Cpl. Richard Armbrust, baritone and Sixth Army Talent Show winner; Pfc. Richard Gaul, oboist; Cpl. Richard Contenti, trumpeter, and Cpl. Lew Ellenhorn, clarinetist.

The show is heard in Seattle over the facilities of KOMO, in Los Angeles over KFI (50,000 watts NBC) at 11:15 Sunday evenings, and in San Francisco over both KNBC and KCBS Saturday afternoons.

The Sixth Army Band has drawn much credit for its achievements from visiting dignitaries and military leaders.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE
Friday, 27 August — "The Gambler from Natchez," with Dale Robertson and Debra Paget.
Saturday, 28 August—"Sabrina," with Audrey Hepburn, William Holden and Humphrey Bogart.
Sunday, 29 August and Monday, 30 August—(Cinemascoper) "How to Marry a Millionaire," with Marilyn Monroe, Jane Russell and Betty Grable.
Tuesday, 31 August — "The Naked Alibi," with Sterling Hayden and Gloria Grahame.
Wednesday, 1 September and Thursday, 2 September—(Cinemascoper) "Beneath the 12-Mile Reef," with Robert Wagner and Terry Moore.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE
Friday, 27 August — "Desperate Moment," with Dirk Bogarde and Mai Zetterling.
Saturday, 28 August — "The Naked Alibi," with Sterling Hayden and Gloria Grahame.
Sunday, 29 August — "The Gambler from Natchez," with Dale Robertson and Debra Paget.
Tuesday, 31 August — "Bengal Brigade," with Rock Hudson and Arlene Dahl.

FORT BAKER THEATRE
Friday, 27 August — "Sabrina," with Audrey Hepburn, William Holden and Humphrey Bogart.
Monday, 30 August — "The Gambler from Natchez," with Dale Robertson and Debra Paget.
Wednesday, 1 September — "The Raid," with Van Heflin and Ann Bancroft.

FORT BARRY THEATRE
Sunday, 29 August — "Bengal Brigade," with Rock Hudson and Arlene Dahl.
Tuesday, 31 August — "The Gambler from Natchez," with Dale Robertson and Debra Paget.
Thursday, 2 September—"The Raid," with Van Heflin and Ann Bancroft.

LETTERMAN THEATRE
Friday, 27 August — "Love Happy," with the Marx Brothers.
Saturday, 28 August—"The Gambler from Natchez," with Dale Robertson and Debra Paget.
Sunday, 29 August and Monday, 30 August—"Sabrina," with Audrey Hepburn, William Holden and Humphrey Bogart.
Tuesday, 31 August—"Desperate Moment," with Dirk Bogarde and Mai Zetterling.
Wednesday, 1 September—"The Nebaskan," with Philip Carey and Roberta Haynes.
Thursday, 2 September—"The Naked Alibi," with Sterling Hayden and Gloria Grahame.

Vet News Notes

Certain German and Japanese citizens or subjects who previously were not eligible to receive Veterans Administration compensation or pension because they were residing in Germany or Japan may now be placed on the rolls under a new law, VA announced.

VA said the law does not authorize any new class of beneficiaries or benefits. It merely restores the rights of certain citizens or subjects of Germany or Japan to receive VA compensation or pension based on service in the American armed forces.

Claimants will have to file new applications and they must show they were not guilty of assisting the enemy or of sabotage.

No retroactive payments prior to July 1, 1954, will be allowed; however, if applications are filed before July 1, 1955, payments in some cases may be made back to July 1, 1954, when the new law was enacted.

This new act, Public Law 467, amends a 1946 act which specifically excluded German and Japanese citizens or subjects from receiving VA compensation or pension while residing in those countries.

It is estimated the new law will cover not more than 300 cases in Germany and Japan.

An electronic "magic eye" has been developed by the Veterans Administration Investigation Service to aid document analysis in the Identification and Detection Division perform their work faster and at lower cost.

The Investigation Service protects both veterans and the VA by uncovering fraudulent documents relating to VA-administered benefits for veterans and their families, and in many other ways.

The new "magic eye" allows laboratory technicians to check papers containing scratch-outs, obliterations, erasures, alterations and the like at a glance. It works equally well for ink, pencil and typewriter.

Any alteration by an unauthorized person, attempting to obtain a veteran's GI insurance proceeds, stands out clearly under the "magic eye."

Previously detection was an expensive, time-consuming process. A special infra-red photograph had to be taken and considerable time was spent in determining the area to photograph, getting proper lighting and exposure. Results were not always satisfactory.

ACROSS

- 1—Fruit seed
- 4—Girl's name
- 8—Repast
- 12—Hail!
- 13—Solar disk
- 14—Swiftly flowing water
- 15—Hastened
- 16—Blessedness
- 18—Cancel
- 20—Flowering shrub
- 21—Ocean
- 23—Puff up
- 26—Partner
- 29—River of Hades
- 32—Afternoon party
- 33—Periods of time
- 34—Before
- 35—Extinct bird (pl.)
- 36—The sun
- 37—Yucatan Indian
- 38—Military organization
- 39—European
- 41—Pigpen
- 43—Stitched
- 46—Residue
- 50—School terms
- 52—Eggs
- 54—Man's name
- 55—Tidy
- 56—Vessel
- 57—Lairs
- 58—Part of church
- 59—Observe

DOWN

- 1—Brazilian estuary
- 2—Man's name

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Dist. by United Features Syndicate, Inc.

- 3—Founder of Pennsylvania
- 4—Fur-bearing mammal
- 5—Devoured
- 6—Actual
- 7—One opposed
- 8—Element
- 9—Teacher
- 10—Total
- 11—Caustic substance
- 17—The holm oak
- 19—Employs
- 22—On the ocean
- 24—Athletic group
- 25—Simple
- 26—Army meal
- 27—In a row
- 28—Juror
- 30—Attempt
- 31—Affirmative votes
- 35—N. Y. Giants outfielder
- 37—Confines in a cage
- 40—Thinks
- 42—Experience
- 44—Sicilian volcano
- 45—Profound
- 47—Jumps
- 48—Cry of Bacchanals
- 49—Satisfy
- 50—Mournful
- 51—Dutch town
- 52—Ethiopian title

News in Books

A pair of recent additions to the shelves of the Sixth Army library, which are sure to be of interest to vast numbers of service personnel, especially veterans of the Korean conflict and World War II, are the following:

"KOREA'S HEROES," by Bruce Jacobs. This is the Medal of Honor story for Korea. A total of 20 men have been chosen for separate profiles, representing each phase of the campaign in Korea, while all of the others are included in the background story as it unfolds.

"THE HISTORIAN AND THE ARMY," by K. R. Greenfield. In this, the man who was general editor of the series "U.S. ARMY IN WORLD WAR II," makes some observations of his own concerning and arising from that monumental undertaking.

K-Vet Bill Extension

Veterans of the Korean War now will have three years instead of two in which to begin training—either college or vocational—under the Korean GI Bill. The date by which the training must be completed also was extended from seven years to eight. Under the old law a K-Vet had to begin his course either by Aug. 20, 1954, or within two years of his release from active duty, whichever was later.

The U. S. Signal Corps in 1870 established a weather reporting service which later grew into the present day U. S. Weather Bureau.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 27 August — Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 28 August — Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party, sing around the piano and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 29 August — Braden Follies, 2000.
Monday, 30 August—Guitar and ukelele instructions, and JWB August birthday party and bingo, both at 2000. Crafts room open.
Tuesday, 31 August — Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 1 September — Pinochle tournament, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 2 September—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 27 August — Tournaments, 2000.
Saturday, 28 August — Horse racing, 2000.
Sunday, 29 August — Coffee and donuts, 0930 and 1100; Duane Follies, 2000.
Monday, 30 August—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 2000.
Tuesday, 31 August—Post dance, 2000.
Wednesday, 1 September—Club night, 2000.
Thursday, 2 September — Square dance, 2000.

Insurance Benefits!

The provisions of the Servicemen's Indemnity Act have been extended to ROTC members ordered to active duty for training for more than 14 days. The cadets will be covered by benefits including the $10,000 life insurance payment made in event of death. This bill does not include any provisions covering reserve officers ordered to temporary active duty as has been reported. They are already covered under existing legislation.

SERVICE STARS

PFC SAM ESPOSITO
U.S. ARMY

5'9", 165 LB.
PACKAGE OF SPORTS TALENT
AT FT.
LEWIS,
WASH.

A SHORT-STOP
AND
LEADING HITTER FOR FT. LEWIS
... PLAYED WITH CHICAGO
WHITE SOX IN '52 ... SELECTED
CHICAGO'S MOST VALUABLE
HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL PLAYER IN '50 ...
ALSO PLAYED BASKETBALL AT INDIANA U.
SET FOUL SHOT
RECORD ---

Unbeaten Lewis Nine Wins Northern Division Softball Championship

Madigan Army Hospital, Washington—Fort Lewis, Washington, went unbeaten into the finals of the Northern Division Sixth Army Softball Championships here on Friday and defeated runnerup Fort Lawton 2-1 for the title.

The victory enables the Lewis squad to enter the All-Sixth Championships at Fort Ord 6-10 September.

The final 2-1 triumph over Lawton was the second of two identical scores against Lewis' northern neighbors. The two teams had met previously in semi-final losers' bracket play.

Other scores registered were as follows: First round: Madigan AH 15, Alaska Communications System 0. Second round: Fort Lawton 8, Seattle Port of Embarkation 0. Fort Lewis 5, Madigan AH 2.

First round losers' bracket: ACS 9, Seattle 8. Semifinals winners' bracket: Lewis 2, Lawton 1. Quarter finals losers' bracket: ACS 9, Madigan AH 8. Semi finals losers' bracket: Lawton 10, ACS 5.

The tournament was delayed two days due to inclement weather.

New Sports Almanac Names Service Stars, Lists Team Records

New York—Want to know what team won the All-Army baseball championship last year? Maybe you'd like to know who the players were on the 1953-1954 AFPS All-Star Service teams?

The answers to these and many other questions can now be found in the Armed Forces Sports Almanac, the first book of its kind.

This handy sports reference guide, by Col. Charles O. Kates, lists the names of more than 40,000 service athletes. It covers 15 basic sports, records and standings of over 3,000 service teams.

It took almost two years for research specialists to compile the information contained in the 577-page book. Published by the Military Service Publishing Co. in Harrisburg, Pa., the Almanac is planned as an annual publication.

Casares at Jax

Rick Casares, former University of Florida grider now at Ft. Jackson, S. C., played for the College All-Stars in the benefit game against the professional Detroit Lions.

Christ to New York

The New York Knickerbockers of the NBA have signed basketball star Fred Christ, recently discharged from Ft. Monmouth, N. J. Christ was captain and leading scorer for Fordham University in 1951-52.

9th Ack Ackers Practice Bunting; Whip D Btry 6-0

The 9th Ack Ackers, Presidio's future representatives at the Fort Ord Sixth Army Softball Championships this September, continued preparatory practice this week with a special emphasis on bunting and fielding of bunts.

This type of hit, one of the most useful and strategic of offensive tactics in the game of softball, has long been a source of weakness for the Fort Baker artillerymen.

With left-handed W. C. Reynolds still on leave, manager Forrest Coleman continued to work hurler J. M. Fusell on the mound.

On Monday the Ack Ackers pounded their brethren of Dog Battery 6-0 in a practice game at Baker. Coleman took the mound for the full nine, allowing three hits and fanning 12.

The 9th's hitting power made itself evident in the bats of Johnny Ethridge, Otis Perry—who homered in the three-run third inning—and Adam Bellendir.

The Dog Battery offensive was carried by Bardwell, Isias and S. I. Cruz.

Baltimore's Ball-Crazy

It took the Baltimore Orioles only 40 home appearances to surpass the all-time attendance record of their predecessors, the St. Louis Browns.

The 27,385 fans who watched the Orioles blast the Yankees, 10-0, the night of 30 July, boosted the Orioles past the Browns' 1922 record of 712,918. After 43 home dates, the Orioles' total soared to 768,733. They have already topped the 1953 attendance totals of the Athletics, Browns and Senators.

Aaron Called!

Hank Aaron, rookie Milwaukee outfielder, received notice the last of July to report for his Army physical exam at Mobile, Alabama, the middle of this month. The young Negro, married and a father, requested that the exam be transferred to Milwaukee.

Santa Clara Coaches

Coaching the Ft. Hood, Tex., football team this season will be Lt. George Malley, a former gridder at Santa Clara University.

PRESIDIO RED RAIDERS line up for their team picture prior to their departure for the Fort Ord All-Sixth Baseball Championships this Sunday. Front row, left to right, are Jim Wilson, Gene Terry, 1st Lt. Herbert Youngdahl, coach and Officer-in-Charge, Frank Pannell, Ray Ardito, and Ed Jacobsen; back row, left to right, Hank Monroe, George Asepermy, Ken Klopp, Jim Ogelvie, Wayne Hamaker and Forrest Coleman. Absent from the picture but also slated to go to Ord with the Raiders is Johnny Ethridge.

'Old Dog' ... ?

Don Mueller of the New York Giants was recently tossed out of a game by an umpire for the first time in his 11 seasons of organized baseball.

Military Menagerie

"There I was lapping milk when the boss walked in, slapped me on the back, and says, 'You're the Tom, Cat!'"

Captain Aces Hole!

Captain Earl J. Martin, Commanding Officer, A Company, 505th MP Battalion, fired a hole-in-one from the sixth tee at the Presidio Golf Club last week.

Captain Martin's witness and playing-partner was Captain Rayna L. Anderson, Post Adjutant, Fort Mason.

9th ACK ACKERS—Members of the 9th AAA Gun Battalion softball team, soon to represent the Presidio in the coming All-Sixth Army softball title play at Fort Ord, were still hard at their practice this week. In picture above, Johnny Ethridge, of Sundown, Texas, explains the technique of bunting to teammates (left to right) Charles Ryan, Ray Rizzuto and Joe Calcagno.

Swan Song!

Baseballers Win 48th Victory; Journey to Area Fray Sunday

A hard-to-stop Presidio Red Raider baseball team burned to its final victory of the 1954 season last Sunday, whipping the San Francisco semi-pro Johnnie's Tamales 10-2.

The victory gave the local nine the last of 48 wins in 71 games, their sixth straight triumph prior to their departure this Sunday for the All-Sixth Army Championships to be held Monday through Friday of next week at Fort Ord.

The Raiders' ten-hit offensive against the cool Tamales was headed by hurler Hank Monroe—who helped to win his own game—and "Stretch" Ogelvie. Both connected for two blows apiece.

It was moundsman Monroe's twelfth victory in 19 starts. He whiffed five of the opposition.

Camp Roberts and Fort Ord were two of the biggest guns in the 1953 Sixth Army games. The Ords won the title. Roberts' role this year is expected to be taken over by the newly invigorated Fort Lewis installation. All installations in the Army area have been invited to enter a team.

The Sixth Army Commander's Trophy will be awarded to the nine winning the Championship for temporary possession for one year. In addition to the Army Commander's Trophy, a replica will be presented to the winning team for permanent possession. Individual awards will be presented to each member of the winning and runnerup teams.

The games will be on a double elimination basis, with the winner going to Fort Carson, Colorado, for the All-Army affair 13-18 September. The Inter-Service match will be held 23-24 September on the same location.

Big Men!

The New York Giants football team is trying to live up to its name this year. Joe Springer, a 280-pound tackle just released from the Army at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., has been added to the roster. The Giants have former Ft. Ord warrior Earl Putnam on the squad—and he only weighs 300 pounds!

The Yankees have a pitcher with Binghamton (N. Y.) in the Eastern League who is really flying high. His name is Jim Kite and he has five wins since his discharge from Ft. Lee, Va.

Presidian Named To Area Swimming Team; Test on Now

In spite of a last-minute threat of unavailability, a Presidio soldier, 2nd Lt. Richard Ehni of the 505th Military Police Battalion, was among the 13 top Sixth Army swimmers to embark for the All-Army Swimming and Diving championships being held at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, today.

The ex-University of California water poloist and backstroke ace was given an extension in certain duty commitments, which enabled him to travel with the area all-stars to the meet.

Others besides Ehni who are appearing for the Western States against All-Army competition include the two triple-winning natators from Seattle's Alaska Communications System, Bob Miller and Dick Elliot, who singlehandedly eclipsed efforts of deeper and stronger teams from four other installations to win six of the Sixth Army meet's ten swimming events.

Others on the All-Army road include another triple winner—Fort Ord's Joe Phillips—and teammates Eric Scott and Bob Iserman; Fort Lewis' Lt. Ellery Krueg, John Pimentel, Bernard Gabacik, John Mikel, Dick Hall and Alex King, and Letterman Army Hospital's William Buda.

All-Army results will be available in next week's Star-Presidian.

49er Tickets on Sale

Tickets to the San Francisco '49ers football games will be available at box office prices from Lt. Monroe Thomas, Post Special Services Officer, it was announced this week.

The move came as a result of the difficulties Presidio personnel and their dependents have had in the past to get to the downtown facilities before sellouts.

Post Special Services is located at Bldg. 122 on the Presidio.

Bullseye!

Army Marksmen Fire Wins In Camp Perry NRA Matches

A quartet of Army Riflemen walked away this week with the top four places in the National Trophy Individual Rifle Match, the nation's most important individual rifle trophy in the 1954 Camp Perry matches. Army marksmen also scored wins for the Nevada Trophy, the Leech Cup, the service rifle division of the Wimbledon Cup, and the National Match Rifle Team Championship.

Sixth Army Vies!

Camp Perry, Ohio—The U.S. Army Grey team, made up predominantly of Sixth Army members, finished as sixth place winners in the NRA meet here this week. A total of 1396 points placed the Greys behind other competitors.

Members of the team were Pfc. Gordon R. Anderson, M/Sgt. Harold W. Hankins, both of Ft. Lewis, M/Sgt. Jacob Sveta of Ft. Lawton, Sfc. William F. Williams of Fort Ord, Capt. Ray Orton of Ft. Benning, and Lt. Colonel Ernest B. Skinner of Camp Chaffee.

First Army Area Rifle Champ, Cpl. Edward F. Grimes, fired a score of 242 out of a possible 250 to cop first place over more than 800 of the nation's top service riflemen in the National Individual Rifle Match. Runner-up Lt. Col. Paul D. Hunter of Alaska placed one point behind Grimes, followed by Capt. Joseph P. Sainato of Virginia. San Jose California National Guardsman, M/Sgt. Clarence Berrvessa took fourth spot.

In the Nevada Trophy team match, the strong Army "Red" team blazed 587 out of a possible six hundred to top the U.S. Marine Corps team by a five point margin.

Competing for the Leech Cup, 1/Lt. Herbert B. Voelcker shot a perfect score of 100 points to win over all contenders. Lt. Voelcker is a member of the Army rifle squad at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

M/Sgt. Francis B. Conway of the Army Rifle Team captured the Members Trophy Match with another perfect score of 100 points. M/Sgt. Conway is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

In the national service rifle division of the Wimbledon Cup Match, CWO Robert F. Schroeder posted a score of 99 out of 100 possible points to win top honors. CWO Schroeder has a well established lead in the individual race for the National Service Rifle Championship. A member of the U.S. Army Rifle Team, CWO Schroeder is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

The keen-eyed Army "Red" squad blazed 963 out of a possible 1000 points to win the National Match Rifle Team Championship with a strong margin over other contenders for the top spot.

Other Army wins in the Camp Perry meet included the Navy Cup and the Coast Guard Trophy, both won by Fort Benning marksman CWO Schroeder. Capt. Louis North

For the Army!

Illinois grid coach Ray Eliot and his entire staff have concluded a four-day clinic for Army coaches at Frankfurt, Germany.

Service Tennis

Twelve singles and six doubles teams representing all the services will compete in the third North-eastern U. S. Tennis Championships at Newport, R. I., Aug. 30-Sept. 1.

posted scores of 97 out of a possible 100 points to take both the Navy Cup and the Scott Trophy in the Match Rifle division.

Oregon National Guardsman, CWO Gene L. Smith, set a new national record score in the National Guard Carbine Match, firing 189 out of a possible 200 points. The previous record of 186 points was also set by CWO Smith in the 1953 NRA meet.

Final matches in the NRA meet at Camp Perry, the National Service Rifle Team Championship and the National Trophy Team Match were fired Monday and Tuesday. Results have not yet come in through the official Army news service.

Triple-Winning Gallo

National, Eastern League Winners Receive Awards

Winning team in the National Bowling League for the calendar just ended was Detachment No. 1, 6002 SU No. 1. Members of the team were George Evans, George Van Ausdall, Robert Wilkins, Gilbert Gailius, Bartlett Grimes, and Alvin Zimmer.

Donald K. Brown was the top pointer in the high game column and George Evans took both the high series and high average for the league.

The 56th MRU was winner of the Eastern Bowling League after a rather constant stay at the top of the win-loss ledger.

Members of the winning team were Edward Jacobsen, Art Chow, Joseph Petrusek, Herb Gray, Richard Malinski, James Cole, Alexander Klemin, and Mike Van-Leanen.

For the team and individual awards, Gallo swept the board by winning high individual series of 634, high individual game of 236, and high individual average of 170.

High team series went naturally to the 56th MRU which racked up a 872 total to place as leader.

Pinhey to Ottawa!

Don Pinhey, a great halfback at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., for the past two seasons, has been discharged and plans to play for the Ottawa Rough Riders in the Big Four Canadian Professional League this year.

RAIDER SCRIMMAGE last Friday, the second this season, saw the local gridders working well in ground and air attacks. In photo on left, halfback Dave Marbelli makes a gainful sweep around the "white" team's soft right end, as the opposition's Moritz gets ready to bring him down. At right, Ira Smith misses high toss of quarterback George Hammond, as opposition quarterback Bill Ayres follows play. (Star-Presidian photos by Metcalfe.)

Western Bowlers Strike 4 Shut-Outs; HQ 6th Army Leads

The Western Bowling League this week had four shut-out games and announced a new leader for the league.

HQ Co. 6th Army came from behind to take 3 lines from the Money Bags and also the dominant league position. Stewart was high man for HQ with a 504 series and high game of 179. Loser Harnaguchi rolled 426 for his 3 game series and 157 high.

The Topos accepted the Sleuths forfeit of 3 games to give them a 4-0 boost in the win-loss column.

The Constables, led by Renshaw, smashed the Pinsplitters 4-0 with the aid of Cop Renshaw's 511 series and 193 high game. Doyle of the Splitters bowled 477, 182.

The 99th Engineers took four games from the Flashers with the assistance of Engineer Eisele's 438 and 178 high. Hooper of the defeated pinned 494, 173.

In the National League this week, it was announced that a new conference would start on the 30th of August.

The Eastern Bowling League has already started a new series as of the 26th of August and their new league officers will be announced next week.

WESTERN STANDINGS
Team	Win	Loss
HQ Co., 6th Army	37	19
Constables	37	23
Money Bags	30	22
Sleuths	28	32
Pinsplitters	23	29
99th Engineers	23	25
Tags	22½	22½
Flashers	22½	37½
Topos	18	38

Bukich Signed

The Los Angeles Rams have lost their young quarterback Rudy Bukich to the Army.

EASTERN KEGLER CHAMPS—56th MRU bowlers recently finished on top of the Eastern Bowling League in Post intramural competition. Team members, left to right, front row, are Herbert Gray, Arthur Chow, Joe Petrusek; back row, left to right, Michael Van Laanen, Alex Klemin, Dick Malinski and Jim Cole.

Games Aired!

Griders Will Appear in Four TV Tilts; Scrimmage Continues

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury

Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Four games in which the Presidio Red Raider football team takes part this fall are going to be televised over TV-Station KPIX, Channel 5, it was announced by the Bay Area Armed Forces Athletic Coordinators' office this week.

The program, featuring service football teams from the

Red Raider Football Schedule

- *Sept. 17—Treasure Island at PSF, 1400 hrs.
- Sept. 25—Stanford Braves at Stanford (prior to Stanford-Oregon game), 1400 hrs.
- *Oct. 2—Alameda NAS at Alameda, 1400 hrs.
- Oct. 9—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
- *Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.
- *Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.
- Oct. 30—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.
- Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
- Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).
- Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.

*Denotes Bay Area Armed Forces League games.

Richter's Successor

1st Lt. Robert S. Cook, former backfield star at Oklahoma A&M, is the new head football coach at Ft. Lewis, Wash. The ex-Aggie star succeeds Les Richter, released from active duty in May and currently undergoing pre-season drills with the professional Los Angeles Rams.

Straight to the Top!

Eddie Yost, sparking infielder for the Washington Senators, has been in the majors for 10 years. The New York University alumnus never played minor league ball.

Presidio, Alameda, Martinez, Hamilton, Point Mugu, Coronado and Treasure Island, will be presented similarly to those aired by KPIX last year, except that service representation will be more comprehensive than in 1953.

The Presidio team will be seen in two home games: against Martinez at 1400 hours, 9 October, and against Coronado, 1400 hours, 20 November.

Away-from-home games to be shown include those against Alameda, 2 October, and Hamilton, 16 October.

The Raiders continued with pre-season practice scrimmages all this week, with emphasis on offensive maneuver review for the backs, offensive and defensive drills for the three strings available to the Presidio coaching staff.

Overall defense still looked pretty ragged up to yesterday. Two first-string line positions have been switched. Center Roscoe Morris has changed to guard, with Mater going to center.

Two linemen, Stenfeld and Piggot, have been sidelined owing to injuries sustained in the recent scrimmages.

The Raiders will appear in another full-scale scrimmage this afternoon at 1400 hours on the Fort Scott Field.

AAU, State Dept. Send Lee on Asia Tour

Major Samuel Lee, Medical Corps; U. S. Army, on duty in Seoul, Korea, is to participate in a goodwill tour which will take him to a number of countries of Southeast Asia under the joint sponsorship of the Amateur Athletic Union of the U. S. and the International Educational Exchange Service of the Department of State.

Major Lee, twice Olympic diving champion and recent recipient of the Sullivan Award as America's outstanding athlete, is well known in local sporting and medical circles, having served a tour of duty at Letterman Army Hospital prior to his current assignment in FECOM.

Aside from his sports tour, Major Lee will also visit medical installations and consult with professional colleagues in the field of medicine in Ceylon, India, Pakistan, Indonesia, Viet-Nam, Burma and at Hong Kong.

AMONG THE AWARDS presented to Presidio civilians for their outstanding efforts and recent achievements is this Department of the Army Commendation for Meritorious Civilian Service which was presented to Mr. Earl Hodgkins for his "meritorious service as chief of the Adjutant General Class A Field Printing Plant, Presidio of San Francisco, Headquarters Sixth Army, from 5 December 1952 through 26 May 1954." This is the second highest award given to civilian employees by D/A. Signed by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, the award is being presented to Mr. Hodgkins by Colonel Morris H. Marcus, Sixth Army Adjutant General.

Resourcefulness Pays!

High Civilian Award, Checks Given Outstanding Employees

The Department of the Army's Commendation for Meritorious Civilian Service, second highest award authorized for civilian personnel employed by D/A, was presented last Friday to Earl Hodgkins, chief of the Sixth Army Adjutant General Printing plant since December 1952.

Awarded for the period 5 December 1952 to 26 May 1954, the certificate was in recognition of Mr. Hodgkins' meritorious service during this period when he "instituted a successful management improvement program which included reorganization of the plant, relocation of equipment to improve work flow, on-the-job training for plant employees and introduction of new and more economical methods and materials.

Signed by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, the certificate was presented to Mr. Hodgkins by Colonel Morris H. Marcus, Sixth Army Adjutant General. Mr. Hodgkins, who joined the AG Section in August 1951, had previously spent nine years with the Department of the Army in Washington, D. C.

Other civilians who recently received suggestion awards for their initiative in submitting work, time, and money-saving devices include:

Richard I. Teschner, sign painter with the Post Engineer section, who received a $75 award for devising a parking reservation sign with removable plates or name. The sign has been adopted for use on the Presidio, and it is estimated savings of $2,000 yearly will result therefrom. Mr. Teschner has successfully submitted other suggestions—this being his fourth award. It was presented by Lt. Colonel George Burgett, executive officer, Post Engineer section.

Ermen J. Rozzi, teletype section foreman; Rene G. Borde, photo section foreman, and Robert H. McCoy, photo equipment repairman, were presented with award checks by Major William B. Anderson, executive officer, Post Signal section. Mr. Rozzi received an award of $65 in addition to an initial one of $10, as a result of adoption by the Signal Corps of his suggestion concerning bushings TTY Corp. No. 97502 and No. 97504 which are part of Sideframe 4T97501 and 4T97503. This is Mr. Rozzi's third award check for adopted suggestions. Mr. Borde and Mr. McCoy received $15 for their suggestion concerning an adjustable collimator for photographic equipment.

This award was Mr. Borde's fourth and Mr. McCoy's first.

James A. Reynaud, statistical coding clerk, 56th Machine Record unit, was presented with an award check by Colonel R. S. Norris, AGC for his suggestion made while he was an employee of the California Military District.

Alvin A. Lindenauer, organization and methods examiner, Post Comptroller section, was presented with a $10 award check by Colonel Homer R. Waller, Post Comptroller, for suggesting the installation of a safety sign on the southeastern corner of Building M-9.

Mrs. Viola M. Moberly, supervisory clerk, Post Signal section received an award of $25 in addition to an initial one of $25 for suggesting a telephone tag for use of maintenance men when making maintenance calls to quarters. The suggestion was adopted on the Presidio and later at other Sixth Army installations, with estimated savings of $1,500 yearly resulting therefrom.

John H. Laster, combat vehicle mechanic, Post Ordnance section, received an award of $50 in addition to an initial one of $10 for his suggestion which concerns wire locking of wing nuts on power steering hydraulic lines. The suggestion was adopted by the Post Ordnance section and other Sixth Army installations having Ordnance field maintenance facilities. Added safety in vehicle operation as well as monetary savings will result.

Miss Charlotte N. Holmdahl, cost accounting clerk, Sixth Army Engineer section, has been presented with a Sixth Army Certificate of Achievement for exemplary performance of duties by Colonel A. A. G. Kirchhoff, Sixth Army Engineer.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Healy, supervisor in charge of classified records, AG records branch, received a Letter of Commendation or achievement of an Outstanding Performance Rating, presented to her by Colonel M. H. Marcus, Sixth Army Adjutant General.

Senate Approves Payments for the All Korean POWs

American personnel who were held as prisoners during the Korean War, and about 3,500 survivors of deceased POWs, will collect $12,000,000 under the terms of a bill approved this week by the Senate.

The measure (HR9390), passed by the House on 29 July, extends POW benefits under the War Claims Act of 1948 to civilian internees and American prisoners of war captured and held during the hostilities in Korea. It now goes to the White House.

For members and former members of the Armed Forces the payments would amount to $1 per day for each day the claimant was held as a prisoner and on which he did not receive adequate rations. An additional $1.50 would be paid for each such day he was subjected to uncompensated, forced labor or other inhumane treatment.

The Senate Judiciary Committee noted that there are "some 5,000 living former prisoners of war in Korea, and survivors of approximately 3,500 deceased former prisoners of war" who will be benefited by the bill.

"In addition," the report notes, "payments will be available for the benefit of several hundred American prisoners of war who have not yet been released by their Communist captors in the Korean conflict."

Personnel in the latter group would be eligible to file claims under the bill within one year from the date of their return to the jurisdiction of the United States. Their survivors would have one year from the date of determination of actual or presumptive death in which to claim survivor benefits.

Want a $1000 Prize?

THAT DOESN'T MAKE ANY DIFFERENCE, WINSTON. ANY ONE IN THE SERVICE CAN ENTER THE CONTEST

What does America mean to you? Enter the 1954 Freedoms Foundation Contest. Send your letter of no more than 500 words to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, 1016 N. McCadden Place, Los Angeles 38, Calif. Your letter must bear your name, rank, service number, and organization.

It must be received before midnight Nov. 11, 1954. Letters received after that date will be considered for the next year's awards. (AFPS)

Appropriations Cut for New Officer's Homes

Top limit on houses to be constructed for field grade, flag and general officers under the terms of the housing bill was whittled down when the Senate passed the supplemental appropriations last week. The housing plan calls for $27,000 homes for senior Service officers and $20,250 homes for field grade officers. An amendment to the supplemental appropriations measure reduced the top limit of unit construction to $20,000.

Sun Sinks!!

Sixth Army Set To Spearhead Slaughterous Blow To Japan

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the fourth of six articles dealing with the history of the Sixth Army. The information for the series was prepared by Headquarters Sixth Army TI&E Section.)

Because of the suddenness of the Japanese surrender, the planned invasion of Japan never took place. The Sixth Army, at the conclusion of its Philippines Operation, immediately went into specialized training in preparation for the initial invasion of the Japanese homeland—Olympic Operation.

According to the plan, on 1 November 1945, Sixth Army, supported by allied naval and air power, was to attack and invade Kyushu—southernmost of the five home islands comprising Japan.

In preparation for this attack, replacements and new equipment were received. Arduous new training techniques and schedules went into effect. The previous two years of tough campaigning through the Southwest Pacific were about to be regarded as mere training for the bitterest task of the entire war in the Pacific—landing on the enemy's own territory.

Almost on the eve of the announcement that the Sixth Army was invasion-ready and eager to open a new chapter in United States military history, the welcome news was received that Japan had accepted the unconditional surrender terms of the Allies.

On 2 September 1945, 60 days after the Sixth Army had turned over the command of the Philippines to the U. S. Eighth Army, the Japanese were signing surrender terms aboard the USS Missouri.

Three weeks later, 25 September 1945, Sixth Army Headquarters landed at Wakayama, Honshu Island, Japan, to carry out assigned occupational duties. They were the first U. S. troops to land in Japan as occupation forces. Headquarters Sixth Army was established at Kyoto, and for a period of four months carried out the transitional phases of the occupation of Japan under the direction of the Supreme Commander Allied Powers, General of the Army, Douglas MacArthur.

On 28 January 1946, Headquarters Sixth Army was inactivated at Kyoto, Japan. General Krueger, who had commanded the Sixth Army for nearly three years from its activation through the entire Southwest Pacific Campaign to Japan, with members of his staff, headed back home to the United States. At first glance, Sixth Army's inactivation appeared to be part of the over-all demobilization and reduction of the U. S. Army from peak wartime strength to peacetime era, but its inactivation period was short.

On 1 March 1946 the U. S. Sixth Army was reactivated just a short thirty days after its inactivation in Japan, to become one of the U. S. Zone of Interior six Continental Armies which had been planned back in 1927. General

Krueger was scheduled for new duties and subsequent retirement, and General Joseph W. Stilwell was named Commanding General, with headquarters established at the Presidio of San Francisco.

(Next Week: Continental Defender.)

2nd 21st Engineer Squad Gives Top Performance In Field of 56 Squads

Members of the second squad, second platoon of the 21st Engineer Company (Base Photomapping) outdrilled a field of 56 squads at last Saturday's 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) squad competition and compiled 18 out of a possible 22 points in final judging, to win three-day passes and high commendation from the 30th staff officers who conducted the final elimination.

The 21st dominated the weekly competition sending four of the eight squads chosen into final elimination and also emerged as the top unit in a field of six with an overall percentage of 86.8, barely nosing out the 99th Engineer Company (Base Reproduction) which finished second with 84.3.

Competition was of the highest calibre as only six percentage points separated the first and last place units. The 21st will be excused from tomorrow's competition as a result of their performance last Saturday.

The squads were divided into four groups and officers inspected appearance of the soldiers and marching movements. The two top squads in each group then met in a final elimination to determine the winner.

The 21st is commanded by Lt. George E. Kendrick. Members of the winning squad are: Sfc. Michael W. Fellows, squad leader, Cpl. John L. Dobbell, assistant squad leader, Cpl. Donald L. Light, Pfc. Duane R. Smith, Pfc. Robert R. Workman, Pvt. William G. Baker, Pvt. George W. Jackson, and Pvt. Donald L. Protzman.

Win Materiel Plaque

Sfc. Barney Kaatz, as gun platoon sergeant of A Battery, 9th AAA Gun battalion, received the monthly Best Materiel plaque from Lt. Colonel G. Neil Wilcox, commanding officer of the 9th. The plaque is presented each month to the gun commander within the 9th who scores the most points in the matter of maintenance of materiel.

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

(Third Class Mail)

Two Cents

Postage

Operation New Look!

Sept. 1, 1956 Is Target Date For Switch to Army Greens

Washington (AFPS)—The Army will begin to change into its new Army Green uniform on Sept. 1, 1956.

On that date, EM receiving initial clothing issues will get one new uniform and one of the present Olive Drab. Wearing of the Army Green (Shade 44) will be authorized, except in formations.

Colonel Irene O. Galloway

Colonel Galloway, WAC Director, in Sixth Army Visit

Colonel Irene O. Galloway, director of the Women's Army corps, arrived at the Presidio of San Francisco yesterday to begin a three-week inspection tour of WAC activities throughout the Sixth Army area. This is her initial visit to this Army area since she became director of the corps last January.

Her first conference was with Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander; Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army deputy commander; Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, Sixth Army chief of staff, and other staff officers.

Thursday visits included Army-Air Force Recruiting station at 30 Van Ness, Letterman Army hospital and California Military District headquarters. At luncheon at the Presidio Officers' mess she was guest of Presidio WAC officers.

Today, Colonel Galloway will visit and inspect the WAC detachments at the Presidio and Fort Mason, and beginning at 1800 hours, she will be guest of honor at a reception in the Presidio Officers' mess to which ranking Sixth Army officers have been invited as well as leading women officers of the Navy, Marines and Air Force.

The fourth director of the WAC, Colonel Galloway enlisted in the corps (then WAAC) in 1942, and became a member of the second class attending the women's officer candidate school, from which she was graduated in September of that year.

Prior to her appointment as WAC director, the colonel served briefly as commanding officer of the WAC training center, then at Fort Lee, Virginia, and from July 1948 to October 1952 was WAC staff advisor for the European command.

As director of the WAC, which now numbers approximately 11,000 officers and enlisted women, Colonel Galloway serves as a member of the Army General staff, advisory and planning section for the Department of the Army.

The one-and-one issue will continue until OD stocks are reduced to the point where further issue is not economical. Officers, and EM who previously were issued two OD uniforms, will replace the ODs as they wear out.

A tentative time-table of the changeover estimates that by Sept. 1, 1958, OD issue will end and formations will be held in Army Green only. Two Army Green uniforms will then be given in the initial issue. All officers and EM will be required to own at least one Army Green uniform, but OD will continue to be authorized, except in formations.

Two years later, according to this schedule, wearing of the OD uniform by men on active duty will be prohibited. EM will be required to own two Army Green uniforms and officers will be required to possess Army Greens in sufficient quantities to appear in them when so ordered.

Both officers and EM will wear Army Greens for winter general duty. This uniform will be authorized in wool serge only. The Army already has begun procurement of an initial quantity of 6,019,000 yards of worsted cloth for the new uniform.

The summer uniforms will remain basically unchanged. For winter off duty, officers will wear either pinks-and-greens or dress blues. They will be required to own one or the other, but not both. EM can wear either the Army Green or the dress blues when off duty.

The Army announcement said that the eventual replacement of the pink-and-greens by the dress blue uniform is being considered. However, it added, any such action will not be taken in the near future. But beginning Sept. 1, 1956, the pinks-and-greens will be worn with a white shirt and black tie, socks and shoes.

Holiday Monday!

Monday, 6 September, 1954, is Labor Day, and therefore a holiday for all Presidio civilian employees. The "Star-Presidian" wishes all its friends one of the best holiday week-ends in years and joins with the National Safety Council in cautioning you to have a SAFE Labor Day as well as a happy one. Have a good time! But Drive Safely

OCS Selectees Given Standardized Rank During Schooling

Washington (AFPS)—Army EM below the rank of sergeant selected for training at Officer Candidate Schools will be promoted to grade E-5 by school commandants upon their enrollment. The change was announced in paragraph 13 to SR 615-25-50.

Those serving in a higher grade at the time of selection will attend OCS in that grade.

Prior to the change, EM attended OCS in the grade in which they were serving at the time of selection.

ORDEN de BOYACA, Military class, Gran official, one of Colombia's highest decorations, is presented to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, by Dr. Eduardo Zuleta-Angel, Colombian Ambassador to the United States. At the left is Colonel Jaime Polania Puyo, Colombian military attache to the United States. The award, made Wednesday, was conferred on General Wyman for his outstanding leadership of the U. S. 9th Corps in Korea, the unit of which Colombian Army forces were a component.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 14

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 3 September, 1954

CG Lauds Troops!

To All Concerned:

President Syngman Rhee has communicated to me his fine impression and deep appreciation for the military honors accorded him during his recent visit to the Presidio. Korean Consul General Young Han Choo has added his praise for your outstanding performance on this occasion. To each and everyone of you, whose diligent dedication and esprit made this auspicious occasion so praiseworthy, please accept my personal, "well done!"

W. G. WYMAN
Lieutenant General, USA
Commanding

In Effect Now!

New Civilian Insurance Plan is Low in Cost Yet Most Beneficial

One of the most significant advances in the realm of civil service benefits to be approved in many years is the new Group Life Insurance for Federal Civilian Employees.

In a word, this impressive sounding title means simply that civilian employees are being offered a unique, excellent form of group life insurance at practically give-away rates.

Passed by the 83rd Congress and signed into law by President Eisenhower on 17 August, the bill provides that the protection will be provided through private insurance companies, with the government assuming a portion of the cost.

Actually, the insuree will pay at the rate of 25 cents for each $1,000 of insurance each bi-weekly pay period, through payroll deduction, while the government will contribute half as much as the individual's rate. If pay is made on other than a bi-weekly basis, the cost is proportionate.

The amount of insurance is determined by the individual's annual basic salary. Each thousand dollars of salary or portion thereof is worth a thousand dollars of insurance. For instance, if your salary is between $3,100 and $4,000, you will receive $4,000 worth of insurance, but at $4,100, the insurance coverage goes up to $5,000 and so on. And $4,000 worth of insurance will cost you $1.00 each pay period.

You may not take more or less insurance than is specified in this setup, and all employees automatically become insured unless a Waiver of Life Insurance Coverage (standard form 53) is signed. Beyond this, the insurance may also be canceled by the individual at any time.

Those who retire on an immediate annuity either for disability or after at least 15 years of creditable civilian service, will have continued life insurance without further cost; however, double indemnity and dismemberment protection stops.

In addition, if you are, or when you become, 65 years of age, while the insurance is then free, the amount will be reduced by two per cent for each month you are over 65, until a reduction of 75 per cent is reached, with the remaining 25 per cent staying in effect.

For employees who resign or otherwise leave government service, the insurance will remain in effect for 31 days, during which you may buy, also without medical examination, an individual life insurance policy at standard rates.

About beneficiaries, the government has set up a payable order as follows: widow or widower, children, parents, estate, next of kin, in that order. If the employee wishes to change this order or name someone else, he or she may do so by completing a form set up for that purpose. Death benefits are payable in lump sum to the beneficiary named.

In summing up the whole plan, officials stated that while it is a low cost plan which requires no medical examination and provides double indemnity for accidental death or dismemberment payment, it is term insurance and does NOT carry cash surrender or loan privileges. "This plan, therefore, should not be looked upon as a substitute for regular individual insurance policies purchased through private insurance agents," they pointed out.

Locally employed civilian personnel will receive pamphlets shortly plus individual certificates outlining benefits and terms in greater detail.

Editorial

... they toll for thee!

Ranked as a classic in its field, the following dramatic essay was written by Raymond M. Eastman, a young advertising copy writer in Des Moines, Iowa . . .

10 Seconds to Live

"He pushed his sleeve back, held his wrist close to the lighted speedometer, squinted to read the time. A little after 9. Five, 10 minutes after. Ought to be home in half an hour.

"If he had only known he had only ten seconds to live, he might have checked the time more closely. He might have done things differently.

"Ten seconds to live. He massaged his eyes with thumb and middle finger, trying to rub out some of the sand.

"Nine seconds to live. He'd driven almost eight hours since lunch, and was beginning to feel it.

"Eight seconds to live. Lousy driving in the rain. Light from your headlights just seems to soak in along with the water.

"Seven seconds to live. Probably need a new windshield wiper blade. Old one just spreads the water around instead of wiping it clean. Get one tomorrow, or next time it rains.

"Six seconds to live. Somebody threw a cigarette out of an oncoming car. The red glow dissolved almost before it hit the pavement.

"Five seconds to live. He planted his heels on the floorboard, squirmed back in the seat, trying for comfort.

"Four seconds to live. At 60 miles an hour, a car covers 88 feet of pavement every second. Four seconds, 352 feet.

"Three seconds to live. Something looked wrong through the blurry windshield. A tentative dab at the brake stiffened into desperate pressure as he made out an old, unlighted slow-moving truck ahead.

"Two seconds to live. Panic moved in. Turn to the left. No, car coming. Headlights too close. Can't make it. Turn to the right.

"One second to live. Horror numbed everything into slow motion. He was floating right into the rear corner of the truck bed. He opened his mouth to scream.

"No seconds to live."

. . . last week Raymond Eastman, 29, became a traffic statistic. He was killed when his new sports car careened into a bridge while passing another car at high speed.

Moral: Knowledge can help, but only good driving habits can save your life.

DRIVE CAREFULLY OVER THIS LABOR DAY WEEKEND!

A big female sturgeon, a six or seven footer about 50 years old, may contain as many as 5,000 eggs.

The Signal Corps Training Center at Camp Gordon, Georgia, is the largest Signal installation in the Army.

Most Defense Bills Oked by Outgoing 83d Congress

Legislation affecting the Armed Forces came in for a large share of the time of the 83d Congress before the lawmakers ended the Second Session and went home.

The House adjourned until Jan. 5, 1955. The Senate recessed until recalled this fall to consider the findings of the committee studying the McCarthy censure proposal.

On the whole the record was good with most items recommended by the Defense Department being passed in some form.

Military Appropriations — Approximately $29 billion was approved with a strong reliance being placed on airpower. President Eisenhower originally requested about $31 billion.

K-Vet Bill Extension — Vets planning to use this Bill have three years instead of two in which to begin training and from seven years to eight to complete it.

Warrant Officers — The Warrant Officer Act of 1954 goes into effect Nov. 1, 1954, providing a statutory system for WO promotions, eliminations and retirement in all branches of service.

Doctor Draft Act — The Act was amended to permit induction of physicians and dentists into the Armed Forces as EM if they do not satisfactorily complete loyalty certificates.

Re-Enlistment Bonus — The new plan provides for higher re-enlistment payments, taking into consideration both an EM's grade and the number of times he has re-enlisted previously.

Air Force Academy — Both an authorization and an initial appropriation for the Air Force Academy were approved.

Home Loan Benefits — Career servicemen now are eligible for home loan benefits similar to those granted to WWII and Korean veterans who returned to civilian life.

Dependent Housing — The first step has been taken in a long-range construction program by the approval of a plan for 13,000 family units costing $175 million during the coming year. (AFPS)

Change of Title!

"Report to the Army," a publication for Army reservists, has been retitled "The Army Reservist." Previously it had been published by the Army Troop Information and Education Division but now it has been shifted to the Executive for Reserve and ROTC Affairs.

The Star-Presidian

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL WILLIAM F. MAGILL, JR.
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Latest Word!

New VA Check List Will Aid Students In Fall Enrollments

Veterans Administration today issued a check-list for veterans planning to go to school this fall under the Korea GI Bill.

VA said it prepared the list because there are a number of important arrangements veterans should complete before enrollment time.

Colonel Brookner W. Brady

Colonel Brady Is Named New Sixth Army IG

Colonel Brookner W. Brady this week was named Inspector General, Headquarters Sixth Army, succeeding Colonel Milo V. Buchanan who retired from active Army service on 31 August.

Colonel Brady, who joined the IG section on 10 March of this year, was born in Washington, D. C., on 1 January 1905 and was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1926.

During his military career, the colonel has also been graduated from the Infantry school, the Signal school, the Strategic Intelligence school and the Command and General Staff school.

In 1932, the colonel was a member of the U. S. Olympic team, Modern Pentathlon.

Among Colonel Brady's World War II assignments were those of Assistant Commandant, Provost Marshal General's school, 1941; battalion commander and regimental executive officer, 15th Infantry Regiment, 3rd Infantry Division in the North African and Sicilian campaigns, 1943.

In 1944, the colonel was regimental commander of the 339th Infantry Regiment, 85th Infantry Division, during the Italian campaign, and in 1946 he was named chief of the communication department at the Infantry School, Fort Benning, Georgia.

His next overseas tour was the three-year period 1948-1951, when he served as an Army attache in Bulgaria and Turkey.

During the period 1952-1954 just before coming to the Presidio of San Francisco, Colonel Brady commanded the 1st Infantry Regiment, 6th Infantry Division, at Fort Ord, California.

The colonel's father is Colonel James F. Brady, Retired, U. S. Military Academy, class of 1897.

The Panama Canal was completed in 1914 under direction of Army Major General (then Colonel) George Washington Goethals.

The first item is the choice of a goal, and of a training program that will lead to the goal. VA explained that since the law allows a veteran only one change of program, he should make sure he chooses the correct program.

The second item is for veterans who are not sure about their GI training goals. VA said these veterans may request vocational counseling to help them arrive at a sound choice of training. They need only fill in the appropriate space for counseling on VA's application form for Korea GI Bill training.

VA cautioned veterans that counseling takes time. It must be completed and the veteran must be in training before his cut-off date for starting GI training. For that reason, veterans who wish counseling should apply for it well in advance of their cut-off dates, VA said.

The third point is to be certain the course they plan to take has been approved for Korea GI training by the State in which the school is located. This information is available from any VA regional office in the field, but it is not available in VA headquarters at Washington, D. C.

The fourth point tells veterans to complete arrangements for admittance to the school of their choice before filing applications with VA. This step, VA said, will save time and trouble for veterans because they must know beforehand whether they can meet their requirements for admission.

The fifth point urges veterans to send their applications for training to VA as soon as possible after they have completed arrangements with the schools of their choice for admittance. VA said this will enable it to iron out any snags that may develop before school starts.

The sixth point instructs veterans to check their VA applications carefully before mailing them to VA. VA said an incomplete application can cause delay because VA will have to write to the veteran for the missing information. Each application must be accompanied by a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper and the completed document must be sent to the veteran's nearest VA regional office, not to the Washington, D. C., headquarters of VA.

The seventh point involves veterans with dependents. VA said these veterans should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when VA requests it. For a wife, this would mean a photostat of the marriage certificate and, for a child, a photostat of the birth certificate.

The eighth point has to do with finances. VA urges veterans to take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long, under the law, for a veteran's first GI allowance check to reach him.

The final point applies to veterans who already have started training under the Korea GI Bill. VA reminds these veterans that they and their schools must submit the monthly certification of training to VA as soon as possible after the end of each month of training so VA may pay the veterans their GI allowances on time.

Colonel C. V. Cadwell

Colonel Cadwell Named as Deputy Post Commander

Colonel Carol V. Cadwell has been announced as Headquarters Commandant and Deputy Post Commander, Presidio of San Francisco, California, to be effective 1 September 1954.

Prior to his new assignment, he saw duty as deputy to the then Provost Marshal General, Major General W. H. Maglin, in Washington, D. C.

Colonel Cadwell headed the United Nations' Prisoner of War Command in Korea, succeeding Major General Hayden L. Boatner in September of 1952. Colonel Cadwell was later succeeded by Major General W. H. McGarr.

During World War II he was overseas three years, starting as Provost Marshal of the Eighth Army from its operations in New Guinea, and continuing in this capacity through the Philippine campaigns and the Japanese occupation. He flew into Japan with the advance echelon to prepare the way for the occupation troops even before Japan's formal surrender.

From 1947 to 1951 Colonel Cadwell served as Provost Marshal of Sixth Army. He had previously served in this Army area as Provost Marshal and headquarters commandant of the III Corps at the Presidio of Monterey under the late General Joseph W. Stillwell.

A veteran of 37 years of military duty, the Colonel's decorations include the Legion of Merit, Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, Commendation Ribbon, Philippine Presidential Unit Citation and the Korean Presidential Unit Citation.

Allotment Check Forgers Subject to Court-Martial

Washington (AFPS)—The Army has called attention to the fact that anyone, except the person to whom the check is made out, who indorses a U. S. Treasury allotment or allowance check is guilty of forgery and may be court-martialed if he is in the service.

The U. S. Secret Service has reported a number of instances in which the service person who had created the allotment had forged the indorsement on the check.

The Army emphasizes that it is illegal to do so. Violators may be punished under Article 123 of the Uniform Code of Military Justice.

Team Action!

Elements, Structure, Mission Of The Army Next TIC Topic

Land warfare has been waged since the day when man armed with a heavy club, first defended his home against an attacker. Moreover, until a successful way to abolish war has been devised, ground combat probably will be the final stage of any determined struggle to keep an aggressor away from our homes.

Man-to-man fighting and extreme hardship bravely borne have marked all the major wars in our short history. The men who endured the winter of 1777-78 at Valley Forge and those who, a century and a half later, held out for 5 months against overwhelming enemy forces on Bataan and Corregidor, are symbols of the sacrifices that men of the Army have been making throughout our history.

It is this distinctive history and mission of our Army that the TIC topic will discuss next week.

George Washington took command of the first United States Army on 3 July, 1775. Nearly 400,000 soldiers were enrolled before the war ended. The Army was disbanded at the war's end, setting a precedent.

The Colonists were confident that if citizen-soldiers were needed, they could be put quickly into action. In fact, immediately following the War of Independence, in 1784, the Continental Congress authorized a force of only 80 men to guard military supplies. This was the actual size of the first peacetime United States Army!

Today, the primary job of the Army is to maintain security of the United States and the areas vital to our interests by timely and effective military action on land. This means planning for and the use of forces on land, and the development, organization, and equipment for Army amphibious and airborne operations.

The conference will stress the fundamental missions of the Army today which are occupation, and training for defense of the nation.

The topic will also cover how the Army is organized into the Arms and the Services, the makeup of a division, how the Army is composed and how it fights.

The last facet to be discussed will be the role of the U. S. Army in a future war. Pointed up will be a twofold role, that of seizing areas from which other forces may conduct operations, and carrying through the all-out land offensive.

With its sister Services, the Army is ready to join in team action to safeguard the security of the United States.

Assignment of New PX Officers to QM Premature

The Department of the Army recently announced that some commands are requiring that all officers assigned to Post Exchange duties (MOS 4210) be members of the Quartermaster Corps.

The DA wishes to announce that this action is premature and is apparently based upon a misunderstanding of a recent decision whereby post exchange officers are to be assigned to the Quartermaster Corps and The Quartermaster General will assume responsibility for their assignment, training and career management.

It is anticipated that The Quartermaster General will assume this responsibility by 1 January 1955. Requests for transfers to the Quartermaster Corps from officers of other branches now in post exchange assignments, or who desire such assignments, will be encouraged. However, transfers will be voluntary and will be phased over a two-year period. Officers not transferred to the Quartermaster Corps will ultimately be reported to their respective branches for reassignment.

Changes will not be made in assignment procedure at this time, since a transition period is necessary to permit an orderly assumption of the responsibilities involved. This period will terminate on 1 July 1956, after which date it is contemplated that all post exchange officers will be members of the Quartermaster Corps.

"YOU MAY BE A TRAFFIC VICTIM" points out Officer Guy M. Root (right) to T.I.E. instructors (left to right) Sgt. Charles Cogbill of 6002 SU and Sfc. Kinnu of the T.I.E. section. Officer Root assisted T.I.E. instructors in preparing this week's topic, "Live and Let Live." He is assigned to the California Highway Patrol's special education squad and devotes all of his time to giving such talks as these throughout the area. Root, a twelve and a half year veteran of the force, makes nearly 350 appearances a year in behalf of driver education.

T. I. & E., Topic Timely!

California Highway Patrolman Talks Here On Traffic Safety

"Every time you get behind the wheel of an automobile you are a potential accident!" stated Officer Guy M. Root of the California Highway Patrol. Officer Root, veteran of twelve and a half years on the force, spoke to assistant T.I.E. instructors this week in conjunction with the T.I.E. topic, "Live and Let Live."

The state of California, Officer Root pointed out, is credited with ten per cent of the total national vehicle registration. As might be expected, California is also responsible for approximately ten per cent of the highway casualties in the nation.

Of the 80,000 miles of highway in California, over 70,000 are rural and hence under the jurisdiction of the Highway Patrol. These rural highways with their long straightaways and lack of heavy traffic are the dangerous miles where casualties are more often fatal. Pointing with pride to the bay area, however, Officer Root stated that the six-mile Bay Bridge has fewer accidents than any other six-mile stretch in the country.

What causes most accidents? According to Officer Root, it is simply lack of knowledge on the part of the driver. To back up this statement, he pointed out that non-resident drivers, unfamiliar with California driving habits, have more accidents than residents. He also pointed to the drivers under 25. This group is physically capable of superior driving but the accident rate is so high that insurance companies are reluctant to insure young drivers.

To meet the impending traffic crisis which, according to Officer Root, could very well make a substantial cut in the state population, the Highway Patrol is depending heavily on education. A portion of all traffic fines collected is allocated to the traffic education program.

The most important phase of this program is the driver education class in the public high school, now a requirement for graduation. The Highway Patrol has a special section now, too, for driver education. Five uniformed officers devote their full time to this assignment.

If the driver education program works—and according to Officer Root, it's showing signs of success now, the accident situation should be well in hand in ten years. It will take this time to reach all the drivers on the California highways.

ORIENTATION CLASS conducted by the civilian personnel division helps new employees on the Presidio of San Francisco get acquainted with the many facets of government work as well as personnel subjects including job status, leave time, pay scales, salary and wage administration, retirement, suggestion awards and others. Instructing the group shown here is Mr. Arthur Linsley.

Army Will Withdraw 2nd, 25th From Korea; Two Not Named

Seoul, Korea (AFPS) — The Army has announced that the 2nd and 25th Infantry Divisions will be withdrawn from Korea in the near future. Two other divisions scheduled to return at the end of the year have not been named.

Departing members of the 25th will include those with varying portions of the overseas tours completed. The 2nd Division will be reorganized into an escort unit of nearly 1000 men who have completed a normal overseas tour of duty.

Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, U. S. Eighth Army commander, said there would be "considerable shuffling" of the men before they leave.

PART OF THE GROUP of children who attended the Fort Baker Daily Vacation Bible school conducted by Chaplain (1st Lt.) Wayne Kildall are these enchanting little ones of the Kindergarten class who include, first row, 1 to r: Jo Lewis, Rosemary Langdon, Lena Youngdall, Vicki Mayes and Patrick Michels; second row, 1 to r: Michael Olson, Patty Ley, Betty Wong, Raymond Taylor, Richard Taylor, Bart Hatcher, Bobbie Norris and Adrianna Alstrom; third row, 1 to r: Tommy Ann Dieson, John Killman, Joe Wong, Mike Brown, Mike McFadin, Steve Cobb, Gary Ransome and Kathy Beal.

50 In Daily Classes! Fort Baker Bible School Ends Program, Cerificate Awards

The Fort Baker Daily Vacation Bible school, just completed, provided a memorable experience for all the little ones who attended it during August.

There were awards for the youngsters when it was all over, among them 32 who received perfect attendance certificates. In addition, awards for outstanding work were presented to the following: Bobbie Norris, Michael Olson and Betty Wong, kindergarten; Robert Stodghill, Beverly Biram and Cathy Shannon, primary; Judy Norris, Jackie Maxon, Virginia Maxon and Lorraine Graham, junior girls, and Robert Maxon and Michael Graham, junior boys.

Average daily attendance for the 10-day period was 50 pupils with a high day of 58. Opening exercises were held each morning in the Fort Baker chapel auditorium, and consisted of salutes to the Christian and American flags, songs by the children who ranged in age from four to 14 years, and stories by Chaplain (1st Lt.) Wayne Kildall, 9th AAA Battalion chaplain, and overall supervisor of the school.

Throughtout the day, the youngsters heard the lovely Bible stories, learned to memorize some of the outstanding passages, and collected material for workbooks. The primary class built paper arks, sailor hats and did other art work, while the junior boys and girls did various types of oil paintings.

The kindergarten class was under the direction of Gay and Joan Denson. They were assisted by Mrs. Burl Norris, Mrs. Howard Grant, Mrs. John Ransom, Mrs. Robert Stodghill, Mrs. Fred Huff, Mrs. Michael Olson, Mrs. Thelma Job and Mrs. Herbert Youngdall.

Mrs. George Biram, who also superintended the Bible school, and Marian Greely were in charge of the primary class while the junior girls were taught by Mrs. R. V. Maxon and the junior boys by Pfc. Don Francisco. Mrs. Darrell Stewart had charge of refreshments for the children each day.

In reporting on the immense success of the Bible school, Chaplain Kildall praised the co-operation of teachers, parents and children alike.

"Since Christian education is as important to the military service as it is to the individual, and since today's children will be tomorrow's citizens, the training they receive now will be reflected in the next generation. Let this then, be Christian training."

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

23 August: Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Piserchia, ROTC Det. U. of San Francisco; Pvt. and Mrs. Ralph Murray, 53d Trans. Co., Cp. Irwin, Calif.

25 August: Sfc. and Mrs. E. L. Peyton, 6002 SU, 6th Army Med. Lab., Ft. Baker, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Kim W. Ching, Hqs. 28th AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Edward J. Milano, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC.

26 August: A 1C and Mrs. Donovan L. Watson, 566 AP Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. William E. Sievers, 6th Army Area Med. Lab., Ft. Baker, Calif.; M Sgt. and Mrs. Lloyd W. Anderson, Hq. Sq. Sect., 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

27 August: Pfc. and Mrs. Robert G. Holdridge, Co. B, 505th MP Bn., PSFC; S Sgt. and Mrs. Floyd W. Hickey, 13 Crash Res. Boat Flt., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Manfred F. Gildner, 460 Dental Prosth. Det., LAH, PSFC; A 1C and Mrs. Harry Robinson, 4754 Radar Eval. Flt., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

28 August: FC2-USN and Mrs. Andrew L. Johnson, S. F. GRP PAC RES FLT, SFC; A 1C and Mrs. Ronald Metcalf, 43rd Com. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Thomas J. Morgan, 752nd AAA Gun Bn., U. S. Coast Guard Base, Alameda, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Martin A. Cousins, 6000 SU, PSFC.

29 August: Cpl. and Mrs. Jethro Smith, 6901 SU, OAB, Oakland, Calif.

Sons to:

23 August: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Amos G. Gainey, 315th Engr. Bn., Ft. Barry, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Albert Hooper, Hq. Co., 505th MP Bn., PSFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Harold C. Sosebee, 8602 AU, Two Rock Sta, Petaluma, Calif.; T Sgt. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Perroni, 325th Ftr. Intcp. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Hiner Thomas, USMC, 100 Harrison St., SFC.

25 August: A 1C and Mrs. Frederick A. Granger, 566 Opns. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Charles W. Kipfer, 566th AD Gp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. William E. Robinson, 6930 SU, LAH, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. George B. Fuller, Btry. D, 9th AAA Bn., Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Thomas E. Snowden, Hq. 30th Engr. Grp., Ft. Scott, Calif.

26 August: Cpl. and Mrs. Belvin G. Snoddy, Ft. Baker, Calif.

Awards Ceremony
Next Friday

Last week's decoration ceremony, cancelled because of inclement weather, will be held next Friday at 1630 hours on the Presidio parade ground.

The ceremony will honor Major Clarence L. Anderson, famed doctor who was prisoner of war with the Communists in Korea, and Lt. Colonels Edward Purdy, Francis Palmer, and Charles J. Schauers, who will receive the Bronze Star.

99th Engineer Squad
Winner of Drill Honors
In 30th Group Contest

Members of the third squad, second platoon, 99th Engineer Company (Base Reproduciton) outdrilled a field of 70 squads in last Saturday's 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) squad competition, and compiled 31½ of a possible 34 points to win three-day passes and high commendation from the 30th Staff Officers who conducted the final elimination.

The 99th also emerged as the top unit in a field of six running up an average of 78.2 points out of a possible 100. The Reproduction Company will be excused from the next scheduled squad competition as a result of their winning performance Saturday.

Members of the top squad include Sgt. William E. Stevens, Squad Leader; Cpl. Harold H. Davis, Assistant Squad Leader; Cpl. Larue Stallworth; Pfc. Bruce E. Moody; Pvt. Paul A. Tyrrell, Jr.; Pfc. Robert A. Travis, and Pfc. Earl J. Page.

8th Army Sponsors
1st Korean Synagogue

Seoul, Korea (AFPS) — Eighth Army Hq. here has made available a 50-ft. area in a quonset hut for a special Jewish chapel — the first synagogue in Korean history.

The new chapel was dedicated in March at a Purim party. At Passover, 400 servicemen jammed the Jewish chapel. It is now complete in all details, down to the new four doorpost mezuzahs sent by the National Jewish Welfare Board.

Recently Assigned

Lt. Kenneth G. Nellis has received his initial Army duty assignment in the military justice division, Judge Advocate section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Lt. Nellis entered the service on 3 March of this year and since that time has attended the nine-week Infantry officers basic course, Fort Benning, Georgia, and the 11-week Judge Advocate course at Charlottesville, Virginia.

The lieutenant did his undergraduate work at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia, class of 1950, and in June 1953, was graduated from the University of Illinois College of Law.

Lt. Nellis, whose home is in Maywood, Illinois, entered the Army with a direct commission.

Lt. Raymond E. Brackett, Jr., has been assigned to the budget division of the Comptroller section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He returned recently from a year's service with Joint Task Force 7 in the Pacific, and for his work as deputy disbursing officer, received a Certificate of Achievement signed by Major Gen. P. W. Clarkson, commander of the Task force.

Lt. Brackett entered the service two years ago with a direct commission and spent the first year of his Army career at Fort Lewis, Washington, where he was Post Finance officer.

A native of Sacramento, California, the lieutenant received his B.S. and M.B.A. in accounting from the University of California at Berkeley. He has also attended the Army's Finance school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

Lt. Louis A. Zehner has become special assistant to the chief of the accounting division, Finance section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Entering the Army on 11 September of last year, Lt. Zehner spent seven months as a student at the Finance school, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. He then served five months as Finance officer at Camp Stoneman, California, prior to coming to the Presidio.

Lt. Zehner was graduated from Dartmouth with the class of 1952 and in June 1953, received his M.A. from the Puck School of Business Administration.

The lieutenant, whose home is in Lexington, Massachusetts, received a direct commission upon entering the Army.

Lt. Edward W. Kahelin is newly assigned to the position of assistant Post Engineer, Presidio of San Francisco.

For the past year, Lt. Kahelin has been with the Los Angeles District Engineers, prior to which he spent 15 months in Korea with the 74th Engineer Combat battalion. He received the Bronze Star Medal for his services there.

Entering the Army three and one-half years ago, the lieutenant had held a Reserve Infantry commission, and upon graduation from ROTC and Ohio University, class of 1951, he received a direct appointment in the Regular Army Corps of Engineers.

Lt. Kahelin, whose home is in Ashtabula, Ohio, received his degree in mechanical engineering. He and Mrs. Kahelin are now residing in San Francisco.

CWO Harold E. Wheeler has begun his third assignment on the Presidio of San Francisco.

He is now with the G-2 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army, having just returned from 27 months of duty in Japan where he was personnel officer and unit administrator of the 532nd Amphibious Support Regiment attached to the 2nd Amphibious Support Brigade.

As an enlisted man, Mr. Wheeler served here as first sergeant of Headquarters company, Sixth Army, from February 1947 to November 1948, and again in 1950 from January to March as chief clerk, mail and miscellaneous branch, AG section.

In the Army for the past 14 years, Mr. Wheeler received his warrant in June 1950 while serving in San Francisco as an instructor with the 159th Infantry National Guard Instructor group. His World War II service was in the Pacific with the 788th and 539th Amphibious Tractor battalions, attached variously to the 6th, 8th and 10th Armies.

Lt. Thomas Lew has spent the past two and one-half years with the 16th Corps in Japan, where he was a crypto-security officer, Signal section. He is now assigned in a similar capacity at the 6300 SU Signal, Presidio of San Francisco.

In World War II, as a master sergeant, Lt. Lew served 20 months in the China-Burma-India theatre with a liaison team attached to the Chinese Army.

Previously stationed on the Presidio in 1949, Lt. Lew received a direct appointment to officer status in 1950, following which he served approximately 18 months at the Seattle Port of Embarkation.

Lt. Lew has been in the Army for the past 10 years and wears the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Lt. Frank A. Henning has been assigned as chief of the visitors bureau, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He has been with the 123rd Infantry Regiment, Fort Lewis, Washington, for the past seven months, and prior to that, for three months he attended the associate Infantry company officers course at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Lt. Henning was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1950.

For three years following his graduation and commissioning, he served with the 26th Infantry in Germany.

Lt. Donald L. Piermattei has begun his initial Army duty assignment as a Veterinary inspector, with station at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Lt. Piermattei was graduated from Michigan State college school of Veterinary medicine in June, and entered the Army in July.

Prior to coming to the Presidio, he attended the officers orientation course at the Medical Field Service school, Brooke Army Medical center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

The lieutenant is a native of Lansing, Michigan. He and Mrs. Piermattei are presently residing here.

CWO Albert W. Duffy returned recently from three years' service in Quartermaster operations, Western Area command, Germany.

He is now assigned as clothing sales store officer, Presidio of San Francisco.

A veteran of 21 years' Army service, Mr. Duffy was enlisted until 1942 when he received his warrant while serving at Schofield barracks, Hawaii, where he had been since 1939.

Upon his return to this country in 1943 he was assigned to the Atlanta General depot for further Quartermaster operations.

ONLY PART OF THE SHOW is Trudy Velez, coloratura soprano, who is the vocalist with the "Starlight Revue," stage show which will be presented at the Presidio Service club Sunday at 2000. Miss Velez has appeared in more than 400 shows given before military personnel in the Bay area, and has also won several amateur-performer awards. Other members of the revue, which is directed by Mrs. Ed Zachowski, include Lonnie and Joyce, guitar duet; Jackie Fontes, specialty dancer; Jimmy James, magician; and Tom and Lynn, impersonations and comedy routines. Bob Flanigan will be master of ceremonies.

The Medal of Honor has been awarded to 1st Lt. Benjamin F. Wilson, USA, for his heroic action near Hwach'on-Myon, Korea, June 5, 1951. His unit—Co. I, 31st Inf. Regt., 7th Div.—was committed to a daylight attack against heavily fortified enemy positions on high ground.

When the spearheading element of the attack was pinned down, Lt. Wilson attacked alone with his rifle and grenades. He killed four enemy machine gunners and neutralized the position which had been holding up the advance.

He then led a bayonet attack on a main objective which cost the enemy 27 dead. But, while the position was being consolidated, the Reds counterattacked and threatened to overrun the area. Lt. Wilson countered with a single-handed charge in which he killed seven and wounded two. The rest fled.

An American assault struck to within 15 yards of the final objective before it was halted by heavy fire. Painfully wounded, Wilson remained alone to provide covering fire as the outfit withdrew. The enemy counter-attacked—the Item Co. CO and first platoon leader fell—and Lt. Wilson again charged into the oncoming enemy. He killed three with his rifle before it was wrested away from him. Lt. Wilson bludgeoned four others to death with his entrenching tool. The ferocity of his fighting demoralized the enemy while his own company reorganized.

Lt. Wilson was wounded again but he stayed in his position covering the removal of the wounded and the orderly withdrawal of the outfit. (AFPS)

The Army Signal Corps operates a 3,000-mile submarine communications cable connecting Seattle with Ketchikan, Anchorage and Unalaska.

AFN Radio Berlin Has Beamed Voice Of Freedom 9 Years

Berlin (AFPS) — To the people of this divided bastion of the cold war, the Armed Forces Network radio station here means far more than the information, education and entertainment it provides for American troops.

AFN-Berlin, which celebrated its ninth birthday Aug. 4, brings a voice of freedom to an area surrounded by the Russian Zone. When the station took to the air Aug. 4, 1945, it broadcast the first impartial news program this city had heard since the Nazis seized power in 1933.

For 12 years the people had listened to the propaganda and music they were told to listen to. Then the AFN station brought news and good music and even encouraged them to send requests for the music and programs they would like to hear.

Today AFN-Berlin's modern studios are a far cry from the days when its first broadcasts came from a mobile transmitter mounted on the rear of a trailer-truck.

Four motor-driven generators strained to provide the power to keep the station on the air 20 hours a day. The antenna consisted of a single length of wire stretched between a couple of tall trees.

Since that humble beginning, the AFN outlet has compiled a long record of valuable service. During the Berlin Airlift, pilots set their radio compass on the station's frequency and homed into Tempelhof airport. The station remained on the air 24 hours a day during the blockade.

Teen-Age Club Elects Officers, Plans Swim

The Teen-Age club held election of officers Saturday and the following were chosen to lead the group: Fred Williams, president; Karen Voss, recorder, and Kim Voss, Robert Bumen and Sharon Chaduzak, members.

Outgoing officers included Greg White, president; Fran Costello, recorder, and Earl Fillinger, Karen Voss and Sandra Clark, members.

There will be a splash party at the Letterman Army hospital pool from 1930 to 2100 hours today, followed by a pot luck supper at the club, while Saturday night's activities at the TAC will include a ping pong tournament.

Army to Keep Brown Color for All Four New Warrant Insignia

The Army will retain brown as the color of new collar insignia for its four grades of warrant officer, according to a Pentagon spokesman.

The Army General Staff, which felt that the brown bar would clash with the recently approved Army-Green uniform, had been considering either purple, black, or the new Army-Green. Other colors were precluded from consideration since it was believed complaints would be registered if the entire Army were forced to wear the color of one of its Branches.

The Air Force WO bars will be sky-blue; the Navy, Navy-blue; and the Marine Corps, scarlet.

The need for new collar rank insignia for all the Services was made necessary by the passage of the Warrant Officer Bill. The legislation created the grades W-1, W-2, W-3 and W-4, effective 1 November.

Except for the background colors, all bars for the four Services will be identical. They will measure 3/4 inch in length and will be broken by a centered 5/32 inch gold stripe for W-1's; two gold stripes for W-2's; a single silver stripe for W-3's; and two silver stripes for W-4's.

At State Fair

The arts and crafts program of Headquarters Sixth Army will be on exhibit at the California State fair being held in Sacramento from 2 through 12 September. Personnel may view the vast display of ceramics, enameling, lapidary and paintings in the crafts division, Army section of the Armed Forces Exhibit area.

The Army organized and manned the first U. S. weather bureau as a branch of the Signal Corps.

Vet News Notes

Veterans planning to go to school this fall under the Korean GI Bill were told by the Veterans Administration today that the money they earn in after-school jobs will have no effect on the GI allowances paid them by the Government.

Their monthly GI allowance checks will remain the same, regardless of outside earnings, VA said. In fact, these earnings need not even be reported to VA.

VA explained that some veterans have been confusing the new Korean GI Bill with the original World War II GI Bill which did have an income "ceiling" that applied to veterans taking all types of training—in school, on-the-job and on-the-farm.

The Korean GI Bill does have a "ceiling," but for on-the-job trainees only. It does not apply to veterans in the classroom.

Even in job training "ceiling" imposes no limit on how much a veteran may earn.

Instead, when a veteran's on-the-job training wages, plus his GI allowance, exceed $310 a month, VA scales down the allowance accordingly, to bring the total within the $310 limit.

Starting allowance rates for Korean GI job trainees are $70 a month, with no dependents; $85 with one, and $105 with more than one dependent. Under the law, these rates are reduced at four-month intervals, as training progresses and veterans' earning abilities increase.

The rates for veterans in school full time are $110 with no dependents; $135 with one dependent, and $160 with more than one dependent.

The National Geographic Society reports that Americans sent 121,000,000 pounds of mail to servicemen overseas during 1953.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE
Friday, 3 September—"The Shanghai Story," with Ruth Roman and Edmond O'Brien.

Saturday, 4 September—"Bengal Brigade," with Rock Hudson and Arlene Dahl.

Sunday, 5 September and Monday, 6 September—(Cinemascope) "Night People," with Gregory Peck and Rita Gam.

Tuesday, 7 September—"The Raid," with Van Heflin and Anne Bancroft.

Wednesday, 8 September and Thursday, 9 September—(Cinemascope) "Hell and High Water," with Richard Widmark and Bella Darvi.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 3 September—"Ride, Vagabond," with Robert Taylor, Ava Gardner and Howard Keel.

Saturday, 4 September—"The Raid," with Van Heflin and Anne Bancroft.

Sunday, 5 September—"The Shanghai Story," with Ruth Roman and Edmond O'Brien.

Tuesday, 7 September—"Rogue Cop," with Robert Taylor, Janet Leigh and George Raft.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 3 September—"Bengal Brigade," with Rock Hudson and Arlene Dahl.

Saturday, 4 September—"The Shanghai Story," with Ruth Roman and Edmond O'Brien.

Wednesday, 8 September—"Three Hours to Kill," with Dana Andrews and Donna Reed.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 5 September—"Rogue Cop," with Robert Taylor, Janet Leigh and George Raft.

Tuesday, 7 September—"The Shanghai Story," with Ruth Roman and Edmond O'Brien.

Thursday, 9 September—"Three Hours to Kill," with Dana Andrews and Donna Reed.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 3 September—"White Witch Doctor," with Susan Hayward and Robert Mitchum.

Saturday, 4 September—"The Shanghai Story," with Ruth Roman and Edmond O'Brien.

Sunday, 5 September, and Monday, 6 September—"Bengal Brigade," with Rock Hudson and Arlene Dahl.

Tuesday, 7 September—"Ride Vagabond," with Robert Taylor and Ava Gardner.

Wednesday, 8 September—"Thunder Pass," with Dane Clark and Dorothy Patrick.

Thursday, 9 September—"The Raid," with Van Heflin and Anne Bancroft.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 3 September—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 4 September—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 5 September—Starlight review of Marin county, 2000.

Monday, 6 September—Guitar and ukelele instruction and coffee hour, 2000.

Tuesday, 7 September—Square dance, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 8 September—Pinocle tournament, 2000. Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 9 September—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 3 September—Raid the Ice-box, 2000.

Saturday, 4 September—Tournaments, shuffleboard, pool, ping pong, 2000.

Sunday, 5 September—Coffee and donuts, 0930 and 1100; G. D. Martin stage show, 2000.

Monday, 6 September—Crafts with Miss Rippon, 1900.

Tuesday, 7 September—Post dance, "Grammar School Daze," 2000.

Wednesday, 8 September—Club night, 2000.

Thursday, 9 September—Square dancing, 2000.

Cinema Previews

"BENGAL BRIGADE," F*. Beginning with a heroic act of heroism at Malakal Pass, this is the story of the Sepoy revolt and how the land was saved from the rebels.

"THE RAID," F*. The burning and looting of St. Albans, Vermont, by a small band of Confederate soldiers, a little known incident of the Civil War, is the inspiration for this epic picture.

F*—Family

SHOOT PODNER for that $50 first place award in the second annual All-Army Art contest currently drawing to a close on the Presidio of San Francisco. Deadline for entries here is 20 September, so hurry up! Decide to turn in your masterpiece in either oils, water colors, drawings or prints but do it NOW. The place for entry blanks and all the information you want is the Post Special Service office, Building 122, Ext. 202, or the Presidio and Fort Baker Service clubs or the Presidio Officers club can supply you with entry blanks. Prizes for the winners will be forthcoming not only at Post and Sixth Army Command level but Department of the Army as well.

PRESIDIO HOPE for victory in the coming All-Sixth Army softball tourney 6-10 September lies in the batting might and defensive skill of those diamondballers from the 9th AAA Gun Battalion. 9th Ack Ackers, front row, left to right, are Pvt. Raymond Rizzuto, utility man; Pfc. Joe Calcagno, outfielder; Pvt. Andrew Clarke, shortstop; Pvt. Charles F. Ryan, coach; Pfc.

Johnny Ethridge, leftfielder; Cpl. James E. Wilson, third base; back row, Cpl. Adam Bellendir, catcher; Pvt. Ken Bush, second base; Sgt. Forrest Coleman, manager; WOJG Leland Anderson, Officer in Charge; Cpl. Otis Perry, right field; Pfc. J. M. Fussell, pitcher; and Sgt. Sidney White, first base.

Softball Climax!

9th Ack Ackers, Presidiennes, Vie in Ord All-Sixth Tuesday

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

The 9th Ack Ackers and the Presidio WAC softball team will leave this coming Monday night for the 1954 All-Sixth Army softball championships, to be held at Fort Ord, Tuesday through Friday of next week.

The artillerymen and local women will be among several teams representing installations from all four divisions of the Sixth Army area.

Fort Lewis, Washington, following its unbeaten record in the recent northern division prelims, will carry the colors of the north.

Other contesting nines will probably include Fort Ord, male and female, Letterman Army Hospital, and teams from the Southern and Mountain Division playoffs.

The winning team in the male category will be the recipient of the Army Commander's Trophy for temporary possession or until competed for again.

Appropriate trophies will be awarded to winning and runner-up teams in the women's tourney.

The 9th Ack Ackers, victors in the playoffs of the recently-terminated Presidio intra-mural league, have just finished three weeks of intensive drills, preparatory for the All-Sixth. In a recent practice game they defeated Oakland Naval Supply 14-6, with Coleman and Clark turning in good records at bat. In absence of pitcher W. C.

Reynolds, moundsman Coleman took credit for the victory.

The WACs travel south having completed a successful season in the Bay Area Women's Softball League finishing in runnerup position with an 11-2 record.

Sportsman's Calendar

SEPTEMBER 1954

The Department of Fish and Game reminds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing:

Deer—August 7 to September 11 in central and south coastal areas (except San Diego County). Bag limit: 2 bucks. Closed until September 25 elsewhere.

Bears—August 7 to January 15 in central and south coastal areas. Bag limit: 2 bears. Closed until September 25 elsewhere, except no closed season, no bag limit in Del Norte, Humboldt and Trinity Counties.

Brush, Cottontail Rabbits—Noon September 1 to December 31 in Mono, Inyo, Santa Barbara, Ventura, Los Angeles, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial Counties. Bag limit: 10 per day. Closed to October 30 in north and central coastal areas; until November 20 in rest of State.

Black-tailed Jackrabbits—No closed season. No bag limit.

Trout—No closed season in Colorado River area; ends October 31 elsewhere. Bag limit: 15 fish or 10 pounds and 1 fish; 10 trout in Colorado River area.

Striped Bass—No closed season.

Bears vs. Giants!

The professional Chicago Bears and New York Giants of the National Football League will meet at Chicago's Wrigley Field 12 September in the annual Armed Forces benefit game.

Post Golfers Tie Hamilton Sextet; League Finis Near

The Presidio golf team fought its way to a tie with the Hamilton AFB sextet at Sonoma this Wednesday in its next-to-last appearance against Bay Area League opposition.

In the first foursome, Presidian Ray Steelsmith won by forfeit, while his teammate, Bob Carter, trounced Tony Malada 3 and 1 for the first nine, tied the second, and won the 18, 2 and 1. Best ball went to the locals 3 and 1, 3 and 2, 6 and 5 for the route.

Tom Ward and Rollin Kapp lost their key matches against Bob Graham and Don Shears. Ward lost 3 and 2 the first nine, tied the second, and was dumped 5 and 4 for the 18. Kapp lost going out 3 and 2, won the final nine 2 and 1, lost the round 4 and 3. Best ball went to the Hamiltonians all the way.

Sid Domingue and Bill Hawley divided evenly. Domingue, in the most exciting match of the day, won going out one up, lost coming in two down, and dropped the 18 one down. In the first nine he was being beaten by Kelsey two down when he copped three straight holes to triumph. In the second half he had Kelsey one down and three to go when the airmen won the last trio to take the match.

Hawley outfired Don Getty 3 and 2 for the 18, having won the first nine 3 and 2 and lost the second two down. Best ball went to the airmen 3 and 2 for the route.

Final Presidio match of the BAAF season comes Wednesday against Mather AFB.

Steelsmith 39-36, 75
Carter 36-41, 77
Ward 44-39, 83
Kapp 39-38, 77
Domingue 37-42, 79
Hawley 40-44, 84
Malada 38-42, 80
Graham 40-39, 79
Shears 34-40, 74
Kelsey 38-38, 76
Getty 44-42, 86

BAAF GOLF STANDINGS

Mather AFB	6	1	0
PRESIDIO	5	1	1
Hamilton	4	2	1
Parks	0	7	0

Bigger Kill!

At the halfway point of the current California coastal deer season, the kill shows a 20 per cent increase over the 1953 season, according to tag returns to the Department of Fish and Game.

Only four of the 28 counties in the area have failed to show an increase in returns thus far.

Total tag returns to date are 12,618 as compared to 10,464 at the same stage of the season in 1953.

Officers Elected!

National, Eastern Start Anew, Western Has One Week Left

By Ross Metcalfe

The National Bowling League elected officers last Monday along with slamming out four tightly played games.

President for the league is Captain Arthur Cox of the 6513th SU. Sgt. Maurice Dennis is the Vice President and he hails from the 102d MRU. Captain McThail is treasurer and is also from 102d MRU with M/Sgt. Mellard holding the chair of league secretary.

HQ Co. 6th Army took the first game of the new series from 102d MRU by 3-1. HQ was led by team captain Acosta who rolled a 164 average and a 212 high game. Loser Chinn bowled 156 and 164. Team captain for 102d MRU is Poetker.

Hilltoppers No. 2 of Fort Scott took three lines from 6513th SU. The toppers were led by D. E. Smith who pinned 163 average and 194 high. E. L. Reams of 6513th rolled 159 and 172. Respective team captains are Hilltopper's Hanley and SU's Cox.

Hilltoppers No. 3 were also victorious 3-1 over the Maroos. Hillman Bamburg paced his group by a pinnage of 147 and 156 high game. The Maroos were led by Bryant's 170 average and 209 high. Hilltoppers' No. 3 new leader is Kemper and Acker is the Maroos' new captain.

Det. No. 1, 6002 SU, defeated Fort Scott's Hilltoppers No. 1 by 3-1. The Deuce was led by new captain VanAusdall who racked up 182 average and 213 high game. Toppers No. 1 was fired by Pravel's 163, 190. New captain for the losers is Mellard.

In the Eastern Bowling League, the first game was prefaced by election of league officers. Pfc. Gallo is the new President, with Cpl. Jensen the V.P. Sfc. Johnson remains in the dual capacity of Secretary-Treasurer.

A new incentive for higher bowling scores has been introduced in the Eastern League. For every blowler who pins out over 200 in any one game, small trophy will be presented to him appropriately inscribed.

The 56th MRU No. 2 is the top team in the Eastern League with its 4-0 win over the HQ 6th Army G-2. MRU's Sommers pinned a 163 average and 186 high game to lead his team and vanquished Jensen rolled 147, 149.

Co. B, 505th MP Bn., is in second place league standing with their 3-1 victory over 6300 SU. MP Gallo was high man with 168 average and 189 high game. 6300's Bobbitt bowled 149, 159.

The Slow Rollers are in third place due to their defeat of the Keystone Kops 3-1. Roller Cox's 171 average and 180 high game paced the quintet. Kop Schultz rolled 157, 170.

The 56th MRU No. 1 split 3 lines 2-2 with the 21st Engineers. High man for the 56th was Petrask who turned in 148 average and high of 174. Engineer Noeth pinned 144, 156.

Individual high game was earned by Carlisle with 191. Individual high series was taken by Cox with 513.

The 99th Engineers were the first winners in the Western Bowling League with their 3-1 victory over the Pinsplitters. Builder Muldowney bowled 150 high game and 399 total followed by Doyle for the 'splitters with 166 and 422.

HQ 6th Army remained on top of the standings with their acceptance of a four-game forfeit from the Topos.

The Constables vs. the Tags was postponed due to military commitment, and will be played next week.

The Money Bags took a 3-1 victory over the Flashers but no individual standings were available.

WESTERN STANDINGS
Team	Win	Loss
HQ 6th Army	41	19
Constables	37	23
Money Bags	33	23
Sleuths	28	32
Pinsplitters	24	32
99th Engineers	26	26
Tags	29½	22½
Flashers	23½	40½
Topos	18	42

EASTERN STANDINGS
Team	Win	Loss
56th MRU	4	0
Co. B, 505th MP Bn.	3	1
Slow Rollers	3	1
56th MRU No. 1	2	2
21st Engr.	2	2
6300 ASU	1	3
Keystone Kops	1	3
HQ 6A G-2	0	4

NATIONAL STANDINGS
Team	Win	Loss
HQ Co., 6th Army	3	1
102d MRU	1	3
6513 SU	1	3
Ft. Scott Hilltoppers No. 2	3	1
Ft. Scott Hilltoppers No. 3	3	1
Maroos	1	3
Ft. Scott Hilltoppers No. 1	1	3
Det. 1, 6002 SU	3	1

Ex-Army Pug!

Tommy Harrison, ranking light-heavyweight, won the Far East middleweight championship in 1949 while serving with the Army in Japan.

NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPS—Trophies were presented to representatives of the Detachment 1, 6002 SU, National kegler league champs this week in a ceremony in Special Services. On hand to receive their handsome figurine-ashtrays were, left to right, Pfc. Alvin Zimmer, Det. 1; Pfc. George Evans, high series and high average for the league, Det. 1; Pvt. George Van Ausell, Det. 1, and Sgt. Donald Brown, a member of the Sixth Army team, who bowled high game.

RAIDER SCRIMMAGE—Raider Dave Marcelli (arrow) is shown attempting to buck his way into the "White" team secondary during last Friday's scrimmage at Fort Scott field. Marcelli, whose early discharge this month will leave the Reds short on backfield specialists, plans to enter San Francisco State to study for his Master's. On the whole, the Raiders are progressing nicely toward their season opener on the 18th against Treasure Island. (Star-Presidian Photo by Metcalfe)

Raiders To Meet Tl Eleven In Morning Game, Sept. 18

By Pvt. Dick Stewart

The Presidio Raiders' first pigskin tilt of the season will be played in the morning, Saturday 18 September at 1015 hours. Training at the Presidio will be suspended that morning so that Raider fans will be free to see their home team in its initial game. The Raiders meet the Treasure Island eleven here at the Presidio.

According to Raider quarterback and coach, Don Burroughs, the Presidians are shaping up well and putting on the polish on the offensive plays. The defense is still on the weak side, however, especially in the backfield. This week's practice has emphasized defense, both in the backfield and on the line.

Commenting on the team as a whole, Burroughs feels it to be every bit as good as last year, except for the lack of depth. Discharges are taking a heavy toll in Raider ranks and replacements are not easy to find.

Last year's ace halfback, Dave Marcelli, started processing for discharge this week, leaving a serious gap in the backfield. Filling the vacant spot will be newcomer Sherman Womble from the 21st Engineers.

Tackle Stenfield, out on injuries last week, will be back in action for next week's practice. Pigot, although still in the hospital, is also expected back on the field before the Pirate meet.

Coach Steve Glick has issued a second call for men to fill the depleted Raider ranks on the gridiron. The team is especially short ends and backfield. He pointed out that it is still not too late to turn out for practice.

Presidio Table Tennis Tournament Is Slated For End of September

The 1954 Presidio table-tennis tournament has been scheduled to commence 27 September, it was announced by Post Special Services this week.

Individuals and doubles teams who desire to enter the tourney must submit an entry blank to the Sports Officer, Building 122, prior to 1700 hours, 21 September, 1954. Entry blanks are available at the sports office.

A meeting of contestants will be held at 1300 hours, 22 September, in Building 122 for the purpose of discussing rules of play.

The tournament will be double elimination and the three winners will represent the Presidio at Letterman Army Hospital in the Sixth Army prelims, 27-29 October. Of the three post winners, all will compete in the singles and two will compete in the doubles division.

Presidio Loses One, Wins One in Ord All-Sixth Baseball

Fort Ord, Calif.—The first day of the Sixth Army baseball tournament here on Monday of this week produced no surprises as Fort Lewis and Fort Ord registered decisive victories over the only other two teams in the area race, Sharpe General Depot and the Presidio of San Francisco, respectively.

The Fort Lewis and Sharpe fray wasn't much of a contest as the men from the north scored easily and often to pile up a 14-0 win. Pete Spasoff hurled for the winners.

The second game pitted Fort Ord against the Presidio, and after a knockdown-dragout battle Ord came out on top 13-7. Bud Francis started on the mound for Ord and was credited with the win, although he needed help from Dale Hooper in the eighth.

On Tuesday the Presidio eliminated Sharpe in a wild encounter, 16-5. Hank Monroe, the little righthander with an elaborate windup, who started pitching consistently only in the latter part of this season, was the winner although he lost control now and then. He and Bill Schubert, Sharpe hurler, walked 23 men between them.

The Presidians roared into the lead in the first inning, scoring three runs on only one hit, a double by Kenny Klopp. A single run in the third was followed by a six-run outburst in the fourth with 11 men going to the plate.

A weird ninth inning saw the Presidio score four times. Gene Terry's tremendous triple off the centerfield wall highlighted the rally.

The home-run potential of the Ord Warriors asserted itself on Wednesday. No less than eight round-trippers rattled off the bats of the Ordmen as they swamped Lewis 20-4. Jim Russell was the winning pitcher and Connie Grob the loser.

A game scheduled for yesterday pitted Lewis against the Presidians, with the loser being eliminated. The winner meets Ord today for the championship.

Fourth Army Swimmers Nab All-Army Prizes

Ft. Bragg, N. C.—A strong Fourth Army swimming team swept four first places and a runnerup slot here Thursday and Friday of last week to cop the unofficial All-Army swim championship against seven other area teams.

Runnerup in the unofficial standings was First Army, whose natators churned to five second-places, a first and a third.

Sixth Army was badly beaten, placing only two swimmers, Seattle's Bob Miller and Ord's Joe Phillips, in third places.

Results of the first day were as follows: 100-meter butterfly, Clinton, MDW, Pendelton, First Army, Hynes, Third Army, in 1:10 seconds; 200-meter freestyle, Moore, Fourth Army, Cole, First Army, Cameron, First Army, in 2:08.8; 100-meter backstroke, Kahn, Second Army, Anderson, Fifth Army, Harvey, Third Army, in 1:06.2; 200-meter breaststroke, McGuire, Third Army, Von Hurzen, Second Army, Templeton, Third Army, in 2:50.6; 400-meter medley relays, Second Army, Third Army and Fifth Army, in 4:39.1; 800-meter freestyle, Moore, Fourth Army, Nauss, First Army and Guth, Third Army.

In the second day: 400-meter individual medley, Nauss, First Army, Clinton, MDW, Miller, Sixth Army, in 5:44.4; 400-meter freestyle, Moore, Fourth Army, Cole, First Army, Phillips, Sixth Army, in 4:39.7; 200-meter backstroke, Anderson, Fifth Army, Harvey, Third Army, Eptstein, Fifth Army, in 2:36.4; 100-meter freestyle, Scholes, Fifth Army, Cameron, First Army, Van Dijk, Third Army, in 56.2; Diving, Clothworthy, Second Army, Martin, Fourth Army, Clark, Fourth Army.

In a special event against time Campbell McGuire set a new AAU record for the 100-meter breaststroke with a 1:14.1 clocking. The old time was 1:15.6.

"Vinegar" Victorious!

Among service pitchers making headlines lately is Pvt. Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell of Ft. McPherson, Ga. The former St. Louis Cardinal lefty recently won his 10th straight game. The popular hurler also coaches and manages the post Little League team.

Good Record

Robin Roberts, the righthanded pitching ace of the Philadelphia Phillies, is well on his way to winning 20 or more games for the fifth straight season.

Victors Return!

Vet Army Pistol Sharpshooters Return For Camp Perry Meet

Camp Perry, Ohio—The United States Army Pistol Squad met here Monday to fire the sixty-ninth annual National Pistol Championship. Nearly 800 marksmen from all branches of the Armed Forces will compete in the Camp Perry pistol shoot. Winners of last year's pistol matches, the Army pistolmen, are favored for laurels again this year.

Led by team captain, Lt. Col. Ellis Lea of Ft. Benning, Ga. the Army team boasts such distinguished shots as world's champion M/Sgt. Joe Benner of West Point and CWO Oscar Weinmeister of Ft. Knox. M/Sgt. Benner and CWO Weinmeister won both the National Trophy Team Match and the 22 Caliber Pistol Team Match in the 1953 tourney.

This year the Army is sending a thirty-two man team to the national matches to give the squad the depth it has lacked in previous years. After two months of practice the point spread between the top and bottom of the team roster is a very narrow one.

Returnees from the victorious 1953 Army team are such famous Policeman Leads!

Camp Perry, Ohio—Lt. Harry Reeves of the Detroit Police took the lead in the first phase of the National Pistol Championship. Reeves, the defending champion, had a score of 861 out of a possible 900.

Second position in the championship match is currently held by Ray Berlo, civilian competitor from Boston, Mass.

Third and fourth places are held by members of the All-Army Pistol Team. Major William Hancock is trailing Berlo for third spot and CWO Oscar Weinmeister is runner-up in fourth position.

The next matches on the schedule are to be fired with the 38 caliber pistol.

pistol shots as Major William Hancock, 45 Caliber champion in the Florida mid-winter matches and Lt. Col. Chester T. Harvie.

Team members new to the Army squad but old in the shooting game are 21-year-old Pfc. Bob Laycock, NRA Master Shooter, and Texan Pfc. Ed Beckelhymer of Fort Bliss. These men made the Army team on their first try-outs.

The big individual competition in this year's meet will undoubtedly be between M/Sgt. Joe Benner and Lt. Harry Reeves of the Detroit Police Department. Both of these men are outstanding pistolmen. M/Sgt. Benner holds Olympic and World pistol championships and is three time winner of the national championship. Lt. Reeves holds the national championship honor four times, once ahead of M/Sgt. Benner.

A dark horse to be watched in the 1954 matches is the Los Angeles Police Department Pistol Squad which gave the leaders trouble in last year's matches.

Swimmer at Benning

Pvt. Robert Hynes, former Michigan State swimming ace, is currently splashing his way to new records at Ft. Benning, Ga. He was a member of State's celebrated 300-yard medley relay team which was ranked eighth in the nation in 1952.

Black Knights Vie!

Army opens its 1954 grid wars against South Carolina, 25 September.

Ball Club Finishes 48-24; Ken Klopp Year's Top Hitter

The Presidio Red Raider baseball team finished its Bay Area season last week with a total of 48 wins, 24 losses. Their only opponent during the regular 1954 season with whom they had to reckon this week was the visiting Fort Ord nine. The Presidians had the worst of their three encounters with the Southern crew, losing two and winning one.

Ken Klopp, the Reading, Pennsylvania slugger who finishes his tour with the Army quite soon, won batting honors for the year with 50 blows in 102 appearances at the plate, a .490 average. Veteran Raider Bert Fowler came after with .355.

Pitcher-catcher Sal Fucile, currently with the San Francisco Seals, headed the Presidio bullpen roster with five victories, no defeats.

Complete standings were as follows:

Batting
	AB	Hits	Ave.
Ken Klopp	102	50	.490
Bert Fowler	157	54	.355
Ray Coleman	29	7	.350
Sal Fucile	173	60	.341
Herb Youngdahl	3	1	.333
Ed Jacobsen	199	65	.326
John Ethridge	146	45	.308
George Asepermy	191	58	.304
Jim Ogelvie	17	5	.294
Bobbie Brown	117	33	.282
Gene Terry	100	26	.260
Jim Wilson	9	2	.222
Ray Ardito	76	16	.210
Frank Pannell	73	15	.205

Pitching
	Won	Lost
Sal Fucile	5	0
Ken Klopp	2	2
Wayne Hamaker	12	5
Hank Monroe	12	6

Sixth Army Firers!

Camp Perry, Ohio—The Sixth Army Rifle Squad rang up a ninth place win here last week in the National Rifle Trophy Team match. Sixth Army marksmen blazed a score of 1385 out of a possible 1500 points. Each team member received a bronze medal. Sixth Army firers were Major William C. Burns, CWO Robert Ambler, Sgt. William C. Stickney from Fort Ord, Major Donald Cook, Cpl. Lowell T. Severson, PFC Robert Peterson, PFC George Bennet from Fort Lewis, and 1/Lt. Robert W. Lang.

Asst. Sec. of Army Lauds Rifle Contest

Camp Perry, Ohio—Assistant Secretary of the Army Hugh M. Milton paid tribute today to the keen competitive spirit of the shooters in the NRA matches here. He awarded nine individual and team trophies at the concluding ceremonies of the National Trophy Rifle Team Championship.

Secretary Milton told the winning riflemen and visitors that the representation of such excellent marksmen is an indication of military preparedness.

"Some of you won, and some of you lost," he said, "but the spirit of healthy competition seen here is indicative of the American way of life."

LOCK AND LOAD—Sharpshootin' Dan'l Boone had nothing on these deadeyes from Hq. Det., Western Army AA Command at Ft. Baker. He might even have found the going a bit rough if they had competed in a turkey shoot. The group, representing over half the WESTARAACOM detachment, received marksmanship badges and congratulations from Col. P. B. Denson, Deputy Commander, WESTARAACOM, in a recent ceremony. They are: (l to r kneeling) M/Sgt.

W. A. Cox, M/Sgt. C. L. Eldridge, M/Sgt. R. C. Long, Sgt. M. G. Walker, Sfc. C. L. McCammon. (Second row) Cpl. W. E. Bickel, M/Sgt. A. R. Wong, Maj. E. G. Cobb, Capt. G. A. Robbins (Detachment Commander). M/Sgt. R. E. Coppin, Sfc. W. G. Niles, Pvt. R. L. Henry. (Third row) M/Sgt. J. T. Anderson, Sgt. R. E. Thomas, Sfc. J. W. Jones, Pvt. E. W. Wagner, and Cpl. D. W. Tidd. Not shown are Col. P. B. Priest and Maj. C. O. Overstreet who also received awards.

Blessed Relief!

Young Army Officers to Find Shelter From Paper Barrage

Washington — Army company commanders, who hate paper work, are going to have to do less of it.

These youthful officers, who much prefer teaching their troops the art of war to reading tens of thousands of words, also are going to outflank tons of printed matter as result of an attack on red tape by the Adjutant General's Office.

Proposed changes in the present distribution of Army Regulations and Special Regulations will whittle down for small unit commanders the stacks of regulations which they now dare not ignore for fear of missing something vital to them.

Undertaken as a result of paradoxical criticisms that the distribution was both inadequate and excessive, the project set off more than two months of detailed review and analysis of all AR's and SR's. It was discovered that the complaints were valid as a result of changes in administrative responsibilities over the years without corresponding changes in distribution.

For example, the one roster soldiers clamor to be on—the payroll—used to be prepared by companies. Now that job is handled by finance sections. However, distribution of finance regulations have continued to pile up on company commanders' desks or add weight to groaning file cabinets.

Colonel Roy N. Walker, chief of the Publications branch of the AG, and his staff found that the present formula does not permit distribution based on a "level of command and the degree of responsibility."

As Colonel Walker puts it, "By distributing AR's and SR's on a 'need-to-know' instead of a 'nice-to-know' basis, we'll not only save a lot of reading but printing costs will be reduced substantially."

Under the proposed plan, only those regulations which affect men under small-unit commanders would go to them as a matter of course.

But distribution changes are not the only ones urged.

Rewriting of regulations to permit extracts of those parts applicable only to small units would ease the bottleneck further.

Heretofore, regulations have been written "from the top down." In other words, they outlined command duties beginning with the top unit on down through the smallest. Reading through these ponderous publications didn't help the eye strain rate one bit.

A reversal of this sequence, writing "from the bottom up," would permit pertinent parts to be "lifted"—extracted is the official term—from the whole and sent to the smaller units. In one case, a 43-page SR could be pared down to six pages for companies or battalions. As a result, not only are the units spared unnecessary work but the printing bill is lowered considerably.

"But while reduction in volume is very important," said Walker, "We can't reduce it by taking essential publications from anyone. The actual reduction will come when the change of the writing sequence can be initiated."

The change, if adopted, won't be an overnight shift. The adjustment will come as new regulations are written or old ones revised.

Chief beneficiary of the project, of course, will be the small unit commander, who will be able to see over the "paper work" on his desk for the first time in years.

Shanks Mare Vogue!

The Defense Department has instructed the Armed Forces to utilize commercial transportation in place of military vehicles where such can be done effectively and economically. This will include the use of post bus lines, leased and chartered vehicles, regular civilian transportation lines, etc. It is estimated that this move will save the Defense Department several million dollars.

Army aircraft are divided into general types—the fixed wing which includes both the two-place and multi-place, and the helicopter which is divided into utility (small) and cargo (large) classifications.

Selection Board Will Recommend Temporary Col's

The Department of the Army has recently announced that under provisions of Section 515c, Officers Personnel Act of 1947 (War Dept. Bul. 18, 1947), a selection board will be convened on 21 September at the Department of the Army to recommend officers for promotions to the temporary grade of colonel.

Names of eligible officers will be submitted by the Adjutant General to selection boards. Selections will be made by "best qualified" methods.

Zones of consideration for promotions indicated above are as follows:

Army—All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete ten years of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

JAGC—All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete ten years of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

MC—All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete eleven years of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

DC—All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete nine years of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

VC—All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete ten years of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

MSC — All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete nine years of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

CH—All officers serving as lieutenant colonels who will complete nine years, 1 month of active duty service in grade as of 31 Dec. 1954.

No lists or recommendation in connection with these selections are required or desired to be submitted. A circular soon to be published will contain all names eligible for consideration and will include pertinent instructions.

Draft Status!

Selective Service has been asked to provide the Armed Forces with 550 physicians and 150 dentists during December 1954. The Army will get 100 of the physicians, the Navy 250, and the Air Force 200. All of the dentists will be assigned to the AF.

Aids in Catastrophe!

Peacetime Record of Sixth Army Conspicuous, Enviably

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the fifth of six articles dealing with the history of the Sixth Army. The information for the series was prepared by Headquarters Sixth Army TIE Section.)

Although much has been said about Sixth Army's birth and its brilliant combat record in World War II, it has also achieved an enviable peacetime record. Sixth Army is conspicuous in community life throughout the command. High public interest is represented in the frequent invitations

Sixth Army receives to participate with its bands, marching units, and displays in community parades fairs and celebrations. Westerners in great numbers visit posts and installations throughout Sixth Army to see army displays and demonstrations on annual Armed Forces Day.

One of the most important missions of an army in peacetime is military training. The Sixth Army, since the last half of 1948, has faced the demands of an expanded peacetime defense army in commendable fashion. When it became necessary for the United States Army to expand rapidly in the face of increased threats by Communism to the peace of the Western World, Sixth Army's Fort Lewis and Fort Ord became primary training centers for thousands of young Americans selected to man a larger army.

Subsequently, when the Communists struck without warning at the freedom-loving nations of the world by invading the Republic of Korea, the facilities of Camps Cooke, Roberts, San Luis Obispo, and Irwin, and Fort Huachuca were reopened and reactivated. These posts were given the job of training expanded active army units, and recalled Army Reserve and National Guard organizations, to provide the steady flow of replacements and combat units for American forces in the Far East.

The entire nation's efforts to support the United Nations action in Korea fell heavily upon the Sixth Army facilities from Seattle to Los Angeles. Sixth Army became the main supply point, and the secondary line of defense, against the plans of the Moscow-directed forces in Asia. Its ability to meet the emergency and accomplish the huge task, and to properly equip and train personnel, plus the building up of vast quantities of material, is an achievement that commands the respect and pride of every man in the Sixth Army today.

Twice since World War II Sixth Army has participated in two great history making events of the past decade. In September 1951 the Australia, New Zealand, United States pact for the joint defense of the Pacific area was signed in the enlisted personnel service club at the Presidio of San Francisco. Later the same month, when the Japanese peace treaty was signed in the San Francisco Municipal Opera House during which forty-nine allied nations were gathered, Sixth Army personnel were conspicuous. The Sixth Army provided honor and security guards, plus vehicles and drivers necessary for protections and transportation of hundreds of statesmen and officials who attended these history-making events.

Sixth Army is always ready to respond to public disasters or catastrophes occurring within its area. Illustrative of many such public calls for aid in which Sixth Army has responded in recent years are the Columbia National forest fire and later flood disaster in the state of Washington—the damaging, threatening blazes in the Santa Cruz mountains and on the Hunter-Liggett Reservation in California in 1948—and the famed Operations Snowbound and Haylift in January and February of 1949 in the states of Arizona, Nevada, and Utah. In this latter call for Sixth Army aid, hundreds of blizzard stalled motorists were rescued, snowbound cattle were saved from starvation by the widespread hay drop over thousands of acres of range land. All of this was done in sub-zero weather and recurring snowstorms.

(Next Week: Brilliant Leaders.)

Want a $1000 Prize?

What does America mean to you? Enter the 1954 Freedoms Foundation Contest. Send your letter of no more than 500 words to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, 1016 N. McCadden Place, Los Angeles 38, Calif. Your letter must bear your name, rank, service number, and organization.

It must be received before midnight Nov. 11, 1954. Letters received after that date will be considered for the next year's award. (AFPS)

POWs Decorated!

Nineteen more decorations have been awarded by the Army to former prisoners of war in Korea. More than 50 Army men have been decorated for their outstanding conduct while POWs.

From.....	Two Cents Postage
Address.....
Name.....
Street.....
City.....	Zone.....State.....
(Third Class Mail)

INSPECTING THE HONOR GUARD of the Presidio of San Francisco is Hugh M. Milton, II, assistant secretary of the Army for manpower and reserve, who visited Headquarters Sixth Army briefly last week. He is accompanied on his tour of inspection here by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander. At the left is Captain Eugene J. Gasior, commanding officer of the Honor Guard company. Mr. Milton conferred for two days with General Wyman and then departed for Los Angeles, California. A veteran of both World Wars I and II, he served as Chief of Staff, 16th Corps in the latter conflict, and was appointed a brigadier general in June 1945 while holding that post. He was promoted to major general in September 1951.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 15

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 10 September, 1954

Bon Voyage!

Army OKs Concurrent Travel To Europe for E-5, Above

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has authorized concurrent travel for dependents of military personnel in grade E-5 and above for certain locations in Europe.

The plan calls for two systems, automatic concurrent travel and advance application for concurrent travel.

The automatic system is authorized for all general officers and persons assigned to Germany who are designated to key personnel in PCS orders. It includes all eligible personnel assigned to elements of the Allied Command Europe, and all eligible personnel assigned to France whose individual orders specify Hq. EUCOM, 7750 AU.

Other personnel regularly allowed dependent travel who have orders assigning them to USAREUR and U.S. Forces Austria are authorized to submit advance applications for concurrent travel upon receipt of PCS orders or other official notice of assignment. These applications can be submitted under the procedure of DA Msg. 542866, dated Aug. 24, 1954, pending revision of SR 55-765-5.

Persons being assigned to Allied Command Europe with duty station at Paris will not have immediate access to Government quarters. Families are taken there by servicemen on their own responsibility and they must be prepared to defray expenses while seeking housing.

Those going to Hq. EUCOM must anticipate a waiting period of several months before being accommodated in a rental guarantee housing project. Similar housing conditions exist in Paris.

Persons assigned to USFA who submit advance applications for concurrent travel must accept certain conditions: command support for hotel accommodations will be only for a maximum of 14 days; private housing may be at an inconvenient distance from schools, PXs, medical care, etc.; and approval of concurrent travel will not decrease the normal waiting time for quarters.

When Government quarters or permanent housing are not available, Joint Travel Regulations provide for payment of station per diem at travel per diem rates for 45 days. However, this automatically ends when permanent housing is secured or on the 46th day. Payments revert to existing normal station per diem allowance at that time.

Some New Figures!

Latest Defense Department reports put the strength of the Armed Forces at 3,303,803 as of July 31, 1954. The Army strength was listed at 1,407,000, the Navy 718,403, Air Force 954,700, and Marine Corps 223,700. The figures represent full-time military personnel comprising both regulars and reserves on continuous active duty including cadets and midshipmen at West Point and Annapolis.

Want Some Bars?

The Army is looking for qualified enlisted personnel currently serving on active duty in grades E-6, E-5 and E-4 to apply for appointments as warrant officers in MOS 4806 (Fire Control Instrument Repair Officer) and MOS 4819 (Guided Missile Maintenance and Repair Officer). Applications may be submitted and processed in accordance with SR 140-106-1.

Iranian General Will Tour Area Installations

Major General Ahmad Vossoogh, chief of the Iranian Military Mission to the United States, visited Sixth Army Headquarters at the Presidio yesterday as part of a tour of military installations throughout the country.

Born in 1898, General Vossoogh was graduated from the French Military Academy at St. Cyr in 1924 and attended the Advanced Engineering School, Berlin, in 1932. He has been Deputy Minister of War and Commandant of the Gendarmerie. As Commanding General, 8th Division in 1946, he gained fame by holding a motorized parade of his rawest recruits, who hadn't yet learned to march, to convince the local Communists that he had been assigned an additional mechanized regiment.

The general will remain at the Presidio until Saturday when he will go to Fort Ord for a three-day visit. He will tour installations in Southern California and Nevada before returning to Washington, D. C.

Combat Leader!

Veteran Troop Commander Is Named As Presidio's New DPC

Colonel Carl E. Lundquist has been named Deputy Post Commander of the Presidio of San Francisco, replacing Colonel William F. Magill who retired from the Army last week. Colonel Lundquist's last assignment was Commanding Officer, 4th Infantry Regimental Combat Team, in Alaska.

Colonel Lundquist's Alaskan command included tank units and an anti-aircraft artillery group, in addition to the infantry regiment, artillery battalion and other smaller units of the combat team. His headquarters was located north of the Alaskan Range, and as regimental combat team commander, he was responsible for planning and conducting the defenses of the strategically important air bases and surrounding areas, utilizing the Army's most modern weapons system.

A native of Grand Rapids, Mich., Colonel Lundquist graduated from West Point in 1927. During the period prior to World War II he served with various infantry units in the United States and Hawaii and also attended the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., and the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kans.

From 1942 until January, 1944, he served with the Plans and Operations Section of Headquarters, European Theater of Operations, in England, then spent six months in a similar assignment with Allied Force Headquarters in Algiers and Caserta, Italy. During September and October, 1944, he commanded the 141st Infantry Regiment of the 36th Infantry Division, then driving up the Rhone Valley following the invasion of Southern France.

From October, 1944, until February, 1945, he was with the 44th Infantry Division. For a few weeks he was Acting Chief of Staff when that Division was commanded by Major General William F. Dean. From February, 1945, until early 1946 he commanded the 14th Infantry Regiment of the 71st Infantry Division, then commanded by Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, now Sixth Army Commander.

Following his wartime and occupation service with the 71st Division, Colonel Lundquist was assigned to Army Ground Forces Headquarters in Washington, D. C., and Fort Monroe, Va.

In 1948-49 he served as Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis. He then was assigned to command the 28th Infantry Regiment with the 8th Infantry Division. Later he served as Acting Assistant Division Commander until he was transferred to Alaska. After serving there as Chief of Staff for 6 months he assumed command of the 4th In-

Award Ceremony Today!

Major General William F. Dean, deputy commanding general of Sixth Army, will present the Silver Star to Captain Norman D. DeBord in today's Retreat Parade at 1630 hours. Others to be honored are Major Clarence L. Anderson, once a prisoner of the Communists in North Korea, Lt. Col. Edward Purdy, Lt. Col. Francis Palmer, Lt. Col. Charles J. Schauers, Captain Herman Kuhn and Captain Robert C. Burpo. Each will receive the Bronze Star Medal.

Colonel C. E. Lundquist

fantry Regimental Combat Team in Northern Alaska.

Colonel Lundquist has been decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross and has received two awards of the Silver Star and the Bronze Star for gallantry in action. His DSC was awarded for action against German SS troops in April, 1945, at Regenstauf, Germany.

He is married to the former Miss Thelma Davis of Grand Rapids, Mich. They have two children, Carl D., 18, attending the University of Alaska, and Jean, 14, who will attend school in San Francisco.

DOD Transportation Chief Will Address NDTA at Ft. Mason

San Francisco Bay Chapter, National Defense Transportation Association, today announced Earl B. Smith, Director of Transportation and Communications for the Department of Defense, would address the chapter and local transportation leaders Thursday, Sept. 16.

One of the nation's leading traffic men, Mr. Smith took leave of absence from his position of Vice President and Director of Traffic for General Mills, Inc., last year to head the Defense Department transportation agency. He is well known locally, having worked here in traffic positions for Missouri Pacific and General Mills.

His address on defense transportation will be presented at a dinner meeting of the NDTA Chapter at the Fort Mason Officers Club. Travis Green of Pacific Intermountain Express will preside.

Red Tape Diets!

The Army's "new look" calls for slimmer forms. Of the 33,000 forms and publications handled by The Adjutant General's Publication Division, about one out of five is due for a reduction in size or a reduction in the number of copies required. Many will be eliminated.

Recently Assigned

Major Houston W. Blackledge is now with the investigation and apprehension division, Provost Marshal section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

The major only recently completed two years as Headquarters commandant, Provost Marshal General center, Camp Gordon, Georgia, following which he attended the 14-week associate advanced officers course at Camp Gordon's Military Police school.

In Japan at the outbreak of the Korean conflict in July, 1950, Major Blackledge served 13 months in Korea as executive officer and S-3, 19th Military Police battalion. He returned to Japan in September, 1951, and spent the next year there as assistant Provost Marshal of Yokohama.

During World War II, the major, who has 14 years of Army service, was with Armored Tank Destroyer units and Military Police units in the ETO for a total of 42 months. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device, two Commendation Ribbons, four battle stars for the ETO and seven battle stars for Korea.

Major Richard M. Davis has returned from a year's service as Post troop officer, Fort Churchill, Manitoba, Canada.

Prior to that he spent two and one-half years at the San Francisco Port of Embarkation in the cargo traffic division, and is now beginning his second tour in the Bay Area as assistant chief of equipment and supplies division, Transportation section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In World War II, the major was with the 724th Field Artillery, 69th Infantry division initially, and later served at the Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation. Returning to this country after a four-year tour in the ETO, Major Davis transferred to Transportation corps in 1948.

He next went to Korea, serving with the 52nd Truck battalion, and returned to this country in November, 1950. In the Army for the past 14 years, Major Davis has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster. His home is in El Cerrito, California.

Major Nils F. Ugland has joined the manpower division, G-1 section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His most recent station was Fort MacArthur, California, where for seven months he was deputy G-1, and, for 20 months prior to that, assistant Inspector General at Camp Roberts, California.

In Korea, Major Ugland served 18 months with UNCAC, and during World War II, he served with the 94th Division in the ETO and later with the military government in Germany, his tour lasting from August, 1944, to November, 1947.

Decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantry Badge, four battle stars for the ETO and six battle stars for Korea, the major has been in the Army for 12 years.

Major Clarence E. Woods was recently assigned to the Post Engineering Section, Presidio of San Francisco, as assistant Engineer Property officer.

His last assignments were in the Far East, where, for 11 months in Korea, he was assistant chief, Engineer supply section, Korean Communications zone. Then, for the following 13 months, Major Woods was at the Yokohama Engineer Depot.

In the Army for more than 13 years, the major served throughout World War II, beginning with Normandy, in the ETO with the 1104th Engineer Combat Group, 19th Corps, 1st Army.

A graduate of the Engineer school, Fort Belvoir, Virginia, Major Woods was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal and one Oak Leaf Cluster for his European service, and a second Oak Leaf Cluster was awarded him in Korea.

Major Eugene A. Richter is a new member of the services division, G-4 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past three years, Major Richter has been in the Far East, first in Korea with the 74th Engineer Combat battalion, and later in Japan in the Engineer section of Headquarters AFCE. He also served as real estate officer for the Seoul area.

With a total of 23 years service, 12 of which are active and the remainder National Guard and Reserve time, the major served in Africa, Sicily and Italy during World War II, with the 345th Engineers. He later was real estate officer for the Southern district of Italy, remaining in the ETO for a period of four years.

Major Richter is a graduate of the Engineer school at Fort Belvoir, Virginia. His wife and two children have accompanied him here to his new station.

CWO Norman L. Quigg has begun his new assignment as assistant Post adjutant, Presidio of San Francisco.

After serving 14 months with the 172nd Infantry Regiment in Munich, Germany, Mr. Quigg was hospitalized and evacuated by air to the United States. He was hospitalized and released, served a brief tour at Camp Stoneman, California, and entered Letterman Army hospital, where he has been until now.

In the Army for 21 years, Mr. Quigg was enlisted until May 1942 when he received his warrant. He previously served at the Presidio from 1936 to 1942 with what was then the 9th Corps Area Headquarters.

Assigned to the Philippines in 1946, Mr. Quigg served there for 27 months in the AG section, Philippines command. He has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon.

CWO Joseph F. Trasher, who recently changed his category from AAA to Post Office, is now assigned to the 16th Base Post Office, Presidio of San Francisco.

He has just completed a year's duty as unit administrator, 56th AAA Gun battalion, Fort Monroe, Virginia.

In the Army for the past 19 years, Mr. Trasher was at Pearl Harbor with AAA installations at the outbreak of World War II. He remained in the Pacific from July 1941 to February 1945.

With the Berlin, Germany Military post from January 1947 to December 1951, Mr. Trasher received his warrant while serving there in 1950. Mr. Trasher's wife and four children have accompanied him here to his new assignment.

During the last year of the Korean war, the U. S. Army allocated 28,000 long tons of grain per month for relief in the Republic of Korea. Of this amount, 26,000 long tons were distributed free to needy persons and 2,000 tons set aside for emergencies.

Army Slates Seven Field Exercises For Fiscal '55

Washington (AFPS) — Seven major field exercises have been scheduled by the Army for fiscal year 1955.

More than 60,000 troops will participate in the operations, starting in November and ending next June. The locations for the exercises will range from Alaska to the Panama Canal Zone.

Here are the details on the seven exercises:

Hail Storm—Nov. '54-Apr. '55; Camp Hale, Colo.; two RCT's from 8th Inf. Div.; will provide training in mountain operations under winter conditions.

Snow Bird—Jan.-Feb. '55; Alaska; one RCT from 11th Airborne Div.; will provide joint Army-Air Force training under Arctic conditions.

Surf Board—Feb.-Mar. '55; Naval Amphibious Base, Pacific, Camp Pendleton, Calif., and Ft. Lewis, Wash.; one RCT from 44th Inf. Div.; to provide training for an RCT in a ship-to-shore movement.

High Tide—Mar.-Apr. '55; Naval Amphibious Base, Little Creek, Va., and New River, N. C.; 278th RCT minus one BCT; will provide training for an RCT in a ship-to-shore movement.

Apple Jack—May '55; Yakima Military Reservation, Wash.; 44th Inf. Div. minus one RCT; will provide training in organization of battlefield in mountainous and desert conditions.

Jungle Jim—May-June '55; Panama; one RCT from 11th Airborne Div.; will provide training in jungle operations.

Fire Ball—May-June '55; Ft. Bragg-Camp Mackall, N. C.; 82nd Airborne Div.; will provide training for division in preparation for Exercise Sage Brush scheduled for fiscal year 1956.

New Helicopter

The first H-21C "work horse" helicopter to be delivered to the United States Army was formally accepted recently by Major General Paul F. Yount, Chief of Transportation of the Department of the Army. The ceremony took place at the plant of the Piasecki Helicopter Corporation in nearby Morton. The helicopters are equipped primarily to transport troops, equipment and supplies.

QM Chief Will Speak!

QM Groups' Annual Meeting Slated for Next Thursday

Major General Kester L. Hastings, the Quartermaster General of the Army, will be the guest speaker at a meeting and banquet of the Northern California Chapter, Quartermaster Association, to be held Thursday evening, 16 September, 1954, at the Presidio Officers Club.

The Northern California Chapter of the Quartermaster Association is composed of officers of the Regular Army, the National Guard, the Organized Reserves, key civilians in the federal government, and leaders of industry. The Chapter presently has a membership of 460 persons. Many of the members are outstanding business leaders in the fields of Textiles, Chemicals, Petroleum, Banking, Food, etc., representing approximately 40 different companies in the Northern California area.

General Hastings is the 35th Quartermaster General of the Army since that office was established by the Continental Congress in 1775. A native of Lewiston, Idaho, he was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy in 1918, served with the Infantry at Camp Hancock, Georgia, and with the Third Infantry in Germany. He was Senior Instructor for the first West Point Preparatory School at Camp Grant, Illinois, in 1920, and was Adjutant at Ft. Wayne, Michigan.

Subsequent service was with the Fourth Infantry at Ft. Wright, Spokane, Washington, and with the 27th Infantry at Kilauea Military Camp, Hawaii, where he became Assistant Provost Marshal for the Hawaiian Department. After serving with the Army Medical Center, Washington, D. C., he was transferred to the Quartermaster Corps in 1934.

Following assignments at Ft. Douglas, Utah, and the Oregon (Utah) Ordnance Depot, he was in charge of operational construction of military camps in the United States in 1940-41, and subsequently served as Assistant to the Quartermaster at the Army War College.

He was assigned to the Office of the Quartermaster General in 1942 where he filled various key staff positions, becoming Director of Personnel and Training Division in 1947, and Chief of the Memorial Division in 1948. He was Quartermaster, Far East Command, from

Maj. Gen. Kester L. Hastings

May 1949 to September 1952. Prior to his appointment as the Quartermaster General of the Army, 5 February 1954, General Hastings served as Deputy Quartermaster General and as the Acting Quartermaster General.

General Hastings is presently visiting several installations within the Sixth Army Area in connection with Quartermaster activities. (REB)

ROK Ambassador Cites US Troops' Generosity

Washington (AFPS)—American servicemen have been paid a fine tribute by Republic of Korea Ambassador to the U. S., Dr. You Chan Yang.

"Your soldiers," he said, "have contributed almost $20,000,000 from their slim pocketbooks to help save our war orphans."

"Everybody in Korea has seen the Americans come, not only with guns, but with candy and baseball bats. Their feeling for the children, their human relations, has been more important than winning a battle in the front lines."

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve a Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

YOU HAVE YOUR PICK

HIGHER TAXES

ECONOMY

Higher Taxes or ECONOMY it's your choice CHOOSE NOW

Cpl. Jim Lund and Gun Collection.

Shootin' Irons!

Fort Scott Engineer Collects, Rebuilds Antique Fire Arms

One of the most interesting hobbies pursued by any member of the 30th Engineer Group is the rare firearms collection of Cpl. Jim Lund, a member of the 21st Engineer Co. (Base Photomapping), located at Fort Winfield Scott.

A resident of Oakland, Cpl. Lund has a collection of over 24 antique weapons valued at over $3,000. The collection consists principally of Colt pistols and Winchester rifles. It includes the famous Winchester "73" as well as an Arabian flintlock model believed to be 250 years old.

The Arabian model was purchased by Jim's father on a recent trip to the Near East, but almost all the remainder of the collection was gathered by Lund at various auctions, antique shops and rummage sales. All of the weapons are fireable, but usually are in condition far from serviceable when purchased by Lund. This often means that an intensive rebuilding job must be accomplished before a weapon is again rendered effective. A weapon in almost irreparable condition can be made nearly new in Lund's complete basement workshop located in his home. The shop is outfitted with all types of lathes, dies and various parts necessary in the rebuilding process of an antique firearm. Every step in rebuilding can be performed by Lund.

Cpl. Lund's hobby goes beyond collecting and repairing antique guns. He has made hand carved and stitched holsters for his Colts, and together with bullet molds, dies, and a ballistic table, he can produce any bullet needed to augment his miniature arsenal.

He emphasized that there is a desired limit to the degree of rebuilding a weapon, and that after reaching a certain point the antique value is definitely destroyed. This necessitates a complete knowledge of all phases of gunsmithing, as one missing spring can render a valuable antique virtually worthless.

Cpl. Lund compares his hobby with stamp collecting, in that there is much trading among gun enthusiasts. He points out that a man who knows his business is the man who gets the best buys, and obviously Cpl. Jim Lund does.

Something New?

A policy of reenlistment furloughs in an effort to help reenlistments and recruiting was started by Gen. George Washington on Jan. 14, 1776.

The United States Congress appropriated more than $50,000,000 for fiscal years 1950-1953 to pay for engineering, signal and transportation supplies and equipment used in Korean rehabilitation.

Cancer Program Here Is Termed Highly Successful

More than 6,000 persons, both military and civilian, on the Presidio of San Francisco, participated in an immense cancer education program conducted here for the past two weeks.

They observed posters, attended movies and asked questions about that capital dread—cancer.

The American Cancer Society, in cooperation with Post officials, distributed the literature and posters to the most accessible points on the installation and its sub-posts.

Male personnel attended the movie on lung cancer titled, "The Warning Shadow," as this type cancer is found to be most common in men.

The second week of the education campaign was devoted to female personnel who viewed the movie, "Breast Self-Examination," this type cancer being most common to them. Medical officers were present to answer questions at each showing.

Since one out of every seven deaths in this country last year was due to cancer, officials here hoped that all who participated in this program are now fully aware of its dangers and are prepared to follow through when any of its danger signals are noted.

According to Colonel Harry Spitz, Post surgeon, "the attendance was truly indicative of the public's concern for this disease. We can therefore surely say that the campaign to put it before them was truly a success."

Jewish High Holy Days Begin 27 September

Jewish Rosh Hashanah (New Year) will begin at sundown 27 September and end at sundown 29 September. Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) begins at sundown 6 October and ends at sundown 7 October.

All Jewish personnel and their dependents were reminded of these High Holy days today, and invited to attend the religious services at the synagogue of their choice in the San Francisco Bay area.

Seating accommodations may be made by phoning the Sixth Army Chaplain's office, Ext. 2521 or 4192, or by writing or calling the National Jewish Welfare board, 1005 Market street, UNDERhill 3-0620.

MERITORIOUS SERVICE in Korea as a member of the 16th Signal Detachment, attached to the 205 Signal Company (Repair) during the period 19 March 1953 to 1 July 1954, brought to Captain Warren L. Hurst award of the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant. It was presented to him by Colonel P. H. Wollaston, commanding officer of the 30th AAA Group, of which Captain Hurst is now a member. Captain Hurst's service in Korea included "outstanding performance of duty by supplying units of the 8th Army Field Artillery with vital firing data which was needed for subsequent destruction of enemy mortar and artillery location."

Here's Your Opportunity!

High School Diplomas Offered To Military in TI&E Program

All military personnel who have not completed high school or received a high school diploma now have a chance to do so under the Post T.I.&E. program. Beginning 13 September 1954, the fall session features classes on Post. The completion of only 20 units of work, or four subjects, and completion of the GED test is all that is required for qualification for a high school diploma, issued by the San Francisco Unified School Districts.

Ordinarily, a person spends about 4,000 hours in high school before completing requirements for the diploma. Under this program only 192 hours is required—less than five per cent of the time ordinarily spent in high school work.

Students may enroll in the fall session for four subjects, attending four nights a week, or two subjects, attending two nights a week. Attending four nights a week, the student will complete his requirements by January. Enrolling in two subjects, two nights a week, the student will complete his requirements in June, 1955, at the end of the Spring session.

There is no expense involved in the program whatsoever. All text books, tuition, and diploma are free.

Classes available are Mathematics, on Monday night, U. S. History and Constitution on Tuesday, General Science on Wednesday, and English on Thursday. All classes are held from 1800 to 2100 hours in Building 117.

In order to enroll for a high school diploma, see the Educational Counselor in Building 117, Ext. 3189. Classes must be attended regularly; when military duty interferes, make-up work is classified as attendance. Upon completion of the courses, the High School GED test must be passed with a score above 35.

Fifteen students who have recently completed the course requirements will receive their high school diplomas in the near future.

Twenty-two students completed their requirements and were granted their high school diplomas in June of this year. Candidates for diplomas from the San Francisco Unified School District in the near future are:

Sfc. James W. Baker, Hq. Co. 6002 SU; Sfc. Randall J. Blackman, Hq. 9th AAA Bn., Ft. Scott; Pfc. William T. Catterauld, 6th Army Band; Pfc. Arthur K. Davis, 315th Engr. Co., Ft. Baker; M/Sgt. Al

Heidler, Hq. Co. 6th Army; Sgt. Robert L. Kolodji, 315th Engr. Co., Ft. Baker; Sgt. Oliver W. Lane, 6513 SU, Calif. Military District; Sgt. Robert L. Lutz, 6000 SU; M/Sgt. Stanley W. Psuiki, Hq. 46th Ord. Grp.; Sfc. Dorrie Ross, 6002 ASU WAC Det.; M/Sgt. Juan F. Santos, 9956 TSU SGO LAH; A2/C Edward R. Seales, 13 Crash Boat Det., Ft. Baker; Pfc. Otha T. Terry, 6002 ASU Det. 1; Cpl. James C. Thomson, 6th Army Band.

Operation Glory Starts

Korea (AFPS) — The bodies of 193 Americans and seven soldiers of unknown nationality have been shipped to the demilitarized zone by the Communists in the first day of Operation Glory. Under the terms of the agreement, the Reds will exchange the bodies of 4,011 American and Allied soldiers for the remains of 14,061 North Korean and Chinese dead.

Strong Reserve Tops Presidential Aims in Congress

Washington (AFPS) — The establishment of an adequate military reserve will be the number one item submitted to Congress next year. President Eisenhower made that statement in his address to the American Legion's 36th annual convention here.

In his speech, the President outlined the dangers of communistic imperialism, stating that we must stand firm with our allies in the cause of united freedom, and asserted that the U. S. now has the most powerful and efficient fighting force ever maintained short of all-out war.

"For a century and a half," he said, "the Republic has prided itself on its refusal to maintain large standing military forces. We have relied, instead, upon the civilian soldier. . . . We have failed miserably to maintain that strong, ready military reserve in which we have believed for 150 years."

He stated that we must now build and maintain that reserve, abandoning wishful thinking and political timidity.

"Establishment of an adequate military reserve," he said, "will be a number one item submitted to the Congress next year."

He stressed that this reserve plan would not unfairly burden men who have already served. The Administration, he said, would see to that.

"As we contemplate this powerful military system," he concluded, "we must always remind ourselves that we maintain it only because we must; we must remember that armaments alone cannot provide for the world a future that is secure and peaceful and filled with promise for humankind."

The Army will operate 74 maintenance shops in the United States and 73 shops overseas during the next 12 months.

I Am American Day Observance Features Band

Next Sunday evening, the I Am an American Day observance will be opened in front of the War Memorial Opera House by the Sixth Army Band, under the baton of Chief Warrant Officer Erling H. Erlandson.

The featured soloist with the band will be vocalist Cpl. Richard Armbrust, first place winner in the recent Army TV talent search on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town."

The band will alternate military music with symphonic arrangements of popular favorites in an outdoor concert which will begin at 6:30 p. m. and continue until the opera house doors open to an inspiring patriotic program climaxed with a broadcast of the famous Standard Hour at 7:30.

The Standard Symphony Orchestra will be under the direction of the famed conductor Carmen Dragon and guest stars will include Metropolitan Opera favorites Claramae Turner and Brian Sullivan.

"I Am An American" Day was originated many years ago by the Hearst Newspapers. It is an annual occasion on which Americans are urged to re-emphasize their devotion to the principles which made America great.

No tickets will be necessary for admission to the opera house celebration which is open to the public without charge.

Winfield Scott School Greets New Parents

A welcoming reception for new parents of Winfield Scott school children will be held in the school's auditorium Monday from 0900 to 1000. The school is located at Divisadero and Beach streets in San Francisco.

Mrs. Lyle B. Straus, president of Winfield Scott P.T.A., Mrs. H. P. Calvert and Mrs. Charles Frolli, co-chairmen for hospitality, Mrs. George Weiss, chairman of hostesses and Mrs. Charles Berry, membership chairman, are in charge of arrangements for this get-acquainted hour, in cooperation with Miss Anne B. Haigh, the school's principal.

The Army Signal Corps maintains 333 film libraries, 186 in the United States and 147 overseas.

A Warm Glow!

Richmond Provides AAA Unit With Hospitality of all Kinds

Would A Battery of the 752nd AAA Gun battalion, "dug in" on a peak overlooking the city of Richmond in East Bay, trade places with any of their "brother" batteries? Not if they can help it!

Reason being, A Battery, with its approximately 100 men, has been welcomed into the city of Richmond and its every major function, in a way that lights a fire in your heart.

3 College Classes To Be Given Here In TI&E Program

A program of college grade courses to be given at the Presidio is currently being planned for the next eight-week session by the Post TI&E office. These courses are designed to meet the requirements of an AB degree.

No prerequisites are required to take the courses and it is not necessary to have a high school diploma to enroll. The units of credit are transferable at full value.

Three courses are being offered this session in sociology, science, and the Far East.

The sociology course, Soc. 140, is titled "Social Psychology." This course will cover by lecture and discussion the major topics relating to interpersonal relations with emphasis on individual and group behavior. The class will be given Monday and Wednesday evenings beginning 15 September in Building 1101. The instructor will be Dr. Daniel L. Adler.

The science course, Physical Science 34, "The Physical World," is concerned with the basic concepts of the natural world and their social significance. Dr. Maurice Anderson will instruct.

International Relations 194, "The Far East," is concerned with recent national and international developments in the Trans-Pacific area. This class will be given on Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning 16 September and the instructor will be Dr. Donald Castleberry.

Large Light Army Tank Self-Propelled Howitzer With Speed of 35 Miles

The Army Ordnance Corps recently put on a public display for the first time of a new mobile weapon called the MM-44 self-propelled howitzer.

Described as the biggest and heaviest unit in the Army's new "light tank family," the MM-44 is a full-tracked armored combat vehicle for close support of rapidly moving armored columns and standard infantry divisions.

The vehicle has a top speed of thirty-five miles an hour and a cruising range of seventy-six miles. It can go anywhere a tank can go, has a crew of five, and mounts a 135 mm. gun.

It is said to be the Army's most mobile medium howitzer and it is disclosed that it can be put into action faster than any other medium field artillery piece.

It is powered by a six-cylinder, air-cooled engine developed especially for it and is armored to provide protection from small arms for crew members.

In addition to the howitzer the firing range of which was not disclosed, the unit will carry some smaller guns. It has provisions for radio and intercommunications systems.

Ever since Mr. D. K. Rowell, general manager of Richmond's huge Standard Oil Refinery plant, and Lt. George W. Mills, who commands A Battery, got together, the nicest things have been happening.

For instance, all of the major movie houses in downtown Richmond admit A Battery men for the small price of 25 cents—matching the Army's price of admission to their own theaters.

And free tickets are presented to the men for each of the major dancing parties held in the area, the most recent being the Labor Day dance. The local AF of L cooperates in this venture.

Then there are the boxing matches, big exciting things held in the Richmond Municipal auditorium. And every time one is held, 10 topnotch reserved seats are filled with uniformed men from A Battery—all for free, too! Besides Mr. Rowell, the men have Police Sergeant Rodden of the Richmond police force to thank for this one.

Sgt. Rodden, in addition to his fight-night promotions, is a frequent visitor to the battery, where he has presented programs on civil law, misdemeanors and allied subjects. He has also conducted the men of the battery on guided tours through Richmond's civic center.

Getting back to Mr. Rowell, who holds frequent conferences with Lt. Mills on what more he and the other citizens of Richmond can do to make A Battery men happy, on Wednesday and Thursday next, he will take 40 men from the battery, 20 each day, and give them a tour of the Standard Oil plant.

"In other words," said Lt. Mills, "there is always something being planned for A Battery's men. Everyone seems to want to make us feel at home in their city and do things for us."

"While we have been able to conduct a few of them through our facility, such as on Armed Forces Day when we had open house, there is little else that it is possible for us to do for these good people except to say 'Thank you' as heartily as we can. I know, however, that the treatment we have received here has been a big factor in keeping our demerits such as AWOL's, apprehensions and the like, to practically nil."

"And just this week we learned that we had been awarded the Best Mess plaque for the month of August in competition with all the batteries throughout the entire 30th AAA Group of which we are a part," the lieutenant said.

The battery has been functioning in its present location for more than two years.

Every day approximately 620 Americans die of cancer. That amounts to one cancer death every two and one-third minutes, according to the American Cancer Society.

Last year, cancer of the lung killed 22,000 Americans, about six times as many as in 1933 the American Cancer Society says.

ALWAYS SOMETHING NEW is being planned for the men of A Battery, 752nd AAA Gun Battalion, to brighten their lonely vigil manning an anti-aircraft installation atop a hill near Richmond, California. Here are the men responsible for innovations in Richmond's entertainment fields that have made the men welcome guests. They are l to r, Lt. George W. Mills, A Battery Commander; Mr. D. K. Rowell, general manager of the Standard Oil Refinery Company plant in Richmond, and Major A. Decker, commanding officer of the 752nd AAA Battalion.

"STAY FOR CHOW," urged the men of A Battery, 752nd AAA Gun Battalion, so Mr. D. K. Rowell, who makes frequent trips to the battery with entertainment offerings for these young men, decided to try out the cooking, which in August, was judged best among all the batteries of the 30th AAA Group. Shown with Mr. Rowell in the battery mess hall is, l to r: Sgt. Raymond Gutierrez, Sgt. Mark Clary and Pvt. Carlton R. Duncan.

WIDENING HIS EDUCATION on things military is Mr. D. K. Rowell, general manager of Richmond's Standard Oil Refinery plant, who has been the major representative of the city of Richmond in offering it's many leisure time facilities to the men of A Battery either at no cost or at greatly reduced prices. Here Mr. Rowell admires the new paint and stencil job done by Cpl. Roland J. Dostal on his helmet. Lt. George W. Mills, battery commander, watches.

Signal Start!

Interest in the deaf mutes' sign language led an Army doctor, Albert J. Myer, to experiment in the 1850's with flag and torch communications. In 1863 Dr. Myer's research led to the establishment of the U. S. Signal Corps with Dr. Myer appointed first Chief Signal Officer.

The Army maintains elementary and high schools for dependent children in four major overseas commands dispersed throughout the world over an area of approximately 250,000 square miles.

A 64-foot cargo parachute costs the Army approximately $667. A 100-foot cargo chute is valued at $1,581.

Tons of Tons!

In sizing up its depot workload for the next 12 months, the Army estimates 66 depots in the United States and 68 overseas commands will receive approximately 8,900,000 (M) short tons, ship more than 10,000,000 (M) tons, and maintain in storage nearly 16,000,000 (M) tons of material.

Warblers Wanted!

Elimination Contest to Decide Best Presidio Soldier Singer

The Presidio elimination contest in the Second All-Army Soldier Singing Contest will be conducted approximately the 18th of October, 1954, it was announced by the Service Club recently.

The purpose of the elimination contest is to select the first place winning entries in each of the ten classes of competition who will represent this command in the All-Army Grand Finals which will be held in January 1955.

Entries can be made in the following classes: popular singer, classical singer, country and western, spiritual (from 3-5 man groups), open ensemble (from 3-5 man groups), Army Band Chorus (12 men or more), battalion or regimental chorus (12 men or more), post or division (24 men or more), singing platoon (from 25-40 men).

The purpose of the All-Army Singing Contest is to improve morale, encourage formation of organized singing groups which will continue to function after the contest, and to interest leading segments of the music world in the development and support of an active soldier singing program.

Classes of competition are wide enough in scope to include every type of vocalist and all Army personnel currently on active duty are eligible to enter the forthcoming contest. Entries can be made in more than one class and names may be submitted by telephone to the Presidio Service Club.

Contestants will be judged on a basis of the full scope of their singing techniques, appearance, and choice of material. The judging in the Grand Finals will be aimed at the selection of the overall winner in each of the 10 classes of competition.

Judges will include officials on leading music organizations or periodicals such as "The Billboard," Metropolitan Opera Association, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America, Incorporated, National Association of Teachers of Singing, "Downbeat," National Music Council, Broadcast Music Incorporated, Music Educators National Conference, and the National Recreation Association.

Service Club to Host Show, Kickoff Football Dance in Coming Week

A pair of entertainment events that can be marked down as "special" will highlight the coming week at the Presidio Service club.

Sunday night's stage presentation will be the Faye Christie troupe under the title of the "Melody Dance Revue."

Among those who will perform will be Isabel Starr, who has appeared in stage and TV shows. She will do a "Blues tap" specialty.

Also in the cast is 11-year-old Joanne Perdigone, who will perform a Hawaiian acrobatic number. There will also be singing and instrumental skits as well as laugh sequences.

Then on Thursday night, at the regular weekly Post dance, a "kick-off" ceremony will be held honoring the Presidio Red Raiders football team and the candidates for queen of the team.

The queen will be crowned at intermission amid special decor featuring the team colors, and music specially arranged by Cpl. Richard Douty of the Sixth Army band combo who will furnish the dance music.

Ford Watercolor Exhibit on Show At Library Monday

An exhibition of 50 original watercolor paintings will be on display in the Presidio Service Club and Post Library, Monday through Friday, 24 September, it was announced by Presidio Arts and Crafts Section this week.

The paintings were chosen from a collection of over two thousand contemporary watercolors assembled during the past several years for publication in the Ford Times and the Lincoln-Mercury Times. These particular pictures were selected to present, in a single show, the widest possible variety of subjects, geographical location and technique.

Examples of gouache, casein, and tempera may be found—all watercolor variations, with water as the vehicle.

For the most part these paintings are by artists best classified as regional: they live and work in a region that particularly appeals to them; therefore they paint its scenes and activities with unusual warmth and fidelity.

Any Presidio soldier therefore, no matter what part of the nation he hails from, is likely to find something familiar in at least one of the paintings, and will enjoy the exhibit as a whole.

The works are currently on a tour of the larger installations in the Sixth Army area under the auspices of Special Services, Sixth Army.

Brochures of artists and subject matter being shown will be available in the Presidio Officers' Club, Presidio Service Club, Fort Baker Service Club and Post Library starting Monday.

Cinema Previews

"KHYBER PATROL," F*. Because of his undisciplined attacks on wild tribesmen of India, Richard Egan is asked to resign his commission when one of his plans results in his entire command being wiped out. Instead of resigning, Egan tries to redeem himself with a daring scheme to defeat the enemy.

"ROGUE COP," F*. Drama of the underworld and of a police detective who tries to play both sides of the law and becomes the butt of a crime syndicate.

"THREE HOURS TO KILL," M. He came back to tear the town apart! Dana Andrews, as the near victim of a frontier town's attempted lynching, returns after three years to claim his vengeance in every way he can. Not for the kiddies!

"THE CAINE MUTINY," F*. Based on the Pulitzer prize-winning best seller by Herman Wouk, the events lead up to the executive officer's seizure of command of the USS Caine from its captain, played by Humphrey Bogart, at the height of a typhoon and what happens afterwards.

"DANGEROUS MISSION," F*. Tense story of a manhunt for a killer who in turn, is seeking a witness to his crime to prevent her from testifying against him.

"THE COWBOY," F*. A documentary western of that great American institution—the American cowboy, as told by Tex Ritter and William Conrad. F*—Family M—Mature

Army Information School Starts Classes At Fort Slocum

Ft. Slocum, N. Y. (AFPS) — Classes in Public Information and Troop Information and Education are under way at the Army Information School here with a full enrollment of 257.

The eight-week school is under the policy supervision of the Chief of Information, Department of the Army, and the office of the Chief of Army Field Forces.

Maj. Gen. Gilman C. Mudgett, Chief of Information, USA, attended the opening day ceremonies.

Red Stepping Stone!

The Strategic Baltic Area Next Week's TI&E Topic

On 8 April, 1950, the Soviet Air Force shot down an unarmed American Navy plane off the Baltic coast of Latvia. On 16 June, 1952, two Soviet MIGs shot down an unarmed Swedish flying boat over the Baltic Sea. In March, 1953, a Soviet satellite, Poland, seized and held 6 Danish fishing boats for 3 days in a Baltic port.

In these and many other ways, the U.S.S.R. has continued to try to turn the Baltic Sea into a Soviet lake.

The TIC topic for next week will answer this question, "Why are the Soviets guarding this Baltic area so jealously?"

The two points that the conference will put across will be that the Baltic links the northern outposts of free Europe, the Scandinavian countries, with the Soviet Empire. The Baltic is the only all-weather exit to the oceans and to the land-locked Soviets it is vital to gain year round use and control of this body of water, since it is an important location for possible bases for Soviet attack against the free world.

For generations, Russia has tried to acquire "warm water" ports from which its ships could operate all year round. The Soviets now have such ports on the Baltic. However, except in summer, ships from these ports still have to use the south Baltic exit to reach ocean waters. At present this all-weather route is in Western hands. To the free world, it is vital that it should remain so.

Unofficial press reports also indicate that about one-third of the Soviet submarine fleet, along with some other naval units, is based in the Baltic. In event of war with the U.S.S.R. it would be crucially important to the West to bottle up the Soviet fleet there. The free world would lose an advantage if the Soviets could move their submarines through the Danish-Swedish outlet from the Baltic.

The Kremlin has taken such a comparatively mild attitude toward Finland probably because, at present, it pays off. An independent Finland helps keep Sweden officially neutral and supplies certain useful goods, as well as an example of Red "tolerance" valuable for Soviet propaganda purposes. Besides, by now, only armed force could impose communism on the unwilling Finns. They have seen its evils at close range. Thus any armed move by the Soviets would be costly, and, incidentally, might drive Sweden into an alliance with the West.

Special Entertainment At NCO Club Saturday

Saturday night can and will be great fun at the Presidio NCO mess.

"Come as You Are," is what they are saying and the evening will be full of music, dancing, prizes and free food.

Everything begins at 1900 hours and continues until 0100. Reservations may be made by calling Ext. 3360, 3462 or 5372.

Family Housing!

Congress has agreed on a family housing bill which will be the first step in a long-range program of improving the living quarters of military dependents. The plan approved calls for an expenditure of about $175 million for a total of about 13,000 family units. One of the late amendments added to the bill by the Senate authorizes acquisition of 5000 trailers to be rented to military personnel.

Some Western observers believe that the Soviets intend to use their growing military strength in the Baltic to try to gain control of the entire area. At present, only the Scandinavian countries are independent. As long as they remain so, these countries can be counted on as a big element of strength on the side of the free world. If they should fall to the Soviets, the West would be in greater danger than it is now.

That's why we agree with other free nations who don't want the Baltic to become a Soviet lake.

New Arrivals

Birth to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:
26 August: S/Sgt. and Mrs. William McKay, 13th Res. Bt. Flt., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

30 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Stanley R. Au, Marine Corps Supply, Fwd., Annex, Sfc; Sgt. and Mrs. Luis Castaneda, Det. 1, 6002 SU, USFC; Sfc. and Mrs. Glenn E. Morgan, Hq. 6th Army, Det. 1, 6000 SU, PSFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Charles J. Smith, Cp. Stoneman, Calif.

31 August: Sgt. and Mrs. Regnold Dewar, 22nd Field Maint. Sq., March AFB, Calif; Sgt. and Mrs. Orlanda Justice, 16th BPO, USFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Jack W. Rice, Honor Gd., 6002 SU, Ft. Scott, Calif.

1 September: Sgt. and Mrs. William A. Sheets, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Melvin Townsend, 839 Port Co., OAB, Calif.

2 September: Pfc. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Brink, Det. 1, 6002 SU, USFC; Cpl. and Mrs. William C. Chaney, HS Co. 297 EAB, Beale AFB, Calif.

3 September: Pfc. and Mrs. Edward Hastain, Ft. Mason, Calif.

4 September: Pfc. and Mrs. Walter H. Monk, Hq. Det., 660th Engr. Bn., Ft. Scott, PSFC; Pvt. and Mrs. Confessor D. Rosario, Bldg. T-4953, Ft. Ord, Calif; A/IC and Mrs. Frank M. Scholz, Hq. Sq. Sec., 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

5 September: T/Sgt. and Mrs. Harold L. Hamilton, 566 Supply Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Buford L. Robinson, 9956 TU, LAH, USFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Jerry D. Wilson, Hq. Det., 30th Engr., USFC.

6 September: A/IC and Mrs. Marvin R. Jones, 325 Fitr. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

Sons to:
29 August: HN and Mrs. Robert G. Crawford, USMC Dept. of Pac, SFC.

30 August: Sfc. and Mrs. Douglas D. Johnsen, 102nd MRU, USFC; Lt. and Mrs. James A. Kellett, 315 Engr. Co. (PC) PSFC; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Raymond D. Rumford, Hq. Sq., Sec., 566 AD Gp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

31 August: Pvt. and Mrs. Jack Ogden, Ward B-2, LAH, USFC.

1 September: Sfc. and Mrs. Walter V. Haisey, Btry. B, 752nd AAA Bn., Ft. Barry, Calif.

2 September: Cpl. and Mrs. Randolph G. Miller, Hq. and Hq. Btry. 9, AAA, Bn., Ft. Baker, Calif; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Evan G. Ross, 566 Fld. Maint. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

3 September: Cpl. and Mrs. William C. Grier, AFCE Asgmt. Team, OAB, Calif; A/IC and Mrs. Vernon Lee Riley, 566th Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

4 September: Pfc. and Mrs. Eddie C. Heimann, 521st Engr. Co. (TOPO Avia.) Ft. Scott, Calif; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Leonard Marsh, Armed Serv. Police, TI, Calif.; A/IC and Mrs. Richard D. Stanard, 5025 Instr. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

5 September: A/IC and Mrs. Charles E. Massie, 566th Supply Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif; A/2C and Mrs. Wellington D. Palmer, Mtr. Veh. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

6 September: A/IC and Mrs. Kenneth A. Bare, Armed Serv. Police, TI, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. John L. Chapman, 521st Engr. Co. (TOPO Avn.), USFC; Sgt. and Mrs. David G. Dale, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC.

Moonbeam!

The U. S. Army Signal Corps first made contact by radar with the moon in February, 1951. Known as "Project Diana," Signal Corps engineers bounced a beam off the moon's surface and received it back in approximately 2½ seconds.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE
Friday, 10 September—"Khyber Patrol," with Richard Egan and Dawn Addams.

Saturday, 11 September—"Rogue Cop," with Robert Taylor and Janet Leigh.

Sunday, 12 September and Monday, 13 September—(Cinemascope) "Three Coins in the Fountain," with Clifton Webb, Jean Peters, Dorothy McGuire and Maggie McNamara.

Tuesday, 14 September—"Three Hours to Kill," with Dana Andrews and Donna Reed.

Wednesday, 15 September and Thursday, 16 September—(Cinemascope) "King of the Khyber Rifles," with Tyrone Power and Terry Moore.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 10 September—"Man Crazy," with Neville Brand and Christine White.

Saturday, 11 September—"Three Hours to Kill," with Dana Andrews and Donna Reed.

Sunday, 12 September—"Khyber Patrol," with Richard Egan and Dawn Addams.

Tuesday, 14 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer and Van Johnson.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 10 September—"Rogue Cop," with Robert Taylor and Janet Leigh.

Monday, 13 September—"Khyber Patrol," with Richard Egan and Dawn Addams.

Wednesday, 15 September—"Dangerous Mission," with Victor Mature and Piper Laurie.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 12 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer and Van Johnson.

Tuesday, 14 September—"Khyber Patrol," with Richard Egan and Dawn Addams.

Thursday, 16 September—"Dangerous Mission," with Victor Mature and Piper Laurie.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 10 September—"That Man from Tangier," with Nils Astor and Nancy Coleman.

Saturday, 11 September—"Khyber Patrol," with Richard Egan and Dawn Addams.

Sunday, 12 September and Monday, 13 September—"Rogue Cop," with Robert Taylor and Janet Leigh.

Tuesday, 14 September—"Man Crazy," with Neville Brand and Christine White.

Wednesday, 15 September—"The Cowboy," A documentary western as told by Tex Ritter and William Conrad.

Thursday, 16 September—"Three Hours to Kill," with Dana Andrews and Donna Reed.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 10 September—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 11 September—Tony's dance class, 1930; fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 12 September—Faye Christie stage show, 2000.

Monday, 13 September—Guitar and ukelele instruction, cootie games and coffee hour, 2000.

Tuesday, 14 September—Square dance, 2000. Crafts 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 15 September—Pinochle tournament, 2000. Crafts 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 16 September—Football kickoff dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 10 September—Club night, 2000.

Saturday, 11 September—Song fest with Jean, 2000.

Sunday, 12 September—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Starlighters stage show, 2000.

Monday, 13 September—Crafts Class, 1900.

Tuesday, 14 September—Post dance, "High School Daze," 2000.

Wednesday, 15 September—Tournaments, 2000.

Thursday, 16 September—Square dance, 2000.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 10 September—"Back-to-School" dance, Fort Scott Officers Club, 2000 to 2300, singles, 25¢, couples, 40¢.

Saturday, 11 September—Eight-ball pool tournament, mixed partners, TAC.

WINNERS OF THE BAY AREA League Golf Championship. Presidio Golfers Talk Over Victory. Standing, left to right, Pfc. Dick Yost, M/Sgt. Sid Domingue, and Cpl. Bob Carter. Kneeling, left to right, Cpl. Ray Steelsmith, Lt. Col. Thomas C. Ward, and Cpl. Bill Hawley. Not shown in the picture is Capt. Rollin Knapp who shot an exceptional game in the Mather tourney this week. The Presidians trounced Mather AFB at Sacramento in the final links event of the season.

Home Grown Champs!

Golfers Win Bay Area Title In Final Victory Against Mather

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio's hardswinging golf team took top honors in the Bay Area Armed Forces League this week with their final, decisive win of the season over top-ranking Mather AFB, 17-10.

The Matherites, long the leaders in BAAF competition, were dumped to second place.

1954 Sixth Army runnerup Dick Yost led the Presidio onslaught this Wednesday as he tromped his opponent, Dan Day, 3 and 2 for the 18 holes and stroked a medalist's 67 on the tough Sacramento Muni layout.

Yost's partner, Rollin Kapp, was one down the first nine against airman Les Carlisle, recovered 4 and 3 on the second, and triumphed 3 and 2 for the route. The Presidians won best ball.

In the second foursome, Ray Steelsmith and Tom Ward split against flyers Jim Dixon and Claude Wilson. Ward downed Wilson 3 and 2, 2 and 1, 5 and 4 for the 18, while the young ex-UCLA golfer was buckled with a tie the first nine, two down the second and two down for the 18. The soldiers won best ball.

In the third foursome, Bob Carter took a licking at the hands of H. Hooper, losing 2 and 1 the first half, winning 1 up coming in, going down one for the 18. Sid Domingue tied John Castignia in a close finish, both claiming nine holes 2 and 1 and tying the 18. Carter and Domingue lost best ball one down for the 18.

Scores:
Yost 35-32, 67 Day 35-34, 69
Kapp 39-33, 72 Carlisle 38-38, 76
Steelsmith 37-37, 74 Dixon 37-35, 72
Ward 37-38, 75 Wilson 41-41, 82
Carter 41-37, 78 Hooper 39-38, 77
Domingue 37-40, 77 Castignia 40-37, 77

BAAF GOLF STANDINGS
PRESIDIO	6	1
Mather	6	2
Hamilton	5	2
Parks	0	8

"Vinegar" Mizell Hot!

Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell recorded his 11th straight victory for Fort McPherson, 15 August, when the St. Louis Cardinal-owned southpaw hurled a five-hitter to defeat Fort Bragg 16-3, at the winners' field.

Norm Seibern, Yankee farmhand, and George Barrow, property of the Giant chain, both hit grandslammers for Fort McPherson during a nine-run fifth inning. The win gave Mizell a 13-1 record as of that date.

Ft. Ord Softballers Beat Ft. Lewis, 9th AAA in Area Tilts

Six games were played in the first day of the Sixth Army Softball Tournament at Fort Ord this week. Ord and Fort Lewis picked up where they left off in the baseball tournaments, and the results were the same. The host team garnered eight runs and five hits off Lewis' Cecil McCoy to paste the north-erners 8-3 in the opener.

The 9th Ack Ackers, representing the Presidio at the area affair, took a loss to Ord in the latter's second showing of the week, 7-0, then came back to plaster the Fort McArthur nine 23-8.

Other results included Sharpe General Depot's victory over Letterman Army Hospital, 5-2. McArthur gigged Dugway Proving Grounds in their first game 7-2. 221st Signal Detachment walloped Sharpe 13-0.

Complete results will be available in next week's Star-Presidian.

Ex-Raider Ace Now Coaches Rivals

Big Dave Marcelli, lately ace halfback for the Presidio Red Raiders, is currently coaching at San Francisco State. His 'Gators meet the Raiders in tomorrow's scrimmage on the State College campus.

The Raider backfield felt bitterly the loss of Marcelli in the halfback spot. His backfield brilliance paid high rewards in last year's grid-iron season for the Presidio.

As practice got under way this year, Marcelli assisted Coach Steve Glick in the Raider scrimmages. However, he was ready for discharge this month, and moved recently into the coaching spot at SFS.

Giambra at Hood

Pvt. Joey Giambra, one of the top contenders for the middle-weight championship of the world before entering the Army, is now flexing his muscles at Ft. Hood, Tex. Prior to donning khaki, Giambra won 38 out of 42 bouts.

Record Breakers!

Army Marksmen Sweep Field At Camp Perry Pistol Shoot

Camp Perry, Ohio—The U.S. Army Pistol Team shattered a record which has stood since 1904 in the recent N.R.A. pistol matches here. Dead-eyed Army shooters blazed wins in both the National Trophy Individual and Team Matches, concluding the 1954 Camp Perry meet.

Major William Hancock of Fort Bliss, Texas, fired 285 out of a possible 300 points to win the General Custer Trophy, emblematic of victory in the Individual Trophy race. Major Hancock beat Lt. Harry Reeves, favored of the Detroit Police Force, by one point in the Custer Trophy shoot. U. S. Marine Corps Lt. Col. Walter Walsh placed third, one point behind Reeves.

The crack Army Grey squad came from behind to take the Gold Trophy from a tough Marine Corps team in the National Team Match. Army firers targeted a score of 1108 out of a possible 1200 points.

Not since the National Matches were initiated in 1904 has any service team copped both pistol titles in the same year. This was the second consecutive victory rung up by the veteran Army pistol team in the National Trophy Team Match.

General John E. Dahlquist, Commanding General, Army Field Forces, presented the awards to the team and individual victors.

Pvt. William Farrell, third-ranking Amateur Athletic Union platform diver in the U. S., is now showing his championship form at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas.

Baseball Finis!

Ordsters Win Area Baseball; Reds Lose Semi to Ft. Lewis

Fort Ord's indomitable Warriors strung three decisive victories to their laden win list last week to take the 1954 All-Sixth Army Baseball Championship hands down for the second year running.

Their final victory of the four-day diamond competition at Fort Ord saw the southerners whip the second-place Fort Lewis nine 14-8, but they had to wear down a stubborn Lewis contingent to make it.

The Lewis Four-by-Fours broke the scoring ice in the first bracket by putting together a walk, a single and an infield error for one marker, after two were out. Chuck Stuart hit his fourth home run of the tourney in the third to make the score 2-0.

The Warriors forged into the lead in the same inning with a five-run outburst highlighted by Bob Roselli's grand slam homer. The Ordmen were never headed thereafter although Lewis tied the count at seven apiece later in the game. The Warriors put the game on ice with another five-run inning in the seventh frame and won going away. Chuck Selby was credited with the win for Ord, while Satalich was the losing pitcher. Both teams collected 13 hits.

Fort Lewis had entered the finals by virtue of their 6-2 semi-final victory over the Presidio in the fourth day of the area's double-elimination affair. Lewis opened that game with a single by John Stratton, who on the next pitch stole to second. Jim Rice followed with a single, advancing Stratton to third. Sam Esposito, third in the Four-by-Four's batting order, hit into a double play which scored Stratton from third.

The next four innings were quiet, with neither team gaining any runs. Lewis again opened up in the sixth but slowly, with Presidio's Wayne Hamaker walking in one run. Then the pace livened up a bit when Jim Rice hit a double with the bases loaded to score the other two runs made in this inning. The only home run of the day was clouted by Dick Stewart of Lewis in the seventh with one man on.

It looked like a sure shut-out for Lewis pitcher Ron May until the last of the seventh when Ed Jacobson of the Presidio found the range and connected for a single. With two men on, Johnny Ethridge hit a triple, scoring the only two runs of the afternoon for the Presidio nine.

ED JACOBSEN
He singled against Lewis.

In earlier games Fort Lewis whipped Sharpe General Depot and Ord drew first blood against the Presidio. On Tuesday the local soldiers eliminated Sharpe from further contest and Ord brought down the Lewis nine.

Gene Terry sparked most of the Presidio scoring effort throughout the tournament. The speedy infielder racked the opposition with a tremendous triple off the center-field wall to highlight a latter inning rally against the Sharpe contingent.

The Ord Warriors leave this weekend for Fort Carson, Colorado, where they will participate in the All-Army baseball tourney, to begin Monday.

Bostonian Hits .442

Dick Brodowski, formerly with the Boston Red Sox, captured the batting crown at Ft. Dix, N. J., hitting a solid .442.

BIG SALMON RUN in the Bay was evidenced by ten Letterman Army Hospital ladies who returned recently with all of nine beauties, ranging from four pounds to a 27-pound giant, the latter caught by Captain Virginia I. Lindholm (second from left). Other LAH representatives who proved that there is such a thing as a fisherlady, were, left to right, Captain Yvette Caron, Captain Lindholm, Captain Mary H. Kuhn, Miss S. Vegas, Lt. Colonel Alice J. Robbe and Lt. Colonel Helen J. Jurash. (Foghorn Photo)

"... let's move it ... oops-surrounded ... road block ... pay dirt ahead!"

Western Ends!

Headquarters Co. Sixth Army Wins Western Championships

The Western Bowling League ended their present series of games this week with HQ Co. Sixth Army emerging as the new league champions.

Members of the team include Captain Albert H. Gollnick, M/Sgt. John W. Wooten, M/Sgt. Jack M. Coronet, M/Sgt. Wayne K. Steward, Sgt. Robert M. Alexander, Cpl. Karl L. Monnier.

High average scorer for the group was Lt. Colonel Fred A. Jacobs of the Tags with a 176 average.

High game leader was CWO Harvey R. Delaney also of the Tags with a 242 high.

High series champion was Lt. Colonel Jacobs who turned in one of the highest series totals in Presidio history of 626.

Two games were played in this last week's championship rollers. HQ Co. split 2-2 with the Sleuths. Monnier of HQ rolled a 520 series and 215 high game and Sleuth Gregor bowled 491, 179.

Tags defeated the Constables 3-1 led by Jacobs' 626 series and 235 high game. Cop Whitcanack pinned 471 and 161 for his group.

The Topos forfeited four games to the Flashers, the Money-Bags took four through forfeit from the Pinsplitters, and the 99th Engineers dropped four games by forfeit to the Tags.

Next week plans a new start for the league with the Money-Bags and the Constables dropping out of contention. A new team, the Sixth Army Engineers, will enter the play when the next series of tilts start.

The Eastern Bowling League's new leader is the Baker MPs. Led by Gallo's 169 average and 189 high game, the MPs smashed the Keystone Kops 4-0. Kop Johnson was his quintet's big gun with 158 average and 177 high.

The 21st Engineers came up from fifth place to take over the 2d place slot by trouncing 56th MRU No. 2 4-0. Builder North paced his five with 151 average and 183 high game. Loser Nichols rolled 161, 189.

The 56th MRU No. 1 took 3 lines from HQ Sixth Army G-2 to move into the third place position. Head roller for MRU was Petrask who bowled 148 average and 174 high game. Headquarters' Jensen pinned 147, 149.

6300 SU's Barber helped his group defeat the Slow Rollers 3-1 by his score of 159 average and 178 high game. Head Roller was Cox with 156, 180.

EASTERN
Team	Win	Lost
Co. B, 505th MP Bn.	7	1
21st Engineers	6	2
56th MRU No. 1	6	2
6300 SU	4	4
Slow Rollers	4	4
56th MRU No. 2	4	4
Keystone Kops	1	7
HQ 6A G-2	0	8

New Men Augment 1st String Roster In Line, Backfield

Seven new men, averaging 195 pounds of football in action, will augment the Raider first string this season. Two new faces appear in the half-back positions in the Raider backfield, and five new men will play in first string line positions.

Halfback Bill Cochrane, weighing in at 189 pounds, is a gridiron veteran who hails from San Francisco. Previous to his service in the Army, Cochrane played college ball for San Francisco State. With the Army, the hearty half played for Fort Lewis last season. Cochrane is assigned to 6002 ASU.

Opposite Cochrane in the backfield is Ed Colarossi, a California boy from the southern part of the state. Colarossi played football for Notre Dame High School in Sherman Oaks, California. He tips the scales at 173 pounds, and is currently assigned to 6002 ASU.

Filling in the line at right tackle position is Frank Wilson at 215 pounds. The big tackle played college ball for North Carolina College. He is assigned to Company B of the 505th MP Battalion.

In guard position right of center is Don Holstrom, 205 pounds. Holstrom played high school ball at Pomona High. He is assigned to Able Company of the 505th.

New to the center spot is Tony Mader, also of the 505th. A 190 pounder, Mader swapped positions with Roscoe Morris for center.

Mario Masia at left tackle played college ball for the University of Santa Clara and spring ball for Fresno State College. Masia weighs in at 192 pounds. He is assigned to the Honor Guard, Det. A of 6002 ASU.

John Gabrielson fills out the line at left end. Gabe is a 200 pounder and is assigned to Det. 1, 6002 ASU. He played college ball for Oregon Tech.

Intra-Mural, Presidio Casaba Plans Laid

Tryouts for the post basketball team have been slated for 13 October at 1300 hours. Prospective hoopmen will meet in Building 122 in the Post Special Services Office at that time. The season's practice will begin on 25 October.

Post team members may also play for their units or section teams in the intra-mural program. The first league game is scheduled for 4 October. A pre-game meeting of intra-mural team captains will be held at 1300 hours, 22 September.

Jack Dempsey won 18 fights and lost one in 1918. He lost to Willy Meehan in four rounds, September 13, 1918, at San Francisco, Calif.

The Kick-Off!

Raiders in First Pigskin Test Tomorrow With SFS Gators

By Pvt. Dick Stewart

The Presidio Red Raiders will meet the San Francisco State eleven tomorrow in a scrimmage to be run off like a regular game with officials and all. The scrimmage will get under way at 1000 hours at SFS. This will be the Raiders' first appearance before the public eye this season.

According to Coach Steve Glick, the tentative plans are to run the whole Raider team on the field in the SFS scrimmage. The first and second string squads will probably be utilized against the Staters' varsity squads.

The Raiders' second and third string men will play against the SFS JayVees. There is a possibility that the entire Raider squad will be mixed to give each man an opportunity to glean a little experience against the SFS varsity.

In the Raiders' initial test tilt it is probable that the local eleven will shine. The Raiders have put in a month of practice while the SFS squad has only been working out for a week. The practice element alone places the odds heavily with the home team.

Tomorrow's game should give us a clearer picture of how the Raiders will look in the first League meet next week. The big game with the Treasure Island Pirates a week from tomorrow will mark the opening of the Bay League pigskin season.

Ladyless Red Raiders Still Seek Aspirants For 'Football Queen'

Who is she? Where is she? The Presidio Raiders are seeking their 1954 Football Queen. The lucky lady chosen to reign over the '54 gridiron will be crowned by the Deputy Post Commander at the Football Dance 16 September at the Service Club.

Perhaps the Queen is in your section or unit. If you're harboring the lady, don't forget to submit application to the Post Special Services, Building 122. The only qualification for Queen is that she be single. Each unit or section is eligible to submit application for one candidate for Queen.

The '54 Grid Queen will be selected by the votes of the thirty some members of the Raider football squad. She will receive a small gift in memory of the occasion.

Last year's Queen for old King Football was Miss Lorna Dunn, trim brunette who was working as a stenographer at Sixth Army Headquarters.

JAPANESE JOINT STAFF Council Chairman, General Keizo Hayashi (right), equivalent to the United States' Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, is shown just after arriving at Travis Air Force Base this Monday en-route to Washington, D. C., as guest of the Secretary of the Army. With him are Major James W. De Loach, left, Headquarters Sixth Army, and Major Jira Tokuyama, center, Aide to the General.

Not New Zealand!

WAC Director Says Full Life Possible in Women's Service

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

Lunch at the Waldorf-Astoria may be just lunch. But, if you are a full colonel, WAC, in uniform, and a gentleman approaches your table and says, "pardon me, but are you from New Zealand?" lunch is combined with a thought chain reaction.

Doesn't this man know about the WAC of today?

Why doesn't he know about it? Are there many more citizens who fall into this category?

Why did he think I was from New Zealand?

Whether or not Colonel Irene O. Galloway, overall director of the Women's Army Corps and currently touring Sixth Army area, thought of just those questions, substantially it was a startling experience.

At her press conference on the Presidio of San Francisco last week, attended by newspaper representatives of the Bay area, Colonel Galloway related this incident at the tail end of a discourse on the numbers of women serving in the WAC now as compared with World War II. (WAC strength is now limited by law to 10 per cent of overall Army strength.)

Maybe that is the answer to Mr. New Zealand. He was just visiting in New York City and had never seen a WAC before.

Yet between New York City and New Zealand, there are numerous observations to be made. There are some 11,000 women in WAC uniforms, 30 per cent of whom are serving in overseas theatres, both the European and the Far East.

They are publicized by numerous media: press, radio, television, motion pictures, the DACOWITS committee (Defense Advisory Committee of Women in the Service) and their own elaborate recruiting setup.

Just what do WACs do in the service?

Colonel Galloway, in company with Lt. Colonel Elizabeth C. Smith, now Sixth Army WAC staff advisor and former classmate of Colonel Galloway's in the second women's officer candidate school back in 1942, described their mission.

They type, they take shorthand, they become x-ray, dental or laboratory technicians, they work in communications handling teletype messages to and from every part of the world, they are control tower operators for aircraft, they are photographers, they work in supply, they are company clerks. This is only a starter.

Off duty they play softball and volleyball. They swim and play tennis. They belong to craft classes and choral groups. They date and they dance. And they get married. Colonel Galloway's statistics show that 10 per cent of the WACs in the service today are married, and did so after joining the service, since only single women may join. Marriage after entrance, however, does not separate a WAC from service unless she wishes it.

"WACs of today are a peacetime constitutive, an efficient well-trained group that could rapidly become the nucleus of a greatly expanded organization should the need arise," Colonel Galloway explained.

"In keeping with our present-day prestige, we have only recently acquired our first permanent WAC training center at Fort McClellan, Alabama. In fact, the actual dedication ceremonies for this center will be held later this month," the colonel said.

So, you see, Mr. New Zealand really missed the boat!

Colonel Galloway, fourth director of the WAC, is making her first official inspection visit to the Sixth Army area since taking office last January. She will be touring installations here until 20 September.

General Sink Gets Praise from CG, Leaves for Bragg

On the eve of his departure this week for a new assignment on the Joint Airborne Troop Board at Ft. Bragg, N. C., Major General Robert F. Sink, commanding general of the 44th Infantry Division, was given signal recognition in a letter of appreciation from Sixth Army Commander, Lt. General Willard G. Wyman.

General Wyman's message lauded General Sink's contribution to training and maintaining an infantry division to a high degree of combat readiness, his effort in developing the Mobile Force concept during the recent successful Exercise Hilltop.

"In an area of growing emphasis on the air movement of combat elements," wrote General Wyman, "I know that selection of the Joint Airborne Troop Board is made only after careful consideration of the many individuals who are eligible for the assignment. Your selection is a tribute to your record, to the competence, imagination and purpose with which you have commanded the 44th Infantry Division. Our loss is their gain."

The brilliant 49-year-old West Point graduate left the northern installation following a huge farewell review by more than 25,000 troops of the 44th and other Ft. Lewis units.

He will be temporarily succeeded as post and division commander by Brig. Gen. Charles H. Swartz, commander of the 44th Divarty. Maj. General Thomas S. Timberman, former U. S. commander in Berlin, is expected to assume command early in October.

General Sink was born in Lexington, N. C., 1905. He attended Duke University and then the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, receiving his commission as second lieutenant of infantry in 1927. He assumed command of the 44th on 15 December of last year, following his post as commander at Camp Roberts, Calif.

Brilliant Leaders!

Achievement and Background Of Commanders Stimulating

(Ed.'s Note: The following is the sixth and last article dealing with the history of the Sixth Army. The information for the series was prepared by Headquarters Sixth Army TI&E Section.)

Some of the most brilliant chapters of United States Army history have been written by the Sixth Army's commanding generals. Their backgrounds and achievements provide stimulating reading.

GENERAL WALTER KRUEGER, first commanding general, who led the Sixth Army from its activation in January 1943 to the occupation of Japan in January 1946. Enlisting as a private at age 17, he served in the Spanish-American War, was commissioned in 1901 in the 30th Infantry, and received his first star on 1 October 1936.

GENERAL JOSEPH W. STILLWELL has a brilliant career of 46 years in the Army. He gained world-wide recognition for his leadership of the China-Burma-Indian forces with which he routed the Japanese, recaptured Burma, and reopened the military supply route over the Ledo Road.

MAJOR GENERAL GEORGE P. HAYS, acting commanding general of the Sixth Army from the death of General Stillwell until June 1947, was commissioned in WWI, and during that war was awarded the Medal of Honor for one of the most remarkable exploits in the records of the American Expeditionary Forces. When means of communication broke down at the front in France, he undertook to restore communications by carrying messages on horseback. Seven horses were shot out from under him in the course of several days.

GENERAL MARK W. CLARK, is famous for one of the daring ventures of WWII, when, previous to the landing of U. S. Forces in North Africa, he made a trip by airplane and submarine to hold a midnight rendezvous with the leaders of the loyal French forces in Africa. Later, he led the armies that battled their way from the landings in Sicily, Salerno, and Anzio to Rome.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL ALBERT C. WEDEMEYER was made a Brigadier General in 1942, and served in China, the Philippines, and Europe. In 1944-46 he was commander of the U. S. Forces in China, and also served as Chief of Staff for Chiang Kai-Shek. General Wedemeyer is one of the U. S. Army's few general officers who added to his West Point training by graduating from Germany's War College.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL JOSEPH M. SWING participated in the Punitive Expedition into Mexico against Bandit Pancho Villa. In 1942 General Swing was appointed Commanding General of the 11th Airborne Division, and the next year he planned and executed the first airlift of an entire division in planes and gliders. This involved a flight of 350 miles and ended in the first successful night-landing of airborne troops. The rigorous training through which he put the division paid off in the Philippines in 1944, when the 11th Airborne alighted on Leyte and broke the impasse at Balete Pass.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL WILFRED G. WYMAN, sixth and present Commanding General of Sixth Army, served with the Chinese 19th Route Army in 1932 during the defense of Shanghai against the Japanese. In 1943 he served as assistant commander of the 1st Infantry Division from the battle of Troina in Sicily through the Normandy landings and the campaigns of France and Germany into the battle of Aachen. Under his leadership, the 71st Infantry Division secretly relieved the 100th Infantry Division near Bitche, France, in March 1945, moved on to reinforce the Third Army, plunged across the Rhine at Oppoenblitz, moved on across Germany into Austria, and met the Russian 5th Guards Airborne Division on the River Enns.

Not all the decorations, awards, battle streamers, and other honors bestowed upon members and units of the Sixth Army, past and present, are exclusive to its commanding generals and other high ranking officers. Available records indicate that at least forty Medals of Honor have been awarded to men and officers who have served in Sixth Army's various units, including General Swing's own outfit, the 11th Airborne, since its original activation 25 January 1943.

The Sixth Army's Campaign Streamers earned in WWII include: New Guinea, Bismarck Archipelago, Luzon, and Leyte. Headquarters Company is entitled to the Meritorious Streamer embroidered PACIFIC THEATER.

This history of the Sixth Army has been necessarily brief. A more detailed account would require a prolonged study of the official records, but to date the most complete unofficial description of Sixth Army's WWII combat record is the recently published volume, "From Down Under to Nippon," by General Walter Krueger, Sixth Army's first commander. This book was published in 1953 by the Combat Forces Press, Washington 6, D. C.

Pest Killer!

Army Major Raymond A. Kelsner, in co-operation with the Insular Bureau of Agriculture (Philippines), in 1931 produced a vaccine for rinderpest, an acute cattle disease. Within a few years after the development of this vaccine, rinderpest was eradicated from the islands.

From.....	Two Cents Postage
Address.....
.....
Name.....
Street.....
City.....	Zone.....State.....
(Third Class Mail)

Presidio Honor Guard Posts Brilliant Record

One of the most distinguished and active records ever compiled by a unit stationed on the Presidio of San Francisco is that of a company-size group of men who have one of the shortest historical records here.

Organized at the direction of Lt. General Joseph Swing, former Sixth Army Commander, Detachment A, 6002 SU, Sixth Army Honor Guard, drew up its first morning report 2 August, 1952.

Since that date, the Guard has been a part of some of the most impressive military and civil ceremonies to be held in the Sixth Army Area.

The Honor Guard was organized with two purposes in mind, the first being that of a mobile alert force capable of functioning as a controlling or tactical element in case of disaster, fire or civil defense. As such, the unit was designed to fit into the plans of Sixth Army for such instances.

The secondary mission of the unit was to fulfill the many ceremonial duties that are contingent with an Army headquarters.

Fortunately the emphasis since its inception has been on drills and parades and not on civil defense or disaster relief measures.

A typical month in the company presents an extraordinarily diverse itinerary of parades, drill competitions, burial ceremonies, VIP escorts, and plainly, "good works."

In September of 1954, for instance, members of the Guard participated in (1) Armed Forces Reserve Day, (2) Mare Island Centennial, (3) California State Fair (drill platoon) and (4) Lodi Grape Festival Drill Competition.

In other months of 1954 the unit supplied two-platoon Guards of Honor for Synnman Rhee, the Colombian Ambassador, and the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower, Hugh M. Milton, II.

In addition to this the company has been requested to perform in civil parades and exhibitions where military precision and soldierly bearing have left a lasting impression with those organizations and groups before which they have performed.

Outstanding on their roster of achievements for 1954, were St. Patrick's Day Parade, Redwood City Rodeo Parade, American Legion "40 & 8" Parade, Edison - Fairfield Water Carnival, all of which gave their first place awards to the company as a whole or elements thereof in parades and drill contests throughout the Sixth Army Area.

Besides being competitors, or many occasions members of the Guard have acted as judges and mentors to ROTC units and similar organizations who look upon the unit as drill - experts non-pareil.

Although the Guard functions

with the precision, snap and color of a crack outfit, there is within its ranks an even more elite unit. They are "The Presidians."

This group specialized in drill competitions, where they are judged by their uniforms, the manual of arms, precision drilling and movement while marching.

"The Presidians" have beaten representatives from all of the Services in such competition.

Dress uniform for the Guard is basically OD. This is enhanced by white boot laces, white pistol belt with brass buckle, white gloves, white scarf, white four-ferre and red-and-white helmet liner.

"The Presidians" wear this same uniform plus chromed steel helmets and chrome plated Springfield rifles.

All men carry shining M-1 rifles with white web slings, with the exception of the leaders who carry .45 calibre automatic pistols in highly polished holsters.

The Honor Guard has been commanded by four officers. First, Major James R. Pendergrast, did much to organize the unit in its formative stage. He was responsible for the unit insignia—a knight's helmet of Spanish design depicting readiness for the mission.

A West Point graduate, Captain M. E. MacDonald, took over on Major Pendergrast's departure.

The third commander was Captain Chester B. Searls, an ex-POW who served with Company B, 38th Infantry Regiment, 2nd Division, up to the time of his capture by the CCF in Korea. Captain Searls is from Ventura, California.

The present commander is Captain Eugene J. Gasior, also a graduate of West Point who served as a company commander with the 8th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division in Korea.

The Captain has had two tours of duty in the Far East, the first one being occupation duty in Japan with the 25th Infantry Division from 1945 to January 1948, following which he spent the summer of 1948 (five months) with a combat team at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

His second tour of Far Eastern duty occurred during the Korean conflict when he served in both Japan and Korea from October 1950 to February 1952, with the First Cavalry Division and the G-3 Section, HQ, and Service Command, GHQ, FECOM.

Operation Big Store!

Army depot operations during the next 12 months will revolve around 134 depots containing approximately 207,000,000 (M) square feet of covered storage space, and 312,000,000 (M) square feet of open space.

Capt. Eugene Gasior

Captain E. Gasior Is Honor Guard's New Commander

Captain Eugene J. Gasior has become the new commanding officer of the Detachment A, Honor Guard, Presidio of San Francisco.

Graduating from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1945, Captain Gasior, just prior to coming to the Presidio, completed the Advanced Infantry Course at Fort Benning, Georgia.

His most recent assignments have been at Headquarters III Corps, Fort MacArthur, California, where he was secretary to the general staff for a year, and Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, California, where he spent eight months as Deputy Post Commander.

The Captain has had two tours of duty in the Far East, the first one being occupation duty in Japan with the 25th Infantry Division from 1945 to January 1948, following which he spent the summer of 1948 (five months) with a combat team at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

His second tour of Far Eastern duty occurred during the Korean conflict when he served in both Japan and Korea from October 1950 to February 1952, with the First Cavalry Division and the G-3 Section, HQ, and Service Command, GHQ, FECOM.

Operation Big Store!

Army depot operations during the next 12 months will revolve around 134 depots containing approximately 207,000,000 (M) square feet of covered storage space, and 312,000,000 (M) square feet of open space.

Army-Wide Tryout!

Local Sergeants Among Few To Test Army Dress Blues

Two enlisted men assigned to the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in San Francisco, Detachment 6, 6400 SU, have been chosen by Sixth Army Quartermaster here to be among the first 14 soldiers in the Army to test-wear the new Army Blue dress uniform.

Essay Contest On

Only 10 days remain for entries in the Presidio and sub-post essay contest on conservation to be turned in, military personnel were reminded today. Actual title of the papers are to be, "Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment," and they should not exceed 500 words in length. Prizes for the first, second and third place winners will be $25, $15 and $10 respectively. Entries are to be in the Post T&E office, Bldg. 122, before 1300 hours on 27 September. Judging and awarding of prizes will be done that week.

Local Units to Take Part in San Diego USAR Day Fete

One hundred and ninety-two men from units on the Presidio of San Francisco journey south this week-end to take part in tomorrow's San Diego, California, United States Army Reserve Day.

Units taking part in the affair include 61 men and one officer from the Sixth Army Band, 19 members of the Pipe Band, 38 officers and men from the Sixth Army Honor Guard, 22 marching perfectionists of the famed "Presidian" drill team, and 51 officers and men of B Company, 505th Military Police Battalion.

The big, all-day festival of khaki will feature a reception and luncheon in Balboa Park, San Diego, sponsored by the City and County of San Diego in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce. Entertainment will be provided by the "Presidians," the crack local marching unit, Cpl. Dick Armbrust, singer, Sixth Army Band, and Pfc. Ron Riddle, Fort Ord pianist, and seven Hollywood players. The latter group will include Raymond Burr, MC, Harry Babbitt, Mamie Van Doren, Gail Gifford, Roberta Linn and Madge Hamilton.

Following the mid-day festivities, Regular Army and Army Reserve contingents will stage a full-scale mock battle. Weapons utilized will include arms as small as the .45 caliber pistol, as heavy as the 105 Howitzer. The battle will be staged by troops from Camp Irwin, with aggressor forces represented by San Diego reservists.

French Needle Diet Fix New Geiger Use

Orleans, France—The X-ray is the usual method of exploring the interior of the human anatomy, but Army engineers have successfully used a portable Geiger Counter when the complicated mechanism failed.

A French gourmet had swallowed a needle containing 1.33 milligrams of radium. He was X-rayed immediately at the Orleans Centre Hospital, but the French doctors found that radium destroys X-ray film.

An emergency call to the Army's engineers for the Geiger Counter located the needle in the patient's lower left abdomen.

Promotion Quotas!

In the matter of the Army's September promotion quotas, the E-4 corporal slot is the only one to show any appreciable overall gain. There are 30,000 of these, an increase of 7,000 over August. Other Army level quotas are E-6 or sergeant first class, 700, and E-5, sergeant, 14,900. There have been no master sergeant ratings available this year.

At Sixth Army level, the ratio of promotions handed down from D/A goes like this: sergeant first class, 20; sergeant, 458; corporal, 1,517 and private first class, 1,155.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 16 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 17 September, 1954

POSTHUMOUS COMMISSION—Mrs. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., of San Francisco, came to the Presidio Monday and received her late husband's posthumous commission of full general in the Army and a silk four-star flag from Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander. General Buckner was Lieutenant General when he was killed in action on 18 June, 1945, while commanding the Tenth Army on Okinawa.

Simon Bolivar Buckner!

Commander, U.S. Tenth Army, Gets Posthumous Promotion

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury

Bay Area military figures were given a nostalgic journey into the not-too-distant past this week as one of the truly dynamic figures in U.S. Army annals was given a posthumous tribute at a ceremony at the Presidio.

Lt. General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., Commander of the U. S. Tenth Army in Okinawa during World War II, has been dead almost ten years. To show he has not been forgotten, Mrs. Buckner was made recipient of her late husband's posthumous commission of full general in the Army and a silk four-star flag from Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander.

Others on the promotion list included three other deceased and seven retired three-star officers.

The commission went to a soldier who will be remembered more as a paradoxically hard-bitten yet polished, harsh-voiced yet articulate shaper of future officers, more than for his skillful handling of the Tenth Army in the allies' first ground thrusts on Japanese home-ground in 1945.

That final, and lasting, vindication on the field of battle came as the climax of a 38-year career of flinty garrisoning and home-front frustration — service which brought him to within a hair's breadth of front-line action several times, but never actually made him a part of it till his participation in the Ryukyus landings in 1945.

Soldiering was in the general's blood. His father, Simon Bolivar Buckner, named after the South American patriot, served with distinction in the Mexican War and fought as a lieutenant general in the Confederate Army. Following the Civil War the senior Buckner became Governor of Kentucky and at 62 married and fathered Simon B. Buckner, Jr.

In 1940, following a post as chief of staff to the 6th Division, he was given his first star of Brigadier General and an assignment as Commanding General, Alaskan Defense Force. In this position he was twice promoted.

In June, 1944, D-Day in Normandy, Lt. General Buckner received orders transferring him to Hawaii to organize and command the Tenth Army. Late in June he began planning an attack against

Top Combat Men Seen to Have High Intelligence Rating

Psychological tests given to front line United States infantrymen in Korea show that outstanding combat troops have higher intelligence than poor fighters and are generally superior to them.

This was the gist of a report presented recently at a session of the American Psychological Association's sixty-second annual convention in New York by three psychologists of Human Research Unit 2, Office of the Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Ord, Calif.

The testing team, consisting of Dr. Robert L. Egbert, Dr. Tor Neeland and Dr. Victor Cline, interviewed 647 men from the rifle companies of the Second, Seventh and Forty-fifth Divisions. Each infantryman described superior or inadequate behavior that he had witnessed in others during combat.

Of 1,100 men described in the interviews, 345 were selected for testing. All were enlisted men ranging in rating from private to master sergeant.

The psychologists said they found that fighters differed from nonfighters in several respects.

Fighters proved to be of significant higher intelligence generally, superior in emotional stability and also in physical health and athletic ability.

They were "doers," being much more active in sports and action hobbies. "The only things in which nonfighters participated more were going to the movies and art work," the report said.

Dr. Launor F. Carter, research director of the Fort Ord unit, indicated that infantry recruiting might have to be revised. Accordingly, new testing materials designed to predict combat ability among Army recruits have been devised and the Adjutant General's office is seeking to adapt them for regular use.

THE PRESIDIANs, 24 strong, go through their paces at Fort Scott in practice for one of the many public appearances they make throughout the Bay Area. Led by drill master Cpl. David Hacking, the top photo shows them presenting arms; the middle photo shows an intricate step called Number 2 Freeze to the Rear;

(looks to us like the Chinese kidney tickler); and the bottom picture shows the group performing Echelon Left and Right done to a singing chant by one of the drillers. Even in practice sessions the group is exceedingly sharp as evidenced by the chromed Springfield rifles, "chrome dome" helmets, and white gloves.

Reserve Training!

Instruction & Demonstration Teams To Tour Sixth Army

Two Mobile Instruction and Demonstration teams have been scheduled to tour the Sixth Army area beginning in October to give inactive duty training to Army Reserve personnel.

The teams are composed of officers who will give specialized training slated to augment the ROTC, Air Force Reserve and Naval Reserve programs as well as Army Reserve training.

Team Number 1, composed of Major Richard F. Dennison, Infantry, and Captain Albert J. Budjako, Infantry, will speak on "Disaster Relief Operations." Their instruction will be open to all units and interested civilians. The team will be in the Bay Area during the first part of October, according to a tentative schedule. Specific dates will be announced at a later date.

Team Number 2 will give instruction in "The Tank-Infantry Team in Attack." Its members are Major Hugh R. Primm, Armor, and Captain Donald W. Murphie, Infantry. Meetings will be open to combat units only. The team will not be in the Northern California area until November as the itinerary now stands.

Three additional teams will be organized during the current fiscal year. They will cover "Defense Against CBR Attack," "Night Combat Operations," and "Military Police Plans and Operations."

Headquarters for the I and D team activities will be at the California Military District, Presidio of San Francisco.

Major Dennison, officer in charge of Team No. 1, is the commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry Regiment, Fort Ord. He has a total of 49 months overseas service in the Aleutians, Philippines, and in Korea, where he served as battalion commander of the 15th Infantry, 3rd Division. A 1940 graduate of the University of Montana, he wears the Bronze Star with two oak leaf clusters, the Republic of Korea Unit Citation, and the Combat Infantryman's badge.

The officer in charge of Team No. 2, Major Primm, is a graduate of Texas A & M College,

Historical Book Tells ASF Role in WWII; Due Early Sept. Release

Washington (AFPS) — Procurement and supply problems in WWII are extensively covered in the book "The Organization and Role of the Army Service Forces," released Sept. 1. At its peak during WWII the ASF included 2,000,000 troops and civilians.

The book was written by Dr. John D. Millett, wartime member of the staff of Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, and now president of Miami University.

A great deal of Dr. Millett's story is devoted to a study of relations between ASF and the War Production Board, the wartime agency responsible for civilian production.

Relations were sometimes stormy, with the WPB accusing ASF of trying to control the civilian economy, and the ASF charging the Board with trying to dictate military strategy.

The purchase price of the book is $4.25. It can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Empty Stomachs!

An empty stomach was one of the requirements for removing dirt and grease spots in the Army of 1825.

General Regulations for the Army, Article 28, "Dress—Personal Cleanliness and Neatness," stated in part:

"Spots of dirt and grease, or stains, will be taken out by application of pipe clay moistened with saliva from an empty stomach. Scratch and place lightly, when it is dry, and then beat it."

Officers Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Sidney C. Jenkins is now with the Inspector General section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

Prior to coming to the Presidio, Colonel Jenkins served a year as acting Inspector General of Camp Stoneman, California, and before that, was in the Far East for 42 months serving in Korea, Japan and Okinawa with civil administration. Ryukyus islands, as liaison officer and S-3. He returned to this country in May 1953, accompanying the body of his son, Lt. Donald C. Jenkins, who was killed in action in Korea while serving with the 3rd Division.

With 17 years of active duty service, the colonel is a veteran of service in Mexico and in both World Wars I and II, and in the latter, spent three years in the Far East with 6th Army as civil affairs, G-5 Section. In addition to numerous theatre ribbons, Colonel Jenkins has the Philippine Medal of Merit awarded him by the Philippine government.

The colonel is a graduate of the civil affairs training school, Yale University and the school of military government, University of Virginia, both in 1944, and the Provost Marshal officers advanced school, Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, 1942.

Lt. Colonel Henry M. Boudinot has just completed three years' service in London, England, with the planning section of U. S. Army Headquarters there.

He has now been named chief, miscellaneous services division, Quartermaster section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

With 13 and one-half years of active duty, Colonel Boudinot was in charge of Quartermaster depots in Ireland, North Africa and Italy during World War II, and spent three years in the ETO. Upon his return to this country in 1945, he served four years in the military planning division of the Quartermaster General's office, Washington, D. C.

Colonel Boudinot, in addition to the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant wears the Distinguished Marksman medal, a Department of the Army award. The colonel's wife and two children have accompanied him to his new assignment here.

Lt. Colonel William E. Welch has been named chief of the military affairs division, Judge Advocate section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

With Headquarters AFPE in Japan the past three years, Colonel Welch served part of his tour on TDY to Korea with the U.N. staff engaged in negotiations for the repatriation of sick and wounded POWs.

In combat during World War II, the colonel served in five campaigns in Africa, Sicily and France, with the 9th Division, and in two with 1st Army Headquarters for a total of seven major campaigns during his 30-month tour.

With a total of 14 years of Army service, Colonel Welch has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Belgian Fourragere, the Combat Infantry Badge and the Bronze Arrowhead for the Normandy invasion. He is a graduate of the Infantry officers advanced course, Fort Benning, Georgia. His wife and two sons, seven and eight years old, are now residing with him in San Rafael.

Lt. Colonel Raymond C. Johnson, assistant Post S-4 at the Presidio of San Francisco from 1949 to 1951, has been assigned as acting G-4 for Headquarters California Military District.

Colonel Johnson's last assignment was as assistant Quartermaster for the XVI Corps in Northern Honsu, Japan.

A veteran of 28 years Army service, he has been stationed in the Pacific Theater, the CBI, and in World War II took part in the China offensive campaign. He wears the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Army-Navy-Air Force Medal for action in China, and appropriate theater ribbons.

He and his wife reside in San Francisco with their two children, Linda D., age 12, and Karen C., age 10.

Major Gust E. Olson recently began his new assignment in the mobilization and civil plans branch, plans and operations division, G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His last assignment was on Formosa, where, for the past two years, he has been with the Army G-3 Section, MAA.

In World War II, Major Olson, a member of the Army for 14 years, served 39 months in the Pacific theatre with the 32nd Infantry division. He is a graduate of the Infantry officers advanced course, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Major and Mrs. Olson and their two daughters are now residing in San Francisco.

Captain Herman Kuhn has been newly assigned to the Transportation section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

Recently, he completed 16 months in Korea with the 863rd Transportation Port company.

A veteran of 23 and one-half years Army service, Captain Kuhn served on the Presidio of San Francisco with the old 30th Infantry from 1935 to 1941, at which time he left for Washington where he received a direct appointment as a commissioned officer. He previously had served from 1931 to 1935 in the Philippines with the 31st Infantry.

His World War II service was out of San Francisco Port of Embarkation at Fort Mason and included trips to Okinawa and New Guinea on Transportation Corps matters. On 10 September, Captain Kuhn was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal in a ceremony on the Presidio Main Parade ground.

Major Arnold Swenson has just completed three years as Post Ordnance officer, Fort Douglas, Utah.

His new assignment here is in the inspection division, Ordnance Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

A veteran of 26 years service, the major's World War II tours were in Ordnance work in both the ETO and Okinawa. During the period 1947 to 1950, he served in Hawaii.

Major Swenson's wife and daughter now reside with him here.

Captain Vaughn H. Baggerly has taken over the duties of assistant recreation officer, Special Services Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Prior to coming here, Captain Baggerly spent two years at Camp Stoneman, California, as Special Services officer.

In the Far East, the captain served three years in Tokyo in the Special Services division of GHQ, where for two years he was entertainment officer for Tokyo, and for the last year, served as aide to Brig. General Edwin W. Piburn, now retired, who, prior to his command assignment, had been Special Services officer.

A member of the Army for the past 10 years, Captain Baggerly spent the period May, 1942, to March, 1946, at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, where he was first commissioned from the Signal OCS there and later served two years as assistant Signal officer as well as school theatre and entertainment officer.

Captain Donald F. Rabbott is newly assigned to the budget division, Comptroller section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He returned a short time ago from two and one-half years duty in Japan as a disbursing officer.

Captain Rabbott served four years with the Signal corps during World War II, continental U.S., and left the service in 1946, joining the inactive Reserve Finance Corps. He came on active duty in 1951, and attended the Finance school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

A graduate of Yale University, class of 1936, the captain has his degree in economics. He is a native of Connecticut.

The Star-Presidian

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST
Post TIE Office
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Warriors Pull Ahead!

Ord, Lee, Jackson Lead Off In All-Army Baseball Tourney

Fort Ord, California, Fort Dix, New Jersey, and Fort Lee, Virginia, were the winners in the second day's play of the All-Army Baseball Tournament at Fort Carson, Colorado. Dix dropped from the tourney, defeated at the hands of Fort Jackson in the third day's play.

Fort Ord exploded for three runs in the top of the 10th inning Tuesday night to upend Fort Jackson, South Carolina, 8-5. Ord came from behind after blowing an early lead to tie the game in the ninth.

Ord manager J. W. Porter, ex-Detroit Tiger outfielder, led off the 10th with a homer over the center wall. Catch Bob Rosselli hit the second round tripper of the inning over the left field wall.

In the third round of the tourney, Fort Jackson, South Carolina, rallied for four runs in the fifth inning Wednesday night and then held on to defeat Fort Dix, New Jersey, 6-4. The loss drops Fort Dix from the double elimination tourney.

Fort Dix took an early lead 2-1 but the southerners came back in the fifth to score four times on five hits. The big blow of the inning was a two-run double by third baseman Joe Tanner.

Southpaw, George Maier, with Kansas City in '53, went the route for Fort Jackson to gain his first win of the tourney. He gave up but seven hits and struck out twelve. One of the Fort Dix safeties was a bases empty homer in the second by third baseman, John Malangone.

Fort Sill, Oklahoma, became the second team to be eliminated from the All-Army Tournament when they lost to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, 10-0 Wednesday afternoon. Fort Wood jumped off to an early 4-0 lead in the first two innings and was never headed.

Wayne Tjaden, a Milwaukee Braves farmhand, went the distance for the Hilltoppers, scattering eight hits effectively. Tjaden's task was made easier by the Wood twelve-hit attack off three Sill pitchers.

Included were a pair of homers, one a two-run blast by right-fielder, Al Anacich, property of the Sacramento Solons.

Following tourney play was scheduled for yesterday, Ord vs. Fort Lee, Virginia. Both teams were undefeated in the All-Army meet.

Amateur Golf Tourney Tomorrow at Martinez

The Seventh Annual Martinez Amateur Golf Tourney swings under way tomorrow at Martinez' Contra Costa Country Club, a par 71 course. The tourney will last through the week-end and Monday, 19 September. Over $400.00 in prizes will be given out.

Officers and enlisted men from Sixth Army are invited to participate in the link meet. Entrance fee is $1.50 and the green fees amount to $2.00. There will be five flights, all handicaps.

The event is sponsored by the Martinez Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Fishing Don'ts

It is unlawful—to place or cause to be placed or discharged into any water substances deleterious to fish or plant life.

To use explosives for taking fish. To bring ashore a fish in such condition that its size and weight cannot be determined.

To ship trout or striped bass from California.

To take any fish for the purpose of removing the eggs.

21st Engineers Roll Win Over 505th In Eastern League

In the Eastern Bowling League the 21st Engineers took the top position with a 3-1 win over Co. B, 505th MPs. Builder Rothong rolled 163 average and 209 high game and tops for the Cops was Gallo's 165 average and high 189.

Second place 56th MRU No. 1 defeated the Keystone Kops 3-1. Lead score for the 56th was Williams' 172 average and 184 high game. Kop Johnson bowled 157 and 177 to lead his team.

6300 ASU whipped 56th MRU No. 2 3-1 with SU's Barber rolling 170 average and 192 high game. Top man for the 56th was Lawton who turned in 165 and 182.

The Slow-Rollers annexed another win by beating the newly instigated Harbor Defenders 3-1. Roller big-pin was Thorne who bowled 161 average and 209 high game. Pacer for the defenders was Crozier who powered his group with 164, 207.

In the National Bowling League this week, Det. 1, 6002 SU, took the league lead by pommeling the Maaroos 4-0. Top pinner for the Deuce was Evans who turned in 180 average and 192 high game. Loser Bryant bowled 170, 209.

HQ Co. 6th Army smashed 6513th SU 4-0. HQ's Brown rolled out 155 average and 156 high game. Saunders bowled 168, 194.

Fort Scott Hilltoppers No. 3 defeated the Fort Scott Hilltoppers No. 1 by 3-1. Topper No. 3 head pinner was Kemper with 167 average and 218 high. Topper No. 1's Pravel rolled 153 and 149.

Hilltopper team No. 2 took a win of 3-1 over the 102d MRU. The hillmen were led by Carlisle's 161 average and 171 high game. Loser Chinn turned in 151 and 146.

Standings:

NATIONAL
Team	Win	Loss
Det. 1, 6002 SU	7	1
HQ Co., 6th Army	7	1
FL Scott Hilltopper No. 3	6	2
FL Scott Hilltopper No. 2	6	2
FL Scott Hilltopper No. 1	2	6
102d MRU	2	6
Maaroos	1	7
6513 SU	1	7

EASTERN
Team	Win	Loss
21st Engineers	9	3
56th MRU No. 1	9	3
Co. B, 505th MP	8	4
6300 ASU	7	5
Slow Rollers	7	5
56th MRU No. 2	5	7
Keystone Kops	2	10
Harbor Defenders	1	11

Giant Doings!

Former Michigan State griddier Everett "Sonny" Grandelius has been mighty busy the last couple of years. After returning from Army service in Korea he played a full season with the professional New York Giants of the National Football League. Now he's the Spartan freshman coach. . . . Scheduled to see plenty of action this year as ends with the pro Giants are two service returnees, Ken MacAfee and Bob Schnelker.

VICTORIOUS PRESIDIANNE soft ball team came from behind last week to whip the Fort Ord ladies for the All-Sixth Army Softball Championship, Women's Division. The girls journeyed south last week to participate in the Tourney at Fort Ord. Back row, left to right, Sgt. Lillian Vierra, Sgt. Julian Kite (coach), Sgt. Connie Argue, Sgt. Jane Brost, Cpl. Gloria Gardino, and Pvt. Edith Thompson. Front row, Cpl. Ronnie Long, Sgt. Zorah Christian, Sgt. Ruth Gavigan (pitcher), Cpl. Sylvia Bernardini, and Pvt. Mary Boyers.

Ladies Victorious!

Ord Cops Title In All-Sixth Army Diamond Tourney

In a tight pitching duel on the Fort Ord diamond last week, Ord's 51st Field Artillery Battalion walloped Fort Lewis to win the Sixth Army Softball Championship. The host team defeated Lewis 3 to 1.

Don Floren pitched for the invincible Ord men and Cecil McCoy hurled for Fort Lewis in the closely contested battle. The mound men matched strikeout for strikeout inning after inning. The Ordsters managed three hits off McCoy, while Floren allowed the Lewis nine only two hits.

The Presidio fared badly against the top two Sixth Army teams. Against Fort Lewis, Presidio scored only three to the opponent's eight. PSF moundman Sgt. Forrest Coleman struck out seven but let five walk. Rival pitcher was Lewis' McCoy. Seven errors were tallied for Presidio and five for Lewis. Earl batted the only two bagger for the Presidians.

Against the triumphant Ord sackmen, Cpl. W. C. Reynolds hurled a six-hit game, still failing to win for the Presidio. "Pitching for the Ordsters, Turner struck out eight and gave one base on balls. Presidio managed only two hits in the game.

Ducats for 9 October Navy-Stanford Grid Tilt Available to Presidians

A limited number of ducats to the Navy-Stanford game are available free of charge to post personnel, it was announced today by Lt. Herbert Youngdahl, Special Services officer. The big game will be played at Palo Alto, 9 October at 1400 hours.

The Naval Academy Athletic Association had made arrangements for free tickets to be available to midshipmen and their families, dues paying members of the Association, personnel of ships in the Pacific Fleet, and Navy supporters on the coast.

To obtain the tickets, application must be made to the Naval Academy Athletic Association at Annapolis, Md. Application may be made through the post Special Services office, building 122.

In the first game of the tourney against Fort MacArthur, the Presidio girls crushed the challenger 23-8. Pvt. Edith Thompson batted three of the Presidio's seven homers in the game.

The second tourney game was lost by the local girls to Fort Ord, 5-9. Sgt. Brown of the Presidio WAC Detachment attributed the loss to the girls' nervous tension. Losing to Ord set the Presidians behind in the race for the title.

The WACs faced Fort MacArthur again in the third game and hit all over the MacArthur pitchers, Lt. Lea and her replacement, Hardy. Presidio's Argue and Bernardini batted homers in the many-hit game. Final score was Presidio 16, MacArthur 1.

The fourth tourney game placed the Presidians against Ord again. Sgt. Ruth Gavigan, Presidio hurler, came through with a surprising six strike-outs to defeat the Ordsters in a tight 11-10 score.

In the tourney's last game, the play-off with Ord, the Presidians triumphed for the title with an 8-6 final score. Pitcher Gavigan hurled only one strike-out but batted three two-baggers.

The All-Sixth Army Championship Trophy was presented to Presidio coach-captain, Sgt. Julian Kite, by Major General W. K. Wright, Sixth Infantry Division Commander.

Watch as Compass! The hunter or fisherman who finds himself lost in the woods without a compass may use his timepiece as an accurate means of direction-finding.

He should point the hour hand of his watch to the sun, and the south is exactly halfway between the hour and figure XII of the watch.

IRANIAN VISITOR—Fort Scott's 90th Engineer Company (Base Reproduction), played host to Major General Ahmad Vosough, chief of the Iranian Military Mission to the United States, last Thursday, as part of the General's tour of military installations throughout the Sixth Army and the Nation. With him during his visit to the repro plant were (l. to r.) CWO

Albert F. Issenman, Operations Officer, 99th plant, Colonel William F. Holley, Commanding Officer, 30th Engineer Group, Major Peter J. Olenchuck, tour director and interpreter from Department of the Army, and Major Clarence B. Bacon, S-3, Presidio of San Francisco. Shown inking up a zinc plate is Cpl. Arthur Gant, 99th Engineer Company.

Fall Kickoff Due Tomorrow At Fort Scott Field

Locals Open League Series!

Raider Eleven To Meet Pirates In Grid Battle Here Tomorrow

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

The Raider eleven meets a firm Treasure Island squad tomorrow at 1015 in the season's first grid tilt. Although the Pirates lost to Martinez in a 13-0 meet last week, their line-up is formidable enough to be a potential threat to the Presidians.

A tentative line-up for the Raiders has been released by Coach Steve Glick. Although there may be last minute changes, the Raider first string eleven will probably look something like the following.

Left end spot will be filled by Pvt. Eugene Hendrickson from Det. A, 6002 SU. At left tackle is Pvt. Mario Masia, also of Det. A. Left guard is veteran Pfc. Rosco Morris, MP Tony Mader fills the center spot.

On the other side of center, Pfc. Don Holstrom, another MP from the 505th, will play right guard. At tackle on the right is newcomer Frank Wilson, again from the 505th. Right end will be Gerry Wilson.

In the backfield, Pfc. Bill Cochran and Pvt. Ed Colarossi will be right and left halfbacks. Pfc. Don Burroughs, doubling as assistant coach for the Raiders, will fill the quarterback slot as usual. Fullback will be Cpl. Lawrence Wilkinson of Det. 1, 6002 SU.

The Pirates played a ragged game against Martinez last week with two many fumbles and considerable yardage lost in penalties. They made ten first downs and 140 yards but were called back 45 yards on penalties. However, with several gridiron veterans in their line-up, the Pirates are a team to watch.

Herman Murray, right tackle for the Pirates, has three years of football behind him with Purdue University. This is his second year for Treasure Island.

Aksel Schmidt, at fullback for the Pirates, played for Ohio State a season or two ago. Left half, Delmar Swann, is another back to watch on the running plays.

The Pirates' line-up is listed below:

RE—Hellekson	LE—Bynum
RT—Murray	LT—Van Pelt
RG—Castellanos	LG—Wallace
C—Windham	QB—Ottosen
LB—Swann	RH—Garretson
FB—Schmidt

Eighteen-year-old Alf Burtleson stroked 281 to finish fourth ahead of Yost.

Raiders Belt SFS In Spirited Tussle On Gator Campus

The Presidio Red Raiders thoroughly trounced the SFS first and second strings in last week's scrimmage on the State campus. The locals ran up ten touchdowns in the meet to the college boys' four. Coach Steve Glick had most of the Presidio team on the field to glean as much experience as possible before the League games.

The SFS scrimmage definitely proved the Raiders ready to meet the pigskin season. The Presidio eleven showed a reliable knowledge of the season's plays, and an ability to put them into action.

Individuals who showed exceptional promise this early in the season were both quarterbacks, Don Burroughs, and George Hammond of the 21st Engineers. Both play-callers showed unerring passing skill and a flair for timing the right plays at the right time.

An on-the-side bit, in conclusion, SFS coach Joe Verducci was overheard to remark that the Raiders would be the toughest opposition State would encounter.

TOUCHDOWN BOUND with SFS Gators in hot pursuit, Raider second string back John Van Dorn carries the ball. The Presidio Red Raiders stomped over the SFS Gators in last week's pre-league scrimmage. Second string men had an opportunity to pit their gridiron talents against real opposition.

Ping Pong, Anyone!

6th Army Table Tennis Meet Slated for 3-5 Nov. at Tacoma

Madigan Army Hospital at Tacoma, Washington, will host the Sixth Army Table Tennis Tournament, to be held 3-5 November this year. All Sixth Army personnel on active duty for a period of ninety days or more are eligible to participate. Each installation will be permitted to enter their single and doubles winners, both male and female in the preliminary tournaments.

Sixth Army Commander Sees Locals in Action
Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, was on hand to size up the Raider eleven at last week's scrimmage with San Francisco State College. The General had observed practice sessions of the Raiders previously and made a special trip to the State College campus to see the home team in action in the season's first meet.

Sooner's Coach!

Bud Wilkinson, one-time Minnesota guard and quarterback, played in the College All-Star classic and then returned in 1949 to coach the collegians.

Leading up to the Sixth Army Tournament, preliminary tournaments will be conducted 20-22 October within each division. Host to the Southern Division will be Yuma Test Station, Yuma, Arizona. Dugway Proving Ground, Dugway, Utah, will host the Mountain Division, and Letterman Army Hospital will be host to the Central Division.

There will be no preliminary tournaments in the Northern Division. All participants in that area will enter the Sixth Army Tournament directly.

Awards will be presented to the winners and runners up in both single and doubles, male and female, by the Sixth Army Welfare Fund. No awards will be presented at the preliminary tournaments.

Entries must be submitted to the headquarters of the installation conducting the preliminary tournaments not later than 11 October 1954. Entries to the Sixth Army Tournament must be submitted to Madigan Army Hospital, Tacoma, Washington, not later than 25 October 1954.

Additional information about the Sixth Army Tournament and the preliminary tournaments is available at the special services office, building 122.

Wednesday to Open Presidio Hoop Season

Next Wednesday marks the beginning of the hoop season this year when team captains for the intra-mural league are to meet in the Special Services office. The meeting is scheduled for 1300 hours.

Basketball practice is coming up for the Raiders post team as the hoop season draws nearer. 25 October is the date that the Red Raider hoopsters will hit the hardwood for the first time this year. Tryouts for the post team will be held at 1300 hours, 13 October, in building 122.

OUTSTANDING SERVICE in the recent Korean conflict, brought decorations to these seven Presidio officers, who were honored at a retreat ceremony and parade on the Presidio's Main Parade ground Friday. Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army Deputy Commander (far left), presented medals to the following:

left to right, Captain Norman B. DeBord, Silver Star Medal; Lt. Colonel Edward Purdy, Lt. Colonel Charles J. Schauers, Lt. Colonel Francis J. Palmer, Captain Herman Kuhn, Captain Robert C. Burpo, each the Bronze Star Medal, and Major Clarence L. Anderson, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Silver Star Given!

7 Decorated for Korean Service At Presidio Award Ceremonies

A total of seven veterans of the Korean conflict, now serving on the Presidio of San Francisco, received awards for heroism and meritorious service overseas, from Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army deputy commander, at a retreat parade and review Friday on the Presidio Main Parade ground.

Captain Norman B. DeBord received the Silver Star for gallantry in action. His citation is for action on 22 July 1950, while serving with the 35th Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division.

While under heavy enemy fire, he swam across a flooded river approximately 100 yards wide to assist in bringing four men, three of them wounded, to safety. According to the citation, "Captain DeBord's gallantry and disregard for his personal safety to help his men are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service."

Lt. Colonel Edward Purdy received the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service as a member of the Korea Civil Assistance Command from April 1953 to April 1954.

The Bronze Star medal was presented to Lt. Colonel Charles J. Schauers for his meritorious service from March 1953 to March 1954 as a member of the United States Military Advisory group to the Republic of Korea Army.

Lt. Colonel Francis J. Palmer received the second Oak Leaf Cluster to his Bronze Star Medal, this one for meritorious service as ground liaison officer for the 58th Fighter Bomber group in Korea from April 1953 to May 1954.

The Bronze Star Medal was presented to Captain Herman Kuhn for meritorious service from March 1953 to June 1954, while serving with the 863rd Transportation company in the Korean Communication Zone.

Also receiving the Bronze Star Medal was Capt. Robert C. Burpo. Captain Burpo was cited for meritorious service from April 1953 to March 1954, as assistant Transportation officer of the 25th Infantry Division.

A former prisoner of war, Major Clarence L. Anderson, now stationed at Letterman Army hospital and previously decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism, at this ceremony received the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

This latest decoration was for "Meritorious service while a prisoner of war interned by Communist forces in Korea from 3 November 1950 to 4 September 1953. Despite the multitude of difficulties confronting him, Major Anderson (then captain) tirelessly administered to the needs of sick and wounded comrades, skillfully relieving pain and suffering day and night by use of such meager and improvised means as were available to him."

You're Urged

To Be Cost Conscious!

Date Extended

Date for closing of the second annual All-Army Art contest has been extended for one week to 27 September. However, those who have finished their entries are to turn them in to the Post Special Service office, Bldg. 122, during the coming week. Details, entry blanks, all the necessities, can also be obtained there or by phoning Ext. 2002. Cash prizes await the winners in each of the four fields including oils, watercolors, drawings or prints.

Buckner

(Continued from page 1)

Formosa, then occupied by the Japanese, but shortly thereafter received a directive ordering him to plan the operation designed to seize Okinawa and certain other islands of the Ryukyus Group.

Under his command, the Tenth Army made its main landings on Okinawa on Easter Sunday, 1 April, 1945, and by 21 June organized resistance by the Japanese ceased.

General Buckner, however, did not live to see the fruits of his first action against the enemy. He was killed by enemy shell-fire on 18 June while observing an armor and infantry attack.

In addition to Mrs. Buckner, General Buckner was survived by two sons, Simon B. III, and William Claiborne, and a daughter, Mary Blanc Bolivar.

Other civilians and Sixth Army officers present at the commissioning ceremony on Monday included Mr. and Mrs. Preston Wright, cousins of the deceased General; Mrs. W. G. Wyman and daughter; General and Mrs. Richard G. Prather, Chief of Staff, Sixth Army; Colonel Thomas J. Seigler, Deputy Chief of Staff, Public Affairs, Sixth Army; Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, G-1, Sixth Army; Colonel Claude F. Burbach, Deputy Chief of Staff, Comptroller; Colonel Morris Marcus, AG, Sixth Army; Lt. Colonel Kemul K. Blacker, Secretary, General Staff, Sixth Army; Captain Alexander Lemberes, Aide to General Wyman; Mr. Sperl Anargyros, and Mr. Eugene Burns, a war correspondent with General Buckner.

MP Promoted!

Pfc. Fred W. Jurczyk of A Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, received a raise in rank to corporal this week. Cpl. Jurczyk is a native of Chicago, Illinois.

A baseball becomes dead when a pitched ball touches a batter or his clothing while he is in batting position.

Call To Study!

Presidio High School, College Classes Start; Enrollment Open

A near-record enrollment of 100 officers and 30 enlisted men launched the San Francisco State College fall classes which began on the Presidio this week.

Post Troop Information and Education Officer, Captain Clinton E. Regelin, announced that there is still time for students to enroll in either the college or high school classes.

On the high school slate, classes began on Monday in Mathematics; Tuesday, in U. S. History and Constitution; Wednesday, General Science, and Thursday, English. All classes were held from 1800 to 2100 hours in Building 117.

Students may enroll in the fall session for all four subjects, to attend four nights a week, or in two subjects, to attend two nights a week. The completion of only 20 units of work, or four subjects, and passing of the CED test, is all that is required for qualification for a high school diploma, issued by the San Francisco Unified School Districts.

College classes designed to meet the requirements of an AB degree also began this week. They included a sociology course entitled "Social Psychology," given Monday and Wednesday evenings in Building 1101.

A science course entitled "The Physical World" and a study in international relations, "The Far East," also commenced this week.

No prerequisites are required to take these courses, and it is not necessary to have a high school diploma to enroll. The units of credit are transferable at full value.

A total of 61 officers and seven enlisted men completed the recent on-Post San Francisco State College summer course in American Political Institutions. The results were forwarded to unit personnel officers for entry in the individual's 201 file. As additional number of officers are currently taking evening lectures at SFS, Golden Gate College, UC Extension and University of San Francisco.

It has been the policy of the Army for officers making efficiency reports upon officers who have undertaken this type of study to take the matter into consideration when preparing their reports.

In order to enroll for both high school and college classes, personnel are advised to contact Post Educational Counselor in Building 117, extension 3189.

Ah C'Mon Fellows!

There is a bit of furniture that needs a bit of repairing, nothing serious, a little hammering, a little varnish, you know, stuff like that. And its "stationed" in the Fort Baker Service club. So tonight there is this beeg party starting around 2000, in which it is hoped all hands will lend a hand to get this lounging equipment in Number One shape. And for those who do toil, there will be an extra-special lunch!

Local Soldiers Join Combined Services In Mare Island Salute

Three units of the Presidio participated in the Mare Island Centennial Parade yesterday.

One hundred men and five officers from the 505th Military Police Battalion, contingents from the Sixth Army Honor Guard, 30th Engineer Group and the Sixth Army Band joined marching units from the Marine Corps, Navy, Coast Guard, Historical Uniform Society and the Air Force to honor the West Coast's first shipyard on its one hundredth anniversary.

Grand Marshal for the parade was Colonel W. O. Thompson, USMC.

Further music was supplied by the Navy Band and the Coast Guard Drum and Bugle detachment.

Baker MPs Return

One hundred and twenty officers and men of B Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, return from bivouac at Camp Hunter Liggett, California, this Sunday following a week in the field in an advanced training cycle.

Captain Francis Hoskins, B Company commander, accompanied the contingent south.

Northwestern University half-back, Bob McKeiver, has been inducted into the Army.

HIGHLIGHT OF SIXTH Army Information's "ceremonial week" was the pinning of first lieutenant bars on Lt. Mildred E. Coulter, Administrative Officer of the section. Veteran servicewoman Coulter entered the Army in '52 and following basic training, leaders course and OCS at Ft. Lee, was commissioned in March of '53. Lt. Coulter served a previous hitch in the WAVES during WWII.

COMMENDATION RIBBON with Metal Pendant went to 1st Lt. Thomas Lew for meritorious service while assigned to the XVI Corps in Japan from May 1952 to May 1954. Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander for the Presidio of San Francisco, pinned on the ribbon at an informal ceremony held in his office. The young San Francisco born officer was cited for professional competence and careful planning in his capacity as a Signal officer which resulted in a steady improvement of his staff section. Lt. Lew has been assigned to the Sixth Army Communications Center at the Presidio since his return from Japan this July.

Call To Patriots!

What America Means To Me Letter Contest Is Now Open

Does America mean to you what it means to other Americans?

Does America mean any one thing, especially—or many things?

If you and a million other American citizens-in-arms searched your minds and hearts for ideas of what America means to you, the chances are that you would have many different thoughts. For each of us moves in a world a little different from that of even our closest friends.

Responding to an invitation from Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, more than 7,000 United States servicemen and women wrote letters last year telling what America means to them. The Foundation's George Washington Honor Medals were awarded 40 of the letterwriters. The top award is for $1,000 and $100 prizes will be awarded to 19 other servicemen.

Your expression could help develop the better understanding of the American way of life which Freedoms Foundation seeks to promote. The Foundation, non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian, has awarded cash prizes and George Washington Honor Medals each year since 1949. Awards are made to individuals, communities, and organizations for their accomplishments in spreading the understanding of freedom.

In 1953, for the first time, letters from servicemen were submitted to awards juries. The juries were made up, as they are every year, of State supreme court jurists and national executive leaders of patriotic, veteran, and service club organizations. Of the 40 prize-winning servicemen, 19 went to Valley Forge to receive their awards. Later they met President Eisenhower at a special ceremony at the White House. And all the letterwriters—including those who received no award—know better than anyone what they gained for themselves, merely by attempting to get their ideas on paper.

Would you say that to you America means mostly Freedom from fear? To one man—a sailor—it does. As he sees it, America is a place where you need have no fear of holding your own personal opinions, no fear of losing all the rights and opportunities that an American enjoys—along with his responsibility for not abusing his rights.

A great American, George Washington, said: "The name of America must always exalt the pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local discriminations." In other words, it's a "bigger" word than northerner or southerner, Californian, Texan, or New Yorker.

What each man thinks counts in America. That's why what you think about America will be studied by an impartial group of highly qualified judges. Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge is giving wide circulation to the award-winning letter. Parts of them, at least, have been, or will be, published in newspapers, magazines, and pamphlets.

And remember, if you really think about it, you'll find that your way of looking at America may be a little different from any other person's. So say it your way. Who knows now whether or not your way will shed another new bright light on what America really means?

Mail your entry to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, Los Angeles, Calif., and it will be forwarded to Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Valley Forge, Pa., for judging. Winning letters are selected for sincerity and understanding of American ideals rather than for literary excellence. Your letter must not exceed 500 words in length, and it must be postmarked not later than 11 November, 1954.

Puzzle Answer

RAMA TOTALS
CIVET ANIMATE
OVERT PANACEA
HERE LEG HERS
ETA AIRED SEE
REGENT REP
ERECT NUDES
TEA ASTERN
CAT SLAVE MAE
AVID LIE POSE
ROTATED WATER
PILLAGE AVERS
DEEMED REDS

Vet News Notes

Veterans Administration today issued a new roundup of dates and deadlines for veterans training under the World War II and Korean GI Bills, and under Public Law 16 for the disabled.

The roundup includes changes in deadline dates under a new law which went in effect August 20, 1954.

Under the Korean GI Bill, most veterans must begin training within three years after their separation from service.

Those who left the armed forces before August 20, 1951, must have started by August 20 of this year.

Korean GI training must come to an end within eight years from the date of a veteran's separation, or eight years from the end of the present emergency period, whichever is first.

Under the original World War II GI Bill, new enrollments stopped for nearly all veterans on July 25, 1951. For the most part, those still in training began before the 1951 cut-off date.

The only World War II veterans still eligible to start are those who begin GI training within four years after their discharge from World War II service. For example, a World War II veteran who got out of service late in 1950 still could start under the original law.

With few exceptions, all World War II GI Bill training comes to an end on July 25, 1956.

Under Public Law 16 for disabled World War II and Korean veterans, there is no deadline date for starting training. However, a veteran must begin his course in time to finish it by the wind-up date of the training program.

For most disabled post-Korea veterans, discharged before August 20, 1954, the wind-up date is August 20, 1963. For most who leave the armed forces after August 20, 1954, the wind-up deadline will be nine years from discharge or from the end of the emergency period, whichever is first.

Disabled Korean veterans who come under any of the following three special categories will have an extra four years added to their deadline dates:

(1) Those whose severe disabilities have prevented them from entering or completing training.

(2) Those who originally received discharged barring them from training, but whose discharges later were changed, too late to enter and complete training in time. An other than dishonorable discharge is a requirement for training.

(3) Those for whom a service-connected disability was not established in time to begin and complete a course of training. A compensable service-connected disability is another eligibility requirement.

Post-Korea veterans in these three categories, separated before August 20, 1954, will have a deadline of August 20, 1967. For those who leave the armed forces after August 20, 1954, the wind-up deadline will be 13 years from date of discharge or 13 years from the end of the emergency, whichever comes first.

For most disabled World War II veterans, Public Law 16 training must begin in time to be completed by July 25, 1956. But disabled World War II veterans, in any of the three special categories, will have four years added to the 1956 deadline. They must finish Public Law 16 training by July 25, 1960.

DISPLAY IN MINIATURE—The 505th Military Police Battalion is getting prepared to celebrate the MP Corps' 12th Anniversary with a display of weapons and equipment in a window of the Stonestown Emporium. Battalion designer, Cpl. George S. Gardner (right), a graduate in industrial design, here shows Cpl. Richard Jewell, Battalion S-3 Section, Plans and Training, the workings of a scale model of the exhibit, complete with miniature MP, acetate plate-glass window, submachine gun, radio transmitter and .45 automatic. (Star-Presidian Photo by Metcalfe)

Ami Go Home!

Truth Is Our Defense Will Be Next Week's Troop Topic

The Troop Topic for next week will be "Truth is Our Defense."

The conference will point up that the American soldier is today's number one target for enemy propaganda and needs constantly to be on guard against it.

Enemy propaganda attacks are of two general types: strategic and tactical. They differ chiefly in audience. Strategic propaganda is usually aimed at everyone—to get each of us to cut down on whatever we are doing for the defense effort.

Tactical propaganda, as its name implies, is directed at troops in combat zones, and usually uses stories and themes the enemy hopes will confuse and dismay those of us doing the actual fighting.

Both types, however, have this goal in common—they seek to destroy or weaken our will to resist communist military drives.

Tactical propaganda, which the conference is mainly interested, is directed primarily at troops in combat zones, with a different theme for each battle situation. Troops moving up to attack, for instance, are told that the enemy's defenses are too strong; troops on the defensive hear they are surrounded—that by failing to surrender they will die needlessly. Troops going to the aid of other peoples are usually bombarded with leaflets and posters, or hear tavern talk to the effect that these people do not want our help—that all would be well the world over, if Americans would only go home.

Another favorite is: "Allies are willing to fight to the last American."

Fortunately, American soldiers are smart enough to see through these claims. After they have been overseas for a short while, they realize only too well what abandoning the world to communists would mean.

You—the American soldier—are the number one target today for communist propaganda. You are a main threat to the enemy's plans for world-wide aggression. In his propaganda attacks against you, he will attempt to make white look black through a constant repetition of lies and half-truths.

Battlefield hardships sometimes make it difficult for us to see through the enemy's propaganda line. Therefore, before we come to grips with the enemy on the battlefield, we need to understand thoroughly the reasons we are

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-post at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

9 September: Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas McQuade, 16th BPO, PSFC.

9 September: Cpl. and Mrs. William C. Swope, 9th AAA Bn., Ft. Baker, Calif.

10 September: Sfr. and Mrs. Woodrow Johnson, 315th Engr. Co. (PC), Ft. Baker, Calif.

11 September: A/C and Mrs. Frank J. Bolestrier, 3536 (FTR) Support Sq., Mather AFB, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Frank A. Kelleher, 315th Engr. Co. (Port Const.), Ft. Barry, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Robert H. Maxey, Det. A, 602d SU, PSFC.

12 September: Pfc. and Mrs. Burton R. Palmer, 271st AAA Bn., Hunters Point, Calif.; A/C and Mrs. James G. Prater, 556 Fd. Svs. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

Sons to:

7 September: Pvt. and Mrs. Leonard B. Hall, Co. B, 505th MP Bn., PSFC.

8 September: Sgt. and Mrs. Joseph J. De Temple, 13th Crash Resc. Btl. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Richard Larson, 93 AP Sq., Castle AFB, Calif.; A/C and Mrs. Bryon H. Ragan, 566 Fd. Svs. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Vincent, 4754th Radar Eval. Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Edward Washington, Bat. A, 501 AAA Gp., Co. Hanford, Wash.

9 September: Pvt. and Mrs. James W. Hendrick, WAAC, Ft. Baker, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Paul H. King, Hq. 6th Army, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. Charles E. Miller, 516 Ord. Det., PSFC.

10 September: Sgt. and Mrs. Robert O. Guess, 9956 TSU, SGO, LAH, PSFC.

11 September: Capt. and Mrs. Joseph E. Lifschitz, 9956 TSU, SGO, LAH, PSFC; A/C and Mrs. Rudolph C. Montz, 3355 Treg. Gp., Nellis AFB, Nev.

12 September: Pfc. and Mrs. Donald K. Barros, Det. 1, 6003 SU, Ft. Ord, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. John M. Burhoe, 521 Engr. Co. (Tope Avn.), Ft. Scott, Calif.; A/C and Mrs. John H. Dean, Hq. Sec., 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Edward M. Granado, 566 AP Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; CWO and Mrs. Milton C. Hess, 161 Ord. Co., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; Capt. and Mrs. James E. Wirrick, Det. 7, Cal. Mil. Dist., Univ. Santa Clara, Calif.

WARNER BROTHERS STUDIO played host to six Bay Area Reserve Officers in Burbank, California, recently. Pictured with Jack Warner, Jr., on the set of "The Silver Chalice" are: (l. to r.) Captain Tito Moruza, of Berkeley, Calif., Captain M. M. Schowalter, of Oakland, Calif., Colonel W. H. Adams, of Berkeley, Calif., Mr. Jack Warner, Jr., Major Fred Owen, of Danville, Calif., Major George Knight, of San Francisco, Calif., and 1st Lt. R. H. Harris, of Redwood City, Calif. The visit was part of an Army study project of all available media for psychological warfare.

Television and Children Subject of 1st PTA Meet At Winfield Scott School

Television—the new medium of education—will be under discussion by two guest speakers at the first meeting of the Winfield Scott school P.T.A. Tuesday, at 1300 in the school auditorium at Divisadero and Beach streets in San Francisco.

Lucille Bliss of KGO-TV and James Day of KQED will lead the discussion on "Television and Children."

Miss Bliss is the TV star and Disney actress known by thousands of children as "Auntie Lou" on her "Happy Birthday to You" show, and as "Crusader Rabbit."

Mr. Day, general manager, Bay Area Educational Television association, began his career in broadcasting as director of public affairs and education for KNBC in San Francisco in 1946. From 1949 to 1951 he was with Allied occupation forces in Tokyo, supervising 119 stations of the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan.

In addition to his work in television, Mr. Day moderates the weekly discussion program "World Affairs are Your Affairs."

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 17 September—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 18 September—Tony's dance class, 1930; dart tournament, with prizes, fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 19 September—Duane folies, 2000.

Monday, 20 September—Monthly Jewish Welfare board bingo and birthday party, 2000.

Tuesday, 21 September—Square dancing, 2000. Crafts, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 22 September—Pincholt tournament, 2000. Crafts, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 23 September—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 17 September—Furniture repair party with refreshments, 2000.

Saturday, 18 September—Horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 19 September—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Jim Stuart stage show, 2000.

Monday, 20 September—Crafts class, 1900.

Tuesday, 21 September—Post dance, "Track and Field Meet," 2000.

Wednesday, 22 September—Irene Weed Folk Dance group presents, 2000.

Thursday, 23 September—Square dancing, 2000.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston, Joan Leslie and Forrest Tucker.

Saturday, 18 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer and Van Johnson.

Sunday, 19 September and Monday, 20 September—"Color in Cinemascope," "Prince Valiant," with Robert Wagner, James Mason and Janet Leigh.

Tuesday, 21 September—"The Black Dakotas," with Gary Merrill and Wanda Hendrix.

Wednesday, 22 September and Thursday, 23 September—"NOT in Cinemascope," "Suddenly," with Sterling Hayden, Frank Sinatra and Nancy Gates.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"Thy Neighbor's Wife," with Cleo Moore and Hugo Haas.

Saturday, 18 September—"Dangerous Mission," with Victor Mature and Piper Laurie.

Sunday, 19 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Tuesday, 21 September—"Suddenly," with Sterling Hayden and Frank Sinatra.

FORT BAKER THEATRE
Friday, 17 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart and Jose Ferrer.

Monday, 20 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Wednesday, 22 September—"Private Hell 36," with Steve Cochran, Howard Duff and Ida Lupino.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 19 September—"Suddenly," with Sterling Hayden and Frank Sinatra.

Tuesday, 21 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Thursday, 23 September—"Private Hell 36," with Steve Cochran and Ida Lupino.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"Thunder Bay," with James Stewart and Joanne Dru.

Saturday, 18 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Sunday, 19 September and Monday, 20 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart and Jose Ferrer.

Tuesday, 21 September—"Thy Neighbor's Wife," with Cleo Moore and Hugo Haas.

Wednesday, 22 September—"The Black Dakotas," with Gary Merrill and Wanda Hendrix.

Thursday, 23 September—"Dangerous Mission," with Victor Mature and Piper Laurie.

16th BPO Soldier

Pfc. Arlo D. Herbold, company clerk, 16 Base Post Office, Presidio of San Francisco, has been named soldier of the month for August in his unit. Pfc. Herbold entered the service in February 1953, attended Adjutant General's school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, and joined the 16th BPO last October. His home is in Pierson, Iowa.

Vet Loans Ease!

New Legislation Will Make Vet Housing Improvements Easier

Veterans should find it easier to get supplemental loans for major alterations, repairs and improvements to their GI homes as a result of the Housing Act of 1954 and new Veterans Administration streamlined procedures, VA announced.

The Housing Act, which became law on August 2, 1954, makes it possible for World War II and post-Korea veterans to take advantage of any unused GI home loan entitlement for home improvement loans.

To further encourage lenders to make more such loans, VA now will allow supervised lenders holding GI home loans to complete home improvement loans to their veteran-borrowers without getting clearance in advance from VA.

VA emphasized that under the Housing Act which amends the GI Bill, a supplemental loan may be guaranteed or insured by VA only if it covers repairs necessary for the protection of the property or will substantially improve the basic livability or utility of the property.

VA estimates that more than 3,000,000 of the 3,351,000 veterans who have obtained GI home loans have some home loan guaranty entitlement left. Under the GI Bill, veterans have a maximum guaranty entitlement of 60 per cent of a GI home loan. But the guaranty cannot exceed $7,500.

Previously, if a veteran had used $4,000 or more of his entitlement, he was unable to use the balance for a supplemental loan for home improvements. If he had used less than $4,000, he was entitled to only the difference between what he had used and $4,000 for supplemental loans.

Now, with the passage of the Housing Act of 1954, there are no limitations on the use of any part of the maximum $7,500 home loan guaranty entitlement for home improvement loans.

The VA move to allow lenders to process home improvement loans without VA's advance approval is extended only to lenders who are supervised by Federal or State banking authorities. These lenders hold nearly 85 per cent of all GI home loans.

Non-supervised lenders and lenders who are not holders of the primary mortgage must continue to get VA's approval before processing supplemental loans.

In another streamlining step, VA will accept the appraisal of a supervised lender on a home improve-

Exhibit Continues

Exhibit of 50 original watercolor paintings by contemporary artists, an art show currently touring the Sixth Army area, will remain another week at the Presidio Service club and library. The show is diversified as to subject, geographical location and technique of the artists involved. Only recently they were chosen for publication in the Ford Times and Lincoln Mercury Times.

Jewish High Holy Days Begin 27 September

Jewish Rosh Hashanah (New Year) will begin at sundown 27 September and end at sundown 29 September. Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) begins at sundown 6 October and ends at sundown 7 October.

All Jewish personnel and their dependents were reminded of these High Holy days today, and invited to attend the religious services at the synagogue of their choice in the San Francisco Bay area.

Seating accommodations may be made by phoning the Sixth Army Chaplain's office, Ext. 2521 or 4192, or by writing or calling the National Jewish Welfare board, 1005 Market street, Underhill 3-0620.

Cinema Previews

"JUBILEE TRAIL," F*. This is the story, from the Gwen Bristow best selling novel, of the people who found their way to the historic Jubilee Trail from old New York and the blazing caubats of the New Orleans of the 1800's.

"SUDDENLY," M. Frank Sinatra portrays a psychopathic ex-GI who, for half a million dollars, attempts to assassinate the president of the United States. NOT for the kiddies!

"PRIVATE HELL 36," F*. Because night club singer Ida Lupino's passion is for the things that money can buy, and because policeman Steve Cochran is crazy about her, he goes his fellow officer, Howard Duff, into joining him in the theft of "hot" money. They hide it in trailer No. 36, which then becomes their own private hell.

F*—Family M—Mature

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

DOWN

- 1—Shipyards
- 2—Nean
- 3—Simple
- 4—Siamese coin
- 5—Candle
- 6—Wild ass
- 7—Metal
- 8—Oriental nurse
- 9—Intertwines
- 10—Cubic meter
- 11—Comfort
- 12—Illuminated
- 13—Poker stakes
- 14—Thick
- 15—Comb. form: outside
- 16—Place
- 17—Lowered in rank
- 18—Rubbers on pencils
- 19—Scoffs
- 20—Claims
- 21—Hall!
- 22—Edible fish
- 23—Evade
- 24—Appellation
- 25—Helped
- 26—Small valley
- 27—Cover with asphalt
- 28—Scottish cap
- 29—Armed conflict

ACROSS

- 1—Incarnation of Vishnu
- 2—Greek letter
- 3—Cattle animal
- 4—Exhilarate
- 5—Open to view
- 6—Cord cloth
- 7—Limb
- 8—Possessive pronoun
- 9—23-Creek letter
- 10—Ventilated
- 11—Observe
- 12—Ruling in place of another
- 13—Cord cloth
- 14—At this place
- 15—Limb
- 16—Possessive pronoun
- 17—Greek letter
- 18—Ventilated
- 19—Observe
- 20—Ruling in place of another
- 21—Cord cloth
- 22—Build
- 23—Endraged
- 24—Sailor
- 25—Portrait
- 26—Spun
- 27—Liquid
- 28—Plunder
- 29—House pet
- 30—Thought
- 31—Girl's name
- 32—Communists

COMMENDATION RIBBON with Metal Pendant went to 1st Lt. Thomas Lew for meritorious service while assigned to the XVI Corps in Japan from May 1952 to May 1954. Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander for the Presidio of San Francisco, pinned on the ribbon at an informal ceremony held in his office. The young San Francisco horn officer was cited for professional competence and careful planning in his capacity as a Signal officer which resulted in a steady improvement of his staff section. Lt. Lew has been assigned to the Sixth Army Communications Center at the Presidio since his return from Japan this July.

Call To Patriots!

What America Means To Me Letter Contest Is Now Open

Does America mean to you what it means to other Americans?

Does America mean any one thing, especially—or many things?

If you and a million other American citizens-in-arms searched your minds and hearts—

A great American, George Washington, said: "The name of America must always exalt the pride of patriotism more than any appellation derived from local distinctions." In other words, it's a "bigger" word than northern or southern, Californian, Texan, or New Yorker.

What each man thinks counts in America. That's why what you think about America will be studied by an impartial group of highly qualified judges. Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge is giving wide circulation to the award-winning letter. Parts of them, at least, have been, or will be, published in newspapers, magazines, and pamphlets.

And remember, if you really think about it, you'll find that your way of looking at America may be a little different from any other person's. So say it your way. Who knows now whether or not your way will shed another new bright light on what America really means?

Mail your entry to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, Los Angeles, Calif., and it will be forwarded to Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge, Valley Forge, Pa., for judging. Winning letters are selected for sincerity and understanding of American ideals rather than for literary excellence. Your letter must not exceed 500 words in length, and it must be postmarked not later than 11 November, 1954.

In 1953, for the first time, letters from servicemen were submitted to awards juries. The juries were made up, as they are every year, of State supreme court jurists and national executive leaders of patriotic, veteran, and service club organizations. Of the 40 prize-winning servicemen, 19 went to Valley Forge to receive their awards. Later they met President Eisenhower at a special ceremony at the White House. And all the letterwriters—including those who received no award—know better than anyone what they gained for themselves, merely by attempting to get their ideas on paper.

Would you say that to you America means mostly Freedom from fear? To one man—a sailor—it does. As he sees it, America is a place where you need have no fear of holding your own personal opinions, no fear of losing all the rights and opportunities that an American enjoys—along with his responsibility for not abusing his rights.

Puzzle Answer

RAMA TOTALS
CIVET ANIMATE
OVERT PANACEA
HERE LEG HERS
ETA AIRED SEE
REGENT REP
ERECT NUDES
TEA ASTERN
CAT SLAVE MAE
AVID LIE POSE
ROTATED WATER
POLLAGE AVERS
DEEMED REDS

Vet News Notes

Veterans Administration today issued a new roundup of dates and deadlines for veterans training under the World War II and Korean GI Bills, and under Public Law 16 for the disabled.

The roundup includes changes in deadline dates under a new law which went in effect August 20, 1954.

Under the Korean GI Bill, most veterans must begin training within three years after their separation from service.

Those who left the armed forces before August 20, 1951, must have started by August 20 of this year.

Korean GI training must come to an end within eight years from the date of a veteran's separation, or eight years from the end of the present emergency period, whichever is first.

Under the original World War II GI Bill, new enrollments stopped for nearly all veterans on July 25, 1951. For the most part, those still in training began before the 1951 cut-off date.

The only World War II veterans still eligible to start are those who begin GI training within four years after their discharge from World War II service. For example, a World War II veteran who got out of service late in 1950 still could start under the original law.

With few exceptions, all World War II GI Bill training comes to an end on July 25, 1956.

Under Public Law 16 for disabled World War II and Korean veterans, there is no deadline date for starting training. However, a veteran must begin his course in time to finish it by the wind-up date of the training program.

For most disabled post-Korea veterans, discharged before August 20, 1954, the wind-up date is August 20, 1963. For most who leave the armed forces after August 20, 1954, the wind-up date will be nine years from discharge or from the end of the emergency period, whichever is first.

Disabled Korean veterans who come under any of the following three special categories will have an extra four years added to their deadline dates:

(1) Those whose severe disabilities have prevented them from entering or completing training.

(2) Those who originally received discharged barring them from training, but whose discharges later were changed, too late to enter and complete training in time. An other than dishonorable discharge is a requirement for training.

(3) Those for whom a service-connected disability was not established in time to begin and complete a course of training. A compensable service-connected disability is another eligibility requirement.

Post-Korea veterans in these three categories, separated before August 20, 1954, will have a deadline of August 20, 1967. For those who leave the armed forces after August 20, 1954, the wind-up date will be 13 years from date of discharge or 13 years from the end of the emergency, whichever comes first.

For most disabled World War II veterans, Public Law 16 training must begin in time to be completed by July 25, 1956. But disabled World War II veterans, in any of the three special categories, will have four years added to the 1956 deadline. They must finish Public Law 16 training by July 25, 1960.

DISPLAY IN MINIATURE—The 505th Military Police Battalion is getting prepared to celebrate the MP Corps' 12th Anniversary with a display of weapons and equipment in a window of the Stonestown Emporium. Battalion designer, Cpl. George S. Gardner (right), a graduate in industrial design, here shows Cpl. Richard Jewell, Battalion S-3 Section, Plans and Training, the workings of a scale model of the exhibit, complete with miniature MP, acetate plate-glass window, submachine gun, radio transmitter and .45 automatic. (Star-Presidian Photo by Metcalfe)

Ami Go Home!

Truth Is Our Defense Will Be Next Week's Troop Topic

The Troop Topic for next week will be "Truth is Our Defense."

The conference will point up that the American soldier is today's number one target for enemy propaganda and needs constantly to be on guard against it.

Enemy propaganda attacks are of two general types: strategic and tactical. They differ chiefly in audience. Strategic propaganda is usually aimed at everyone—to get each of us to cut down on whatever we are doing for the defense effort.

Tactical propaganda, as its name implies, is directed at troops in combat zones, and usually uses stories and themes the enemy hopes will confuse and dismay those of us doing the actual fighting.

Both types, however, have this goal in common—they seek to destroy or weaken our will to resist communist military drives.

Tactical propaganda, with which the conference is mainly interested, is directed primarily at troops in combat zones, with a different theme for each battle situation. Troops moving up to attack, for instance, are told that the enemy's defenses are too strong; troops on the defensive hear they are surrounded—that by failing to surrender they will die needlessly. Troops going to the aid of other peoples are usually bombarded with leaflets and posters, or hear tavern talk to the effect that these people do not want our help—that all would be well the world over, if Americans would only go home.

Another favorite is: "Allies are willing to fight to the last American."

Fortunately, American soldiers are smart enough to see through these claims. After they have been overseas for a short while, they realize only too well what abandoning the world to communists would mean.

You—the American soldier—are the number one target today for communist propaganda. You are a main threat to the enemy's plans for world-wide aggression. In his propaganda attacks against you, he will attempt to make white look black through a constant repetition of lies and half-truths.

Battlefield hardships sometimes make it difficult for us to see through the enemy's propaganda line. Therefore, before we come to grips with the enemy on the battlefield, we need to understand thoroughly the reasons we are

WARNER BROTHERS STUDIO played host to six Bay Area Reserve Officers in Burbank, California, recently pictured with Jack Warner, Jr., on the set of "The Silver Chalice" are: (l. to r.) Captain Tito Moruza, of Berkeley, Calif., Captain M. M. Schowalter, of Oakland, Calif., Colonel W. H. Adams, of Berkeley, Calif., Mr. Jack Warner, Jr., Major Fred Owen, of Danville, Calif., Major George Knight, of San Francisco, Calif., and 1st Lt. R. H. Harris, of Redwood City, Calif. The visit was part of an Army study project of all available media for psychological warfare.

Television and Children Subject of 1st PTA Meet At Winfield Scott School

Television—the new medium of education—will be under discussion by two guest speakers at the first meeting of the Winfield Scott school P.T.A. Tuesday, at 1300 in the school auditorium at Divisadero and Beach streets in San Francisco.

Lucille Bliss of KGO-TV and James Day of KQED will lead the discussion on "Television and Children."

Miss Bliss is the TV star and Disney actress known by thousands of children as "Auntie Lou" on her "Happy Birthday to You" show, and as "Crusader Rabbit."

Mr. Day, general manager, Bay Area Educational Television association, began his career in broadcasting as director of public affairs and education for KNBC in San Francisco in 1946. From 1949 to 1951 he was with Allied occupation forces in Tokyo, supervising 119 stations of the Broadcasting Corporation of Japan.

In addition to his work in television, Mr. Day moderates the weekly discussion program "World Affairs are Your Affairs."

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 17 September—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 18 September—Tony's dance class, 1930; dart tournament, with prizes, fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 19 September—Duane folies, 2000. Monday, 20 September—Monthly Jewish Welfare board bingo and birthday party, 2000.

Tuesday, 21 September—Square dancing, 2000. Crafts, 1900 to 2200. Wednesday, 22 September—Pinocle tournament, 2000. Crafts, 1900 to 2200. Thursday, 23 September—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 17 September—Furniture repair party with refreshments, 2000. Saturday, 18 September—Horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 19 September—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Jim Stuart stage show, 2000. Monday, 20 September—Crafts class, 1900.

Tuesday, 21 September—Post dance, "Track and Field Meet," 2000.

Wednesday, 22 September—Irene Weed Folk Dance group presents, 2000. Thursday, 23 September—Square dancing, 2000.

The Army has approximately 45,000,000 (M) square feet of space tied up in 147 maintenance shops in the United States and overseas.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston, Joan Leslie and Forrest Tucker.

Saturday, 18 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart, Jose Ferrer and Van Johnson.

Sunday, 19 September and Monday, 20 September—"Color cinemascopes" "Prince Vallant," with Robert Wagner, James Mason and Janet Leigh.

Tuesday, 21 September—"The Black Dakotas," with Gary Merrill and Wanda Hendrix.

Wednesday, 22 September and Thursday, 23 September—"NOT cinemascopes" "Suddenly," with Sterling Hayden, Frank Sinatra and Nancy Gates.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"Thy Neighbor's Wife," with Cleo Moore and Hugo Haas.

Saturday, 18 September—"Dangerous Mission," with Victor Mature and Piper Laurie.

Sunday, 19 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Tuesday, 21 September—"Suddenly," with Sterling Hayden and Frank Sinatra.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart and Jose Ferrer.

Monday, 20 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Wednesday, 22 September—"Private Hell 36," with Steve Cochran, Howard Duff and Ida Lupino.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 19 September—"Suddenly," with Sterling Hayden and Frank Sinatra.

Tuesday, 21 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Thursday, 23 September—"Private Hell 36," with Steve Cochran and Ida Lupino.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 17 September—"Thunder Bay," with James Stewart and Joanne Dru.

Saturday, 18 September—"Jubilee Trail," with Vera Ralston and Joan Leslie.

Sunday, 19 September and Monday, 20 September—"The Caine Mutiny," with Humphrey Bogart and Jose Ferrer.

Tuesday, 21 September—"Thy Neighbor's Wife," with Cleo Moore and Hugo Haas.

Wednesday, 22 September—"The Black Dakotas," with Gary Merrill and Wanda Hendrix.

Thursday, 23 September—"Dangerous Mission," with Victor Mature and Piper Laurie.

16th BPO Soldier

Pfc. Arlo D. Herbold, company clerk, 16 Base Post Office, Presidio of San Francisco, has been named soldier of the month for August in his unit. Pfc. Herbold entered the service in February 1953, attended Adjutant General's school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, and joined the 16th BPO last October. His home is in Pierson, Iowa.

Vet Loans Ease!

New Legislation Will Make Vet Housing Improvements Easier

Veterans should find it easier to get supplemental loans for major alterations, repairs and improvements to their GI homes as a result of the Housing Act of 1954 and new Veterans Administration streamlined procedures, VA announced.

The Housing Act, which became law on August 2, 1954, makes it possible for World War II and post-Korea veterans to take advantage of any unused GI home loan entitlement for home improvement loans.

To further encourage lenders to make more such loans, VA now will allow supervised lenders holding GI home loans to complete home improvement loans to their veteran-borrowers without getting clearance in advance from VA.

VA emphasized that under the Housing Act which amends the GI Bill, a supplemental loan may be guaranteed or insured by VA only if it covers repairs necessary for the protection of the property or will substantially improve the basic livability or utility of the property.

VA estimates that more than 3,000,000 of the 3,351,000 veterans who have obtained GI home loans have some home loan guaranty entitlement left. Under the GI Bill, veterans have a maximum guaranty entitlement of 60 per cent of a GI home loan. But the guaranty cannot exceed $7,500.

Previously, if a veteran had used $4,000 or more of his entitlement, he was unable to use the balance for a supplemental loan for home improvements. If he had used less than $4,000, he was entitled to only the difference between what he had used and $4,000 for supplemental loans.

Now, with the passage of the Housing Act of 1954, there are no limitations on the use of any part of the maximum $7,500 home loan guaranty entitlement for home improvement loans.

The VA move to allow lenders to process home improvement loans without VA's advance approval is extended only to lenders who are supervised by Federal or State banking authorities. These lenders hold nearly 85 per cent of all GI home loans.

Non-supervised lenders and lenders who are not holders of the primary mortgage must continue to get VA's approval before processing supplemental loans.

In another streamlining step, VA will accept the appraisal of a supervised lender on a home improve-

Cinema Previews

"JUBILEE TRAIL," F. This is the story, from the Gwen Bristow best selling novel, of the people who found their way to the historic Jubilee Trail from old New York and the blazing caubets of the New Orleans of the 1800's.

"SUDDENLY," M. Frank Sinatra portrays a psychopathic ex-GI who, for half a million dollars, attempts to assassinate the president of the United States. NOT for the kiddies!

"PRIVATE HELL 36," F. Because night club singer Ida Lupino's passion is for the things that money can buy, and because policeman Steve Cochran is crazy about her, he goes his fellow officer, Howard Duff, into joining him in the theft of "hot" money. They hit it in trailer No. 36, which then becomes their own private hell.

F—Family M—Mature

CROSSWORD PUZZLE

DOWN

- 1—Shipyard worker
- 2—Mean
- 3—Simple
- 4—Siamese coin
- 5—Candle
- 6—Wild ass
- 7—Metal
- 8—Oriental nurse
- 9—Intertwines
- 10—Cubic meter
- 11—Rubbers on pencils
- 12—Comfort
- 13—Illuminated
- 14—Poker stakes
- 15—Thick
- 16—Comb. form: outside
- 17—Place
- 18—Lowered in rank
- 19—Rubbers on pencils
- 20—Scaffolds
- 21—Sums
- 22—Hall!
- 23—Kiddie fish
- 24—Evade
- 25—Appellation
- 26—Helped
- 27—Small valley
- 28—Cover with asphalt
- 29—Scottish cap
- 30—Armed conflict

ACROSS

- 1—Incarnation of Vishnu
- 2—Greek letter
- 3—Catlike animal
- 4—Exhilarate
- 5—Open to view
- 6—Cure-all
- 7—At this place
- 8—Limb
- 9—Possessive pronoun
- 10—Greek letter
- 11—Ventilated
- 12—Observe
- 13—Ruling in place of another
- 14—Corded cloth
- 15—Build
- 16—Endraged figures
- 17—Afternoon party
- 18—Toward rear of ship
- 19—House pet
- 20—Esne
- 21—Girl's name
- 22—Eager
- 23—Falsehood
- 24—SIT for portrait
- 25—Spun
- 26—Liquid
- 27—Plunder
- 28—Declares
- 29—Thought
- 30—Communists

Fall Kickoff Due Tomorrow At Fort Scott Field

Locals Open League Series!

Raider Eleven To Meet Pirates In Grid Battle Here Tomorrow

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

The Raider eleven meets a firm Treasure Island squad tomorrow at 1015 in the season's first grid tilt. Although the Pirates lost to Martinez in a 13-0 meet last week, their line-up is formidable enough to be a potential threat to the Presidians.

A tentative line-up for the Raiders has been released by Coach Steve Glick. Although there may be last minute changes, the Raider first string eleven will probably look something like the following.

Left end spot will be filled by Pvt. Eugene Hendrickson from Det. A, 6002 SU. At left tackle is Pvt. Mario Masia, also of Det. A. Left guard is veteran Pfc. Rosco Morris. MP Tony Mader fills the center spot.

On the other side of center, Pfc. Don Holstrom, another MP from the 505th, will play right guard. At tackle on the right is newcomer Frank Wilson, again from the 505th. Right end will be Gerry Wilson.

In the backfield, Pfc. Bill Cochran and Pvt. Ed Colarossi will be right and left halfbacks. Pfc. Don Burroughs, doubling as assistant coach for the Raiders, will fill the quarterback slot as usual. Fullback will be Cpl. Lawrence Wilkinson of Det. 1, 6002 SU.

The Pirates played a ragged game against Martinez last week with two many fumbles and considerable yardage lost in penalties. They made ten first downs and 140 yards but were called back 45 yards on penalties. However, with several gridiron veterans in their line-up, the Pirates are a team to watch.

Herman Murray, right tackle for the Pirates, has three years of football behind him with Purdue University. This is his second year for Treasure Island.

Aksel Schmidt, at fullback for the Pirates, played for Ohio State a season or two ago. Left half, Delmar Swann, is another back to watch on the running plays.

The Pirates' line-up is listed below:

RE—Hellekson	LE—Bynum
RT—Murray	LT—Van Pelt
RG—Castellanos	LG—Wallace
C—Windham	QB—Otton
LB—Swann	RH—Garretson
FB—Schmidt

Eighteen-year-old Alf Burtleson stroked 281 to finish fourth ahead of Yost.

Raiders Belt SFS In Spirited Tussle On Gator Campus

The Presidio Red Raiders thoroughly trounced the SFS first and second strings in last week's scrimmage on the State campus. The locals ran up ten touchdowns in the meet to the college boys' four. Coach Steve Glick had most of the Presidio team on the field to glean as much experience as possible before the League games.

The SFS scrimmage definitely proved the Raiders ready to meet the pigskin season. The Presidio eleven showed a reliable knowledge of the season's plays, and an ability to put them into action.

Individuals who showed exceptional promise this early in the season were both quarterbacks, Don Burroughs, and George Hammond of the 21st Engineers. Both play-callers showed unerring passing skill and a flair for timing the right plays at the right time.

An on-the-side bit, in conclusion, SFS coach Joe Verducci was overheard to remark that the Raiders would be the toughest opposition State would encounter.

TOUCHDOWN BOUND with SFS Gators in hot pursuit, Raider second string back John Van Dorn carries the ball. The Presidio Red Raiders stomped over the SFS Gators in last week's pre-league scrimmage. Second string men had an opportunity to pit their gridiron talents against real opposition.

Ping Pong, Anyone?

6th Army Table Tennis Meet Slated for 3-5 Nov. at Tacoma

Madigan Army Hospital at Tacoma, Washington, will host the Sixth Army Table Tennis Tournament, to be held 3-5 November this year. All Sixth Army personnel on active duty for a period of ninety days or more are eligible to participate. Each installation will be permitted to enter their single and doubles winners, both male and female in the preliminary tournaments.

Sixth Army Commander Sees Locals in Action

Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, was on hand to size up the Raider eleven at last week's scrimmage with San Francisco State College. The General had observed practice sessions of the Raiders previously and made a special trip to the State College campus to see the home team in action in the season's first meet.

Sooner's Coach!

Bud Wilkinson, one-time Minnesota guard and quarterback, played in the College All-Star classic and then returned in 1949 to coach the collegians.

Wednesday to Open Presidio Hoop Season

Next Wednesday marks the beginning of the hoop season this year when team captains for the intra-mural league are to meet in the Special Services office. The meeting is scheduled for 1300 hours.

Basketball practice is coming up for the Raiders post team as the hoop season draws nearer. 25 October is the date that the Red Raider hoopsters will hit the hardwood for the first time this year. Tryouts for the post team will be held at 1300 hours, 13 October, in building 122.

OUTSTANDING SERVICE in the recent Korean conflict, brought decorations to these seven Presidio officers, who were honored at a retreat ceremony and parade on the Presidio's Main Parade ground Friday. Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army Deputy Commander (far left), presented medals to the following:

left to right, Captain Norman B. DeBord, Silver Star Medal; Lt. Colonel Edward Purdy, Lt. Colonel Charles J. Schauers, Lt. Colonel Francis J. Palmer, Captain Herman Kuhn, Captain Robert C. Burpo, each the Bronze Star Medal, and Major Clarence L. Anderson, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant.

Silver Star Given!

7 Decorated for Korean Service At Presidio Award Ceremonies

A total of seven veterans of the Korean conflict, now serving on the Presidio of San Francisco, received awards for heroism and meritorious service overseas, from Major General William F. Dean, Sixth Army deputy commander, at a retreat parade and review Friday on the Presidio Main Parade ground.

Captain Norman B. DeBord received the Silver Star for gallantry in action. His citation is for action on 22 July 1950, while serving with the 35th Infantry Regiment, 25th Infantry Division.

While under heavy enemy fire, he swam across a flooded river approximately 100 yards wide to assist in bringing four men, three of them wounded, to safety. According to the citation, "Captain DeBord's gallantry and disregard for his personal safety to help his men are in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service."

Lt. Colonel Edward Purdy received the Bronze Star Medal for meritorious service as a member of the Korea Civil Assistance Command from April 1953 to April 1954.

The Bronze Star medal was presented to Lt. Colonel Charles J. Schauers for his meritorious service from March 1953 to March 1954 as a member of the United States Military Advisory group to the Republic of Korea Army.

Lt. Colonel Francis J. Palmer received the second Oak Leaf Cluster to his Bronze Star Medal, this one for meritorious service as ground liaison officer for the 58th Fighter Bomber group in Korea from April 1953 to May 1954.

Additional information about the Sixth Army Tournament and the preliminary tournaments is available at the special services office, building 122.

You're Urged

To Be Cost Conscious!

Date Extended

Date for closing of the second annual All-Army Art contest has been extended for one week to 27 September. However, those who have finished their entries are to turn them in to the Post Special Service office, Bldg. 122, during the coming week. Details, entry blanks, all the necessities, can also be obtained there or by phoning Ext. 2002. Cash prizes await the winners in each of the four fields including oils, watercolors, drawings or prints.

Buckner

(Continued from page 1)

Formosa, then occupied by the Japanese, but shortly thereafter received a directive ordering him to plan the operation designed to seize Okinawa and certain other islands of the Ryukyus Group.

Under his command, the Tenth Army made its main landings on Okinawa on Easter Sunday, 1 April, 1945, and by 21 June organized resistance by the Japanese ceased.

General Buckner, however, did not live to see the fruits of his first action against the enemy. He was killed by enemy shell-fire on 18 June while observing an armor and infantry attack.

In addition to Mrs. Buckner, General Buckner was survived by two sons, Simon B. III, and William Claiborne, and a daughter, Mary Blanc Bolivar.

Other civilians and Sixth Army officers present at the commissioning ceremony on Monday included Mr. and Mrs. Preston Wright, cousins of the deceased General; Mrs. W. G. Wyman and daughter; General and Mrs. Richard G. Prather, Chief of Staff, Sixth Army; Colonel Thomas J. Seigler, Deputy Chief of Staff, Public Affairs, Sixth Army; Colonel Duncan S. Somerville, G-1, Sixth Army; Colonel Claude F. Burbach, Deputy Chief of Staff, Comptroller; Colonel Morris Marcus, AG, Sixth Army; Lt. Colonel Kemuel K. Blacker, Secretary, General Staff, Sixth Army; Captain Alexander Lemberes, Aide to General Wyman; Mr. Sperl Anagyros, and Mr. Eugene Burns, a war correspondent with General Buckner.

MP Promoted!

Pfc. Fred W. Jurczyk of A Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, received a raise in rank to corporal this week. Cpl. Jurczyk is a native of Chicago, Illinois.

A baseball becomes dead when a pitched ball touches a batter or his clothing while he is in batting position.

Call To Study!

Presidio High School, College Classes Start; Enrollment Open

A near-record enrollment of 100 officers and 30 enlisted men launched the San Francisco State College fall classes which began on the Presidio this week.

Post Troop Information and Education Officer, Captain Clinton E. Regelin, announced that there is still time for students to enroll in either the college or high school classes.

On the high school slate, classes began on Monday in Mathematics; Tuesday, in U. S. History and Constitution; Wednesday, General Science, and Thursday, English. All classes were held from 1800 to 2100 hours in Building 117.

Students may enroll in the fall session for all four subjects, to attend four nights a week, or in two subjects, to attend two nights a week. The completion of only 20 units of work, or four subjects, and passing of the GED test, is all that is required for qualification for a high school diploma, issued by the San Francisco Unified School Districts.

College classes designed to meet the requirements of an AB degree also began this week. They included a sociology course entitled "Social Psychology," given Monday and Wednesday evenings in Building 1101.

A science course entitled "The Physical World" and a study in international relations, "The Far East," also commenced this week.

No prerequisites are required to take these courses, and it is not necessary to have a high school diploma to enroll. The units of credit are transferable at full value.

A total of 61 officers and seven enlisted men completed the recent on-Post San Francisco State College summer course in American Political Institutions. The results were forwarded to unit personnel officers for entry in the individual's 201 file. As additional number of officers are currently taking evening lectures at SFS, Golden Gate College, UC Extension and University of San Francisco.

It has been the policy of the Army for officers making efficiency reports upon officers who have undertaken this type of study to take the matter into consideration when preparing their reports.

In order to enroll for both high school and college classes, personnel are advised to contact Post Educational Counselor in Building 117, extension 3189.

Ah C'Mon Fellows!

There is a bit of furniture that needs a bit of repairing, nothing serious, a little hammering, a little varnish, you know, stuff like that. And its "stationed" in the Fort Baker Service club. So tonight there is this beeg party starting around 2000, in which it is hoped all hands will lend a hand to get this lounging equipment in Number One shape. And for those who do toll, there will be an extra-special lunch!

Local Soldiers Join Combined Services In Mare Island Salute

Three units of the Presidio participated in the Mare Island Centennial Parade yesterday.

One hundred men and five officers from the 505th Military Police Battalion, contingents from the Sixth Army Honor Guard, 30th Engineer Group and the Sixth Army Band joined marching units from the Marine Corps, Navy, Coast Guard, Historical Uniform Society and the Air Force to honor the West Coast's first shipyard on its one hundredth anniversary.

Grand Marshal for the parade was Colonel W. O. Thompson, USMC.

Further music was supplied by the Navy Band and the Coast Guard Drum and Bugle detachment.

Baker MPs Return

One hundred and twenty officers and men of B Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, return from bivouac at Camp Hunter Liggett, California, this Sunday following a week in the field in an advanced training cycle.

Captain Francis Hoskins, B Company commander, accompanied the contingent south.

Northwestern University half-back, Bob McKeiver, has been inducted into the Army.

HIGHLIGHT OF SIXTH Army Information's "ceremonial week" was the pinning of first lieutenant bars on Lt. Mildred E. Coulter, Administrative Officer of the section. Veteran servicewoman Coulter entered the Army in '32 and following basic training, leaders course and OCS at Ft. Lee, was commissioned in March of '53. Lt. Coulter served a previous hitch in the WAVES during WWII.

Reserve Training!

Instruction & Demonstration Teams To Tour Sixth Army

Two Mobile Instruction and Demonstration teams have been scheduled to tour the Sixth Army area beginning in October to give inactive duty training to Army Reserve personnel.

The teams are composed of officers who will give specialized training slated to augment the ROTC, Air Force Reserve and Naval Reserve programs as well as Army Reserve training.

Team Number 1, composed of Major Richard F. Dennison, Infantry, and Captain Albert J. Budjako, Infantry, will speak on "Disaster Relief Operations." Their instruction will be open to all units and interested civilians. The team will be in the Bay Area during the first part of October, according to a tentative schedule. Specific dates will be announced at a later date.

Team Number 2 will give instruction in "The Tank-Infantry Team in Attack." Its members are Major Hugh R. Primm, Armor, and Captain Donald W. Murphie, Infantry. Meetings will be open to combat units only. The team will not be in the Northern California area until November as the itinerary now stands.

Three additional teams will be organized during the current fiscal year. They will cover "Defense Against CBR Attack," "Night Combat Operations," and "Military Police Plans and Operations."

Headquarters for the I and D team activities will be at the California Military District, Presidio of San Francisco.

Major Dennison, officer in charge of Team No. 1, is the commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry Regiment, Fort Ord. He has a total of 49 months overseas service in the Aleutians, Philippines, and in Korea, where he served as battalion commander of the 15th Infantry, 3rd Division. A 1940 graduate of the University of Montana, he wears the Bronze Star with two oak leaf clusters, the Republic of Korea Unit Citation, and the Combat Infantryman's badge.

The officer in charge of Team No. 2, Major Primm, is a graduate of Texas A & M College,

Historical Book Tells ASF Role in WWII; Due Early Sept. Release

Washington (AFPS) — Procurement and supply problems in WWII are extensively covered in the book "The Organization and Role of the Army Service Forces," released Sept. 1. At its peak during WWII the ASF included 2,000,000 troops and civilians.

The book was written by Dr. John D. Millett, wartime member of the staff of Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, and now president of Miami University.

A great deal of Dr. Millett's story is devoted to a study of relations between ASF and the War Production Board, the wartime agency responsible for civilian production.

Relations were sometimes stormy, with the WPB accusing ASF of trying to control the civilian economy, and the ASF charging the Board with trying to dictate military strategy.

The purchase price of the book is $4.25. It can be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

Empty Stomachs!

An empty stomach was one of the requirements for removing dirt and grease spots in the Army of 1825.

General Regulations for the Army, Article 28, "Dress—Personal Cleanliness and Neatness," stated in part:

"Spots of dirt and grease, or stains, will be taken out by application of pipe clay moistened with saliva from an empty stomach. Scratch and place lightly, when it is dry, and then beat it."

Officers Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Sidney C. Jenkins is now with the Inspector General section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

Prior to coming to the Presidio, Colonel Jenkins served a year as acting Inspector General of Camp Stoneman, California, and before that, was in the Far East for 42 months serving in Korea, Japan and Okinawa with civil administration, Ryukyus islands, as liaison officer and S-3. He returned to this country in May 1953, accompanying the body of his son, Lt. Donald C. Jenkins, who was killed in action in Korea while serving with the 3rd Division.

With 17 years of active duty service, the colonel is a veteran of service in Mexico and in both World Wars I and II, and in the latter, spent three years in the Far East with 6th Army as civil affairs, G-5 Section. In addition to numerous theatre ribbons, Colonel Jenkins has the Philippine Medal of Merit awarded him by the Philippine government.

The colonel is a graduate of the civil affairs training school, Yale University and the school of military government, University of Virginia, both in 1944, and the Provost Marshal officers advanced school, Fort Oglethorpe, Georgia, 1942.

Lt. Colonel Henry M. Boudinot has just completed three years' service in London, England, with the planning section of U. S. Army Headquarters there.

He has now been named chief, miscellaneous services division, Quartermaster section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

With 13 and one-half years of active duty, Colonel Boudinot was in charge of Quartermaster depots in Ireland, North Africa and Italy during World War II, and spent three years in the ETO. Upon his return to this country in 1945, he served four years in the military planning division of the Quartermaster General's office, Washington, D.C.

Colonel Boudinot, in addition to the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant wears the Distinguished Marksman medal, a Department of the Army award. The colonel's wife and two children have accompanied him to his new assignment here.

Lt. Colonel William E. Welch has been named chief of the military affairs division, Judge Advocate section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

With Headquarters AFPE in Japan the past three years, Colonel Welch served part of his tour on TDY to Korea with the U.N. staff engaged in negotiations for the repatriation of sick and wounded POWs.

In combat during World War II, the colonel served in five campaigns in Africa, Sicily and France, with the 9th Division, and in two with 1st Army Headquarters for a total of seven major campaigns during his 30-month tour.

With a total of 14 years of Army service, Colonel Welch has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Belgian Fourragere, the Combat Infantry Badge and the Bronze Arrowhead for the Normandy invasion. He is a graduate of the Infantry officers advanced course, Fort Benning, Georgia. His wife and two sons, seven and eight years old, are now residing with him in San Rafael.

Lt. Colonel Raymond C. Johnson, assistant Post S-4 at the Presidio of San Francisco from 1949 to 1951, has been assigned as acting G-4 for Headquarters California Military District.

Colonel Johnson's last assignment was as assistant Quartermaster for the XVI Corps in Northern Honshu, Japan.

A veteran of 28 years Army service, he has been stationed in the Pacific Theater, the CBI, and in World War II took part in the China offensive campaign. He wears the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Army-Navy-Air Force Medal for action in China, and appropriate theater ribbons.

He and his wife reside in San Francisco with their two children, Linda D., age 12, and Karen C., age 10.

Major Gust E. Olson recently began his new assignment in the mobilization and civil plans branch, plans and operations division, G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His last assignment was on Formosa, where, for the past two years, he has been with the Army G-3 Section, MAAG.

In World War II, Major Olson, a member of the Army for 14 years, served 39 months in the Pacific theatre with the 32nd Infantry division. He is a graduate of the Infantry officers advanced course, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Major and Mrs. Olson and their two daughters are now residing in San Francisco.

Captain Herman Kuhn has been newly assigned to the Transportation section of Headquarters Sixth Army.

Recently, he completed 16 months in Korea with the 863rd Transportation Port company.

A veteran of 23 and one-half years Army service, Captain Kuhn served on the Presidio of San Francisco with the old 30th Infantry from 1935 to 1941, at which time he left for Washington where he received a direct appointment as a commissioned officer. He previously had served from 1931 to 1935 in the Philippines with the 31st Infantry.

His World War II service was out of San Francisco Port of Embarkation at Fort Mason and included trips to Okinawa and New Guinea on Transportation Corps matters. On 10 September, Captain Kuhn was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal in a ceremony on the Presidio Main Parade ground.

Major Arnold Swenson has just completed three years as Post Ordnance officer, Fort Douglas, Utah.

His new assignment here is in the inspection division, Ordnance Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

A veteran of 26 years service, the major's World War II tours were in Ordnance work in both the ETO and Okinawa. During the period 1947 to 1950, he served in Hawaii.

Major Swenson's wife and daughter now reside with him here.

Captain Vaughn H. Baggerly has taken over the duties of assistant recreation officer, Special Services Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Prior to coming here, Captain Baggerly spent two years at Camp Stoneman, California, as Special Services officer.

In the Far East, the captain served three years in Tokyo in the Special Services division of GHQ, where for two years he was entertainment officer for Tokyo, and for the last year, served as aide to Brig. General Edwin W. Piburn, now retired, who, prior to his command assignment, had been Special Services officer.

A member of the Army for the past 10 years, Captain Baggerly spent the period May, 1942, to March, 1946, at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, where he was first commissioned from the Signal OCS there and later served two years as assistant Signal officer as well as school theatre and entertainment officer.

Captain Donald F. Rabbott is newly assigned to the budget division, Comptroller section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

He returned a short time ago from two and one-half years duty in Japan as a disbursing officer.

Captain Rabbott served four years with the Signal corps during World War II, continental U.S., and left the service in 1946, joining the inactive Reserve Finance Corps. He came on active duty in 1951, and attended the Finance school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

A graduate of Yale University, class of 1936, the captain has his degree in economics. He is a native of Connecticut.

The Star-Presidian

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST
Post T&E Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Warriors Pull Ahead!

Ord, Lee, Jackson Lead Off In All-Army Baseball Tourney

Fort Ord, California, Fort Dix, New Jersey, and Fort Lee, Virginia, were the winners in the second day's play of the All-Army Baseball Tournament at Fort Carson, Colorado. Dix dropped from the tourney, defeated at the hands of Fort Jackson in the third day's play.

Fort Ord exploded for three runs in the top of the 10th inning Tuesday night to upend Fort Jackson, South Carolina, 8-5. Ord came from behind after blowing an early lead to tie the game in the ninth.

Ord manager J. W. Porter, ex-Detroit Tiger outfielder, led off the 10th with a homer over the center wall. Catch Bob Rosselli hit the second round tripper of the inning over the left field wall.

In the third round of the tourney, Fort Jackson, South Carolina, rallied for four runs in the fifth inning Wednesday night and then held on to defeat Fort Dix, New Jersey, 6-4. The loss drops Fort Dix from the double elimination tourney.

Fort Dix took an early lead 2-1 but the southerners came back in the fifth to score four times on five hits. The big blow of the inning was a two-run double by third baseman Joe Tanner.

Southpaw, George Maier, with Kansas City in '53, went the route for Fort Jackson to gain his first win of the tourney. He gave up but seven hits and struck out twelve. One of the Fort Dix safeties was a bases empty homer in the second by third baseman, John Malangone.

Fort Sill, Oklahoma, became the second team to be eliminated from the All-Army Tournament when they lost to Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, 10-0 Wednesday afternoon. Fort Wood jumped off to an early 4-0 lead in the first two innings and was never headed.

Wayne Tjaden, a Milwaukee Braves farmhand, went the distance for the Hilltoppers, scattering eight hits effectively. Tjaden's task was made easier by the Wood twelve-hit attack off three Sill pitchers.

Included were a pair of homers, one a two-run blast by right-fielder, Al Anacich, property of the Sacramento Solons.

Following tourney play was scheduled for yesterday, Ord vs. Fort Lee, Virginia. Both teams were undefeated in the All-Army meet.

Amateur Golf Tourney Tomorrow at Martinez

The Seventh Annual Martinez Amateur Golf Tourney swings under way tomorrow at Martinez' Contra Costa Country Club, a par 71 course. The tourney will last through the week-end and Monday, 19 September. Over $400.00 in prizes will be given out.

Officers and enlisted men from Sixth Army are invited to participate in the link meet. Entrance fee is $1.50 and the green fees amount to $2.00. There will be five flights, all handicaps.

The event is sponsored by the Martinez Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Fishing Don'ts

It is unlawful—to place or cause to be placed or discharged into any water substances deleterious to fish or plant life.

To use explosives for taking fish. To bring ashore a fish in such condition that its size and weight cannot be determined.

To ship trout or striped bass from California.

To take any fish for the purpose of removing the eggs.

21st Engineers Roll Win Over 505th In Eastern League

In the Eastern Bowling League the 21st Engineers took the top position with a 3-1 win over Co. B, 505th MPs. Builder Rothong rolled 163 average and 209 high game and tops for the Corps was Gallo's 165 average and high 189.

Second place 56th MRU No. 1 defeated the Keystone Kops 3-1. Lead score for the 56th was Williams' 172 average and 184 high game. Kop Johnson bowled 157 and 177 to lead his team.

6300 ASU whipped 56th MRU No. 2 3-1 with SU's Barber rolling 170 average and 192 high game. Top man for the 56th was Lawton who turned in 165 and 182.

The Slow-Rollers annexed another win by beating the newly instigated Harbor Defenders 3-1. Roller big-pin was Thorne who bowled 161 average and 209 high game. Pacer for the defenders was Crozier who powered his group with 164, 207.

In the National Bowling League this week, Det. 1, 6002 SU, took the league lead by pommeling the Maeros 4-0. Top pinner for the Deuce was Evans who turned in 180 average and 192 high game. Loser Bryant bowled 170, 209.

HQ Co. 6th Army smashed 6513th SU 4-0. HQ's Brown rolled out 155 average and 156 high game. Saunders bowled 168, 194.

Fort Scott Hilltoppers No. 3 defeated the Fort Scott Hilltoppers No. 1 by 3-1. Topper No. 3 head pinner was Kemper with 167 average and 218 high. Topper No. 1's Pravel rolled 153 and 149.

Hilltopper team No. 2 took a win of 3-1 over the 102d MRU. The hillmen were led by Carlisle's 161 average and 171 high game. Loser Chinn turned in 151 and 146.

Standings:

Team	NATIONAL	Win	Lost
Det. 1, 6002 SU	7	1
HQ Co. 6th Army	7	1
Fl. Scott Hilltopper No. 3	6	2
Fl. Scott Hilltopper No. 2	6	2
Fl. Scott Hilltopper No. 1	2	6
102d MRU	2	6
Maeros	1	7
6513 SU	1	7

Team	EASTERN	Win	Lost
21st Engineers	9	3
56th MRU No. 1	9	3
Co. B, 505th MP	8	4
6300 ASU	7	5
Sibw Rollers	7	5
56th MRU No. 2	5	7
Keystone Kops	2	10
Harbor Defenders	1	11

Giant Doings!

Former Michigan State griddier Everett "Sonny" Grandelius has been mighty busy the last couple of years. After returning from Army service in Korea he played a full season with the professional New York Giants of the National Football League. Now he's the Spartan freshman coach. . . . Scheduled to see plenty of action this year as ends with the pro Giants are two service returnees, Ken McAfee and Bob Schnelker.

VICTORIOUS PRESIDIANNE soft ball team came over behind last week to whip the Fort Ord ladies for the All-Sixth Army Softball Championship, Women's Division. The girls journeyed south last week to participate in the Tourney at Fort Ord. Back row, left to right, Sgt. Lillian Vierra, Sgt. Julian Kite (coach), Sgt. Connie Argue, Sgt. Jane Brost, Cpl. Gloria Gardino, and Pvt. Edith Thompson. Front row, Cpl. Ronnie Long, Sgt. Zorah Christian, Sgt. Ruth Gavigan (pitcher), Cpl. Sylvia Bernardini, and Pvt. Mary Boyers.

Ladies Victorious!

Ord Cops Title In All-Sixth Army Diamond Tourney

In a tight pitching duel on the Fort Ord diamond last week, Ord's 51st Field Artillery Battalion walloped Fort Lewis to win the Sixth Army Softball Championship. The host team defeated Lewis 3 to 1.

Don Floren pitched for the invincible Ord men and Cecil McCoy hurled for Fort Lewis in the closely contested battle. The mound men matched strikeouts for strikeouts in the first two innings. The Ordsters managed three hits off McCoy, while Floren allowed the Lewis nine only two hits.

The Presidio fared badly against the top two Sixth Army teams. Against Fort Lewis, Presidio scored only three to the opponent's eight. PSF moundman Sgt. Forrest Coleman struck out seven but let five walk. Rival pitcher was Lewis' McCoy. Seven errors were tallied for Presidio and five for Lewis. Earl batted the only two bagger for the Presidians.

Against the triumphant Ord sackmen, Cpl. W. C. Reynolds hurled a six-hit game, still failing to win for the Presidio. "Pitching for the Ordsters, Turner struck out eight and gave one base on balls. Presidio managed only two hits in the game.

Ducats for 9 October Navy-Stanford Grid Tilt Available to Presidians

A limited number of ducats to the Navy-Stanford game are available free of charge to post personnel, it was announced today by Lt. Herbert Youngdahl, Special Services officer. The big game will be played at Palo Alto, 9 October at 1400 hours.

The Naval Academy Athletic Association had made arrangements for free tickets to be available to midshipmen and their families, dues paying members of the Association, personnel of ships in the Pacific Fleet, and Navy supporters on the coast.

To obtain the tickets, application must be made to the Naval Academy Athletic Association at Annapolis, Md. Application may be made through the post Special Services office, building 122.

ladies in the first of the play-offs the Presidians pressed an 8-0 win in the second tight play-off with the same team.

In the first game of the tourney against Fort MacArthur, the Presidio girls crushed the challenger 23-8. Pvt. Edith Thompson batted three of the Presidio's seven homers in the game.

The second tourney game was lost by the local girls to Fort Ord, 5-9. Sgt. Brown of the Presidio WAC Detachment attributed the loss to the girls' nervous tension. Losing to Ord set the Presidians behind in the race for the title.

The WACs faced Fort MacArthur again in the third game, and hit all over the MacArthur pitchers, Lt. Fea and her replacement, Hardy. Presidio's Argue and Bernardini batted homers in the many-hit game. Final score was Presidio 16, MacArthur 1.

The fourth tourney game placed the Presidians against Ord again. Sgt. Ruth Gavigan, Presidio hurler, came through with a surprising six strike-outs to defeat the Ordsters in a tight 11-10 score.

In the tourney's last game, the play-off with Ord, the Presidio ladies triumphed for the title with an 8-6 final score. Pitcher Gavigan hurled only one strike-out but batted three two-baggers.

The All-Sixth Army Championship Trophy was presented to Presidio coach-captain, Sgt. Julian Kite, by Major General W. K. Wright, Sixth Infantry Division Commander.

Watch as Compass!

The hunter or fisherman who finds himself lost in the woods without a compass may use his timepiece as an accurate means of direction-finding.

He should point the hour hand of his watch to the sun, and the south is exactly halfway between the hour and figure XII on the watch.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP TROPHY is presented to Sgt. Julian Kite by Major General E. K. Wright, Sixth Infantry Division Commander. Sgt. Kite is captain and coach for the winning WAC squad who triumphed over Fort Ord to gain the title for the Presidio of San Francisco.

IRANIAN VISITOR—Fort Scott's 90th Engineer Company (Base Reproduction), played host to Major General Ahmad Vosough, chief of the Iranian Military Mission to the United States, last Thursday, as part of the General's tour of military installations throughout the Sixth Army and the Nation. With him during his visit to the repro plant were (l. to r.) CWO

Albert F. Issenman, Operations Officer, 99th plant, Colonel William F. Holley, Commanding Officer, 30th Engineer Group, Major Peter J. Olenchuck, tour director and interpreter from Department of Army, and Major Clarence B. Bacon, S-3, Presidio of San Francisco. Shown inking up a zinc plate is Cpl. Arthur Gant, 99th Engineer Company.

Presidio Honor Guard Posts Brilliant Record

One of the most distinguished and active records ever compiled by a unit stationed on the Presidio of San Francisco is that of a company-size group of men who have one of the shortest historical records here.

Organized at the direction of Lt. General Joseph Swing, former Sixth Army Commander, Detachment A, 6002 SU, Sixth Army Honor Guard, drew up its first morning report 2 August, 1952.

Since that date, the Guard has been a part of some of the most impressive military and civil ceremonies to be held in the Sixth Army Area.

The Honor Guard was organized with two purposes in mind, the first being that of a mobile alert force capable of functioning as a controlling or tactical element in case of disaster, fire or civil defense. As such, the unit was designed to fit into the plans of Sixth Army for such instances.

The secondary mission of the unit was to fulfill the many ceremonial duties that are contingent with an Army headquarters.

Fortunately the emphasis since its inception has been on drills and parades and not on civil defense or disaster relief measures.

A typical month in the company presents an extraordinarily diverse itinerary of parades, drill competitions, burial ceremonies, VIP escorts, and plainly, "good works."

In September of 1954, for instance, members of the Guard participated in (1) Armed Forces Reserve Day, (2) Mare Island Centennial, (3) California State Fair (drill platoon) and (4) Lodi Grape Festival Drill Competition.

In other months of 1954 the unit supplied two-platoon Guards of Honor for Synnman Rhee, the Colombian Ambassador, and the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Manpower, Hugh M. Milton, II.

In addition to this the company has been requested to perform in civil parades and exhibitions where military precision and soldierly bearing have left a lasting impression with those organizations and groups before which they have performed.

Outstanding on their roster of achievements for 1954, were St. Patrick's Day Parade, Redwood City Rodeo Parade, American Legion "40 & 8" Parade, Edison - Fairfield Water Carnival, all of which gave their first place awards to the company as a whole or elements thereof in parades and drill contests throughout the Sixth Army Area.

Besides being competitors, or many occasions members of the Guard have acted as judges and mentors to ROTC units and similar organizations who look upon the unit as drill-experts non-pareil.

Although the Guard functions

with the precision, snap and color of a crack outfit, there is within its ranks an even more elite unit. They are "The Presidians."

This group specialized in drill competitions, where they are judged by their uniforms, the manual of arms, precision drilling and movement while marching.

"The Presidians" have beaten representatives from all of the Services in such competition.

Dress uniform for the Guard is basically OD. This is enhanced by white boot laces, white pistol belt with brass buckle, white gloves, white scarf, white four-gerre and red-and-white helmet liner.

"The Presidians" wear this same uniform plus chromed steel helmets and chrome plated Springfield rifles.

All men carry shining M-1 rifles with white web slings, with the exception of the leaders who carry calibre .45 automatic pistols in highly polished holsters.

The Honor Guard has been commanded by four officers. First, Major James R. Pendergrast, did much to organize the unit in its formative stage. He was responsible for the unit insignia—a knight's helmet of Spanish design depicting readiness for the mission.

A West Point graduate, Captain M. E. MacDonald, took over on Major Pendergrast's departure.

The third commander was Captain Chester B. Searls, an ex-POW who served with Company B, 38th Infantry Regiment, 2nd Division, up to the time of his capture by the CCF in Korea. Captain Searls is from Ventura, California.

The present commander is Captain Eugene J. Gasior, also a graduate of West Point who served as a company commander with the 8th Cavalry Regiment, 1st Cavalry Division in Korea.

Capt. Eugene Gasior

Captain E. Gasior Is Honor Guard's New Commander

Captain Eugene J. Gasior has become the new commanding officer of the Detachment A, Honor Guard, Presidio of San Francisco.

Graduating from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1945, Captain Gasior, just prior to coming to the Presidio, completed the Advanced Infantry Course at Fort Benning, Georgia.

His most recent assignments have been at Headquarters III Corps, Fort MacArthur, California, where he was secretary to the general staff for a year, and Fort Rosecrans, San Diego, California, where he spent eight months as Deputy Post Commander.

The Captain has had two tours of duty in the Far East, the first one being occupation duty in Japan with the 25th Infantry Division from 1945 to January 1948, following which he spent the summer of 1948 (five months) with a combat team at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

His second tour of Far Eastern duty occurred during the Korean conflict when he served in both Japan and Korea from October 1950 to February 1952, with the First Cavalry Division and the G-3 Section, HQ, and Service Command, GHQ, FECOM.

Operation Big Store!

Army depot operations during the next 12 months will revolve around 134 depots containing approximately 207,000,000 (M) square feet of covered storage space, and 312,000,000 (M) square feet of open space.

Army-Wide Tryout!

Local Sergeants Among Few To Test Army Dress Blues

Two enlisted men assigned to the U.S. Army Recruiting Station in San Francisco, Detachment 6, 6400 SU, have been chosen by Sixth Army Quartermaster here to be among the first 14 soldiers in the Army to test-wear the new Army Blue dress uniform.

Essay Contest On

Only 10 days remain for entries in the Presidio and sub-post essay contest on conservation to be turned in, military personnel were reminded today. Actual title of the papers are to be, "Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment," and they should not exceed 500 words in length. Prizes for the first, second and third place winners will be $25, $15 and $10 respectively. Entries are to be in the Post TI&E office, Bldg. 122, before 1300 hours on 27 September. Judging and awarding of prizes will be done that week.

Local Units to Take Part in San Diego USAR Day Fete

One hundred and ninety-two men from units on the Presidio of San Francisco journey south this week-end to take part in tomorrow's San Diego, California, United States Army Reserve Day.

Units taking part in the affair include 61 men and one officer from the Sixth Army Band, 19 members of the Pipe Band, 38 officers and men from the Sixth Army Honor Guard, 22 marching perfectionists of the famed "Presidian" drill team, and 51 officers and men of B Company, 505th Military Police Battalion.

The big, all-day festival of khaki will feature a reception and luncheon in Balboa Park, San Diego, sponsored by the City and County of San Diego in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce. Entertainment will be provided by the "Presidians," the crack local marching unit, Cpl. Dick Armbrust, singer, Sixth Army Band, and Pfc. Ron Riddle, Fort Ord pianist, and seven Hollywood players. The latter group will include Raymond Burr, MC, Harry Babbitt, Mamie Van Doren, Gail Gifford, Roberta Linn and Madge Hamilton.

Following the mid-day festivities, Regular Army and Army Reserve contingents will stage a full-scale mock battle. Weapons utilized will include arms as small as the .45 caliber pistol, as heavy as the 105 Howitzer. The battle will be staged by troops from Camp Irwin, with aggressor forces represented by San Diego reservists.

French Needle Diet Fix New Geiger Use

Orleans, France—The X-ray is the usual method of exploring the interior of the human anatomy, but Army engineers have successfully used a portable Geiger Counter when the complicated mechanism failed.

A French gourmet had swallowed a needle containing 1.33 milligrams of radium. He was X-rayed immediately at the Orleans Centre Hospital, but the French doctors found that radium destroys X-ray film.

An emergency call to the Army's engineers for the Geiger Counter located the needle in the patient's lower left abdomen.

Promotion Quotas!

In the matter of the Army's September promotion quotas, the E-4 corporal slot is the only one to show any appreciable overall gain. There are 30,000 of these, an increase of 7,000 over August. Other Army level quotas are E-6 or sergeant first class, 700, and E-5, sergeant, 14,900. There have been no master sergeant ratings available this year.

At Sixth Army level, the ratio of promotions handed down from D/A goes like this: sergeant first class, 20; sergeant, 458; corporal, 1,517 and private first class, 1,155.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 16 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 17 September, 1954

POSTHUMOUS COMMISSION—Mrs. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., of San Francisco, came to the Presidio Monday and received her late husband's posthumous commission of full general in the Army and a silk four-star flag from Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander. General Buckner was Lieutenant General when he was killed in action on 18 June, 1945, while commanding the Tenth Army on Okinawa.

Simon Bolivar Buckner!

Commander, U.S. Tenth Army, Gets Posthumous Promotion

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury

Bay Area military figures were given a nostalgic journey into the not-too-distant past this week as one of the truly dynamic figures in U.S. Army annals was given a posthumous tribute at a ceremony at the Presidio.

Lt. General Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., Commander of the U. S. Tenth Army in Okinawa during World War II, has been dead almost ten years. To show he has not been forgotten, Mrs. Buckner was made recipient of her late husband's posthumous commission of full general in the Army and a silk four-star flag from Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander.

Others on the promotion list included three other deceased and seven retired three-star officers.

The commission went to a soldier who will be remembered more as a paradoxically hard-bitten yet polished, harsh-voiced yet articulate shaper of future officers, more than for his skillful handling of the Tenth Army in the allies' first ground thrusts on Japanese home-ground in 1945.

That final, and lasting, vindication on the field of battle came as the climax of a 38-year career of flinty garrisoning and home-front frustration—service which brought him to within a hair's breadth of front-line action several times, but never actually made him a part of it till his participation in the Ryukyus landings in 1945.

Soldiering was in the general's blood. His father, Simon Bolivar Buckner, named after the South American patriot, served with distinction in the Mexican War and fought as a lieutenant general in the Confederate Army. Following the Civil War the senior Buckner became Governor of Kentucky and at 62 married and fathered Simon B. Buckner, Jr.

(Please turn to page 3)

Top Combat Men Seen to Have High Intelligence Rating

Psychological tests given to front line United States infantrymen in Korea show that outstanding combat troops have higher intelligence than poor fighters and are generally superior to them.

This was the gist of a report presented recently at a session of the American Psychological Association's sixty-second annual convention in New York by three psychologists of Human Research Unit 2, Office of the Chief of Army Field Forces, Fort Ord, Calif.

The testing team, consisting of Dr. Robert L. Egbert, Dr. Tor Neeland and Dr. Victor Cline, interviewed 647 men from the rifle companies of the Second, Seventh and Forty-fifth Divisions. Each infantryman described superior or inadequate behavior that he had witnessed in others during combat.

Of 1,100 men described in the interviews, 345 were selected for testing. All were enlisted men ranging in rating from private to master sergeant.

The psychologists said they found that fighters differed from nonfighters in several respects.

Fighters proved to be of significant higher intelligence generally, superior in emotional stability and also in physical health and athletic ability.

They were "doers," being much more active in sports and action hobbies. "The only things in which nonfighters participated more were going to the movies and art work," the report said.

Dr. Launor F. Carter, research director of the Fort Ord unit, indicated that infantry recruiting might have to be revised. Accordingly, new testing materials designed to predict combat ability among Army recruits have been devised and the Adjutant General's office is seeking to adapt them for regular use.

THE PRESIDIANs, 24 strong, go through their paces at Fort Scott in practice for one of the many public appearances they make throughout the Bay Area. Led by drill master, Cpl. David Hacking, the top photo shows them presenting arms; the middle photo shows an intricate step called Number 2 Freeze to the Rear, (looks to us like the Chinese kidney tickler); and the bottom picture shows the group performing Echelon Left and Right done to a singing chant by one of the drillers. Even in practice sessions the group is exceedingly sharp as evidenced by the chromed Springfield rifles, "chrome dome" helmets, and white gloves.

New Uniform Regs Aimed At Raising Wearing Standard

A drive to raise standards of uniform wear on the Presidio of San Francisco was given its initial boost this week by Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander, with the release of a new Post memorandum on the subject.

The regulation, which goes into effect 1 October, dictates uniform wear in a wide area covering the Presidio, Forts Scott, Baker, Barry, Cronkhite, Funston and Angel Island.

Contest to Close

Monday is the deadline for entries in the essay contest on, "Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment." They are to be turned in to the Post TI&E Section, Bldg. 122, by 1300 hours. Prizes will be awarded during that week and include $25, $15 and $10 respectively.

Reserve Officers Are to Receive Education Credit

Reserve officers and warrant officers are now receiving official recognition of their efforts in furthering their education, it was announced by the Department of the Army recently. Evaluations by the D/A are made upon written request in accordance with D/A Circular 109 dated 3 November, 1953. The Officer's official records will be changed when appropriate. In addition, a recent D/A policy recommends off-duty academic study be reflected in an officer's efficiency report.

In allowing credit toward the 2-year college level (60 semester hours), each officer receives 12 semester hours in Advanced Military Science. Those who pass the college GED test are given an additional 24 semester hours, and recommendations of the American Council on Education are followed in allowing credit for service schools attended. The college GED tests are carried in stock at the Education Center, building 117, here on the Presidio.

During the past year, many officers have been taking courses through the Army Education Program in order to earn the additional credits needed to attain the 2-year college level objective of D/A Cir. 109.

Officers and warrant officers are urged to contact the Education Center, building 117, telephone 3189, for assistance and further information regarding application for the D/A educational evaluation.

Selected NG Officers To Receive Training In Atomic Warfare

Washington (AFPS)—The Army will give selected officers of major tactical units of the National Guard training in atomic warfare operations.

The need for the specialized training was established during recent Army exercises, according to Maj. Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, Chief of the National Guard Bureau.

Twenty-four one-week Special Weapon and Guided Missile Orientation Courses will be available during the current fiscal year to NG personnel. They will be given at the AAA and Guided Missile Branch of The Artillery School at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

One eight-week course, beginning in early October, to train general staff level officers in the tactical employment and effects of atomic weapons, will be given at the Command and General Staff College, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

It places the beginning of next month as the official changeover date from summer khakis to the wearing of Class A, shade 33, wool serge uniforms for duty wear, formations and ceremonies, unless otherwise announced by Post Headquarters.

For female personnel, duty uniform will be the wool, taupe, shade 121.

This changeover disallows the wearing by officers of anything but OD's while on duty, unless an official commitment requires use of the officers' semi-dress uniform during duty hours or immediately following. Officers shall not wear Class A while off-duty, or off-post. Semi-dress and tropicals must be worn at these times.

At training formations and ceremonies, Class A will be combined with combat boots, bloused trousers and prescribed headgear.

Field uniforms will be worn as prescribed by battalion or higher commanders in accordance with authorized allowances.

On fatigue details, enlisted personnel will wear Class B dress, with wind resistant field cap with stiffener inside, cap squared, jacket tucked into the trousers, and the trousers bloused. Officers supervising fatigue details will wear Class A.

During off-duty hours, after retreat on Post, Class A's shall be worn by enlisted men. Neat civilian clothes may also be worn. Personnel visiting the Officers' Club or NCO clubs in civilian attire shall wear ties and jackets.

Particular emphasis was placed by Colonel Lundquist on the responsibility of unit commanders to ensure the proper uniform wear of every man under their commands. Appropriate insignia will be worn with all classes of uniform. Boots, leather articles, and insignia will be kept polished. Articles of civilian jewelry, such as watch chains, collar pins, tie clasps, should not be worn exposed. There should be no mixture of different classes of uniforms.

Personnel working inside buildings may remove jackets while at work. When leaving, reporting to superiors, or during formal inspections and visits by high-ranking or distinguished persons, jackets will be worn.

General Wyman Greeted President During First Official Area Visit

Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, was on hand at Missoula, Mont., this week to greet President Eisenhower on his first official visit to the Sixth Army Area since becoming Chief Executive.

President Eisenhower is stopping at Missoula to dedicate the Aerial Fire Depot of the Forest Service, the training center of the "smoke jumpers."

Rapier in Army

Foster Rapier, grid star at John Carroll University in Cleveland, Ohio, is now in the Army and currently taking training at Ft. Eustis, Va.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 17

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 24 September, 1954

PRINCIPALS IN THE OPERATION PAPER CHASE are shown looking at one of the posters used in the second meeting on the Presidio of the special committee set up to ferret out duplication and waste in Sixth Army administrative departments. The "operation" was ordered by the Department of the Army to relieve the administrative load on company level commanders. Shown above, l. to r., are Captain William Cronin, Mr. Bernard Kahn, Colonel Claude Burbach, and Lt. Colonel C. A. Barnes.

Operation Paper-Chase Will Reduce Unnecessary Paperwork In Army

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

"Operation Paper-Chase," a recently organized and instituted Army-wide drive to reduce unnecessary paperwork at every echelon, got into high gear within the Sixth Army area this week, as Colonel Claude Burbach, Deputy Chief of Staff, Comptroller, launched the second of a series of six staff conferences that will score the importance and aims of the new drive in every branch. Lt. Colonel C. A. Barnes, Chief, Operations Branch, AG, was this session's special speaker.

Army Commander Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman had previously stressed the need for special emphasis in successful implementation of Department of the Army efforts to remove some of the burdensome paperwork from soldiering. In delegating this Comptroller mission, he called for a relentless ferreting out of unwarranted and duplicated efforts at every level.

Brigadier General Richard G. Prather addressed the first session and scored the importance of an immediate and direct approach in implementing and carrying out Operation Paper-Chase. He saw increasing and excessive paperwork as a fast-growing weed that must be constantly reassessed and pulled out.

It is planned to hold six meetings during the period 17 September to 5 October—two meetings a week. At each meeting the tasks involved in one of the areas previously mentioned will be outlined, and a method of accomplishment will be given out. The next two or three days after the meeting will be spent in execution of that task, and the results brought to the next meeting, where another task will be gone over.

Colonel Claude Burbach, at the Chief of Staff's Conference, 13 September 1954, remarked that the organization and complexity of equipment of today's Army requires more administration to effect necessary control. The rapid turnover of personnel multiplies the amount of paperwork required. So long as these conditions exist, the Army will have to live with more administration than there was in the small, pre-World War II, stabilized Army.

The Colonel went on to state that the initiative, leadership and maturity of company grade officers are being systematically stunted. The overabundance of regulations, standing operating procedures, circulars, bulletins, memorandums, and other directives are reducing the unit commander to an automaton, leaving little for resolution by command decision. Responsibility and authority for decision must be returned to the small unit commander.

The first area, or project, is known as "Workloads Imposed By Reports," and concerns the evaluation that each section must make of its own reports and reporting needs in order to cut out all unnecessary administrative work.

Project No. 2 concerns "Directives and Correspondence." Each time that lower echelons are required to read a directive which does not concern them, or to spend extra time in trying to understand the intent of a poorly written one, it's "money down the drain."

In following weeks the meetings will be on such subjects as records management, restrictive policies imposed by both Sixth Army and the Department of the Army, and overlapping responsibilities and activities.

Training Reqs!

Training requirements for Army officer candidates are being tightened up for applicants beginning basic on and after Sept. 20. Persons so affected must complete or receive credit for both basic combat training and advanced individual combat training prior to enrollment in an OCS course. Full credit can be given for basic training taken in the Marine Corps.

Commissary Hours!

Presidio personnel are reminded of the new Commissary hours that went into effect late August.

On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, the schedule is as follows:

0815-1100, all authorized personnel;

1100-1200 closed for lunch;

1200-1300, military personnel in uniform only;

1300-1500, all authorized personnel.

The new Thursday schedule is as follows:

1145-1630, for all authorized personnel;

1630-1830, military personnel in uniform only.

In accordance with Army Regulations, the commissary is closed the last working day of each month for the purpose of making inventory.

Cash Awards Made For Suggestions, Improved Devices

A total of four more cash awards were made this week to civilian employees of the Presidio of San Francisco for their suggestions and development of new time and money saving devices and methods.

Mrs. Louise P. Smith, AG section, California Military district, was presented a $25 award this week by Colonel W. E. Long, chief, California Military district, for suggesting and devising multiple-form letters, which were adopted for use, resulting in greater efficiency and monetary savings in her section.

Mr. Joseph Meierzedt, Post Ordnance section received two awards for suggestions which have been put into use. One was $15 for devising a reticle pickup and insertion tool for binoculars M3, M13 and M17, and the other for $10 was for constructing an amplifier-demodulator tester. Both suggestions will result in more efficient operation and monetary savings. These awards were presented on Monday by Lt. Colonel R. G. Van Ness, Post Ordnance officer.

Mr. Francis C. Hughes, Post Engineer section was presented a $10 award for his suggestion to install trapdoors as a means of gaining access to plumbing fixtures in quarters. Adoption of the suggestion will result in saving of time in repairs when plumbing trouble recurs. The award was presented by Colonel William T. Cathcart, Post Engineer.

Mr. Arnold H. Lawson, Sixth Army Transportation section received an additional award of $15 as a result of approval by the Chief of transportation for local manufacture throughout Army Aviation of his tool for replacement of rotor blade retention bolts on H-23 Helicopter. Use of the tool results in saving of labor and precludes damage to component parts of the main rotor blade. This award was in addition to $10 and $77.50 previously received by Mr. Lawson for this suggestion.

Mr. Arthur Smith, Post Quartermaster section, was presented with a Sixth Army Certificate of Achievement by Colonel Walter W. McCarthy, Jr., Post Quartermaster. Mr. Smith received the award upon retiring after 27 years of federal service. (E. Harris.)

HQ Platoon, 549 Engineers Wins 660th Competition

Members of the first squad, Headquarters Platoon, 549th Engineer Company (Survey Base) outdrilled a field of 37 squads in the 660th Engineer Battalion (Base Topo) squad competition last Saturday and compiled 20 of a possible 22 points in final judging to win three-day passes and high commendation from 660th Staff Officers who conducted the final elimination.

Headquarters Detachment, 660th Engineer Battalion, emerged as the top unit in a field of five with an overall average of 76.3 points out of a possible 100, barely nosing out the 542nd Engineer Company (Survey Base) which finished second with a score of 76.0.

Judging was based on personal appearance and precision of marching movements. More than twenty items were judged during the two-hour competition, and maximum possible scores were weighted to coincide with the relative importance of the item being judged.

The 549th is commanded by 1st Lt. John W. Granicher. Members of the winning squad include: Cpl. James R. Campbell, Squad Leader; Cpl. Arthur F. Langston, Assistant Squad Leader; Pvt. Roger A. Paquin; Pvt. Stanley F. Brink, Jr.; Pvt. Richard C. Hackney, Pvt. David K. Lloyd, and Pfc. Paul Kamins.

Jewish High Holy Days Begin 27 September

Jewish Rosh Hashanah (New Year) will begin at sundown 27 September and end at sundown 29 September. Yom Kippur (Day of Atonement) begins at sundown 6 October and ends at sundown 7 October.

All Jewish personnel and their dependents were reminded of these High Holy days today, and invited to attend the religious services at the synagogue of their choice of the San Francisco Bay area.

Seating accommodations may be made by phoning the Sixth Army Chaplain's office, Ext. 2524 or 4192, or by writing or calling the National Jewish Welfare board, 1005 Market street, UNderhill 3-0620.

More than 300,000 soldiers currently are enrolled in the United States Armed Forces Institute.

Plans Underway To Observe Fire Prevention Week

"Let's grow up—not burn up," is this year's slogan for Fire Prevention week, to be observed on the Presidio of San Francisco and its subposts from 3 through 9 October. Fire Chief George Geller announced this week.

As in past years, the Presidio Fire Department will play host to the nearly 1,000 children of personnel assigned to the Post, during that week, presenting them with candy, fire chief's helmets and rides on the big red fire trucks.

"It is time again to ask everyone's cooperation in the Presidio's fire prevention program," Colonel William T. Cathcart, Post fire marshal, pointed out. "Our low property loss here reflects the effectiveness of the participation of both military and civilian personnel in our fire safety campaign; let's keep up this fine record."

"Prevent carelessness, and the chief fire cause is eliminated," said Chief Geller. "Bear in mind that it is much easier to prevent a fire than it is to put one out."

"Be especially careful in disposing of smoking materials, careless smokers being responsible for more than 50 per cent of all fires. Prevent trash from accumulating and do not abuse electrical equipment by overloading circuits and the like."

"Report damaged wiring to the Post Engineer," Chief Geller continued, "and have defective electrical devices repaired as soon as defects become evident."

C Battery Best Mess

The Best Mess Award for the month of August in the 9th AAA Battalion was made to Sfc. John Mahon, Mess Steward of C Battery. Lt. Col. G. Neil Wilcox, former Commanding Officer of the 9th AAA Battalion, made the award. It is presented each month to the battery within the 9th Battalion which scores the most points by competitive inspection, and this is the first time that C Battery has been the winner.

The Army Signal Corps maintains 204 photographic laboratories in the United States and overseas.

Recently Assigned

Major Frederic C. Buck has joined the Medical section of Headquarters Sixth Army as Army Medical Service procurement officer, and will have his offices at California Military district headquarters.

He has just completed three years at Brooke Army hospital, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, prior to which he was in the Far East, accompanying the 1st Cavalry Division to Korea at the outbreak of that conflict in July 1950, and remaining with them until his return to the states in September 1951.

Entering on active duty in 1939, Major Buck was graduated from O.C.S. at Carlisle barracks, Pennsylvania, in October 1942. He joined the 96th General Hospital then for shipment to England, and upon arrival there, served two years with the 12th Hospital center. Returning to this country in 1945, he spent the next three years at Fitzsimmons Army Hospital, Denver, Colorado.

Graduating from Concordia college, St. Paul, Minnesota, the Major spent the following two years at Concordia Seminary, St. Louis, Missouri, before entering the Army. His decorations include the Combat Medical Badge, the Korean Presidential Unit citation, and the Korean theatre ribbon with four battle stars. He and Mrs. Buck are now residing in San Francisco.

Captain Thomas E. Cain, a veteran of 26 years of Army service, is now assigned as assistant chief, supply and maintenance division, Signal section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

An enlisted man for 12 years of his Army career, Captain Cain held a Reserve commission of second lieutenant at the beginning of World War II, having completed Army qualifying courses. He has also been graduated from the advanced officers Signal supply school, Fort Holabird, Maryland.

He has just returned from 16 months duty in Korea, five in Pusan and the balance in Taegu, where he was with the 520th Signal Base Depot. His services there earned for him the Bronze Star Medal.

During World War II, Captain Cain served 18 months in the ETO, taking part in the invasion which began from North Africa in November 1942. His unit was Task Force 2, SOS Headquarters, Oran, Africa. The captain and his wife and children are now residing here.

Captain Phillip P. Katz has been assigned for duty with the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His last assignment was in Korea with the 40th Division, where he served seven months as C.O. of A Company, 224th Infantry Regiment. Captain Katz completed the nine-month Infantry officers advanced course at Fort Benning, Georgia, in May 1953, and served at Fort Ord, California for four months prior to his overseas assignment.

On active duty for 10 years, the captain served 16 months in the ETO during World War II, first as platoon leader with the 507th Parachute Infantry Regiment, 83rd Airborne Division during the Normandy landings, and later with the 17th Airborne Division.

Captain Katz, who has his B.S. in geography from the University of Chicago, has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, the Combat Infantry Badge, the Bronze Arrowhead for the Normandy invasion, and four battle stars for his ETO ribbon. Mrs. Katz and their two sons are now residing with him here.

Captain Gustaf S. Stalin recently completed a three-year tour in the Far East, serving 19 months in Korea as G-2 executive officer and acting G-2, 24th Division, and the balance as assistant G-2 for operations, XVI Corps, in Japan.

He is now assigned to the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In the Army for the past twelve and one-half years, Captain Stalin spent four years in the ETO during World War II, serving with units of the 1st and 3rd Armies through the five major campaigns of Normandy, the Bulge, North France, Ardennes and the Rhineland.

The captain has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Purple Heart, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, five battle stars for the ETO and three battle stars for Korea.

Captain Kenneth E. Holmes, after 30 months duty at Fort Lawton, Washington, has been assigned as officer-in-charge of the USAR branch, 56th MRU division of the AG section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

The captain has been in the Army for 15 years and served 13 months in Korea with the First Cavalry division, AG section, prior to his Fort Lawton assignment.

During World War II, following graduation from the Infantry and Parachute schools at Fort Benning, Georgia, Captain Holmes was ordered to the ETO where he served 18 months with the 501st Parachute Infantry Regiment of the 101st Airborne Division.

His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Combat Infantry Badge, the Parachute Badge with Specialist rating, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, the Purple Heart, the Distinguished Presidential Unit Citation with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Arrowhead for invasion of Holland, the French Croix de Guerre, the Belgian Fourragere, the Netherlands Orange Lanyard, the ETO ribbon with four battle stars, and the Korean ribbon with five battle stars.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

RECENT PROMOTION—Colonel Glen Hawes, AGC, Chief, Reserve Components Division, Adjutant General Section, is shown as he receives the insignia of Colonel in a ceremony held in Headquarters, Sixth Army, at the Presidio of San Francisco. The silver eagles are being pinned on, above, by Colonel Morris H. Marcus, Adjutant General, Sixth Army, and Mrs. Hawes.

EXHIBIT SIMILAR TO THIS one displayed recently at the California State fair, by Sixth Army Special Services will be set up at San Francisco's Aquatic Park area, Hyde and Beach streets, while the sixth annual San Francisco Art Festival is being held from 22 through 26 September. Shown at the Sacramento exhibit are l. to r.: Sgt. Ernest R. Morrison and Sfc.

Kenneth L. Skaw, both of Sacramento Signal Depot, and M/Sgt. Archie L. McAfee, Jr., of A Company, 459th AAA Gun battalion, WAAC. On display locally this weekend will be samples of Sixth Army's arts and crafts program including paintings, ceramics, sketching, enamels and allied arts.

Braden Follies Set For Presidio Service Club Show on Sunday

Making their monthly appearance at the Presidio Service club this Sunday at 2000 will be Ma Braden and her Follies. Mrs. Braden will emcee the show, which will include old favorites as well as new faces.

In her initial appearance with the group will be Mrs. Elamay Handel, Chicago professional vocalist.

Others in the cast include, Vickie and Priscilla, specialty hula dancers; Buster Bugbee, child dancer; three Apostales brothers, song and dance stylists.

Dallas and Roger Phillips, teenage electric guitar specialists; Toni Centi, accordionist; Terry and Penelope Worth, yodelers.

Mrs. Peggy Duncan will be the accompanist and the dance line will be furnished by the Lorna Fordyce studios.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 24 September—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 25 September — Tony's Mambo dance class, 1930; dart tournament, fireside party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 26 September — Braden follies, 2000.

Monday, 27 September — Presidio Army talent show and coffee hour, 2000.

Tuesday, 28 September — Square dance, 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 29 September—Partnership pinochle tournament, $5.00 1st place award, 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 30 September—Post dance, "The Cotton Ball," with watermelon feed, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 24 September—Tournaments, 2000.

Saturday, 25 September—Horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 26 September—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Bette Mae Review, 2000.

Monday, 27 September—Crafts class, 1900.

Tuesday, 28 September—Post football dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 29 September—September birthday party, 2000.

Thursday, 30 September — Square dance, 2000.

MP Guidepost!

Guide and counsel, the motto of the United States Army's Military Police Corps is "Of the troops and for the troops." Military Policemen are soldiers first, policemen second.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 24 September—"The Human Jungle," with Gary Merrill and Jan Sterling.

Saturday, 25 September—"Beware My Lovely," (CHANGE from printed program) with Robert Ryan and Ida Lupino.

Sunday, 26 September and Monday, 27 September — (Cinemascope) "The High and the Mighty," with John Wayne, Claire Trevor, Robert Stack and Lorraine Day.

Tuesday, 28 September — "Jesse James' Women," with Jack Buettel and Peggie Castle.

Wednesday, 29 September and Thursday, 30 September—(NOT cinemascope) "Four Guns to the Border," with Rory Calhoun, Colleen Miller and Walter Brennan.

Children's show 1000, Saturday, 25 September—"The Tall Texan," with Lloyd Bridges and Marie Windsor.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 24 September—"White Fire," with Scott Brady and Mary Castle.

Saturday, 25 September—"Private Hell 36," with Steve Cochran, Howard Duff and Ida Lupino.

Sunday, 26 September—"The Human Jungle," with Gary Merrill and Jan Sterling.

Tuesday, 28 September—"Four Guns to the Border," with Rory Calhoun and Colleen Miller.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 24 September — "Suddenly," with Frank Sinatra, Sterling Hayden and Nancy Gates.

Monday, 27 September—"The Human Jungle," with Gary Merrill and Jan Sterling.

Wednesday, 29 September — "Steel Cage," with John Ireland, Paul Kelley and Maureen O'Sullivan.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 26 September — "Four Guns to the Border," with Rory Calhoun and Colleen Miller.

Tuesday, 28 September—"The Human Jungle," with Gary Merrill and Jan Sterling.

Thursday, 30 September — "Steel Cage," with John Ireland and Paul Kelley.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 24 September — "Kiss Me Kate," with Kathryn Grayson and Howard Keel.

Saturday, 25 September—"The Human Jungle," with Gary Merrill and Jan Sterling.

Sunday, 26 September and Monday, 27 September—"Suddenly," with Frank Sinatra and Sterling Hayden.

Tuesday, 28 September—"White Fire," with Scott Brady and Mary Castle.

Wednesday, 29 September — "Jesse James' Women," with Jack Buettel and Peggie Castle.

Thursday, 30 September — "Private Hell 36," with Steve Cochran, Howard Duff and Ida Lupino.

Java!

The Army operates its own coffee roasting plants at Atlanta, Chicago and Seattle. Coffee for troops stationed in the European Command, Hawaii and the Canal Zone is shipped in the green bean state and roasted locally.

Sweet Land Of Liberty!

Responsibility of Citizenship, Voting Duty To Be TIC Topic

The responsibility of the individual towards his U. S. citizenship, pride in American goals and traditions, and the right and duty of voting, all will be discussed in next week's TIC conference.

The conference will discuss briefly the major goals of America in its fight for freedom. They are:

(1) Equality — equality under the law, equality in the voting booth, and equality of opportunity.

(2) Liberty—freedom of thought and action together with the other freedom necessary to secure these.

(3) Responsibility — the obligation upon all citizens to go along with majority decisions in the interest of stability.

(4) Government for the People — a government that is servant, not master of the people.

(5) Free Enterprise — an economic system that will give the individual the maximum possible freedom and yet continue to function through the changing conditions.

(6) Peace — without which freedom cannot flourish.

There are other American ideals and traditions, but these suffice to show the nature of the goals in our fight for freedom. Although set in the past, they remain ahead of us today. We have not completed our progress toward them, our way of life is not perfect, but we have kept on trying. We work toward these ideals within our country as we fight all attacks upon them from without.

This continuing struggle for freedom is always hard and sometimes costly. Soldiers have paid particularly high prices for it, sometimes giving their lives.

A famous writer put the thought in these words: "If a nation values any thing more than freedom it will lose its freedom; and the irony of it is that if it is comfort or money that it values more, it will lose that too." A look at the Germans under Hitler illustrates this point. Hitler promised them power and wealth in return for their democracy. They lost their freedoms. They got neither power nor comfort nor wealth. They froze on the Steppes of Russia, died in the mountains of Italy, hungered in their bombed-out homes.

There is no easy way out.

Even from the individual's most selfish and materialistic view, the American way gives more than any other form of government.

Your right to vote will be discussed with three rules pointed up to remember when you are called upon to exercise your vote:

(1) Always vote.

(2) Vote in the interest of the community, State and Nation and you'll vote your own interest in the long run.

(3) Know whom and what you are voting for.

Keep informed! It's your duty as a citizen.

Low on Money?

Being the last week of the month, that's entirely possible, right? Then, here are excellent chances to line pockets and billfolds, offered at the Presidio Service club in the coming week. A military talent show will be held Monday at 2000 with a five spot for first place winner, and ditto the partners that beat out the competition in the Wednesday Post pinochle tournament which will also get underway at 2000.

Pantomime Class, Cotton Ball to Highlight Week's Service Club Program

For something different, how about these?

A class in pantomime artistry will be held Tuesday at 2000 at the Presidio Service club.

Instructor will be Pfc. Ricky Spry, in civilian life a dramatics teacher in the state school for the deaf and blind at Gooding, Idaho. The class will be held in the small lounge of the Service club.

Then on Thursday at 2000 it's the Cotton Ball, at which decorations will be reminiscent of "de olde South."

In addition to the dancing, there will be appropriate typical Southern refreshments—what, we aren't telling. Come and find out!

THIS IS THE END! Your last chance that is, to enter the second annual all-Army art contest, for deadline for works to be submitted is Monday. So whatever you do, whether it be in oils, watercolors, prints, or drawings, its got to be done this weekend and then rushed over to the Post Special Service office, Bldg.

122, first thing Monday. Be sure to attach an entry blank and glue a 3 x 5 card on your brainchild giving your name, grade, service number, military address, major command and installation. Command level prizes are lovely: $50, $35, $25, etc., depending on the media. Good luck!

"Corps d'Elite"!

Background of Military Police Dates to William the Conqueror

The Military Police Corps of the United States Army celebrates its 13th anniversary on 26 September, 1954. Although the Corps has only been a branch of the Army for 13 years, its history can be traced back to the very beginning of Military history.

The Provost Marshal, during the Norman conquest of England in the Eleventh Century, was appointed by the King to maintain the peace, safeguard the royal interest and handle disciplinary matters. As time went on he assumed more and more duties of a disciplinary nature within the Army until by the Sixteenth Century he had become a permanent member of the military establishment. As early as 1611 a provost marshal was serving in the colony of Virginia, under a Martial Code drawn up by the Deputy Governor.

At the beginning of the Revolutionary War the Colonial Army adopted, with little change, the form, titles and administrative procedures of the British Army. A "Provost Martial," was appointed "to the Army of the United Colonies" by "His Excellency Genl. Washington" in January of 1776.

Two years later, by Congressional resolution, a Provost Corps was established, "to be mounted on horseback and armed and accoutred as Light Dragoons." At about the same time, General Washington directed the Marech-anse Corps, commanded by a Captain Von Heer, to apprehend "Deserters, Marauders, Drunkards, Rioters and Stragglers" and perform various other basic military police duties.

For nearly 80 years after the Revolution few references to military law enforcement personnel have been found. But in September of 1862 a Provost Marshal General of the War Department was appointed in the person of Brigadier General James B. Fry. His primary function was, generally, similar to that of the present Director of Selective Service, in operation of the draft laws, but his subordinates stationed throughout the country performed many functions of a police nature.

During World War I the necessity for military police units again became apparent. Personnel assigned to this duty rarely were required to have special qualifications, being selected on a basis of availability and physical fitness with little regard for mental qualifications or general suitability.

The rapid expansion of the Army during the "limited emergency" of 1940 and 1941 again made obvious the need for a unified and centrally directed military police organization. On 31 July, 1941, Major General Allen W. Gullion, The Judge Advocate General, was directed by the Secretary of War to establish the Office of the Provost Marshal General and to create a "Corps of Military Police."

In 1950 the Military Police became a permanent branch of the Army and the "Corps of Military Police" was redesignated as the "Military Police Corps." Tremendous progress has been made in organizing and training Military Police Units for various police duties throughout the world. How

Army Commander's Message

Please accept and convey my congratulations to the members of the Military Police Corps on this thirteenth anniversary of the Military Police Corps. The diligent and untiring efforts of the officers and enlisted men of the Military Police Corps have made possible tremendous strides in the military enforcement field during the past relatively short period of thirteen years. You, the military policemen of Sixth Army, have accepted your responsibilities cheerfully and performed them in a most exemplary manner. You can be justifiably proud of your outstanding record.

Faithfully,
W. G. WYMAN
Lieutenant General, USA
Commanding

well the Military Police accomplished their combat mission has been attested to by everyday G.I.'s and top field commanders alike. In Africa, in Europe, and on the islands of the Pacific, MP's hit the beaches with the first waves to set up control points; directed, often under murderous fire, the movement of vitally needed troops and supplies to the front; secured countless command posts and lines of communication against attack; cleaned out snipers in by-passed villages, and, time and again, went into the line to fight beside the Infantry. As American forces rolled forward, MP's in newly-liberated cities and towns held looting to a minimum, broke up black markets and currency exchange rings, helped G.I.'s keep out of trouble.

The "Corps" is responsible for the enforcement of laws and regulations, the protection of government property, the investigation of crimes committed by and against members of the Army and for the conduct of crime prevention surveys of Army installations and activities.

The Military Police Corps is "Of the Troops and for the Troops." This motto is their guide and counsel.

Lt. Col. Keene Saxon

505th Commander Headed IX Corps PM Office in Korea

Presidio Provost Marshall and Commanding Officer, 505th MP Battalion, Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, assumed command of the MP unit in July, 1952, directly following his return from Korea, where he served 21 months as provost marshal of the IX Corps.

Colonel Saxon, a native of Kansas, received his commission as a second lieutenant in 1924. For 18 years he pursued business interests as a lawyer. In 1942 he accepted his active commission and served as a military police officer throughout World War II. He was assigned to the European Theater and remained there 30 months, returning stateside in 1947.

In August, 1950, he became Provost Marshall of the IX Corps, then reactivating at Fort Sheridan, Illinois. He accompanied the unit to FECOM the following September and was in Korea from September, 1950, to May, 1952, when he was reassigned to his present command.

Colonel Saxon holds the Bronze Star and Legion of Merit, in addition to the Army Commendation ribbon and theater credits.

OFFICERS AND MEN OF THE 505th Military Police Battalion stood tall and sharp during last February's retirement ceremony for Lt. General Joseph M. Swing, Sixth Army Commander. The battalion came to the Presidio in June, 1952, following service in Camp Roberts, California, during the early phases of the Korea War. During World War II, the unit served with distinction in the Rhineland, Ardennes-Alsace, and Central European campaigns. They undertook occupational duties in Germany and Austria, representing the United States in the four-power departmentalization of Vienna at the outset of the cold war. During peacetime, the unit has run up an outstanding record in training exercises, operation of a training center, and regular police duty.

505th MP's Welcome Corps' 13th Anniversary With Brilliant Record

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
Star-Presidian Associate Editor

The Presidio's 505th Military Police Battalion will mark the U. S. Army's Military Police Corps' Thirteenth Anniversary this Sunday, 26 September, following over two years of duty on the Presidio of San Francisco.

The familiarity of the men of the 505th around Post, their frequent participation in the local sports and entertainment programs, and their attentive performance of police duties has partly eclipsed the battalion's excellent record prior to June, 1952, when they first arrived here from Camp Roberts, California.

The Battalion's brief, nonetheless distinguished active history began in May, 1943, with the heroic North African campaign in progress and an allied invasion of Europe imminent, and saw the local outfit through three major campaigns of the European Theater.

Its activation at Camp Breckinridge, Ky., followed 22 years as a logistical item in the Organized Reserves. Lt. Colonel Carol V. Cadwell, first battalion commander, gathered 24 officers and 67 cadremen about him from National Guard components to form the training nucleus of the 505th. There followed a period of intense training of recruits in all phases of military police work.

The same year, the battalion moved out and commenced operations under combat conditions in the Tennessee Maneuver area near Lebanon, an extended bivouac of seven months, and thirteen months later, 505th personnel were donning field packs and climbing aboard the troopship S.S. West Point for the Atlantic Crossing. On 17 September, 1944, D-Day plus 113, the battalion went aboard the S.S. Llangibby Castle for the channel crossing.

The battle for Europe began for the 505th when it moved off

Utah Beach and into a bivouac area near the Norman town of Quettehou. Ten days later they replaced the 772nd MP Battalion at Valognes, where personnel turned to the task of directing the tons of equipment and supplies which poured north and east toward the rapidly-advancing front.

In late November, at Tongres, Belgium, the companies separated for security and traffic operations in different areas.

Oakland Police Chief Congratulates MPs

"The Oakland Police Department wishes to congratulate the Military Police Corps on their 13th Anniversary.

"We feel that the Military Police have done an outstanding job since their inception and we have particularly noted the high caliber of men filling their ranks. Many of these men have joined the Oakland Police Department upon their discharge from military service.

"Our relationship with the men of the Military Police Corps has always been very cordial and they have been very helpful both from the CID level and the patrol level.

"We appreciate the help they have given us.

"Lester J. Devine,
Chief, Oakland Police Department."

Northern Belgium was "Buzz Bomb Alley" for the Allied troops. Hitler's V-2 stations were just across the German border, and each night the police could hear the ominous whoosh of the missiles and see the red glow of their rocket motors as they passed overhead for Dover.

By the last of February, 1945, it was increasingly apparent that the Allied push was soon to begin. Equipment poured north again. Landing barges, pontoon bridges in disassembly, gasoline, rations and weapons were streaming through the Belgium towns where the 505th patrolled. The battalion prepared to cross the Rhine with elements of the British Second Army.

It was a costly river-bank. America deposited a bloody down-payment for Germany's defeat. The 505th moved up behind the surging armies, collecting stragglers, patrolling captured towns, processing the captive Nazi troopers who surrendered by the hordes. The job became more gratifying as the front lightened across the German plains.

On 3 May, C Company, 505th had reached the Elbe, where Russia's Red Army met the allied advance. Prisoners by the thousands were jumping, swimming, crawling, and walking into American hands to surrender. Processing them and shipping them back to camps for holding was the 505th's job.

Then V-E Day, 8 May, 1945, and subsequent occupation. Roads still had to be patrolled, traffic moved, towns policed, prisoners handled and repatriated. The 505th became a temporary occupational outfit, held in reserve for possible shipment to the Pacific.

In early June, the Battalion moved its headquarters to Leipzig, Germany, and was attached to XXI Corps. A week later it moved for duty in Bavaria. Still another move took the Battalion from Starnberg to occupational duty in Vienna, Austria, where it was assigned to the 12th Army Group.

Representing the greatest of four nations occupying Vienna, the 505th accomplished its trying task with tact and inspiration. They met the former enemy with sound judgment and good sense. They successfully policed a large area of the gutted, torn city in conjunction with three other powers, France, Britain, and Russia. The Battalion stayed in Vienna three years. They saw Russia develop from a recent ally to a new, callous, and calculating cold power.

And on 28 June, 1948, the battalion was inactivated in Vienna.

Eleven months after the start of the Korean War, the 505th was again called to duty and activated at Camp Roberts, California. That was in July, 1951.

A year later, in June, 1952, following a routine assignment of patrol in the Roberts area and extra assignments with the A-bomb exercises at Camp Desert Rock, Nevada, the battalion received movement orders to transfer its command to Sixth Army Headquarters at the Presidio. Strength was augmented by 100 enlisted men from the deactivated 701st Military Police Battalion, and Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, the present battalion CO, took over from Lt. Colonel E. M. Carson.

Sfc. Howard Barlament

Investigator Saved U.S. Gov't 1/2 Million In Yokohama Area

A member of the Provost Marshal's Office of the Presidio, attached to the 505th MP Battalion, was the recipient of a Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant this week for saving the Army an estimated quarter of a million dollars.

Sfc. Howard Barlament, an investigator with the investigative branch of the PMO, received the award along with a letter of commendation from Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander, for meritorious service while at Camp Yokohama, Japan, from February, 1953, to July, 1954.

The commendation read, in part: "... Sergeant Barlament exercised highly effective control over the employment and conduct of approximately 4000 Japanese nationals . . . throughout the Yokohama area. In the interest of economy and at no expense to operational efficiency, he planned and actively supervised a personnel reorganization resulting in the elimination of 500 guard spaces, and the saving to the government of about one quarter of a million dollars."

Barlament's home town is De Pere, Wis. He is married and has two children.

Field Problems a Necessity!

Policy of All-Around Readiness Makes Police Training Rugged

To make good soldiers first, good military policemen second, has been the continuous design behind any sort of training program operated by the 505th Military Police Battalion.

To this end, most post-training cycles that bring the troops of the unit back to the field for brief periods throughout the year to reemphasize infantry tactics and weapons, along with the usual military police problems.

The battalion has answered its own training needs in a distinguished way. From December 1952, to October of last year, its officers and top NCO's were responsible both for Presidio duty and the running of the 505th MP Training Center at Fort Baker.

One of six of its kind in the U.S. and the only one on the West Coast, the MPTC operated cycles of three, 250-man training companies, and turned out a total of over 2000 military police graduates in the months of its existence.

Graduates from the school fanned out all over the Sixth Army area and served commands in FECOM, Europe, Okinawa, Hawaii, the Caribbean, and the Panama Canal Zone. It took only one graduation class to establish the Center as one of the finest of its type in the country.

Companies entered eight-week training cycles following infantry basic. Military Police subjects included military justice, court procedures, investigative methods, authority and jurisdiction, town patrol, traffic control, procedures for incidents, military police forms, and riot control formation.

Other subjects entailed instruction in first aid, driver training, military courtesy, physical training, drill and ceremonies, supply economy, and chemical warfare. Weapons instruction provided knowledge of the .45 caliber pistol, the shotgun, the .45 caliber submachine gun, and the .50 caliber heavy machine gun. The combat skills committee was organized to include training in the use of weapon, technique of fire, hikes and marches, squad and platoon tactics, radio procedures, and gas mask drills.

Following the close of the Training Center, the battalion slipped into a high-geared nine-month advanced training cycle which took all four of the companies through individual training in general military and MP subjects.

The cycle was climaxed by a battalion-size bivouac at Camp Hunter Liggett. A strenuous, 48-hour Army Field Forces Test, judged by officers of Headquarters, Sixth Army and Fort Ord, yielded a grade of 93 per cent—a superior rating—one of the highest marks ever to be achieved by a Military Police unit of the Army.

Under One Roof!

CID, PMO, Merge with 505th; Use Top Detection Techniques

In May of this year the 60th Criminal Investigation Detachment, Headquarters at the Presidio, became attached to the 505th MP Battalion, bringing two organizations, of necessity used to working closely together in Bay Area crime prevention, into an even closer relationship of mutual aid.

In the same move Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, 505th commander, was made Presidio Provost Marshal and PMO operations were placed in the hands of 505th personnel.

Responsible for a sphere of operation which extends from the Oregon border, north, to Central California, south, the Investigative Branch of the PMO (60th CID) works hand in hand with municipal, state, and federal law enforcement agencies investigating everything from larceny to murder.

Far from being cloak-and-dagger specialists, the officers and men of the investigative branch, Presidio PMO, are working policemen scientifically attacking crime with every modern facility at their disposal.

Among the many and varied devices of modern criminology utilized by the detachment in its work are the newest fingerprint techniques, infrared photography, ultraviolet photography and lie detector, the latter being employed to eliminate suspects and used only with the consent of the examinee.

Numerous laboratories for processing of evidence are available to the investigators, one of the most

Mayor Robinson Salutes MP's Record

"It is with great pleasure that I salute the Military Police on this 13th anniversary of their founding.

"As Mayor of San Francisco, I am thoroughly aware of their great contribution to the maintenance of law and order in this city and their record and demeanor reflect great credit upon the military establishment and I am confident that with each succeeding anniversary their place and importance in the military establishment will be accorded greater and greater recognition.

"Elmer E. Robinson, Mayor, San Francisco."

Local Unit's Crest Symbolizes MP Mission, Battalion Battle Honors

On the shoulders of men of the 505th rests, in the traditional green and gold of the Military Police Corps, the distinctive and decorative heraldic crest of the battalion.

The motto inscribed thereon—"Respice Finem"—translates from the Latin as "Look to the End."

The crest was designed by the Heraldic Branch of the Army Quartermaster Corps. The shield is green and yellow, the MPC colors. The fretty, or crossed lines, symbolize the protective function of the corps while the white chief, or top, alludes to the white accessories of the MP uniform. The three black fleurs-de-lis represent battle honors awarded the battalion for service in World War II in the campaigns of the Rhineland, Ardennes-Alsace and Central Europe.

HERE'S YOUR BALL, SONNY, says Cpl. Luther Price of A Company, to some unidentified aspirant to Jack Kramer's crown. Courtesy and tact, bywords of the Military Police Corps, have been distinguishing characteristics of 505th personnel on duty around the Presidio for the past two years.

Pirates Scalped!

Soldiers Sink Navy With 20-0 Win In Heavy-Penalty Game

The Red Raider tidal wave rolled over Treasure Island last week for a penalty-heavy win of 20-0. The Raiders started strong, scoring in the first quarter, but slowed down to a scoreless three quarters until they came through with two more TDs for the total 20 point win in the last quarter.

In the eight penalties imposed on the locals, one was for back-field in motion and four were for off-sides. They lost fifteen yards on a holding penalty and another fifteen yards on a clipping call. A total of 70 yards was lost on penalties.

Sparkling the Raider gains, quarterback Don Burroughs completed eleven passed out of an attempted eighteen. Burroughs was responsible for 183 of the total Raider yardage gained in passing.

Halfback Bill Cochrane looked sharp on the running plays, carrying the ball for a total of 65 yards in the Pirate tilt and scoring one TD for the Raiders.

Lawrence Wilkinson, fullback, ran a total of 67 yards and was receiver of three completed passes.

The Raiders made sixteen first downs in the game, nine by rushing and seven by passes.

This was the season's second defeat for the Pirates. The previous week they suffered a loss to the Martinez eleven. In the Raider tilt they gained 120 yards on running plays and completed passes for an additional 97 yards.

Admission Free For Raider-Brave Tilt

Raider fans who want to see the local eleven in tomorrow's tilt with the Stanford Braves won't have to buy any tickets to the game. The meet is slated for 1400 hours at Palo Alto.

There will be no transportation available to Palo Alto, so fans will have to find their own means of travel, according to M/Sgt. Sid Domingue, Special Services NCO. Seems as though there's a regulation about Army buses competing with civilian lines.

A paratrooper's chute costs the Army approximately $170.

OFF TO THE STREAMS is Pvt. Frank Gau of 6002 SU. He is drawing fishing tackle from Sfc. Leo Hanson at the Special Services Supply room in building 221. The fishing tackle, as well as tennis and golf equipment are available to troops of the Presidio and sub posts.

Fingerlings Grow An Inch a Month In Lake Merced

For some of the best summer trout fishing in coastal California, take San Francisco's No. 18 bus and get off at the corner of 39th Avenue and Sloat Boulevard.

From there it's only a quarter-mile hike over a well-marked macadam trail to metropolitan Lake Merced, whose waters this summer have yielded more than a thousand trout to boat fishermen alone. And that's not counting shore and pier anglers, mostly children, who did all right, too.

Lake Merced has everything, biologists and sportsmen agree. Built in the late 1800's as a city storage reservoir, the lake is fed by subterranean spring water.

Its cool depths support a fish food factory unparalleled outside a trout hatchery. The more than 300,000 rainbow trout fingerlings and 75,000 eastern brooks planted there in 1953 by the Department of Fish and Game are growing at a rate of more than an inch a month!

While summer trout fishing declines elsewhere in the coastal area as water becomes tepid and levels fall, spring-fed Lake Merced keeps on producing its daily limits of five trout each for thousands of city-bound San Franciscans.

Department biologists first discovered the lake's trout fishing potential in 1944, when they were asked in to help local sportsmen and the city recreation and park department improve the fishery.

The investigations led to chemical eradication of the lake's trash fish, and their replacement with catchable-sized rainbow trout.

QUARTERBACK DON BURROUGHS STEPS DEEP into the cup to launch a touchdown pass for the Presidians. Burroughs' aerial attack paid off for the local garrison in the bout with the Sailors—the Reds' salvo of passes netted 190 yards against the blue-jackets. In the foreground, jersey 22, is soldier fullback, Lawrence Wilkinson.

Raiders Tangle With Stanford Braves In War Dance Tomorrow At Palo Alto

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Tomorrow at 1400 hours the Presidio Red Raiders meet the Stanford Braves at the Braves' home field in Palo Alto. Since the Stanford varsity goes to Oregon for the day and can take only 35 men, there's no telling who will show up on the Braves' squad to meet the Raiders.

The Raiders' starting lineup will be a little different from last week's starters against TI. In the backfield, Burroughs will start as quarterback, and Wilkinson in the fullback spot. Halves will be Bill Cochrane and Tony Mader.

Ends will be Jerry Wilson and John Gabrielson. Mario Masia and Frank Wilson fill the tackle positions. Guards will be Holstrom and either Roscoe Morris or Bob Trotter.

The Braves' lineup is made up mostly of sophomores from the farm and features a line average of 195 pounds.

Braves' quarterback Jack Lewis is a good running back and showed up well in a pass attack last week against Alameda. Fullback Scott Jones is another boy who looked good in the Braves' Alameda tilt last week in running plays. Pass snatcher Carl Isaacs at end for the Braves is another man to watch.

The Stanford Braves suffered in the Alameda match last week with a defeat, 27-7. However, they played a pretty sharp game and may well look better against the Raiders tomorrow. Braves' lineup:

Don Geddes . . . C	Carl Isaacs . . . E
Wes Wedge . . . LG	Frank Hook . . . E
Walt Eagle . . . RG	M. Rafferty . . . LH
Dale Smith . . . T	Jerry Angove RH
Phil Ritzau . . . T	Jack Lewis . . . QB
	Scott Jones . . . FB

Raider Grid Schedule

Tomorrow—Stanford Braves at Stanford (prior to Stanford-Oregon game), 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 2—Alameda NAS at Alameda, 1400 hrs.
Oct. 9—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.
Oct. 30—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).
Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Denotes Bay Area Armed Forces League games.

New Supply Shipment For Special Services Has Tennis, Golf Gear

The Post Special Services Office, at building 221, has just received a new shipment of athletic supplies for use of the Presidio officers and enlisted men.

According to supply sergeant, Sfc. Leo Hanson, the equipment includes golf clubs, tennis rackets and balls, and fishing tackle. There is tackle available for salt water fishing as well as fresh water fishing.

The athletic gear is loaned out on a seventy-two hour basis. All military personnel of the Presidio, Fort Scott, and other sub-posts are eligible to use it.

"We're very much interested in having the troops make full use of our facilities here," stated Sgt. Hanson. "We'll be glad to see you come in."

Special Price For Cal Games

Military personnel in uniform are invited to attend the University of California home games this season for the special price of one dollar. Cal fans in the service should enter the South Gate of Memorial Stadium in Berkeley.

The big three games for Cal, SC, UCLA and Stanford will all be played at home this season. Other home games are with San Jose State, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington, and Washington State.

Correction!

In correction of an article appearing in last week's Star-Presidian sports pages, tickets to the Navy-Stanford game at Palo Alto are NOT available free of charge. The price of the ducats is $3.75 each.

Sixth Army Wins!

Ord Takes All-Army Honors In Diamond Meet At Carson

Fort Ord, California, Sixth Army representative to the All-Army Baseball Tournament, defeated all contenders to win the championship at the recent diamond meet. The All-Army baseball teams gathered at Memorial Field in Colorado Springs, Colorado, for the tourney, under the auspices of Fort Carson, Colorado.

Fort Ord spotted Fort Jackson, South Carolina three runs in the first inning but then came back with a lusty seventeen hit attack to whip the southerners nine to six.

Ord and Jackson both used two pitchers, with ex-Colorado Springs Skysox hurler Chuck Selby getting the win. Southpaw Roy Pardue, property of the Cleveland Indians, took the loss. Ord opened their scoring in the second when after two outs Selby hit a home run over the center field wall scoring Jack Steinagel, who had singled ahead of him.

Ord scored two more times in the third on four hits. In the fourth, Ord manager, J. W. Porter, Detroit Tiger outfielder, hit a three run homer to sew up the game.

Jackson scored three more times in a futile seventh inning rally. The spark was a mighty three run homer by the Boston Redsox $75,000 bonus baby, Haywood Sullivan.

In post game ceremonies the crowd of 3,500 saw Major General Thomas L. Harrold, Commanding General of Fort Carson, present the Ord and Jackson clubs with their champ and runner-up trophies.

Gen. Dean In Opener In New Fort Ord Links; Military Eligible to Play

Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commander of the Sixth Army, was among the first foursome to open the new Fort Ord Golf Course recently.

Also in the foursome was trainee, Pvt. Joe Hicks, whose name was drawn by lot. Hicks drove the first ball on the new links. Major General E. K. Wright, Sixth Division Commander, and Major General Robert B. McClure (retired) completed the foursome.

The new course at Ord can handle approximately 400 golfers at maximum capacity on a normal day. The 6536-yard course has a par of 72.

All members of the military service, active or retired, and civilian dependents or guests are eligible to play the course. Fees are one dollar for officers and seventy-five cents for enlisted personnel. Civilian guests will pay a two dollar green fee on week days and three dollars on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.

Fort Ord Special Services operates the course.

21st Squeezes Win!

Engineers Strike Slow Rollers; Hold Top Spot In Keg League

The 21st Engineers retained first place rating in the Eastern Bowling League this week by trouncing the Slow Rollers 4-0. Builder Rothong topped his group with a roll of 209 high game and 163 average. Loser Thorne pinned 209 high game also and a close 162 average.

The 56th MRU No. 1 stayed in second place in league standings by beating the 6300 ASU's 3-1. Leader for the 56th was Williams who turned in 184 high game and a 158 average and strong man for the 6300 was Barber with 192, 170.

The Keystone Kops overcame last weeks loss by smashing the 56th MRU No. 2 by 4-0. Big gun for the Kops was Johnson who bowled 199 high game and 160 average. Nichols was tops for the 56th No. 2 with 189 and 154.

The Baker MPs byed with Harbor Defenders due to the MP bivouac in the southland. The game will be run off this week.

In the National Bowling League standings this week Det. 1, 6002 SU kept top prominence by their win over HQ Co. 6th Army. Evans was high scorer for the Duece due to his roll of 211 high game, which was the best individual high game scored for the league. Individual high series of 544 went also to a man from 6002, Van Ausdall. Lead score for the HQ team was Voshino's 191 high and 160 average.

Hill-Toppers No. 3 tied with Hill-Toppers No. 2 2-2. Top No. 3 Topper was Kemper who turned a 173 high game and 157 average. Carlisle for quintet No. 2 rolled 182, 162.

Coming from behind also were the Maroo's with their 3-1 take over the 102d MRU. Power for the winners was Bryant's 195 high game and 175 average. MRU's might was Chinn who rolled 164, 156.

In the second week for the Western Bowling League, HQ Co. Sixth Army, smashed 6400 SU (recruiters) by 4-0, led by a phenomenal bowling spree by Gollnick, who pinned a 226 high game and an astonishing 614 total pinnage. Head bowler for the recruiters was Morgan with 201, 478.

The Flashers whipped the Sleuths 3-1, led by Flasher Renshaw's 175 high game and 496 total pins. The Sleuths' Gregor rolled 191, 474.

NATIONAL STANDINGS
Team	Win	Lost
Detl, 6002 SU	10	2
Hill-Toppers, No. 3	8	4
HQ Co. 6th Army	8	4
Hill-Toppers No. 2	8	4
6513th SU	5	7
Maroo's	4	8
102nd MRU	3	9
Hill-Toppers No. 1	2	10

EASTERN STANDINGS
Team	Win	Lost
21st Engrs.	13	3
56th MRU No. 1	12	4
Co. B 505th MP	8	4
6300 ASU	8	8
Slow Rollers	7	9
Keystone Kops	6	10
56th MRU No. 2	5	11
Harbor Defenders	1	11

WESTERN STANDINGS
Team	Win	Lost
Tags	6	2
HQ Co. 6th Army	6	2
Sleuths	5	3
Flashers	4	4
Engr. 6th Army	4	4
6400 SU	3	5
99th Engr.	3	5
Topos	1	7

Wide Variety In LAH Gym

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

MP HEAVY, Cpl. Billy Hobbs, started weight lifting in the Army. He's assigned to Company A of the 505th MP Battalion at the Presidio.

An afternoon in the gym at Letterman Army Hospital finds troops from the hospital and from the Presidio using the many and varied facilities available there. The gym is open daily and features basketball courts, badminton equipment, and the necessities for a workout with boxing gloves, as well as the weight-lighting and body-building equipment.

Cpl. Billy Hobbs is stationed with Able Company of the 505th MP Battalion. He has recently returned from an assignment at the Yuma Test Station at Yuma, Arizona, and has since been working out regularly with the weights.

Hobbs became interested in weight-lifting while stationed here at the Presidio. He found not only equipment at the Letterman gym, but also always someone to lend a helping hand in learning the weights as well. He is now "pressing" nearly 150 pounds with the bar bell.

Rowing on the exerciser is Pfc. Morrie Emigh, who is now a patient in Letterman Hospital. Emigh served in Korea with the supply engineers. Planning to return to college when he is discharged from the service, he works out in the gym to keep in shape.

It is unlawful to injure or capture California sea lions except under permit or except from a boat when lions are damaging fish or gear.

According to California Hunting and Fishing Regulations, it is unlawful to have in possession any device capable of or to be used in the silencing of the report of any firearm.

PFC. MORRY EMIGH keeps fit on the LAH gym's rowing machine. Emigh, now a Letterman patient, served in Korea with the supply engineers.

Table Tennis Tourney Prelims Start Monday

Fifteen Presidio table-tennisers are slated to meet each other across the green table this Monday as the 1954 Post Ping-Pong Championship gets underway at the Presidio Service Club, 1300 hours.

Three Presidio aces will be picked from the contestants to represent the garrison at the coming All-Sixth Army prelims at Letterman Army Hospital, 20-22 October.

Pairings, released by Post Special Services this week, are as follows: Pfc. Guy Clum, 99th Engineer Co., Bye; Cpl. Conrad Marshall, Detachment 2, 6002 SU, vs. Pfc. James Ward, 542nd Engineer Co.; Pfc. Bob Hunt, 551st Engineer Co. vs. Pfc. Tom Jensen, Detachment A, 6002 SU; Pvt. Al Buckignani, 542nd Engineer Co. vs. Cpl. Alvin Harp, 16th Base Post Office.

Cpl. George Baker, 30th Engineer Group, vs. Cpl. Bob Carter, Detachment 1, 6002 SU; Pvt. Anthony Pappa, 660th Engineer Co., vs. Sgt. Gerald Garner, 30th Engineer Group; Pvt. Wilbur Jones, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, vs. Cpl. Ken Klopp, Detachment 1, 6002 SU; Pfc. R. Perla, 102d MRU, vs. M/Sgt. Sid Domingue, Detachment 1, 6002 SU.

20 Hoop Teams Spark Winter Intra-Murals

A sign-up of 20 unit basketball teams in forthcoming winter league play promised to make this year's intra-mural casaba action the hottest in many years.

The loop, scheduled to commence Monday, 4 October, and continue through 7 February, 1955, will schedule three games per night, five nights a week at the Fort Scott Gym.

The entries will be divided into two leagues, the American and National.

Units signed for coming action include Headquarters, Sixth Army, 16th Base Post Office Co., 21st Engineer Co., Headquarters Co., 30th Engineer Group, 46th Ordnance, 99th Engineer Co., 102d MRU, Hill Toppers, 315th Engineer Co., Headquarters Co., 505th MP Bn., 505th MP, 537th Engineer Co., 542nd Engineer Co., 551st Engineer Co., 660th Engineer Co., Detachment 1, 6002 SU, 9206th Headquarters Detachment, Fort Mason, Headquarters, 9th AAA Bn., and 110th Transportation Platoon.

Life of an Army parachute under normal conditions is between four and five years.

QUEEN OF THE GRIDIRON is crowned at the recent football dance at the Presidio Service Club by Lt. Col. Roger L. Bilewicz of Headquarters, Sixth Army. The young lady of the hour is Joan Barban, secretary for the Sixth Army Medical Section.

Review Honors Four Centuries Service

A storybook retirement ceremony unfolded on the Presidio Parade ground yesterday afternoon as 14 officers stood a colorful and resplendent retreat review that wrote finis to careers that spanned more than four centuries of gallant service to country.

Numbered in the group were soldiers who had fought and bled on the shores of more than 20 countries. A prisoner of war who had been captured before WWII. A former enlisted man who had risen to the rank of a general officer with the Finance Corps. And a colonel who had commanded one of the Army's last mounted cavalry regiments.

While on hand to lead this final tribute to this illustrious group of combat veterans was the Congressional Medal of Honor winner and hero of the Korean conflict, Major General William F. Dean, deputy commanding general of Sixth Army.

Noted here are but a few of the numerous highlights in the careers of these officers.

Brig. General S. B. Elkins, Sixth Army Finance officer, entered the Alabama National Guard as a private in 1916, served on the Mexican border and then in France where he was commissioned and decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action. Serving at Pearl Harbor on 7 December 1941, General Elkins returned to this country early in 1942 and served the remainder of World War II as Fiscal officer with the Army Service forces. He has also been Staff

General Elkins

Finance Officer for the European command, budget and fiscal director on the staff of the military governor, U. S. zone in Germany, and assistant Chief of Finance of the Army.

Colonel William W. Jenna, on duty in Formosa since 1952, was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1917. He spent many years as an instructor at the Academy, first in French and later as associate professor of modern languages. During World War II, the colonel served in Hawaii and the Southwest Pacific.

Colonel Michael Buckley, Jr., was graduated from the Academy with the class of 1923. Ordered to North Africa as an observer with the British Eighth Army in 1941. Colonel Buckley was captured by Romel's Afrika corps near Tobruk in November of that year. He was returned to the United States in June 1942 following a prisoner exchange, and then spent two years in Washington, D. C., with Army Ground Force Headquarters. He has also served at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Fort Bragg, North Carolina, and, since 1953, at Santa Clara University.

Colonel John M. Pesek, who was deputy chief of staff for Sixth Army from 1947 to 1951, has been serving as director of personnel

Colonel Marcus

Allied forces, Southern Europe, since that time. His class at West Point was 1919 and prior to World War II, he spent eight years as an instructor there. From 1942 to 1944, Colonel Pesek was in Washington with the War department and Army Ground Forces Headquarters, and then served in Italy with the 15th Army group headquarters.

Colonel Morris A. Marcus, Sixth Army's Adjutant General since October 1951, is a native San Franciscan. Commander of one of the Army's last mounted cavalry regiments, he served in the cavalry almost continually following his graduation from West Point in 1921 until 1944. From 1945 until 1947, Colonel Marcus was in the Philippines as director of the recovered personnel division, General Headquarters, and in that capacity was largely responsible for the training of personnel to effect recovery of U. S. personnel from Japanese prisoner of war camps and the processing of their records.

Colonel Carroll D. Hudson, who has been Sixth Army Ordnance officer since 1952, was graduated from Stanford University, class of 1922. Following Navy service as an enlisted man in World War I, he was commissioned in the Army Reserve following completion of ROTC training at Stanford. During World War II, Colonel Hudson commanded Redstone arsenal, Huntsville, Alabama, and following the war was assigned with various Ordnance units in the Philippines and Ryukyus command. In 1948 he returned to reactivate Redstone as the Ordnance

(Please turn to page 2)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 18

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 1 October, 1954

'Service Is Primary'!

Says DPC in Feature Story On Post Commissary Store

"SERVICE," in spirit and deed, has been the by-word of the United States Army Quartermaster Corps since its inception in 1775.

The new Quartermaster at the Presidio, Lt. Colonel Walter McCarthy, Jr., has set as his goal the full realization of the traditional Quartermaster mission. He has been reviewing his facilities designed to provide service for service people, with the idea in mind: "How can we make the service better?"

Exemplifying the myriad services performed by the Quartermaster Corps for service personnel all over the world is the commissary store.

In order to provide military patrons with a better opportunity to utilize the store during off-duty hours, a new operating schedule will become effective Wednesday, 6 October, as follows:

STORE HOURS

All Authorized Personnel

MONDAY THRU FRIDAY

1045-1300 hours

1300-1400 closed

1400-1730 hours

The second step will be the installation of a self-service meat department to eliminate the waiting time that is now so annoying to each customer wanting to purchase meat. Another project will be the rearrangement of other stock on the shelves in a more logical fashion.

The parking problem and carry-out system, two of the most severe problems, are now undergoing study, with the objective of making it better for the

(Please turn to page 5)

Home Front Aid!

Nylon body armor, which proved so effective in cutting the battle casualty rate in Korea, could be used equally as effectively by civilians in event of bombing attack, is the opinion of three Army medical officers.

Lt. Colonel Robert H. Holmes, Major William F. Enos, Jr., and Captain James C. Boyer, of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, Washington, D. C., pointed out recently that armor similar to that which protected soldiers and Marines in Korea against chest and abdominal wounds, Historical Significance Seen!

Transfer of RTC Designations Slated by Dept. of Army

Four of the Army's regimental combat team designations will be transferred in late November and early December as part of an Army plan to restore historical and traditional unit associations, the Department of Army announced this week.

The transfers involve no movement of troops.

Units affected by the transfers are the 29th Regimental Combat Team, now at Okinawa; the 30th Regimental Combat team at Fort Benning, Georgia; the 65th Regimental Combat Team, a component of the 3rd Infantry Division, which was recently announced as being withdrawn from Korea for return to the United States, and the 296th Regimental Combat Team, a Puerto Rican National Guard unit now in active federal service in Puerto Rico.

The 29th Regimental Combat Team will have its personnel and equipment transferred to the 75th Regimental Combat Team. The 75th will be activated on Okinawa so that the transfer can be accomplished late in November. The 29th designation will then be returned to Fort Benning, Georgia, its traditional home.

Personnel and equipment of the 30th at Fort Benning, currently a separate non-division unit, will be transferred to the 29th Regimental Combat Team. The 30th designation will then be restored to the 3rd Infantry Division, its historic parent unit since 1917, except for the period of the Korean conflict.

The designation of the 65th Regimental Combat Team, for many years a regular Army unit of Puerto Rican heritage, is being separated from the 3rd Infantry Division, to which it was assigned during the Korean fighting, and returned to Puerto Rico. Personnel and equipment of the 296th will be transferred to the 65th. The 269th designation will then be returned to control of the commonwealth of Puerto Rico in conformity with Public Law 461, 82nd Congress.

Except for the transfer from the 29th Regimental Combat Team to the 75th on Okinawa, all changes in designation will take place concurrently with the transfer of the personnel and equipment from the 47th Infantry (Viking) Division, a Minnesota and North Dakota National Guard Division, to the 3rd Infantry Division at Fort Benning, Georgia, early in December.

"HAPPY BIRTHDAY" for the Military Police Corps was observed on Friday with a cake 'n' coffee affair held in the office of the Sixth Army Provost Marshal. Here, Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, cuts the cake as Colonel Shaffer

F. Jarrell, left, Sixth Army Provost Marshal, and Colonel Carol V. Cadwell, former Sixth Army Provost Marshal and recently deputy Provost Marshal General of the Army, look on. Actual anniversary, which was the Corps' 13th, was observed on 26 September.

No Man for Details

(The following dramatic essay was third-place winner in the recently concluded contest, whose theme was Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment. Subsequent weeks will see the running of second- and first-place winners.)

By Pvt. Dick Stewart

Corporal Cain considered himself a good soldier. He was good on the firing range, good on the squad tactics exercises, and generally "a good man" around the company. He had made his rating very quickly.

The men in his squad all thought highly of Corporal Cain. He played it square with them, never riding them unnecessarily, especially about little things like keeping boots in good shape, or keeping field gear in good order. He wasn't even very particular about the rifles, except just before the company commander's inspection. Yes, Corporal Cain's was a good squad to be a part of.

"It's soldiering that really counts," he would say. "We can take care of these little details when the time comes."

The time came when the company was ordered overseas to take part in the torturous Korean struggle. But the orders came suddenly, and there wasn't time to have boots repaired or to check field equipment or to make sure all the squad had complete uniforms.

"Don't worry," Corporal Cain said, with confidence in his voice. "We'll take care of it when we get over there."

So Corporal Cain's squad left with the company and within a few days they were all aboard the troopship headed overseas. The ship was crowded to capacity and along with the sea-sickness and discomfort there was a heady air of excitement about going into battle. Little details were easily forgotten.

The debarkation point was a turmoil of activity. There were so many things to be done in such a short time. Rifles had to be issued, field rations, gas masks, all the necessities of combat in the field. The company was able to take care of these things with amazing speed and efficiency. All but Corporal Cain's squad. They hadn't been trained to bother with these little details.

"Don't worry," Corporal Cain said. "They'll take care of us when the time comes."

Corporal Cain's outfit replaced an exhausted line company at the front. The misery and agony of combat came to them all of a sudden. They had to season themselves quickly to the fear, to the cold, to the hunger, and to all the inseparable tortures of battle. And worse of all, the inevitable patrols behind the enemy lines.

Corporal Cain's squad was one of the first to go on a patrol. It was a particularly long and hazardous patrol, requiring a long, rapid, and silent march through the darkness. But Cain was ready to take on the task.

He gathered his men together for briefing. To his dismay, he found that he had to leave his assistant squad leader behind, because the man's rifle wouldn't fire and there was no time to borrow another one. He had neglected to replace a faulty firing pin.

So they started out, one man short. The march was extremely tiring because they had to move so fast and so silently. Sometime before midnight they stopped for a brief rest. The men were tired and hungry, but there was nothing to eat because Corporal Cain hadn't bothered to secure the ration packs onto the pack of the man who was to carry them. They had fallen off somewhere on the march.

After a few moments rest, the squad started on in the icy darkness. Less than a mile under way, two of the men stopped Cain.

"We can't go on," they said. "The holes in our boots have worn through and our feet have blistered."

Corporal Cain was frightened now. But there was nothing to do but leave them behind. It would be impossible for them to keep up the pace with blistered feet. So six of the nine men of the squad went on to attempt to carry out the mission.

As they crept silently through the darkness, Cain noticed that the moon was coming out slowly from behind the heavy clouds. Automatically he looked around to check the camouflage of his men. With a sinking feeling, he saw a pretty silver reflection from the rim of one of the men's helmet. He remembered then, that a few days before he had seen the man digging at a fox hole, using his helmet as a shovel. The earth had worn away the dull paint from the helmet's rim and polished the gleaming steel.

It was too late when he reached the man to cover the bright steel with mud. There was a shot, and then a volley of shots. There was time only to take cover.

The attackers were small in number, Cain soon deduced from the rifle flashes. He and his squad emptied their rifles again and again in the direction of the enemy fire. He thought that they must have dropped half of the enemy patrol, judging from the decreased fire from that direction. He reached to his cartridge belt for another clip and fumbled around. There were no more.

Corporal Cain signaled to the ammo carriers for more clips. They held up empty hands, showing that there were no more. He crawled over to them.

"What about the extra boxes?" His voice was shaking.

"They were too heavy so we left them where we stopped to rest."

Corporal Cain was filled with horror. There was nothing to do but try to run for it. And the enemy fire was still coming at them.

With the few clips left among the squad they attempted a covering fire as they started the retreat. When the ammo ran out it turned into a frantic scramble, every man for himself. Corporal Cain just kept running.

What seemed an eternity later, the darkness was silent again. Cain stopped to count his men. There was one left.

"The others . . ." he said weakly.

There was no answer.

The two men crept silently back through the darkness. After a while they noticed an unnatural heap of something ahead of them. It was one of the men who had stayed behind because his boots had given out; his body was perforated. What was left of the other was sprawled nearby.

"Mission, failure!" Corporal Cain thought to himself.

Maybe he thought too, that he might just as well have slain his brother soldiers with his own hand. His squad had been annihilated by his simple carelessness in handling supplies.

Retirements

(Continued from page 1)

★ ★ ★

Corps Rocket and Guided Missile research and development center.

Colonel John G. Howard has served the Sixth Army Inspector General's section since 1952. He was graduated from the Military Academy with the class of 1920, and during World War II, served as Division Artillery commander of the 11th Armored division in Europe. Following the war, Colonel Howard served with occupation forces in Germany.

Colonel Wayne B. Gardner was commissioned in the Army Reserves in 1934. He served two years of World War II as Base Section and Advanced Headquarters Finance officer in China and Burma, and, following his return to this country late in 1944, served in Seattle, in the office of the Chief of Finance in Washington, as Comptroller of the Third Army, and, since last January, with the Sixth Army Finance section.

Colonel Herbert J. Witte is a graduate of the University of Iowa College of Medicine. In England and France in 1944-45, he was executive officer of the 201st General hospital. In 1946 he commanded the station hospital for the Peiping, China, Headquarters group and from 1947 to 1950, he served in Korea with the 377th Station hospital, the 14th Corps and as advisor to the surgeon general of the Republic of Korea Army. He has been with the Medical section of Headquarters Sixth Army since 1952.

Colonel Giles D. Stephens has served both the Marine Corps and the Army, the former from 1918 to 1927 and the latter from 1937-1938 and again from 1940 to the present. Graduate of the University of Southern California college of law, class of 1932, Colonel Stephens was in the Pacific from 1943-1945 as automotive officer for the South Pacific, and during the period 1951 to 1954, he was commander of the Dachau Military post in Germany. He joined the Ordnance section of Headquarters Sixth Army early this year.

Lt. Colonel Charles E. Bear enlisted in the Army in 1925 and came through the ranks before receiving his commission. During World War II, he served with the 10th Army on Okinawa and then spent two years in Korea with the 24th Corps. From 1946 to 1948 he was on occupation duty in Japan and Korea and from December 1951 to July 1953 Colonel Bear was with Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea.

Lt. Colonel Myron A. Everett enlisted in the Army in 1925, and upon completion of OCS in 1942, was commissioned in the Corps of Engineers. He was at Pearl Harbor on 7 December 1941, and served two tours in the Far East, one during and one after World War II, the latter in Japan from 1947 to 1949.

Lt. Colonel Raymond C. Johnson enlisted in the Army in 1925 and was commissioned in the Army Reserve in 1936. His World War II service was in China, and in 1952 he returned to the Far East for service in Japan with the 16th Corps which lasted until this summer when he was assigned to the California Military district.

Lt. Colonel Raymond E. White enlisted in the Army in 1921. During World War II he served with the Signal corps in the China-Burma-India theatre. From 1947 to 1952, Colonel White was with Headquarters, European command. He has been with the Signal section of Headquarters Sixth Army since August 1953.

Recently Assigned

Captain George F. Otte, Jr., has begun his duties in the Information section of Headquarters Sixth Army, where he is to be chief of the press branch. Captain Otte, whose branch is Armor, is beginning a three-year utilization tour in information and public relations, having just completed the 14-month graduate school, University of Missouri, where he received his M.A. in journalism.

Captain Otte was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, class of 1946, and subsequently attended the basic officers Armored school, Fort Knox, Kentucky, and the parachute and glider course, Fort Benning, Georgia. And, just prior to the University of Missouri assignment, spent nine months at Fort Knox for the advanced officers Armored course.

In 1947 the captain was ordered to Germany where he spent three years with the U. S. Constabulary, and, upon his return to this country, he was assigned for two years in the office of the chief of staff, Washington, D. C.

The captain's wife and son, presently in Santa Ana, California, will join him here when quarters are available.

Lt. Norma J. Redmon has been assigned as executive officer of the WAC detachment, Presidio of San Francisco.

Enlisting in the WAC three years ago, Lt. Redmon attended basic, leadership and O.C.S. at Fort Lee, Virginia.

Her first duty assignment was in recruiting, where she served two years with station in Syracuse, New York. Just prior to her present assignment, she completed seven months as commander of the Fort Mason WAC detachment.

Lt. Redmon is a native of Phoenix, Arizona, where she attended the University of Arizona for two years prior to entry into the WAC.

CWO John N. Luna is now the assistant supply officer of Headquarters company, 6000 SU, Presidio of San Francisco.

He returned recently from service in the Far East where he served first in Korea from May 1952 to March 1953 with the 443rd Quartermaster Base depot, then from March to November with MAAG in Tokyo, and finally from November 1953 to July of this year as salvage officer, Post Quartermaster section, Camp Drew, Japan.

Nine of Mr. Luna's 14 years of Army service were enlisted, and he received his warrant in June 1950, while serving with the Virginia Military district.

His World War II service included 33 months in the ETO with the 102nd Division and the Austria Quartermaster Base depot. Mrs. Luna has accompanied her husband here.

CWO Charles H. Shannon has, for the past 13 months, been a member of the 32nd Engineer Construction group in Korea. His first three months there were spent with the 308th CIC Detachment, 8th Army.

Mr. Shannon has now been assigned as assistant Post Motor officer, Presidio of San Francisco.

A member of the Army for the past 14 and one-half years, he received his warrant in April 1943 while with the 4th Armored division. He served a year in the ETO with the 266th Engineer Combat battalion during World War II, and has been awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant as well as all appropriate theatre ribbons.

Mr. Shannon has attended the Armed Forces school at Fort Knox, Kentucky, as well as the CI Training school in Tokyo. Mrs. Shannon and their three children have accompanied him here to his new assignment.

CWO Nicholas T. Paul is newly assigned to the administrative branch, Adjutant General section, Headquarters Sixth Army. His last duty station was Camp Stoneman, California, where he served 14 months as Post personnel officer.

Receiving his warrant in August 1942 while serving in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, Mr. Paul next went to the Pacific theatre where he served at Hawaii, Guam and Saipan with an automatic weapons battalion. For two and one-half years he served with the Marianas-Bonins command.

His next tour was four years in the ETO spent on occupation duty at Stuttgart Military post, Germany, where he was Post personnel officer.

Mr. Paul has been a member of the Army for 18 years. His wife and their three children have accompanied him here.

CWO John T. Drake has begun his new assignment as commandant of the AG Administrative school, Headquarters Sixth Army. His last duty assignment was in Korea, where, for 16 months, he was classification and assignment officer, 9th Corps.

In January, 1943, Mr. Drake received his warrant while serving at Fort Ord, California, and in April of that year began an overseas tour that took him to Attu, Alaska, Kwajalein, the southern Philippines and Okinawa as assistant commander of the 32nd Regiment, 7th Infantry Division, and finally, in November 1945, to the Hawaii Personnel center where he remained until February 1947.

He has been decorated with the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Clusters, the Combat Infantry Badge, the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant, the Korean Presidential Unit citation and two Philippine decorations.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post T&E Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

ESSAY WINNERS—It was cash on the line this Tuesday for first, second and third place winners of the recent essay contest on Utilization and Conservation of Government Equipment. Checks were presented by Colonel H. R. Waller, Post Comptroller (left), to (l. to r.) Pvt. Dick Stewart, I&E Section, third-place;

M/Sgt. Paul S. Scott, Unit Advisor's Office, CMD, second-place, and Cpl. Bruce Lansbury, C Company, 505th Military Police Battalion, first-place winner. Prizes were $25.00, $15.00 and $10.00, respectively, for winner and runners-up.

505th MP Wins!

Franklin Analogy Wins Essay Contest for Local Soldier

The question as to how best we may apply utilization and conservation of equipment in the Army brought a wide variety of suggestions in the recent essay contest on that subject sponsored by the Post S-4 section and under the supervision of Captain Clinton D. Regelin, Post T.I.&E. officer.

The winning essay, by Cpl. Bruce Lansbury of C Company, 505th MP Bn., suggested an Army-wide return to the sentiment typified by the cost-conscious fathers of our country, such as Benjamin Franklin, who were aghast at the idea of a national debt of $10,000.

Second-place M/Sgt. Paul S. Scott, of the Unit Advisor's office, California Military District, presented his appeal in terms of taxes. Every cent we lose through bad utilization and conservation in the Army, says Sergeant Scott, we pay out of our own pockets.

Pvt. Dick Stewart, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, third-place winner, built his case upon a dramatic essay involving one Corporal Cain, who thought he knew everything there was to know about soldiering until one fateful day he took a squad out on patrol and returned with two men.

Pvt. Stewart's poignant story points out in dramatic terms that if we waste now, we are likely to regret it in some life-and-death situation in the future.

Prizes included $25.00 for first place; $15.00 for second, and $10.00 for third. The awards were made by Colonel H. R. Waller, Post Comptroller, and were drawn from Central Post Funds.

Judges in the contest, which closed Monday, included Captain Clinton D. Regelin, Post T.I.&E. Officer and Assistant S-3; Captain Robert E. Meiser, S-4, and Mr. Kenneth Erwin, Editor of the Star-Presidian.

Judging was deadlocked between the first and second place winners, and Major Clarence Bacon, Post S-3, was called in to break the tie.

The three winning essays will be run on succeeding weeks in the Star-Presidian, starting today. Turn to page 2, editorial column, for Pvt. Stewart's third place entry.

RO Insignia!

A proposal recently submitted to the Army suggests the authorization for an appropriate insignia for reserve officers serving on active duty as noncommissioned officers.

The proposal just submitted either would bring back the green sleeve braid of World War I vintage or adopt a special chevron. The latter would be the regular chevron with a seal of the United States, identical to an officer's cap device, in the center.

GOOD FOOD AND GOOD TALK went together at the observance Friday of the Military Police Corps' 13th birthday in the office of the Sixth Army Provost Marshal. Here Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander, Presidio of San Francisco, converses with M/Sgt. John B. Schmidt, member of the Military Police Corps since 1940, who is presently assigned to the Provost Marshal section.

Operation Paper Chase Has Good Starting Results

The third conference on Operation Paper Chase was held last Friday in the Post Theater where Colonel Claude Burbach, Sixth Army Deputy Chief of Staff-Comptroller, commended the conferees on the first few days results and expressed his gratitude for their enthusiastic support. He pointed out that although the project had been launched but five days previously, surprisingly good results had been achieved in reducing the Sixth Army's internal reporting workload.

Rescission of Sixth Army Headquarters directives no longer necessary to operations, the subject covered in the second conference, has already produced the rescinding of 39 headquarters directives and the simplification of 23 more.

A review of 50 controlled Sixth Army reports in connection with Project No. 1 resulted in the elimination or reduction of 415 reports per year.

It was pointed out that if all the file papers in this headquarters were placed end to end they would stretch 5,000 miles. There are also 60,000 copies of "Classified Material Register and Receipt" form in the AG Record files, plus approximately 80,000 more held in staff section files. The prevention of this snowballing of classified material was one of the main aims of the third conference.

Project No. 4 discussed the overlapping responsibilities and activities in the administrative workload and how to ferret out duplication and overlapping of effort.

On the first of October the fifth conference will discuss "Unnecessary Restrictive Policies Imposed by Sixth Army," and on the fifth of October conference No. 6 will be on "Impact of Restrictive Policies Imposed by Department of the Army."

Lewis Film Fun!

Approximately 600 soldiers of the 44th Infantry Division at Fort Lewis, Washington, went to the Yakima Firing Center to take part in filming scenes for the forthcoming motion picture, "To Hell and Back."

Filming of the battle scenes for the movie, which depicts the military career of Audie Murphy, World War II's most decorated soldier and now a Hollywood star, will last about 20 days.

Models and Movies!

Disaster Relief Program Slated For Harmon Armory Thursday

"Army Disaster Relief Operations," covering a subject of vital importance in today's uncertain world, will highlight the coming week's activities in Harmon armory, Bldg. 649, located at the California Military district area of the Presidio.

There, on Thursday at 2000 hours, the Sixth Army Mobile Instructional and Demonstration team No. 1, composed of Major Richard F. Dennison and Captain Albert J. Budjako, will present a fascinating panorama of problems, plans and actions in case disaster should strike.

The presentation will be given from the Army standpoint, and will include a resume of major disasters, Army policies which form the basis for future planning and preparedness, and a movie on "Your Army in Disaster Relief."

The two-hour program is scheduled primarily to give inactive duty training to Army Reserve personnel. However, all Reservists, National Guard, ROTC, and others who are interested, are invited to attend, as the lecture will include information of value to anyone who might conceivably become connected with any phase of relief from disaster.

Major Dennison, officer in charge of the team, is commanding officer of the 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry Regiment, Fort Ord, Calif. He has a total of 49 months overseas service in the Aleutians, Philippines, and in Korea, where he served as battalion commander in the 15th Infantry, 3rd Division.

A graduate of the University of Montana, he wears the Bronze Star with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Republic of Korea Presidential Citation, and the Combat Infantryman's badge.

Captain Budjako is an Information and Education officer with the 6th Infantry Division at Fort Ord. In his 46 months of overseas service, he was a platoon leader with the 5th Cavalry, and a property officer for Hq., Second Major Port at Yokohama.

He is a graduate of the Adjutant General school, Armed Forces Information school and the Auto Maintenance School. Captain Budjako wears the Silver Star, Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Combat Infantryman's badge and the Gliderman's badge.

CG Lauds Hunter Liggett CO at Parade, Review

Colonel George C. Mergens, Commanding Officer of Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, received a Certificate of Achievement from Lt. Gen. W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, at a parade and review at the reservation last Friday on the eve of his retirement after more than 35 years of service.

A native of Portland, Ore., Colonel Mergens was graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1923. During his military career he performed staff duties and was commanding officer of Infantry units, and from 1932 until 1938 was with the academic department of the Infantry School.

For a year prior to going to Hunter Liggett, he was Assistant Deputy Chief of the U. S. Military Assistance Group to Korea.

His decorations include the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, Soldier's Medal, Bronze Star and the Purple Heart.

Following his retirement, Colonel and Mrs. Mergens will make their home at 185 San Leandro Way, San Francisco, Calif.

DISASTER RELIEF OPERATIONS for this model community are among the complex and varied hypothetical problems which will be demonstrated in a program set for Thursday at 2000 hours in Harmon armory, California Military district, Presidio of San Francisco. The above pair is the Sixth Army's Mobile Instructional and Demonstration team No. 1, who will present the program titled, "Army Disaster Relief Operations," which is open to all interested personnel. The men, both stationed at Fort Ord, include Major Richard F. Dennison, CO of the 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry Regiment, and Captain Albert J. Budjako, T.I.&E officer with the Sixth Infantry Division.

Changeover Now!

Winter Uniform Becomes SOP For Post, Sixth Army Today

Winter has officially arrived on the Presidio!

Yesterday was the last day in which it was permissible for Presidio military personnel to wear cotton khaki summer wear. The changeover to fulltime Class A, shade 33, wool serge uniforms for duty wear, formations and ceremonies, began today.

The ruling came last week in a memorandum posted at Presidio Headquarters, aimed at fatigue jacket tucked inside trousers, and the trouser legs bloused over the tops of the boots.

Particular emphasis was placed on the responsibility of unit commanders to ensure the proper uniform wear of every man under their commands. Appropriate insignia will be worn with all classes of uniform. Boots, leather articles, and insignia will be kept polished.

Articles of civilian jewelry, such as watch chains, collar pins, tie clasps, should not be worn exposed. There should be no mixture of different classes of uniforms.

When the shirt is worn as an outer garment the sleeves will be rolled down and buttoned and the necktie tucked in below the second button. Hair will be neatly trimmed.

raising the standards of uniform wear on Post, by Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander.

A clarification of the Post Headquarters' announcement, published in last week's Star-Presidian, was released also this week.

The article last week interpreted the memorandum as disallowing the wearing by officers of anything but OD's while on duty, unless an official commitment required use of the officers' semi-dress during duty hours or immediately following, and the wearing of anything but semi-dress and tropicals off-duty or off-post.

According to the clarification, officers on duty with troop units will wear the uniform prescribed for their unit, with the exception of those supervising fatigue details. In the latter case, officers will always wear Class A OD uniforms.

Concurrent with the Post regulation, a Headquarters, Sixth Army, staff memorandum likewise named today as the official changeover date to winter uniform.

Another important aspect of the Post memorandum was the shift from cotton utility cap to the wind-resistant "field cap" for all enlisted men on details. From now on, only prisoners will be allowed to wear the utility headgear.

On fatigue details, enlisted men will wear Class B uniform with a stiffener inside their field caps, with cap square on the head, the Japanese Joint Staff Head Due at Presidio For Official HQ. Visit

Lt. General Keize Hayashi, Chairman of the Japanese Joint Staff Council (equivalent of the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff), will arrive in the Presidio on Friday, 1 October, for an official visit to Headquarters Sixth Army. Honors will be rendered for the General, on his way back from Washington, D. C., in front of the Presidio Officers' Mess, at 1030 hours.

Military personnel and their dependents or guests are invited to observe this ceremony which will include participation by the Sixth Army Pipe Band and a demonstration by the Presidians.

It is requested that section chiefs release personnel to the extent practicable to observe this affair.

In addition, the ceremony is open to the general public.

DOLLS GALORE! A sort of children's paradise has been set up at Presidio's Toyland this week for pre-Christmas shopping convenience of Bay Area Exchange patrons, and Presidio Nursery pupils. Patti Hurlbut (left) and Mary Beth Moore seemed to be in a state of delightful confusion amid the piles of dolls as they previewed the Christmas display this week. Shop opened yesterday for business, will remain open 0900-1800 hours weekdays, 0900-1200 hours Saturday, till Christmas.

Toys Galore!

Saint Nicholas Starts Early, Strong, at Presidio's Toyland

Santa Claus has come to the Presidio!

He came yesterday, in fact, with the opening of Toyland, an outlet for playthings set up annually for the Christmas trade by the Bay Area Exchange Office. It is located in Building 566 on Ruger Street, next door to the Post Kindergarten. There is spacious parking space adjacent.

In years past, Toyland has satisfied even the most demanding of youngsters and parents with its luxuriant crop of dolls, musical instruments, games, furniture, wagons and cars, and various other gadgets. This year will be no exception, as is obvious to anybody who has taken a quick look at the myriad display now piled sumptuously on each of the store's sagging tables.

Whatever your pleasure, Toyland has it.

There are dolls, lovely big dolls, with almost real skin; lovely little dolls with soft hair and big eyes.

Little stuffed creatures of every variety with outstretched arms for some small boy or girl to claim them.

For the musically talented child there are imposing looking tubas, junior style, accordions and other interesting, tinkling things.

Games for all ages, and small tables and chairs to set them upon—a perfect arrangement for those rainy winter days.

If your youngster's forte is things that move, there is the most fantastic assortment of moving things—they have wheels, they have steering controls; and best of all, names. There is the jet flow sedan, jet flow fire truck (complete with ladder and handbars), jet flow cycles and jet flow police cars.

For the rambunctious, there are boxing gloves; for the sporting, baseball bats, gloves, balls and caps.

And don't neglect the books—books that will transport youngsters afar, into other lands and other worlds. There are books to look at, books to read, and books to paint and color.

Toyland will be open 0900-1800 weekdays, 0900-1200 Saturdays—times subject to change at the convenience of the store's customers.

United Crusade Begins Drive on Post Next Week

The annual United Crusade campaign will be conducted on the Presidio of San Francisco from 6 October to 20 November, it was announced today.

A meeting of representatives of each Presidio unit who will be in charge of receiving contributions, will be held at the Post theatre Wednesday at 1500 hours. Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, deputy post commander, has been named chairman of the drive.

The United Crusade is a joint appeal for funds by 104 health and welfare services, including the American Cancer Society, the Community Chest of San Francisco for 76 agencies, Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, American Red Cross, San Francisco Heart association and USO-United Defense fund for five agencies.

National Medals Go To Infantry Stars

Six National Trophy Medals were received from Major William C. Burns, Captain of the Sixth Army Rifle Team. These medals were presented to Major Burns for members of the Sixth Army Rifle Team for having placed ninth in the National Trophy Team Match which was held at Camp Perry, Ohio, on the 24th of August 1954.

A letter was dispatched to the Commanding General, 44th Infantry Division, directing that medals be awarded to the following personnel of the 44th Inf. Div.: Major Don W. Cook; 1st Lt. Robert W. Lang; Corporal Lowell T. Severson; Pfc. Robert A. Peterson; and Pfc. George B. Bennett.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

11 September: A/1C and Mrs. Frank J. Balestrier, 3536 Ftr. Spt. Sq., Mather AFB, Calif.

18 September: T/Sgt. and Mrs. Ray Turner, Hq. Sqdn., 566th ADF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

20 September: Cpl. and Mrs. David White, Ft. Ord, Calif.

21 September: A/1C and Mrs. Wilbur Brand, 28th ADV (DEF), Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Paul Fedelin, Co. H, 63rd Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.; PFC and Mrs. Kent Goodman, Hq. Det., 660th Engr. Bn., Ft. Scott, Calif.; 1/N3 and Mrs. James H. Gray, 12th Naval District, Bldg. 258, TI, SFC.

22 September: T/Sgt. and Mrs. Gregory S. Kranes, 2643 Air Res. Cntr., Ft. Miley, SFC; CWO and Mrs. Thomas B. Makar, 56th Machine Records Units, PSFC; Pvt. and Mrs. Leroy E. Vogelsson, C Btry., 762d AAA Gn. Bn., Alameda, Calif.; A/1C and Mrs. Earl Wilson, 84th Ftr. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

23 September: A/3C and Mrs. Eugene Vaughn, Hq. Sqdn. Sec. 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

24 September: FN and Mrs. Leon C. Baldwin, USS Honeock, CVA 19, San Diego Naval Base, Calif.

25 September: Cpl. and Mrs. Robert E. Boren, C Btry., 752d AAA Bn., Alameda, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Rex W. Hartford, 325th Ftr. Interc. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Raymond Loudermilk, Det. 2, 6103 ASU Br. USDB, Lompoc, Calif.

26 September: Pvt. and Mrs. Thomas Adler, 22d Army Band, Ft. Mason, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. William A. Bareras, 51st Food Service School, Ft. Ord, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Leslie D. Brown, Hq. Co., 6020 SU, OAB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Francisco E. Lopez, 9956 TU LAH, PSFC.

Sons to:

20 September: M/Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur E. Atkinson, 6513 S. Det. (ROTC) Univ. of Cal., Berkeley, Calif.; BM-1 and Mrs. Henry Badeaux, Pac. Res. Ft., Hunter's Point, Calif.; A/1C and Mrs. Marvin J. Rees, 566 Fld. Maint. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

21 September: M/Sgt. Fay Millard, 566 Fld. Maint. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Robert R. Newburg, 325 Ftr. Interc. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

22 September: SFC and Mrs. Harry M. Yasumura, Hq. 46th Ord. Gp., PSFC.

23 September: A/1C and Mrs. John D. Folgate, 43d Comm. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Robert Ligouri, Co. B, 820th E. A. Bn., Beale AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. James L. Tannahill, Hq. and Hq. Btry., 51st FA Bn., Ft. Ord, Calif.

24 September: A/3C and Mrs. Warren H. Gross, 566 Opns. Sq., Base Comd., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Ellis Sutton, Jr., Co. M, 3d Bn., 44th Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.

25 September: PFC and Mrs. Curtis Hattley, Hosp. Det. 6003 SU, Ft. Ord, Calif.; SFC and Mrs. David Jammer, Food Svc. School, PSFC; SFC and Mrs. Paul A. LaFlamme, 504th Med. Det. (OPT), Alameda, Calif.; LT. (Jg) and Mrs. Thomas J. O'Neill, USNR, Long Beach Naval Sta., Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Frederick E. Stamp, Hq. Det., 660th Engr., Ft. Scott, Calif.

26 September: SFC and Mrs. William K. Nahalea, Co. A, 505 MP Bn., PSFC.

POPULAR SINGER, Cpl. Jack Killens, cook with the 6002 SU Consolidated Mess by day and song stylist by night, will be among those men who will enter the competition to be held here later this month, for the right to appear in the grand finals of the second annual All-Army Soldier Singing Contest slated for January. Cpl. Killens has devoted much of his off-duty time during his six years in the Army, to entertaining his fellow soldiers as well as appearing in clubs and television shows.

Has Appeared Locally!

Popular Presidio Singer Enters Local All-Army Song Contest

Among the men from the Presidio of San Francisco who will take part in the second annual All-Army Soldier Singing Contest is Cpl. Jack Killens of the 6002 SU.

Cpl. Killens, who will enter the local competition to be held at the Presidio Service club later this month, has been singing "ever since I can remember."

It wasn't, however, until he entered the Army six years ago, that the world about him began to take notice of his unusual voice and delivery, which many have described as not unlike Nat "King" Cole. "But I do have my own definite style," he went on to explain.

"I was shy and a little hesitant of my own ability," the 24-year-old soldier said, "but I got lots of encouragement from the fellows and pretty soon I found myself singing to sizable audiences."

Killens, who has appeared three times with the Bonny Keever Talent show, a half-hour television program emanating from San Francisco KRON-TV Channel 4, Thursdays from 1300 to 1330, was awarded a watch for his performance of "I Love You for Sentimental Reasons," and "Pretend."

In addition, he was offered a singing engagement in Reno, "but that was before they realized that I was in the Army," he explained. "Right now I'm pretty undecided about my future. I like the Army and will always be grateful to it for having given me my start in singing. I hope to begin voice lessons shortly, something I have never had, and perhaps enter the entertainment field as a career."

"While I am stationed here, I would be very happy to take part in programs here on post either at the Officers' Club or the NCO clubs," the corporal said, giving his extension as 3636. He has sung at American Legion functions in San Francisco as well as at several of the downtown clubs.

Presently a cook with the 6002 Consolidated Mess, Cpl. Killens has served two tours overseas, the first in Germany where he spent nine months with the 96th Truck Company and where he really began singing in earnest. In Korea and Japan, he served 18 months with the 513th Transportation Truck Company.

Stationed on the Presidio for the past 19 months, he and his wife reside in San Francisco, while his mother, Mrs. Stella Mae Killens, lives in Miami, Florida.

Other personnel desiring to enter the contest may obtain full information and entry blanks at the Service Club. Those attaining first place locally in each of the ten fields of entries, will vie with winners from other commands for All-Army honors in those fields in the grand finals to be held in January.

Judges will be chosen from among prominent members of the music field and their decisions will be based on entrants' singing techniques, appearance and choice of material.

Fields which vocalists may enter include: Popular singer; classical singer; country and western; spiritual in from three- to five-man groups; open ensemble in from three- to five-man groups; Army band chorus for 12 or more men; battalion or regimental chorus for 12 or more men; post or division groups of 24 or more men; and singing platoons of from 25 to 40 men.

Commissary

(Continued from page 1)

customer. Like improvements to other government facilities, the principle obstruction is cost. All must be carried out with an eye to economy.

Our Army, in lieu of the comparatively high salaries and wages paid to our civilian contemporaries, gives the serviceman the opportunity to make his smaller amount of money go farther. The commissary is part of this so-called "fringe benefit system."

"The service customer is entitled," Colonel McCarthy says, "to the same courtesy he finds in an up-to-date civilian profit-making establishment. Courtesy does not cost anything; a courtesy campaign among commissary employees is now in full swing."

The unremitting effort of all Quartermaster personnel will be directed toward providing the best service in a courteous manner and at the most reasonable prices possible. This is all in keeping with the Quartermaster Corps' tradition of adherence to high standards in providing the Military with everything implied by the word—"SERVICE." Colonel McCarthy stated that he will welcome suggestions and ideas from the Quartermaster customer. (By C.E.L.)

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 1 October—"The Cruel Sea," with Jack Hawkins and Donald Sinden.
Saturday, 2 October—"Private Hell 36," with Howard Duff, Steve Cochran and Ida Lupino.
Sunday, 3 October and Monday, 4 October—(Cinemascope) "Knights of the Round Table," with Robert Taylor and Ava Gardner.
Tuesday, 5 October—"African Adventure," Documentary film, plus a cartoon carnival of five popular cartoons.
Wednesday, 6 October and Thursday, 7 October—"Passion," with Cornel Wilde and Yvonne DeCarlo.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 1 October—"The Lavender Hill Mob," with Alec Guinness.
Saturday, 2 October—"Steel Cage," with John Ireland and Maureen O'Sullivan.
Sunday, 3 October—"The Cruel Sea," with Jack Hawkins and Donald Sinden.
Tuesday, 5 October—"Passion," with Cornel Wilde and Yvonne DeCarlo.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 1 October—"Four Guns to the Border," with Rory Calhoun and Colleen Miller.
Monday, 4 October—"The Cruel Sea," with Jack Hawkins and Donald Sinden.
Wednesday, 6 October—"She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," with John Wayne and Van Johnson.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 3 October—"Passion," with Cornel Wilde and Yvonne DeCarlo.
Tuesday, 5 October—"The Cruel Sea," with Jack Hawkins and Donald Sinden.
Thursday, 7 October—"She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," with John Wayne and Van Johnson.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 1 October—"Thunderbirds," with John Derek and John Barrymore, Jr.
Saturday, 2 October—"The Cruel Sea," with Jack Hawkins and Donald Sinden.
Sunday, 3 October and Monday, 4 October—"Four Guns to the Border," with Rory Calhoun and Colleen Miller.
Tuesday, 5 October—"The Lavender Hill Mob," with Alec Guinness.
Wednesday, 6 October—"African Adventure," documentary film.
Thursday, 7 October—"Steel Cage," with John Ireland and Maureen O'Sullivan.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 1 October—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 2 October—Tony's Mambo dance class, 1930; dart tournament, fire-side party and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 3 October—James Stewart show, 2000.
Monday, 4 October—Cootie games and coffee hour, 2000.
Tuesday, 5 October—Square dance, 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 6 October—Pinochle tournament, bridge, pantomime class, all at 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 7 October—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 1 October—Tournaments, 2000.
Saturday, 2 October—Horse racing, 2000.
Sunday, 3 October—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Faye Christie stage show, 2000.
Monday, 4 October—Crafts class, 1900.
Tuesday, 5 October—Post Dance, 2000.
Wednesday, 6 October—Tournaments, 2000.
Thursday, 7 October—Square dancing, 2000.

Cinema Previews

"PASSION," M. Pioneer California settlers in the early wild and wicked days and how defense and revenge against roving bands of terrorists and killers made them do the things they did. NOT for the kiddies!

"THE STEEL CAGE," F*. Based on the book, "The San Quentin Story," the movie is actually three short stories, pointing up the prisoner's desires for laughter, freedom and a purpose in life.

"FOUR GUNS TO THE BORDER," F*. Western saga of the last days of the infamous Cully gang whose guns had repeatedly blazed through the Apache nation.

M—Mature. F—Family.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 1 October—Splash party at Letterman swimming pool from 1930 to 2100 followed by pot luck supper at Teen-age club at 2100 when club opens.
Saturday, 2 October—Ping pong tournament at 2100, boys vs. girls; Guess-ho contest with prizes.

MODEL POST OFFICE—Personnel of the Presidio-based 16th Base Post Office have become expert instructors in the field of Army postal work during their two-year stint at the Presidio. One of the reasons for this is the excellent training facilities made available to the company, one of which is shown here—a model post office—set up in the rear of the company class room. Shown hard at work on the various jobs that make up postal operation are (l. to r., rear) Sgt. Orianda Justice, Pvt. Steve McSwain and Cpl. Michael L. Weigers; (l. to r., front) Cpl. Donald L. Mayers and Sgt. Luis Castaneda.

As Infantrymen Too!

Local Postal Company Earns High Rating at Hunter Liggett

The 16th Base Post Office Company was awarded a rating of excellent during its recent field training test at Camp Hunter Liggett.

The test included problems involving tactical situations, in which personnel of the company fired at stationary and moving silhouettes and sustained general harassment by aggressor forces, and the accomplishment of their primary mission of serving as central post office for a theater of operation.

Under the command of Captain Frank J. Naisbitt, with Captain Jack D. Hillman as executive officer, the 16th BPO, General Reserve Postal unit here at the Presidio since September, 1952, departed for Liggett 30 August.

The first week in the field was spent in preparation for a 24-hour test which began at 0500 hours on 8 September. This preparation included firing on silhouettes from battle positions and technical preparation of practical work in the operation of a base post office under field conditions.

During the actual field test, the primary mission of the BPO—that of serving as central post office for a theater of operations—was accomplished with the utmost success.

It became necessary for the unit to make a move with all its equipment during the daylight hours, and then another move under cover of darkness. Although under almost constant harassment of aggressor forces, supplied by the 3623d Ordnance Company, both moves were completed efficiently and in good order.

During the entire 24-hour period of the test, aggressors were active in infiltration attempts of the positions occupied by the 16th. These attempts included both gas attacks launched from ground positions and the air, and strafing from the air. All these methods applied by the aggressors proved of little value, thanks to the alertness of the security guard, which prevented any substantial penetration by aggressors with the defense perimeter.

The climax of the tactical phase of the test occurred when the final attack was repulsed at 0330 the following day.

Highlight of the technical phase took place in the bivouac area with written and oral examinations of BPO personnel in general postal procedures and regulations.

The test was administered by Captain Greathouse, AGC, Postal Officer, Fort Ord, California, and involved 100 written questions. The results of the examinations were excellent, the overall average being 88 per cent.

At the close of the problem a critique was conducted by Captain Greathouse, Captain Abram Montes and Captain Clinton D. Regelin, S-3 Section, Presidio of San Francisco, and 1/Lt. Copren, 3623d Ordnance Company.

Stardusters, Drama Club, Want Members

"The Stardusters," newly organized Presidio drama club, held their initial meeting this week at the Presidio Service club, and, among other things, elected Pfc. Donna Wills, WAC detachment, as president; Pvt. Harold W. Grosslink, 30th Engineers, vice-president; Pfc. Frank N. Calrera, 56th M.R.U., secretary, and Pfc. Rickey Spry, 116th Armd Cavalry Regiment, technical advisor.

The group plans to present several one-act plays at the Service club and are presently recruiting personnel who wish to participate. Those interested may attend the next meeting of the group set for Tuesday at 2000 in the Service club small lounge.

More than 25,000,000 tons of freight were unloaded by the U. S. Army at Yokohama, Japan, during the first three years of the conflict in Korea.

Raiders Sizzle On Braves' Grid In 33-24 Scorch

The blazing Palo Alto sun and a scorching 100 degrees on the thermometer set the mood for the Red Raiders' burn last week by the Stanford Braves on the Indian campus. The Presidians couldn't hang on to the ball in the first half of the game and suffered mightily under the hosts' onslaught.

Opening the first quarter, the college boys kicked off to the soldiers who played the ball in their own territory. Attempting to punt out, the Raiders fumbled and recovered, giving Stanford the ball in Army ground. Then the Indians fumbled, allowing the local garrison to finally punt into Stanford territory.

Fumbles were the rule in the entire first half and the Little Indians made the best of the situation. Their first touchdown was made when they recovered a fumble on a reverse that Presidio quarterback Burroughs intended for half, Bill Cockrane.

Recovering the ball, the Braves scored on their first try. Stanford quarterback Jack Lewis got a long one off to end Frank Hook for the TD and the conversion was good for the extra point.

And so went the first half. The Reds obviously suffered both from the intense heat and the prowess of Little Indian quarterback Jack Lewis. His aerial artillery attack paid off for the Braves throughout the game. On the receiving end of Lewis' passes were end, Frank Hook, and halfback, Mike Rafferty, both Stanford sophomores.

In the second half the soldiers seemed to become more acclimated to the heat—either that or both teams were exhausted by it. At any rate the locals looked better after the halftime break. In one of the Raiders' scoring plays Burroughs faked out to left end, cut back, and got off a twenty-five yarder to halfback Bill Cockrane who ran it over for the TD.

The Braves' Lewis countered, however, with a forty-yard run which set up touchdown play for the hosts. Half, Jerry Angrove, took it over.

The Little Indians made three of their conversions, while the Presidians didn't make any.

In spite of playing a close game the soldiers never managed to pull up with the host team. At one point in the final quarter, the score was Stanford 27, Presidio 24, and it looked as though the Red Raiders might make it. The Braves scored another six points, however, and the locals' spirits dropped with the game.

Presidio Golfers Meet Sailors Here Tuesday

Presidio linksmen, victorious in their last meet with Mather AFB, will join the Federal Building Navy team in a tournament here at the Presidio next Tuesday, 5 October, at 1230 hours.

The local garrison's ace golfer, Pfc. Dick Yost will lead the home team roster. Yost recently participated in the California State Tournament at Pebble Beach with such notables as Harvey Ward and Walt Gillian.

Also on the local roster are Lt. Col. Thomas C. Ward, Capt. Rollin Kapp, Cpl. Ray Steelsmith, M/Sgt. Sid Domingue, Cpl. David Bull, Cpl. Bob Carter, and Cpl. Bill Hawley.

COME TO PAPA! and it does as Milt Garfield of Buffalo, New York, snatches one of Don Burroughs' long ones out of mid-air. The aerial blast was good for plenty of yardage on the hot Stanford field in Palo Alto where the Raiders dropped to the Braves after an exhausting first half in the mid-afternoon scorcher Back With Vengeance!

Locals Meet Alameda Sailors Tomorrow On Navy Hame Field

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Tomorrow's pigskin battle between the Alameda NAS Hellcats and the Presidio Red Raiders should be a game to watch. Both squads met humility last week at the hands of unexpected victors and are expected to come back with a vengeance to regain lost ground in the local gridiron standing.

Alameda's flying sailors lost last Saturday to the Chico college boys in a grinding 19-12 tilt. It was a paradoxical final score—the Hellcats made more yardage in rushes, more yardage in passes, more first downs, and had fewer penalties than the Chico eleven. Yet, they lost the match, by a scarce seven points.

The local garrison lost to the Stanford Braves in an afternoon of football characterized by 100 degrees of hot sun and a disillusioning series of fumbles. In spite of the soldiers' disadvantage in the heat the game was a close one and the Reds nearly had it in the second half.

In Alameda's battle with Chico, the bluejackets were strong in the first half but wore themselves out in the last two quarters. Conversely, in the Army's Palo Alto tilt, the Red Raiders were at their best in the second half.

The Presidians will meet the sailors with a sound squad which has plenty of ability in aerial attack and a strong land force. Quarterback Don Burroughs has looked better in each game of the season.

Bill Cockrane, soldier-half, is Burroughs' battle buddy on the grid. He snatches Burroughs' passes out of the air and can also tear up the turf in the running plays. Fullback George Acton is also coming into his own and can be a real power for the locals—if he can hang on to the ball.

The Navy squad is coached by C. A. "Chet" Chapman, who is a former grid ace from the Detroit Lions and has coached high school and college teams before moving to Alameda. He uses a T formation with a variation of a single wing for offensive depth.

Big Gun for the Hellcats is Harry Simeno at right end. Simeno is a former All-Navy defensive end.

In spite of everything, however, the flying sailors took a worse beating from Stanford's Little Indians in their previous tilt, so it looks like the soldier's game tomorrow.

Starting lineups are listed below.

LINEUPS
RED RAIDERS	ALAMEDA HELLCATS
John Gabrielson LE	Mel Hamilton
Gerry Wilson RE	Harry Simeno
Bill Cockrane RH	Ed Hughes
Ed Colarossi LH	Ron Webb
Don Burroughs QB	John Leal
George Acton FB	Bill Hoffman
Mario Masia LT	Jim Wolfe
Frank Wilson RT	Joe Bell
Rosco Morris LG	Bob Maples
Don Holstrom RG	Bob Martin
Tony Mader C	Doug Collins

Raider Grid Schedule

Tomorrow—Alameda NAS at Alameda, 1400 hrs.
Oct. 9—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.
Oct. 30—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).
Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Denotes Bay Area Armed Forces League games.

In the Australian system of scoring a boxing round, an even round is scored 5½-5½—a total of 11 points. A winning round is scored 6-5.

Basketball Begins!

Intra-Mural Hoopsters Open Series Monday at Fort Scott

Monday opens the intra-mural hoop league here at the Presidio with three games on the slate. The entire schedule of games will be played at the Fort Scott gym.

Headquarters Sixth Army will vie with Headquarters Battery Ninth AAA at 1800 hours Monday. At 1915 hours, the 21st Engineers meet the Headquarters Detachment 9206, and at 2030 hours the 46th Ordnance Group will challenge the 542 Engineers Co.

The casaba schedule is complete through 15 November, the first half of the season. More games will be played through the first part of December to conclude the league slate.

The intra-mural melon league consists of two divisions, American and National. Rules of play will be governed by the 1955 NCAA regulations.

Due to the great number of teams entered in the two divisions, it will be necessary to schedule three games each evening, five days a week until December. At that time the meets will probably be scheduled on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Game quarters will be eight minutes.

The two divisions will be played in halves, with the winner of the first half playing the winner of the second half a one-game playoff for the Division Championship. In the event of a tie, additional playoff games will be slated until a winner is decided.

The winners of the two divisions will play a two out of three series for the intra-mural championship. The date and time will be decided by the Sports Officer.

The winning and runner-up teams will receive trophies from Post Special Services.

Raider Fans Ride

Transportation will be furnished to Raider fans who are eager to see the home team in action against the Alameda Hellcats at Alameda tomorrow. Five Army busses will load on the main parade ground tomorrow at 1300 hours and will return fans to the Presidio.

Intra-mural Basketball Schedule (to 15 October '54):

- 5 OCT.—NATIONAL
1800—16th BPO vs. Det. A, 6002 SU.
1915—Hq. Det. 30th Engrs. vs. Det. 1, 6002 SU.
2030—115th CIC Det. vs. Hq. Det. 660th Engrs.
- 6 OCT.—AMERICAN
1800—99th Engrs. vs. Co. B, 505 MP.
1915—102 MRU vs. 315th Engrs.
2030—Hq. Co. Sixth Army vs. 9206 Hq. Det.
- 7 OCT.—NATIONAL
1800—Hq. Co. 505 MP vs. 551st Engrs.
1915—537 Engrs. vs. 549th Engrs.
2030—16th BPO vs. Det. 1, 6002 SU.
- 8 OCT.—AMERICAN
1800—Hq. Btry., 9th AAA vs. 542 Engrs.
1915—21st Engrs. vs. Co. B, 505 MP.
2030—46th Ord. Gp. vs. 315th Engrs.
- 11 OCT.—NATIONAL
1800—Det. A, 6002 SU vs. Hq. Det. 660th.
1915—Hq. Det. 30th Engrs. vs. 551st Eng.
2030—115th CIC vs. 549th Engrs.
- 12 OCT.—AMERICAN
1800—99th Engrs. vs. 102 MRU.
1915—Hq. Co. Sixth Army vs. 542 Engrs.
2030—9206 Hq. Det. vs. Co. B, 505 MP.
- 13 OCT.—NATIONAL
1800—Hq. Co., 505 MP vs. 537 Engrs.
1915—Hq. Det. 660th Eng. vs. 16th BPO.
2030—Det. 1, 6002 SU vs. 551st Engrs.
- 14 OCT.—AMERICAN
1800—Hq. Btry., 9th AAA vs. 315th Eng.
1915—21st Engrs. vs. 102 MRU.
2030—46th Ord Gp. vs. 99th Engrs.

ALAMEDA BIG GUNS Harry Simeno and Jim Wolfe (l. to r.) pose before the gridiron action against the Presidio locals. Simeno was All-Navy end and can be a real threat to the Raiders. Giant Jim Wolfe weighs in at a formidable 250 pounds. Needless to say, he adds considerable weight to the potential power of the Hellcats' line. Both men are on the starting line-up for the Alameda blue-jackets.

TABLE TENNIS CHAMP Marshall Conrad (l.) will represent the Presidio in the coming Central Army Table Tennis Tournament at Letterman Army Hospital for the Central Division. He beat out six big guns of the ping pong league for the top spot. Bob Hunt, and R. Perla will also battle for the local garrison in the coming matches. They're not shown in the photograph. On the other end of the table from Conrad is Wilbur Jones, close runner-up in the contest.

Sixth Army Rep Wins!

Ordmen Wreck Norfolk NAS To Grab Inter-Service Title

Ord's center fielder, Jim Landis, powered a two-run homer that cinched the soldiers' defeat of Norfolk NAS 5-3 to capture the Inter-Service Baseball crown at Memorial Field in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

With the score tied 3-3 in the bottom of the seventh and Ord pitcher Bud Watkins on second base, Landis cracked a fast ball over the left field wall for the Army victory. Landis' blow climaxed an uphill fight by Fort Ord before 3000 spectators, including Secretary of the Army, Robert T. Stevens.

The Navy had jumped to a 1-0 lead in the second inning on first baseman John Jaciuk's long homer. After Ord tied the score with a run-producing double in the fourth inning by left fielder Jack Steinagel, Norfolk went ahead, 3-1, in the fifth inning on the strength of Irvine's double with two men on.

Ord tied the score in the sixth frame once again on three successive safeties, the big blow being a two-run double by first baseman Bill Hanson.

Reeve "Bud" Watkins, Ord's pitcher, hit four balls besides getting three safeties to share batting honors with Landis, who had a triple in the third inning besides his home run.

After the game, medals were awarded to the Army and Navy players by Secretary Stevens. Landis was named the most valuable player.

The inter-service All Star team selected by the working press and radio is as follows: 1st base, John Jaciuk, Norfolk NAS; 2nd base, Jim Moore, Army; 3rd base, Will Johnson, AF; shortstop, Bob Lillis, Army; right field, Jack Steinagel, Army; center field, Jim Landis, Army; left field, Bob Hoeft, Navy; catcher, Bob Roselli, Army; pitchers, Jim Russel, Bud Watkins, Army, and Bill Dufour, Navy.

League Teams Vie For Top Spots as Fall Season Starts

As member teams of the Bay Area Armed Forces League vie for positions in the opening of the pigskin season, two are behind and two tie for top spots. However, it is too early in the season to place any team definitely on the top.

So far, the Presidio Raiders have won one tilt and dropped one. The Stanford JayVee meet which the Presidians lost was not a League competition so the locals are going strong with their victory over League member, Treasure Island.

The TI Pirates lost to the local soldiers in their first gridiron battle and lost again to the Cal Ramblers in a 40-6 slaughter last week. Two down, the sailors are not doing so well.

Alameda's Hellcats are also down two games, having lost to the Stanford Braves and to Chico State last week-end.

The Defenders of Hamilton AFB are one up with a decisive 16-0 victory over the semi-pro Petaluma Leghorns.

The Stanford Little Indians, participants but not members in the Bay Area Armed Forces League lead the field at this point. The Braves trounced Alameda and routed the local Raiders to put themselves two up as the season gets under way.

Moffet NAS has dropped from the League schedule this season for the obvious reason that they have no football squad to participate.

3 Winners Top Prelims at LAH Division Tourney

Cpl. Marshall Conrad of Headquarters Company Sixth Army aced out contenders to win the top spot in the table tennis preliminary matches at LAH. Bob Hunt and R. Perla were runners-up in the early contest for the All-Sixth Army Table Tennis Tourney.

All three men will represent the Presidio in the coming Central Army matches at Letterman Army Hospital 20-22 October. Singles and doubles winners and runners-up will represent the division in the finals at Madigan Army Hospital in Tacoma, Washington.

Sharp armed Conrad of the quick eye had to go through six ping pong specialists to secure his lead position. In the early matches he clobbered Jim Ward and Guy Clum but was whipped by Bob Carter, member of the post golf team, 6002, Det. 1.

Heavy-handed Conrad then went on to ace out Wilbur Jones and R. Perla in the quarter finals in a series of tight games over the green table.

Beaten by Bob Hunt in quarter finals, Conrad had lost badly 21-9, 21-13 and 21-5. Coming back with a determined vengeance in the play-offs, however, Conrad finally overcame Hunt in a trio of 21-13, 21-14, and 21-18.

The final tournaments in Tacoma, Washington, will be a double elimination. The best two out of three games will constitute a match. The semi-finals and finals shall be best three out of five.

Awards will be provided for the winners and runners-up in both singles and doubles, male and female, in the All-Sixth Army Table Tennis Tournament.

Need 5 Keg Teams

Five more bowling teams are needed to complete the new bowling league being planned by Lt. Herbert Youngdahl, Post Special Services Officer. Three teams are already lined up for the latest keg tourney. Interested parties should contact Lt. Youngdahl in building 122.

Gallo Eastern King!

Engineers Tie Eastern Kops; Deuce Still National Leader

The 21st Engineers are still leading the Eastern Bowling League standings, although just barely with their tie of 2-2 against the Keystone Kops. The Kops are just one game behind at this date. Engineer Rothong was again tops for his quintet with his high game of 209 and average of 163. Kop Johnson rolled through 199, 160.

Baker MPs climbed to second position by virtue of a 3-1 smash of the 56th MRU No. 1. MP Gallo powered his group by a bowl of 238 high game and average of 179. Williams' 184, 158 paced the machine records men.

6300 SU took the tilt 3-1 from the Harbor Defenders with SU's Adair taking the high game score of his five 201 and average 164. Defender Grozier bowled a high of 207 and an average of 153.

The 56th MRU team No. 2 whipped the Slow Rollers 3-1. Lead man for the 56th was Nichols' 189 high and 158 average. Loser Thorne rolled 209, 159.

Gallo took the Individual High Game of 238 and the Individual High Series of 652 for the league. "200" Game Awards went to Gallo, 238, 203, and 211; Malinski, 200; Walden, 203.

In the National Bowling League this week Det. 1, 6002 SU took the tilt 3-1 from the Hill-Toppers No. 2 to remain in first league position. Top bowler for the Deuce was Evans with weekly high game of 214 and average of 179. Loser Carlisle rolled 209, 163.

Hill-Toppers No. 3 defeated HQ 6th Army 3-1 spirited by hill-man Kemper's 188 high game and average of 158. HQ's Voshino rolled a 180 and 163.

Hill-Toppers team No. 1 were also victorious 3-1 over the 102nd MRU. Lead kegler for the hill-crew was Pravel with a roll of 227 high game and 152 average. 102nd power was Nichols' 160 and 136.

The Maroo's repeated last week's win by trouncing the 6513th SU quintet by 3-1. Moro Dell'omo turned in 175 high game and 140 average to top his team and SU's Saunders rolled 148, 157.

For the Mixed Bowling League this week, the top contender in the group is the Lofters. The Lofters overcame the Spokes 3-1, led by Alexander, who turned in a high game score of 195 and a high series of 528. Spoke spark was Yoshino's 209 high game and 547 series. Yoshino also won two awards for bowling over 200 game. Nelson of the Spokes took the only other league 200 award.

The Hot-Shots rolled over the Slow Rollers 3-1 led by hotshot Bretzer who rolled 152 high game and high series of 442. Roller Myers turned in 172, 477.

Number three league team, the Tag Indians, took a drubbing from the King Pins 4-0. Head roll for the Pins was Thompson's 171 high game and series of 395. Tag Vargas spirited his quintet with 155, 416.

The High-Lows were high this week over the Ords by 3-1. Winner Piombino bowled 193 high game and high series of 506. Loser A. Morris turned in 118 and 289.

High game man winner was Yoshino with 209. High series for the men was D. MacDonald's 551 and high average for the men was Yoshino again with 172.

High game winner for the women was Royster with 178. Royster also took the women's high average 137 and high series 455.

In the Western Bowling League for the week the Tags remain tied with HQ Co, 6th Army for first league position. The 99th crushed the Flashers 3-1 led by builder Heidengren who rolled 221 high game and a 488 total pins. Flasher Hooper's 168, 467 top pointed his group.

HQ Co. 6th Army smashed the Topos 4-0 led by HQ's Holtz who racked up 182 high game and 505 total pinnage. Loser Dayton bowled 158 and 425.

The Sleuths pushed 6400 SU hard to take the games 3-1. Sleuth Gregor pinned 174 high game and 489 total pins. Loser Sacurada hit a 180 high game.

The Tags took the Sixth Army Engineers to the wall by 4-0. Tag Piombino rolled 200 high game and 522 total pins. Westbrook powered the losers with a 337 total pin score.

NATIONAL
Team	Win	Lost
Det. 1, 6002 SU	13	3
Hill-Toppers No. 3	11	5
Hill-Toppers No. 2	9	7
HQ Co. 6th Army	9	7
Maroo's	7	9
6513th SU	6	10
Hill-Toppers No. 1	5	11
102nd MRU	4	12

EASTERN
Team	Win	Lost
21st Engr.	14	6
Co. B, 505th MP	15	5
56th MRU No. 1	13	7
6300 ASU	11	9
Keystone Kops	8	12
Slow Rollers	8	12
56th MRU No. 2	8	12
Harbor Defenders	3	17

MIXED
Team	Win	Lost
Lofters	16	8
Tag Indians	15	9
High Lows	15	9
Hot Shots	13	11
King Pins	12	12
The Ords	9	11
Slow Rollers	8	12
Spokes	7	13

WESTERN
Team	Win	Lost
Tags	10	2
HQ Co. 6th Army	10	2
Sleuths	8	4
Flashers	5	7
Engr. 6th Army	4	8
6400 SU	4	8
99th Engr.	6	6
Topos	11	11

Sixth Army CG Lauds Ordsters

To: Commanding General Fort Ord, California

Many analogies can be drawn between athletics and the training objectives of the United States Army. Among these aims are the development of a strong competitive spirit, the will to win, individual and team proficiency, and the well-disciplined team-work it requires to be a winner. It is evident to all that the Sixth Army team, represented by your installation, had all of these attributes in abundance. On behalf of every member of the Sixth Army, I wish to express our pride in and extend congratulations to each member of the team on their outstanding victories in both the All-Army and the Inter-Service Baseball Tournaments, conducted at Camp Carson, Colorado. Please convey to the Baseball Champions of the United States Armed Forces our appreciation for a job well done.

W. G. WYMAN

Lieutenant General, U.S. Army Commanding

Willie WHEELER

— PLAYING HEADS UP FOOTBALL AT RIGHT HALFBACK WILLIE HAS BEEN ONE OF THE RAIDERS MOST CONSISTANT GROUND GAINERS

21 YEAR OLD WHEELER IS NOW STATIONED WITH THE 102 MRU

COACHES — HE PLANS TO RETURN TO COLLEGE

THEN AND NOW with Mr. Fred J. Scott might well be the title of this unusual picture. Almost as if in a dream, the Fred Scott of today, retiring this week after 35 years of service with the Signal Corps, wistfully gazes into the past and sees himself as a youth just beginning his career. Mr. Scott was honored at a reception in the Sixth Army Signal center Wednesday and presented with a Certificate of Achievement and a compiled volume of his years with the corps. He has been chief clerk of the Signal section here since June 1927.

Signal Corps Employe Honored On Retirement After 35 Years Service

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

Fred J. Scott, Signal Corps employe for the past 35 years, 27 of them here, retired at the Presidio of San Francisco this week with enough plaudits to fill a book.

In fact, they did fill a book. A bound volume entitled, "This is Your Life in the Signal Corps," prepared through the diligent secret efforts of his co-workers, was presented to him at a reception held in the Signal center Wednesday afternoon.

A highlight of the affair was the presentation to Mr. Scott by Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, Sixth Army Chief of Staff, of a Certificate of Achievement in recognition of his outstanding duty as chief clerk of the Signal section, Headquarters Sixth Army, during the period June 1927 to 30 September 1954.

"His devotion to duty and constant striving for perfection have been an inspiration to his fellow workers. Thirty-five years of his life have been dedicated to the Signal Corps, twenty-seven years at the Presidio of San Francisco. He will long be remembered for his abundant energy, sympathetic understanding and his complete and genuine devotion to the service."

Among the dozens of active Signal corps and former Signal corps Army officials now retired, who sent congratulatory messages and "Bon Voyage," to Mr. Scott were Major General George I. Back, the Chief Signal officer, Department of the Army, with whom Scott served during his first tour of duty in Hawaii when the general was just beginning his Army career as Lt. Back.

Mr. Scott also served with three other young officers who later became Chief Signal officers, including Major General Irving J. Carr, Major General George S. Gibbs and Major General J. O. Mauborgne. He also was once assigned to Captain Frank E. Stoner who later, as Major General Stoner, was Signal officer to the United Nations.

The Signal Corps was only 59 years old when Mr. Scott commenced working with it in November 1917. Fort Monmouth, now the nation's Signal school, then known as Camp Alfred Vail, had opened only three months previous, named in honor of one of the pioneers in telegraphy.

A year after entering employ with the civil service commission, Mr. Scott enlisted in the Navy and served approximately a year before receiving his honorable discharge at which time he returned to civil service, and subsequently, in August 1919, joined the Signal Corps.

Following 18 months of duty at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Mr. Scott came to the Presidio of San Francisco in June 1927 where he has been ever since. During most of his career he has been chief clerk to the Signal officer, and his duties have been varied and, at times, such as during World War II, extremely exacting and demanding.

As General Back stated in part in his message to Mr. Scott: "Please know that your 35 years service in the Signal Corps represents an example of the very highest ideals of government service. I wish to congratulate you on your long and productive career. I know that you can take great satisfaction in the knowledge that your accomplishments have meant much to the Signal Corps and to the national defense."

General Stoner, now retired, wrote in part: "You were always so neat and presentable in your work and appearance, we heaped public relations work normally assigned to officers on you. You became, 'Mr. Eighth Signal Corps,' the officers came and went and each time Mr. Scott was mentioned favorably in dispatches and by word of mouth. You, Mr. Scott, were the one that kept the office afloat policy-wise during these many changes in command. . . . I left the 8th Corps in 1927—a better officer by having served with you."

From James A. Code, Jr., Major General, Ret'd " . . . Your retirement is an irreparable loss to the Signal Corps for you have given to it over 35 years of devoted, loyal and painstaking duty. Your kindness and helpfulness will always be remembered and you can take great pride in the beautiful record you leave behind."

Colonel Airel B. Cooper, present Sixth Army Signal Officer, who is the last of many Signal Corps officers with whom Mr. Scott will have served, said in his letter " . . . You have performed your job in an outstanding manner. . . . You will long be remembered for your patience and kindness, your loyalty and your constant and genuine devotion to the Signal Corps."

And from Lloyd C. Parsons, Colonel, Ret'd, previous Sixth Army Signal officer: "With each change of 'boss,' policies changed yet you remained an anchor of continuity which I am sure all of us fully realized and appreciated. Truly you have creditably earned your ease of retirement along with the Signal Corps' profound THANKS."

S. W. Stanley, Colonel, Ret'd, who commanded the Signal section of the old 9th Service Command, Presidio of San Francisco from 1942-1945, wrote in part: "I can truthfully and sincerely say that I have never experienced the all-around satisfaction afforded by my duty with the 9th Service Command . . . and your never failing loyalty and friendship to me, your unselfish and tireless devotion to our organization and your high efficiency and long, rich experience with the Signal Corps were a major contribution to the success of our efforts and to my deep personal satisfaction in the assignment."

Another 9th Service Command Signal officer (1941-1942) Arthur S. Cowan, Colonel, Ret'd, said: " . . . When you retire you will leave behind you a splendid record of loyal and efficient service—a record of which you can well be proud and from which you should derive much satisfaction. As one of the senior members of the Signal Corps family, I am glad to extend to you the stamp of complete approval contained in the words, 'well done' and as an old friend I extend my warmest congratulations."

Racket Busters! Crime Prevention, Avoiding of Payday Pitfalls, TIC Topic

Next week's discussion topic, Crime Prevention, deals with the pitfalls that face the serviceman while visiting large metropolitan areas, and will be presented by the Unit Commanders.

It is the Army Commander's point of view that in the areas of training and character guidance a direct approach by the Unit Commander to his men is a superior method.

The conference that the individual commanders will present will stress the tricks, traps, and temptations facing the man in uniform when he visits town. Only a few will be outlined in the discussion.

The conference will point up that members of the Military Police Corps know that virtually all crimes in which a serviceman is the victim originate in certain sections of a town or city. That is why the MP patrols those neighborhoods more frequently and vigilantly than he does the others. He also knows that most of the people in any city or town are citizens who are basically honest and that there is worthwhile entertainment for the serviceman sponsored by civic groups composed of such people.

The conference will further point up that the MP has no wish to pose as the guardian of the morals of the serviceman or as the keeper of his purse. He is a soldier striving to gain cooperation of other soldiers and, in return, to cooperate with them in support of Sixth Army Crime Prevention Activities.

Servicemen should not hesitate to ask questions of their fellow soldier, the MP. If he doesn't know the answer to a question, the MP usually knows of a source where the answer can be obtained.

Should a soldier be unfortunate enough to become involved in any of the schemes and tricks that raffish elements may draw him into, he should report all the facts and details to the Military Police without delay. Servicemen should not feel embarrassed because they have been victimized, or feel too proud to admit their loss.

Minor incidents, which a soldier may think are of no value, will, with other evidence in the hands of the Provost Marshal, add up to exposure of the particular racket and probably result in the apprehension of the racketeer.

Blank Converter!

An Infantry School instructor at Fort Benning, Georgia, has been cited for converting obsolete blank ammunition for use in higher caliber weapons.

Captain Robert S. Smith was presented the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant for converting large quantities of obsolete 37-mm and 75-mm blanks for use in 76-mm and 90-mm weapons.

Cpl. Roger L. Foerster

Tenth 'Soldier of Month' Award Goes To Texas Corporal

Cpl. Roger L. Foerster of B Company, 505th, became the tenth member of the battalion to win the unit's coveted "Soldier of the Month" award since the contest's inception in November of last year.

Foerster, 25 years old and from Houston, Texas, edged out three other finalists in the battalion-level test that preceded the awarding of the title. They were Pfc. Ralph L. Ripley, A Company; Pfc. Duane W. Royal, C Company, and Pfc. James T. Colt, Headquarters.

Foerster was assistant office manager to a livestock broker prior to his entry in the service. He intends to return to the same job on his separation 16 October. He attended Columbus High School, Columbus, Texas, and Massey Business College in Houston. He is married and has a son 4 months old.

The "Soldier of the Month" contest, built around a close competition at company and battalion level in general military and military police subjects, has been termed a most valuable inspiration to all-around unit morale and esprit.

Winners are awarded a three-day pass and an engraved personal gift for their achievement.

Selective Service B.C.

According to the first chapter of Numbers, Moses and Aaron registered and classified 603,550 men as available for military service.

From.....	Two Cents Postage
Address.....
.....
Name.....
Street.....
City.....Zone.....State.....
(Third Class Mail)

Claude F. Burbach, Army Comptroller, Gets General's Star

Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, pinned the stars of a brigadier general to the blouse of Colonel Claude F. Burbach, Sixth Army Comptroller, in an informal ceremony at the Presidio this Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony followed receipt of information here of the recess appointment by the President of General Burbach to his new rank.

Following his graduation from the U.S. Military Academy in 1925 as a lieutenant of artillery, he served in various assignments in the United States and Philippines prior to World War II.

Early in World War II he commanded artillery battalions of the 7th and 85th Infantry Divisions. In 1942 he was named Director of Materiel at the Field Artillery School, Fort Sill, Okla., and the following year was designated Chief of Staff of the 8th Armored Division.

During 1944-45 he commanded the 418th Field Artillery Group, a heavy artillery unit in the Pacific Theater. Following the end of the war he was assigned to the planning section of Army Forces, Western Pacific in Manila. In 1946-47 he was a member of the first class of the National War College at Fort Leslie J. McNair, Washington, D.C. He then served three years on the Department of the Army General Staff.

From 1950 until 1953 General Burbach was Chief of Staff of the 4th Infantry Division, serving with it upon its reactivation at Fort Benning, Ga., and later in Germany. He next assumed command of the Bremerhaven Port of Embarkation in 1953, remaining there until he reported to the Presidio last July.

General Burbach is a native of Chicago. He is married to the former Dorothy Grier, daughter of Mrs. Harry S. Grier of Washington, D.C., and the late Colonel Grier. They have one son, Jerald, 22, serving with the Army.

EM Warned: Be Prompt With Concurrent Travel Requests, Other Papers

Enlisted men selected for overseas shipment, who desire concurrent travel for their dependents, should submit application on DD Form 349 within 24 hours after receipt of orders, it was announced at Headquarters, Sixth Army, this week.

In order to prevent undue delay in application for passports, when and if concurrent travel is approved, personnel who are vulnerable for overseas assignment and are of a grade which entitles them to transportation of dependents, should equip all family members with necessary birth certificates, photographs and other required documents.

DA Reports: Forces Over 3 Million Strong

Total numerical strength of the Armed Forces, on 31 August, 1954, based on preliminary reports was 3,290,510. This represents a decrease of 10,112 from the 31 July combined strength of 3,300,622.

The strength figures represent full-time military personnel comprising both Regulars and Reserves on continuous active duty, and includes cadets and midshipmen at West Point and the Naval Academy.

PROMOTION TO GENERAL—Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, (right), Sixth Army Commander, pins the stars of brigadier general on the shoulder of Claude F. Burbach, Sixth Army Comptroller, as Mrs. Burbach looks on. The ceremony took place this Tuesday in the office of the Army Commander, following the recess appointment by President Eisenhower. General Burbach's posts have included service with the artillery, infantry, and Department of the Army General Staff.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 19

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 8 October, 1954

3 Senior Officers Named to Top Sixth Army Positions This Week

Appointment of three senior Army officers to top positions at Sixth Army headquarters was announced this week by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander.

Col. R. W. Nuss

A San Franciscan, Colonel Robert S. Nourse, was named Adjutant General, while Colonel Rudolph W. Nuss became the new Finance and Accounting officer and Colonel George C. Masters, the Ordnance officer.

The trio fill positions vacated by the retirement on 30 September of their predecessors, Colonel Morris A. Marcus, Brig. General S. B. Elkins and Colonel Carroll D. Hudson, respectively.

Colonel Nourse was graduated from San Francisco's Lowell High school and attended Stanford University for two years before being appointed to the U. S. Military academy in 1922, from which he was graduated and commissioned with the class of 1926.

Prior to coming to the Presidio approximately two months ago, Colonel Nourse spent three years with Headquarters Caribbean command, with station at Quarry Heights, Canal Zone, in the capacity of secretary to the general staff and director of personnel.

Colonel Nuss' most recent assignment was that of assistant chief of Finance, Department of the Army, in which capacity he was serving until his assignment to the Presidio last month. He had earlier completed the advanced management program of the Graduate School of Business, Harvard university.

From 1948 to 1951, Colonel Nuss served in the Far East. His last assignment overseas was as chief of the budget, Fiscal and Finance division, office of the Comptroller, General Headquarters, Far East Command, United Nations command and Supreme commander Allied powers.

Colonel Masters, who has been the executive officer of the Ordnance section since his arrival on the Presidio in March 1953, was among the first Americans to arrive in Korea after the initial attack by the North Koreans across the 38th parallel. On 27 June, 1950, he was with the Advance command there and later served as Ordnance officer and as acting supply chief (G-4) in the first U. S. Military Advisory Group activated in Formosa in the spring of 1951.

Col. G. C. Masters

Col. R. S. Nourse

After a year in Formosa he returned to the United States for duty as Ordnance officer, 3rd Corps, then stationed at Fort MacArthur, California. During World War II, Colonel Masters was an Ordnance advisor to Chinese Armies fighting in southwest China.

French Chief Visits

General Augustin Leon Guillaume, Chief of the French Armed Forces Staff, arrived in the United States on Monday for a two-week tour of defense installations.

Among defense installations which will be visited by General Guillaume are Army Field Forces headquarters at Fort Monroe, Virginia, Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Virginia, and the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, New York.

Reserve Officers Receive Career Opportunities

A comprehensive program designed to provide active duty reserve officers with long-term career opportunities more nearly parallel to those now enjoyed by regular Army officers has been approved and will be in operation soon, the Department of the Army announced recently.

Part of the Army's long-range program for maintaining a vitalized officer corps for the active Army, the new program places increased emphasis on developing career patterns for reserve officers similar to the career management programs now in effect for regular Army officers, and provides greater assurance of 20-year active duty careers for those qualified reserve officers who are selected for retention, subject to budgetary and strength limitations.

Among the positive steps being taken to attract and retain capable reserve officers in the active service is revision of the current system of active duty agreements of one, two, and three years so as to provide indefinite term agreements to qualified officers.

Plans call for the maximum number of reserve officers in the lower grades to be trained on active duty for limited periods and for only the best qualified and capable officers to be retained on active duty in the numbers required by the active Army.

WO Promotions Set For Consideration at Early Board Session

Washington—Warrant officers junior grade with a date of rank of 30 June, 1953, and earlier are being considered this month by an Army selection board with those selected to be promoted during the last months of 1954 and the early part of 1955.

The Army announcement of the board's convening said that a circular will be published early in October listing the names of those who DA records show to be eligible for consideration.

Selection for promotion to chief warrant officer (W-2) will be on a fully qualified basis, the announcement said.

A G-1 spokesman said there are no plans at this time to call boards to consider chief warrants for promotion to W-3 and W-4. Until the warrant officer bill is fully in effect and the Army's lists have been readjusted, any consideration would be pointless.

Off-Duty Uniform!

When off duty after retreat on the Post, or off the Post at any time, Presidio military personnel in uniform, officers and enlisted men, may wear either the Class "A" (Shade 33), semi-dress, or when appropriate, dress uniform. Appropriate civilian clothes may be worn when off duty on or off the Post.

Army Saving!

A saving of $272 million has been announced by the Army for the 1954 fiscal year as a result of improvements in civilian personnel management and utilization. The number of regular civilian employees was cut by more than 66,000 to a total of 438,000 as of June 30, 1954.

Essay

Be Care Conscious!

(The following essay was second-place winner in the recently concluded contest whose theme was Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment. Next week will see the running of the first-place essay.)

By M/Sgt. Paul S. Scott
Unit Advisor's Office, CMD

By utilization and conservation of Army equipment, we mean taking care of it and preserving it, or by virtue of our Troop Discussions, it simply means supply discipline or supply economy. Actually, it means getting the most out of our supplies and equipment.

During the fiscal year 1955, our Federal Government estimates that it will spend almost 45 billion dollars towards the safeguard of our national security. Of this amount, approximately 20 per cent will be spent on the operation and maintenance of military equipment.

You and I will pay this money out of our own pockets. Our income will be taxed; our food will be taxed; or if you smoke cigarettes you will pay a tax; and, if you own an automobile, you will have to pay a gasoline tax. Thus, if all American soldiers adopt a plan for the proper utilization and conservation of Army equipment, the government will spend less on materials, and naturally, we will pay less in the form of taxes.

Utilization and conservation of Army equipment by every soldier in the Armed Forces can be developed through training and practice until the habit is formed. This is accomplished by preventing waste, or using only the amount necessary to do the job. Proper use of equipment gives it a long life, and keeps it from being damaged. Too, preventative maintenance of equipment keeps the material operating properly and makes it last longer. Damaged equipment should be repaired immediately, but do not try to repair or work on the damaged part unless you have been trained to do so!

Proper usage and conservation of materiel is especially an important item on the agenda during this period of the Communist threat against our Democratic way of living. A well-equipped Communist invader can be defeated only if we use equipment for what it is intended; by preventing waste; and by performing preventative maintenance in order that we can be combat-ready at all times.

Your life, your ability to perform your duties efficiently, and your comfort depend upon the proper utilization and conservation of Army equipment.

Take care of your equipment and it will take care of you!

500 Designations Slated for Return To Army OR, NG

Washington—The designations of about 500 Army units now on active duty will be returned to Army Reserve and National Guard control by March 1955.

The units will be of battalion size and smaller. The designations of the units being returned to reserve component control will be replaced by regular Army designations. At the same time the personnel and equipment will be transferred to the new units.

This changeover will not involve any movement of personnel since reservists and guardsmen who entered active duty with reserve components during the Korean emergency were separated during 1952-53. Only those who volunteered for continued active duty remain.

About two-thirds of the units are being returned to USAR control and one-third to NG control. The first group of about 35 units will be returned Nov. 15, 1954. There will be units from several states in each increment.

Certain reserve component units for which there is no current requirement under the present reduction in force policy also are slated for inactivation during fiscal year 1955. They will be returned directly to USAR or NG control.

Prost!

Schweinfurt, Germany. — Beer drinkers here are thanking the U.S. Army with each swallow of brew these days.

The Army's fire detachment, consisting largely of locally employed Germans, responded to a call for aid when the town barrel factory was discovered ablaze. Although machinery was destroyed, millions of barrel staves were salvaged, keeping breweries in business.

Army Commander Urges Support of United Crusade

The annual United Crusade appeal for funds began on the Presidio and its sub-posts Wednesday of this week with a kick-off meeting at the Presidio theatre. It will continue through 20 November.

In urging all Presidio personnel to take an active part in this most worthy campaign, Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, issued a message this week which stated:

To All Personnel of the Presidio of San Francisco:

The 5th of October marked the opening of the 1954 annual San Francisco United Crusade fund raising campaign for 104 national and local charitable organizations.

It should be remembered that we of the Presidio of San Francisco and its sub-installations are closely related to the civilian communities of San Francisco and Marin County and benefit both directly and indirectly from the many valuable services made available by the organizations of the United Crusade.

I take this opportunity to urge each and every one of us, civilian and military personnel alike, to do his utmost as a citizen and soldier to support these worthy causes by contributing to the United Crusade.

W. G. WYMAN
Lieutenant General, U.S. Army
Commanding

The goal this year is $6,150,000 and among the 104 agencies who will benefit are the American Cancer Society, the American National Red Cross, the San Francisco Heart Association, USO-United Defense fund (five agencies), the Community Chest of San Francisco (76 agencies), and the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation.

Pledge cards will again be used and donations will be in conjunction with paydays as follows: military personnel, 1 November; Sixth Army civilian personnel, 5 and 19 October and 2 November, and Post Operating civilian personnel and per hour personnel, 12 and 26 October and 9 November.

"Give Once—the United Way."

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel George W. Batts will become the Post Finance officer, Presidio of San Francisco, on 1 November. A graduate of the Army Finance school, he is presently becoming oriented into his new position.

For approximately seven months prior to coming here, Colonel Batts was Finance and Accounting officer at Camp Stoneman, California, and, before that, spent 16 months in Korea where he served with the 40th Infantry division, as staff Finance officer, KCOMZ, and as executive officer, Comptroller section, KBS.

A veteran of 19 years' Army service, the colonel spent three and one-half years in the European theater during World War II, serving with the 1st Infantry division. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Commendation Ribbon, the Good Conduct Medal, the French Croix de Guerre, the Belgian Fouragerre, and two Korean Presidential Unit citations.

The colonel's wife and their eight-year-old son, Kerry, are residing with him here.

Lt. Colonel Frank V. Quillin returned recently from 14 months of duty in Korea. Most recent was his five-month service as adviser to the 9th ROK "White Horse" division, prior to which he spent nine months with the American 3rd Infantry division, 15th Regiment. He is now chief of the training branch, plans and training division, G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

In the service for the past 18 years, Colonel Quillin began his career with the Marine Corps, with whom he served for four years. He entered the Army in 1940 as a second lieutenant, Oklahoma National Guard. During World War II, he commanded a company of the 45th "Thunderbird" Infantry division in the Italian and Sicilian campaigns and was wounded twice during the latter part of 1943. Following recuperation at some 11 hospitals, Colonel Quillin returned to the states to become an instructor at Fort Benning, Georgia.

He has been decorated with the Silver Star Medal, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster, and the Good Conduct Medal for his service with the Marines. The colonel's wife, two sons and two daughters have accompanied him to his new post here.

Lt. Colonel William A. Gies has joined the G-2 Section of Headquarters Sixth Army for his new assignment.

For 34 months, Colonel Gies has been overseas, the past two years in Japan with the 2nd Transportation Port Command C at Yokohama where he was Inspector General, and the first 10 months in Korea where he served with Eighth Army.

During World War II, the colonel spent three full years with Administrative Headquarters in the Southwest Pacific, and traveled to numerous points in that area during his tour of duty. He has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal.

Colonel Gies entered the Army 14 years ago. Mrs. Gies and their three sons are residing with him here.

Captain Kenneth G. Allen has arrived on the Presidio of San Francisco to become commanding officer of the 199th Military Intelligence detachment, a part of the G-2 Section.

In Korea for the past 16 months, Captain Allen served with the 4th Military Intelligence company. While there he was awarded the Chung Mu or Korean Silver Star Medal, third highest decoration given by the Korean government, in addition to two battle stars for his Korean ribbon.

Captain Allen's Army career began in 1925 when he served a three-year tour as an enlisted man. Commissioned in 1942 following O.C.S. at Camp Davis, North Carolina, he served four years before entering the Reserves, out of the New Orleans Port of Embarkation in Intelligence work that took him throughout the South Pacific theater and to China for a two-year period.

The captain was recalled to active duty in 1951. His wife and family are presently residing in Wisconsin.

More than 25,000 tanks of 12 different types were delivered to the U. S. armed forces and to our Allies by the Detroit Arsenal during a four-and-one-half year period of World War II.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post TIDE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

QUARTERMASTER MEETING—Chatting with Major General Frank C. Holbrook, Commanding General of the Quartermaster Training Command, Fort Lee, Va., during a luncheon last Thursday held for the General at the Presidio Officers' Club, are, l. to r., Mr. John Shafer, President of the Northern California Chapter, Quartermaster Association, Colonel George A. Harvey, Commanding Officer, Oakland Market Center Office, and Colonel Louis G. Bumen, Sixth Army Quartermaster. General Holbrook, on a tour of Sixth Army Quartermaster facilities, visited Food Service School at Fort Ord, California, and other installations in the Sixth Army area in a review of training of Quartermaster Reserve units.

"AND THEN MY HUSBAND threw a towel over the burning grease" is what Mary Lansbury of AG Personnel told Assistant Fire Chief Donald Thompson as Jane Blair looks on. The occasion was the fire control demonstration held all over the post this week to acquaint Presidians with the dangers of not practicing fire prevention. In the photo at right, Malcolm Ogletree, fireman, is showing the crowd in front of building 38 how to put out a gasoline fire with CO₂.

Be Fire Conscious!

Drills, Displays of Equipment Climax Fire Prevention Week

Presidians were treated this week to special events by the fire department and were shown a display of fire fighting equipment and fire hazards. Firemen and display equipment traveled throughout the post and Letterman Army Hospital in the interest of focusing attention of personnel here at the Presidio on fire safety.

As a climax to Fire Prevention Week, under direction of Colonel William T. Cathcart, Post Fire Marshal, being observed on the Presidio of San Francisco 3 through 9 October, more than 1,500 Presidio children will be guests of the Post fire department tomorrow morning (9 October) beginning at 0900 hours.

They will be shown movies on fire prevention at the Post theater, be given fireman's helmets, and candy to chew on while they ride around on the big red fire trucks, all by courtesy of the local firemen.

During the week, the menace of fire has been emphasized in a series of addresses given by Arthur Le Duc, Post Fire Inspector. He stressed the part that acts of carelessness play in inviting the disaster of fire.

"We aim to sell everyone," Le Duc said, "on the idea that fire prevention is a matter of life and death, that each individual owes it to himself, his family, and community to be fire conscious at all times by learning to recognize the potential dangers likely to result in fire and to avoid them by thinking and acting in terms of safety; in short, practice fire prevention!"

The Fire Inspector pointed to the effective efforts of all personnel on this post in keeping fire losses to a minimum. He pointed out that it is the duty of everyone to participate in the efforts to prevent fires and fatalities in fires because such tragic losses are so needless. Most fires start from very simple causes which means that they can as simply be avoided by taking easy precautionary measures. Hazardous conditions do not exist where common sense prevails. Careless smoking habits, the misuse of electricity and poor housekeeping are leading fire causes.

Assistant Chief Donald Thompson demonstrated the operation of Fire Alarm Boxes and Malcolm Ogletree, fireman, showed how to use different types of fire extinguishers on oil and gasoline fires. Several thousand personnel attended these special activities of Presidio Fire Department under the leadership of Fire Chief George Geller.

"US" Sergeants!

Eleven drafted E-M achieved the rare distinction of receiving promotions to Sergeant last week. They were Joseph E. Digles, Donald L. Lamar, Robert E. Mayorga, Loren McMillin, Norman W. Waldrop, and Dwight A. York, all of Detachment 1, 6000 SU; Robert E. Herrmann of 102d MRU; and Thomas A. Jacobi, Richard F. Malinski, and Edwin H. Thomas of the 56th MRU.

PFC's promoted to Corporal were Bobbie J. Boldt, Maxine E. Burnette, Martin A. Cousins, Roland C. Hamm, Paul H. King, Sadao Kinoshita, Herbert K. Muratani, Harvey S. Miura, Thomas Neville, Luis Perez, Alfred Rosenberg, Amos B. Smith, Donald B. West, and Robert C. Woodman, of Detachment 1, 6000 SU.

Members of the same organization who received PFC stripes were Billy J. Anderson, Jeanne Beliveau, Theresa A. Borouka, Alice E. Gogas, Leellen J. Johnson, Charles L. Rolf, Patricia M. Shorey, Edith I. Thompson, and Harold T. Williams.

Killens on TV

Cpl. Jack Killens, member of 6002 SU, whose song stylings have won for him numerous TV and personal appearances, will again be a member of the group appearing with the Bonnie Kever Talent show on KRON-TV, Channel 4, next Thursday from 1300 to 1330 hours. On one of his previous appearances with the show, he was awarded a watch for his performance. Cpl. Killens will also appear in the Presidio's portion of the All-Army Soldier Singing contest to be held at the Presidio Service Club on 18 October.

Army Appoints General Williston B. Palmer as First DCS, Logistics

Washington—Lt. Gen. Williston B. Palmer has been named the Army's first Deputy Chief of Staff for Logistics, a position recently added to the Army staff.

In his new post, Gen. Palmer will supervise and control Army logistical activities and direct the Army's seven technical services — the Quartermaster, Chemical, Transportation, Signal, Ordnance and Engineers Corps and Army Medical Service.

At the time of his appointment, Gen. Palmer was serving as Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4 (logistics). Before that he had commanded the X Corps in combat in Korea for a year. (AFPS)

Three Killed!

Presidio Policemen Give Help At Scene of Crossing Accident

By Pvt. Jack Everhart

A tragic accident at a railroad crossing near Coyote, California, spelled a bizarre anti-climax for members of Company C, 505 MP Battalion, returning from a week's bivouac at Camp Hunter Liggett, California, last Sunday.

The second group of the homeward-bound company was first to the scene of the mishap in which three occupants of an automobile were killed. The car was completely demolished by the force of the fast-traveling Del Monte Special of the Southern Pacific Railroad which struck the vehicle at the crossing.

Under the direction of group leader, 2nd Lieutenant Raymond P. Presifka, the Charlie Company policemen went quickly into action sending aidmen to the victims. Control points were immediately established to govern the great volume of Sunday traffic in the area of the accident, while a motorcycle, was dispatched to a nearby station of the California State Police. Awaiting arrival of the highway patrol, the local MPs maintained order in what might have been a disastrous situation.

While on bivouac, members of the company were subjected to an intensified training program designed to further acquaint the men with basic infantry tactics in addition to the specialized duties of the Military Policemen in a combat area.

The infantry phase of the training included a tactical road march, and 3.5 Rocket Launcher and 30 Calibre Machine Gun familiarization. Further self-protective measures against Chemical, Biological and Radiological warfare completed the initial section of the schedule.

Such highly specialized subjects as POW interrogation and control, the direction of military traffic in combat areas, the maintenance of security of vital installations, and riot control featured the second phase of the program.

Highlighting the field training was a night tactical problem which was umpired by Lt. Col. Keene Saxon, Battalion Commander. The company's mission, the destruction of an aggressor guerrilla force, was accomplished under the leadership of Company Commander, Captain James A. Whitcanek, who was assisted by officers and NCO's of the organization.

Prepare to Spook!

Plans are already getting underway to entertain the small fry up to 12 years of age, of the Presidio and its sub-posts, with three gigantic Halloween parties come 30 October. Details will be released soon, but in the meantime kids, you can be preparing to eat, play games, scare citizens and just all sorts of things that are peculiar to Halloween.

John N. Christensen

New Staff Member Assumes Duties At Local Red Cross

New Assistant Field Director at the Presidio Chapter of The American National Red Cross is John N. Christensen of Salem, Oregon, who has just returned from a tour of service in the Far East. He is replacing Robert Pahan who shortly anticipates induction in the Army.

From March to October of 1953, Mr. Christensen served with the Red Cross Unit attached to the 14th Regiment of the 25th Infantry Division in Korea. He was then transferred to Iwakuni Air Force Base in Japan where he worked until August 1954.

Prior to sailing for the United States in September of this year he performed Red Cross Services at Tachikama Air Force Base near Tokyo, Japan. Before going overseas in 1953, Mr. Christensen served at various Army, Navy and Air Force Installations in the Pacific Coast Area.

Mr. Christensen first entered Red Cross Service in May 1951 after receiving a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Willamette College, Salem, Oregon, the preceeding year. A combined interest in Sociology and travel attracted him to a position with the Red Cross. The new assistant Field Director was a member of the Navy from April 1944 to June 1946.

The eagle was adopted as insignia for rank of colonel in the Army June 11, 1832.

OFFICIAL VISIT to the Pakistani Naval Headquarters recently, brought together Brigadier General William Sexton, former Sixth Army Chief of Staff, and Colonel L. H. Wyman, brother of Lt. Colonel W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander. General Sexton is in charge of the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory group to Pakistan, and Colonel Wyman is the American military attache in Pakistan. They are shown with Commander Salimi and Commodore Khalid Jamil of Pakistan.

Bagpipe Band to Recruit Pipers in Thursday Session

For the first time in its five-year history, it's happened!

The Sixth Army Bagpipe Band is without sufficient members, and it needs you!

Needs of the group are so urgent, that Sgt. William Allen, the pipe major, has set up next Thursday at 1300 hours as an interview period, to be held in the Band building, 100-B, when he will discuss with prospective members, all the myriad phases of belonging to that unique organization.

Interested personnel will be excused by their unit commanders and sections for this interview, and, should they qualify for membership, will be released to enter the bagpipe band without further ado.

"We prefer men who are 'RA,' but in any event, at least two years left to do in the Army is required," Sgt. Allen said. "No experience is necessary, as we train the men right here, and instruments are issued.

"Those who qualify may expect to receive from three to five months of intensive training on the 'chanter' to learn the bagpipe fingering and techniques," the sergeant stated.

"The work, however, is well worth the excitement of being a member," he continued. "In my 12 years in the Army, I have never found anything I like better, and I've been with this bagpipe band since it began, and have worked with 58 men who have passed through its ranks."

During August alone, the band traveled 5,300 miles and has played in every state in the eight-state group that comprises the Sixth Army area. They have also played before and met numerous dignitaries and people in the entertainment field.

During the War of 1812, Andrew Jackson's 2,000 militiamen defeated 12,000 British Regulars in the Battle of New Orleans.

CRISSEY FIELD is now performing a function far different than it did in 1919 when it was established as Presidio Air Base. The site of the first aerial bomb drop is now used primarily for Sixth Army Staff transportation throughout the entire Sixth Army Area. Above, at left, Pfc. Larry Tilley, 30th Engr. Topo.

Aviation Det., cleans the motor of the Engineers' Canadian built DeHavilland. In the middle photo Cpl. Haskell Littlefield radios landing instructions from the Operations Room to Captain Chester R. Meade, pilot, who is shown emerging in picture at far right from an L-23 Beechcraft.

Army Aviation Section Established As Special Staff Section, Sixth Army

Major John Gall, formerly Aviation Officer G-3 Section, has been named as Chief, Army Aviation Section. The latter post has been newly formed to take over the functions that were formerly performed by the G-3 Section.

Part of the nine-fold mission of the new section is the managerial "responsibility for the formulation of plans, policies and procedures for the effective control of organization, methods and operations of Army Aviation within Sixth Army." This includes air-fields in Dugway Proving Grounds, Fort Ord, Fort Lewis, Camp Hanford, Yuma, and Stockton Field Annex.

"Supervision is the by-word," says Major Gall, "not only in aircraft accident investigation and reporting, but also in instrument flying for pilots in the command. Link trainers are used for this as well as four L-19's. One of these single engined 213 horsepower craft is here at Crissy Field, and three others, used solely for instrument training, are stationed at Fort Huachuca, Fort Lewis, and in Alaska."

The Major goes on to explain that coordination with G-1 on matters of qualification, procurement, and assignment of aviation personnel is also high on the duty list. This includes the establishing of technical training programs and the conducting of unit schools.

In the line of research the section develops, coordinates, and disseminates essential flight information, and prepares certain recommendations to appropriate technical services on the requirements for Army aircraft, aircraft supplies, and aviation equipment.

Navigational aids and night lighting are also part of the facilities made available along with an operations map showing locations of the major headquarters and their landing fields.

The importance of team-work is pointed up by the slogan over the Major's desk, "Proper Co-ordination is the Lifeblood of Completed Staff Action."

Before coming to the Presidio, Major Gall was Operations and Executive Officer of the flight detachment, Headquarters 7th Army, Stuttgart, Germany. He held that post for 21 months. Prior to that he spent 14 months with the Artillery Section, HQ. 7th Army and 7 months with the 1st Division Artillery at Erlangen, Germany.

During World War II, Major Gall began service in Africa in August, 1943, with the 939th battalion which moved to Italy, and as he moved on into southern France, Germany, and finally Austria, he was with, consecutively, the 194th FA and the 280th FA group, taking part in six major campaigns through May, 1945.

Maj. John Gall

In addition to the Air Medal with seven Oak Leaf clusters, Major Gall, who has 12 years of Army service, also has six campaign stars on his ETO ribbon.

US Machine Gunners Perform Whale of Job In Helping Fishermen

Reykjavik, Iceland—American servicemen here have trained their weapons on live targets, helping the Icelandic fishermen battle the vicious killer whale.

The whales had almost stopped herring fishing off the southwest coast during the first week of their attack. The whales attack nets, ripping them to pieces. Sometimes they destroy $30,000 worth of nets in a single night.

The fishermen asked the Icelandic authorities to help ward off the attacks. The authorities asked the U.S. command to supply 50 men armed with machine guns.

The American servicemen launched their attack on the whales off the shore near Keflavik AB. Before noon of the first day, hundreds of whales were reported dead. (AFPS)

Paper-Chase Ends With Much Being Hammered Out

Thirty-four drawer filing cabinets full of records, or the equivalent of 2½ tons or 200 linear feet of paper have been chased out of Headquarters Sixth Army's administrative departments for good.

The above statistics were supplied by recently promoted Brigadier General Claude Burbach, Sixth Army Comptroller, at the close of Operation Paper-Chase this Tuesday in the Post Theater. The General closed the sixth and last conference by stating, "I don't have all the details, but here are a few of the tangible results you have achieved, despite the fact that the project is not over: Of 1000 directives and publications considered, 10 per cent were eliminated, 25 per cent deemed necessary and 65 per cent remain to be reviewed. Undoubtedly the 100 directives eliminated will relieve lower echelons of considerable work. This is a very gratifying accomplishment in so short a time."

General Burbach went on to say that the other results included such things as consolidation of many directives into single handbooks. Also all divisions have reported that they have established systems designed to prevent unnecessary creation of paper work at the source.

He continued by saying that the action taken thus far by the staff sections is merely a start since everyone must strive to keep the concept of Operation Paper-Chase alive.

The final reports on action taken by the staff sections are due by the end of October. Following that, Operation Paper-Chase will be extended to Sixth Army installations.

Welfare Fund Rates Altered by Army, AF Rates Increased

Washington (AFPS)—The Joint Welfare Board of the Army and the Air Force has directed revisions in the payments to military welfare and recreation funds in the ZI that will increase the dividend rates for the Army and cut those for the Air Force during the fiscal year 1955.

Effective July 1, 1954, an average of about $2.25 per man per month was made available for the welfare and recreation of Army military personnel within the continental U.S. This represents an increase of 50 cents over the previous rate.

During the same period, an average of $1.50 per man per month will be provided for Air Force personnel, a reduction of 25 cents from the fiscal year 1954.

The payment rates are reconsidered for each fiscal year and revisions are based on the profits from exchanges and theaters.

Expert Needed!

The Presidio Service Club is in need of a qualified instructor for bridge pupils. There are at least 15 persons on the post who want to learn the game well, and are stymied for lack of a teacher. Interested parties are asked to call Miss Eileen Pierce at the Service Club, Ext. 2000, after 1400 hours. Instruction is to be given each Wednesday night at 2000, with branch-out possibilities if enough interest is shown.

FORMAL OPENING of the Museum of Photography, California Academy of Sciences, was held recently in Golden Gate park's museum building. Since a feature of the 60-day exhibit is the U.S. Army's photographic facilities, both in pictures and in scale models, Colonel Thomas J. Siegler, Jr., Sixth Army deputy chief of staff for public affairs, (left) and Colonel Airel B. Cooper, Sixth Army Signal officer, were among those attending the opening ceremonies. They are greeted here by Mr. Cecil Tose, curator of exhibits, California Academy of Sciences.

Soldier Singers

Harmony on Tap!

Quartet, Sixth Army Choir to Enter All-Army Song Contest

A "quartet and one" or, four young vocalists and their pianist, are the latest entry in the All-Army Soldier Singing contest, the Presidio preliminaries of which are set for 18 October at the Presidio Service club.

The men, all members of the 30th Engineer Group at Fort Scott, are likewise all members of the Sixth Army choir of approximately 24 voices, which is also slated to enter the contest.

Quartet personnel, who describe themselves as "a barber-shop quartet-type group," include Sfc. Thomas A. Myer, first tenor; Pvt. Morrie Conway, second tenor; Pvt. Roger Paquin, baritone; Pvt. James Moor, bass, and Pfc. Ernest Suerken, accompanist.

The group made its first public appearance last Friday night, when it entertained at a social sponsored by a downtown San Francisco church. Each of the members has a musical background begun, for the most part, with college singing organizations.

Sgt. Myers, a native Californian, began singing while attending Chaffey college, Ontario, where he was majoring in music. He has also appeared on vocal programs emanating from Los Angeles radio stations.

Veteran of nine years' Army service, the sergeant was in Africa, Italy and Sicily during World War II, and is presently supply sergeant with Headquarters Detachment of the 660th Engineers. He plans to make the Army his career.

Pvt. Conway, a native of Portland, Oregon, was a member of the glee club of Notre Dame university during his four years at college. He received his degree in civil engineering with the class of 1953. While he was a member of the glee club, the group appeared on Ed Sullivan's TV show.

In the Army for the past six months, Pvt. Conway is presently a surveyor with the 537th Engineer company, and upon his discharge from the service, will enter the field of highway construction.

Pvt. Paquin was born in Brooklyn, New York, but his family now resides in Fair Lawn, New Jersey. While attending the Stevens Institute of Technology, Pvt. Paquin studied mechanical engineering and took an active part in the Institute's glee club.

Entering the Army 14 months ago, Pvt. Paquin returned recently from summer maneuvers in Alaska with the 30th Engineers. He is a computer with the 459th Engineers, and, when discharged from the Army, he plans to resume his studies at Stevens.

Jewish Sukkoth Service Tuesday At Post Chapel

Presidio and sub-post military personnel and their dependents of the Jewish faith will observe the Feast of Tabernacles with a special festival service Tuesday beginning at 2000 hours in the Post Chapel. Rabbi William Z. Dalin, Chaplain (Major) USAR, Sixth Army auxiliary chaplain, will officiate.

Sukoth is the plural of the Hebrew word, suka, a hut. The holiday commemorates the divine providence which sheltered the ancient Israelites as they wandered in the desert from the land of bondage to the land of promise.

Sukoth, often called Tabernacles, is also the ancient autumn "feast of ingathering," and as such is the model after which the pilgrims created the American Thanksgiving day.

Ceremonial objects associated with the holiday are the lulav, a palm branch, the myrtle and willow, and the etrog, a citrus fruit. These represent man's dependence on nature for nourishment and beauty.

It is customary to build a booth or lean-to outside of one's home or upon the synagogue altar in honor of the holiday. In this "sukka," prayers are said and sung, lauding the goodness of God in inspiring seekers of freedom with courage and in sending mankind the bounties of nature.

Sukoth is observed for eight days, followed by a holiday known as Simchat Torah, or the "Rejoicing over the Law," when the cycle of weekly Biblical readings is concluded with the last verses of Deuteronomy and immediately begun again from the beginning of the Book of Genesis.

Following the services, a social, sponsored by the JWB-USO and arranged by its area director, Mr. Harry Altschule, will be held.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

27 September: Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, A Btry., 9 AAA Gn. Bn., Ft. Cronkite, Calif.

28 September: Cpl. and Mrs. J. M. Britton, Hq. Co., 6th Army, PSFC.

30 September: Cpl. and Mrs. Robert Frazier, 9206 TSU, TC, Hq. and TC Det., Ft. Mason, Calif.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Mildred L. Kelly, Hq. 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. Harold A. Phillips, Det. 7, 6400 SU, Fresno, Calif.

1 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Floyd E. Buzick, 3500 USAF Recruiting Office, San Rafael, Calif.; A/3C and Mrs. Charles Johnson, 325 FIS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Benjamin Simonson, Det. 1, 6002 SU PSFC.

2 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Karl Anderson, 43rd Com. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Leo F. Goldsmith, 315 Engr. Co., Port Const., Ft. Baker, Calif.

3 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Eugene P. Ryan, Det. 1, 2549th Per. Gp. (AF), Ft. Mason, Calif.

Sons to:

27 September: Cpl. and Mrs. Halvor Darken, 315th Engr., Post Const., Ft. Barry, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Peter A. Kuznar, Hq. Co., 6th Army, PSFC; A/1C and Mrs. Woodson H. McCartney, 84th FIS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. George E. Minnick, 2901-4, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

28 September: Sfc. and Mrs. Albert A. Acker, Col. L., 63rd Inf. Regt., Fort Ord, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. William E. Allen, 6th Army Bagpipe Band, PSFC; A/2C and Mrs. Earl F. Jacobs, 666 AC&W Sq., Mill Valley, Calif.

30 September: Cpl. and Mrs. Thomas C. Christian, 21st Photo Co., 30th Gp., Ft. Scott, Calif.

1 October: A/2C and Mrs. Gary E. Kennard, 566 Opns. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. John L. Lawson, 9956 TG, LAH, PSFC.

3 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. William E. Barth, Hq. Sq. Sec., 28 AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Don W. Green, 505 MP Bn., PSFC; M/Sgt. and Mrs. William E. Michael, 315th Eng. Const. Co., PSFC; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Benjamin J. Weeks, Hq. Co., 46 OPD Gp., PSFC.

"Eve" Gets Ribbon!

All-Army Pic Winners Chosen; Presidio Major Places Second

A first lieutenant in the United States Field Artillery and a Canal Zone sergeant copped first places in black-and-white and color categories, respectively, in the Army finals of the Fifth Interservice Photo Contest, the Adjutant General's Office announced this week.

Major Leslie C. Wood, Sixth Army Special Services official stationed at the Presidio, won second place and an honorable mention in the competition, which saw the best photographic work from all the Army commands vie for top laurels and a chance at the coming Inter-Service contest.

Maj. L. C. Wood

1/Lt. John H. Livingston, of the 533rd MI Battalion, Headquarters, USFA, placed first with his entry entitled, "Coronation Broadcast." In the color category, SFC Fiovo Rossini of Headquarters, 764th AAA Bn., Fort Davis, CZ, placed first with "Hollywood (Korea)."

Major Wood's black-and-white "Eve," which won first place in June's All-Sixth Army judging, won runner-up honors in the All-Army test. His "Sixth Position," a ballet study of Wood's 7-year-old daughter Nancy, won honorable mention in the same category.

Presidians will remember Major Wood's near clean sweep of the Sixth Army affair, in which his entries won the first five placements and three honorable mentions in black-and-white.

Other All-Army black-and-white winners included SFC Roger K. Mullis, FECOM, "Handle Bars," third; Pfc. Robert Anderson, Long Island, N. Y., "Portrait," fourth; CWO Otto Jely, Fort Monmouth, N. J., "Promenade," fifth; SFC Lee Roy Mueller, Seventh Army Ordnance, "You're Sweet," sixth, and Cpl. Louis Sgroi, Fort Dix, N. J., "You Can't See the Forest for the Trees," seventh.

In color, runnerup was 1/Lt. James Barrows, Third Army Headquarters, "Pole Tag"; Captain Thomas Cunningham, Headquarters Fifth Army, with "Turkish Meat Vendor," ran third.

All-Army winners will be judged in the forthcoming Inter-Service Finals.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 8 October — "Ricochet Romance," with Marjorie Main and Chill Wills.

Saturday, 9 October — "Steel Cage," with John Ireland and Maureen O'Sullivan.

Sunday, 10 October and Monday, 11 October — "Rosemarie," with Ann Blythe and Howard Keel. (Cinemascope)

Tuesday, 12 October — "Miss Grant Takes Richmond," with William Holden and Lucille Ball.

Wednesday, 13 October and Thursday, 14 October — "Reap the Wild Wind," with John Wayne and Ray Milland.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 8 October — "The Man in the White Suit," with Alec Guinness and Joan Greenwood.

Saturday, 9 October — "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," with John Wayne and Joanne Dru.

Sunday, 10 October — "Ricochet Romance," with Marjorie Main and Chill Wills.

Tuesday, 12 October — "Reap the Wild Wind," with John Wayne and Ray Milland.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 8 October — "Passion," with Yvonne DeCarlo and Cornel Wilde.

Monday, 11 October — "Ricochet Romance," with Marjorie Main and Chill Wills.

Wednesday, 13 October — "Beau Brummel," with Stewart Granger and Elizabeth Taylor.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 10 October — "Reap the Wild Wind," with John Wayne and Ray Milland.

Tuesday, 12 October — "Ricochet Romance," with Marjorie Main and Chill Wills.

Thursday, 14 October — "Beau Brummel," with Stewart Granger and Elizabeth Taylor.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 8 October — "Affair in Trinidad," with Glenn Ford and Rita Hayworth.

Saturday, 9 October — "Ricochet Romance," with Marjorie Main and Chill Wills.

Sunday, 10 October and Monday, 11 October — "Passion," with Yvonne DeCarlo and Cornel Wilde.

Tuesday, 12 October — "The Man in the White Suit," with Alec Guinness and Joan Greenwood.

Wednesday, 13 October — "Miss Grant Takes Richmond," with William Holden and Lucille Ball.

Thursday, 14 October — "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," with John Wayne and Joanne Dru.

Spanish General Visits

Lt. General Augustin Munoz Grandes, Minister of the Army of Spain, arrived in the United States Monday for a three-week tour of U.S. Army installations. Also accompanying General Munoz on his tour of the U.S. will be Lt. Colonel Carlos Iniesta, Spanish Military Attache to the U.S.

Cinema Previews

"REAP THE WILD WIND," F*. A tale of America's fight to rid the Florida Keys of piratical wreckers who preyed on the lifeline of her windjammer merchant marine in the 1840's.

"SHE WORE A YELLOW RIBBON," F*. This is the U. S. Cavalry during the dramatic era when it was threatened with defeat in its attempt to help America extend its western frontier.

"MISS GRANT TAKES RICHMOND," F*. William Holden, who operates a flourishing bookie joint behind the respectable front of a real estate office, hires Lucille Ball for his office girl—he shouldn't have done it!

F*—Family

Fingers in Pie!

Finger painting, that fascinating art form, will become part of the Sunday festivities at the Embarcadero YMCA, beginning this Sunday from 1500 to 1700. Lessons will be given weekly by a qualified instructor. This is but one of the many forms of entertainment which is at the Embarcadero YMCA, 166 the Embarcadero.

COLAROSSO CARRIES THE BALL on one of the yardage gainers the young halfback was in on. Presidio's Bob Trotter is the foreground (#2) and Alameda's Jack Webb is coming in for a try at the tackle. Colarossi was one of the bright spots in last Saturday's one point loss to the sailors. If he does as well against Martinez tomorrow the Red Raiders won't miss Bill Cockrane quite so much. Colarossi will be in the halfback position in the soldiers' offensive line-up but Ken Brittingham is the defensive half. The two platoon system that Coach Steve Glick hopes to put into play may make the big difference for the locals.

Raiders Up From Defeat To Meet Panthers Tomorrow At Fort Scott

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Twice defeated, the Presidio Red Raiders will be back on the gridiron tomorrow with a vengeance to meet the Martinez Panthers on the Fort Scott field. The tilt at 1400 hours will be televised on channel KPIX.

The Martinez eleven will be a serious challenge to the locals, although they were beaten down last week by the semi-pro Petaluma Leghorns. Previously, however, the Panthers mangled the Treasure Island Pirates who were also whipped by the local soldiers.

A possible starting line-up for the Panthers could include Dick Zampa at fullback, Gene Fowler and Sal Costanza in the half positions, and Gene Zampa, Dick's brother, at quarterback.

The beginning line will probably have Chuck Shipp at center, Lou Cocomiglo and Duane Furman at right and left guards. Jim Mulcahy and Bill Colona are the probable starting tackles. Starters at end spots could be Don Pino on the left and Don Loyd on the right.

This is the seventeenth year on the field for the Martinez Panthers. This season's eleven is rated by coaches Murry Arnold, Costi De Monner, and Aldo Mignani as one of the best. The squad includes some college and junior college men as well as the semi-pros.

The Panther squad is roughly the same size as the Raiders' with the possibility of more depth on the bench. Big problem for the locals is the fact that the soldier squad leans on four or five men. This may not be the situation with Martinez and if it isn't, the local garrison is in for trouble.

In spite of last week's tumble to the Alameda Hellcats, the Presidians looked better in that tilt than previously in the season. In contrast with the Raiders' meet with the Stanford Braves, the Alameda tiff brought out a pretty sharp pigskin squad from the Raider bench. The fumbles were cut to only one and the plays ran a lot more smoothly.

Coach Steve Glick hopes to run a two-platoon game with the Panthers and this may be a key to Army victory. The soldier squad seems more adaptable to this system, since many of the Raiders are substantially better either in defense or offense. Tony Reppe, for example, is a defensive man of solid value but is shaky on offense.

The old problem of depending too heavily on a mighty few is still with the locals. It's accentuated by the fact that halfback Bill Cockrane won't be on the field this week due to injuries received in the Hellcat match. The Raiders counted pretty heavily on Cockrane both as ball carrier and pass snatcher. He'll probably be replaced by George Acton, fullback in last week's game.

Offensive line-up for the Raiders will probably be as follows:

Center—Snider
Guards—Morris and Holstrum
Tackles—Masia and Frank Wilson
Ends—Gerry Wilson and Piggot
QB—Don Burroughs
Halves—Colarossi and Acton
FB—Dick Wilkinson

Defensive line-up:

Center—Mader
Guards—Morris and Rappa
Tackles—Jones and Treymayne
Ends—Henrickson and Gerry Wilson
QB—Don Burroughs
Halves—Brittingham and Garfield
FB—Biddick

Locals 1 Down!

Soldiers Drop Alameda Game By One In Season's Closest

The soldier eleven of PSF stand one up and one down after last Saturday's loss by one point to the Alameda sailors. The Raiders looked sharper on the grid than in previous games and the one-point drop was a real heartbreaker.

As the tilt went into the first quarter, the battling Presidians instigated a ground offensive that paved the way for an early score. In a series of off center rushes through the Alameda line blockade, and a 35-yard end run by halfback Ed Colarossi, the Reds set themselves on the Navy goal line. Bill Cockrane took it over for the TD.

Reds Roughed Up, Ambulance Hauls Three Off Field

The Forty-Niners weren't the only pigskin players who had a rough game last weekend. Presidio's Red Raiders dropped one of the roughest tilts they've played to the Alameda Hellcats by one point in the 21-20 tight one at the Naval Air Station.

The stand-by ambulance was on the field three times to carry off wounded players. Bill Cockrane, halfback for the Reds, was taken off the field to the Navy sick bay and treated for a strained back that had momentary symptoms of paralysis.

Fortunately for Cockrane and for the local eleven, the symptoms turned out to be temporary. But the plucky half won't be back in play for a couple of weeks.

The other two injured who rode the ambulance were Alameda men. However, local quarterback, Don Burroughs, was hit in the chest, and although he didn't leave the field, he was seriously hampered with trouble in breathing.

The topper of the afternoon was a face guard worn by one of the Hellcats. It was made out of clear plastic about an inch thick and resembled a grill guard on a San Francisco taxi. This sailor was taking no chances on mussing up the mug.

Raider Grid Schedule

Tomorrow—Martinez at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 16—Hamilton AFB at Hamilton, 1400 hrs.
*Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hrs.
Oct. 30—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 13—Cal Ramblers at U. C., 1400 hrs. (prior to Cal-Oregon State).
Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Denotes Bay Area A. F. League.

After the first score of the battle, coach Steve Glick threw in the Raider second string squad who couldn't hold back the flying sailors. The Hellcats tromped right back to score and make their conversion, leaving it 7-6 in the first quarter. The soldiers' first string went back into the game.

In the conversion try, a bad center was fumbled and the local garrison lost a point that could have meant the ball game.

The locals scored again in the first half on one of Don Burroughs' long aerial blasts that was pulled down behind the Navy goal in an over-the-shoulder catch by Colarossi. Fullback Dick Wilkinson made the extra point.

The first half ended with the Raiders ahead, 13-7. However, up to this point, the tilt was characterized by sharp football on the part of Burroughs, Cockrane, Colarossi and Wilkinson. It was evident that the mighty four would eventually tire and leave the soldiers hurting. But it was still anybody's game, since the Hellcats also leaned heavily on four men—Webb, Leo, Landers and Simeno. The question was, who would tire first?

In the third quarter, Simerio, the Hellcats' All-Navy ace end, pulled down a long one for the Navy score. The bluejackets kicked a good conversion for the extra point, pulling ahead of the soldiers, 14-13.

The opposition battled through the last quarter to another TD in a streak of ground plays through center. Leo carried the ball over and the sailors again made their conversion, steaming ahead of the locals, 21-13.

PSF	Yds. Rushing	Alameda
148	193
169	Yds. Passing	147
32	21
10	Passes Attempted	7
2	3
1	Passes Completed	3
7	5
5	Fumbles	5
5	5
21	1st Downs Running	20

	1st Downs Passing

	Penalty (yds.)

In the desperation of the last minutes of the game, Raider quarterback Burroughs took to the air with a crippling effect on the Navy. Colarossi snagged another long one for nearly 40 yards. But in those last moments, when every second counted, a long one by Burroughs was intercepted by Alameda.

Yet, Lady Luck cast her glances again on the Raiders, and in the next play Alameda fumbled and Acton recovered for the soldiers! Quarterback Burroughs wasted no time in flinging another one which was good for the TD. He kicked the conversion himself for the extra point, and the Raiders were only one point behind the Navy, 20-21.

With seconds left in the game, the Raiders tried an on-sides kick to the Hellcats and recovered the ball near the 50! But the game was destined for the sailors.

Intercepting on the soldiers' first play, the fly boys had the ball and two downs before the gun sounded.

Fall Is Here!

Hill Toppers' 71-26 Victory Leads Post Casaba Openers

Presidio's 1954 intra-mural basketball season got off to a fast start at the Fort Scott gym last Monday night, with the first of 20 quintets meeting mid-court for the season's initial set-to.

The athletic-conscious Fort Scott Hill Toppers, who seldom fail to field a threat in any sport, burned to the hottest victory of the week on Tuesday night, shellacking the 660th Engineer five 71-26.

In other games Tuesday, Red Raider football quarterback Don Burroughs demonstrated a remarkable facility on the boards to give the Honor Guard 16 points toward their final 54-38 decision over the 16th BPO. Jackson sparked the losers with 16.

Headquarters, 30th Engineers, squeaked by Detachment 1, 6002, 41-39 in the closest game of the season. Harris for the winners and Huff for the losers were credited with 16 and 10 points respectively to high-point the sides.

On Monday night at Fort Scott Jenkins dunked 14 points to put Headquarters, Sixth Army, ahead of the 9th AAA 49-36. Artilleryman Warren scored 10 for the losers.

The 46th Ordnance Group tromped the 542d Engineers 45-38, with high man Washburn at the helm with 15 points. Airs led the Engineers with 16.

The 21st Engineers, one of the bigs in last year's constellation of casaba stars, took a dive this week in their opener against the newly-arrived Headquarters, 9206, crew, a Fort Mason contingent. Gerano, for down Bay, tanked a total of 12 for the winners. Engineer Catroda accounted for 10.

PVT. Ed Colarossi
THE YOUNGEST PLAYER ON THE RED RAIDERS
WHO WAS THE BRIGHT SPOT IN LAST WEEK'S LOSS TO ALAMEDA

HE CAUGHT THREE PASSES and SCORED
2 TOUCHDOWNS

ED RAN FOR 56
YARDS, AVERAGING
6.2 YDS. PER CARRY

Tight Squeeze!

21st Engineers, Deuce, Tags All High for Their Leagues

The Deuce was still top team for the National Bowling League, but just barely, having lost 3-1 to the 6513th SU in this week's game. Power for the Det. 1 men was Evans who rolled a 180 average and a weekly high game score of 200. Head kegler for the winners was Saunders who rolled 157 average and 172 high game.

Hill-Toppers team number 3 tied the 102nd MRU 2-2. Top Topper was Kemper who turned in 160 average and 178 high game. Spark for the 102nd was Chinn who bowled 152 average and 169 high game.

Hill-Toppers No. 1 took the roll 3-1 from HQ. 6th Army. Siev-wright of the toppers rolled at the head of his team with 147 average and a 149 weekly high game. Loser Voshino bowled 165 and 173.

The Maroo's were again victorious by their 4-0 smash over the Hill-Toppers No. 2 team. Head Maroo score was Bryant's 171 average and high game score of 212. Loser Carlisle bowled 156 average and 160 high game.

Individual High Game honors went to Bryant of the Maroo's who rolled 212. Individual High Series was taken by Evans of the Det. 1, 6002 SU quintet.

For the Eastern Bowling League, the 21st Engineers were spirited on to a 4-0 win over the Harbor Defenders by Rothong, who bowled a 166 average and 212 high game. Defender might was Crozier's 149 and 207.

The 56th MRU No. 1 clobbered the 56th MRU No. 2 team by 4-0 also. Team No. 1 was powered by Chow rolling 157 average and 170 high game. Team No. 2 was paced by Nichols' 153 average and 189 high game.

Baker MPs pointed the Slow Rollers 3-1 with gendarme Gallo racking up top place for his quintet with 184 average and 238 high game. Loser Thorne rolled 156, 209.

Keystone Kops smashed the 6300 ASU's 4-0 with Kop Whitanack rolling 200 high game and a 526 series. Morgan of the losers rolled 194 high game and 456 series.

Individual High Game went to Gallo again this week with a score of 238. Individual High Series of 652 was also taken by Gallo. "200" Game Awards went to Rothong (212), Williams (200), and Gallo (225, 212).

In the Western Bowling League this week, the Tags remained just ahead of HQ Co. 6th Army for league lead position, but both lost ground due to the fact that both went down to defeat in Tuesday's roll.

The Tags were smashed by the 6400 SU (recruiters) 3-1. Sakurada of the recruiters pointed his quintet by 173 high game and a 474 series. Loser Delaney pinned 177, 478.

HQ Co. 6th Army was trounced by the Flashers 4-0. Flasher Renshaw pinned a 193 high game and 514 series with HQ's man Alexander bowling 170 and 460.

Sixth Army Engineers smashed the Sleuths 4-0 with builder Arnim pinning 196 high game for the week and a 476 series.

Stanford Games $1!

Military personnel in uniform are invited to attend Stanford home games at the special price of one dollar, according to Special Services Officer, Lt. Herbert Youngdahl. Stanford's fans in the military must enter the Stanford Stadium in Palo Alto through gates D and I in order to receive the special price.

Yost Strokes 67, Sparks Presidians To 30-0 Victory

Presidio linksmen, led by ace divoter Pfc. Dick Yost, trampled a Navy team from the Communications Center in the Federal Building by the more than lopsided score of 30-0 at the Presidio Golf Club this Tuesday.

The sailors offered no challenge to the hosting Army aggregation which featured Yost's Medalist score of 67 on the par 72 course.

In the foursome with Yost was Presidio's Cpl. Bob Carter. The second quartet's Presidio contingent was composed of Captain Rollin Kapp and Pfc. Dave Bull, while local, Sfc. Gus Wendt and his opponent played in a twosome.

The Commo-Center Navy men were simply not of a calibre to oppose the highly-skilled Presidians, who recently achieved top position in the Bay Area Armed Forces Golf circuit.

PFC DICK YOST, many times winner for the Presidio on the links swung to victory again this week in the meet with Navy Federal Building here at PSF.

Tryouts Wednesday

Tryouts for the post basketball team are slated for 1300 hours 13 October 1954. Prospective hoopsters will meet in the Special Services Office, Building 122. Lt. Herbert Youngdahl is the officer in charge. Casaba enthusiasts who are now playing in the intramural program are also eligible for the post team.

Duck Shoot Opens Tomorrow For First Of Split Season

Sacramento—The 1954 fall duck flight should be at least as good as last year's, the Department of Fish and Game reports. But shooting may be spotty for the waterfowl season opener tomorrow.

A late hatch on the Canadian and Alaskan breeding grounds, coupled with "bluebird" fall weather in California, may make the birds' arrival as much as two or three weeks later than usual.

Birds are reported moving into the northernmost parts of the state, but a recent survey of the Central Valley area showed duck populations to still be about 20 percent below last year's figures.

California waterfowl gunners will have a 72-split season, with the first period running from October 9 to November 13 and the second from December 6 to January 10. This is an increase of four days over 1953.

One less duck may be taken this year, with the limit on quackers set at seven, plus three "bonus" sprig or widgeon. The goose limit will be six, to include not more than three of the dark species. No Ross's geese may be taken. Bag limit for coots is 25.

Shooting hours will be from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset, except on opening days when shooting will begin at noon.

Eleven public shooting areas will be operated by the Department of Fish and Game, with permits issued by a lottery drawing system. Delayed openings are scheduled for some of these areas because of local crop depredation conditions.

Salmon Catch

Sportfishermen take an average of 254,000 salmon a year off central California, with 70 per cent of their catch hailing from the Sacramento-San Joaquin system.

PAR 27 HERE on the Presidio's nine hole pitch 'n putt course. The little golf course was built by Ralph Scanlon, San Francisco golf pro, and is still operated by him. The greens are free to military personnel and their dependents and clubs and balls are furnished. Lessons in the gentlemanly skill of the links are given by Presidio's golf ace Pfc. Dick Yost—or will be until his discharge soon. The pitch and putt links are open 0900 to 1900 hours Tuesday through Friday and 0900 to 1600 hours on week-ends. Nearly 1500 Presidians play the course each month.

KEG CAPTAINS IN THE LATEST LEAGUE in Presidio's bowling schedule get lined up for the openers. Foreground, Cpl. Frank Malone, 740th. First row, (l. to r.) Capt. H. K. Morris, and Capt. J. E. Montgomery, both of Aviation Command, 30th Engineers Group, and Major Henry L. Havens, of the 740th AAA Missile Battalion. Back row, (l. to r.), M/Sgt. William Clark, G1, Sgt. James Herring, Signal Section, and Lt. Donald Piermattei from the Veterinarian Detachment.

6 Leagues Roll!

45 Keg Teams Now Fell Pins Each Week In Presidio Alleys

Forty-five teams are now bowling each week at the Presidio as six keg leagues get under way for the winter months. There are 225 participants felling the pins in the six leagues, plus numerous substitutes.

The Pacific League, newest in the number of keg enthusiasts, was organized Monday by Lt. Herbert Youngdahl, post Special Services officer. The Pacific set will officially commence at 1900 hours today and officers will be elected a half hour earlier at the Presidio Alleys, building 135.

Officers recently elected in the Eastern League are Pfc. Gallo of the 505th, president, and Sfc. Edwin Johnson, also of the 505th, sec-treasurer. The Eastern rolls on Thursday nights and has eight teams.

No president has been announced for the Western League, but Sgt. Carney J. Campion is sec-treasurer. Campion is from the 505th MP Battalion. The eight teams of the Western League bowl on Tuesday night.

National League president is Capt. A. A. Cox of the 6513 SU. Vice president is W/O McFall and sec-treasurer is M/Sgt. Robert B. Mellerd. The National hits the pins on Monday nights.

Major D. McDonald of 6th Army Ordnance is the president of the Mixed Bowling League and vice-president is Lt. Herbert Youngdahl of Special Services. Sgt. Robert Alexander is sec-treasurer of the League which rolls on Wednesday nights.

$200 in Prizes Go For Steelhead Catch In Sacramento River

Anglers returning disks from steelhead tagged in the Sacramento River will be eligible for $200 in cash awards donated by California Kamloops, Inc., a northern California sportsmen's organization.

Prize money will be divided into one of $50, two prizes of $25, five of $10 each, and ten awards of $5 each.

Winning tag numbers will be selected at a drawing to be held shortly after the close of the 1954-1955 steelhead season. The angler need not be present to win.

In addition to the chance for prize money, the anglers will have their tags returned, mounted on official commendation card bearing a brief history of the fish.

Airborne Trout Reach Record 3 1/2 Million in 1954

Sacramento—With the dropping of 400,000 golden and cut-throat trout fingerlings this month into waters of 60 remote lakes along the crest of the Sierra, the Department of Fish and Game will complete its heaviest aerial stocking program in six years of this sky-borne operation.

This year over 3,500,000 fingerlings are being planted in about 670 lakes from the Department's twin-engined plane. This is an increase of about half a million fish over the 1953 stocking of just over 3,000,000 fingerlings in approximately the same number of lakes.

Continually improving techniques have enabled Senior Warden Pilot Al Reese and his two fellow pilots to carry bigger loads in better condition than ever before, resulting in 16 per cent saving in operating costs. This year's aerial stocking cost $1.05 per thousand fingerlings, against $1.25 last year. Costs were $2.98 per thousand in 1949, when the large-scale aerial fish-planting program first started. Using the traditional pack horses and mules, the planting of mountain lakes in earlier days averaged out at almost $20 per thousand fish.

Because bigger payloads made it possible to cover more lakes on each trip, flying time was shaved by more than 10 per cent. Reese and his planting crew will have spent about 125 hours in the air this year, compared with 140 hours in 1953.

Among the innovations which made the heavier loads possible, was Reese's idea of introducing pure oxygen into the aeration system of the carrying cans to step up the oxygen content of the water, and development of a cooling system which made it no longer necessary to put ice in the carrying cans. As in 1953 the harmless drug sodium amytal was used to calm the fish in transit.

CANINE HEALTH is a sideline of the Area Veterinary Detachment which services household pets of Presidio military personnel and their dependents. Animals come in for everything from rabies injections to psychoanalysis. One large lovable, Labrador-ish mutt had a feeding "problem" brought on by the advent of a new baby in the family! Vet 1st Lt. Arthur D. Newell was quick to point out that such a situation is common among dogs. In picture at left he inspects "Fritzi," pet of Pfc. and Mrs. Bill Swanson, Detachment 1, 6002 SU, as Mrs. Swanson looks on and Pvt. John Payne (left) assists. In picture at right, Misses Maureen and Anita Seymour, daughters of Lt. Colonel Kenneth Seymour, Sixth Army Medical Section, bring in their baby cockers for shots.

Sixth Army Veterinary Detachment Important Factor in Troop Health

(Ed.'s Note: This is the second in a series of articles on the background and traditions of units stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco.)

Most people think of a veterinarian as an "animal doctor." It is, in fact, at the Sixth Army Area Veterinary Detachment, 6002 ASU, Detachment 5, Building 668 on the Presidio, where a small animal clinic is in operation.

Here animals belonging to military personnel and their dependents are given emergency treatment and vaccinations against rabies, distemper and other animal diseases, functions usually associated with the civilian veterinary but for which Army practitioners are naturally also equipped.

But members of the Area Veterinary Detachment will tell you that this minor function is far from the main mission of their unit.

Personnel of the veterinary detachment make up the team whose mission is to insure that food of animal origin purchased for the Armed Services complies with the terms of the purchase instrument as to quality and nutritive value before it ever reaches the mess hall.

While the Quartermaster Corps purchases through contractual agreements all of the perishable foods for the Armed Services, it is the veterinarian who inspects these products offered at the vendors' or sellers' establishments and passes them as fit or unfit for troop consumption.

This gives the Army Veterinarian a pretty important role in over-all troop health and fitness. Lt. Colonel C. W. Gollehon, head of the Area Veterinary station located here at the Presidio, and his assistant Major George A. Leonard, have a two-fold purpose in accomplishing this mission.

First, they seek to protect the health of troops stationed on the Presidio and other Sixth Army posts by insuring sanitary processing and handling.

Secondly, they protect the government's financial interest by requiring strict compliance as to type, class, grade, methods of packing, marking etc., as agreed upon in the purchase contract of such products.

A list of the different classes of inspections performed by Lt. Colonel Gollehon and his men is enough to impress anyone with the meticulous handling of products destined for troop consumption.

The local "vets" carry out a total of nine different inspections at a variety of intervals from initial purchase and before, to the time of actual consumption.

Classes 1 and 2 include ante-mortem and post-mortem inspections, both primarily for merchandise tagged for overseas shipment.

The Class 3 inspection is performed prior to the purchasing of products and during their processing, while Class 4 is given upon receipt of the products by the government.

Class 5 inspections occur preparatory to shipment from one government warehouse to another. Class 6 occurs upon receipt of government-owned property shipped from one government warehouse to another.

Class 7 is performed at the time of troop issue or sale, and Class 8 on receipt at a post exchange, NCO club or other outlet.

Class 9 is a surveillance inspection of government property while in storage to prevent a financial loss to the government. In this last type veterinarians are alert for any early signs of deterioration and recommend handling and storage procedures and temperatures to prevent any such deterioration.

Area Veterinary Chief Colonel Gollehon heads seven other sub-stations located in San Francisco, Alameda, Modesto, Fresno, Eureka, Stockton, and San Jose.

To give a small idea of the scope of responsibility of just one of these sub-stations, the San Francisco branch, headed by Captain Dean R. Gross, covers all of San Francisco, South San Francisco, and plants in operation as far south as Palo Alto, California. On the North Bay side the territory reaches as far as Santa Rosa, including the Petaluma district. The sub-station's area is roughly 708 square miles and involves inspection activities at one time or another in 156 plants.

The Army Veterinary Corps is composed of graduate veterinarians, already licensed to practice their profession in one or more states of the union.

Enlisted men of the corps are qualified with experience in various phases of food industries and are given special training at the Meat and Dairy Hygiene School in Chicago, Illinois, where they learn the systems and rules designed for healthful food-handling practices.

Proof by 'Copter

Hallstadt, Germany. — A U.S. Army helicopter literally may put this 1,300-year-old farm village on the map.

The 26th Infantry Regiment helicopter was used by an Army photographer to take a picture showing the growth of this hamlet so officials could press a claim for incorporation. The Bavarian government is studying the picture—and the request.

Manifest Destiny!

TIC Topic To Discuss Actions To Combat Red Aggression

The Troop Information Topic for next week will deal with the United Nations' and the United States' actions to halt Communistic aggression throughout the world.

The record of the United Nations, the conference will point up, like that of most human institutions, is a mixture of setbacks and successes. However, the successes outweigh the failures. Unfortunately, the reversals (particularly those in the political field) have attracted considerable attention and have been widely publicized. On the other hand, United Nations successes in the fields of international law and economics have not always received the publicity they deserve.

Today the world is faced with a serious problem—the rapid growth of the world's population. According to all indications, it will grow from its present size of about two and a half billion to four billion within the next 30 years. However, the world grows hardly food enough for its present inhabitants. The majority of the people in the world produce less than they can consume because they lack health, tools, and knowledge. But in the last few years the UN has begun the task of remedying these defects through the work of several of the Specialized Agencies.

The conference will discuss the World Health Organization (WHO) which is waging a campaign against the diseases that shorten man's life and reduce his efficiency. The United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) works to improve children's health in war devastated countries. Assistance in the field of education and elimination of illiteracy, for instance, is the primary responsibility of the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). The International Labor Organization (ILO) assists in vocational and technical training and the development of handicrafts. The UN is extending its activities into the field of international trade and communications also.

The United States has played a major part in the creation and in the successes of the UN. Because we are the richest country in the world, we are bearing the largest part of the financial burden and also are providing the greatest measure of technical assistance.

Imperfect as it is, the UN still offers us our best hope of achieving world peace eventually. As long as the free nations can sit at a UN conference table with the Communists, there is a chance that we can avoid actual war. Meanwhile, by supporting the UN activities looking to the betterment of humanity, we are helping to eliminate some of the basic causes of war and helping to check the spread of communism.

The Order of the Purple Heart was established Aug. 7, 1782.

Pvt. Joe Hardebeck

Indiana Dairyman's Cup Goes to Scott Engineer Second Straight Year

First place trophy in the annual Junior Dairyman's contest in Indiana early last month went to Pvt. Joseph Hardebeck, a member of the 99th Engineer Company (Base Reproduction), 30th Engineer Group.

The young engineer was on leave at his home in Elwood Indiana, when he received the award for the second consecutive year. The prize, which is sponsored by the Kraft Foods Company, was given for the best kept records of milk production and ratings of stock at various showings during the year.

Since entering the service last January, members of Private Hardebeck's family have taken over for him, showing his top-rated herd of Brown Swiss cattle at many stock shows in Indiana. The prize-winning dairyman is a past president of the Four-H club in his community.

QM Research Center To Be Dedicated Soon

The New Army Quartermaster Research and Development Center at Natick, Massachusetts, will have as the principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies on 14 October Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens, the Department of the Army announced recently.

The $11,000,000 QM scientific center, located on Lake Cochituate, represents a consolidation of Quartermaster Corps Research Laboratories heretofore scattered through the country.

Approximately 80,000 hymnals printed in Korean and Chinese were distributed by the Army to prisoners of war in Korea.

MEAT INSPECTION is one of many chores which falls to personnel of the Area Veterinary Detachment here on the Presidio. Careful inspection is an important measure in all-around troop hygiene, and is demonstrated here by 1st Lt. Donald L. Piermattei, Post Food Inspector (right), and his assistant, Pfc. Jim W. Noteboom, Detachment 5, 6002 SU.

From.....	Two Cents Postage
Address.....
Name.....
Street.....
City.....	Zone.....State.....
(Third Class Mail)

LETTER OF COMMENDATION for achieving an outstanding performance rating is presented to Mrs. Aubrey M. Conrad, G-3 section, Headquarters Sixth Army, by Brigadier General Richard G. Prather, Sixth Army chief of staff. Colonel Dan Gilmer, assistant chief of staff, G-3, looks on. Mrs. Conrad began working on the Presidio in 1948, and served first with the Ordnance section of Sixth Army, prior to coming to the G-3 section in 1951, where she is a clerical assistant and specialist in civil defense and disaster relief, plans and operations division. She was commended for her capable performance and outstanding qualities of service and loyalty.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 20

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 15 October, 1954

Executive Order 10565!

Stiffer Punishment Ordered To Curb AWOL Violations

Denver, Colo. (AFPS)—President Eisenhower has tightened up the provisions of the Uniform Code of Military Justice concerning repeated offenders and person convicted of going AWOL.

He has authorized dishonorable discharges for servicemen convicted of offenses which, in themselves, do not normally carry dishonorable discharges, for example: persons with three other such convictions during the preceding year. The servicemen also may be compelled to forfeit all pay and allowances and be confined at hard labor up to one year.

Dishonorable discharges previously were reserved for those convicted of offenses classed by civil law as felonies or of offenses of a military nature requiring severe punishment.

Punishments for AWOL were boosted at several points. For an absence of not more than three days the penalties are hard labor and forfeiture of two-thirds pay, both up to one month. For an absence between three and 30 days the penalties are the same except that they may be assessed for up to six months.

An absence of more than 30 days now nets a forfeiture of all pay and allowances, hard labor up to one year, and a dishonorable discharge. Previously an absence of more than 60 days was required to warrant this penalty.

Anything less than 60 days resulted in hard labor not to exceed three days for each absent day and forfeiture of pay not to exceed two days for each absent day.

Being AWOL from guard with intent to abandon previously meant six months at hard labor and a bad conduct discharge. To this has been added forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

Forfeiture of all pay and allowances also is an added penalty for servicemen who miss a troop, ship or aircraft movement, whether by design or neglect. If it is by design, they may be given hard labor up to one year, instead of the present six months, and a dishonorable discharge.

If it is by neglect, they may be given hard labor up to six months instead of the present three months, and a bad conduct discharge.

Army Revamps EM Promotion Procedure

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has decentralized to field commanders control of enlisted promotions up to grade E-5 (sergeant) effective Oct. 1, 1954.

Previously all promotions to all enlisted grades were controlled by the Army Department through monthly promotion quotas. Now only promotions to the grade of sergeant first class and master sergeant will be controlled at DA level.

In promoting EM to fill local grade vacancies, major commanders have been directed to impose controls insuring that units do not cause a major command to exceed its authorized strength for each grade.

DA Program!

Comptroller Gen. Leads Local Meeting In Finance Survey

Details of a Department of the Army plan to revolutionize financial control methods at all levels of command throughout the world were under scrutiny today by representatives of the Sixth Army command section, general staff sections and technical services in a two-day conference which began at the Presidio yesterday.

Lieutenant General George H. Decker, Army Comptroller, is heading a Department of the Army team of experts introducing the new Army financial management plan here.

Primary objective of the Army's new financial management plan, the result of recommendations by military and civilian groups and agencies which have been studying the program, is to improve financial control at all levels of command throughout the world.

Introduced under this broad program are business techniques which have proven effective in private industry, including methods for establishing a buyer-seller relationship between those elements of the Army which produce goods and services and those which consume them.

Comptroller of the Army since 1952, General Decker served as budget officer for the Department of the Army from 1950 until 1952. During World War II he saw action in the Pacific as Chief of Staff of the Sixth Army, then commanded by General Walter Krueger. Since World War II he also served as Deputy Commander of the U. S. Army, Pacific, and Commanding General of the 5th Infantry Division.

An Infantry officer since 1924, he is also the President of the Association of the United States Army, which includes the U. S. Infantry Association and U. S. Field Artillery Association.

"Operation Gyroscope"

Army Secretary Sets Program To Change Rotation System

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens announced this week the adoption by the Army of a completely new plan of overseas rotation. The plan, called "Operation Gyroscope—Rotation With Stability" is a radical departure from the present system of individual replacements employed by the Army. "Operation Gyroscope" calls for the replacement of entire units overseas by like units rather than the present system whereby the unit is kept in position and personnel are rotated on an individual basis. The new system will be effected by mid-summer, 1955.

Designed to increase the combat effectiveness of the Army within current strength and budget limitations, the new system is based on conditions short of general war. The same pattern of rotation will be followed for divisions, separate regiments and battalions. As the plan is executed it is expected to be extended later to units of the technical arms and services.

Under the new rotation system about eight divisions will be rotated each year, with nearly three years required to complete a rotation cycle of all divisions. In essence, divisions from the United States will replace divisions overseas, each replacement operation taking about four months.

The overseas tour will be approximately 33 months and the tour in the United States will be approximately 31 months for all participating units. Economy and the two-year term of Service of Selectees dictated the tour periods. Studies showed that movements more often than these would be too expensive. The approved periods will allow the smooth integration into units of two separate increments of selectees, each increment serving 17 months overseas.

Selectees accompanying a division overseas will join six months before embarkation and will be trained by the division. The second increment of selectees for an overseas division will be given basic training by a state-side division.

"Operation Gyroscope" will reduce the military and civilian employees required for the operation of processing stations and will decrease the costs of troop transportation. For example, to move an Infantry Division as a unit from the geographical center of the United States to New York will cost $100,000 less than it would to move the same number on an individual basis.

Some of the key features of the new rotation system include stability for the career soldier, a permanent stateside station to which each division will return after its overseas tour, greater stabilization of personnel in units, better manpower utilization, increase of the Army's division deployment capability in case of war, and broadening of the peacetime training base.

The Army expects to realize material savings in personnel and time. Greater benefits will accrue to the individual soldier as the result of more stability in the form of fewer moves, more settled conditions, and fewer family separations.

The new rotation system the Army feels will go far toward eliminating some of the most undesirable of the present conditions of service, and will enhance pride and spirit throughout the Army.

To further effect the new system the Army plans the activation and reorganization of two new infantry divisions from existing non-divisional units and will gradually convert five of its training divisions into combat divisions. To be activated are the 23rd Infantry Division and the 71st Infantry Division.

Chief Will Visit!

General Matthew B. Ridgway, Chief of Staff of the Army, will be in San Francisco on November 5, according to an announcement made today by Lt. Gen. W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander.

The primary purpose of General Ridgway's visit is to address a luncheon meeting of the Commonwealth Club of California. The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, the San Francisco Bay Area Council, and various military organizations of Northern California are joining the Commonwealth Club in sponsoring the general's speaking engagement here.

Last June 19 General Ridgway was here as the official guest of General Wyman during the special ceremonies marking the return of the 40th Division from Korea and its return to the National Guard of California.

Commodore Will Be Honored at Presidio Monday

A reception by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, Sixth Army Honor Guard and Band, and an eleven-gun salute will honor the arrival at the Presidio Monday of Commodore H. S. Rayner of the Royal Canadian Navy.

Commodore Rayner will enter the San Francisco Bay through the Golden Gate at 0800 hours Monday in the carrier, HMCS "Magnificent." Accompanying the larger vessel will be the frigate, "Stettler," Commander G. C. Edwards, RCN, in command.

As the Commodore enters the Arguello Gate at 1200 hours, Monday, an eleven-gun salute will be fired from the Presidio flagpole. The visiting naval dignitary will inspect a two-platoon honor guard of Detachment A, 6002 SU. The Sixth Army Band and Pipe Band will also be present. Selected UN colors will be flown.

Canadian Consul General Christopher Eberts and Cdr. Edwards will accompany the Commodore to the Presidio ceremonies.

The "Magnificent" will be berthed at Treasure Island for two days. On Wednesday it will move with the "Stettler" to Pier 18 at the Municipal docks to remain there for two more days. There will be a reception on the "Magnificent" on Wednesday.

National Bible Week Starts Next Monday

The campaign theme for the 14th Annual observance of National Bible Week from the 18th to 24th of October is "The Best Gift God Has Given," a statement made by Abraham Lincoln when presented with a Bible in 1864.

Essay

It's Your Responsibility!

(The following essay was first-place winner in the recently concluded contest whose theme was Utilization and Conservation of Army Equipment.)

By Cpl. Bruce Lansbury
C Company, 505th Military Police Battalion

"Beware of Little Expences, a small leak will sink a great ship," said Benjamin Franklin in his Poor Richard's Almanac of 1745.

It is a morsel of homely advice that stood well for the thirteen colonies in the early years of the United States of America. It came from a statesman, diplomat, author, scientist, and inventor whose courageous Americanism and down-to-earth approach to governmental problems played an important part in the founding of those ideals we still consider basic to our concept of democracy.

It is an attitude which we would do well to adopt in planning a program of careful utilization and conservation of equipment in the United States Army.

For Franklin and for others of the small, hard-bitten group which, in the shadow of a gibbet, opposed English domination, thrift was a requisite to sound government and an important aspect to National safety. They were outraged when, following the Revolutionary War, they were told the National debt exceeded ten thousand dollars!

Private citizens, soldiers, statesmen—all the type of men we have come to call, "rugged individualists"—they actually felt a personal responsibility for every penny lost in governmental business.

Nowadays, when the ship of state has assumed gigantic proportions and the national debt is up in the billions, we wonder at our early statemen's concern for a few thousand dollars. A citizen's pride in the "penny saved" seems to have become unstylish. And yet it would be advantageous to us taxpayers and to our country to return to that personal pride in non-waste. As a national attribute it makes for sound government and perforce a strong nation.

Thrift begins at the bottom, with the "Little Expences"—with a soldier's careful utilization and conservation of equipment furnished him for his job by the government.

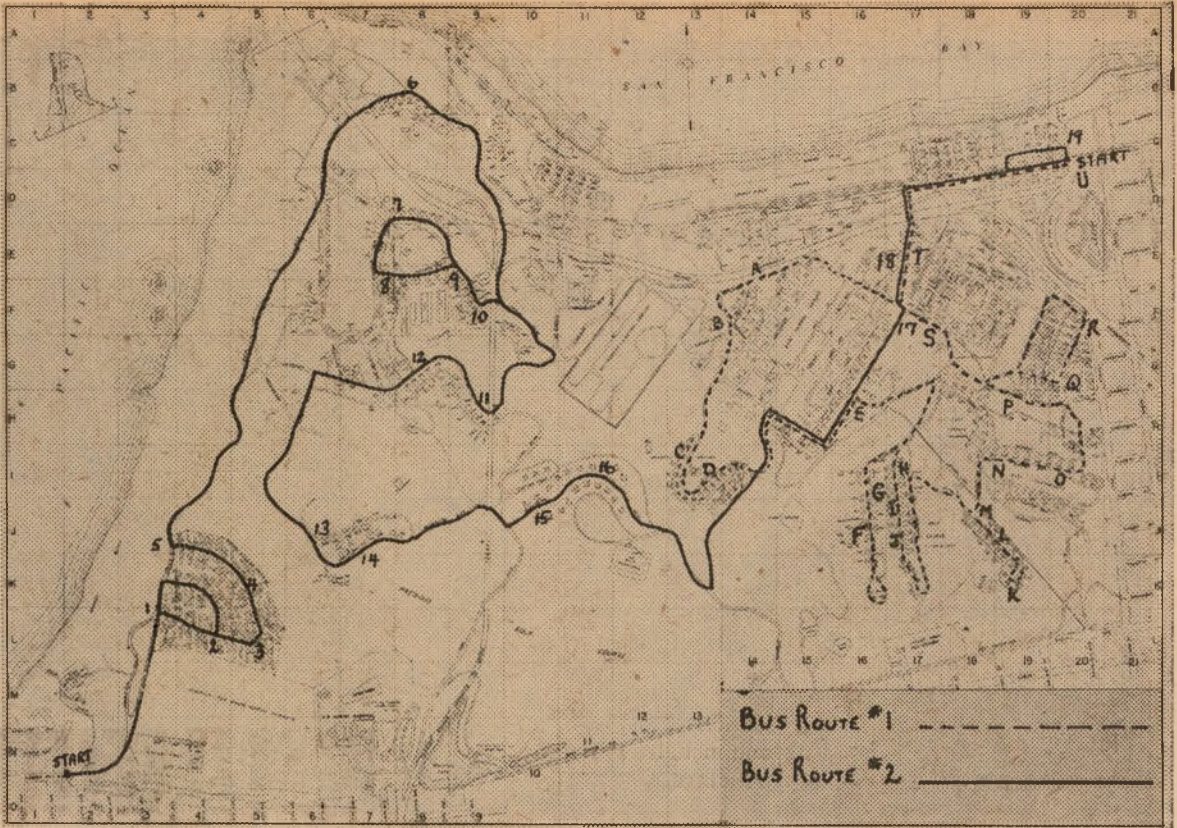

Our present task is not so much to find new ways to trim expenses. The familiar avenues toward conservation and economical utilization are defined extensively in manuals, regulations and lectures; we have only to follow them. I believe our real job is to generate individually the same concern over waste that was exemplified in the writers of the Constitution.

Everyone is accountable for his own area of potential thrift or waste, whether at a typewriter or behind the wheel of a jeep. Furthermore, it does no good to save on gasoline here and, through neglect, burn out a truck-motor elsewhere. Conservation and provident utilization must go together and applied to everything from a 105 howitzer to typewriter ribbon, or else whatever savings we make are immediately devoured by waste somewhere else.

What Franklin realized two hundred years ago we have to impress upon ourselves and others of the Armed Forces now—that every penny lost in poor conservation and utilization of equipment comes from our own pockets, and conversely, we benefit directly by every penny saved.

It is a simple proposition, and one that we may put into immediate practice.

The results will show in both dollars-and-cents dividends and a deserved pride in personal accomplishment.

WHERE TO? Presidians who have felt the lack of transportation facilities on Post before now have nothing to fret about in the future. The map above gives a small idea of the wide area covered by the new shuttle buses which started running this week to main points around the Presidio. Stops on Route One (broken line) are indicated by the letters of the alphabet. There are 21 of them. Route Two (solid line), with the stops indicated as letters of the alphabet, halts 19 times.

New Shuttle Bus Schedule

ROUTE NUMBER 1 starts its first run at 1015 hours at Lincoln and Riley Avenues and finishes at 1047 at the Commissary. Subsequent trips begin at the Commissary and end there. Route 1 stops are indicated alphabetically. The route operates Monday through Friday.

START—Commissary	1200	1330	1500	1645
STOP
A. Lincoln & Riley	1015	1205	1335	1505
B. Sheridan & Riley	1016	1206	1336	1506
C. Qtrs. 327	1018	1208	1338	1508
D. Qtrs. 336	1019	1209	1339	1509
E. Qtrs. 11	1021	1211	1341	1511
F. Qtrs. 631	1024	1214	1344	1514
G. Qtrs. 828	1025	1215	1345	1515
H. Qtrs. 743	1027	1217	1347	1517
I. Qtrs. 749	1028	1218	1348	1518
J. Qtrs. 757	1029	1219	1349	1519
K. Qtrs. 732	1031	1221	1351	1521
L. Qtrs. 723	1033	1223	1353	1523
M. Qtrs. 716	1034	1224	1354	1524
N. Qtrs. 539	1035	1225	1355	1525
O. Qtrs. 534	1036	1226	1356	1526
P. Bldg. 558	1038	1228	1358	1528
Q. Qtrs. 1135	1040	1230	1400	1530
R. Qtrs. 1123	1041	1231	1401	1531
S. LAH P. X.	1043	1233	1403	1533
T. P. X. Clothing Store	1044	1234	1404	1534
U. Commissary	1047	1237	1407	1537

ROUTE NUMBER 2 commences at Lincoln Boulevard and Pershing Drive at 1015 and ends at the Commissary at 1049. The second trip begins at the Commissary at 1145 and covers the same route with identical stops from the opposite direction. The route takes the opposite direction alternately throughout the day. Route 2 stops are indicated by numbers. The route operates Monday through Friday.

Read Down	Read Up	Read Down	Read Up	Read Down	Read Up
Stop
1. Lincoln & Pershing	1015	1219	1331	1534	1749
2. Pershing & Stillwell	1016	1218	1330	1533	1748
3. Qtrs. 1534	1017	1217	1332	1532	1747
4. Qtrs. 1558	1018	1216	1333	1531	1746
5. Pershing & Lincoln	1019	1215	1334	1530	1745
6. Qtrs. 958	1022	1212	1337	1527	1742
7. Qtrs. 1298	1026	1208	1341	1523	1738
8. Ft. Scott P. X.	1028	1206	1343	1521	1736
9. Qtrs. 1273	1029	1205	1344	1520	1735
10. Qtrs. 1261	1030	1204	1345	1519	1734
11. Qtrs. 1304	1031	1203	1346	1518	1733
12. Qtrs. 1326	1033	1201	1348	1516	1731
13. Qtrs. 1446	1036	1158	1351	1513	1728
14. Qtrs. 1431	1037	1157	1352	1512	1727
15. Qtrs. 403	1039	1155	1354	1510	1725
16. Qtrs. 416	1040	1154	1355	1509	1724
17. Funston & Lincoln	1044	1150	1359	1505	1720
18. P. X. Clothing Store	1046	1148	1401	1503	1718
19. Commissary	1049	1145	1404	1500	1715

Now On Display!

Giant Army Surplus Offering Open to Public Eye at Mason

The largest offering of Army surplus at San Francisco Port of Embarkation since the post-World War II period went on display for inspection by prospective buyers at Oakland Army Base this past Monday.

The material will remain available for inspection until 24 October. It will be sold by auction, along with surplus from three other Army installations, at the Lathrop sub-depot of the Sharpe General Depot south of Stockton 25 to 28 October.

Topping the items to be inspected at Oakland Army Base are motor vehicle and aircraft tires, materials handling equipment and boats. There are also large quantities of beds and mattresses, medical and dental equipment and supplies, mess equipment, automotive and marine spare parts, power tools, engines of various kinds.

Port Property Disposal Branch has arranged the surplus in three places, all east of Maritime Street. They are Building 590 at the southern end of the Army Base; the area south of Warehouse 2; and the open storage area at the Base's north end. An Information Booth has been set up at Maritime and Wake Road to assist visitors. Arrows have also been installed to indicate the display areas.

While the surplus is on display at Oakland Army Base, Sharpe Depot, Benicia Arsenal and Sacramento Signal Depot, the actual sale will be conducted on an auction

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION in recognition of Sixth Army's co-operation during the recent cancer education program held on the Presidio of San Francisco, is presented to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, by Edward McDowell, president of the San Francisco branch of the American Cancer Society. During the campaign thousands of Presidio military and civilian personnel became informed on the dread disease, cancer, through media of movies, pamphlets, posters and lectures.

Inventory Closings

Following are the closing dates for the various Bay area Exchanges for purposes of inventory, as announced by Lt. Colonel Walter A. Fleckenstein, Exchange officer. Fort Baker, 16 October; Fort Cronkhite, 18 October; Fort Scott, 19 October; Letterman branch, 20 October; Presidio Mobile PX, 21 October; Letterman Main PX, 22 October; Presidio Clothing store, 23 October; and Warehouse, 6 November.

The Star-Presidian

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST
Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN
DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Army Plans Moving Loaded Supply Trains Directly Aboard Ship

St. Louis, Mo. (AFPS)—The Army is considering moving supplies in cargo ships carrying loaded freight cars as part of its program to increase the mobility of military cargo, according to Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

Mr. Stevens referred to the plan which would "reduce the enormous amount of time consumed in loading and unloading" in a speech before the National Defense Transportation Assn. here.

He said, "We are moving toward what may prove to be an entirely new era in military sea transportation, an era in which railroad cars will be fully loaded at sources of supply in this country, highballed to a port, rolled into specially designed ships, and, at the end of the sea voyage, returned to land rails to complete the trip to their destination."

Army Secretary Speaks!

New $11 Million QM Center Dedicated at Natick, Mass.

Washington (AFPS)—The Army dedicated its new Quartermaster Research and Development Center at Natick, Mass., yesterday. The $11 million scientific center consolidates a number of QM research laboratories previously scattered around the country.

CWO LOUIS FERARRO

Veteran Conductor Is New Leader of Sixth Army's Band

A formerly familiar figure among Bay area armed forces personnel is CWO Louis Ferarro, the new director of the Sixth Army Band, who has just returned from 14 months in Korea as the director of the 7th Infantry Division Band. CWO Ferarro succeeds CWO Erling H. Erlandson who is en route to assignment in Europe.

Before going to Korea the new maestro commanded the band at the San Francisco Port of Embarkation at Fort Mason from August 1947 to May 1953.

During the Second World War, the Sixth Army's new band leader served in London and Paris as a bandsman, leaving Paris in 1947 for Berlin where he directed the European Command Band. Completing his long overseas tour, Mr. Ferarro returned to the United States and the assignment at Fort Mason.

The new director comes from a musical family; his father as well as his brothers and sisters having all played professionally. CWO Ferarro began playing the clarinet when he was six years old.

While residing with his family in Teaneck, New Jersey, the new conductor studied clarinet and conducting at New York City's Juilliard School of Music from 1937 to 1939.

In San Francisco for the Fort Mason job, the master of the baton studied a variety of subjects at the San Francisco Music and Arts Institute.

With his wife and three daughters, he now makes his home at Colma, California.

The Army had 1,461 chaplains on duty as of March of this year. Of this total, 255 were Regular Army. The remainder were Reserve Officers.

Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens was the principal speaker at the dedication ceremonies. Also participating were Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin, Jr., and more than 800 national leaders from government, education, industry and the military.

The new center, located on Lake Cochituate, about 15 miles west of Boston, occupies a 100-acre site and includes 10 reinforced concrete buildings.

An unusual feature of the center is the Climatic Research Building, which eventually will house climatic chambers where scientists will be able to simulate weather conditions ranging from 70 degrees below zero to 168 degrees above. Tropical cloudbursts and arctic snowstorms, with winds up to 40 mph, could be produced there.

The center is the first scientific installation designed to permit the study of human beings and military equipment under virtually all known climatic conditions, which may be artificially produced at will.

Other laboratories will be equipped to study fabrics, leathers, materials, plastics, chemicals and other materials and processes used to fashion the more than 70,000 items of QM supply.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

1 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Harold F. Hunt, Det. 6, 6400 SU.

4 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Ellis Bruns, Btry. D, 752nd AA Bn., Ft. Funston, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Allan C. Stephens, 566th Supply Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

5 October: SFC and Mrs. Clyde B. Barnett, Co. A, 820 Engr. Avn. Bn., Beale AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Donald White, Hq. Btry. 720, FA Bn., Ft. Lewis, Wash.

6 October: PFC and Mrs. Jose E. Callejas, Hq. Btry. 47, AAA Brig., Ft. MacArthur, Calif.; PFC and Mrs. Robert T. Peterson, Hq. and Hq. Co., 505 MP Bn., PSFC.

7 October: A/2C and Mrs. Glen R. Gourley, 1901-4 AACS Det., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; SFC and Mrs. Dewey Washington, Armed Svc. Police Det., TI, Calif.

8 October: A/1C and Mrs. Robert Kirby, 41st Air Res. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Park, AFOTC, University of Calif., Berkeley, Calif.

9 October: Lt. and Mrs. Bernard C. Johnson, 551st Eng. Co. (Surv. Base), Ft. Winfield Scott, Calif.; WOJG and Mrs. Alejandro M. Nasib, Hq. 752nd AAA Gun Bn., Grizzly Peak, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Eugene K. Shepherd, 21st Engr., Ft. Scott, Calif.

10 October: Major and Mrs. Martin A. Pfotenhauser, 9956 TU LAH, PSFC; Cpl. and Mrs. Quinn E. Washburn, 21st Engr. (Photo Map) Co., Ft. Scott, Calif.

Sons to:

4 October: Colonel and Mrs. Sanford W. French, III, LAH, PSFC; PFC and Mrs. Robert E. Gallagher, 129th Inf. Regt., 2nd Inf. Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Benny C. Granado, 1901-4 AACS Det., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Major and Mrs. Clarence E. Woods, 6002 SU, PSFC.

5 October: Pvt. and Mrs. Gilbert Gonzales, Btry. C, 9 AAA Gun Bn., Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Robert G. Woodman, Hq. Co., 6002 SU, PSFC.

6 October: Cpl. and Mrs. David Brown, Hq. Det. WAAC, Ft. Baker, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Joseph B. Jann, 8603 AAU, Two Rock Ranch Sta., Calif.

7 October: Sgt. and Mrs. John N. Baldwin, Hq. Co., 6th Army, PSFC; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Calvin C. Pratt, 566 Inst. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Robert W. Sherman, Hq. Co., Det. 1, 6000 SU, PSFC.

8 October: SFC and Mrs. Benito C. Isla, 9956 TU, LAH, PSFC.

9 October: A/2C and Mrs. Roger N. Miller, 173rd A. T. Sqdn., Travis AFB, Calif.; SFC and Mrs. John A. Sullivan, ROTC Det., Stanford Univ., Calif.

EIGHTH GRADE DIPLOMA of San Francisco schools, for having successfully completed his grade schooling, is awarded to Sgt. Teodulo T. Maylas of the 6002 SU, Presidio of San Francisco, by Dr. Herbert C. Clish, San Francisco superintendent of schools. At right is Captain Raymond B. Smelser, executive officer of the 6002, who earlier presented Sgt. Maylas with an Army eighth grade certificate. Sgt. Maylas, who completed his first six years of grade schooling as a boy in the Philippines, completed the last two years in a single year's study in on-Post adult education division classes, sponsored by the San Francisco public school system.

2 Grades in Year!

8th Grade Diploma is Awarded PSF Sergeant by Supt. Clish

By Gloria Hatherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

"I wish I could go back to school."

That's a statement constantly being made by a great many people.

Some mean it sincerely but find it impossible to do. Others say it flippantly, perhaps to impress or to ease their own conscience.

But Sgt. Teodulo T. Maylas, past 40 years of age, with the first six years of grade-school completed in the Philippine Islands back in 1925, decided he wanted to go back to school.

And he went.

For the past year, Sgt. Maylas has been enrolled in the on-Post classes conducted here by the San Francisco public schools' adult education division.

In that year, the sergeant was able to complete both the seventh and eighth grades, and this week received an Army eighth grade certificate upon successful completion of USAFI Achievement test III, which was presented to him by Captain Raymond B. Smelser, executive officer of the 6002 SU, the unit to which Sgt. Maylas is attached.

Also, he received a San Francisco eighth grade diploma, issued by Benjamin Franklin adult school, and presented by Dr. Herbert C. Clish, superintendent of schools, San Francisco united school districts.

Dr. Clish, in presenting the scroll to Sgt. Maylas, said, "you have met the high standards set by the San Francisco public school system, and I am pleased to present you your diploma, not only for having completed the course successfully, but for your initial efforts in beginning and courage in following through on this undertaking."

Subjects taken by the sergeant included world geography, United States history and government, general science, arithmetic, reading and language.

Sgt. Maylas came to the United States back in 1927, and did various types of domestic work until C'est la vie!

The Armed Forces have set up a procedure for exchanging information concerning personnel who were dropped from officer training programs, and who later apply for another officer program. Designated DOD Form 785, the blank will indicate the reasons for a man's disenrollment and an evaluation of his future acceptability for other officer training. The record will be kept readily available by the parent service.

he entered the Army in July, 1942. He joined the 1st Filipino Infantry Regiment which had been formed earlier that year, and served in the Pacific theatre from New Guinea to the Philippines, remaining overseas until July, 1948.

He was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Combat Infantry Badge and the Presidential Unit citation.

After four months in the United States, Sgt. Maylas again returned to the Philippines in November, and remained overseas until 1952 when he was assigned to the Post Transportation section of the Presidio of San Francisco.

His wife, whom he married in the Philippines in 1946, son and daughter still reside in Manila, but the sergeant hopes to bring them to this country soon. "I would like the children to have the educational opportunities which the United States has to offer," he said. As for the sergeant's schooling, he's not going to stop now.

Next step is the on-Post high school classes which will eventually equip him with a San Francisco high school diploma!

Letterman Dental Chief Promoted to Brigadier General

The rank of brigadier general was conferred on former Colonel Dale B. Ridgely, chief of Letterman Army hospital's Dental service, in recent ceremonies at the hospital.

Among the guests who were present for the program were Colonel Reuel E. Hewitt, Sixth Army Surgeon. Brigadier General James O. Gillespie, commanding officer of Letterman, and Mrs. Ridgely, pinned the stars to the general's shoulders.

General Ridgely started his Army career at Letterman when he began his training period in dentistry there in 1926. He was at that time one of eight first lieutenant dental students chosen from schools throughout the country for the opportunity of qualifying for regular Army which he did in 1928.

Before coming to Letterman last January, General Ridgely was Dental surgeon, Northern Area command, EUCOM, with headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany.

Promotions

Approximately 1,200 Presidio civil service employees with permanent status who received indefinite promotions since 1 September 1950, were advised this week that they are now permanent in their present grade. This change was effective 11 September.

The "Fringe Benefits bill," Public law 763, of the 83d Congress, eliminated the requirement of the "Whitten amendment" that all promotions since 1 September 1950 be indefinite. All personnel affected by this change will receive a letter from the civilian personnel office informing them of this action, and advising them further that they have been placed in Retention Group I instead of Retention Group II for reduction in force purposes.

A PERFECT SIGNAL is the aim of M/Sgt. Roy Millar, training NCO of the 505th MP Battalion's orientation program for 33 new policemen. M/Sgt. Millar adjusts the "stop" demonstration rendered by instructor Jack L. Gilbert as SFC. E. A. Stone, Sgt. Wilfred G. Judd and SFC. James Canaan pick up a few pointers for use in the classes they are to conduct.

Job Familiarization!

505th MP Battalion Holds Orientation for 33 New Men

By Pvt. Jack Everhart

"Why not be best?" is apparently a question offering strong motivation to the 505th Military Police Battalion which initiated a dynamic three weeks' training program for 33 new men at Fort Baker this week.

Captain James A. Whitcanack, commander of C Company, will supervise the scheduled instruction of his new charges, with M/Sgt. Roy Millar of Headquarters Company serving as the non-com director of the new orientation scheme.

Assisting M/Sgt. Millar is SFC. James Canaan and SFC. Robert E. Burney of B Company; Sgt. Jack L. Gilbert and Sgt. Wilfred G. Judd of Company A; and SFC. E. A. Stone of C Company.

By the time the three-week cycle is completed, each new man will have received a total of 117 hours of specialized instruction. He will then be acquainted with virtually every job which he may be called upon to perform while on duty at the Presidio.

A detailed tour of the Post and its sub-units is designed to familiarize the newcomers not only with the general territory in which they will soon be working, but also specific areas where more specialized functions will be assigned.

Explanation of the primary training mission of the Battalion as well as the organization's role at the Presidio and Sixth Army Headquarters will complete the initial portion of the prospectus.

Prisoner control and interrogation, standard infantry tactics, and weapons familiarization are included in the combat-training segment of the schedule.

To facilitate the smooth and steady flow of Post traffic during peak hours, the policemen will spend many hours learning the finer points of traffic control under simulated conditions at Fort Baker. Practicing of exact, precise and clear hand and arm signals is an endeavor to enhance the Battalion's efficient handling of the rush-hour traffic problem.

Because of the open-post status of the Presidio, special emphasis is to be given the firm but tactful handling of civilian traffic citations. To the MP, tactful behavior is an absolute necessity.

Although the delicate art of the "polish-sparkle" cannot be easily acquired from classroom study, the rookie policemen will undergo a series of rigid inspections by Battalion Commander Lt. Col. Keene Saxon and Company Commander Capt. James A. Whitcanack. In the course of the inspections the men will come to know what the Battalion's concept of the phrase "sharp MP" means.

Upon completion of the training session the new MP's will be ready to perform police duties at the Presidio with the poise and confidence displayed by their more experienced brothers.

Christmas Mail!

The period 15 October to 15 November, 1954, has again been designated for the acceptance of Christmas parcels for military personnel stationed overseas. Delivery before Christmas can be assured if parcels are mailed during this period. Air parcel post, which is limited to two pounds in weight to overseas APO's, should be mailed not later than 25 November.

Christmas greeting cards prepaid at the first class rate should be mailed prior to 15 November; at the air mail rate prior to 1 December.

Thousands of parcels and greeting cards are delayed each year because they are incompletely or incorrectly addressed and require directory service. The essential components of a complete address consist of: rank, name, service number, complete unit designation APO number, and post office. Example:

Cpl. Richard E. Roe, RA 000000
Battery A, 515th Field Artillery Bn
APO 403, New York, New York

Army R's!

The Army estimates it will have an enrollment of some 32,289 Army children in its dependent schools during the next school year. To provide for their education, the Army plans to operate 130 elementary schools and 20 high schools overseas.

Sixth Army Band Starts Concert Series on Sunday

The first of a Sunday afternoon series of band concerts by the Sixth Army Band and the Sixth Army Pipe Band will be held at 1400 hours, Sunday, 17 October, at the Presidio of San Francisco.

Presidio personnel and the general public are invited to attend the hour-long program, which will feature modern and classic selections, under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer Louis Ferarro, Band Leader. Cpl. Paul Frey, baritone, will be soloist.

Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, has indicated that he plans to attend the concert.

The concert will be held in the grove facing Presidio Boulevard at the Lincoln Avenue intersection, where seats have been placed for the audience. For those who prefer to listen from their cars there is ample parking space nearby.

The Sunday program will be:

- 1 Kilties Morris
- 2 Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna Suppe
- 3 Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring Bach
- 4 Horse & Buggy Anderson
- 5 Three Dances from Nel Gwynn German
- 6 I've Got You Under My Skin Porter
- 7 Stranger in Paradise Wright
- 8 Cpl. Paul Frey, Soloist
- 9 Fiddle-Fiddle Anderson
- 10 I'll Remember April
- 11 Tribute to Fighting Men Howland, arr.
- 12 Stars and Stripes Forever Sousa

MERITORIOUS CIVILIAN SERVICE award, the Army's second highest award for civilians, was presented to Mrs. Gertrude B. Healy, file supervisor of the records branch, administrative services division, AG section, Headquarters Sixth Army, recently. Mrs. Healy, above, has been with the AG section since 1946, and received her award from Colonel Morris H. Marcus, who, until his retirement on 30 September, was Sixth Army AG. The citation with the award covered the period 29 June 1946 to 18 December 1953, and stated in part: "Her outstanding accomplishments in maintaining efficiency standards and advancing the production of her fellow workers in the face of constant critical situations have been important factors in the successful functioning of headquarters files."

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Frank E. Garden, prior to reporting to the Comptroller section of Headquarters Sixth Army for his new assignment, completed the 14-month business administration course at Syracuse University, New York.

Before attending school, Colonel Garden was in Europe for three and one-half years, the first two in personnel work with Headquarters European Command, and the last 18 months as commanding officer of the Kaufbeuren Post Air Base in Bavaria.

Entering the service in May 1935 with a Reserve commission, second lieutenant, the colonel was integrated into the Regular Army in July 1946. His World War II service was in the Pacific with Headquarters 6th Army, where he served three years as a staff officer in New Guinea and the Philippines. He was decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Distinguished Unit Citation, Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with four battle stars and Philippine Liberation ribbon with two battle stars.

A graduate of Syracuse University, class of 1931, Colonel Garden has his B. S. and M. B. A. and is also a graduate of the Army's Command and General Staff college, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, 1946-47. Mrs. Garden and their two daughters and one son have accompanied him here.

Major George G. Tillery has become the assistant Army Aviation officer at Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past two and one-half years, he has been division Aviation officer, 43rd Infantry division, serving in Europe.

During World War II, Major Tillery was in the Pacific theatre for two and one-half years, serving with the 244th and 259th Separate CAC Battalions, and also was with the 1st Marine Division at Guadalcanal, for which he received the Navy Presidential Unit citation as well as the Commendation ribbon.

In the Army for 14 years, the major has completed both the Artillery Advanced course and the Helicopter school at Fort Sill, Oklahoma. Mrs. Tillery and their two children have accompanied him here.

Major William P. Burks' last three years of service have been spent in the Far East, the first in Korea with the 2nd Logistical Command and the last two in Japan with the Central Command. In both areas, the major was in Judge Advocate work.

Here on the Presidio, Major Burks has been assigned to the Inspector General section of Headquarters Sixth Army, as assistant IG.

His World War II service was in Europe, where he spent two years with the Military government. His ETO ribbon has five campaign stars and his Korean ribbon two campaign stars.

Major Burks has been with the Army for 17 years. He and Mrs. Burks are now residing in San Francisco.

Captain Anthony W. Borgia began work last week in his new assignment as chief of the facilities control division, 6300 SU Signal detachment, Presidio of San Francisco.

Recently, he completed three years at USAREUR in Heidelberg, Germany, where he was with a Signal Operations battalion.

Captain Borgia began his Army career as an enlisted man approximately 11 and one-half years ago. He served as radio operator with the 8th Signal Service company on the Presidio, assigned out of Fort Mason, during 1941-42. He next attended O.C.S. at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, receiving his commission on 30 November 1942.

From 1943 to 1946, the captain was in the Southwest Pacific, serving in various communications assignments in New Guinea, the Philippines and Australia. He was also decorated with the Bronze Star Medal. Leaving the service in 1946, Captain Borgia was recalled to active duty in February 1948 and then served two years as a Signal instructor at the Transportation school, Fort Eustis, Virginia. Mrs. Borgia and their 10-year-old daughter, Raylee, are residing here now.

Chaplain (1st Lt.) William J. Smith has been assigned to the 6002 SU as Post Chaplain, a newly created position.

Chaplain Smith entered the Army on 30 June of this year, and has been serving this summer at Letterman Army hospital.

Born and raised in Ohio, Chaplain Smith attended high school there, as well as two years at St. Mary's college, St. Mary's, Kentucky. His major college and theology studies were completed at St. Mary's Seminary, Cleveland, Ohio, and St. John's Seminary, Camarillo, California, where he was ordained to the Roman Catholic priesthood in 1950.

The chaplain spent four years in parish work in Los Angeles prior to entering the service. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Smith, now reside in Lynwood, California.

Closer Ties!

The Army has relieved the Navy of caring for the President's railroad car, the Ferdinand Magellan, at the personal request of the President. It has the responsibility of maintenance and repair on what is known officially as "U.S. Car No. One." While no official reason was given for the shifting of the honor, it was noted that the change was in line with the present policy of having the Army handle ground functions, the Navy sea functions and the Air Force aviation functions.

TRAFFIC TIE-UP is anticipated in the next few weeks at Presidio's Toyland, as hundreds of Presidio dependents and their offspring rush to the popular toy outlet for Christmas specialties. Ahead of the crowd last opening day were a bevy of youngsters from the Presidio Nursery, who thoroughly enjoyed themselves in Toyland's dreamy assortment of super-sonic jets, fire trucks, champion sedans with jet flow drive and heavy duty dump trucks. Children shown above are, left to right, Mary Beth Moore, Tommy Farris and Ronald Gibson. Toyland is located in Building 566 on Ruger Street, next door to the Post Kindergarten.

Reading Habits Of Children Is Scott PTA Panel

"Do your children have reading problems?"

If you would like your views (pro or con) on present day reading techniques, expressed at the Winfield Scott school P.T.A. panel discussion and luncheon set for Tuesday at 1230 hours in the school auditorium, contact Chaplain (Capt.) Stewart K. Lewis, Ext. 2521, who will be a "parents' advocate" during the meeting. Chaplain Lewis is the father of three boys who attend the school.

"Why Children Bog Down on the First 'R'," is the title of the panel which will be moderated by Art Rosenbaum, San Francisco sports columnist for the past 20 years.

Panel members include experts in the field of reading, a San Francisco school board member, two of the school's teachers and parents of children enrolled there. They include, besides Chaplain Lewis, Dr. Harrison Bullock, Mrs. Edward A. Moore, Mrs. Clarence Coonan, Miss Ruth Bettelheim, Mrs. Edwin Holmstrom and Mrs. Beverly Marcus.

Dr. Bullock is curriculum assistant for developmental reading in the secondary schools of San Francisco, and has taught in the city schools since his return from service with the Army Air Force 1942-1946. In addition to his academic training at the University of California and San Francisco State college, he has completed a doctoral program in guidance, with emphasis on the improvement of reading, at Teachers college, Columbia university.

Mrs. Moore of the Norma Moore school in Burlingame, specializes in remedial reading. She has an A.B. from the University of California, and, in addition to her educational work in the eight-grade accredited school, Mrs. Moore offers coaching in reading at elementary and high school levels.

The others include Mrs. Coonan, member of the San Francisco school board for the past 10 years; Mrs. Holmstrom, mother of two boys attending the school, and Miss Bettelheim and Mrs. Marcus, both teachers at the school.

The Army Ordnance Corps is the largest of the Army's technical services. It has more than 160,000 military and civilian employees at more than 100 installations throughout the United States.

Cheer Your Favorite!

Those of you who are not participating in the All-Army Soldier Singing contest preliminaries will surely want to be on hand to support your favorite among the contestants. So be at the Presidio Service club Monday beginning at 2000, when the Post contest will be held.

Embarcadero Y Sets Fish Talk, Ice Skating, Formal Dance for Week

Highlighting the coming week's activities at the Embarcadero YMCA, 166 The Embarcadero in downtown San Francisco, are a trio of specialists.

Come Tuesday night, if you've a hankering for some good home cooking, be at the "Y" at 1800 hours, when serving starts. It's only 35¢ and what food! Plus the added attraction of an informal discussion by Robert Tierney, fishing specialist, on "How and Where to Catch Fish."

By 1730 hours, all this will be over, and you may then join the group that is headed for an evening of ice skating. Or, if all that food was just too much for you, sit down and relax! Play cards, pinochle, chess, checkers or something else.

On Saturday night, the annual autumn formal dance will be held, beginning at 2000. Theme, appropriately, will be, "Autumn Serenade," and men are to wear either the uniform or a suit and tie.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 15 October—Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.
Saturday, 16 October—Tony's Mambo dance class, 1930; dart tournament, fire-side party and refreshments, 2000.
Sunday, 17 October—Bette Mae revue, 2000.
Monday, 18 October—Guitar instructions, All-Army Soldier Singing contest and coffee hour, 2000.
Tuesday, 19 October—Square dance, 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.
Wednesday, 20 October—Pinochle tournament and bridge class, 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.
Thursday, 21 October—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 15 October—Tournaments, 2000.
Saturday, 16 October—Raid the Ice-box, 2000.
Sunday, 17 October—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Kenny Kingston stage show, 2000.
Monday, 18 October—Crafts class with enameling, ceramics, painting, leather and plastics, 1900.
Tuesday, 19 October—Post dance, 2000.
Wednesday, 20 October—Arthur Murray dance class, 2130.
Thursday, 21 October—Square dance, 2000.

Presidio Clothing Sales Store Sets New Sales Hours

In order to provide military personnel on duty at the Presidio of San Francisco with a wide range of hours in which to make purchases, the following change in store hours at the Post Quartermaster clothing sales and clothing and shoe repair shops will be in effect Monday.

The clothing sales store, Building 265, will be open Monday through Friday from 0800 to 1730 hours, but will no longer be open on Saturdays. The clothing and shoe repair shops, located in Building 266, will observe the same hours.

Clothing issue hours at Building 265 have likewise been changed to 0800 to 1500, concurrent with the change in sale store hours.

Parallel parking will be authorized between 1630 and 1730 hours in the immediate area of these buildings, for patron conveniences.

"At the clothing sales store, military personnel may purchase officer, enlisted and WAC clothing, insignias, footlockers, and all types of linens. And the repair shops offer all types of repairs and alterations to military clothing and shoes at very reasonable prices," said Lt. Colonel Walter W. McCarthy, Post Quartermaster.

Singers Needed

The Presidio Male Choral group is in need of more members, it was announced today. All voices are needed and rehearsal time during duty hours is authorized. Interested personnel may contact Sgt. Dale Reed, Post Special Services, 2002, or Sfc. Thomas Myers, 5125.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 15 October—"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Spencer Tracy and Ingrid Bergman.

Saturday, 16 October—"She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," with John Wayne and Joanne Dru.

Sunday, 17 October and Monday, 18 October—"The Student Prince," with Ann Blythe and Edward Purdom. (In Cinemascope)

Tuesday, 19 October—"The Bob Mathias Story," with Bob Mathias and Bond.

Wednesday, 20 October and Thursday, 21 October—"The Best Years of Our Lives," with Frederic March and Myrna Loy.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 15 October—"The Sun Shines Bright," with Arlene Whelan and John Russell.

Saturday, 16 October—"Beau Brummel," with Stewart Granger and Elizabeth Taylor.

Sunday, 17 October—"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Spencer Tracy and Ingrid Bergman.

Tuesday, 19 October—"The Best Years of Our Lives," with Frederic March and Myrna Loy.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 15 October—"Reap the Wild Wind," with Ray Milland and John Wayne.

Monday, 18 October—"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Spencer Tracy and Ingrid Bergman.

Wednesday, 20 October—"The Glenn Miller Story," with James Stewart and June Allyson.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 17 October—"The Best Years of Our Lives," with Frederic March and Myrna Loy.

Tuesday, 19 October—"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Spencer Tracy and Ingrid Bergman.

Thursday, 21 October—"The Glenn Miller Story," with James Stewart and June Allyson.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 15 October—"She Wore a Yellow Ribbon," with John Wayne and Joanne Dru.

Saturday, 16 October—"Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," with Spencer Tracy and Ingrid Bergman.

Sunday, 17 October and Monday, 18 October—"Reap the Wild Wind," with John Wayne and Ray Milland.

Tuesday, 19 October—"The Sun Shines Bright," with Arlene Whelan and John Russell.

Wednesday, 20 October—"The Bob Mathias Story," with Bob Mathias and Ward Bond.

Thursday, 21 October—"They Rode West," with Philip Carey and Donna Reed.

Want a $1000 Prize?

I NEED PRIVACY TO WRITE MY LETTER ON "WHAT AMERICA MEANS TO ME"

What does America mean to you? Enter the 1954 Freedoms Foundation Contest. Send your letter of no more than 500 words to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, 1016 N. McCadden Place, Los Angeles 38, Calif. Your letter must bear your name, rank, service number, and organization.

It must be received before midnight Nov. 11, 1954. Letters received after that date will be considered for the next year's awards. (AFPS)

Cinema Previews

"DR. JEKYLL AND MR. HYDE," M. Dr. Jekyll, a scientist interested in man's dual personality, believes that there is good and evil in all men, but that in some the evil predominates. To prove his experiment, he drinks a potion which turns him from the decent and respected to the sadist and murderer. NOT for the kiddies!

"THE BOB MATHIAS STORY," F*. A screen version of the life story of Bob Mathias, the Olympic champion.

"THE BEST YEARS OF OUR LIVES," F*. Actually three stories in one, each is a human interest crisis, one humorous and two romantic. How they are worked out is what makes the story which is centered around soldiers and their sweethearts.

"THEY RODE WEST," F*. Western drama in which the conflict centers around an Army doctor who tries to treat the Indians as people, and an Army captain who insists on dealing with them as savages.

M—Mature. F—Family.

Civil War Guardsmen In Early Reserve Battle

In the Civil War, one Maryland militia unit split, half going with the North, the other half joining the South. Later they met at Front Royal, Va., in the first battle of Guardsmen against Guardsmen.

"NO MATCHES FOR ME," guarantee all these young men who are taking a solemn pledge not to play with matches, as a fitting climax to fire prevention activities held on the Presidio last week. "Let's Grow Up—Not Burn Up," was this year's campaign slogan. At least 1,000 Presidio youngsters were treated to fire chief helmets, candy and a ride on the fire trucks last Saturday morning. Throughout that week, their grown-up counterparts had watched fire demonstrations and learned how to prevent fire disasters with a little common sense. Fire Chief George Geller revealed that the Post fire safety record is outstanding, Evans Spark!

Lofters Lead Mixed League, Maroos Split With Toppers-1

In the National Bowling League, Evans of the Deuce aided his five in a 4-0 sweep over the Hill-Toppers No. 3 team by a rolling 184 average and 212 weekly high game. High Topper was Kemper with 158 and 180.

Hill-Topper team No. 2 rolled over HQ Co. 6th Army 3-1. Leader for the Toppers was Carlisle who bowled a 160 average and a 169 weekly high game. HQ's big gun was Yoshino who racked up 165 average and 193 high.

The Maroos split 2-2 with Hill-Topper team No. 1. Top Maroo in the tie was Bryant who rolled 170 average and 209 high game. Topper No. 1 spark was Pravel who bowled 155 average and 175 high game.

Individual high game and individual high series were both taken by the Deuce's Evans. High game score was 212 and series tag was 603.

For the Eastern Bowling League this week the 21st Engineers were on top of league standings holding a one-game lead over their nearest opponents, the 56th MRU team No. 1.

The 21st Engineers split 2-2 in their game with the 6300 ASU. Walden of the builders rolled 462 series and a 175 high game. 6300's Morgan pinned 541 and 209.

The Keystone Kops took it 3-1 from the Harbor Defenders. Kop Radmacher bowled 480 series and a 178 high game. Defender Boyer's 468 series and 198 high game pointed his group.

The 56th MRU No. 2 crippled the Baker MPs 3-1 with MRU's Nickols' 518 series and 221 high the spark for his five. MP Hoskins pinned 524 series and 185 high.

The 56th MRU team No. 1 were also victorious 3-1 with their win over the Slow Rollers. The 56th's Klemins pinned 502 series and a 191 high game with Thorne of the Rollers bowling 449, and 158.

For the Mixed Bowling League this week two games were forfeited, then postponed until a roll-off later on in the week.

The Lofters were to have played the Tag Indians but the Indians backed out temporarily and are now four games greater in the lost column until the play-off. The same holds true for the postponed game between the Hot Shots and the King Pins, with the Pins holding the bag.

In the games played for the league, the High Lows split 2-2 with the Ords. High man for the Lows was Piombino who bowled a 195 high game and an average of 151. Ord might was D. MacDonald who rolled 191 high game and 160 average.

Rides to Hamilton!

Presidio fans who wish to attend tomorrow's football game at Hamilton Field may take any one of eight busses that will be available to them.

Hamilton officials have reserved all of 200 seats for Army personnel. Presidio personnel are urged to make use of these and present a jam-packed cheering section for the Red Raiders at 1400 hours tomorrow.

Three busses will be parked in front of 30th Engineer Group Headquarters, Fort Scott, tomorrow at 1300 hours. Five more will be located on the Presidio's Parade Ground at the same time.

Half-time activities at Hamilton will feature an air show and drill demonstration.

The Spokes pinned out a 3-1 win over the Slow Rollers. Spark for the Spokes was Yoshino who turned in 214 high game and average of 168. High man for the Rollers was Myers with 172, 133.

For the men the high scorer was Alexander with 225. High series man was D. MacDonald who rolled 551. High average man was Yoshino's 178.

In the women's column, Royster swept the field taking the women's high average of 137, women's high series of 455, and the women's high game of 178.

The 6513th SU quintet smashed the 102nd MRU 4-0. SU's Saunders rolled 156 average and a 188 weekly high game. MRU was paced by Chinn's 145 and 157.

MIXED
TEAM	WON	LOST
Lofters	20	8
Hot Shots	17	11
The Ords	15	13
Tag Indians	17	15
High Lows	17	15
Spokes	12	16
King Pins	12	12
Slow Rollers	9	19

NATIONAL
TEAM	WON	LOST
Det. 1, 6002 SU	18	6
Hill-Toppers No. 3	13	11
6513th SU	13	11
Maroos	13	11
Hill-Toppers No. 2	12	12
HQ 6th Army	11	13
Hill-Toppers	10	14
102nd MRU	6	18

EASTERN
TEAM	WON	LOST
21st Engr.	21	7
56th MRU No. 1	20	8
Co. B, 505th MP	18	10
Keystone Kops	15	13
6300 SU	13	15
56th MRU No. 2	11	17
Slow Rollers	10	18
Harbor Defenders	4	24

Tags, Headquarters Company Sixth Army Top Western Keglers

For the Western Bowling League this week, the Tags again remained on top of the league, just ahead of Headquarters Company 6th Army by one game.

The Tags took the game from the 99th Engineers 3-1. Tag Delaney was high pointer for his five having rolled 486 total and a 171 high game. Tops for the construction men was Heiden-tren with 419 series and 149 high.

HQ Company 6th Army dumped the Sleuths 3-1 with Gollnick top pinner for Headquarters rolling a 524 series and a 177 high game. Big score for the Sleuths was Beauvais' 462 series and 171 high game.

The Flashers beat HQ 6th Army Engineers 3-1 with Flasher Schaeffer's 508 total and 195 high game the spark for his quintet. Headquarters' Allen rolled 421, 157.

The 6400 SU team took the tilt 3-1 from the Topos. Recruiter Morgan bowled 477 total and 186 high game. Top Topo score was Dayton's 499, 211.

TEAM
WON	LOST
Tags	14	6
HQ Co. 6th Army	13	7
Flashers	12	8
64th SU	10	10
Sleuths	9	11
HQ 6th Army Engrs.	9	11
99th Engrs.	7	9
Topos	2	14

Blocking or diving into the back, or throwing or dropping the body across the leg or legs of a player who is not carrying the ball constitutes "clipping" in the game of football.

A NEAR MISS in the picture at left as Webb of the Detachment A, 6002 SU Honor Guard five is just about to recover a near bucket by Jones of Headquarters Detachment, 660th Engineers. In the photo at right, Headquarters' Gruehart is shown at far right of the picture just after attempting a shot. The two Detachment A men ready to make the recovery are Duncan, number 12, and Jenson, facing the camera.

Baker Company MPs Take Honors In American Basketball League

The second week of the 1954 intra-mural basketball season scooted right along at the Fort Scott gym nightly last week with 21 quintets meeting on the maple deck.

In the American Division, the big landslide of the week occurred this Monday evening when the Baker Company MPs smashed the 9206 HQ. Det. by a score of 71-25. Cop Wilson led his group with 24 points in one game. Garron was high-point man for the losers with a 7-point tally.

On the previous Monday, HQ. Co., Sixth Army rolled over HQ. 9th AAA Bn. by 49-36. Top scorer for 6th Army was Jenkins with 14 points and lead man for the Ack-Ack crew was Warren with 10 points.

On the same evening, the 46th Ordnance washed out the 547th Engineers 45-38. Head Ord marksman was Washburn who fired 14 points followed by Airgs' 16-point score.

Also in play were HQ. Det. 9206 casabamen who barely outdunked the 21st Engineers by 34-31. Sharpshooters for the 9206 were Price and Garron who sank 12 points apiece. Nimble engineer Catropa swished in 10.

Two nights later, the Company B MPs crushed the 99th Engineers 66-46 with keen-eyed Cop Ribber sinking 15 hoops. Builder Stevens tossed 19.

HQ. Co. Sixth Army sneaked by 9206 HQ. Det. 34-30 with HQs Woodman's 13 buckets leading the contingent. Glasser of 9206 tanked 15.

Tuesday's last game was a close fought duel between the 315th Engineer Company and the 102nd MRU. The surveyors scraped by 39-38 aided by builder Norby's tosses for 12 points. Spankle of the machine records men looped in 11 points for his five.

Thursday saw the 542nd Engineers taking a close one from the 537th Engineers 48-44. Popenfus of the 542nd hooped 19 points and Ufheil sparked his aggregation by a heave of 15.

The next night the Baker MPs returned to the court to slaughter the 21st Engineers 63-41. Head cop sharpshooter was Garfield who tossed in 24. Capropa of the construction gang looped in 11 counters.

The 542nd Engineers had a duo of high scorers in their 49-25 smash over HQ. 9th AAA. Bauer and Aires of the map makers both swished in 14 points for their quintet and Rizzuto tallied 9 points for his men.

The 46th Ordnance Group beat the 315th Engineers 61-56 and lead Ord man Washburn heaved in a mighty 29. Hall highed for the construction men with 15 counters.

For the National Basketball Division the big smash for the week was the 71-26 sweep by the 115th CIC over HQ. Det. 660th Engineers. High Hill-Topper was Liscomb's 18 counters and Herr highed for the 660th with 12.

Hoopsters Wanted!

Starting practice for the Presidio Post basketball team has been slated for 25 October 1954. So far 12 casabamen have signed up. The practice will be held from 1300 - 1500 hours Mon., Wed., and Friday. This will give the team five weeks of preparation before the BAAF league starts about 1 December.

On Tuesday of last week, agile, stringy Don Burroughs piled up 16 points to help his Honor Guard contingent power over the 16th BPO 54-38. Head player for the mailmen was Jackson who looped in 16.

HQ. 30th Engineers eked out a 41-39 win over the Det. 1, 6002 five. Harris of the Deuce sank 16 points and Huff for the builders tanked 10.

Last Thursday Det. 1, 6002 ran over the 16th BPO 57-32. Harris again sparked his five by firing 12 points and mailman Jackson bucketed 16.

The 551st Engineers outplayed the HQ. MPs by 50-40. Construction leader was Hunt who pointed for 25 and Cop Hooper sank 11 counters.

This Monday, the 551st Engineers lost to HQ. Det. 30th Engineers by 44-39. Lead casabaman for the 30th Engineers was Hanley who pointed for 13. Head hoopster for the 551st was Hunt who threw for 16.

AMERICAN DIVISION
TEAM	WON	LOST
HQ Co. 6th Army	2	0
46th Ord.	1	0
Co. B MP 505th	3	0
9206 Ft. Mason	1	2
542nd Engrs.	1	1
315th Engrs.	1	0
99th Engrs.	0	1
102nd MRU	0	1
21st Engrs.	0	2
9th AAA	0	2

NATIONAL DIVISION
TEAM	WON	LOST
Det. A, 6002 SU	2	0
HQ Det. 30th Engrs.	2	0
115th CIC	1	0
551st Engrs.	1	1
549th Engrs.	1	0
HQ Det. 660th Engrs.	0	2
537th Engrs.	0	1
16th BPO	0	2
Det. 1, 6002 SU	1	1
HQ 505th MP	0	1

TABLE TENNIS CHAMPS—Chosen to represent the Presidio of San Francisco in the coming Sixth Army Table Tennis Tournament at Letterman Army Hospital for the Central Division are, from left to right: PFC. Robert Perla, Sgt. Esther Marshall, PFC. Theresa Borucka, and on the top spot for the team after beating out six contenders is Cpl. Marshall Conrad.

Raiders to Meet Hamilton AFB in Toughest Yet

In high spirits from last week's win over the East Bay Martinez Panthers, the Presidio's own Red Raiders face their biggest hurdle on this year's gridiron list tomorrow. At 1400 hours the locals lock horns with the once-beaten Hamilton AFB Defenders at the air base in what should prove to be an action packed, hard fought tilt.

The only loss the Hamilton eleven has experienced was to the Camp Pendleton Marine Golds on 11 September. They made up for this later by crushing the NAS Alameda sailors 67-20.

The Defenders are noted for a strong running attack and are good on interception and kick-off returns. They also boast a lot of experience with the return of quarterback Dean Schneider, six-foot, 190-pound, four-year star from USC. Also in the returnee column are right end Don Stillwell, 6 feet 1 inch, 195-pounder and left end Dan Zimmerman weighing in at 185. Perhaps the most outstanding player for the opposition is Harry Hugasian, six-foot half back with four years' experience chalked up at Stanford.

Possible starters for the Defenders could include Henry Marshall at fullback, Charles Glover and Harry Hugasian in the half positions, and Dean Schneider in the quarterback slot.

The beginning line will probably have James Baggette at center, Julian Weisstagen and Robert Wheeler at right and left guards. Probable tackles are Thomas Driscoll, left, and Johnny Wheat, right. Starters at end spots could be Dan Zimmerman at the left and Don Stillwell at the right.

Average line weight for the flyboys is 203, average back weight 185 and over-all team average is a strapping 196.

The soldier adaptability to the two platoon system in last week's game will be put to the test again this week.

Starting line-up for the Red Raiders will include Anthony Mader at center, ends George Piggott and Gerald Wilson, Lawrence Wilkinson at fullback, halves will be Ed Colarossi and George Acton, tackle slots will see Frank Wilson and Hugh Jones in action and guards will be Anthony Rappa and Roscoe Morris. Agile Don Burroughs will be in his usual position as QB.

Right half Bill Cockrane will be out of tomorrow's play because of a bad back and Sherman Womble, left half, will be benched because of an injured ankle.

With the airmen two deep in position, Coach Steve Glick hinted this week that the Raiders will have to play their best game to win. In last year's Bay Area Armed Force championship finals, the Hamilton squad took the locals to the wall 52-0.

Raider Grid Schedule

- *Tomorrow—Hamilton at Hamilton AFB, 1400 hours.
- *Oct. 23—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 1400 hours.
- Oct. 30—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hours.
- Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hours.
- Nov. 13—Cal. Ramblers at U. C., 1440 hours. (prior to Cal-Oregon State game.)
- Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hours.
- *Denotes Bay Area A.F. League.

To injure or capture California sea lions except under permit or except from a boat when lions are damaging fish or gear is unlawful.

THE PIGSKIN MAMBO seems to be in vogue as ends Robert Rowe and Gerald Wilson caper together and quarterback Don Burroughs slams into one of the Martinez Panthers in last week's game. The opposition gained 88 yards passing but this is one aerial that was foiled as the Raiders went on to conquer 12-0.

Presidio's Raiders Dump Martinez Panthers 12-0, Ground Power Hailed

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

By Pfc. Ross S. Metcalfe
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Alert ball-hawking by Red Raider lineman Roscoe Morris in the waning minutes of the second quarter provided a 6 point bulge and added the initial spark that fired the locals to a rugged uphill 12-0 victory over the highly regarded semi-pro Martinez Panthers on the turf at Presidio Field, last Saturday.

Morris, a 170 pound guard from Ventura, California, smashed through to block a punt attempt by Sal Costanza, snaked the ball out of the ensuing melee and hustled 15 yards to paydirt. The conversion try was missed and the Raiders held a shaky 6-point margin.

Boasting fairly solid depth for the first time this season, the Raiders' defensive play sparkled from the opening whistle. Now, having scratched the Panthers' back, their defensive play became brilliant as backs and lineman alike rose to spike the visitor's offensive guns.

Prior to this, in the first quarter, Joyner of Martinez drove through far enough for a field goal try that fizzled. Panther Costanza took the punt on the 50 yard line and ran it in four downs to the 17 yard mark. On the next play, Gene Zampa took to the air near the end zone, but Presidio's 6' 4" Burroughs intercepted and was pulled down on the Raider 7 yard line.

The Panthers were given an intimation of Presidio ground power when, with time running out in the latter part of the first period, Ed Colarossi took the ball around his own right end for a tremendous 32 yard run as the whistle blew.

As the tilt went into the second frame, the locals held the opposition firmly. It brought on a desperation 25 yard punt, returned by George Acton. The local garrison ran out of territory soon after and Martinez tried another punt after failing to crack the Raider line.

Gerald Wilson, the 200 pounder from Fresno, followed this two punt later by a fabulous 48 yard punt which was returned to Raider ground on the 32.

Morris' touchdown ensued and then a 24 yard run by the Panthers was muffed by a fumble in the second quarter. An intercepted pass shortly after lost 20 yards for the Presidians with the opposition's Cellini going all the way to the Raiders' 34 yard line. A clipping penalty brought the ball back to the visitor's 32. Martinez ran into some bad luck when their QB was run down on his own 28 for a four-yard loss.

Presidio	Martinez
220 Yds. gained rushing	30
67 Yds. gained passing	88
287 Total yds.	118
7 1st downs rushing	3
4 1st downs passing	3
11 Total 1st downs	6
21 Passes attempted	24
8 Passes completed	10
3 Passes intercepted	4
3 Number of punts	6
31 Average yds. per punt	27
4 No. yds. punt returned	34
22 No. yds. kick-off returned	72
50 Penalties	40
1 Fumbles	11
0 Fumbles recovered	1

Burroughs took the ball on a bootleg play and with the aid of excellent blocking by Mario Masia scooted over the last 12 yards for the second Raider touchdown, giving the locals a 12-0 edge.

This second score was set up when the locals held the line at the start of the second half and forced the Panther eleven to punt. The kick was taken by Wilkinson and run 24 yards to start the steam-roller going for a touchdown charge.

Burroughs subsequently passed and ran around left end for two eight yard gains. A pass to Acton, the 5' 11" MP, netted the Raiders another 15 yards to put them in scoring position on the semi-pro 18 yard stripe. Burroughs then knifed over for the TD.

Joyner, the semi-pro's stalwart leg man, returned the kick-off 43 yards, and a 23 yard aerial was intercepted 2 downs later by Burroughs on the soldiers' 32. Right end Gerald Wilson took one of the play caller's tosses and smashed to the 45 but was brought back on a penalty to the 30. The combination of Acton and Wilson again pushed the Raiders within scoring distance before the end-of-the-quarter whistle.

One of the highlights of the action-packed fourth quarter was the way Colarossi took a kick and cut through the middle for a sensational 50 yard run. A penalty brought the ball back 15 yards but Lawrence Wilkinson, the six footer from Oconomowoc, Wisconsin, snagged one of Burrough's heaves to bring the pigskin within ten yards of paydirt.

An untimely interception by the Panthers' Lloyd gave the visitors another kick in the punt-fest, which was again intercepted minutes later. The Martinez onslaught then began in earnest and an end run put them only 3 yards from a much needed TD.

With the seconds ticking away Martinez fumbled, Presidio kicked, and the gun sounded before the East Bay eleven could threaten again.

The only serious injury of the tilt occurred in the closing minutes of the first half when Presidio's 6' 2", 210 pound Bob Rowe was mauled and suffered possible further damage to his already bruised left wrist.

The Lewis and Clark expedition was organized by the Army in 1803.

HITTING A STONE WALL would be easier, or so thought one Martinez Panther in last week's game with the Red Raiders. Aiding the Panther to the ground is Robert Rowe, number 20, a 210-pound, 6 feet 2 inches end from Fort Worth, Texas, who was seriously injured later on in the game. Also in on the haul-down is number 19, the 6 feet 3 inches 205-pound tackle, Ronald Treymane of Portland, Oregon.

'Frightful,' Says German News Man Of U. S. Football

Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany — So many American soldiers in Germany are playing and watching football games that a German newspaperman thought his readers were entitled to an explanation as to what the game is all about.

Following is a translation of a portion of his report:

"All men wore helmets and had the noble and also common parts of their bodies padded with leather and put in splints—each player a fortress.

"The judge blows a whistle, and they take positions like 100-meter sprinters and stare at each other hostilely. Another whistle—and now it gets frightful. At least seven men from each side run and jump on each other, their helmets crash; shoulders, arms and legs form a horrible knot with the five umpires in the middle.

"The four reserve men on both sides join the combat and jump on the knot. The whistle blows again, the catch-as-catch-can knot disentangles, the judge coming out from the very center of it and pointing to a spot.

"The egg-shaped ball appears from somewhere, the teams line up a meter distance from each other, a whistle blows, and for the continuation see above."

BAAF League Standings

The Bay Area Armed Forces (football) League made available the standings for both the BAAF All-Game Series and the Interleague Series this week. Team ranking to date:

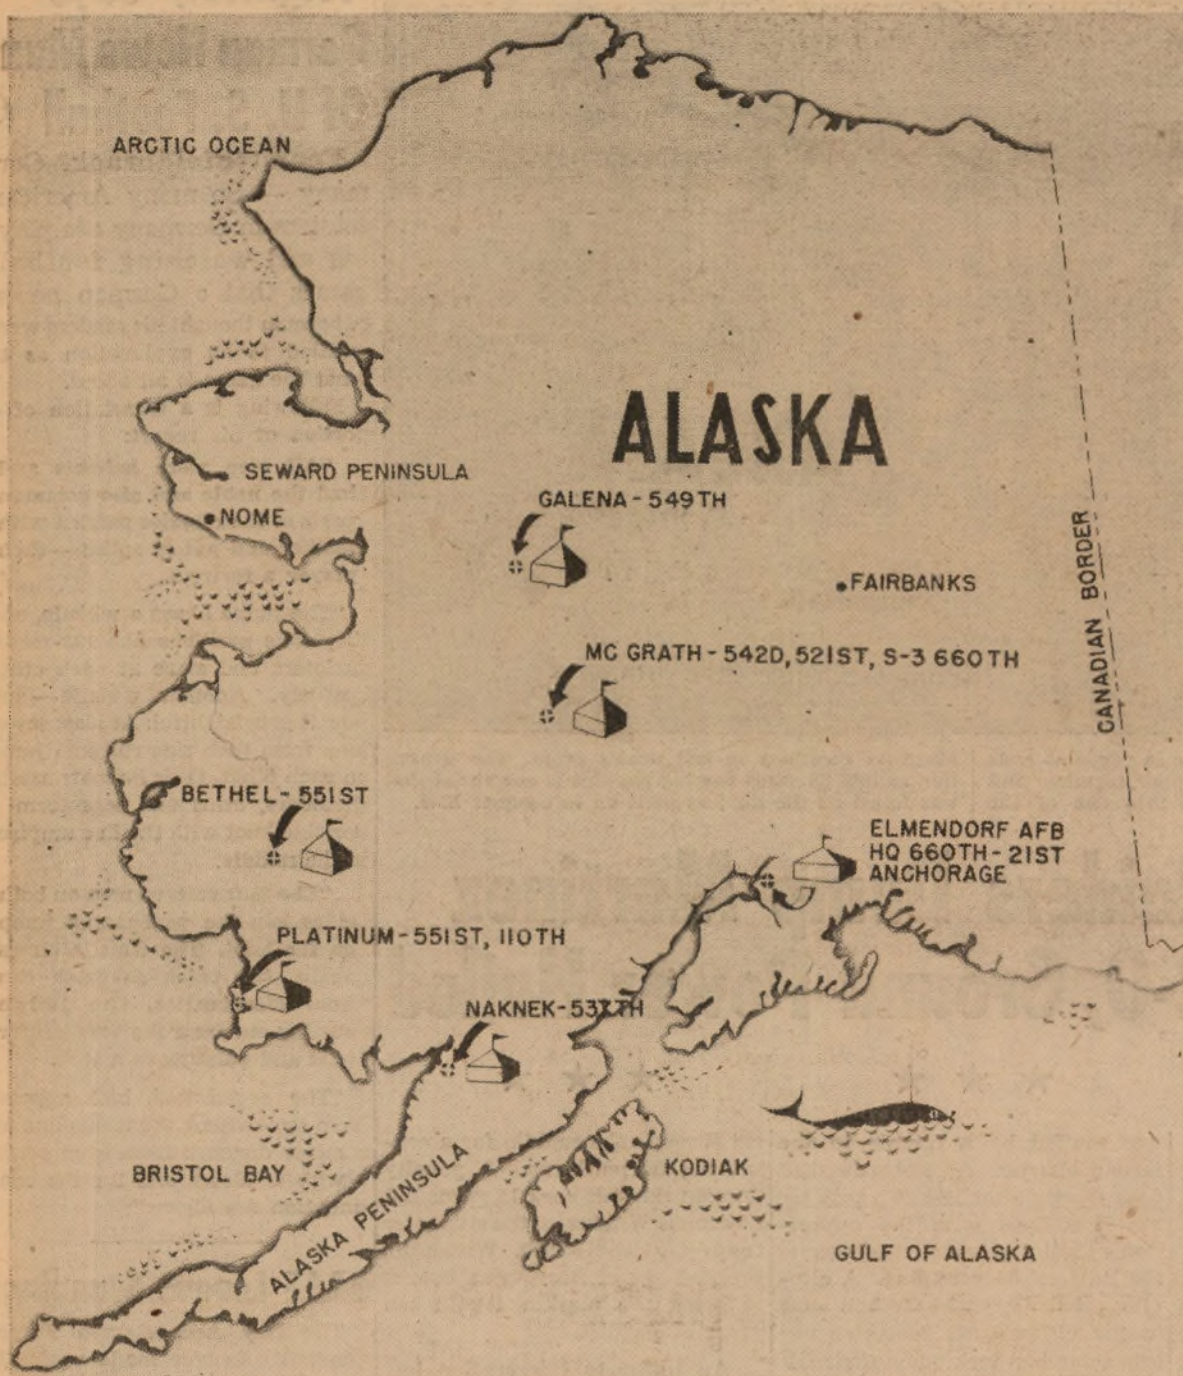

TEAM	WON	LOST
Hamilton AFB	4	0
Presidio SF	2	2
NAS Alameda	1	3
Treasure Island	1	3

Standings for the Interleague are:

TEAM	WON	LOST
Presidio SF	2	0
Hamilton AFB	1	0
Treasure Island	0	1
NAS Alameda	0	2

Rowe Out!

Left end Robert Rowe of the Presidio Red Raiders football squad will be out for the season due to injuries suffered in last week's game with the Martinez Panthers. The 6' 2", 210 pounder from Fort Worth, Texas, will be replaced in the left end slot by George Piggott.

BACK FROM ALASKA—Last group of personnel from the 30th Engineer Group's Alaska Survey Force came home recently to their billets in Fort Scott. The map above shows the area in which the local engineer outfit has seen summer action for the last five years, with the locations of the Group's companies marked.

Job of surveying the vast uncharted area of Alaska, nevertheless, necessitated the detachment of individuals hundreds of miles into the wilderness. Transportation was for the most part by the 30th's own Aviation Command.

30th Engineer Group Returns Home After Most Successful Survey Trip

The return last week of the last elements of the 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) from Alaska signaled the completion of the most successful season ever accomplished by that unit in its five years of operation in the northland.

This year's summer sortie into the rugged Alaskan waste commenced last April, when the 660th Engineer Battalion (Base Topo), a field element of the 30th commanded by Lt. Colonel Arthur T. Snell, departed from San Francisco. More than 100 officers and 800 enlisted men along with supplies and equipment comprised the bulk of the Task Force.

Their mission was to survey almost 100,000 miles of Alaskan territory in the short period of five months.

Upon arrival in Alaska, troops were deployed by air, ship and railway to the various base camps and field locations which were to be home for the better part of the summer. Since much of the territory to be surveyed was practically inaccessible, transportation in the interior was mainly achieved by air lift, with ships and railways transporting men and supplies to the more accessible coastal locations.

Eight units of the 30th Engineers accomplished the task of the survey mission. These units can be catalogued into four survey companies and four supporting elements. The survey component consisted of the 537th, 542nd, 549th and 551st Engineer Companies (Survey Base). These were supported by Headquarters 660th, the 30th Engineer Group Aviation Command, the 110th Transportation Platoon (Boat) and the 21st Engineer Company (Base Photomapping) Photo Evaluation Detachment.

The locations of these units were as varied as the specific work they performed. The survey companies were located at McGrath, Galena, NAKNEK and Bethel. The Aviation Command based operations at McGrath, the Boat Platoon at Platinum, and Headquarters 660th was based with the Photo Evaluation Detachment at Elmendorf Air Force Base. These locations served only as base camps for the various units and the job of surveying the vast uncharted area of Alaska necessitated the detachment of individuals hundreds of miles into the wilderness.

Several factors may be recognized as contributing to the success of the 1954 survey season. Increased air support contributed largely to the added area surveyed. Not only was support rendered by the Alaskan Air Command in transporting cargo and personnel throughout the territory, but the 30th's Aviation Command was the most vital of factors. A total of 57 helicopters and 15 light fixed-wing planes, both military and civilian, supported survey operations in such a way that an absolute minimum of time and expense were expended.

The AAC air-lifted some 450 surveyors out to the distant base camps from Elmendorf Air Force Base. In addition to this time-saver, the AAC paraded over 100 tons of POL, general cargo and rations to remote spots inaccessible by other means. Terrain that would have taken days to reach by ordinary means was approached in a matter of minutes by helicopter.

"M" boats manned by members of the Boat Platoon assisted in the movement of personnel and supplies along the coast line and inland waterways. All of this contributed to the 30th's success and made possible the culmination of survey operations over a month ahead of schedule.

The data produced by the 660th's surveyors, along with aerial photographs of the area, will be forwarded to Army Map Service and the U. S. Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey for compilation and reproduction of military and civilian maps.

The work of this season represents one of the largest and most comprehensive tasks accomplished by any comparable unit of the Armed Forces.

Cut-Rate Railroad

Kaiserslautern, Germany.—German railmen and U.S. Army Engineers have built a bargain-rate railroad.

Pooling their talents resulted in a $300,000 rail spur line built at only $150,000 actual cost. Cost of material for the four-mile line was paid for by the Germans, and the Army's soldier-engineers did the work.

15 Years Today!

Review, Air Show, Open House Mark Engineers' Anniversary

A review by Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, an Air Show, and Open House, are just a few of the activities that will take place at 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) Headquarters at Fort Scott today, as the local engineer unit celebrates its Fifteenth Anniversary.

Although the true birthday of the Group is 1 September, the celebration was postponed until the survey operations in Alaska were completed for the season and the last field elements returned to home ground.

Today's activities will begin at 0830 with a review of the Group by General Wyman at the Fort Scott parade ground. Following the review, the program shifts to Crissy Field where the 30th Aviation Command will present an air show from 1000 to 1100.

The pilots of the 30th will demonstrate flight formations and tactical approaches with fixed wing aircraft. Then the Group's helicopters will be put through their maneuvers which will find them doing everything but flying upside-down. It is these same helicopters that lift the surveyors to swampy areas and mountainous terrain while in Alaska.

After the air show an Open House will be held from 1100 to 1400 at Fort Scott. Displays will be presented by the 21st Engineer Co. (Base Photomapping), the 99th Engineer Co. (Base Reproduction), and also a showing of survey equipment so vital to the Engineers in their Alaskan and southern California operations.

Lunch will be served for the 30th personnel and their guests in the company mess halls from 1130 to 1300.

Beginning at 1315, movies and slides of this year's Alaskan operation will be shown at the Fort Scott Theatre until approximately 1430. This will be followed by a program of athletic events which will find 11 units of the 30th competing for a trophy traditionally presented to the winning outfit. A softball game on the Fort Scott diamond will pit the officers against the first three graders to wind up the day's celebration.

Since its arrival at Fort Scott 12 December, 1949, the 30th, distinguished as being the only Group of its type in the United States, has been engaged in an extensive mapping program of Alaska which has taken its troops to the northland for five consecutive years. When the surveyors are not in Alaska they can be found on the deserts of southern California.

While the survey units busy themselves with field work, the photo-mapping and reproduction units of the 30th maintain year-round operations at Fort Scott.

Alaskan Geography Offers Ruggedness, Beauty, All in One

The following descriptions of Alaskan areas in which the 30th Engineer Group surveyors are accustomed to working during the summers give some ideas of the combined ruggedness and beauty of the country.

McGRATH is located on the Kuskowim River. It is mainly swampland, or muskey, soil completely saturated with water, making foot travel impossible during the summer months. Gold is mined by both dredge and placer methods. Eskimos and natives trap salmon for food, their chief means of subsistence. Travel is mostly by river boat and barge during the summer, dogsled in winter. Caribou, moose, brown bear and beavers abound in the southeast sector of this sportsman's paradise.

GALENA, midway between Fairbanks and Nome on the Yukin River, is surrounded by hundreds of miles of combustible swamp and tundra. Although the 30th has surveyed over 10,000 square miles in this area, it is estimated that fewer than 400 people reside there. Moose, bear (brown and black) and millions of ducks abound in the flat, swampy terrain. Travel is by airplane or barge exclusively.

BETHEL, located in southwest Alaska, about 120 miles from the south of the Kuskokwim River, is an area noted for excellent trout and salmon fishing and is called "The Land of Many Lakes." The largest platinum mine in North America is the prime feature of the Bethel area. Boats and dogsleds are the chief means of transportation.

NAKNEK, a 21,000 square mile area in lower Alaska, is heavily wooded. It contains hundreds of small unnamed lakes and is spotted by high rugged mountain ranges. It is one of the most picturesque areas of Alaska. Moose, caribou, bear, and a variety of trout abound for the sportsman.

ANCHORAGE, the largest city in Alaska with an overall population of more than 39,000, is bounded by the beautiful Chugach Mountains in the north and is populated mainly by servicemen stationed at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base and Fort Richardson.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

From.....

Address.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

(Third Class Mail)

Two Cents

Postage

Defense For Air Attack Termed 'Substantial'

Local Officers Are Eligible for Coming Arctic Exercise

Field grade officers on the Presidio who wish to be one of eight Sixth Army officers to attend the annual arctic indoctrination winter field exercise that has been scheduled for the period 10 January to 5 February, 1955, are invited to contact Major Clarence B. Bacon, Post S-3, sometime in the coming week.

The purpose of the exercises is to afford training and experience in arctic winter operation to selected officer personnel. The field work will stress the influence of environmental factors and survival in the arctic.

Students selected must meet certain criteria. They must be members of the Regular Army or Category III in the Army Reserves, preferably of field grade in combat arms. They may be Department of Army civilian employees with comparable rank whose work has been associated with the arctic.

Applicants must be in excellent physical condition, and have a confidential security clearance.

When practicable, officers who have completed the summer arctic exercise will be given preference. Warrant officers are not eligible.

A BRACE OF DEADLY BIRDS undergo a last minute grooming before being moved into a ready-alert condition. Following a final inspection the Nikes will be positioned for instant use in repelling any surprise enemy attack against this vital defense area. A number of launching sites are nearing completion.

Sneak Raid Must Face Deadly Nike, Antiaircraft Fire

The San Francisco Bay Area is substantially defended against hostile air attack at the present time, it was reported today in a joint statement by Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, Presidio of San Francisco, and Major General W. E. Todd, Western Air Defense Force Commander, Hamilton Air Force Base.

Although the NIKE guided missile program is very new and the people of the Bay Area see the launching sites only in the process of completion, several sites can already launch their missiles from temporary positions. While the permanent sites are being rushed to completion, these temporary expedients for launching add greatly to the strength of the area's anti-aircraft defense. These defenses will continually grow stronger.

Bay Area antiaircraft defenses, which include 90mm guns as well as guided missiles, are manned by the 30th Antiaircraft Artillery Group with headquarters at Fort Barry, Marin County. They are part of the Western Army Antiaircraft Command, headquartered at Fort Baker and (Please turn to page 8)

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 21

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA

Friday, 22 October, 1954

BAT Makes Debut!

New Army Recoilless Rifle Lighter, Has Longer Range

LaCairne, Ohio (AFPS)—The BAT can defeat any tank in the world today. That's what the Army said as it recently put its new lightweight anti-tank weapon through a public demonstration at the Erie Ordnance Depot here.

The weapon is officially designated the Battalion Anti-tank (BAT) 106mm Recoilless Rifle System. Together with its mount and accessories, it weighs less than 500 pounds. It has twice the penetrating power and more than double the effective range of individual weapons previously available to the infantryman.

Firing any one of several modern projectiles that can penetrate the thickest armor any tank might use, it can accurately lay on targets more than 1000 yards away.

The BAT Rifle System is a combination of elements, all of which are fully coordinated. Its basic parts are the rifle and its special ammunition, plus a spotting rifle, mount and fire control equipment.

The weapon is mobile and can be transported on and fire from a jeep. It also can be fired from a ground emplacement. Less than a minute is needed to remove it from the vehicle for ground firing or to return it to the jeep.

The BAT makes the soldier a long-range sniper against tanks, the Army said. Its primary purpose is to provide a weapon at the battalion level to defeat armor, with a secondary role against personnel, gun emplacements, pill boxes and caves.

A .50-caliber spotting rifle, rigidly mounted on the BAT rifle tube, eliminates the need for a heavy and fragile optical range finder. The .50-caliber bullets have tracer and spotting elements that emit a flash of light and a puff of smoke on impact.

The rifle can be traversed a full 360 degrees on its mount and can be elevated through a range of minus 20 degrees to plus 60 degrees.

Ideas from Military, Civilians Save Army $15 Million in Year

Washington (AFPS)—The Army saved more than $15 million during the past fiscal year as a result of money-conserving ideas thought up during that period by military personnel and Army civilian employees.

Officials of the Army Employee Suggestion Program said this was the greatest saving achieved through utilization of brand new employee suggestions since the days of WWII.

According to the Department of the Army, civilian employees and military personnel contributed 13,200 acceptable suggestions during Fiscal Year 1954 for improving efficiency and cutting corners on duplication and waste. On the average, each suggestion proved to be worth approximately $1,136 to the Army during the initial 12 months in use.

Of the new ideas which were practicable, civilian workers dropped 10,744 into the box for an estimated first-year saving of $9,958,000. Military personnel came up with 2,456 good ideas. The latter are credited with saving $5,217,000.

NO ANSWER TO DIOR but a possible answer to an express desire from Army enlisted men for an off-duty dress uniform is this new creation now being opinion-tested in the field by Army Quartermaster. Master Sergeant Jack C. Wall, a recruiting supervisor, models the new-blue, one of two uniforms issued to the Sixth Army. An opinion poll will be taken later to determine the extent of acceptance garnered by this trial run of the proposed uniform.

More Housing!

The Army has approved the construction of 500 rental units at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. The housing project will be privately financed. It will be built on government-owned land and leased to the sponsor, who will be chosen by competitive bid.

Your Responsibility!

Crusade Continues, Increased Assistance Asked of Personnel

Have you given to this year's annual United Crusade as yet?

Probably not, since returns so far indicate only two per cent of Presidio personnel, both military and civilian, have done so.

Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, deputy post commander, in reviewing the situation said, "I urge the other 98 percent of our personnel both stationed and employed here, to shoulder their share of this community responsibility.

"Personnel here have always given generously to previous campaigns of this sort, and I feel sure that this will not be an exception," he continued. "Since we all benefit in one way or another from the myriad services performed by the agencies within the United Crusade, it is only right that we should help support them."

What does United Crusade include?

Practically all of the agencies that are dedicated to giving you service in one form or another.

It includes the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, the San Francisco Heart association, all of whom, through research and education, help to assure for you a more healthful future.

Then there are the agencies dedicated to recreation and leisure time activities, groups like the USO-United Defense fund which includes five agencies and the Community Chest which numbers among its 76 participating groups, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the YMCA's and the YWCA's, the CYO and the Jewish Community Center, in addition to many hospitals and welfare agencies. The American Red Cross is another participating member.

Each Crusade dollar is split into pieces so to speak, with a section of it going each to the assistance of needy persons, for support of character-building youth organizations, for handicapped, homeless and unwanted children, for hospital and clinical care, for service and recreation for personnel in the Armed forces, for research and disease prevention, for care of the aged and for disaster relief.

You can't afford to be without your United Crusade!

Give Once—the United way!

DOD Cuts 17,500 Unnecessary Jobs, Saves $95 Million

Washington (AFPS) — The Defense Department has eliminated more than 17,500 unnecessary and overlapping jobs in the military departments since the beginning of the year. The program has already saved the government an estimated $95-million annually.

A survey conducted by the Comptroller General spotlighted numerous positions which overlapped or had identical duties and responsibilities.

Unnecessary jobs are being eliminated by the Defense Department and the employees holding them are being shifted to other positions vital to national defense.

The Defense Department will report again to Congress on Dec. 15, and additional savings in manpower and money may be revealed at that time.

ALMOST A BRAIN describes this Control Recorder at the Oakland International Airport which registers upper air weather data from radiosonde balloons climbing high into the sky. Observing a chart emerging from the machine at the United States Weather Bureau, is Mr. E. P. Norwood chief of weather activities at the airport; CWO Paul Chong of the 30th AAA Group and Cpl. Raymond L. Kee, who has recently joined forces with weather bureau.

Local Meteorologists Merger Effects Better Economy, Weather Coverage

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Army meteorologists attached to the 752nd AAA Battalion of the 30th AAA Group joined forces with the United States Weather Bureau Station at the Oakland International Airport last week, consolidating the weather-gathering activities of both organizations so that more efficient operations can be realized.

The Army group which was formerly stationed at Government Island, Alameda, where their technical services were being partially duplicated by the civilian meteorologists at the airport. Each service had been sending aloft radiosondes and pibal balloons at about the same time each day.

Now that the organizations are functioning as a coordinated unit the number of radiosonde operations have been increased from two to four daily, thus making considerably more weather data available to the forecasting stations throughout the nation, and the armed forces.

Upper air data is vital to forecasting and the Oakland station is the only one in the Bay Area engaged in the work.

E. P. Norwood, meteorologist in charge of the Oakland Station; Col. P. H. Wollaston, Commanding Officer of the 30th AAA Group; Major Joseph Stoltz, operations officer of the 752nd AAA Battalion; and Warrant Officer Paul Chong worked out the details of the merger. CWO Chong is in charge of the Army meteorologists at the station.

To better effect the consolidation, the Army provided an automatic radio direction finder device, the Rawin Set, which eliminates the need for tracking the course of the radiosondes manually. This sensitive electronic machine follows the path of the radiosondes immediately after the balloon is sent aloft.

Radiosondes are small electronic units which receive upper air data, including temperature, barometric pressure, dew point humidity and wind direction, when carried into the air by helium-filled balloons.

Information obtained by the airborne mechanism is registered on the radiosonde recorder at the airport where meteorologists then chart figures at significant altitudes, temperatures and times.

Four times daily, at 0100, 0700, 1300 and 1900 hours, the balloonpropelled radiosondes are sent into the clouds. Depending upon the velocity of the wind, the balloons generally ascend at the speed of 1,000 feet per minute, and usually reach an average altitude of 60,000 feet; remaining in the air for about 48 minutes.

When the balloons attain the maximum height (and some have been recorded at 100,000 feet), a reaction takes place between the helium and the atmospheric pressure, causing the balloon to burst. As soon as this occurs a paper parachute opens and carries the radiosonde to the earth.

Since the point where the radiosonde will land cannot be controlled, a tag is attached to the device, bearing a message which urges the finder to carry it to a nearby postoffice where it will be sent to a signal depot in Lexington, Ky. Such a program saves the taxpayers' money, fewer new machines having to be purchased.

Although the merger has reduced the need for the use of the pibal balloons, there are still situations when the meteorologists must use them. In the event that any of the sensitive electronic equipment fails to operate, enough information can be acquired from the pibal balloon to merit its use.

By use of a visual measuring device velocity and wind direction can be obtained from the pibal balloons; but the humidity and density of the atmosphere cannot be obtained in this manner.

Because of the recent consolidation of the 30th AAA Group meteorologists and the United States Weather Station, not only will the Army and the nation's forecasting stations benefit, but also the other branches of the armed forces to whom weather information is so vital.

East Bay Reserve Group Seeks Attorney

Opening for a qualified attorney for the position of legal officer, with the grade of first lieutenant or captain, exists in an East Bay Quartermaster Reserve unit.

The group is Detachment 7, 6121 USAR Control Group, a Mobile Designation unit which meets the first and third Tuesdays of each month at Oakland Army base, and is authorized 12 paid meetings and 15 days active duty annually.

Interested personnel wishing further information may contact Mr. George Close at GLencourt 2-1812, Ext. 72.

SOLDIER FIRST CLASS, Cpl. Richard K. Jewell receives congratulations from Lt. Col. Keene Saxon, Commander 505th MP Battalion, after winning the organization's honored "Soldier of the Month" award last week. This contest was the eleventh in a series designed to enhance the standards and spirit of the 505th MP's.

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Walter F. Kelso is the newly assigned assistant Post Dental surgeon.

For the past three years, the colonel has been in Turkey, where he was the Dental officer for the Joint American Military Mission to Turkey.

With 12 and one-half years in the Army, Colonel Kelso spent 49 months in the European theater during World War II. He served first with the 349th Regiment, 88th Infantry Division in Italy, and later with USAF in Austria.

Decorated with the Bronze Star Medal, the Combat Medical Badge and three battle stars for his ETO ribbon, Colonel Kelso was graduated from the University of Minnesota, class of 1927, and was in private dental practice in Duluth, Minnesota, until his entry into the Army. Mrs. Kelso is here with the colonel, while their daughter is attending the University of Minnesota.

Major Frederick M. Seymour has become Engineer training officer, operations and training branch, plans and training division, Engineering section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

The past two years, the major has been in the Far East, the first year in Korea with the 552 Engineer Base depot, and the last year at Camp Yokohama, Japan, with the Post Engineer section.

Major Seymour entered the Army 12 years ago and spent the period 1943-1946 overseas, first in North Africa and Italy with the 5th Army, and then in the Philippines and Japan with the 6th Army.

Between his two overseas tours, the major served at Fort Lewis, Washington, for 18 months, and then spent four years as an ROTC instructor at the State College of Washington. Mrs. Seymour and their two children are now residing here.

Major Harlan E. Laughead has been assigned as supply and property officer for Headquarters, California Military District.

A veteran of 12 and one-half years' service, Major Laughead was commissioned in March 1943 after attending the tank destroyer Officer Candidate school at Fort Hood, Texas. He served in the Asiatic-Pacific theater from December 1944 to December 1946.

In June 1951, he went to the European Theater of operations, where he served as property officer for the Western Area command in Bad Kruegnach, Germany. In Munich, he attended the accountable officers school.

Major Laughead wears the Asiatic Pacific, Occupation of Japan and Occupation of Germany theater ribbons, and the Army Reserve medal.

Captain John H. Mason has assumed the duties of military personnel officer, Presidio of San Francisco. For the past six months, he served as adjutant of the 660th Engineer battalion, 30th Engineer Group, during its summer maneuvers in Alaska.

Prior to joining the 30th Group, Captain Mason spent 18 months as adjutant of the Engineer Replacement Training center, Fort Belvoir, Virginia.

Entering the service in 1945, the captain was graduated from the Infantry OCS at Fort Benning, Georgia, in July of that year. He joined the 71st Infantry Division in Europe, and, upon its deactivation in December, became classification officer, 1st Infantry Division, Regensburg, Germany, where he remained until his return to the States in October 1946.

Following two years on Reserve status, Captain Mason was recalled to active duty in August 1948, and again went to Europe, this time to Headquarters European command, where he was officer-in-charge of examining and computing agency No. 2 for testing enlisted personnel under the enlisted career guidance program. This program was suspended at the outbreak of the Korean conflict and the captain spent the balance of his three and one-half year tour as military personnel officer, Stuttgart Military post. He also attended one semester at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London under the "training within civilian agencies" program. His wife, son, 14, and daughter, 10, are now residing here.

Captain George D. Tozier is just back from an overseas tour in the Far East, a year each of which was spent with the movements division, Transportation section, 9th Corps in Korea, and, last, with the 64th Transportation Truck company, Fort Buckner, Okinawa.

Presently, Captain Tozier is assigned to the highway division, Transportation section, Headquarters Sixth Army. Part of his earliest Army career began here with the 250th Coast Artillery. He and Mrs. Tozier met here and were married in the Post chapel, resided on the Post, and two of their three children have been born at Letterman Army hospital. They are presently residing in Oakland.

In the Army for 14 years, Captain Tozier began his career as an enlisted man and was graduated from OCS at Fort Lee, Virginia, 11 years ago. From 1943 to November 1945, he was with the 1st Army in Europe, principally with the 431st Quartermaster Trucking unit and as S-3 of I Company, 59th Infantry, and he participated in five major campaigns.

In Panama in 1948, he served with the 92nd Transportation Truck battalion and he also served a tour at Fort Mason and as detachment C.O. of 9206 and 6901 SU at Oakland Army base. His decorations include the Bronze Star Medal, the Syngman Rhee Presidential Unit citation and the ETO ribbon with five battle stars.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

POLICE PRINCIPALS in the apprehension of a robbery suspect at the Presidio yesterday are (from left to right) Pfc. John F. McCoy, San Francisco Police Department Inspector Sgt. Max Girard, M/Sgt. Donald McDewell of the Provost Marshal's Office and Pfc. Ernest J. Brisbin. The two Company A 505th MPs while on KP duty spotted a car used by the person who robbed the Texaco Station on the corner of Geary and 34th Streets at gun point the 16th of October. Following up the alert KP's tip, M/Sgt. McDewell apprehended the robber.

Quick Thinking!

MPs Tab, Report Robbery Suspect During KP Routine

By PVT. JACK EVERHART

Bearing mute testimony to the fact that the 505th's Military Policemen are thoroughly trained technicians, speedy action Wednesday by Pfc. Ernest J. Brisbin and Pfc. John F. McCoy, both of Company A, resulted in the apprehension of a man suspected by the Robbery Detail of the San Francisco Police Department as having robbed the Texaco Service Station located at 34th and Geary Streets.

The two MP's were pulling KP duty at 1000 hours yesterday, when they noticed an automobile near building 106 that matched a description of a car on which they had been briefed on a recent patrol.

They immediately notified their Platoon Sergeant, SFC Edwin E. Bowe who in turn contacted M/Sgt. Donald McDewell, Military Police Operations at the Provost Marshal's Office.

M/Sgt. McDewell intercepted the car just as it was being driven away by the suspect. The man was turned over to the MP Investigations Branch and city police Inspector, Sgt. Girard. Robert Hopkins, the victim, positively identified the individual as the robber in the lineup which the investigators held.

A description of the robber and the vehicle was given M/Sgt. John Vekich Chief Clerk at the PMO at 0930, the 16th of October. The car was a dilapidated pre-war Ford with broken windows, a "Shell" sticker on the right side, a leaking gas tank, and possibly four bullet holes or dents in the body.

This information and the detailed account of the robbery was provided all patrols as a matter of routine operations.

Remembering this description, the two alert policemen emphasized by their deed that the MP is first and foremost an MP even while on KP.

Both young men were praised verbally by San Francisco Police Inspector, Sgt. Girard through Lt. Col. Keene Saxon, Commanding Officer of the 505th MP Battalion and Presidio Provost Marshal.

Reserve Conference

A planning conference with major USAR unit commanders and staff officers, chiefs of military districts and senior army advisors will be held the 10th of December this year at Harmon Armory, Presidio, in order to develop plans and a program for 1955 unit field training.

Headquarters MP Wins 505th Best Soldier Title In Eleventh Contest

"Soldier of the Month" honors for the 505th MP Battalion went to Cpl. Richard K. Jewell, who represented Headquarters Company in the traditional best soldier contest. Cpl. Jewell emerged from the examination as top man over competition from Cpl. Vincent D. Price of A Company, Cpl. Eugene D. Smith of B Company and Cpl. Robert Hemingway of C Company.

After being selected by their companies on the basis of job performance, personal appearance, and military courtesy, the candidates underwent a battery of tests on general and military police subjects, current events and motor maintenance.

The winner received a three-day pass and a personal gift from the battalion. Cpl. Jewell works in the Battalion S-3 Section.

Before entering the service, the Headquarters Company noncom attended San Jose State College and Stanford University, receiving a Bachelor of Arts in Business Administration from Stanford. His plans for the future, after discharge, include advanced study toward a Master's Degree at Stanford and a career in the sales management field.

25 years old and a native of Palo Alto, Cpl. Jewell resides in San Francisco with his wife and year-old son.

Many Critical Job Vacancies Open for Civilian Experts

Numerous positions in the grades GS-4 through GS-13 exist at the various civilian personnel agencies throughout the Sixth Army area.

At the Presidio of San Francisco the following urgent vacancies exist, all for male applicants: electronic engineer (guided missile), GS-13; mechanical engineer and sanitary engineer, each GS-11; security specialist, one each at GS-9 and GS-7.

At Fort Ord, the following are needed: transportation officer, GS-9; shorthand reporter, GS-7 or 6; training instructor, automotive, GS-6 and three female dental hygienists, GS-4. Fort Lewis needs an educational specialist at GS-9 and the Branch USDB at Lompoc, an elementary teacher at GS-7.

Vacancy exists for an engineering draftsman, GS-4, at Camp Irwin, as well as for two electrical linemen at WB-15 and a plumber at WB-12.

Fort MacArthur lists the following openings: electronics engineer radio, GS-11; radio news-writer, GS-10; mechanical engineer and electrical engineer, each GS-9; sound recording technician, GS-7; draftsman, one each at GS-6 and GS-5, and three fire control instrument repairmen, WB-20.

Numerous vacancies exist at Yuma Test station, among them: three combat vehicle design engineers at GS-11; transport vehicle design engineer, one at GS-9 and two at GS-7; ammunition inspector, GS-6; photographer, GS-5; motor vehicle dispatcher, GS-3; and electrician, industrial instrument repairman, refrigeration and air conditioning mechanic, heating equipment inspector and mechanic and artillery repairman, each at WB-15; sign painter, WB-12, and two each, industrial instrument repairmen, WB-10.

Winfield Scott PTA Sets Annual Halloween Bazaar

Hand-made Christmas gifts will be featured at the annual Hallowe'en bazaar set for Friday, 29 October, at the Winfield Scott school, Divisadero at Beach street.

From 1000 to 1500 the school auditorium will be the scene of a gigantic sale of mother-and-daughter aprons, doll-and-daughter aprons, doll clothes, dishtowels, cakes, pot holders, books, party favors, and school souvenirs.

At 1330, the schoolyard will be filled with ghosts, witches, goblins, and other strange characters as the children take over and parade in traditional Hallowe'en costumes.

Refreshment stands, popcorn stands, and cake and coffee sales will operate throughout the afternoon.

This celebration is the major fund-raising project sponsored by the Winfield Scott P.T.A. Revenue pays such expenses as school traffic boys' equipment, Christmas and promotion parties, baby sitters during P.T.A. meetings, and fiscal operations.

Chamber Group In Presidio Meeting

In a luncheon meeting at the invitation of Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, held this week at the Presidio Officer's club, members of the armed forces section of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, were briefed on several current happenings.

T. Douglas MacMullen addressed the gathering on recent studies made by the Defense department on the future of military service as a career.

Reports were also made on the Bay Area Ground Observer corps, the 2643rd Air Reserve center at Fort Miley and A Day with the 91st Infantry Division, USAR, describing a trip to Hunter Liggett Military reservation made by a group of San Francisco businessmen.

The group was also invited to hear an address to be given by General Matthew B. Ridgway, chief of staff of the Army, in conjunction with a luncheon meeting of the Commonwealth club at the Palace hotel on 5 November.

Free Tickets!

Free passes to this year's Grand National Livestock Exposition at San Francisco's Cow Palace are available to military personnel through the local USO Club, located at 166 Embarcadero, 966 Market Street, and 70 Oak Street, it was announced today.

Since opening night next Friday 29 October has been declared Armed Forces Night, the USO's have been given a total of 2,000 tickets to the performance through the courtesy of Nye Wilson, Exposition manager.

WAC Scores 94.3; Is Honor Student In CBR Instruction

Top student in a class of 27 completing the Chemical-Bacteriological - Radiological School at the Presidio last week was Pfc. Alice Gogas, of the WAC Detachment. Pfc. Gogas scored 94.3 out of a possible 100 in the school's series of tests.

Students who have completed the course are now eligible to serve their unit as CBR NCO's, teaching and demonstrating the new self-protective techniques which they have just learned.

The ace CBR pupil joined the WAC October, last year, and received training at Fort Lee, Virginia.

Before entering the service PFC Gogas attended the Foreign Service School of Georgetown University in Washington, D. C., for three years. A native of Washington, D. C., she works in the G-2 section at the Presidio.

Loan Fact Sheet!

Regulations and forms implementing the home loan provisions for career servicemen recently approved by Congress will be ready for distribution shortly. To qualify, a person must have been on active duty for more than two years and be in need of housing. Upon application, the serviceman will be issued a "Certificate of Eligibility" which may be presented to a bank as evidence of his being eligible for the benefits of the new act, provided he meets FHA requirements.

INFORMAL DISCUSSION during a break at the financial management conference held at Sixth Army Headquarters, brought together l to r: Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander; Lt. General George H. Decker, Comptroller of the Army, and Brig. General

Claude F. Burbach, Sixth Army Comptroller. General Decker was here for the two-day session to present details of the Army's plan to reorganize its financial control methods in order to improve financial setups at all levels of command throughout the world.

ASSIGNMENT IN KARACHI! Sergeant Rita Scudder (left) will be the first and only WAC ever to be assigned to the U. S. Military Mission in Karachi, Pakistan, shortly. She leaves Monday from Travis AF for a job there which will unite her with her husband, Sfc. Homer Scudder, enlisted aide to Brig. General William T. Sexton, Commander, U. S. Military Mission to Pakistan, and prior to that, Deputy Chief of Staff, Sixth Army. Shown presenting Sgt. Scudder with orders for the distant assignment is Lt. Colonel Elizabeth Smith, WAC Staff Adviser, Sixth Army.

Packin' for Pakistan!

Distant Karachi to be 'Home' To Presidio-Based Army Pair

A romance in khaki which began here at the Presidio in 1952 will continue shortly half way around the world in Karachi, Pakistan, thanks to the efforts of a general officer, the Director of the Women's Army Corps, and the WAC Staff Advisor, Sixth Army.

Sergeant Rita Scudder, AG mail clerk, Sixth Army, takes off from Travis Field this Monday for the first leg in a 7,800 mile jaunt that will unite her with her husband, Sfc. Homer Scudder, currently serving with Brigadier General William T. Sexton, Commander, U. S. Military Mission in Karachi, Pakistan.

The couple were married here at the Presidio in 1952. SFC Scudder left this August to accompany Mrs. Sexton and her daughter Elaine, on the luxury liner U.S.S. President Cleveland to Pakistan.

He is currently enlisted aide to General Sexton and will set up motor pool facilities for the general's staff in Karachi.

Sergeant Scudder is the first and only WAC to join the United States mission in Pakistan. Her assignment there started with a request from General Sexton through Colonel Irene O. Galloway, Director of the WAC, and was implemented by Lt. Colonel Elizabeth Smith, WAC Staff Advisor, G-1, Sixth Army.

SFC and Sergeant Scudder are one hundred per cent Army people, the pretty WAC explained this week prior to departure Monday. Homer Scudder, a career soldier, enlisted seven years ago from Dallas, Texas. Originally from Newhope, Pennsylvania, she started her Army life in the WAC training center at Fort Lee, Virginia, and subsequently attended Postal School in Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana. She came to the Presidio in July, 1951, as Postal Supervisor, and has headed the AG Mail Room, Sixth Army, since that time.

The Army's Third Infantry Division—the Marne Division—suffered more casualties in World War II than any other division. Its troops earned 34 Medals of Honor in 531 days of battle.

Army Circular Sets New College Credit For Officer Corps

Officers and Warrant Officers can now obtain a two-year college evaluation for service schools which they have attended, it was announced by the Department of the Army last week. Evaluation is also to be given officers having constructive experience equivalent to service school attendance.

Detailed information outlining the required procedures for receiving the evaluation can be acquired at the Post Education Center, Building 117.

All credit recommendations will be based on appraisal schedules listed in "Guide," a publication of the American Council on Education. Evaluation will be made by the Officer's Career Branch and the Adjutant General's Office.

As many as 24 undergraduate units will be given for the successful completion of the College GED test which is also available at the Education Center.

Officers, as well as enlisted men, needing additional college credits can enroll in on-Post classes which are offered by San Francisco State College. The new classes are scheduled to begin on or about the 15th of November.

The courses which will be offered include a study of U. S. Foreign Policy since 1945, an appraisal of great personalities in American History, and an analysis of the philosophies by which men direct their lives.

WACs Get Permanent, Fully Equipped Home At Ft. McClellan Center

Ft. McClellan, Ala.—The Women's Army Corps officially got its first permanent home 27 September when the WAC Center was dedicated here.

The new Ft. McClellan center is designed to accommodate 2,400 women. The buildings include a headquarters, 10 barracks, three consolidated mess halls, two school buildings, a service club for enlisted women and three WAC officer barracks.

All basic training for enlisted women will be given here, as well as basic and advanced training for officers, and clerical, NCO and OCS training.

Command Change!

The Army's Deputy Assistant Chief of Staff (G-1), Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Powell, USA, has been assigned command of the 25th Inf. Div. in Hawaii. He will take over as CG in mid-November. Also assigned to the 25th Div. is Col. George P. Welch, USA, the Deputy Chief of Army Information. He will command the division artillery. Brig. Gen. Theodore S. Riggs, USA, now a faculty member of the National War College, will succeed Col. Welch as Deputy Chief of Army Information.

Stolen Government property valued at $2,887,437 (M) was recovered by the Army's military policemen during the past year.

WHILE INSPECTING the nursing program at Letterman Army hospital this week, Colonel Ruby F. Bryant, chief of the Army Nurse Corps, chats with 1st Lt. Catherine Nixon, Air Force nurse from Mather AFB, currently attending Letterman's operating room technique and management course. Colonel Bryant, who was assigned to Headquarters Sixth Army until July 1951 when she was promoted to her present position, is en route to Salem, Oregon, where she will address the Oregon State Nurses convention on behalf of the Army Nurse Corps. Colonel Bryant entered the Army Nurse Corps in 1934 and has served two tours in the Pacific and Far East theatres.

"HOPE," UNITED NATIONS theme child for this year's observance of United Nations week, is nine-year-old Florence Pember of San Francisco, who is pictured here with M/Sgt. Emma Kyer of the Presidio WAC detachment, one of Hope's escorts during UN week. The child's birthday is coincidental with the celebration which will be climaxed on Sunday, United Nations day.

Week of Recognition!

United Nations Week Features Talk on Organization's Program

This is United Nations week throughout the world. Sunday will be officially observed as United Nations day with special activities being planned to highlight the observance.

Locally, a nine-year-old girl, Florence Pember, whose birthday is coincidental with UN birthday, was chosen as "Hope," the UN week theme child. She is being escorted to various observances in the city by a group composed of one member from each of the women's branches of the armed services.

M/Sgt. Emma Kyer, WAC, was chosen as the Wac escort. Sgt. Kyer is billeted with the Presidio WAC detachment and is assigned for duty at the Sixth Army Inspector General's section.

On the Presidio, servicemen will attend a lecture on the United Nations in the Post theatre Saturday morning at 0800. It will be presented by Dr. Lloyd Luckman, vice-president and coordinator of instructions at City College of San Francisco.

A member of the board of directors of the AAUN of Northern California and a director, World Alliance for International Friendship through Religion, Mr. Luckman has contributed numerous articles to the "Public Opinion Quarterly," and "World Affairs Quarterly." He has also acted as moderator on such San Francisco TV programs as "What's Your Opinion," and "Discovery."

This morning at 0800, troops in the Fort Scott area heard Mr. Garland Farmer speak on, "UN—It's Problems and Accomplishments." He will speak again at 1000 Saturday in the Fort Barry Theater.

Mr. Garland, who has had considerable experience in the field of international affairs, is presently serving as director, World Affairs Council of Northern California.

Fort Dix, N. J.—Established as Camp Dix July 18, 1917—was named after Major General John Adams Dix, a Civil War commander and former governor of New York.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and its sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Daughters to:

- 10 October: A/1C and Mrs. Isaac Burke, 566 Mtr. Veh. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
- 11 October: Cpl. and Mrs. Richard O. Drewett, A Btry., 740th AAA Miss. Bn., Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.; Lt. and Mrs. Lewis E. Raines, 566 AD Gp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
- 12 October: Capt. and Mrs. Robert H. Beck, Stu. Det., 6th Army, Stanford Univ., Calif.
- 13 October: Cpl. and Mrs. Gregorio Camacho, OAB, Calif.; ETCA and Mrs. James Hamblet, TI, Calif.
- 14 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Johnnie A. Butcher, Btry. C, 740th AAA Miss. Bn., Ft. Scott, Calif.; HN and Mrs. Richard A. McCollister, SF Naval Shipyard, Hunters Point, Calif.
- 15 October: Lt. and Mrs. Steven S. Glick, 6002 SU, PSFC; A 2C and Mrs. Richard D. Hiekkinen, 566 Fld. Maint. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; A 2C and Mrs. Lee Long, 566 Fd. Svc. Sqdn., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
- 16 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Sylvester Boyer, Co. C, 740th AAA Bn., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. John Webster, 9956 TU, LAH, PSFC.
- 17 October: Cpl. and Mrs. Robert L. Woodruff, 839 Trans. Co. (Term. Svc.), OAB, Calif.

Sons to:

- 11 October: A/2C and Mrs. Willie Allen, Fd. Svc. Sqdn., Parks AFB, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Artist Battle, 6901 SU, OAB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Cecil E. Brown, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC; S Sgt. and Mrs. Eddie L. Gourley, 84 FIS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.
- 12 October: Cpl. and Mrs. James H. Jamison, Hq. Det., 660th Eng. Bn., Base TOPO, Ft. Scott, Calif.; Sfc. and Mrs. Edward S. Therens, Det. 1, 6000 SU, PSFC.
- 13 October: Sgt. and Mrs. Charles J. Cooks, 44th QM Co., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; A/2C and Mrs. Donald Nelson, 1801 AACs, Ft. A, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. Harold J. Renfro, Hq. Co., 505th MP Bn., PSFC.
- 14 October: A/1C and Mrs. William L. Elliott, 1901-4 AACs Det., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Capt. and Mrs. Walter J. Hilderbrandt, MCSFA, 100 Harrison St., SFC; Capt. and Mrs. Jess Jeffries, 28th AB, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M Sgt. and Mrs. Paul E. Lawrence, 521st Engr. Co., Ft. Scott, Calif.; S Sgt. and Mrs. Paul M. St. Pierre, Ft. A, 1801 AACs Gp., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
- 16 October: Lt. Col. and Mrs. Donald J. Winslow, 9956 TU, LAH, PSFC.
- 17 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Jessie L. Walker, Btry. B, 232 Gun Bn., Ft. Cronkhite, Calif.

Fort Ord's All-Soldier Show at PSF Service Club

An all-soldier talent show from Fort Ord will be presented at the Presidio Service club Sunday, beginning at 2000. It will also be given at 1400 in the Red Cross Recreation hall for Letterman patients.

Among the participants will be Pvt. Darryl Hickman who will act as master of ceremonies, and Pfc. Ron Riddle, pianist; Pfc. Norman Lagorio and Pvt. Louis DiMaggio, accordianists; Pvt. Ron Hargrave, vocal guitar; Pfc. Louis Cutelli, musical comedy vocalist, and Pfc. Pat Daugherty, Irish tenor.

Pvt. Hickman, prior to entering the service, appeared in more than 150 motion pictures, and in addition to his emcee duties, will perform a series of song and dance routines.

Pfc. Riddle, called the star of the show, resided for some time in the Bay area and has appeared in numerous TV, stage and night club shows. He is fast becoming one of the promising personalities of our time, according to experts in the fields of comic routines and piano playing.

A pair of accordianists, Pfc. Lagorio who was featured with name bands in the Stockton area, and Pvt. DiMaggio who was with Horace Heidt's band for two years, will provide top musical entertainment during the show.

Vocally, there is Pfc. Cutelli, musical comedy vocalist, who was featured in such productions as, "Finian's Rainbow," "Naughty Marietta," and "For Men Only," who will appear with Pfc. Pat Daugherty, formerly a member of the San Francisco Opera chorus.

Further instrumental zing will be provided by Pvt. Hargrave and his vocal guitar. Prior to entering the service, he starred in numerous night club engagements.

Third Div. Meets!

The local outpost of the Society of the Third Infantry Division invites all former Third Infantry Division members to a dinner meeting at the San Remo Restaurant, 2237 Thuron Street, San Francisco, on Thursday, 28 October, 1954; at 1930 hours.

WINNERS AT POST level competition in the second annual all-Army Soldier Singing contest held Monday night at the Presidio Service club, are shown with the judges who acclaimed them the tops. The group includes l to r: Mr. Don Bishop, judge; Sfc. Thomas Myers, winner in the popular division; Mrs. Leonard Braden, judge; Cpl. Keith Brown, winner in the western music division; and Mr. Meyer Kahn, judge. Tape recordings of the winners will be entered with those from other posts throughout the Sixth Army area for the eliminations at Army level, and those winners will then be entered in the finals at D/A level.

Style Does It!

Western Ballad, Pops Vocalists Win in Post Song Competition

By Gloria Hetherington
Star-Presidian Feature Editor

"It all began about nine years ago when I bought a Hawaiian steel guitar," he said.

Well, one thing led to another and now it's come to this. Last Monday night, at the all-Army Soldier Singing contest preliminaries held in the Presidio Service Club, Cpl. Keith Brown walked off with first place honors for his western-type presentation of "Even Tho," and "In the Chapel in the Moonlight."

Which means that a tape recording of his presentation will be entered in the Sixth Army contest to compete with finalists from other posts in the Army area, to determine the top winners in each category for all-Army competition.

Also to be entered from Post competitions are Sfc. Thomas Myers who won in the popular class and the Presidio Male Choral group.

Contest judges included Mrs. Hilda Braden, producer of "Braden Follies;" Mr. Meyer H. Kahn, head of the voice department of City College of San Francisco, and Mr.

Don Bishop, director of the Post chapel choir.

Cpl. Brown, who has been stationed with the 16th Base Post office here on the Presidio for the past eight months, first enlisted in the Army back in April 1946.

Presently he has organized a band which he calls the "String-dusters," who are available for presentation of country and western music. Cpl. Brown does the vocalizing and the band members include, Sgt. Will Lesiker, fiddle; Cpl. William Basham and Pfc. John W. Spain, Hawaiian guitar; Pvt. Lee Jones, Hawaiian steel guitar, and Pvt. Charles Watson, bull-fiddle.

This is not the corporal's first work in directing bands. While in Korea, he organized and directed a group which presented weekly the "Harmony Hayride," which was staged in the Red Cross club in Pusan and aired over the local radio hook-up, AFRS Homestead. "The band also played in nearly every officer's club and NCO club in South Korea," Cpl. Brown said.

Prior to coming to the Presidio, Cpl. Brown completed a two and one-half year tour in the Far East, the first year of which was in Korea with the 2nd Base Post office, and the last 18 months in Japan with the 7th Base Post office.

It was also not his first tour in the Far East, since, following his first enlistment in 1946, he went to Japan to serve with the 1st Cavalry Division, 302nd Reconnaissance group, and later served with Headquarters detachment at Sugamo prison and finally with Headquarters company at Kobe base, until his release from service in June 1950. Cpl. Brown then reenlisted in May 1951.

Cpl. Brown's wife and their four and one-half year old son reside in San Francisco, while his father, William R. Brown, lives in Hayward.

Chorus Recruiting

Whether you sing tenor, baritone or base, your talents are needed to fill in the ranks of the Presidio Male Choral group. This growing organization has already appeared in several programs and the practice hours, two afternoons a week, are authorized even though held during duty hours. Those interested in joining may contact Sgt. Dale Reed at Post Special Services, Ext. 2002, or SFC Thomas Myers, 5125.

News in Books

Once again the shelves of the Sixth Army Library depot are lined with new volumes on a variety of subjects. If these are not available at your local library, they may be borrowed from the depot, Bldg. M-13, on a two-week basis.

"COMBAT ACTIONS IN KOREA," by R. A. Gugeler. A collection of accounts describing the combat actions of small Army units: squads, platoons, companies and batteries.

"COMMUNIST GUERRILLA WARFARE," by C. A. Dixon and Otto Heilbrunn. A study of Soviet guerillas and German anti-guerillas in action, their organization and tactics. Based on captured German documents and testimony of Wehrmacht officers and Soviet sources.

"THE AMERICAN CONCEPT OF LEADERSHIP," by S. L. Kiser. A retired colonel discusses the qualities of leadership and differences between dictatorial and democratic methods.

"HOW TO BE A SUCCESSFUL LEADER," by Auren Uris. The basic techniques of leadership—autocratic, democratic and free-rein, and when and how to use each of them.

"OUR ARMY ENGINEERS," by Irving Crump. The story and achievements of the United States Army Engineers in both peace and war.

"FOOD SERVICE FOR THE ARMY AND THE AIR FORCE," by Arthur Symons. A new edition of the book, "Army Food and Messing," which was last published in 1944.

"MAJOR PROBLEMS OF UNITED STATES FOREIGN POLICY," by the Brookings Institute. A survey of the present world situation, including a detailed analysis of the problem of American-Soviet relations.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 22 October — "Walking My Baby Back Home," with Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh.

Saturday, 23 October — "They Rode West," with Robert Francis and Donna Reed.

Sunday, 24 October and Monday, 25 October — (Cinemascope) "Garden of Evil," with Gary Cooper, Susan Hayward and Richard Widmark.

Tuesday, 26 October — "The Lawless Rider," with Johnny Carpenter and Frankie Darro.

Wednesday, 27 October and Thursday, 28 October — "Fire Over Africa," with MacDonald Carey and Maureen O'Hara.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 22 October—"The Promoter," with Alec Guinness and Glynis Johns.

Saturday, 23 October — "The Glenn Miller Story," with James Stewart and June Allyson.

Sunday, 24 October — "Walking My Baby Back Home," with Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh.

Tuesday, 26 October — "Fire Over Africa," with MacDonald Carey and Maureen O'Hara.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 22 October—"The Best Years of Our Lives," with Frederic March and Virginia Mayo.

Monday, 25 October — "Walking My Baby Back Home," with Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh.

Wednesday, 27 October—"Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 24 October — "Fire Over Africa," with MacDonald Carey and Maureen O'Hara.

Tuesday, 26 October — "Walking My Baby Back Home," with Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh.

Thursday, 28 October—"Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 22 October — "They Rode West," with Robert Francis and Donna Reed.

Saturday, 23 October — "Walking My Baby Back Home," with Donald O'Connor and Janet Leigh.

Sunday, 24 October and Monday, 25 October — "The Best Years of Our Lives," with Frederic March and Virginia Mayo.

Tuesday, 26 October — "The Promoter," with Alec Guinness and Glynis Johns.

Wednesday, 27 October—"The Lawless Rider," with Johnny Carpenter and Frankie Darro.

Thursday, 28 October — "The Glenn Miller Story," with James Stewart and June Allyson.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 22 October — Scrabble, 2000. Crafts room open.

Saturday, 23 October—Tony's mambo dance class, 1930; dart tournament, fire-side party and refreshments, 2000.

Sunday, 24 October—Fort Ord show time, 2000.

Monday, 25 October—Guitar instructions, JWB birthday party and bingo, 2000.

Tuesday, 26 October—Square dance, 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 27 October—Post partnership pinocle tournament, $5.00 first prize, jack-o-lantern party and bridge lessons, all at 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 28 October — Hallows'en dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 22 October — Birthday party, 2000.

Saturday, 23 October—Horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 24 October—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; Starlights of Marin county stage show, 2000.

Monday, 25 October—Crafts class with plastics, enameling, painting, ceramics and leathercraft, 2000.

Tuesday, 26 October — "Spook 'n Ghost" dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 27 October—Irene Weed folk dance group, exhibition and audience participation, 2000.

Thursday, 28 October—Square dancing, 2000.

Cinema Previews

"THE LAWLESS RIDER," F*. In the old switch, a man of law joins a band of outlaws in order to bring them to justice.

"DOWN THREE DARK STREETS," F*. The web-like inner workings of the vast FBI as it runs down a gang of car thieves, a gangster-killing and an extortionist, each in his own "dark street," is the plot of this exciting action drama from the best seller, "Case File—FBI."

F*—Family

Six American Presidents were National Guardsmen.

WHAT DOES AMERICA MEAN TO YOU?

$1000 GRAND PRIZE • TWENTY $100 PRIZES • MANY ADDITIONAL AWARDS

SUBMIT A LETTER OF NOT MORE THAN 500 WORDS ON "WHAT AMERICA MEANS TO ME" • SEND IT WITH YOUR NAME, RANK, SERVICE NUMBER AND ORGANIZATION TO AWARDS EDITOR, ARMED FORCES RADIO SERVICE, LOS ANGELES 38, CALIFORNIA.

Hamilton Defenders Maul Red Raiders 58-6!

RIGHT HALF ED COLAROSSO powers through for a first down in last Saturday's clash with the Hamilton AFB Defenders. Shown heaving Colarossi into the air is 223 pound right tackle for the Defenders, Thomas Driscoll. Being hashed over on the turf are number 28, "Swede" Holstrom and Eugene Hendrickson.

Might Proves Right, Airmen's Ground Power Crushes Presidio Soldiers

★ ★ ★
By Pfc. Ross S. Metcalfe
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Presidio's Raiders stepped out of the selling-plater class into the handicap bracket last Saturday and bumped head-long into a football Native Dancer. Multitudes of fractures, contusions and lacerations later, the outweighed, outclassed and badly matched locals had finished a dust-eating 58-6 lengths in the ruck of the Air Force's vaunted Hamilton Defenders.

The Raiders were given an indication of events to come when shortly after Hamilton took the opening kick-off, Harry Hugasian took a handoff, knifed around left end and ran 60 yards for what appeared to be the first TD of the game. A clipping penalty called the play back, but six downs later Hugasian again powered over and the score read 6-0 for the airmen.

Presidio's first try at offense started off with the locals marching right up the field but a bad pass from center shot over right end Gerald Wilson's head and the yardage loss enabled the flyboys to take over on downs on the Raider 13-yard stripe. It took just two plays and halfback Charles Glover scored again for the Defenders.

The locals took their second kick-off of the game and back Ken Brittingham, 190 pounder from L.A., drove 21 yards up the field for the first down. The soldiers ran out of wind on their own 45 and elected to kick.

The punt was taken by Hugasian on Hamilton's 42 and run 58 yards for paydirt but a penalty for illegal use of hands called the ball back to the locals' 36 mark. Glover slid through the middle of the line for a gain of 15 and two periods later on aerial by Dean Schneider to Hugasian put the opposition within six yards of a third Air Force TD. The drive was temporarily halted by a five-yard penalty but three plays later the passing team of Schneider and Hugasian struck home to put the score at 20-0 as the whistle blew.

As the second frame started, soldier Ed Colarossi took the boot and returned it forty yards. Hamilton ran over the Raider line for two successive yardage losses and Gerald Wilson from Fresno kicked the pigskin 43 yards into Defender territory.

★ ★ ★
Hamilton halfback Joe Brazil took a lateral and made a left end run for a 25-yard gain. Next play saw John Hurtz scoot around right end for a gain of 22. Four successive power plays through center placed the opposition on Presidio's 8 marker. An end around sweep by Hurtz struck oil and the score was boosted to 26-0.

Presidio	Hamilton
6 Total points	58
90 Total yds. rushing	411
42 Total yds. passing	60
132 Total yds. rushing and pass	471
5 1st downs rushing	14
2 1st downs passing	5
7 Total 1st downs	19
20 Passes attempted	11
9 Passes completed	7
1 Passes intercepted	0
166 Total yds. kickoff returns	25
9 Total yds. punt returns	18
5 Number of punts	1
33 Average length of punt	40
2 Fumbles	1
0 Fumbles recovered	0
30 Total yds. penalties	70

The Presidio attack ground to a halt in Raider territory forcing the locals to boot. Gerald Wilson, 200 pound right end, sent the ball sailing for 48 yards deep into Air Force ground. This time the Defender's attack bogged down and they were forced to boot. Shortly after, however, the airmen regained the ball on downs and charged 30 yards on a delayed buck. Subsequently a pitchout to left half gained 19 yards more which put them over to boost the count 32-0 seconds before the gun ended the half.

In the third stanza, a rejuvenated Red Raider squad took to the field. A quick pass to Gerald Wilson drove the ball to the Raider 42. Two plays later the locals again took to the air and George Piggott, six-foot left end from Chicago, stomped for 12 more. On the third down, a deep cross-over pass for 32 yards from Don Burroughs to G. Wilson netted the first, last, and only Red Raider touchdown of the contest. The score now stood 32-6.

Not to be outdone for even one TD, the Hamilton maulers plowed their way down field on the next kick-off, and in a succession of pass plays were able to knife deep into Raider territory down to the 20. An off-tackle slice sent one of the Defender third stringers through sideways to the 4-yard mark. A quick drive through center and the score was 38-6.

★ ★ ★
The next kick-off to the Raiders was taken in the end zone so the ball moved up to the 20-yard stripe, only to be moved back to the 5 on a clipping penalty. The Raiders punted and the opposition was brought down on the Raider 45 mark. A pitch-off to right half sent Hugasian scurrying to the locals' 15-yard line before he fumbled as the whistle blew.

With the field changed, the Hamiltonians needed only three plays to boost the score to 45-6.

Ralph Biddick, who played outstanding ball in the last half of the game, returned the next kick-off to the 30 but a clipping penalty took the ball back to the 15. An unfortunate fumble on the next play raised the score to 52-6.

The next kick-off was taken on the 12 and a pass play followed that was intercepted by airman Tillinghast and in three plays the score board read 58-6.

The last kick-off received by the locals started a chain of plays that surprised everyone. Van Luvan, in a series of three power plays, ran the ball to the Air Force 25 mark, just before the gun signaled the finish.

	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	Final
Presidio	0	0	6	0	6
Hamilton	20	12	6	20	58

Veterans' Shelter at Kezar Stad. Dedicated Sunday for Hospitalized

A $51,000 Veterans' Shelter at Kezar Stadium will be dedicated this Sunday during the half-time period of the Detroit Lions-San Francisco 49er game.

The Veterans' Shelter, said to be the first facility of its kind to be constructed in a stadium in this country, is a roofed platform with convenience facilities constructed over the bleachers at Gate 17 on the north side of Kezar Stadium.

It has a wheelchair capacity of 35 and is reached by a direct elevator lift up to the platform from the ground level of the stadium's corridor floor.

It is designed exclusively for hospitalized members of the armed services, and will be occupied by patients of various Bay Area Army and Navy hospitals.

Red Raiders to Bump Heads With Edwards' Wings

The Presidio's Red Raiders, battered but unbroken, have regathered their troupe for Saturday's tilt with the Edwards AFB Wings, whom they tramped over last year and are favored to take again. The game will take place at 2000 hours at Edwards and with the Wings overconfident after witnessing last week's Presidio bash with Hamilton, it should prove to be an interesting contest.

The Edwards airmen haven't won a game all year and have tallied a total of three in the point earned column. Their first tilt with Bakersfield JC turned out in favor of the JC's 33-3. The second exhibition with the Pendleton Marines ended disastrously 78-0 in favor of the jungle bunnies. Against the Mugu sailors the Wings lost 6-0 and the Long Beach swabbies took them 14-0.

Some of the probable starters for the Wings will include Marion Sims, halfback, Little All-American from Santa Rosa weighing in at 175. Nick Aubert will start at quarterback and six-foot, 230-pound Wallace Anger will fill one tackle spot. Tackle John Church, 210 pounder from Ellensburg College in Washington, will also be on hand along with Lyle Olsen at center.

The Edwardsmen play by NCAA rules and plan to use the single platoon system running a split "T" formation.

The average line weight for the fly boys is 205 pounds, the backfield average is 180.

John Snyder of the 21st Engineers will be out of play for the rest of the season having suffered a broken left hand in the Hamilton maul.

Raider Grid Schedule

*Tomorrow—Edwards AFB at Edwards, 2000 hrs.
Oct. 30—Martinez at Martinez, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 6—Petaluma at Petaluma, 1400 hrs.
Nov. 13—Cal. Ramblers at U. C., 1440 hrs. (prior to Cal.-Oregon game).
Nov. 20—Coronado at PSF, 1400 hrs.
*Denotes Bay Area A. F. League.

Basketball Clinic Begins at Mare Island, Aids All

In order to familiarize and indoctrinate military coaches, players, special services officers, sports officers, athletic officers and directors of all Armed Forces Athletic Activities in this area on the fine points of basketball, the Bay Area Armed Forces Basketball Clinic has been instituted.

The clinic will go over very thoroughly the rules, new trends, systems and patterns of basketball, which should improve the caliber of competition in the BAAF league.

The Coordinators of the BAAF Athletic Competition will sponsor the clinic at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard commencing at 0945 hours on 20 October 1954.

The clinical head is Mr. Howie Dallmar, the very successful and widely-known new head coach at Stanford University. He and his staff will conduct the clinic in behalf of the Armed Services in this area.

Full House!

All bowling leagues on the Presidio are full and have closed the doors to any new members. However, there is a new league being formed entirely of Presidio personnel that will bowl at Fort Mason. If you're interested, contact 1st Lt. Herbert M. Youngdahl, building 122, extension 3968.

Five more teams are needed to start another eight-team league.

Dick WILKINSON

FORMERLY OF MARQUETT UNIVERSITY, NOW IN HIS SECOND YEAR WITH THE RED RAIDERS, IS PROVING TO BE A VERY POTENT THREAT IN THE PRESIDIO ATTACK

HE PLAYED 2 SEASONS AT FULLBACK FOR THE Cuddahay Packers

DICK WEIGHS 190 POUNDS, & IS 6 FEET TALL

WITH ANOTHER VICTORY UNDER HIS BELT JOE RED RAIDER FEELS THAT HE CAN GET A GOOD COLLECTION OF SCALPS THIS YEAR

NEXT EDWARDS AFB

Barons Lead!

Van Ausdall, Swartz, Engels Post Top League Scores

The Barons shot well ahead of the pack to lead the standings in the Pacific Bowling League for the week with their 4-0 smash over the Pinsplitters.

Top Baron was Van Ausdall who rolled 201 high game and 158 average. Lead tally for the losers was Eaveyear's 162 high and 146 average.

The Qmers crushed the Missileers 4-0 also with Qmer J. Johnson turning in 209 high game and 135 average. Missile man Williams bowled 156, 133.

The Vets took the third 4-0 victory of the evening by defeating the Buckpassers. Head meat inspector was Alhadeff who spun 187 high game and 172 average. Loser Farnsworth rolled 162, 139.

High individual score for the league this week went to J. Johnson (209). High individual series was taken by Van Ausdall (494).

The newly instituted WAC Bowling League has three teams tied for first place each with seven wins against 1 loss.

Team No. 2 beat team No. 1 3-1. No. 2's Engels is tops with a roll of 200 high game and average of 182. The loser's leader is Ruffa who turned in 146, 133.

Team No. 5 rolled over Team No. 3, 3-1. The winners spark was furnished by Baker's 162 high and 150 average. Defeated Ellsworth bowled 127, 111.

The Eastern Bowling League's new league leader is the 56th MRU No. 2 who tied 2-2 with the Harbor Defenders this week. Nichols of the machine accountants pinned 476 series and 167 high game. Defender Cardwell bowled 440, 163.

The Keystone Kops and the Slow Rollers also split four lines 2-2. Big gun for the Kops was Schultz's 486 series and 168 high. Roller Cox, Ro spun 467, 179.

6300 ASU lost to the Baker Company MPs 3-1 with Adair the fire for his five with 493 series and 202 high. MP Swartz pinned 556, 203.

Team No. 1 of the 56th MRU outplayed and outpinned the 21st Engineers 4-0. Malinski of the 56th rolled 564 a series and 225 high game with Drow of the construction men bowling 456, 174.

With seven weeks to go for the Mixed Bowling League, the Hot Shots pushed to the top of the league list after their 4-0 win over the Ords. Hottest Shot is Thrapp who pinned a 200 high game and 145 average. Spark for the Ords was D. MacDonald's 191 high and average of 160.

The Lofters outrolled the Tag Indians 3-1. Winner Alexander pinned 225 high game and average of 158. Loser A. Rosenberg scored 180, 139.

The Spokes defeated the High Lows 4-0. Top Spoke was Yoshino who bowled 214 high and 166 average. Loser Piombino rolled 1954, 151.

The King Pins tied 2-2 with the Slow Rollers. Power for the Pins was Sass' 171 high and average of 123. Royster highed for the Rollers with 178, 137.

Only two scores were available at press time for the Western Bowling League. The Flashers bested the Topos 4-0. Coffman of the victors bowled 526 total and 187 high game. Loser Schubert rolled 527, 203.

The 6400 SU Recruiters smashed the 6th Army Engineers 4-0 with re-upper Sakurada pinning 508 series and 174 high. Nielson of the constructors turned in 408, 145.

BAAF League Standings

The Bay Area Armed Forces (football) League standings for both the BAAF All-Game Series and the Inter-League Series are as follows:

Team (All-Game)	Won	Lost
Hamilton AFB	5	0
Stanford Braves	4	0
Calif. Ramblers	3	3
Treasure Island	2	3
Presidio	2	3
Alameda NAS	1	4

Team (Inter-League)	Won	Lost
Stanford Braves	3	0
Hamilton AFB	2	0
Calif. Ramblers	2	0
Alameda NAS	1	3
Presidio	1	3
Treasure Island	0	3

Little League Meeting For Parents, Offspring

There will be a meeting of parents at 1900 hours 28 October, 1954, in the Fort Scott Theater who are interested in enrolling their children in the Little Baseball League, soon to start on post.

The age group for the boys is between 8-12.

The main purpose of the meeting is to test the interest of both parents and prospective Little Leaguers in having a little league club on post, since it will take active participation by both to build a team and field it.

Heaviest Blue Marlin was caught in British West Indies—742 lbs.

ZEVEIMAN IS ABOUT TO HOOP another one in as the game between the Baker MPs and HQ. Co. 6th Army really gets going. Kono and Yoshino of Headquarters try in vain to stop the impending bucket as Miller, Evans and Parker charge in for the rebound. The Baker boys are undisputed American Division kings of the maple deck at present and overcame the Headquarters quintet 88-36.

Baker MPs Lead!

Intra-Mural Basketball Games Go Into Third Week of Play

Baker Company Military Police bounded ahead of the rest of the American and National Division intra-mural contenders this week by registering their fourth straight win against no loss.

High American Division score of the week occurred this Monday when the B. Co. police-men drove HQ. Co. 6th Army into the maple deck 88-36. MP Wilson again sparked his five by a bucket of 21 points. Headquarters Thompson sank 17.

The previous Tuesday, 102nd MRU outdrilled the 99th Engineers 52-49. Construction man Smart heaved 24 and machine records' Stonable dunked 12.

The same evening, 542nd Engineers squeezed by HQ. Co. 6th Army 47-46. Headquarters' Woodman high pointed for his group with 18 and builder Bauer tanked 15.

On the following Thursday, the 99th Engineers outbucketed 46th Ordnance 52-49. Lead casabaman for the earth movers was Smart who fired 19 counters. Tops for the losers was Washburn's 16.

The 315th Engineers pile driven over the 9th AAA 50-30. Top dunker for the 315th was McFerry with 19 points. Headquarters' Griffin looped in 14.

Last game for the evening saw the 21st Engineers scoot by the 102nd MRU 54-48. Catrope of the construction gang and 102's Stonable both topped their quintets with 12 sinkers.

This Monday, HQ. Det. 9206 from Fort Mason outsalvoed the 102nd MRU 44-34. Head hoopster for the Masonites was Arron who fired in 13. Stonable was again the marksman for his team with 16 counters.

Next game had the 542nd Engineers slide by the 315th Engineers 55-52. 542nd big gun was Aires' 17 hoops and Angrad bucketed 15 for the 315th.

Outstanding game in the National Division occurred Wednesday of last week when the 551st Engineers outplayed Det. 1, 6002 SU 57-40. Top casabaman for the construction gang was Hunt who tanked 27, Harris of the deuce shot 19.

The previous night, the 549th Engineers rolled over the Hill-Toppers 47-31. Builder Sandberg big dunker shooting 19 points and Ufherl sinking 22.

On Friday, nimble Don Burroughs high pointed for his five with 25 hoops to help the Det. A, 6002 SU sharpshooters out-sink the 549th Engineers 51-42. Sandberg of 549th sank 18.

The Hill-Topper quintet outplayed and outshot HQ. Co. 505th 53-39 in the last game of the week. Hill-Topper Lindstrom again high pointed for his group with 13 and MP Schaeffer tanked 12.

Standings:

AMERICAN DIVISION
Team	Won	Lost
Co. B, MP 505th	4	0
46th Ord.	3	0
542nd Engrs.	3	1
9206 Ft. Mason	2	2
HQ. Co., 6th Army	2	2
315th Engrs.	2	2
21st Engrs.	1	2
102nd MRU	1	3
99th Engrs.	0	3
HQ 9th AAA	0	3

NATIONAL DIVISION
Team	Won	Lost
Det. A, 6002 SU	3	0
30th Engrs.	3	0
Hill-Toppers	2	1
551st Engrs.	2	1
549th Engrs.	2	1
Det. 1, 6002 SU	1	2
537th Engrs.	1	2
16th BPO	1	2
HQ 505th MP	1	3
HQ 660th	0	3

PARKER TANKS ONE for the B MPs in Monday's game with Headquarters Company Sixth Army. Ready to grab the casaba are Pinnich and Wilson of the police and Rober of Headquarters. Wilson was the high pointer for the MPs in the above dribbler with a total of 21 points tossed in.

Bowling Standings

WESTERN
Team	Won	Lost
Tags	17	7
HQ Co. 6th Army	16	8
Flashers	16	8
99th Engineers	12	12
6400 SU	14	10
Sleuths	10	14
HQ 6th Army Engrs.	9	15
Topos	2	22

EASTERN
Team	Won	Lost
56th MRU No. 1	24	8
Co. B, 505th MP	21	11
21st Engrs.	21	11
Keystone Kops	17	15
6300 SU	14	18
56th MRU No. 2	13	19
Slow Rollers	12	20
Harbor Defenders	6	26

WAC
Team	Won	Lost
Team No. 2	7	1
Team No. 5	7	1
Team No. 1	7	1
Team No. 4	4	4
Team No. 3	1	7

MIXED
Team	Won	Lost
Hot Shots	25	11
Lofters	24	12
Tag Indians	18	18
Spokes	16	16
King Pins	17	19
High Lows	17	18
The Ords	15	17
Slow Rollers	11	21

PACIFIC
Team	Won	Lost
Barons	8	0
Fly Boys No. 2	4	0
Qmers	4	4
Vets	4	4
Fly Boys No. 1	2	2
Pinsplitters	3	5
Buckpassers	2	6
Missileers	1	7

NATIONAL
Team	Won	Lost
Det. 1, 6002 SU	19	9
Hill-Toppers No. 3	16	12
Maroos	16	12
Hill-Toppers No. 2	14	14
6513 SU	14	14
Hill-Toppers No. 1	12	16
HQ 6th Army	12	16
102nd MRU	9	19

SKILLED ORDNANCE TECHNICIANS are the life-blood of the versatile Nike. Here highly-trained Army experts test delicate missile mechanisms to insure accuracy in operation. The Nike is electronically guided to its target. Numerous sites are now under construction throughout the nation. Defense and military officials have approved the Nike as the best current answer to any possible sneak air attack.

Launching Sites Near Completion

(Continued from page 1)

soon to be commanded by Major General Hobart Hewett, veteran antiaircraft artilleryman. Major General Francis M. Day is now in command.

The Army's antiaircraft defense here supplement and come under the overall direction of General Todd's Joint Western Air Defense Force, which also includes operational control of fighter units of the Air Force and Navy.

Supplementing defense of the active Army units are California National Guard antiaircraft artillery units which are at present manning many antiaircraft sites on a skeleton basis, ready for action within a matter of hours.

The manning of NIKE sites in the Bay Area on a 24-hour basis adds the nation's newest antiaircraft missile to the combined fighter-gun defense which has been in operation on a round-the-clock basis for the past three years.

The complex array of electronic guided missile equipment emplaced here is manned by personnel who have been thoroughly trained in its use at the Antiaircraft and Guided Missile Branch of The Artillery School, Fort Bliss, Tex.

The role of antiaircraft is to support Air Force fighter-interceptors and to furnish close-in defense against any enemy aircraft which might penetrate the fighter defenses furnished by elements of the Western Air Defense Force. Capabilities of these units have been greatly increased due to the greater range and accuracy of the NIKE missiles.

NIKE has been aptly described as the "can't miss" weapon which is loaded with high explosives and runs on a radar track. An enemy plane approaching a NIKE defended area is detected and tracked electronically. Missiles are ready in vertical positions on the launching racks. While the enemy plane continues to be tracked, the missile control mechanism, stabilization and navigational gear are checked. As soon as the plane comes within the missile's lethal range, the NIKE is launched and attains supersonic speed within seconds. Guided by remote control, the missile intercepts the enemy plane and explodes.

Guided missile installations in the Bay Area are being prepared by contract labor under the supervision of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. The batteries will operate out of concrete magazines built entirely below ground. Each structure will contain explosive-proof launching control rooms, storage and maintenance facilities for missiles and elevators for raising and lowering the missile to the surface for firing.

The elevator receives a missile in horizontal position for storage. As it is brought to the surface, the missile is automatically raised to vertical firing position. It may be fired from the elevator platform or be moved to auxiliary launching racks.

Once the missile is "locked on" the radar image of an approaching bomber, NIKE soars unerringly to its target. It can out-manuever both bombers and the swiftest jet fighters.

In order that citizens of the Bay Area may be assured of the best protection possible, air defense units are not merely standing by waiting an enemy attack. Instead, frequent training exercises are held involving units of Sixth Army, Western Air Defense Force, Western Army Antiaircraft Command and the Navy's Western Sea Frontier.

These exercises are designed to maintain peak efficiency in combat units as well as insure a smoothly operating joint staff, which functions within a restricted area of the presidio of San Francisco. The exercises are in addition to the many alerts called whenever unidentified aircraft enter the air defense system.

ARMED AND READY to defend a vital defense area is this deadly Nike pictured at a local launching site. A number of these air-defense sites are in various stages of completion and already sufficient progress has been made to guarantee adequate defense against any immediate surprise attack. Sites will be manned on a 24-hour basis.

Rip Snorters!

Ruining Field Uniforms Is Job Of Select Group Of Soldiers

Fort Lee, Va.— Eighteen of the toughest young soldiers in the U.S. Army get out of KP the hard way at the Quartermaster Research and Development Field Evaluation Agency here.

They crawl, climb, run, jump and slide six times daily through 1,700 feet of man-made obstacles that simulate the most rugged combat terrain.

All this comes under the heading of work—and hard work it is. The soldiers are testing fabric, design and construction of experimental Army clothing under the roughest possible conditions on the combat course.

Since the course is just as hard on the men as it is on the clothing they wear, the Army gives the test compensatory privileges.

They do not stand guard or have KP duty. They get weekend passes on request, and their work-day ends at noon since they begin their two-mile obstacle race in the cool of early morning.

This is how the soldier on the combat course earns pay and privileges:

When the whistle blows, he picks up his rifle, runs ten yards, then throws himself into a pit of sand. The whistle blows again and he crawls up a 20-foot-high embankment that slopes at a 70-degree angle.

Then—at intervals of 30 seconds—the soldier worms across a railroad bed, plunges head first down a steep cobblestone slope, crawls through gravel pits and into trenches, drops into shell holes, inches through concrete culverts and jumps various barriers.

There are 12 obstacles on the course and the soldier has 30 seconds to go from one to the next. If he is fast, he gains a few seconds of rest between obstacles.

Soldiers assigned to this job are no shorter than five feet, six inches; no taller than five feet eleven. They range in weight from 135 pounds to 165 pounds and must be in excellent physical condition. None can be over 21 years of age, as this is no life for "old" men and selection is a matter of survival of the fittest. Dozens of candidates are eliminated before the test group is established.

Dependents Travel

Dependents who are beyond the end of the sixth calendar month of pregnancy will not be permitted to travel on ships of the Military Sea Transport Service, it was announced this week by the Adjutant General.

Those dependents who are at, but not beyond, the six months limitation may be permitted to travel, provided they are embarked within two weeks after their arrival at a port.

Crusade Continues

Personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts were reminded that the United Crusade's annual drive for funds is presently being carried out here. Each person, both military and civilian, will be contacted, and assistance in this most worthy drive to aid humanitarian institutions is requested. This year's goal has been set at $6,150,000.

1st New Housing Under DOD Plan Goes to Ft. Lewis

Washington—An 800-family housing unit costing $10,000,000 will be built at Ft. Lewis, Wash. It will be the first Army project to be undertaken under the new Defense Department family housing program to improve living conditions at military installations.

Construction of the new unit, which will be under the supervision of the Army Corps of Engineers, is expected to take 18 months. Advertising for bids will start near the end of this year.

The project is the first to be announced as part of the 12,000 family housing units authorized by Congress at its last session for the Army, Navy and Air Force at a cost of $175 million. An appropriation of $75 million was passed to build the first phase of the program.

The Air Force is expected to get about half the $75 million and the Army allocation is slightly more than $26 million. Navy and Air Force housing officials are drawing up lists of bases to be authorized new housing units. Other Army sites, in addition to Ft. Lewis, have not yet been approved.

Guard Meeting

Sixth Army Headquarters will conduct a conference of State Adjutants General, commanders and staffs of major National Guard Units the 3rd of December this year at the Presidio. Those attending will be:

- Senior Army Advisors.
- Division Advisor.
- Division Artillery Advisor.
- Brigade Advisor.
- Separate Regimental Advisor.
- Separate Group Advisor.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

From.....

Address.....

.....

Name.....

Street.....

City.....Zone.....State.....

Two Cents

Postage

(Third Class Mail)

INTEREST IN CERAMIC ART was evinced by Major General John A. Klein, The Adjutant General of the Army, (left) on his tour of AG activities at the Presidio on Monday. Here he discusses a ceramic bust turned out by one of the local soldier-ceramicists with Miss Ruth Rippon, Presidio Arts and Crafts Director, as 1/Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post Special Services Officer, looks on.

Army Adjutant General Is Impressed In Presidio, Headquarters Junket

Major General John A. Klein, the Adjutant General of the Army, spent three days at the Presidio this week and left well satisfied with AG activities in this area.

Arriving at Travis AFB last Saturday from a tour of military bases in the Pacific, General Klein capped his Presidio visit on Monday with an inspection tour of Adjutant General Corps activities in the Sixth Army headquarters and discussed with Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, observations he had made in the Far East Command, Alaska and Hawaii.

Highlight of Monday's tour came with General Klein's visit to Sixth Army AG Section and School, where he was accompanied by Colonel R. S. Nourse, Adjutant General, Sixth Army. At the school he gave a brief talk to the students, stressing the importance of their work not only to the unit where they would eventually be assigned but to the entire AG structure.

Speaking to Colonel Nourse and other officers of the Sixth Army AG Section, General Klein put particular emphasis on the importance of AG work at even the lowest echelons.

"The primary functions of the Adjutant General Corps worldwide is to give service and advice to the Commander and his entire staff," said the General. "Impressions made in the field are the impressions which will eventually show in Department of the Army."

Earlier in the morning General Klein had paid a visit to the Presidio Service Club, Library and Theater, and was shown these facilities by Lt. Colonel A. W. Gustafson, Sixth Army Special Services Officer, and Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post Special Services Officer. During his tour he was particularly impressed with the mural at the Club, executed by Cpl. Lou J. Cameron following the completion of the building itself, and stated that the design of the Club was the finest he had seen anywhere.

"Everywhere you look, you see beauty," observed the General to

Miss Eileen Pierce, Assistant Service Club Director, in reference to the Club's panoramic vistas to the north. "Presidio enlisted men must be very happy with it."

In a chat with Miss Ruth Rippon, Post Crafts Director, the visiting AG chief showed interest in the local ceramic program.

In the library, Miss Dorothy Howard, Library Assistant, explained to the general the operation of the Post library system and the administration entailing some 20,000 volumes.

General Klein was honored by a reception and dinner Monday night at the Presidio Officers' Mess. There he spoke to a mixed audience. Officers' wives present at the dinner were especially pleased with the General's reference to wives' "steadying influence and assistance" to husbands in AG work.

Heading the largest Army staff in the Pentagon, General Klein is responsible for publishing all orders and official publications of the Army and maintaining all Army personnel records, past and present.

He began his career as a private in the Mississippi National Guard in 1914. In 1937 he served at the Presidio of San Francisco as assistant adjutant general of the IX Corps. He was appointed to his present post 1 June, 1954.

Ace Scholar! 505th Sergeant Sets Mark At Ord Leadership School

The highest mark ever registered at the 6th Infantry Division's Advanced Leader's School at Fort Ord was turned in this week by Sgt. Kenneth L. Morrison of B Company of the 505th MP Battalion. Sgt. Morrison scored 365 out of a possible 400 in setting the school's record proficiency grade.

Major emphasis in the course was placed upon methods of instruction in physical training and dismounted drill and also student participation in classroom discussion.

For his efforts, the young MP received a Certificate of Proficiency from the school and congratulations from Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, Battalion Commander of the 505th and Captain Francis Hoskins, the Commanding Officer of B Company.

Sgt. Morrison enlisted in the Army in March 1952 after attending classes at the University of California for two years, majoring in pre-medical studies.

The local NCO, a native of Tucson, Arizona, received basic training at Fort Ord and served with the 2nd MP Company of the S 2nd Infantry Division in Korea from March 1953 to May of this year. He became a member of the 505th June 28th and now serves as a

Inventor Too! Former Ft. Scott Officer Cited For Brave Rescue Act in Korea

WOJG Charles H. Fennell, presently a member of the 3038th AU Engineer Map Reproduction detachment in Korea, who until his assignment to Far East last January, was with the 99th Engineer Base Reproduction company at Fort Scott, has received a commendation for rescuing two small Korean children from almost certain death.

The incident occurred on 16 May of this year, and is explained in this letter forwarded to Mr. Fennell by Colonel Edward L. Wilson, commanding:

"1. You are to be commended for your actions on 16 May 1954 at approximately 1530 hours.

"2. You and WOJG John C. Ellington encountered a Korean truck loaded with a large radio transmitter that was negotiating a particularly difficult portion of the road when it began to tilt dangerously and had every appearance of sliding down an embankment.

"3. By your quick action in rushing to the downhill side of the vehicle and pushing two Korean children out of danger you prevented serious injury to the children. At the same time WOJG Ellington jumped into the vehicle and engaged the safety brake, enabling the vehicle to be brought to a halt. You disengaged the winch and the vehicle was eased from its precarious position, thus eliminating a serious accident.

"4. Your courage and quick thinking reflects great credit upon yourself and the military service."

WOJG Fennell enlisted in the Army as a private on 10 September 1942, and while serving at Camp Crowder, Missouri in 1944, invented a gun which shoots tracers that are visible in the daytime. He was highly praised for this and for several other training aids that were his handiwork.

He served in the ETO with Engineers during a portion of the fighting, and after the armistice, returned there to serve at Darmstadt Military Post, where he was operations NCO in the S-3 Section.

His service with the Engineers at Fort Scott was from October 1954 until last January. Mrs. Fennell is presently employed in the Information Section, Sixth Army.

What does America mean to you? Enter the 1954 Freedoms Foundation Contest. Send your letter of no more than 500 words to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, 1016 N. McCadden Place, Los Angeles 38, Calif. Your letter must bear your name, rank, service number, and organization.

It must be received before midnight Nov. 11, 1954. Letters received after that date will be considered for the next year's awards. (AFPS)

Send The Star-Presidian Home

From.....	Two Cents
Address.....	Postage
Name.....
Street.....
City.....Zone.....State.....
(Third Class Mail)

WOJG Charles H. Fennell

Army Tests New Hospital RR Cars For Future Use

Washington (AFPS) — The Army Transportation Corps is testing three new types of self-sustaining hospital railroad cars at Ft. Eustis, Va.

The cars are specially constructed so that they can operate on any broad gauge railroad in the world. They represent the basic types of hospital cars to be used in hospital trains of the future.

The three new types are: a personnel car for the medical staff; an ambulance car with a 30-patient capacity; and a dining car which can feed up to 150 persons.

Designed jointly by the Transportation Corps, the Army Medical Service Corps, and the ACF Industries, Inc., the cars are equipped with a special axle and wheel seat which can be adjusted for operation on 56½-inch, 60-inch, 63-inch or 66-inch gauge railroad track.

In emergencies any of the cars could be dropped off onto a siding for a short layover since all are equipped with lights, water, forced ventilation and heat. The ambulance car is air-conditioned, and may be heated through conventional lines.

The National Guard, originally "militia," took its present name to honor Lafayette, French Garde Nationale chief.

United Crusade Drive Lagging At Presidio

"One hundred per cent participation is our goal."

Such is the feeling of Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, deputy post commander and chairman of the United Crusade campaign now in progress on the Presidio of San Francisco.

"In the interest of the financial status of all personnel concerned, both military and civilian, there is no definite policy set up on how much each person should give according to salary earned," the colonel explained. "Instead we are leaving the amount to be given to the dictates of heart, conscience and financial ability.

"But we ask all to give something, however small it may be. Out of the 100 per cent cooperation we seek, we have so far mustered only 3.5 per cent of our overall personnel—not a very representative showing."

In the 1953 campaign, Presidio personnel gave the magnificent sum of $30,510.83 to the Crusade. This year so far, the total is but $2,199.38. To assure adequate opportunity for everyone to contribute, closing date of the campaign has been extended to 8 December.

It is almost a sure thing that sometime during your lifetime, an agency of the United Crusade will directly aid and benefit you, your children or some member of your immediate family.

That is because the agencies within the United Crusade are so numerous and diverse in their activities.

Some are concerned with health, welfare and research and a part of this group includes the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, and the American Heart Association.

Recreational activities for service personnel are provided by UC members: USO-United Defense fund, CYO, YMCA and YWCA and Jewish Community center. Youth groups participating include the Boy and Girl Scouts of America. These latter are all members of the Community Chest program which numbers 76 agencies who benefit from your United Crusade dollars.

And so does the American Red Cross which provides disaster relief, hospital entertainment and other recreational media.

It only happens once a year that these many groups band together and ask you to help them do their job in the best way that they can—and their job is for you!

Give once—the United way!

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 22 PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 29 October, 1954

NIKE AND ITS MASTER! Using a model of a Nike guided missile as a pointer, Major General Hobart Hewett, new commanding general of the Western Army Antiaircraft command, indicates to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, part of his command area on a relief map of the western United States. General Hewett assumed command of Nike and conventional antiaircraft gun units of the seven western states on 22 October.

Covers Seven States! Major General Hewett Named Commander, WAAC Area Units

Major General Hobart Hewett has assumed command of the Western Army Antiaircraft command, which encompasses the seven western states of the nation. He succeeds Major General Francis M. Day.

General Hewett's new command includes control of all Nike guided missile sites as well as conventional antiaircraft defense throughout the seven state area.

The general's most recent assignment has been in Korea where he was U. S. Army representative to the United Nations Military Armistice commission, a position he was appointed to following his service there as commander of Division Artillery, 3rd Infantry Division.

He has served almost continuously as an antiaircraft and artillery officer since his graduation from the U. S. Military Academy with the class of 1919.

From 1942 to 1945, General Hewett was deputy antiaircraft and Artillery officer at Allied headquarters in North Africa and Italy. After World War II, he was assigned as logistics officer for the U. S. Army in the Pacific and later as commanding general of the 31st AAA Brigade, a major WAAC unit, with station at Fort Lewis, Washington.

In 1952, General Hewett was appointed assistant commandant of the antiaircraft and guided missile branch of the Artillery school, Fort Bliss, Texas, where virtually all Army guided missile and antiaircraft technicians are trained, and he remained there until his assignment to Korea. (Please turn to page 8)

Army Scientific Advisory Panel Given Permanent Status, More Control

The Army Scientific Advisory Panel, comprised of outstanding scientists, engineers, educators, and industrialists, has been reconstituted as a permanent board of the Army with James R. Killian, Jr., president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts, as its chairman, the Department of the Army announced recently.

First established in 1951 as a consultative body, the Panel's permanent status gives it broader advisory powers in the field of Army research and development.

The function of the Panel will be to advise the Secretary of the Army, Chief of Staff, and Chief of Research and Development on all scientific and related matters of concern to the Army. The Panel makes available the advice, suggestions and recommendations of the prominent Americans who, as a group, will be informed on all aspects of the Army's research and development program.

Hope Springs Eternal! Legislation Being Prepared For 8% Military Pay Raise

Richmond, Va. (AFPS) — Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens says a legislative program is being prepared for Congress which will include an eight per cent pay raise for all military personnel.

In a speech to the Jewish War Veterans annual convention here, Mr. Stevens gave this as the first of several items which will be requested when Congress convenes in January.

Other legislative proposals which he said would be submitted then include a comprehensive revision of survivor benefits, more reliable medical care for dependents and allowances for permanent changes of station by service families.

In addition to Secretary Stevens' eight per cent proposal, a report of the Defense Department's special pay study committee is expected to be announced in the latter part of October. The committee was set up about a month ago.

A service career should be made attractive to the highest type of young American, said Mr. Stevens. "Money isn't the only answer but it is part of the problem."

Mr. Stevens pointed out that between 1949, when military pay scales were given their last general overhauling, and the present day, the U.S. Consumer Price Index registered a 13.5 per cent gain in the cost of living, but military pay had increased only 5.5 per cent.

"At the same time," he added, "military (benefits) such as savings through purchasing at commissaries and post exchanges, medical care for dependents, all of which have long been considered as part of military compensation, have been reduced by both legislative enactment and executive policy." This, he said, has materially reduced the soldiers' take-home pay.

Army Selects 2 Divs. For 1955 A-War Tests

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has selected the two "guinea pig" divisions—one infantry, one armored—for its first large-scale experiments designed to find the best battlefield organization for fighting an atomic war.

They are the 1st Armored Div. at Ft. Hood, Tex., and the 47th Inf. Div. at Ft. Benning, Ga. The tests are expected to be held early in 1955.

Fort Ord Visited By Educators From Oakland

A group of more than 25 Oakland educators were flown via military aircraft to Fort Ord Wednesday of this week as guests of Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, to see for themselves just what "this man's Army" is all about, since many of their present students will someday be in khaki.

The event was in observance of Oakland's annual Business-Education day, which in former years meant visits to Oakland businesses and industries to learn about opportunities for young people in those fields.

But, in the interest of their main project, for this school year, "to emphasize the Army's interest in the importance of young men continuing their high school education and encouraging graduates to obtain a higher education wherever possible," the Oakland Military Manpower committee, headed by Colonel Earl W. Hunting, USAR, sponsored the visit, and Colonel Hunting accompanied the group on their tour.

The TI&E center, which is designed to encourage military personnel to further their education while in service, was the group's first stop. Visits to the Training Aids and Personnel Center followed.

They inspected the new permanent-type barracks and had lunch with the troops in the mess hall.

The afternoon was spent in the field, where the educators observed classes in first aid, map reading and camouflage. This was followed by a demonstration of trainees going through an infiltration course and two firing problems on the range.

Military Aid!

The U. S. will begin sending military equipment to Pakistan this month under a mutual defense pact which was signed last May. The initial shipment is expected to include mostly Army-type weapons,

OPENING ADDRESS was given by Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commanding General of the Sixth Army, at the first meeting of Military District Chiefs and Unit Advisors in the Sixth Army Area at the Harmon Army in conjunction with the Indoctration Course for USAR Unit Advisors which is being held at the Presidio this week.

Key Is Effectiveness!

USAR Unit Advisors Meeting To Implement Reserve Success

In the opening ceremony of the Sixth Army Indoctration Course for USAR Unit Advisors this week at Harmon Army, Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commanding General of the Sixth Army, stated: "The mission of the unit advisor is the effectiveness of the Army Reserve program."

Ninety-five officers recently assigned to the Army Reserve program in the eight western states comprising the Sixth Army Area will return to their duty stations this weekend after completing the indoctrination course at the Presidio, which is designed to teach them the policies, laws and functions of the Reserve program.

According to Colonel Albert Butler, Senior Advisor of the Washington Military District, the studies are "to inform the Unit Advisors of the necessary tools to assist and support the individual units."

The course was divided into four categories of military administrative subjects. The categories are:

1. Introduction to the United States Military Policies and Organization.
2. A General Review of the Continental Army.
3. A Discussion of the Military Districts Commander's responsibility for training.
4. The Relationship Between the Unit Advisors and Unit Commander.

In the first phase of the comprehensive study an explanation of the history of the United States establishing relatively small armed forces strongly supported by the Reserve components was presented. Further, the major provisions of legislation governing the operations of the USAR and Army regulations pertinent to Reserve units were reviewed.

Featured in the second phase was a complete analysis of the Reserve system and the relationship between units and the Sixth Army. The status of "early ready," "later ready," "standby" and "retired" Reserves, along with technical information concerning retirement and promotion policies were explained.

Fourth phase in the week-long meeting dealt with the organization of training, actual duty training and USAR schools.

Completing the study, the final phase of series was centered on administrative procedural methods necessary in the relationship between the advisor and the Unit Commander, and general unit administrative plans.

Thing to Come!

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has ordered a new guided missile—the third to go into production following Nike and Corporal.

The new long-range, ground-to-ground missile called "Redstone" will be produced by the Chrysler Corp., at a Navy-owned plant in Warren, Mich. Redstone was designed by a team of scientists headed by Dr. Werner von Braun, the German engineer who directed the Nazi V-2 program during WWII. So far, the missile has only been "mock" fired.

Army Announces Activation of New Combat Division

Washington (AFPS) — The Army already has activated one new combat division and soon will create another as part of a plan to build up its ready combat strength from 19 to 24 divisions.

The 71st Inf. Div. was set up Oct. 10 with headquarters at Ft. Richardson, Alaska, and the 23rd Inf. Div. will be activated Dec. 2 with headquarters at Ft. Amador, Canal Zone.

Both divisions were formed from existing non-divisional units. No announcement has been made regarding who will command either division.

Major units providing personnel and equipment for the 71st Div. were the 196th and 4th RCTs, now assigned to Alaska, and the 5th RCT at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The 196th RCT, a South Dakota National Guard outfit, has since been returned to state control and its internal elements have been redesignated within the 71st Div. as the 53rd Inf. Regt., the 607th FA Bn. and Co. D of the 271st Eng. Combat Bn. All elements of the 4th and 5th RCTs kept their original numerical designations.

The 23rd Div. will be composed of the 33rd, 29th and 65th RCTs. The 33rd is assigned to the Canal Zone.

The 29th is now on Okinawa but it soon will be redesignated the 75th RCT. Then the 30th RCT at Ft. Benning, Ga., will become the 29th RCT.

The 65th RCT designation is being separated from the 3rd Inf. Div., to which it was assigned during the Korean War, and being returned to Puerto Rico. The unit known as the 296th RCT in Puerto Rico will become the 65th RCT.

The Star-Presidian

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographs and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN
Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST
Post CLIE & D. REGELIN
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN
Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Andrew G. Russell, Jr., has assumed the duties of training officer, Provost Marshal section, Headquarters Sixth Army. This is his second tour of duty here on the Presidio, as he was here in 1949 as Provost Marshal and commanding officer of the 710th Military Police battalion.

His last five months have been spent as a patient at Letterman Army hospital, prior to which he served five months as Provost Marshal of Fort Lewis, Washington. Before that, Colonel Russell spent 19 months on Okinawa as commanding officer of the 98th Military Police Battalion.

A veteran of 17 years of active duty, the colonel first entered service in 1935 and was assigned to the CCC program for a period of three and one-half years. Leaving the service for 18 months, he returned again in 1940 and spent four years of World War II in the Pacific area, three and one-half of those as a prisoner of war of the Japanese.

While serving as executive officer to the Provost Marshal of the Luzon Sub-command, Colonel Russell was captured at Bataan and survived the infamous "death march." He was liberated in Manchuria in September of 1945, and his decorations include the Purple Heart.

In 1946 he went to Germany and served a year as Provost Marshal of the 28th Constabulary, followed by two years as Provost Marshal of Stuttgart Military Post.

Colonel Russell is a graduate of the AG school, Arlington Cantonment, 1941, and the Advanced Officer course, Provost Marshal General school, Camp Gordon, Georgia, 1950-51. His wife, daughter and one son are presently residing in Long Beach, California, while another son is serving with the Army at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Lt. Colonel Winston A. Jones has joined the staff of the training branch, active Army division, G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His most recent assignment was as executive officer of Stuttgart Sub-Area Headquarters, Germany, a position he held for two years.

In the Philippine Islands with the 1st Battalion, 88th Field Artillery, (Philippine Scouts) when World War II began, Colonel Jones became senior Army advisor and later commander of the 1st Battalion, 41st Field Artillery, Philippine Army.

At Bataan when it fell to Japanese forces, the colonel was taken prisoner, but managed to escape on the seventh day of the now historic "Bataan death march." He then assisted in organizing the Luzon Guerrilla forces and spent the remainder of his 44 months overseas in guerrilla operations.

Entering the Army first in 1937, Colonel Jones served a year at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, as a second lieutenant following receipt of his Reserve commission from the University of Oklahoma. While there he was graduated from the basic officers Artillery course (Thomson Act.) Recalled to active duty in 1940 with the 1st Field Artillery, which was part of the 6th Division, he has been in service since that time and received his Regular Army commission in July 1946.

Schools he has attended include the Chemical Warfare school, the Infantry School ROTC orientation course, the Quartermaster Motor Transportation school, the Unit Officers Gas course, and, in 1946, the Field Artillery school as well as orientation courses held for former POW's in the branches of Infantry, Cavalry, Armored, Field Artillery and Antiaircraft Artillery.

Colonel Jones has been decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, the Distinguished Unit Citation Badge with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the American Defense ribbon with clasp, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with four battle stars, the Philippine Defense ribbon, the Philippine Liberation ribbon, the Philippine Independence ribbon, the American theater, the World War II Victory ribbon, the German occupation ribbon, the Armed Forces Reserve ribbon, the Philippine Presidential Unit citation and the National Defense Service Medal. His wife, Mrs. Reba F. Jones, has accompanied the colonel here.

Major James E. Marks has been assigned chief, Personnel Management division, Headquarters California Military District.

A veteran of 14 years' service, Major Marks entered the Army from Providence, Rhode Island. He was at Pearl Harbor when it was bombed to begin World War II and served in China from January 1944 to November 1946 during the China offense and defense.

Major Marks has also seen service in the Yukon territory and Alaska. He was in Korea from May 1953 to September of this year, where he was chief of the AG personnel actions section, Headquarters 8th Army.

The Major wears the Combat Infantry Badge, Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Army Reserve ribbon, Korean Service medal and ROK Presidential Unit Citation in addition to theater ribbons.

He, his wife Mabel, and their six children reside in South San Francisco.

Captain Richmond F. Howard returned recently from 30 months in the Far East. His first year was spent in Taegu, Korea, with Headquarters KCOMZ, and the last 18 months he has been with AFTE Headquarters in Japan.

He is now assigned to the Signal Section of Headquarters Sixth Army as assistant plans officer, plans and operations division.

Born in England, Captain Howard is a veteran of 23 years' military service including service with an Infantry Combat unit of the British Army during World War I. He came to America in 1923.

With 19 years of his American Army service in enlisted status, the captain received a direct commission while serving with the 810th Signal Service Battalion in the ETO during World War II. The captain's wife and their eight-year-old daughter have accompanied him here.

CWO William B. Stirling recently joined the staff of the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past two years, Mr. Stirling has been in Turkey with the SGS section, NATO Headquarters.

A member of the Army for the past 15 years, he received his warrant after four and one-half years of enlisted service. His World War II assignment from 1944 to 1946, was in Europe with the 22nd Signal Depot company.

Returning overseas in 1948, Mr. Stirling served with GHQ, FECOM, in Japan until 1951, and received the Commendation ribbon for his work in the G-2 Section there during the Korean campaign. He and his wife and two children are now residing here.

Wilson Sparks MPs!

B Co. Of 505th Victorious For 5th Straight Casaba Win

Company B of the 505th MP Battalion bucketed another win this week by a seven-point margin, 48-41, to remain ahead of the American and National Divisions in the post intra-mural casaba tourney. Ace hoopster Wilson was again high point man for the 505th, to lead his squad with 21 in the basket. This is the MP's fifth straight win of the season with no losses. Gresham was high man for the opposition, 102 MRU, with 17 points.

Hanley of the 30th Engineers, Hdq. Det., ran up the high point tally of the game when the 30th met the 115th CIC with 24 in the hoop. However, the Engineers still couldn't make it against the CIC who took the tilt 63-58.

Engineers of the 549th trampled the 16th BPO 64-36. Both high score men, Bapenfus for the 549th and Jackson for the BPO, racked up 16 points for the high marks.

Price of the 9206 Fort Mason contingent sparked his squad to a victory over the 46th Ordinance Group, 43-36. High pointer Price was good for twelve points in the bucket.

Eleven was the high individual score all around in the hoop test between the 99th Engineers and the 542nd Engineers. High man for the 99th was Smart, and Bauer and Osuch tied for high score on the 542nd squad. The 542nd took the meet, 51-31.

On Monday night, the 551st Engineers edged out a close win over a fast moving five from the 537th outfit, 56-51. Sparkler for the victors was Larson, with 17 points of his own. Uffell, on the opposition, shot 16.

Hdq. Company of the 505th MP Battalion carried out the 505th tradition of conquest in its defeat of the 660 Engineers Hdq. Company, 58-24. High pointer for the policemen was Shaeffer with 26 good ones through the hoop.

Last year's ace of the hardwoods, Johnny Ethridge, tallied a startling 32 points for high score to lead the 9th AAA squad to a 60-55 victory over the 21st Engineers. Ethridge is expected to return to the post casaba contingent for the coming season.

The 315th Engineers trampled a 47-39 win over the 99th Engineers in the following game. McSherry put 16 points through the hoop for the high score for the 315th. Stevens bucketed 12 for the 99th.

In the closest game of the week, 102 MRU squeezed a victory over rivals, Hdq. Sixth Army, 39-38. MRU's high pointer was Stahable with 13, nosing out Jenkins of Sixth Army who shot 12.

First Split Dove Season Over Sunday 'Til 1 Dec.

California's first split dove season ends Sunday, Oct. 31, after a fair to good season, the Department of Fish and Game announced.

First half of the season, which was open Sept. 1 through Sept. 20, was generally good in most areas, although cool weather drove the birds south shortly after the opening.

Hunters found the second half of the season spotty with most activity centered in southern California.

The season for band-tailed pigeon ends Oct. 31 in Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Humboldt, Trinity and Tehama counties. For the rest of the state the pigeon season opens Dec. 1 and runs through to December 31.

THROUGH THE HOOP for the point as Frank Kvach gets it off in spite of attempts by the 537th Engineers to block the shot. The 551st stands high in the National Division so far with three up and one down. The 537th squad dropped two and won two.

Five In Ping Pong Tourney!

Central Division Table Tennis Reps Travel North Next Week

Five local table-net ices will journey north next week to participate in the All-Sixth Army Table Tennis Tournament at Madigan Army Hospital in Tacoma, Washington. The meet takes place 3-5 November. The five paddle wizards represent the Central Division in the tourney.

The Presidio entries were chosen through preliminary and then Central Division tournaments which were held at Letterman Army Hospital, host, for the Central Division. In the finals at Madigan, the tournament will be double elimination; best two out of three games shall constitute a match. The finals and semifinals shall be best three out of five.

Awards for the championship paddle bout will be provided by the Sixth Army Welfare Fund. There will be individual awards to winners and runners-up in both singles and doubles and for both male and female entries.

Ping-pong expert in the local contingent is Cpl. Marshall Conrad, who beat out all contenders for the Central Division championship. Conrad is an assistant supply sergeant for 6000 SU Headquarters Company. He hails from South Bend, Indiana.

Runners-up in the Central Division are Cpl. Bob Perla and Pvt. Jim Hunt. Perla is a machine-tab operator for 102 MRU. His home is Los Angeles, California.

Hunt, who has been in the Army only eleven months, is a computer with the 551st Engineers. He comes from Sharon, Pennsylvania.

Sgt. Esther Marshall and Pfc. Theresa Borucka are Central Division representatives from the Presidio WAC Detachment. Sgt. Marshall is a typist for Post Ordinance and is a native of New York City. Pfc. Borucka, from Buffalo, New York, is a clerk-typist for G-2. Both young ladies are from the 6002 SU WAC Detachment at the Presidio.

PSF Gun Club Meets

The Presidio Gun Club met last night to elect officers in Building 1369, Fort Scott at 1930 hours. Immediately after the meeting ranges were opened for small bore rifle and pistol practice.

Casaba Contingent To Hit Hardwood, 26 Meets Slated

The Presidio casaba contingent hits the hardwoods and practice Monday afternoon in the Special Services gym, building #22. A partial schedule of twenty-six games has been released by W. A. "Pop" Loomis, Special Services, coach for the Raider hoopsters.

Opener of the season is the contest with the San Francisco Olympic Club on 1 December at 2000 hours at the Olympic Club gym. Although the first game is usually considered a practice match, the Olympic five is a hoop aggregation that will be hard to beat.

"The whole schedule is a tough one," Loomis stated, "and there aren't any set-up games." In addition to the contests scheduled below, more games will be added to the slate in the future so that the eventual total will probably come close to the forty mark.

No definite roster has been released for the Presidians as yet and probably won't be until a few days before the initial tilt. New men are welcome to tryout for the squad Monday afternoon at building 122.

Raider Hoop Schedule

- Dec.
- 1—Olympic Club at Olympic Club, 2000 hours.
 - 3—Athens Club at Athens Club (Oakland), 2000 hours.
 - 7—Oakland Army Base at OAB, 2000 hours.
 - 9—Treasure Island at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 14—Parks AFB at PAFB, 2000 hours.
 - 16—Alameda NAS at PSF, 2030 hours.
- Jan.
- 4—Moffett AFB at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 6—San Francisco Naval Shipyard at SFNS, 2000 hours.
 - 11—Mare Island at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 13—SF Marines at Treasure Island, 2000 hours.
 - 14—Beale AFB at HAFB, 2000 hours.
 - 18—Hamilton AFB at HAFB, 2000 hours.
 - 20—Oakland Army Base at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 21—Fort Ord at PSF, 2000 hours.
 - 25—Treasure Island at TI, 2000 hours.
 - 27—Parks AFB at PAFB, 2000 hours.
 - 28—Athens Club at PSF, 2000 hours.

- Feb.
- 1—Alameda NAS at ANAS, 2000 hours.
 - 1—Moffett AFB at MAFB, 2000 hours.
 - 4—Fort Ord at Fort Ord, 2000 hours.
 - 8—San Francisco Naval Shipyard at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 10—Mare Island at MI, 2000 hours.
 - 12—Beale AFB at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 15—SF Marines at PSF, 2030 hours.
 - 17—Hamilton AFB at HAFB, 2000 hours.
 - 18—Olympic Club at PSF, 2000 hours.

Shoot Starts Tomorrow On Two More Refuges, Changes in Hunt Rules

Public waterfowl shooting on the Department of Fish and Game's Gray Lodge management area near Gridley, and the Colusa and Sutter refuges will open as scheduled on Oct. 30.

Shooting on these areas had been deferred because of danger of crop depredation on nearby farms.

Department officials said that more than enough applications for shooting reservations on the first two days already have been received, and that those not drawn will be processed for later dates.

Department of Fish and Game officials reminded waterfowl hunters of two important changes in federal regulations, on which many questions have been received.

One of these provides that waterfowl held in temporary storage at duck clubs must be tagged with the hunter's name and address, number and kind of birds, and date of kill.

A second important change is the elimination of the 90-day possession limit after close of the season.

RAIDERS' ED COLOROSI PLOUGHS GOALWARD as soldier quarterback Don Burroughs throws the block that downs Gene Fowler, left half for the Martinez Panthers. The local garrison walloped the Martinez semi-pro eleven 12-0 on the Fort Scott field last October 9. The Reds meet the Panthers again tomorrow at Martinez. Up from a crushing defeat by Hamilton AFB, the Raiders could be winners in tomorrows tilt.

Repeat Performance!

Red Raiders Return Tomorrow To Meet Panthers At Martinez

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Again up from defeat, the badly mauled Raider eleven will be back on the gridiron tomorrow to meet the Martinez Panthers on the Martinez field at 2000 hours. The two pigskin squads met three weeks ago at Fort Scott where the locals trounced the Panthers in a rugged uphill win, 12-0.

In spite of the soldiers' dismal loss to the Hamilton AFB Defenders two weeks ago it looks like another Army victory over the Panthers tomorrow. It won't be an easy one for the locals, however, as the big cats displayed a sharp aerial attack that was good for more airborne yardage than the soldiers managed in the previous scuffle.

Probable line-ups for the Red Raiders will look something like the following:

Offensive:
Center—Mader
Guards—Morris and Holstrum
Tackles—Masia and Frank Wilson
Ends—Gerry Wilson and Pigot
QB—Don Burroughs
HBs—Colorossi and Cockrane
FB—Acton

Defensive:
Center—Mader
Guards—Morris and Rappa
Tackles—Jones and Treymayne
Ends—Gerry Wilson and Pigot
QB—Don Burroughs
HBs—Brittingham and Cockrane
FB—Biddick

The Achilles heel for the cats, however, is a pretty shaky defense against ground attack. The infantrymen marched 220 yards through Martinez ranks for a victory that was largely gained on the ground in the last meet. A repeat performance by the Raiders could again beat out the Martinez squad, unless the Panthers can come up with a solid ground defense by tomorrow, which is rather unlikely.

Alameda Shooters Win Local Meet, MPs Runners-up

Alameda Naval Air Station walked away with the first place title recently in the Annual Interstate Pistol Competition, sponsored by the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce. Second place was copped by the Fort Ord aggregation, and the US Marine Supply Annex team took third. Company C of the 505th MP Battalion represented the Presidio at the tourney and placed among the runners-up.

Two types of matches were fired in the contest at the Presidio range. The first type was the NRA Individual .45 calibre National Match Course, and the second, the Camp Perry Police Course in which .22 calibre weapons could be fired in place of .45 calibre.

All participants brought their own weapons which were limited to any .45 calibre pistol with trigger pull not less than four pounds, fixed sights, and standard safety features. The same rules applied for the .22 calibre weapons.

The contest was limited to members of the Armed Forces or reserve components. Team members were all bona fide members of their units and subordinate units were not consolidated to form stronger teams in higher echelons. Inasmuch as the meet was an open match, all shooters were eligible regardless of prior experience.

The beginning line will probably have Chuck Sharp at center, Lou Coccimiglio and Duane Furman at right and left guards, Jim Mulcahy and Bill Colona are the probable starting tackles. Starters at end spots could be Don Pino on the left and Don Loyd on the right.

Raider-Flyer Tilt At Edwards AFB Cancelled by Dust

Southern dust was the ultimate victor in last week's pigskin tilt between the Red Raiders and Edwards AFB. The local garrison planed southward last Thursday in order to arrive early enough to become accustomed to the intense heat typical of the area.

After the disastrous results of the Palo Alto heat when the soldiers met the Stanford Braves, Coach Steve Glick took the precaution of arriving early for the Edwards meet. The soldiers had two days to get used to working out in the scorching weather that is in such contrast to the cool fog of the San Francisco area.

However, as the clock ticked closer to game time, the arid desert winds blew up stronger and stronger, carrying with them the dust and sand of the outlying areas. The swirling eddies of dust grew larger and larger until a full fledged dust storm was in progress.

By game time, the dust was so thick that there was nothing to do but cancel the game altogether. The Raiders returned to the Presidio, having met no opposition on the gridiron but plenty of it in the dusty southern skies.

Florence Chadwick, San Diego, swam the English Channel in 13 hours, 20 minutes.

BOWLING TEAM UNIT AWARD went to Headquarters Company Sixth Army, which took the honors in the Western Bowling League for the last series of games played. Shown receiving the award from 1st Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post special service officer, are M/Sgt. Jack M. Cornett and Captain Albert Gollnick, commanding officer of Headquarters Company, Sixth Army. Receiving the award for the National Bowling League but not in the picture was PFC. George Evans of Det. 1, 6002 SU.

MP Powers!

Eastern's Gallo Again Rolls High Scores In Post Keg Set

High roller for the Eastern League again this week was Gallo of the 505th MP Battalion, Company B. His individual high game was 238 and high individual series was 652 to top the weekly keg league scores.

Malinski sparked his 56th MRU aggregation to the head of the win list with 28 wins and eight losses. His high game was 225 and the ace pin smasher rolled a 160 average.

The 21st Engineers rolled into second place spot as Rothong keggered a 212 high game and 163 average. The 21st dropped 12½ and won 23½.

Standing 20 up, 16 down, the Keystone Kops maneuvered into fourth spot in the Eastern League as stalwart Johnson powered a 199 high game and a 157 average.

Trailing in the Eastern set were 6300 SU in fifth position, 56th MRU No. 2, 6th, the Slow Rollers, 7th, and the Harbor Defenders in 8th spot.

High point powerhouse Bryant blasted individual high game for the National League with a pin score of 212 and high series of 527. The pace setter for the Maaroos lead his contingent to second place in the National, the Maaroos being up 20 and down 12.

Det. 1, 6002, outtimed the Maaroos for lead position, standing 22 to the good and 10 down. Van Ausdall paced the weekly high with 176 high game and 163 average.

Foul Lines for Bowlers

Foul lines have now been installed in alleys at the Presidio Service Club and the foul line rules will go into effect immediately for all League play.

Third place honors in the National went to the 6513 SU as sparkier Marks rolled a 186 high for his team and a 158 average. The 6513 has won 17, lost 15. Hill-Toppers teams 3, 2, and 1 ran in 4th, 5th, and 6th places respectively, followed by 102nd MRU and Hq. Sixth Army.

Top pointer for the Pacific League was Williams of the Missileers. In a paradox of the alleys, Williams' high game of 230 and high series of 549 failed to bring his aggregation forward 6th spot in the Pacific League.

Leading the league are the Barons with 11 up and 1 down. High pointer was Cox with 198 high game and 158 average.

The Fly Boys No. 2 rolled for second place with 8 wins and four losses. Their pace setter for the week was Nichols, with a high game of 166 and a 131 average.

In third place, the Qmers stand 7 up and 5 down. Sparker was Partridge, with 145 high game and a 111 average.

The Fly Boys No. 1 tripped into fourth spot, followed by the Vets, the Missileers, the Pinsplitters, and the Buckpassers.

Heidengren of the 99th Engineers ran up the high game for the Western League with a solid 200.

6th Army Issues Hunt Rules for Military Reserves

Hunting regulations for military reservations were released recently from Sixth Army Headquarters and pertain to all military reservations in the Sixth Army Area. The following are excerpts from the official memorandum:

1. Installation commanders will be responsible for establishing and maintaining control of hunting and fishing within military reservations under their jurisdiction.

2. The following priorities will be observed by commanders authorizing hunting and fishing within military reservations:

- Military personnel on Active Duty, and their dependents.
- Retired personnel of the Armed Forces.
- Department of Army civilian employees.
- Other civilians.

3. The following policies are established for exercising control over hunting and fishing.

a. Check points will be established to sign in and sign out personnel entering the reservation to hunt.

b. Hunting permits for civilians will be issued on a day-to-day basis.

c. Necessary measures will be instituted to safeguard against entry into restricted security areas, chemically contaminated areas, and artillery impact areas.

d. Federal and state fish and game laws as prescribed in para. 2, above reference, will be enforced and full cooperation will be extended to state fish and game officials in cases over which they have jurisdiction.

e. State penal laws relative to fish and game will be operative on all military installations.

f. Hunting and fishing will not be permitted to interfere with training activities or other functions of the installation.

WAC Champs Fete Victory at Banquet

The victorious WAC softball team, Sixth Army Champions, dined last night at a local eatery in a belated celebration of their victory. The banquet was attended by the fourteen members of the championship team, Lt. Norma Redman, team coach and sponsor, and Capt. Virginia Engles, WAC Detachment CO. Several other guests were also present.

TEN YEARS OF LOYAL SERVICE was culminated with the presentation of a ten year pin to Mrs. Frances Barton by Colonel William C. Holly, Commanding Officer, 30th Engineer Group. Mrs. Barton is manager of the Fort Scott Post Exchange and started her service in July of 1944 at Fort Mason. She will leave in a few months to join her husband, SFC Richard M. Barton, formerly of the 505th MP Battalion, who is currently stationed in Augsburg, Germany, with the 11th Infantry Regiment.

Ft. Scott Post Exchange Chief Wins Ten Year Service Pin

By Cpl. Ross S. Metcalfe

This copy of the Star Presidian will be of particular interest to one U. S. Army Sfc. in Augsburg, Germany, because it concerns his wife who has been sending him copies of the paper every week since he has been overseas.

The soldier is Sfc. Richard M. Barton, formerly with the 505th MP Battalion here on the Presidio and who is now serving with the security guard of the 11th Infantry Regiment in Germany. His wife, soon to join her spouse in Germany, is Mrs. Frances Barton who was recently presented with a 10 year pin for service with the Bay Area Exchange and PX's throughout the Bay Area and at Camp Stoneman.

Mrs. Barton is the manager of the Post Exchange at Fort Scott and was presented the pin by Colonel William C. Holly, Commanding Officer 30th Engineer Group. The award was made in recognition of continuous and loyal service since July of 1944 when she first started as a sales clerk at Fort Mason.

From Fort Mason, "Fran," as her friends call her, moved to Camp Stoneman and was promoted to manager of the clothing exchange. She remained at Stoneman, near her home in Pittsburg, for six years and then moved down to the Presidio of San Francisco where she has since been employed in various PX's in the Presidio area.

A promotion to branch retail manager at the Fort Scott exchange followed in 1953 and that summer she married SFC Barton.

With over 10 years service in the exchanges, Fran doesn't plan to continue working overseas, but instead start rearing a family. This also may be of interest to SFC Barton!

Employees of the exchanges along with all the customers who have been greeted by that warm smile will be sad to see her depart but all join in wishing her bon voyage and happiness in the land of weinerschnitzel and hasenpfeffer.

Fourteen National Guardsmen won the Medal of Honor during World War II.

Career Finale!

Three Retire During Mid-Week Retreat Ceremony on Presidio

Three officers of the Presidio of San Francisco were honored on Tuesday at retirement ceremonies in which a thousand soldiers paraded behind the Sixth Army Band and Bagpipers.

Ending their Army careers were Col. William L. Boland, Lt. Col. Benjamin H. Johnston, and Major Rellie E. Lawyer, of Sixth Army Ordnance section.

Colonel Boland, who has been at the Presidio since June, served in Korea as an ordnance advisor in the Korean Military Advisory Group. He enlisted in the Army in August, 1919, and served in the 1st and 15th Cavalry Divisions before 1930. Colonel Boland had assignments in the Far East, Hawaii and Guam after World War II.

His medals and decorations include the Bronze Star, Commendation Ribbon and the British Military Order. Born in Bon Aqua, Tennessee, Colonel Johnston plans to live in Tulsa, Oklahoma, following retirement.

Major Rellie E. Lawyer enlisted in 1942 and completed Officers Candidate School the next year at Aberdeen Proving Grounds. For the next two and a half years he served in the San Francisco Ordnance District as production and plant clearance officer. Leaving the service in 1946, Major Lawyer returned in March, 1951, as the Army representative at the San Jose, California, plant that manufactured the only armored personnel carriers produced on the West Coast.

In 1952 he was appointed executive officer of San Francisco Ordnance District, remaining in that capacity until February, 1954, when he was assigned to Korea. He returned from the Far East Command in June.

Also retiring but not at the ceremonies were, Colonel C. U. Cadwell, and WOJG Percival F. Pawsey.

AER Head Lauds Sixth Army Gift To Annual Drive

Edward F. Witsell, Major General, Retired, director of the Army Emergency Relief organization, Department of the Army, has forwarded to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, a letter of thanks for the Sixth Army's generous support of the recent annual AER campaign in which a total of $4,658.98 was forwarded, plus an additional amount of $75.25 sent after the letter was posted.

The text of the letter is as follows:

"Again I am greatly pleased to acknowledge additional contributions amounting to $2,640.08, reported on the Presidio of San Francisco AER Financial Report for September, making a total of $4,658.98 contributed to this year's AER-ARS Joint Fund campaign, and to personally thank you for your vigorous support, which has made such a generous response possible.

"It is because of this type of support that the Army is able through AER to preserve that fine old Army tradition, 'The Army takes care of its own,' which in turn has made AER such a formidable instrument of morale to commanders everywhere. In this connection, the Board of Managers of AER hopes that AER funds are fully utilized in all cases where the morale of the individual soldier and of his command would be benefited thereby.

"Please again convey to all the members of your headquarters and all the other Army personnel on duty at the Presidio of San Francisco my sincere thanks and the deep appreciation of our Board of Managers for their outstanding demonstration of interest, confidence and support."

Morse Code visual signaling first was used by the Army during the Navajo campaign in June, 1860.

IS THAT YOU? Might be—hard to tell with those tricky disguises. There will be more just like 'em or maybe even more spooky, when well over 1,500 youngsters of all ages arrive on the "Broomland Special" for the three Halloween parties slated for Saturday night at Harmon Armory, the former YMCA building and the Fort Cronkhite NCO Mess. Have your ill spooks ready to go when the festivities start at approximately 1800 hours. Prizes for the most outstanding costumes too!

Very Scarey!

Halloween Parties to Hold Full Sway for Spooks Saturday

Witches, goblins and other spooks of assorted sizes are planning to invade the usually quiet grounds of the Presidio and its sub-posts tomorrow night.

Witch only goes to prove—it's Halloween again!

Which witch party your moppets will attend, depends on where Pop is assigned and quartered.

A total of three lively carnival-type celebrations will get into full swing starting around 1800 hours, and will last until at least 2000.

For children of parents stationed at and living on the Presidio, the rumpus is set for Harmon Armory, California Military district, and prizes will be awarded in each of four age groups for the most appropriate, most original and prettiest costumes.

Letterman children will have their party in the auditorium of the former Presidio YMCA, Building 69, and again the carnival theme will prevail.

Youngsters of families residing in the Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite areas will have their fun in the Fort Cronkhite NCO Mess, and hours there will be 1730 to 2000. Prizes will be awarded for costumes in the age groups one through six, seven through nine and 10 through 12. Here, NCO club wives will assist with the festivities.

There will be games, carnival booths, candy and other refreshments galore, for both small and big spooks, and it is expected that altogether more than 1,500 will take part in the fun, which is being provided through the Youth Activities Council of the Presidio.

Service personnel themselves will have their choice of USO Halloween parties to attend.

Tonight there will be a Halloween dance at the YWCA-USO, 966 Market street, to be followed Sunday night by a Mexican-style buffet supper and orchestra dance.

At the Embarcadero YMCA a "Penny Carnival," will be in full swing Saturday night and a masquerade dance Sunday night.

Catholic USO at 70 Oak street will also have a Halloween party and masquerade dance Sunday night.

During WWII only 72 per cent of government spending was covered by taxes and bond purchases by persons and businesses. An additional 28 per cent was borrowed by the Government from banks.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Twin daughters to:
24 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Edward Amy, USMC Depot of Supply, 100 Harrison St., SFC.

Daughters to:
18 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Lyndell Goodson, 518 Ops. Det., Ft. Barry, Calif.; Ensign and Mrs. Michael J. Joyce, Navy School, Command, TI, Calif.

19 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Clarence Gilmore, Co. G, 9 Inf. Regt., Ft. Lewis, Wash.

20 October: A/2C and Mrs. Charles H. Smullen, 325 IFS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

21 October: Pfc. and Mrs. James L. Edgington, 9556 TU LAH, PSFC.

22 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Ernest C. Driggers, 28th AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur B. Thomas, Hq. Flt. Sec., WADF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

23 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Perry C. Drum, 2346 ARFC, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Ruel A. Goff, 9556 TU LAH, PSFC; S/Sgt. and Mrs. William F. Peterson, 566 Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Edward Sharp, 4754 Radar Eval. Flt., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

24 October: Pvt. and Mrs. Anthony M. Carnamolla, Hands Co. 820 EAB, Beale AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. James McVey, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC.

Sons to:
18 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Robert E. Burney, Co. C, 505th MP Bn., Ft. Baker, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert A. Cadulio, Hq. 4th AF Sq. Sec., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Clifford Goodwin, A Btry., 740th AAA Missile Bn., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Pearl H. Miller, 99th Engr. Co., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. James T. Myers, Det. 1, 6000 SU, Hq. 6 A, PSFC; and Mrs. Willie J. Rock, Co. D, 24th Inf. Regt., Ft. Ord, Calif.; A/IC and Mrs. Herbert R. Silva, 566th Supply Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

19 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Gray, Hq. Sq. 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. George L. Michel, 6513 SU, Calif. Mil. Dist., PSFC; Pvt. and Mrs. Joe Smith, Co. E, Inf. Regt., 2nd Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Emmett Tullie, 43 Comm. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

21 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Charles J. Glasco, 521st Engr. Sec., PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Millard T. Moore, 6020 SU Ret. Sta., OAB, Calif.

22 October: Cpl. and Mrs. Waldo Hutchins, Two Rock Ranch Sta., 8602 AAU, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Frederick E. Longfellow, 84 FIS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

23 October: Cpl. and Mrs. George Bilyeu, Hq. Co., 6000 SU, PSFC; A/2C and Mrs. Bobby L. Farris, 28 AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Ronald B. Madison, 305th MP Bn., Co. A, PSFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Curtis E. Walton, 4th Co., 6023rd SU, Pers. Ctr., Ft. Ord, Calif.

24 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Rudolph W. Izzo, 6901 ASU, OAB, Calif.; A/IC and Mrs. Richard I. Tallman, 28 AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

Shuttle Bus Schedule

ROUTE 1						ROUTE 2
START—Commissary	1200	1330	1500	1645	STOP	Read Down	Read Up	Read Down	Read Up	Read Down	Read Up
A. Lincoln & Riley	1015	1205	1335	1505	1650	1. Lincoln & Pershing	1015	1219	1330	1534	1749
B. Sheridan & Riley	1016	1206	1336	1506	1651	2. Pershing & Stillwell	1016	1218	1331	1533	1748
C. Qtrs. 327	1018	1208	1338	1508	1653	3. Qtrs. 1534	1017	1217	1332	1532	1747
D. Qtrs. 336	1019	1209	1339	1509	1654	4. Qtrs. 1558	1018	1216	1333	1531	1746
E. Qtrs. 11	1021	1211	1341	1511	1656	5. Pershing & Lincoln	1019	1215	1334	1530	1745
F. Qtrs. 631	1024	1214	1344	1514	1659	6. Qtrs. 958	1022	1212	1337	1527	1742
G. Qtrs. 828	1025	1215	1345	1515	1700	7. Qtrs. 1298	1026	1208	1341	1523	1738
H. Qtrs. 743	1027	1217	1347	1517	1702	8. Ft. Scott P. X.	1028	1206	1343	1521	1736
I. Qtrs. 749	1028	1218	1348	1518	1703	9. Qtrs. 1273	1029	1205	1344	1520	1735
J. Qtrs. 757	1029	1219	1349	1519	1704	10. Qtrs. 1261	1030	1204	1345	1519	1734
K. Qtrs. 732	1031	1221	1351	1521	1706	11. Qtrs. 1404	1031	1203	1346	1518	1733
L. Qtrs. 723	1033	1223	1353	1523	1708	12. Qtrs. 1326	1033	1201	1348	1516	1731
M. Qtrs. 716	1034	1224	1354	1524	1709	13. Qtrs. 1446	1036	1159	1351	1513	1728
N. Qtrs. 539	1035	1225	1355	1525	1710	14. Qtrs. 1431	1037	1157	1352	1512	1727
O. Qtrs. 534	1036	1226	1356	1526	1711	15. Qtrs. 403	1039	1155	1354	1510	1725
P. Bldg. 558	1038	1228	1358	1528	1713	16. Qtrs. 416	1040	1154	1355	1509	1724
Q. Qtrs. 1135	1040	1230	1400	1530	1715	17. Funston & Lincoln	1044	1150	1359	1505	1720
R. Qtrs. 1123	1041	1231	1401	1531	1716	18. P. X. Clothing Store	1046	1148	1401	1503	1718
S. LAH P. X.	1043	1233	1403	1533	1718	19. Commissary	1049	1145	1404	1500	1715
T. P. X. Clothing Store	1044	1234	1404	1534	1719
U. Commissary	1047	1237	1407	1537	1722

From Your Door!

Shuttle Bus Runs Could Prove Boon to Presidio Personnel

Presidio wives who have had occasion to envy San Francisco shoppers because of the popular downtown shoppers' shuttle bus service—"5 cents a ride!"—can feel proud in knowing that the Presidio Transportation Section has come up with something just as good for Presidians—and it's free!

The local shuttle bus runs were instituted here two weeks ago to answer a dire transportation need for car-less servicemen and their families living around the Post. The system comprises two buses which make a total of 219 stops a day around the main Post from 1015 to 1715.

The system is perfect. The only trouble is there are too few people using it.

Which made us wonder whether Mrs. John J. Presidian needed a few suggestions as to how she could utilize the shuttle and save herself gas and oil, shoe leather, nerves, and parking worries.

For instance, did the sergeant's wife living in one of the Wherry units know that she could take the shuttle from Pershing and Lincoln at any one of six times during the day and arrive at the Commissary, fresh as a rose, in less than 15 minutes? Less than an hour later, her shopping completed, she could return home on the same bus just as swiftly.

The shuttle will enable her husband to take the car to work. She can bring the youngsters to nursery school via the bus.

A trip to the Fort Scott, LAH or Presidio PX outlets can be made so much easier with no car to park! Just take the shuttle.

Servicemen who leave the car with their wives can bus home to lunch and back, in as little time as it takes to drive.

In effect, Presidio families are all "two-car families," with the new shuttle bus system in operation, except that it costs them nothing in gas, oil, tires, and monthly payments!

The Star-Presidian is republishing the bus schedules in the hope that it will encourage full utilization of the transportation by Post families.

It is suggested that readers cut out the schedule and retain it for handy reference. With it you can plan your trips to the minute.

Combat Goals!

The Army is pushing hard at its goal of boosting the percentage of its men in combat units. Latest figures show this contrast: at the end of WWII only 43 of every 100 soldiers were in operational forces. In June 1953 the ratio had been stepped up to 52 out of 100. And by June 1955 it is expected to be 62 out of 100.

New Army 'Otter'

Great Mobile; Eats Up Rough Terrain

Washington—The Army has announced the development of the "Otter," a new amphibious cargo carrier as much at home in water as on land.

Officially designated the M-7, the vehicle is capable of traversing almost any type of terrain at speeds up to 30 mph. It is particularly useful in snow, marshlands, swamps and sand where regular type cargo carriers would have difficulty.

The Otter is equipped with a marine propeller which can be lowered into position by a simple flick of the cross-drive transmission. This enables the craft to make quick transition from land to water. Then, when the Otter reaches shore again, extra wide tracks surrounding pneumatic tires are put into operation.

The vehicle has a cargo capacity of 3000 pounds and can be used to carry either supplies or personnel. It is powered by a 135-hp air-cooled engine and rides on 16-wheel pneumatic tires grouped in pairs. With the assistance of a cable and a power winch, the Otter can even pull itself out should it ever get stuck.

The Otter has undergone test runs at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., and Ft. Churchill, Canada. (AFPS)

Colonel Kern Named Commanding Officer of Oakland Army Base

Colonel Theodore D. Kern, recently returned from three years overseas duty in Germany, has been named commanding officer of Oakland Army base, it was announced today at Headquarters, San Francisco Port of Embarkation.

He succeeded Lt. Colonel Robert E. Johnson, who has been interim commanding officer of the base since Colonel Harry T. Meyers transferred to the Far East Command last month. Colonel Johnson resumed his duties with the Port Cargo traffic division.

Currently in his 12th year of Army service, Colonel Kern last served with the 10th Transportation Group under Seventh Army. During his last year in Europe he was commanding officer of the group.

Prior to his assignment there he saw duty in the Far East Command, both in Korea and Japan, from 1948 to 1950. This was his second tour in the Pacific as he was stationed in the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

Residing here with Colonel Kern will be his wife, Mathilda. The couple has one son, Lt. Douglas Bruce Kern, Air Force, who is now listed as missing in action in Korea.

FOLLOWING DAD'S LEAD, Daniel T. Walker is shown being sworn into the Air Force last week by his father, Major James Walker, Executive Officer of the Post Comptroller's Section. The Major's oldest son, Sgt. Robert Walker, received the oath from his father six years ago when he joined the Army.

Service Family Grows!

As Major Swears Second Son Into Defense Establishment

For the second time in his twenty-seven-year military career, Major James Walker, Executive Officer of the Post Comptroller's Section, experienced the honor of swearing a son into the Armed Forces. The major's youngest son, Daniel, was sworn into the Air Force last week in a ceremony which was supervised by Major I. S. Scales, commander of the USAF Recruiting Office in San Francisco.

Six years ago, Major Walker had a similar experience when his oldest son, Robert, enlisted in the Army. Now, Sergeant Robert Walker, the young career soldier is stationed at Fort Huachuaca, Arizona. Among his most recent assignments was one as Post Fiscal Officer at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, from April 1948 to July 1952. He joined the staff of the Post Comptroller in 1952.

Originally from Philadelphia, Major Walker now makes his home in San Anselmo, with his wife and teen-age daughter.

Xmas Employment

Application for Christmas employment for the period of Dec. 12th through the 24th by veterans living in the San Francisco city limits may be filed with the local Post Office immediately.

The recruitment period, up to Nov. 11th, will be confined to veterans only. If by that date, insufficient applications have been made all eligibles may then apply.

Application blanks are available in Room 127, Main Post Office, at Seventh and Mission Streets, daily from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M., excluding Saturdays and Sundays.

CMD M/Sgt. Awarded Commendation Ribbon

M/Sgt. Porfirio R. Martinez was presented the Army Commendation Ribbon with Medal Pendant, first oak leaf cluster, by Col. William E. Long, Chief of the California Military District at the Presidio. Sgt. Martinez received the award for his outstanding work with the Procurement Section of the Headquarters from March 28, 1953 to June 10, 1954. He also served the organization in the capacity of Staff Photographer.

Presently assigned to CMD Public Information duties, the Sergeant received his first commendation ribbon for his accomplishments while with the Provost Marshal's Office at Headquarters of the Japan Logistical Command in Yokohama.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRANTS: Members of the Presidio Woman's Club arrangements committee meet to plan the Program-Tea scheduled for November 4th, marking the groups 35th anniversary. Front row, left to right: Mrs. Rellie Lawyer, Mrs. J. F. Crosby, Mrs. Brookner W. Brady, and Mrs. D. Gilmer; back row left to right: Mrs. W. R. Leahy, Mrs. H. F. Kuenning and Mrs. Arthur Kirchoff.

35th Anniversary!

Local Woman's Club to Fete Founding During Next Week

Presidio of San Francisco Woman's Club will celebrate its 35th anniversary 4 November with a program-tea held at the Presidio Officers' Club beginning at 1400 hours. A pictorial pageant will be presented covering the growth and activities of the club since its inception in November 1919.

Co-founders, charter members and past presidents will be featured.

Mrs. W. G. Wyman, wife of the Sixth Army commander, is honorary president of the club and Mrs. Arthur A. G. Kirchoff is president. Among the honored guests will be the two co-founders, Mrs. Sue R. Merriman, 3009 Clay Street, San Francisco, and Mrs. William K. Jones, 1611 Stanford Avenue, Palo Alto, who was also the club's first president. Her husband, the late Colonel William Kinley Jones, was commander of the 44th Infantry, then stationed at the Presidio.

A commentary, "Through the Years," will be read by Mrs. Rellie Lawyer, program chairman, as the club member associated with each period steps into view through a picture frame erected on the stage for the occasion. Background music will include popular songs of the times.

Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Nathan W. Post, Mrs. C. W. McMillan and Mrs. James Notestein.

All members and former members are invited to attend and bring guests.

The Presidio Woman's Club was organized in November 1919 with an original membership of 88. The ladies felt they would like to expand their social meetings to include some organized group activities to help others. From this the concept of a "mothers club" for service personnel was born and has remained as an integral part of their program.

Among the first projects was establishing a milk fund to provide for needy families. A second was building up a lending library composed of books donated by members and circulated informally on the military posts in San Francisco. Over the years the club sponsored such projects as visiting hospital units, post nursery, thrift shop, youth activities and benefit drives to aid the less fortunate both at home and in war devastated countries. National charity fund drives also receive support by the club.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Saturday, 30 October—"The Glenn Miller Story," with James Stewart and June Allyson.

Sunday, 31 October and Monday, 1 November—"Cinemascope" "Demetrius and the Gladiators," with Susan Hayward and Victor Mature.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Target Earth," with Richard Denning and Virginia Grey.

Wednesday, 3 November and Thursday, 4 November—"Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"Penny Princess," with Yolanda Donlan and Dirk Bogarde.

Saturday, 30 October—"Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

Sunday, 31 October—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"Fire Over Africa," with Maureen O'Hara and MacDonald Carey.

Monday, 1 November—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Johnny Guitar," with Joan Crawford and Sterling Hayden.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 31 October—"Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Thursday, 4 November—"Johnny Guitar," with Joan Crawford and Sterling Hayden.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"The Weak and the Wicked," with Glynis Johns and Simone Silva.

Saturday, 30 October—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Sunday, 31 October and Monday, 1 November—"Fire Over Africa," with Maureen O'Hara and MacDonald Carey.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Penny Princess," with Yolanda Donlan and Dirk Bogarde.

Wednesday, 3 November—"Target Earth," with Richard Denning and Virginia Grey.

Thursday, 4 November—"Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

News in Books

Weapons, wars and defense are all vital subjects in today's world. Recent additions to the shelves of the Sixth Army Reference library discuss these vital phases in detail. And the books may be borrowed on a two-weeks basis if they cannot be found at your local library.

"SOVIET POLICY IN THE FAR EAST," by Max Beloff. A startling account of the development of Soviet policies in China, Japan, Korea, the Chinese borderlands and Southeast Asia.

"EXTERIOR BALLISTICS," by E. J. McShane. A comprehensive explanation of theoretical and experimental ballistics of projectiles, bombs and rockets as practiced at Aberdeen Proving Ground.

"WEAPONS," by Edwin Tunis. A fascinating pictorial history of man's defensive weapons from the flint ax of the Stone Age to the present atom bomb, with simple non-technical descriptions of each.

"THE AMERICAN MILITARY OCCUPATION OF GERMANY," by O. J. Frederiksen. An illustrated headquarters history told from the point of view of the headquarters of U. S. Army, Europe, and its predecessors during World War II occupation.

"FORMOSA BEACHHEAD," by G. T. Fitch. A critique on U. S. policy toward China, between 1945-1954, and a discussion of the improvement of Formosa under Chiang and its importance to the free world.

"CZECHOSLOVAKIA," by H. G. Wanklyn. A comprehensive study of Czechoslovakia which includes geography as well as history, written by a lecturer at Cambridge.

"UNCONDITIONAL HAJRED," by Russell Grenfell. The author, who served in the British Navy, maintains that "history disproves Germany's sole responsibility for the two World Wars" and that propaganda campaigns against that country have led to the detriment of amicable international relations.

Some Record!

The Military Air Transport Service carried 80 per cent of all armed forces airmail transported during 1953. The remaining 20 per cent was carried by scheduled commercial airlines.

Stamp sales at overseas Army post offices amounted to $19,836, 272 (M) during 1953.

The Facts Man!

Army Reenlistment Course Graduates Second NCO Class

Want to know the advantages of reenlisting in the Regular Army?

There are ten reenlistment NCO's from posts, camps, stations and units around the Sixth Army area who could give you the full story.

These NCO's are among the reenlistment and recruiting personnel who last week completed the Sixth Army's two week Recruiting School.

The class that just graduated, the second to finish since the beginning of the current semester, learned, among other things, how to be good salesmen for the United States Army.

Selling was not as much involved as pointing out to prospective RA's the advantages of making the Army a career.

The students in the recruiting and enlistment course learn to be experts on the advantages of making the Army a career. Such things as reenlistment bonus, mustering out pay, grades upon reenlistment, clothing allowances and other incentives must be second nature to them, since it is their job to illustrate these advantages to prospective reenlistment material in a telling "sales talk."

For the reenlistment NCO's, this meant pointing out the qualifications and procedures of enlistment and reenlistment, choice of service, reenlistment in such services as CIC, Army Language School, Army Security Agency, bands, and leader type training courses.

Don't be worried of being high pressured by these NCO's either. Here's part of the instruction that they are given in their course, "We, in the United States have got to have a get-up-and-go Regular Army. For that reason, the reenlistment program now going on . . . is aimed at bringing the Regular Army up to required strength if possible, and keeping it there. Just that. No empire, no dictatorship, no baloney, nothing, except just plain old everyday Horse Sense. The same Horse Sense that tells you to hit it when the shooting starts. The same Horse Sense that tells you to go in the house when it rains."

Singers Wanted

The Presidio Male Choral group is still recruiting members, it was announced today. All voices are needed and members are excused from duty for practice hours. Of added interest is the fact that the group has been entered in the Sixth Army finals of the second annual all-Army Soldier Singing contest. Each Army area finalists will appear in New York in January. Full details on joining the chorus are available at Ext. 2002.

Important Role

In 1901 the Signal Corps became responsible for all communications between the United States and Alaska as well as all military and civilian communications in the Alaska Territory. The Washington-Alaska Military Cable and Telegraph System (WAMCATS) still operates as part of the Signal Corps today. WAMCATS provides long distance telephone service, complete telephone and telegraph and money-order service, for both military and civilian interests in Alaska.

Pool Tournament

A pool tournament, enthusiasm for which may well turn it into a quarterly affair, is being staged this weekend at the Presidio Service club. A trio of three-man teams from the Presidio, Fort Baker and Letterman hospital respectively, will match cues and eight-balls to determine the final winner. Quarterfinals will take place at 1300 hours Saturdays, and the finals at 1300 hours Sunday. Finalists were chosen through preliminary competition in their respective posts during the week.

Local Studio Broadcasts Band's Recorded Music Every Weekend

Adding to their many personal appearances in the Bay Area, the Sixth Army Band initiates a new series of recorded concerts on KGO-Radio this week.

Programs of this highly rated band musical organization are scheduled for airing from 5:45 to 6:00 p.m., Saturdays for an indefinite period.

Stationed at the Presidio, the group has been prominent in band competition throughout the state, winning trophies and praise in every major California City. Radio stations in the Los Angeles and Seattle Areas carry the band programs weekly.

The repertoire of the 65 piece band includes both popular and march tunes, and an occasional novelty number. Conducting the Band is Chief Warrant Officer Louis Ferraro.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 29 October—Bus leaves Service club at 1830 for Cow Palace for Grand National Livestock show; scrabble at 2000; crafts room open.

Saturday, 30 October—Tony's dance class, 1900; Halloween party with band, games and refreshments; come in costume if you like, 2000.

Sunday, 31 October—Braden Follies, 2000.

Monday, 1 November—Guitar instructions, coffee hour and quiz, 2000.

Tuesday, 2 November—Square dance, 2000; crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 3 November—Pinochle tournament, bridge lessons and drama group, all at 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 4 November—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 29 October—Pool tournament preliminaries, 2000.

Saturday, 30 October—Pool tournament quarter finals, Presidio Service club, 1300; horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 31 October—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; pool tournament finals, Presidio Service club, 1300; Lorene Craft stage show, 2000.

Monday, 1 November—Crafts class, make your own Christmas gifts, 1900.

Tuesday, 2 November—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 3 October—Tournaments, 2000.

Thursday, 4 November—Square dancing, 2000.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 29 October—Halloween dance in Teen Age Club from 200

Shuttle Bus Schedule

ROUTE 1					ROUTE 2
START—Commissary	1200	1330	1500	1645	STOP	Read Down	Read Up	Read Down	Read Up
STOP					STOP
A. Lincoln & Riley	1015	1205	1335	1505	1650	1. Lincoln & Pershing	1015	1219	1330
B. Sheridan & Riley	1016	1206	1336	1506	1651	2. Pershing & Stillwell	1016	1218	1331
C. Qtrs. 327	1018	1208	1338	1508	1653	3. Qtrs. 3534	1017	1217	1332
D. Qtrs. 336	1019	1209	1339	1509	1654	4. Qtrs. 1558	1018	1216	1333
E. Qtrs. 11	1021	1211	1341	1511	1656	5. Pershing & Lincoln	1019	1215	1334
F. Qtrs. 631	1024	1214	1344	1514	1659	6. Qtrs. 958	1022	1212	1337
G. Qtrs. 828	1025	1215	1345	1515	1700	7. Qtrs. 1298	1026	1208	1341
H. Qtrs. 743	1027	1217	1347	1517	1702	8. Ft. Scott P. X.	1028	1206	1343
I. Qtrs. 749	1028	1218	1348	1518	1703	9. Qtrs. 1273	1029	1205	1344
J. Qtrs. 757	1029	1219	1349	1519	1704	10. Qtrs. 1261	1030	1204	1345
K. Qtrs. 732	1031	1221	1351	1521	1708	11. Qtrs. 1304	1031	1203	1346
L. Qtrs. 723	1033	1223	1353	1523	1710	12. Qtrs. 1326	1033	1201	1348
M. Qtrs. 716	1034	1224	1354	1524	1709	13. Qtrs. 1446	1036	1158	1351
N. Qtrs. 539	1035	1225	1355	1525	1710	14. Qtrs. 1431	1037	1157	1352
O. Qtrs. 534	1036	1226	1356	1526	1711	15. Qtrs. 403	1039	1155	1354
P. Bldg. 558	1038	1228	1358	1528	1713	16. Qtrs. 416	1040	1154	1355
Q. Qtrs. 1135	1040	1230	1400	1530	1715	17. Funston & Lincoln	1044	1150	1359
R. Qtrs. 1123	1041	1231	1401	1531	1716	18. P. X. Clothing Store	1046	1148	1401
S. LAH P. X.	1043	1233	1403	1533	1718	19. Commissary	1049	1145	1404
T. P. X. Clothing Store	1044	1234	1404	1534	1719
U. Commissary	1047	1237	1407	1537

From Your Door!

Shuttle Bus Runs Could Prove Boon to Presidio Personnel

Presidio wives who have had occasion to envy San Francisco shoppers because of the popular downtown shoppers' shuttle bus service—"5 cents a ride!"—can feel proud in knowing that the Presidio Transportation Section has come up with something just as good for Presidians—and it's free!

The local shuttle bus runs were instituted here two weeks ago to answer a dire transportation need for car-less servicemen and their families living around the Post. The system comprises two buses which make a total of 219 stops a day around the main Post from 1015 to 1715.

The system is perfect. The only trouble is there are too few people using it.

Which made us wonder whether Mrs. John J. Presidian needed a few suggestions as to how she could utilize the shuttle and save herself gas and oil, shoe leather, nerves, and parking worries.

For instance, did the sergeant's wife living in one of the Wherry units know that she could take the shuttle from Pershing and Lincoln at any one of six times during the day and arrive at the Commissary, fresh as a rose, in less than 15 minutes? Less than an hour later, her shopping completed, she could return home on the same bus just as swiftly.

The shuttle will enable her husband to take the car to work. She can bring the youngsters to nursery school via the bus.

A trip to the Fort Scott, LAH or Presidio PX outlets can be made so much easier with no car to park! Just take the shuttle.

Servicemen who leave the car with their wives can bus home to lunch and back, in as little time as it takes to drive.

In effect, Presidio families are all "two-car families," with the new shuttle bus system in operation, except that it costs them nothing in gas, oil, tires, and monthly payments!

The Star-Presidian is republishing the bus schedules in the hope that it will encourage full utilization of the transportation by Post families.

It is suggested that readers cut out the schedule and retain it for handy reference. With it you can plan your trips to the minute.

Combat Goals!

The Army is pushing hard at its goal of boosting the percentage of its men in combat units. Latest figures show this contrast: at the end of WWII only 43 of every 100 soldiers were in operational forces. In June 1953 the ratio had been stepped up to 52 out of 100. And by June 1955 it is expected to be 62 out of 100.

New Army 'Otter' Great Mobile; Eats Up Rough Terrain

Washington—The Army has announced the development of the "Otter," a new amphibious cargo carrier as much at home in water as on land.

Officially designated the M-7, the vehicle is capable of traversing almost any type of terrain at speeds up to 30 mph. It is particularly useful in snow, marshlands, swamps and sand where regular type cargo carriers would have difficulty.

The Otter is equipped with a marine propeller which can be lowered into position by a simple flick of the cross-drive transmission. This enables the craft to make quick transition from land to water. Then, when the Otter reaches shore again, extra wide tracks surrounding pneumatic tires are put into operation.

The vehicle has a cargo capacity of 3000 pounds and can be used to carry either supplies or personnel. It is powered by a 135-hp air-cooled engine and rides on 16-wheel pneumatic tires grouped in pairs. With the assistance of a cable and a power winch, the Otter can even pull itself out should it ever get stuck.

The Otter has undergone test runs at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., and Ft. Churchill, Canada. (AFPS)

Colonel Kern Named Commanding Officer of Oakland Army Base

Colonel Theodore D. Kern, recently returned from three years overseas duty in Germany, has been named commanding officer of Oakland Army base, it was announced today at Headquarters, San Francisco Port of Embarkation.

He succeeded Lt. Colonel Robert E. Johnson, who has been interim commanding officer of the base since Colonel Harry T. Meyers transferred to the Far East Command last month. Colonel Johnson resumed his duties with the Port Cargo traffic division.

Currently in his 12th year of Army service, Colonel Kern last served with the 10th Transportation Group under Seventh Army. During his last year in Europe he was commanding officer of the group.

Prior to his assignment there he saw duty in the Far East Command, both in Korea and Japan, from 1948 to 1950. This was his second tour in the Pacific as he was stationed in the China-Burma-India theater during World War II.

Residing here with Colonel Kern will be his wife, Mathilda. The couple has one son, Lt. Douglas Bruce Kern, Air Force, who is now listed as missing in action in Korea.

FOLLOWING DAD'S LEAD, Daniel T. Walker is shown being sworn into the Air Force last week by his father, Major James Walker, Executive Officer of the Post Comptroller's Section. The Major's oldest son, Sgt. Robert Walker, received the oath from his father six years ago when he joined the Army.

Service Family Grows!

As Major Swears Second Son Into Defense Establishment

For the second time in his twenty-seven-year military career, Major James Walker, Executive Officer of the Post Comptroller's Section, experienced the honor of swearing a son into the Armed Forces. The major's youngest son, Daniel, was sworn into the Air Force last week in a ceremony which was supervised by Major T. S. Scales, commander of the USAF Recruiting Office in San Francisco.

Six years ago, Major Walker had a similar experience when his oldest son, Robert, enlisted in the Army. Now, Sergeant Robert Walker, the young career soldier is stationed at Fort Huachuaca, Arizona.

The Walker family's latest contribution to the Armed Forces joined the Air Force, hoping to continue an interest in Aviation by qualifying for the Air Cadet program.

Major Walker joined the Army as a private in 1927, serving in enlisted-man status until receiving a commission at the Officer's Candidate School at Grinnell College, Iowa, in 1943.

Among his most recent assignments was one as Post Fiscal Officer at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, from April 1948 to July 1952. He joined the staff of the Post Comptroller in 1952.

Originally from Philadelphia, Major Walker now makes his home in San Anselmo, with his wife and teen-age daughter.

Xmas Employment

Application for Christmas employment for the period of Dec. 12th through the 24th by veterans living in the San Francisco city limits may be filed with the local Post Office immediately.

The recruitment period, up to Nov. 11th, will be confined to veterans only. If by that date, insufficient applications have been made all eligibles may then apply.

Application blanks are available in Room 127, Main Post Office, at Seventh and Mission Streets, daily from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M., excluding Saturdays and Sundays.

CMD M/Sgt. Awarded Commendation Ribbon

M/Sgt. Porfirio R. Martinez was presented the Army Commendation Ribbon with Medal Pendant, first oak leaf cluster, by Col. William E. Long, Chief of the California Military District at the Presidio. Sgt. Martinez received the award for his outstanding work with the Procurement Section of the Headquarters from March 28, 1953 to June 10, 1954. He also served the organization in the capacity of Staff Photographer.

Presently assigned to CMD Public Information duties, the Sergeant received his first commendation ribbon for his accomplishments while with the Provost Marshal's Office at Headquarters of the Japan Logistical Command in Yokohama.

The Facts Man!

Army Reenlistment Course Graduates Second NCO Class

Want to know the advantages of reenlisting in the Regular Army?

There are ten reenlistment NCO's from posts, camps, stations and units around the Sixth Army area who could give you the full story.

These NCO's are among the reenlistment and recruiting personnel who last week completed the Sixth Army's two week Recruiting School.

The class that just graduated, the second to finish since the beginning of the current semester, learned, among other things, how to be good salesmen for the United States Army.

Selling was not as much involved as pointing out to prospective RA's the advantages of making the Army a career.

The students in the recruiting and enlistment course learn to be experts on the advantages of making the Army a career. Such things as reenlistment bonus, mustering out pay, grades upon reenlistment, clothing allowances and other incentives must be second nature to them, since it is their job to illustrate these advantages to prospective reenlistment material in a telling "sales talk."

For the reenlistment NCO's, this meant pointing out the qualifications and procedures of enlistment and reenlistment, choice of service, reenlistment in such services as CIC, Army Language School, Army Security Agency, bands, and leader type training courses.

Don't be worried if being high pressured by these NCO's either. Here's part of the instruction that they are given in their course, "We, in the United States have got to have a get-up-and-go Regular Army. For that reason, the reenlistment program now going on is aimed at bringing the Regular Army up to required strength if possible, and keeping it there. Just that. No empire, no dictatorship, no baloney, nothing, except just plain old everyday Horse Sense. The same Horse Sense that tells you to hit it when the shoot starts. The same Horse Sense that tells you to go in the house when it rains."

Singers Wanted

The Presidio Male Choral group is still recruiting members, it was announced today. All voices are needed and members are excused from duty for practice hours. Of added interest is the fact that the group has been entered in the Sixth Army finals of the second annual all-Army Soldier Singing contest, each Army area finalists will appear in New York in January. Full details on joining the chorus are available at Ext. 2002.

Important Role

In 1901 the Signal Corps became responsible for all communications between the United States and Alaska as well as all military and civilian communications in the Alaska Territory. The Washington-Alaska Military Cable and Telegraph System (WAMCATS) still operates as part of the Signal Corps today. WAMCATS provides long distance telephone service, complete telephone and telegraph and money-order service, for both military and civilian interests in Alaska.

Pool Tournament

A pool tournament, enthusiasm for which may well turn it into a quarterly affair, is being staged this weekend at the Presidio Service club. A trio of three-man teams from the Presidio, Fort Baker and Letterman hospital respectively, will match cues and eight-balls to determine the final winner. Quarter-finals will take place at 1300 hours Saturdays, and the finals at 1300 hours Sunday. Finalists were chosen through preliminary competition in their respective posts during the week.

Local Studio Broadcasts Band's Recorded Music Every Weekend

Adding to their many personal appearances in the Bay Area, the Sixth Army Band initiates a new series of recorded concerts on KGO-Radio this week.

Programs of this highly rated band musical organization are scheduled for airing from 5:45 to 6:00 p.m., Saturdays for an indefinite period.

Stationed at the Presidio, the group has been prominent in band competition throughout the state, winning trophies and praise in every major California City. Radio stations in the Los Angeles and Seattle Areas carry the band programs weekly.

The repertoire of the 65 piece band includes both popular and march tunes, and an occasional novelty number. Conducting the Band is Chief Warrant Officer Louis Ferraro.

For Your Pleasure

PRESIDIO SERVICE CLUB
Friday, 29 October—Bus leaves Service club at 1830 for Cow Palace for Grand National Livestock show; scorable at 2000; crafts room open.

Saturday, 30 October—Tony's dance class, 1900; Halloween party with band, games and refreshments; come in costume if you like, 2000.

Sunday, 31 October—Braden Follies, 2000.

Monday, 1 November—Guitar instructions, coffee hour and quiz, 2000.

Tuesday, 2 November—Square dance, 2000; crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Wednesday, 3 November—Pinochle tournament, bridge lessons and drama group, all at 2000. Crafts class, 1900 to 2200.

Thursday, 4 November—Post dance, 2000.

FORT BAKER SERVICE CLUB

Friday, 29 October—Pool tournament preliminaries, 2000.

Saturday, 30 October—Pool tournament quarter finals, Presidio Service club, 1300; horse racing, 2000.

Sunday, 31 October—Coffee and donuts, 0930 to 1100; pool tournament finals, Presidio Service club, 1300; Lorene Cracraft stage show, 2000.

Monday, 1 November—Crafts class, make your own Christmas gifts, 1900.

Tuesday, 2 November—Post dance, 2000.

Wednesday, 3 October—Tournaments, 2000.

Thursday, 4 November—Square dancing, 2000.

Teen Age Club

Friday, 29 October—Halloween dance in Teen Age Club from 2000 to 2200.

Saturday, 30 October—Birthdays party with free cake and coffee.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRANTS: Members of the Presidio Woman's Club arrangements committee meet to plan the Program-Tea scheduled for November 4th, marking the groups 35th anniversary. Front row, left to right: Mrs. Rellie Lawyer, Mrs. J. F. Crosby, Mrs. Brookner W. Brady, and Mrs. D. Gilmer; back row left to right: Mrs. W. R. Leahy, Mrs. H. F. Kuenning, and Mrs. Arthur Kirchhoff.

35th Anniversary!

Local Woman's Club to Fete Founding During Next Week

Presidio of San Francisco Woman's Club will celebrate its 35th anniversary 4 November with a program-tea held at the Presidio Officers' Club beginning at 1400 hours. A pictorial pageant will be presented covering the growth and activities of the club since its inception in November 1919.

Co-founders, charter members and past presidents will be featured.

Mrs. W. G. Wyman, wife of the Sixth Army commander, is honorary president of the club and Mrs. Arthur A. G. Kirchhoff is president. Among the honored guests will be the two co-founders, Mrs. Sue R. Merriman, 3009 Clay Street, San Francisco, and Mrs. William K. Jones, 1611 Stanford Avenue, Palo Alto, who was also the club's first president. Her husband, the late Colonel William Kinley Jones, was commander of the 44th Infantry, then stationed at the Presidio.

A commentary, "Through the Years," will be read by Mrs. Rellie Lawyer, program chairman, as the club member associated with each period steps into view through a picture frame erected on the stage for the occasion. Background music will include popular songs of the times.

Hostesses for the afternoon are Mrs. Nathan W. Post, Mrs. C. W. McMillan and Mrs. James Notestein.

All members and former members are invited to attend and bring guests.

The Presidio Woman's Club was organized in November 1919 with an original membership of 88. The ladies felt they would like to expand their social meetings to include some organized group activities to help others. From this the concept of a "mothers club" for service personnel was born and has remained as an integral part of their program.

Among the first projects was establishing a milk fund to provide for needy families. A second was building up a lending library composed of books donated by members and circulated informally on the military posts in San Francisco. Over the years the club sponsored such projects as visiting hospital units, post nursery, thrift shop, youth activities and benefit drives to aid the less fortunate both at home and in war devastated countries. National charity fund drives also receive support by the club.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Saturday, 30 October—"The Glenn Miller Story," with James Stewart and June Allyson.

Sunday, 31 October and Monday, 1 November—"Cinemascopia" "Demetrius and the Gladiators," with Susan Hayward and Victor Mature.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Target Earth," with Richard Denning and Virginia Grey.

Wednesday, 3 November and Thursday, 4 November—"Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"Penny Princess," with Yolanda Donlan and Dirk Bogarde.

Saturday, 30 October—"Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

Sunday, 31 October—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"Fire Over Africa," with Maureen O'Hara and MacDonald Carey.

Monday, 1 November—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Wednesday, 3 November—"Johnny Guitar," with Joan Crawford and Sterling Hayden.

FORT BARRY THEATRE

Sunday, 31 October—"Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Thursday, 4 November—"Johnny Guitar," with Joan Crawford and Sterling Hayden.

LETTERMAN THEATRE

Friday, 29 October—"The Weak and the Wicked," with Glynnis Johns and Simone Silva.

Saturday, 30 October—"Shield for Murder," with Edmond O'Brien and John Agar.

Sunday, 31 October and Monday, 1 November—"Fire Over Africa," with Maureen O'Hara and MacDonald Carey.

Tuesday, 2 November—"Penny Princess," with Yolanda Donlan and Dirk Bogarde.

Wednesday, 3 November—"Target Earth," with Richard Denning and Virginia Grey.

Thursday, 4 November—"Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

RAIDERS' ED COLOROSI PLOUGHS GOALWARD as soldier quarterback Don Burroughs throws the block that downs Gene Fowler, left half for the Martinez Panthers. The local garrison walloped the Martinez semi-pro eleven 12-0 on the Fort Scott field last October 9. The Reds meet the Panthers again tomorrow at Martinez. Up from a crushing defeat by Hamilton AFB, the Raiders could be winners in tomorrows tilt.

Repeat Performance!

Red Raiders Return Tomorrow To Meet Panthers At Martinez

By Pvt. Dick Stewart
Star-Presidian Sports Editor

Again up from defeat, the badly mauled Raider eleven will be back on the gridiron tomorrow to meet the Martinez Panthers on the Martinez field at 2000 hours. The two pigskin squads met three weeks ago at Fort Scott where the locals trounced the Panthers in a rugged uphill win, 12-0.

In spite of the soldiers' dismal loss to the Hamilton AFB Defenders two weeks ago it looks like another Army victory over the Panthers tomorrow. It won't be an easy one for the locals, however, as the big cats displayed a sharp aerial attack that was good for more airborne yardage than the soldiers managed in the previous scuffle.

The Achilles heel for the cats, however, is a pretty shaky defense against ground attack. The infantrymen marched 220 yards through Martinez ranks for a victory that was largely gained on the ground in the last meet. A repeat performance by the Raiders could again beat out the Martinez squad, unless the Panthers can come up with a solid ground defense by tomorrow, which is rather unlikely.

L. C. Joyner, left half for tomorrow's hosts is the big gun for the rivals. A serious threat to the Raiders, the stalwart leg man was good for plenty of yardage in the earlier tilt. In one of the highlights of the day he returned an Army kick-off 43 yards, deep into local territory.

The Panther squad is approximately the same size as the Raiders and shows a little more depth on the bench. However, the locals showed fairly solid depth against the rivals for the first time in the season. If P.S.F. coach Steven Glick can run a two platoon game again, the soldiers will have a chance to show off more of the bench than otherwise.

Missing from the Red Raider line-up tomorrow will be Robert Rowe, left end, who was injured earlier in the season in the previous Martinez tilt.

Possible starters for the Panthers could include Dick Zampa at fullback, Gene Fowler and Sal Costanza in the half positions, and Gene Zampa as play-caller.

The beginning line will probably have Chuck Sharp at center, Lou Cocomiglo and Duane Furman at right and left guards, Jim Mulcahy and Bill Colona are the probable starting tackles. Starters at end spots could be Don Pino on the left and Don Loyd on the right.

Raider-Flyer Tilt At Edwards AFB Cancelled by Dust

Southern dust was the ultimate victor in last week's pigskin tilt between the Red Raiders and Edwards AFB. The local garrison planed southward last Thursday in order to arrive early enough to become accustomed to the intense heat typical of the area.

After the disastrous results of the Palo Alto heat when the soldiers met the Stanford Braves, Coach Steve Glick took the precaution of arriving early for the Edwards meet. The soldiers had two days to get used to working out in the scorching weather that is in such contrast to the cool fog of the San Francisco area.

However, as the clock ticked closer to game time, the arid desert winds blew up stronger and stronger, carrying with them the dust and sand of the outlying areas. The swirling eddies of dust grew larger and larger until a full fledged dust storm was in progress.

By game time, the dust was so thick that there was nothing to do but cancel the game altogether. The Raiders returned to the Presidio, having met no opposition on the gridiron but plenty of it in the dusty southern skies.

Florence Chadwick, San Diego, swam the English Channel in 13 hours, 20 minutes.

BOWLING TEAM UNIT AWARD went to Headquarters Company Sixth Army, which took the honors in the Western Bowling League for the last series of games played. Shown receiving the award from 1st Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post special service officer, are M/Sgt. Jack M. Cornett and Captain Albert Gollnick, commanding officer of Headquarters Company, Sixth Army. Receiving the award for the National Bowling League but not in the picture was PFC. George Evans of Det. 1, 6002 SU.

MP Powers!

Eastern's Gallo Again Rolls High Scores In Post Keg Set

High roller for the Eastern League again this week was Gallo of the 505th MP Battalion, Company B. His individual high game was 238 and high individual series was 652 to top the weekly keg league scores.

Malinski sparked his 56th MRU aggregation to the head of the win list with 28 wins and eight losses. His high game was 225 and the ace pin smasher rolled a 160 average.

The 21st Engineers rolled into second place spot as Rothong keggered a 212 high game and 163 average. The 21st dropped 12 1/2 and won 23 1/2.

Standing 20 up, 16 down, the Keystone Kops maneuvered into fourth spot in the Eastern League as stalwart Johnson powered a 199 high game and a 157 average.

Trailing in the Eastern set were 6300 SU in fifth position, 56th MRU No. 2, 6th, the Slow Rollers, 7th, and the Harbor Defenders in 8th spot.

High point powerhouse Bryant blasted individual high game for the National League with a pin score of 212 and high series of 527. The pace setter for the Maroons lead his contingent to second place in the National, the Maroons being up 20 and down 12.

Det. 1, 6002, outpinned the Maroons for lead position, standing 22 to the good and 10 down. Van Ausdall paced the weekly high with 176 high game and 163 average.

Foul Lines for Bowlers

Foul lines have now been installed in alleys at the Presidio Service Club and the foul line rules will go into effect immediately for all League play.

Third place honors in the National went to the 6513 SU as sparker Marks rolled a 186 high for his team and a 158 average. The 6513 has won 17, lost 15. Hill-Toppers teams 3, 2, and 1 ran in 4th, 5th, and 6th places respectively, followed by 102nd MRU and Hq. Sixth Army.

Top pointer for the Pacific League was Williams of the Missilers. In a paradox of the alleys, Williams' high game of 230 and high series of 549 failed to bring his aggregation from 6th spot in the Pacific League.

Leading the league are the Barons with 11 up and 1 down. High pointer was Cox with 198 high game and 158 average.

The Fly Boys No. 2 rolled for second place with 8 wins and four losses. Their pace setter for the week was Nichols, with a high game of 166 and a 131 average.

In third place, the Qmers stand 7 up and 5 down. Sparker was Partridge, with 145 high game and a 111 average.

The Fly Boys No. 1 tripped into fourth spot, followed by the Vets, the Missilers, the Pinsplitters, and the Buckpassers.

Heidengren of the 99th Engineers ran up the high game for the Western League with a solid 200.

6th Army Issues Hunt Rules for Military Reserves

Hunting regulations for military reservations were released recently from Sixth Army Headquarters and pertain to all military reservations in the Sixth Army Area. The following are excerpts from the official memorandum:

1. Installation commanders will be responsible for establishing and maintaining control of hunting and fishing within military reservations under their jurisdiction.

2. The following priorities will be observed by commanders authorizing hunting and fishing within military reservations:

- a. Military personnel on Active Duty, and their dependents.
- b. Retired personnel of the Armed Forces.
- c. Department of Army civilian employees.
- d. Other civilians.
- 3. The following policies are established for exercising control over hunting and fishing.
- a. Check points will be established to sign in and sign out personnel entering the reservation to hunt.
- b. Hunting permits for civilians will be issued on a day-to-day basis.
- c. Necessary measures will be instituted to safeguard against entry into restricted security areas, chemically contaminated areas, and artillery impact areas.
- d. Federal and state fish and game laws as prescribed in para. 2, above reference, will be enforced and full cooperation will be extended to state fish and game officials in cases over which they have jurisdiction.
- e. State penal laws relative to fish and game will be operative on all military installations.
- f. Hunting and fishing will not be permitted to interfere with training activities or other functions of the installation.

With over 10 years service in the exchanges, Fran doesn't plan to continue working overseas, but instead start rearing a family.

From Fort Mason, "Fran," as her friends call her, moved to Camp Stoneman and was promoted to manager of the clothing exchange. She remained at Stoneman, near her home in Pittsburg, for six years and then moved down to the Presidio of San Francisco where she has since been employed in various PX's in the Presidio area.

WAC Champs Fete Victory at Banquet

The victorious WAC softball team, Sixth Army Champions, dined last night at a local eatery in a belated celebration of their victory. The banquet was attended by the fourteen members of the championship team, Lt. Norma Redman, team coach and sponsor, and Capt. Virginia Engles, WAC Detachment CO. Several other guests were also present.

TEN YEARS OF LOYAL SERVICE was culminated with the presentation of a ten year pin to Mrs. Frances Barton by Colonel William C. Holly, Commanding Officer, 30th Engineer Group. Mrs. Barton is manager of the Fort Scott Post Exchange and started her service in July of 1944 at Fort Mason. She will leave in a few months to join her husband, SFC Richard M. Barton, formerly of the 505th MP Battalion, who is currently stationed in Augsburg, Germany, with the 11th Infantry Regiment.

Ft. Scott Post Exchange Chief Wins Ten Year Service Pin

By Cpl. Ross S. Metcalfe

This copy of the Star Presidian will be of particular interest to one U. S. Army Sfc. in Augsburg, Germany, because it concerns his wife who has been sending him copies of the paper every week since he has been overseas.

The soldier is Sfc. Richard M. Barton, formerly with the 505th MP Battalion here on the Presidio and who is now serving with the security guard of the 11th Infantry Regiment in Germany. His wife, soon to join her spouse in Germany, is Mrs. Frances Barton who was recently presented with a 10 year pin for service with the Bay Area Exchange and PX's throughout the Bay Area and at Camp Stoneman.

Mrs. Barton is the manager of the Post Exchange at Fort Scott and was presented the pin by Colonel William C. Holly, Commanding Officer 30th Engineer Group. The award was made in recognition of continuous and loyal service since July of 1944 when she first started as a sales clerk at Fort Mason.

From Fort Mason, "Fran," as her friends call her, moved to Camp Stoneman and was promoted to manager of the clothing exchange. She remained at Stoneman, near her home in Pittsburg, for six years and then moved down to the Presidio of San Francisco where she has since been employed in various PX's in the Presidio area.

A promotion to branch retail manager at the Fort Scott exchange followed in 1953 and that summer she married SFC Barton.

With over 10 years service in the exchanges, Fran doesn't plan to continue working overseas, but instead start rearing a family.

Cut Rate Theater!

The Actor's Workshop of San Francisco is currently offering a special group rate to soldiers at the Presidio for all their Sunday performances. The groups must be of 10 or more, and the special admission price is set at $1.00 a person.

The Workshop, which is located at 37 Elgin St., near Market, is now showing the famous classic of man vs. fate, "Oedipus Rex," and a hilarious farce comedy, entitled "Pierre Patelin." Performances are also given every Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30, while the Sunday show starts at 7:00 P. M. Reservations can be made by calling Market 1-5901 after 1 P. M. daily.

Following his European service, Colonel Johnston was assigned to

AER Head Lauds Sixth Army Gift To Annual Drive

Edward F. Witsell, Major General, Retired, director of the Army Emergency Relief organization, Department of the Army, has forwarded to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, a letter of thanks for the Sixth Army's generous support of the recent annual AER campaign in which a total of $4,658.98 was forwarded, plus an additional amount of $75.25 sent after the letter was posted.

The text of the letter is as follows:

"Again I am greatly pleased to acknowledge additional contributions amounting to $2,640.08, reported on the Presidio of San Francisco AER Financial Report for September, making a total of $4,658.98 contributed to this year's AER-ARS Joint Fund campaign, and to personally thank you for your vigorous support, which has made such a generous response possible.

"It is because of this type of support that the Army is able through AER to preserve that fine old Army tradition, 'The Army takes care of its own,' which in turn has made AER such a formidable instrument of morale to commanders everywhere. In this connection, the Board of Managers of AER hopes that AER funds are fully utilized in all cases where the morale of the individual soldier and of his command would be benefited thereby.

"Please again convey to all the members of your headquarters and all the other Army personnel on duty at the Presidio of San Francisco my sincere thanks and the deep appreciation of our Board of Managers for their outstanding demonstration of interest, confidence and support."

Morse Code visual signaling first was used by the Army during the Navajo campaign in June, 1860.

Career Finale!

Three Retire During Mid-Week Retreat Ceremony on Presidio

Three officers of the Presidio of San Francisco were honored on Tuesday at retirement ceremonies in which a thousand soldiers paraded behind the Sixth Army Band and Bagpipers.

Ending their Army careers were Col. William L. Boland, Lt. Col. Benjamin H. Johnston, and Major Rellie E. Lawyer, of Sixth Army Ordnance section.

Colonel Boland, who has been at the Presidio since June, served in Korea as an ordnance advisor in the Korean Military Advisory Group. He enlisted in the Army in August, 1919, and served in the 1st and 15th Cavalry Divisions before 1930. Colonel Boland had assignments in the Far East, Hawaii and Guam after World War II.

His medals and decorations include the Bronze Star, Commendation Ribbon and the British Military Order. Born in Bon Aqua, Tennessee, Colonel Johnston plans to live in Tulsa, Oklahoma, following retirement.

Major Rellie E. Lawyer enlisted in 1942 and completed Officers Candidate School the next year at Aberdeen Proving Grounds. For the next two and a half years he served in the San Francisco Ordnance District as production and plant clearance officer. Leaving the service in 1946, Major Lawyer returned in March, 1951, as the Army representative at the San Jose, California, plant that manufactured the only armored personnel carriers produced on the West Coast.

In 1952 he was appointed executive officer of San Francisco Ordnance District, remaining in that capacity until February, 1954, when he was assigned to Korea. He returned from the Far East Command in June.

Also retiring but not at the ceremonies were, Colonel C. U. Cadwell, and WOJG Percival F. Pawsey.

IS THAT YOU? Might be—hard to tell with those tricky disguises. There will be more just like 'em or maybe even more spooky, when well over 1,500 youngsters of all ages arrive on the "Broomland Special" for the three Halloween parties slated for Saturday night at Harmon Armory, the former YMCA building and the Fort Cronkhite NCO Mess. Have your ill spooks ready to go when the festivities start at approximately 1800 hours. Prizes for the most outstanding costumes too!

Very Scarey!

Halloween Parties to Hold Full Sway for Spooks Saturday

Witches, goblins and other spooks of assorted sizes are planning to invade the usually quiet grounds of the Presidio and its sub-posts tomorrow night.

Witch only goes to prove—it's Halloween again!

Which witch party your moppets will attend, depends on where Pop is assigned and quarantined.

A total of three lively carnival-type celebrations will get into full swing starting around 1800 hours, and will last until at least 2000.

For children of parents stationed at and living on the Presidio, the rumpus is set for Harmon Armory, California Military district, and prizes will be awarded in each of four age groups for the most appropriate, most original and prettiest costumes.

Letterman children will have their party in the auditorium of the former Presidio YMCA, Building 69, and again the carnival theme will prevail.

Youngsters of families residing in the Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite areas will have their fun in the Fort Cronkhite NCO Mess, and hours there will be 1730 to 2000. Prizes will be awarded for costumes in the age groups one through six, seven through nine and 10 through 12. Here, NCO club wives will assist with the festivities.

There will be games, carnival booths, candy and other refreshments galore, for both small and big spooks, and it is expected that altogether more than 1,500 will take part in the fun, which is being provided through the Youth Activities Council of the Presidio.

Service personnel themselves will have their choice of USO Halloween parties to attend.

Tonight there will be a Halloween dance at the YWCA-USO, 966 Market street, to be followed Sunday night by a Mexican-style buffet supper and orchestra dance.

At the Embarcadero YMCA a "Penny Carnival," will be in full swing Saturday night and a masquerade dance Sunday night.

Catholic USO at 70 Oak street will also have a Halloween party and masquerade dance Sunday night.

During WWII only 72 per cent of government spending was covered by taxes and bond purchases by persons and businesses. An additional 28 per cent was borrowed by the Government from banks.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and sub-posts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

Twins daughters to: 24 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Edward Amy, USMC Depot of Supply, 100 Harrison St., SFC.

Daughters to: 18 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Lyndell Goodson, 518 Ops Det., Ft. Barry, Calif.; Ensign and Mrs. Michael J. Joyce, Navy School, Command, TI, Calif.

19 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Clarence Gilmore, Co. G, 9 Inf. Regt., Ft. Lewis, Wash.

20 October: A/2C and Mrs. Charles H. Smullen, 325 IFS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

21 October: Pfc. and Mrs. James L. Eddington, 9566 TU LAH, PSFC.

22 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Ernest C. Driggers, 28th AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur B. Thomas, Hq. Flt. Sec., WADF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

23 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Perry C. Drum, 2346 AFRC, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Ruel A. Goff, 9566 TU LAH, PSFC; S/Sgt. and Mrs. William F. Peterson, 566 Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Edward Sharp, 4754 Radar Eval. Flt., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

24 October: Pvt. and Mrs. Anthony M. Carnamolla, Hands Co., 820 EAB, Beale AFB, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. James McVey, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC.

Sons to: 18 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Robert E. Burney, Co. C, 505th MP Bn., Ft. Baker, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert A. Cadudio, Hq. 4th AF Sq. Sec., Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Clifford Goodwin, A Btry., 740th AAA Missile Bn., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Pearl H. Miller, 99th Engr. Co., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Pfc. and Mrs. James T. Myers, Det. 1, 6000 SU, Hq. 6, AFSC; Pvt. and Mrs. Willie J. Rock, Co. D, 26th Inf. Regt., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Herbert R. Silva, 568th Supply Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

19 October: S/Sgt. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Gray, Hq. Sq. 4th AF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. George L. Michel, 613 SU, Calif. Mil. Dist., PSFC; Pvt. and Mrs. Joe Smith, Co. E, Inf. Regt., 2nd Div., Ft. Lewis, Wash.; S/Sgt. and Mrs. Emmett Tullie, 43 Comm. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

21 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Charles J. Glasco, 321st Engr. Sec., PSFC; Sgt. and Mrs. Millard T. Moore, 6020 SU Ret. Sta., OAB, Calif.

22 October: Cpl. and Mrs. Waldo Hutchins, Two Rock Ranch Sta., 8602 AAU, Calif.; T/Sgt. and Mrs. Frederick E. Longfellow, 84 FIS, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

23 October: Cpl. and Mrs. George Billy, Hq. Co., 6000 SU, PSFC; A/2C and Mrs. Bobby L. Farris, 28 AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Cpl. and Mrs. Ronald B. Madison, 505th MP Bn., Co. A, PSFC; Pfc. and Mrs. Curtis E. Walton, 4th Co., 6023rd SU, Pers. Ctr., Ft. Ord, Calif.

24 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Rudolph W. Izzi, 6901 ASU, OAB, Calif.; A/1C and Mrs. Richard I. Tallman, 28 AD, Hamilton AFB, Calif.

OPENING ADDRESS was given by Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commanding General of the Sixth Army, at the first meeting of Military District Chiefs and Unit Advisors in the Sixth Army Area at the Harmon Armory in conjunction with the Indoctrination Course for USAR Unit Advisors which is being held at the Presidio this week.

Key Is Effectiveness!

USAR Unit Advisors Meeting To Implement Reserve Success

In the opening ceremony of the Sixth Army Indoctrination Course for USAR Unit Advisors this week at Harmon Armory, Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commanding General of the Sixth Army, stated: "The mission of the unit advisor is the effectiveness of the Army Reserve program."

Ninety-five officers recently assigned to the Army Reserve program in the eight western states comprising the Sixth Army Area will return to their duty stations this weekend after completing the indoctrination course at the Presidio, which is designed to teach them the policies, laws and functions of the Reserve program.

According to Colonel Albert Butler, Senior Advisor of the Washington Military District, the studies are "to inform the Unit Advisors of the necessary tools to assist and support the individual units."

The course was divided into four categories of military administrative subjects. The categories are:

- 1. Introduction to the United States Military Policies and Organization.
- 2. A General Review of the Continental Army.
- 3. A Discussion of the Military Districts Commander's responsibility for training.
- 4. The Relationship Between the Unit Advisors and Unit Commander.

In the first phase of the comprehensive study an explanation of the history of the United States establishing relatively small armed forces strongly supported by the Reserve components was presented. Further, the major provisions of legislation governing the operations of the USAR and Army regulations pertinent to Reserve units were reviewed.

Featured in the second phase was a complete analysis of the Reserve system and the relationship between units and the Sixth Army. The status of "early ready," "later ready," "standby" and "retired" Reserves, along with technical information concerning retirement and promotion policies were explained.

Fourth phase in the week-long meeting dealt with the organization of training, actual duty training and USAR schools.

Completing the study, the final phase of series was centered on administrative procedural methods necessary in the relationship between the advisor and the Unit Commander, and general unit administrative plans.

Lt. Colonel Milton G. Schneider

Lt. Col. Schneider New Senior Aide To Lt. Gen. Wyman

Lt. Colonel Milton G. Schneider, AGC, has assumed the duties of senior aide-de-camp to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander.

Colonel Schneider came to San Francisco from Izmir, Turkey, where he served as Adjutant General for General Wyman's headquarters during 1952-54, while the general was commander of Allied Land forces, Southeastern Europe, a NATO command.

A native of New York City, Colonel Schneider was a security trader for a New York Stock Exchange firm when he entered the Army in December 1941. He served overseas with the 22nd Regiment of the 4th Infantry Division and after the armistice remained in Germany to become executive officer to the chief of the Army Exchange service, Europe.

Upon his return to the U. S. in 1948, he became an instructor at the Adjutant General's school and later was named director of an academic department of the school. He and Mrs. Schneider are now residing here.

Thing to Come!

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has ordered a new guided missile—the third to go into production following Nike and Corporal.

The new long-range, ground-to-ground missile called "Redstone" will be produced by the Chrysler Corp., at a Navy-owned plant in Warren, Mich. Redstone was designed by a team of scientists headed by Dr. Werner von Braun, the German engineer who directed the Nazi V-2 program during WWII. So far, the missile has only been "mock" fired.

Army Announces Activation of New Combat Division

Washington (AFPS) — The Army already has activated one new combat division and soon will create another as part of a plan to build up its ready combat strength from 19 to 24 divisions.

The 71st Inf. Div. was set up Oct. 10 with headquarters at Ft. Richardson, Alaska, and the 23rd Inf. Div. will be activated Dec. 2 with headquarters at Ft. Amador, Canal Zone.

Both divisions were formed from existing non-divisional units. No announcement has been made regarding who will command either division.

Major units providing personnel and equipment for the 71st Div. were the 196th and 4th RCTs, now assigned to Alaska, and the 5th RCT at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

The 196th RCT, a South Dakota National Guard outfit, has since been returned to state control and its internal elements have been redesignated within the 71st Div. as the 53rd Inf. Regt., the 607th FA Bn. and Co. D of the 271st Eng. Combat Bn. All elements of the 4th and 5th RCTs kept their original numerical designations.

The 23rd Div. will be composed of the 33rd, 29th and 65th RCTs. The 33rd is assigned to the Canal Zone.

The 29th is now on Okinawa but it soon will be redesignated the 75th RCT. Then the 30th RCT at Ft. Benning, Ga., will become the 29th RCT.

The 65th RCT designation is being separated from the 3rd Inf. Div., to which it was assigned during the Korean War, and being returned to Puerto Rico. The unit known as the 296th RCT in Puerto Rico will become the 65th RCT.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve Our Nation

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post TIEE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Recently Assigned

Lt. Colonel Andrew G. Russell, Jr., has assumed the duties of training officer, Provost Marshal section, Headquarters Sixth Army. This is his second tour of duty here on the Presidio, as he was here in 1949 as Provost Marshal and commanding officer of the 710th Military Police battalion.

His last five months have been spent as a patient at Letterman Army hospital, prior to which he served five months as Provost Marshal of Fort Lewis, Washington. Before that, Colonel Russell spent 19 months on Okinawa as commanding officer of the 98th Military Police Battalion.

A veteran of 17 years of active duty, the colonel first entered service in 1935 and was assigned to the CCC program for a period of three and one-half years. Leaving the service for 18 months, he returned again in 1940 and spent four years of World War II in the Pacific area, three and one-half of those as a prisoner of war of the Japanese.

While serving as executive officer to the Provost Marshal of the Luzon Sub-command, Colonel Russell was captured at Bataan and survived the infamous "death march." He was liberated in Manchuria in September of 1945, and his decorations include the Purple Heart.

In 1946 he went to Germany and served a year as Provost Marshal of the 28th Constabulary, followed by two years as Provost Marshal of Stuttgart Military Post.

Colonel Russell is a graduate of the AG school, Arlington Cantonment, 1941, and the Advanced Officer course, Provost Marshal General school, Camp Gordon, Georgia, 1950-51. His wife, daughter and one son are presently residing in Long Beach, California, while another son is serving with the Army at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Lt. Colonel Winston A. Jones has joined the staff of the training branch, active Army division, G-3 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

His most recent assignment was as executive officer of Stuttgart Sub-Area Headquarters, Germany, a position he held for two years.

In the Philippine Islands with the 1st Battalion, 88th Field Artillery, (Philippine Scouts) when World War II began, Colonel Jones became senior Army advisor and later commander of the 1st Battalion, 41st Field Artillery, Philippine Army.

At Bataan when it fell to Japanese forces, the colonel was taken prisoner, but managed to escape on the seventh day of the now historic "Bataan death march." He then assisted in organizing the Luzon Guerrilla forces and spent the remainder of his 44 months overseas in guerrilla operations.

Entering the Army first in 1937, Colonel Jones served a year at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, as a second lieutenant following receipt of his Reserve commission from the University of Oklahoma. While there he was graduated from the basic officers Artillery course (Thomas Act.) Recalled to active duty in 1940 with the 1st Field Artillery, which was part of the 6th Division, he has been in service since that time and received his Regular Army commission in July 1946.

Schools he has attended include the Chemical Warfare school, the Infantry School ROTC orientation course, the Quartermaster Motor Transportation school, the Unit Officers Gas course, and, in 1946, the Field Artillery school as well as orientation courses held for former POW's in the branches of Infantry, Cavalry, Armored, Field Artillery and Antiaircraft Artillery.

Colonel Jones has been decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal, the Distinguished Unit Citation Badge with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the American Defense ribbon with clasp, the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with four battle stars, the Philippine Defense ribbon, the Philippine Liberation ribbon, the Philippine Independence ribbon, the American theater, the World War II Victory ribbon, the German occupation ribbon, the Armed Forces Reserve ribbon, the Philippine Presidential Unit citation and the National Defense Service Medal.

His wife, Mrs. Reba F. Jones, has accompanied the colonel here. Major James E. Marks has been assigned chief, Personnel Management division, Headquarters California Military District. A veteran of 14 years' service, Major Marks entered the Army from Providence, Rhode Island. He was at Pearl Harbor when it was bombed to begin World War II and served in China from January 1944 to November 1945 during the China offense and defense.

Major Marks has also seen service in the Yukon territory and Alaska. He was in Korea from May 1953 to September of this year, where he was chief of the AG personnel actions section, Headquarters 8th Army.

The Major wears the Combat Infantry Badge, Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Army Reserve ribbon, Korean Service medal and ROK Presidential Unit Citation in addition to theater ribbons.

He, his wife Mabel, and their six children reside in South San Francisco.

Captain Richmond F. Howard returned recently from 30 months in the Far East. His first year was spent in Taegu, Korea, with Headquarters KCOMZ, and the last 18 months he has been with AFCE Headquarters in Japan.

He is now assigned to the Signal Section of Headquarters Sixth Army as assistant plans officer, plans and operations division.

Born in England, Captain Howard is a veteran of 28 years' military service including service with an Infantry Combat unit of the British Army during World War I. He came to America in 1923.

With 19 years of his American Army service in enlisted status, the captain received a direct commission while serving with the 810th Signal Service Battalion in the ETO during World War II.

The captain's wife and their eight-year-old daughter have accompanied him here.

CWO William B. Stirling recently joined the staff of the G-2 Section, Headquarters Sixth Army. For the past two years, Mr. Stirling has been in Turkey with the SGS section, NATO Headquarters.

A member of the Army for the past 15 years, he received his warrant after four and one-half years of enlisted service. His World War II assignment from 1944 to 1946, was in Europe with the 222nd Signal Depot company.

Returning overseas in 1948, Mr. Stirling served with GHQ, FECOM, in Japan until 1951, and received the Commendation ribbon for his work in the G-2 Section there during the Korean campaign. He and his wife and two children are now residing here.

Wilson Sparks MPs!

B Co. Of 505th Victorious For 5th Straight Casaba Win

Company B of the 505th MP Battalion bucketed another win this week by a seven-point margin, 48-41, to remain ahead of the American and National Divisions in the post intra-mural casaba tourney. Ace hoopster Wilson was again high point man for the 505th, to lead his squad with 21 in the basket. This is the MP's fifth straight win of the season with no losses. Gresham was high man for the opposition, 102 MRU, with 17 points.

Hanley of the 30th Engineers, Hdq. Det., ran up the high point tally of the game when the 30th met the 115th CIC with 24 in the hoop. However, the Engineers still couldn't make it against the CIC who took the tilt 63-58.

Engineers of the 549th trampled the 16th BPO 64-36. Both high score men, Bapenfus for the 549th and Jackson for the BPO, racked up 16 points for the high marks.

Price of the 9206 Fort Mason contingent sparked his squad to a victory over the 46th Ordnance Group, 43-36. High pointer Price was good for twelve points in the bucket.

Eleven was the high individual score all around in the hoop test between the 99th Engineers and the 542nd Engineers. High man for the 99th was Smart, and Bauer and Osuch tied for high score on the 542nd squad. The 542nd took the meet, 51-31.

On Monday night, the 551st Engineers edged out a close win over a fast moving five from the 537th outfit, 56-51. Sparkler for the victors was Larson, with 17 points of his own. Uffell, on the opposition, shot 16.

Hdq. Company of the 505th MP Battalion carried out the 505th tradition of conquest in its defeat of the 660 Engineers Hdq. Company, 58-24. High pointer for the policemen was Shaeffer with 26 good ones through the hoop.

Last year's ace of the hardwoods, Johnny Ethridge, tallied a startling 32 points for high score to lead the 9th AAA squad to a 60-55 victory over the 21st Engineers. Ethridge is expected to return to the post casaba contingent for the coming season.

The 315th Engineers trampled a 47-39 win over the 99th Engineers in the following game. McSherry put 16 points through the hoop for the high score for the 315th. Stevens bucketed 12 for the 99th.

In the closest game of the week, 102 MRU squeezed a victory over rivals, Hdq. Sixth Army, 39-38. MRU's high pointer was Stahable with 13, nosing out Jenkins of Sixth Army who shot 12.

First Split Dove Season Over Sunday 'Til 1 Dec.

California's first split dove season ends Sunday, Oct. 31, after a fair to good season, the Department of Fish and Game announced.

First half of the season, which was open Sept. 1 through Sept. 20, was generally good in most areas, although cool weather drove the birds south shortly after the opening.

Hunters found the second half of the season spotty with most activity centered in southern California.

The season for band-tailed pigeon ends Oct. 31 in Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Humboldt, Trinity and Tehama counties. For the rest of the state the pigeon season opens Dec. 1 and runs through to December 31.

THROUGH THE HOOP for the point as Frank Kvach gets it off in spite of attempts by the 537th Engineers to block the shot. The 551st stands high in the National Division so far with three up and one down. The 537th squad dropped two and won two.

Five In Ping Pong Tourney!

Central Division Table Tennis Reps Travel North Next Week

Five local table-net aces will journey north next week to participate in the All-Sixth Army Table Tennis Tournament at Madigan Army Hospital in Tacoma, Washington. The meet takes place 3-5 November. The five paddle wizards represent the Central Division in the tourney.

The Presidio entries were chosen through preliminary and then Central Division tourneys which were held at Letterman Army Hospital, host, for the Central Division. In the finals at Madigan, the tournament will be double elimination; best two out of three games shall constitute a match. The finals and semifinals shall be best three out of five.

Awards for the championship paddle bout will be provided by the Sixth Army Welfare Fund. There will be individual awards to winners and runners-up in both singles and doubles and for both male and females entries.

Ping-pong expert in the local contingent is Cpl. Marshall Conrad, who beat out all contenders for the Central Division championship. Conrad is an assistant supply sergeant for 6000 SU Headquarters Company. He hails from South Bend, Indiana.

Runners-up in the Central Division are Cpl. Bob Perla and Pvt. Jim Hunt. Perla is a machine-tab operator for 102 MRU. His home is Los Angeles, California.

Hunt, who has been in the Army only eleven months, is a computer with the 551st Engineers. He comes from Sharon, Pennsylvania.

Sgt. Esther Marshall and Pfc. Theresa Borucka are Central Division representatives from the Presidio WAC Detachment. Sgt. Marshall is a typist for Post Ordnance and is a native of New York City. Pfc. Borucka, from Buffalo, New York, is a clerk-typist for G-2. Both young ladies are, from the 6002 SU WAC Detachment at the Presidio.

PSF Gun Club Meets

The Presidio Gun Club met last night to elect officers in Building 1369, Fort Scott at 1930 hours. Immediately after the meeting ranges were opened for small bore rifle and pistol practice.

Casaba Contingent To Hit Hardwood, 26 Meets Slated

The Presidio casaba contingent hits the hardwoods officially for tryouts and practice Monday afternoon in the Special Services gym, building #22. A partial schedule of twenty-six games has been released by W. A. "Pop" Loomis, Special Services, coach for the Raider hoopers.

Opener of the season is the contest with the San Francisco Olympic Club on 1 December at 2000 hours at the Olympic Club gym. Although the first game is usually considered a practice match, the Olympic five is a hoop aggregation that will be hard to beat.

"The whole schedule is a tough one," Loomis stated, "and there aren't any set-up games."

In addition to the contests scheduled below, more games will be added to the slate in the future so that the eventual total will probably come close to the forty mark.

No definite roster has been released for the Presidians as yet and probably won't be until a few days before the initial tilt. New men are welcome to tryout for the squad Monday afternoon at building 122.

Raider Hoop Schedule

- Dec. 1—Olympic Club at Olympic Club, 2000 hours.
- 3—Athens Club at Athens Club (Oakland), 2000 hours.
- 7—Oakland Army Base at OAB, 2000 hours.
- 9—Treasure Island at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 14—Parks AFB at PAFB, 2000 hours.
- 16—Alameda NAS at PSF, 2030 hours.
- Jan. 4—Moffett AFB at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 6—San Francisco Naval Shipyard at SFNS, 2000 hours.
- 11—Mare Island at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 12—SF Marines at Treasure Island, 2000 hours.
- 14—Beale AFB at BAFB, 2000 hours.
- 18—Hamilton AFB at PSF, 2000 hours.
- 20—Oakland Army Base at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 21—Fort Ord at PSF, 2000 hours.
- 25—Treasure Island at TI, 2000 hours.
- 27—Parks AFB at PAFB, 2000 hours.
- 28—Athens Club at PSF, 2000 hours.

- Feb. 1—Alameda NAS at ANAS, 2000 hours.
- 3—Moffett AFB at MAFB, 2000 hours.
- 4—Fort Ord at Fort Ord, 2000 hours.
- 8—San Francisco Naval Shipyard at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 10—Mare Island at MI, 2000 hours.
- 12—Beale AFB at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 15—SF Marines at PSF, 2030 hours.
- 17—Hamilton AFB at HAFB, 2000 hours.
- 18—Olympic Club at PSF, 2000 hours.

Shoot Starts Tomorrow On Two More Refuges, Changes in Hunt Rules

Public waterfowl shooting on the Department of Fish and Game's Gray Lodge management area near Gridley, and the Colusa and Sutter refuges will open as scheduled on Oct. 30.

Shooting on these areas had been deferred because of danger of crop depredation on nearby farms.

Department officials said that more than enough applications for shooting reservations on the first two days already have been received, and that those not drawn will be processed for later dates.

Department of Fish and Game officials reminded waterfowl hunters of two important changes in federal regulations, on which many questions have been received.

One of these provides that waterfowl held in temporary storage at duck clubs must be tagged with the hunter's name and address, number and kind of birds, and date of kill.

A second important change is the elimination of the 90-day possession limit after close of the season.

INTEREST IN CERAMIC ART was evinced by Major General John A. Klein, The Adjutant General of the Army, (left) on his tour of AG activities at the Presidio on Monday. Here he discusses a ceramic bust turned out by one of the local soldier-ceramicists with Miss Ruth Rippon, Presidio Arts and Crafts Director, as 1/Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post Special Services Officer, looks on.

Army Adjutant General Is Impressed In Presidio, Headquarters Junket

Major General John A. Klein, the Adjutant General of the Army, spent three days at the Presidio this week and left well satisfied with AG activities in this area.

Arriving at Travis AFB last Saturday from a tour of military bases in the Pacific, General Klein capped his Presidio visit on Monday with an inspection tour of Adjutant General Corps activities in the Sixth Army headquarters and discussed with Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, observations he had made in the Far East Command, Alaska and Hawaii.

Highlight of Monday's tour came with General Klein's visit to Sixth Army AG Section and School, where he was accompanied by Colonel R. S. Nourse, Adjutant General, Sixth Army. At the school he gave a brief talk to the students, stressing the importance of their work not only to the unit where they would eventually be assigned but to the entire AG structure.

Speaking to Colonel Nourse and other officers of the Sixth Army AG Section, General Klein put particular emphasis on the importance of AG work at even the lowest echelons.

"The primary functions of the Adjutant General Corps worldwide is to give service and advice to the Commander and his entire staff," said the General. "Impressions made in the field are the impressions which will eventually show in Department of the Army."

Earlier in the morning General Klein had paid a visit to the Presidio Service Club, Library and Theater, and was shown these facilities by Lt. Colonel A. W. Gustafson, Sixth Army Special Services Officer, and Lt. Monroe G. Thomas, Post Special Services Officer. During his tour he was particularly impressed with the mural at the Club, executed by Cpl. Lou J. Cameron following the completion of the building itself, and stated that the design of the Club was the finest he had seen anywhere.

"Everywhere you look, you see beauty," observed the General to

Miss Eileen Pierce, Assistant Service Club Director, in reference to the Club's panoramic vistas to the north. "Presidio enlisted men must be very happy with it."

In a chat with Miss Ruth Rippon, Post Crafts Director, the visiting AG chief showed interest in the local ceramic program.

In the library, Miss Dorothy Howard, Library Assistant, explained to the general the operation of the Post library system and the administration entailing some 20,000 volumes.

General Klein was honored by a reception and dinner Monday night at the Presidio Officers' Mess. There he spoke to a mixed audience. Officers' wives present at the dinner were especially pleased with the General's reference to wives' "steadying influence and assistance" to husbands in AG work.

Heading the largest Army staff in the Pentagon, General Klein is responsible for publishing all orders and official publications of the Army and maintaining all Army personnel records, past and present.

He began his career as a private in the Mississippi National Guard in 1914. In 1937 he served at the Presidio of San Francisco as assistant adjutant general of the IX Corps. He was appointed to his present post 1 June, 1954.

Ace Scholar!

505th Sergeant Sets Mark At Ord Leadership School

The highest mark ever registered at the 6th Infantry Division's Advanced Leader's School at Fort Ord was turned in this week by Sgt. Kenneth L. Morrison of B Company of the 505th MP Battalion. Sgt. Morrison scored 365 out of a possible 400 in setting the school's record proficiency grade.

Major emphasis in the course was placed upon methods of instruction in physical training and dismounted drill and also student participation in classroom discussion.

For his efforts, the young MP received a Certificate of Proficiency from the school and congratulations from Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, Battalion Commander of the 505th and Captain Francis Hoskins, the Commanding Officer of B Company.

Sgt. Morrison enlisted in the Army in March 1952 after attending classes at the University of California for two years, majoring in pre-medical studies.

The local NCO, a native of Tucson, Arizona, received basic training at Fort Ord and served with the 2nd MP Company of the S 2nd Infantry Division in Korea from March 1953 to May of this year. He became a member of the 505th June 28th and now serves as a squad leader and as a patrol supervisor in MP duty at the Presidio.

New WAAC Chief

(Continued from page 1)

The Western Army Antiaircraft command is under the overall operational control of the Western Air Defense Force, commanded by Major General Walter E. Todd, USAF, and is part of the newly formed Continental Air Defense command, a joint Army-Air-Force-Navy team.

Honors were given General Hewett on the Presidio Monday when he was greeted at Sixth Army headquarters by Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, and the pair inspected the Honor Guard, the Sixth Army band and the Sixth Army Bagpipe band.

General and Mrs. Hewett will reside on the Presidio of San Francisco.

Inventor Too!

Former Ft. Scott Officer Cited For Brave Rescue Act in Korea

WOJG Charles H. Fennell, presently a member of the 3038th AU Engineer Map Reproduction detachment in Korea, who until his assignment to Far East last January, was with the 99th Engineer Base Reproduction company at Fort Scott, has received a commendation for rescuing two small Korean children from almost certain death.

The incident occurred on 16 May of this year, and is explained in this letter forwarded to Mr. Fennell by Colonel Edward L. Wilson, commanding:

"1. You are to be commended for your actions on 16 May 1954 at approximately 1530 hours.

"2. You and WOJG John C. Ellington encountered a Korean truck loaded with a large radio transmitter that was negotiating a particularly difficult portion of the road when it began to tilt dangerously and had every appearance of sliding down an embankment.

"3. By your quick action in rushing to the downhill side of the vehicle and pushing two Korean children out of danger you prevented serious injury to the children. At the same time WOJG Ellington jumped into the vehicle and engaged the safety brake, enabling the vehicle to be brought to a halt. You disengaged the winch and the vehicle was eased from its precarious position, thus eliminating a serious accident.

"4. Your courage and quick thinking reflects great credit upon yourself and the military service."

WOJG Fennell enlisted in the Army as a private on 10 September 1942, and while serving at Camp Crowder, Missouri in 1944, invented a gun which shoots tracers that are visible in the daytime. He was highly praised for this and for several other training aids that were his handiwork.

He served in the ETO with Engineers during a portion of the fighting, and after the armistice, returned there to serve at Darnstadt Military Post, where he was operations NCO in the S-3 Section.

His service with the Engineers at Fort Scott was from October 1954 until last January. Mrs. Fennell is presently employed in the Information Section, Sixth Army.

What does America mean to you? Enter the 1954 Freedoms Foundation Contest. Send your letter of no more than 500 words to Awards Editor, Armed Forces Radio Service, 1016 N. McCadden Place, Los Angeles 38, Calif. Your letter must bear your name, rank, service number, and organization.

It must be received before midnight Nov. 11, 1954. Letters received after that date will be considered for the next year's awards. (AFPS)

WOJG Charles H. Fennell

Army Tests New Hospital RR Cars For Future Use

Washington (AFPS) — The Army Transportation Corps is testing three new types of self-sustaining hospital railroad cars at Ft. Eustis, Va.

The cars are specially constructed so that they can operate on any broad gauge railroad in the world. They represent the basic types of hospital cars to be used in hospital trains of the future.

The three new types are: a personnel car for the medical staff; an ambulance car with a 30-patient capacity; and a dining car which can feed up to 150 persons.

Designed jointly by the Transportation Corps, the Army Medical Service Corps, and the ACF Industries, Inc., the cars are equipped with a special axle and wheel seat which can be adjusted for operation on 56½-inch, 60-inch, 63-inch or 66-inch gauge railroad track.

In emergencies any of the cars could be dropped off onto a siding for a short layover since all are equipped with lights, water, forced ventilation and heat. The ambulance car is air-conditioned, and may be heated through conventional lines.

The National Guard, originally "militia," took its present name to honor Lafayette, French Garde Nationale chief.

Send The Star-Presidian Home

From.....	Two Cents
Address.....	Postage
Name.....
Street.....
City.....	Zone..... State.....
(Third Class Mail)

United Crusade Drive Lagging At Presidio

"One hundred per cent participation is our goal."

Such is the feeling of Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, deputy post commander and chairman of the United Crusade campaign now in progress on the Presidio of San Francisco.

"In the interest of the financial status of all personnel concerned, both military and civilian, there is no definite policy set up on how much each person should give according to salary earned," the colonel explained. "Instead we are leaving the amount to be given to the dictates of heart, conscience and financial ability.

"But we ask all to give something, however small it may be. Out of the 100 per cent cooperation we seek, we have so far mustered only 3.5 per cent of our overall personnel—not a very representative showing."

In the 1953 campaign, Presidio personnel gave the magnificent sum of $30,510.83 to the Crusade. This year so far, the total is but $2,199.38. To assure adequate opportunity for everyone to contribute, closing date of the campaign has been extended to 8 December.

It is almost a sure thing that sometime during your lifetime, an agency of the United Crusade will directly aid and benefit you, your children or some member of your immediate family.

That is because the agencies within the United Crusade are so numerous and diverse in their activities.

Some are concerned with health, welfare and research and a part of this group includes the American Cancer Society, the Arthritis and Rheumatism foundation, and the American Heart Association.

Recreational activities for service personnel are provided by UC members: USO-United Defense fund, CYO, YMCA and YWCA and Jewish Community center. Youth groups participating include the Boy and Girl Scouts of America. These latter are all members of the Community Chest program which numbers 76 agencies who benefit from your United Crusade dollars.

And so does the American Red Cross which provides disaster relief, hospital entertainment and other recreational media.

It only happens once a year that these many groups band together and ask you to help them do their job in the best way that they can—and their job is for you!

Give once—the United way!

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 22

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 29 October, 1954

NIKE AND ITS MASTER! Using a model of a Nike guided missile as a pointer, Major General Hobart Hewett, new commanding general of the Western Army Antiaircraft command, indicates to Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, part of his command area on a relief map of the western United States. General Hewett assumed command of Nike and conventional antiaircraft gun units of the seven western states on 22 October.

Covers Seven States!

Major General Hewett Named Commander, WAAC Area Units

Major General Hobart Hewett has assumed command of the Western Army Antiaircraft command, which encompasses the seven western states of the nation. He succeeds Major General Francis M. Day.

General Hewett's new command includes control of all Nike guided missile sites as well as conventional antiaircraft defense throughout the seven state area.

The general's most recent assignment has been in Korea where he was U. S. Army representative to the United Nations Military Armistice commission, a position he was appointed to following his service there as commander of Division Artillery, 3rd Infantry Division.

He has served almost continuously as an antiaircraft and Artillery officer since his graduation from the U. S. Military Academy with the class of 1919.

From 1942 to 1945, General Hewett was deputy antiaircraft

Army Scientific Advisory Panel Given Permanent Status, More Control

The Army Scientific Advisory Panel, comprised of outstanding scientists, engineers, educators, and industrialists, has been reconstituted as a permanent board of the Army with James R. Killian, Jr., president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts, as its chairman, the Department of the Army announced recently.

First established in 1951 as a consultative body, the Panel's permanent status gives it broader advisory powers in the field of Army research and development.

The function of the Panel will be to advise the Secretary of the Army, Chief of Staff, and Chief of Research and Development on all scientific and related matters of concern to the Army. The Panel makes available the advice, suggestions and recommendations of the prominent Americans who, as a group, will be informed on all aspects of the Army's research and development program.

Hope Springs Eternal!

Legislation Being Prepared For 8% Military Pay Raise

Richmond, Va. (AFPS) — Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens says a legislative program is being prepared for Congress which will include an eight per cent pay raise for all military personnel.

In a speech to the Jewish War Veterans annual convention here, Mr. Stevens gave this as the first of several items which will be requested when Congress convenes in January.

Other legislative proposals which he said would be submitted then include a comprehensive revision of survivor benefits, more reliable medical care for dependents and allowances for permanent changes of station by service families.

In addition to Secretary Stevens' eight per cent proposal, a report of the Defense Department's special pay study committee is expected to be announced in the latter part of October. The committee was set up about a month ago.

A service career should be made attractive to the highest type of young American, said Mr. Stevens. "Money isn't the only answer but it is part of the problem."

Mr. Stevens pointed out that between 1949, when military pay scales were given their last general overhauling, and the present day, the U. S. Consumer Price Index registered a 13.5 per cent gain in the cost of living, but military pay had increased only 5.5 per cent.

"At the same time," he added, "military (benefits) such as savings through purchasing at commissaries and post exchanges, medical care for dependents, all of which have long been considered as part of military compensation, have been reduced by both legislative enactment and executive policy." This, he said, has materially reduced the soldiers' take-home pay.

Army Selects 2 Divs. For 1955 A-War Tests

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has selected the two "guinea pig" divisions—one infantry, one armored—for its first large-scale experiments designed to find the best battlefield organization for fighting an atomic war.

They are the 1st Armored Div. at Ft. Hood, Tex., and the 47th Inf. Div. at Ft. Benning, Ga. The tests are expected to be held early in 1955.

Fort Ord Visited By Educators From Oakland

A group of more than 25 Oakland educators were flown via military aircraft to Fort Ord Wednesday of this week as guests of Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army commander, to see for themselves just what "this man's Army" is all about, since many of their present students will someday be in khaki.

The event was in observance of Oakland's annual Business-Education day, which in former years meant visits to Oakland businesses and industries to learn about opportunities for young people in those fields.

But, in the interest of their main project, for this school year, "to emphasize the Army's interest in the importance of young men continuing their high school education and encouraging graduates to obtain a higher education wherever possible," the Oakland Military Manpower committee, headed by Colonel Earl W. Huntling, USAR, sponsored the visit, and Colonel Huntling accompanied the group on their tour.

The TI&E center, which is designed to encourage military personnel to further their education while in service, was the group's first stop. Visits to the Training Aids and Personnel Center followed.

They inspected the new permanent-type barracks and had lunch with the troops in the mess hall.

The afternoon was spent in the field, where the educators observed classes in first aid, map reading and camouflage. This was followed by a demonstration of trainees going through an infiltration course and two firing problems on the range.

Military Aid!

The U. S. will begin sending military equipment to Pakistan this month under a mutual defense pact which was signed last May. The initial shipment is expected to include mostly Army-type weapons,

(Please turn to page 8)

Army Chief of Staff Here Today

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A Nation!

Vol. 3, No. 23

PRESIDIO OF SAN FRANCISCO, CALIFORNIA Friday, 5 November, 1954

Reserve Review!

Reserve Components Advisory Group Conference Held Today

The Reserve Components Advisory Group Conference will be held today in the conference room of building 38 to review the Reserve Components Program and to make appropriate recommendations for improvement.

Members of the conference group include the General Staff Committee on National Guard and Reserve Policy, Department of the Army, Reserve Forces Policy Board, and the Office, Secretary of Defense.

Each group is assembled when the Army Area Commanding General may determine it is necessary.

Major General William F. Dean, Deputy Commanding General, Sixth Army, will conduct the conference and moderate the program. Opening remarks will be delivered by Lieutenant General Willard G. Wyman, Commanding General, Sixth Army after which Lt. Colonel Ernst. Reserve Component Branch G-1 Section, will begin the program with a presentation on current personnel status in regard to NG and USAR Unit Advisors, USAR administrative assistants and caretakers, current drive for increased participation in the US AR and the Mobilization Assignment Test.

Lt. Colonel Frederick W. Baum, National Guard Branch, G-3 Section, will next give a review of National Guard 1954 training and an outline of the 1955 NG field training plans.

Colonel William B. Kern, Chief Reserve Comp. Division, G-3, will then talk on USAR field training for 1954 and will outline the 1955 schedule of USAR field training plans.

Following this, Lt. Colonel Daniel H. Swett, Chief USAR Division, G-3 will review USAR Troop Programs and current organizational status.

Major Harold D. Adams, Reserve Components Branch, G-4, next will present a proposed revision of SR 140-420-1, and correction of deficiencies that occurred during the 1954 summer training program in the Sixth Army stockpiling program.

Last address of the conference will be given by Major Harold R. Spangler, Installations Branch, G-4, on training sites to include the armory construction program and summer field training site development.

Members of the Advisory Group in attendance include Lt. General Wyman, Major General Dean, Colonel Willard B. Carlock, Chief, Oregon Military District, Colonel Fred McManaway, Chief, Montana Military District, and Colonel John J. Folkes, Chief, Nevada Military District, all representing the Active Army.

Those in attendance from the Army Reserve include Brigadier General James T. Roberts, Commanding General 63d Infantry Division, Brigadier General C. Lyn Fox, Commanding General 91st Infantry Division, Brigadier Germany Open!

Effective immediately, military and civilian personnel who have married, since 8 May 1945, German Nationals who are still living and have not acquired American citizenship, are qualified for service in Germany or Austria.

General Leroy H. Anderson, Commanding General 96th Infantry Division, and Brigadier General Lamar Tooze, Commanding General, 104th Infantry Division.

The National Guard is represented by Major General Homer O. Eaton, Commanding General 40th Armored Division, Major General H. G. Maison, Commanding General 41st Infantry Division, Brigadier General Roy E. Green, Commanding General, 49th Infantry Division, and Colonel Frederick R. Stofft, Commanding Officer, 158th Regimental Combat Team.

Finance Team!

New Financial Management Plan to Be Discussed Monday

A 13-member team headed by Brigadier General Claude E. Burbach, Deputy Chief of Staff, Comptroller, will begin a series of discussions here at Harmon Armory next Monday on the new financial management plan that will go into effect throughout the Sixth Army Area soon.

The purpose of the team, which will visit six other posts in the Sixth Army, is to give thorough indoctrination in the new financial management plan and to demonstrate how the new systems and techniques enable the various installation commanding officers and their staffs to exercise more effective management and control over operations.

Emphasis will be placed, according to the Department of the Army directive, on the areas of budget, supply, and commercial type activity management as applicable at Class I installation level.

Included also are:

A. Underlying need for a financial management program and various components.

B. The general principles pertaining to operation of the various systems and techniques involved.

C. Organizational and functional responsibility pertaining thereto at the installation level.

The team will begin its discussions here at the Presidio and

Civil Defense Body Studies Army Plan Of Field Feeding

The Sixth Army's Area Food Service School at Fort Ord played host to nearly fifty Civil Defense Food Supervisors last week in a three-day program designed to provide the civilian personnel with knowledge of the Army's techniques of Mass Feeding of personnel in the field.

The civilian mess supervisors were given the course in an effort to prepare them for vital defense activity in the event of national emergency. The instructional program was advocated by the National Defense Department and the Federal Civil Defense Administration. The group attending the session represented the West Coast and Central Western States and consisted mostly of men heading public eating establishments in these states.

Procedures of performing field expedience, controlled feeding of large groups of persons, and field sanitation were the principal objectives of the specialized civil defense training.

Also included during the seminar were proper methods of purifying water, disposing of waste and ways of preventing food contamination.

Highlighting the field exercises was the preparation of meals under adverse conditions, using field-built pits and grills.

Early Deadline!

Since Thursday of next week (11 November) is Veteran's day and a public holiday, the "Star-Presidian" deadline for copy and pictures for that week's edition will be advanced one day and all such materials will reach the office of the "Star-Presidian" no later than noon of Tuesday, 9 November.

from 8 November to 16 December will visit Yuma Test Station, Fort MacArthur, Camp Irwin, Fort Ord, Fort Lewis, and Fort Douglas. Major installations near the above posts are invited to attend the program.

Top members of the team besides Brig. Gen. Burbach are Colonel C. N. Hunter, Assistant Chief of Staff, G-4, Colonel R. W. Nuss, Sixth Army Finance and Accounting Officer, and Colonel C. E. Kelley, Chief Regional Officer Army Audit Agency.

General Ridgway Will Visit Presidio This Afternoon

An enthusiastic reception by civic authorities of San Francisco and full-dress military honors have been assured the Army's number one soldier, General Matthew B. Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff, with his arrival in San Francisco for a Palace Hotel luncheon meeting today.

Officials of the Commonwealth Club of California, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the Bay Area Council, sponsors of the luncheon, expect a capacity audience of nearly 1,400 at the Palace's Garden Court for a speech by the hero of World War II and the Korean conflict.

A dynamic speaker, General Ridgway invariably strikes at the core of topical Army progress and problems. His major addresses are noted for plain language and the ability to simplify needed areas of understanding between military and civilian leadership.

The Armed Forces Communications Association, Quartermaster Association, Engineer Association and Ordnance Association have assisted in preparations for the event.

During his visit here General Ridgway will be accorded full military honors at the Presidio and will attend a reception in his honor as the guest of Lieutenant General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, at the Presidio Officers' Mess this evening.

A guard of honor and the Sixth Army Pipe Band will greet the General at 0900 hours this morning.

A parade at 1630 hours on the Presidio will include participation by the Sixth Army Band, Honor Guard, 30th Engineer Group, 505th Military Police Battalion, 6002 SU, Detachment 1, 6000 SU, Detachments 1 and 2, 16th Base Post Office, 46th Ordnance Group, 56th and 102nd MRU and the WAC Detachment.

All officers of this headquarters not required at their duties are urged to attend the parade as spectators. Civilian personnel are also encouraged to attend.

A graduate of the United States Military Academy in 1917, General Ridgway first gained public recognition as a top combat commander with the heart of a "doughboy" when he assumed command of the 82nd Airborne Division in 1942.

In 1943, as a trained parachutist and a general officer, he planned and executed the first large-scale airborne assault in U.S. Army history, the attack on Sicily.

In 1944 the famed "jump" commander led his men out of the planes with the first units in Normandy. There his division played a major role in the invasion of Western France.

In August, 1944, he became commander of the XVIII Airborne Corps, directing its operations in the Ardennes Campaign in Belgium, in the crossing of the Rhine, in the reduction of the Ruhr pocket, in the crossing of the Elbe and to the eventual meeting with Russian forces on the Baltic.

A lieutenant general at the war's end, he subsequently commanded the Mediterranean Theater of Operations, was assigned to the Military Staff Committee, United Nations, and served in important assignments in Washington and the Caribbean.

General Matt Ridgway

As commander of the United States Eighth Army in Korea After General Walton Walker's death in an accident, General Ridgway's forceful, personal leadership inspired his troops to a successful counter-offensive against the Chinese communists.

In 1951 he was appointed Supreme Commander, Allied Powers, Commander-in-Chief of the United Nations Command in the Far East and Commander-in-Chief of the Far East Command in Japan.

His successes there led to an assignment as Supreme Commander Allied Powers Europe. By the time he left SHAPE to become the Army's Chief of Staff, he had forged for the free peoples of Europe an integrated defense force which has served effectively as a roadblock to further communist aggression.

As Chief of Staff, General Ridgway has wrought several revolutionary changes in the structure of the Army. These include a new concept of the division as a mobile battle group, armed with atomic and other advanced weapons, capable of swiftly moving from battlefield to battlefield in a war where the front will be everywhere; an overhauling of the civilian components within the Army; and "Operation Gyroscope," whereby whole division-size units will engage in mass rotations between the United States and our overseas installations, a system which promises much in the way of increased soldier morale and savings in taxes.

New Postal Ruling Benefits Servicemen

Washington (AFPS) — Members of the Armed Forces and their dependents do not have to pay extra postage on letters forwarded to them if their mailing address has been changed because of official orders.

A new Post Office regulation states that all classes of mail will be forwarded without additional postage until they reach the addressee. Mail forwarded under this regulation will be endorsed: "Change of Address Due to Official Orders."

Editorial

First Soldier Honored

General Matthew Bunker Ridgway's arrival on the Presidio this morning, his speech at the Palace Hotel this noon, and the retreat parade at 1630 hours, will give local civilians and military personnel the opportunity to honor one of the nation's greatest military leaders.

In an era when jet bombers, atomic-powered submarines and cobalt bombs have rocketed into the popular consciousness, General Ridgway has championed long and hard for the continuing importance of the foot soldier.

Indeed, it is in this role as the nation's "first soldier" that the general has gained fame both as a combat officer and a personable, inspiring leader of men.

Since his appointment as Chief of Staff, he has developed a monumental overhauling of the Army's existing combat forces designed to revolutionize the overall TO&E and give a shot in the arm to soldier morale, noticeably lagging after World War II and during the Korean conflict.

Division rotation, a renewed interest in unit historical data, crests and emblems, new uniforms, and a revamping of the Army division are just a few of the changes backed by General Ridgway since he became Chief of Staff. Through his efforts Army intelligence standards have been raised, and the prestige of the Army career restored.

Fortunately for the Army—and the nation—he brought probably more actual combat experience to his present post as Chief of Staff than any of his illustrious predecessors. But it has taken a combination of this battlefield experience, diplomacy, and well-founded conviction to vitalize his concept of the doughboy's lasting value in a climate of over-emphasized technology.

The Army Chief's main job has been to push the policy fight against groups in both civil and military circles who have swallowed the doctrine of nuclear might and forsaken the importance of the foot-soldier. The arguments have ranged from vague talk of "push-button warfare" to more plausible ones of massive retaliation based upon the armed and industrial might of our nation.

General Ridgway has rejected none of these out of hand. He favors technological advance in every service, has stressed the strategic importance of combined operations, but firmly insists that the role of ground troops will be larger, not smaller, in event of future war.

He has effectively argued against what he considers the fallacious belief that an armed enemy can be atom-bombed into submission, a belief which received widespread support until he entered the fray.

In a speech in Harriman, New York, he summed up the Army's viewpoint clearly and concisely:

"It is vitally important to remember that wars are won by the achievement of domination over human beings and the territory they inhabit, and that only land forces can achieve and maintain such domination.

"To do so they require strong support from the air and from the sea. But in the final analysis it must be the land forces which assert control and determine the victory."

After the defeat of the French in Indochina, General Ridgway's arguments began to receive a more responsive hearing. During that war we possessed the awesome capability of providing instant, massive atomic intervention, but this did not stop the Chinese communists from maintaining their support of the Vietminh forces.

Sixth Army welcomes our hard-working "first soldier" and hopes that in the high morale and unflagging spirit that permeate this important western command, he will find satisfaction and encouragement in his day to day mission of sustaining the Army's high traditions. Good hunting, Chief! (BL-KSE)

General Named Safety Chief

Major General George C. Stewart, director of the office of military assistance, Office of the Secretary of Defense, has been appointed general manager of the National Safety Council, a newly created post which will broaden top-level administration of this non-profit prevention organization.

A graduate of the U. S. Military academy, class of 1923, General Stewart was serving on the war department general staff at the beginning of World War II, and was assigned to the Transportation corps in 1942 where he rapidly gained a reputation as a transportation expert.

During the Korean campaign, General Stewart was assistant division commander, 10th Infantry division, commander of the Inchon base for the 1950 invasion landing, and assistant division commander, 2nd Infantry division.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Silver Star Medal, the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal and several foreign decorations.

General Stewart will retire from active Army duty on 31 October and will assume his new post in November.

Army Clarifies Regulation on Military Travel

Washington — The Army is seeking to clear up misunderstandings that have arisen concerning its regulation on concurrent travel of military dependents to Europe.

Many individuals, according to the Army, have jumped to the erroneous conclusion that all families can now travel to Europe concurrently just by asking. This is not true, the Army emphasized.

Most of the confusion apparently centers around advance applications. The purpose of the advance application, Army officials explained, is to find out if quarters are available for the individual and his family in the area to which he will be assigned. It is not a notification to USAREUR that he is bringing his family and wants quarters.

Unless quarters are available, concurrent travel will not be authorized. The Army expects that for some months to come a large number of families will not be able to travel together.

At the present time there are almost 5000 families whose sponsors already are in Europe but for whom quarters are not yet available. However, the Army is striving to reach a goal of all families traveling concurrently to Europe.

The Army advises officers and top three grade EM who receive orders to Europe and want concurrent travel for their families to submit an application for concurrent travel at once, to keep in mind the possibility that their request might not be granted. (AFPS)

Pre-Trial Set!

35 Ex-POWs May be Tried For Acts During Internment

Washington (AFPS) — The Army has announced that about 35 more former prisoners of war of the communists in Korea, still on active duty, may be tried by courts martial for offenses committed while POWs.

It also announced that there have been 15 administrative separations of persons against whom the evidence of wrongful conduct did not warrant courts martial action. Twelve of these received undesirable discharges and the other three general discharges.

Four other former POWs already are under sentences by courts martial, having been convicted of misconduct and violations of laws governing military conduct while in communist hands. They are Lt. Col. Harry Fleming, Cpl. Edward S. Dickenson, Cpl. Claude J. Batchelor and Pvt. Rothwell B. Floyd. The offenses charged against each were different and the sentences are not yet final.

In announcing these figures, the Army re-emphasized its position that no one in any position of authority had ever promised U.S. soldiers immunity from prosecution for offenses committed while they were POWs. It pointed out that none of the four thus far brought to trial was charged with failure to accept repatriation when it was first offered.

Approximately 3200 officers and men returned to military control during the prisoner exchange more than a year ago and only about 225 cases were found to warrant additional investigation. After intensive examinations this figure was re-

SIXTH ARMY GROUNDS CHIEF, Mr. Noah Truax, left for Washington last Friday where he will head the Buildings and Grounds division of the Office of Chief of Engineers, United States Army. Mr. Truax shows a letter of appreciation he received from Lt. General W. G. Wyman, Sixth Army Commander, on occasion of his appointment to the new post, to Colonel H. E. Fillinger, Assistant Engineer, Sixth Army.

New Look Near as Army Awards Contracts For New Green Uniforms

Washington (AFPS)—The Army green uniform came a step closer recently as the Army announced the award of eight procurement contracts totaling more than $12 million.

The contracts will provide 3,600,000 yards of worsted cloth in the Army green color. This amount is about 60 per cent of the initial quantity of about 6,000,000 yards required for the new uniforms. Contracts on the remaining 40 per cent are under negotiation.

The lowest bid was made by the Wanskuck Co., Providence, R. I., to produce 450,000 yards at a cost of $3.25 per yard. Other contracts awarded ranged up to a high of $3.49 per yard.

6th Army Grounds Chief Given Top Post in Washington

Mr. Noah H. Truax, Chief, Buildings and Grounds Division, Engineer Section, Headquarters Sixth Army, was reassigned last week to a post in Washington, D.C., as head of the Buildings and Grounds Division, Office of Chief of Engineers, Department of Army, it was announced by Sixth Army Engineer, Colonel A. Kirchhoff, recently.

Mr. Truax, who came to the Presidio with the 9th Service Command in June, 1946, will take the place of Mr. Herman Johnson in Washington. His office will be with the Chief of Engineers, Building T-7, Gravelly Point, Washington, D.C.

The office that Mr. Truax has filled here since 1946 was originally established in August, 1943, at 9th Service Command Headquarters for Fort Douglas, Utah. The departing Sixth Army grounds chief worked in the position there as an officer and continued as a civilian when headquarters were moved to the Presidio.

Mr. Truax's wife, Catherine, accompanied him to Washington.

A supplemental contract for $984,283.84 for the production of 2½-ton trucks has been awarded by the Army to Reo Motors, Inc., Lansing, Mich. Reo has been producing the truck for the Army since the spring of 1950.

The Star-Presidian

Serving Those Who Serve A National

The Star-Presidian is an authorized dual purpose weekly publication published by and for the military personnel of the Sixth Army Headquarters and the Presidio of San Francisco, California, under the supervision of the Post Troop Information and Education Office. News, features, photographic and art material are solicited from military personnel. Publication depends on available space and general interest value as judged by the staff. No payment will be made. Every effort will be made to return rejected material but no responsibility can be assumed beyond the exercise of due care in expediting return.

Non-copyrighted materials appearing herein may be reprinted—provided proper credit is given.

The Star-Presidian accepts no paid advertising. Editorial views and opinions expressed herein are not necessarily those of the Department of the Army. The Star-Presidian may be mailed outside of Sixth Army. All photos are by the Army Signal Corps unless otherwise specified.

Commanding Sixth Army
LIEUTENANT GENERAL
WILLARD G. WYMAN

Deputy Post Commander
COLONEL C. E. LUNDQUIST

Post TIE Officer
CAPTAIN CLINTON D. REGELIN

Editor
MR. KENNETH S. ERWIN

DEADLINE IS WEDNESDAY NOON

Arizona's Yuma Test Station Receives New Deputy Post Commander

Lt. Colonel Howard E. Helliesen has recently assumed the position of Deputy Post Commander of Yuma Test Station, Arizona.

Colonel Helliesen received an A.B. degree from the University of Michigan and prior to entering the Army in 1941, served as special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice.

Along with being a qualified parachutist he graduated from the Command General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, in 1952.

He has received the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Cluster and numerous service medals for duty in World War II and the Korean Campaign.

ARMY SCHOOL MATES PROMOTED last week in the 505th MP Battalion are shown shortly after receiving their silver bars from Lt. Col. Keene Saxon, Battalion Commander and Post Provost Marshal. The new 1st Lieutenants attended the Provost Marshal General School at Camp Gordon, Georgia, and were graduated the same date, 10 July 1953. From left to right are 1st Lt. Phil P. Kenville of Company B, 1st Lt. Raymond W. McMahon of Headquarters Company, Lt. Col. Keene Saxon, 1st Lt. Edmund R. Hobbins and 1st Lt. George J. Bergman, both of Headquarters Company.

Requirements Met;
Production Suspended
On Army's A-Gun

Washington (AFPS)—The Army already has met its current requirements for the 280-mm atomic gun and temporarily has ceased production on it.

It is thought likely that production will be resumed on the weapon sometime next year. There has been no official announcement as to the number which now are in use by the Army. However, several shipments of the weapon have been made to U.S. forces in Europe.

The Army indicated recently that there soon may be other atomic-type artillery weapons in use. Assistant Army Secretary George H. Roderick in a speech in Bellefonte, Pa., referred to the 280-mm gun as "first of a series of guns capable of delivering an atomic projectile."

Camera! Action!

Fort Baker Is Scene of New Hollywood Movie Production

By Cpl. Ross S. Metcalfe
Star Presidian Staff Writer

Kirby Beach at Fort Baker was beset by grinding $25,000 cameras, diving aircraft and walkie-talkies last Thursday as a crew of 20 men took the first shots for Universal-International's newest technical film, "Third Girl From The Right."

The film footage taken here on Army ground will be used in the opening sequences of the film that will star Piper Laurie, Rory Calhoun, Jack Carson and Cyril Gardner. Work on the actual production starts on the 6th of November and the picture is due to be released next spring.

In the story, the diving airplane is piloted and owned by a rich multi-millionaire playboy (Rory Calhoun) who is returning from one of his regular escapades of wild living. He thinks that the only way to enter San Francisco from the air is to dive underneath the Golden Gate Bridge which he does much to the disturbance of his side-kick (Jack Carson).

The sequence was taken with filters and in the movie will look as if it is late evening.

The rest of the movie is a typical boy-meets-girl, boy-loses-girl, boy-gets-girl-back.

After the episode under the bridge is over, the two flyers land and go to the playboy's home. There they see Piper Laurie dancing on a T.V. show and Rory de-

Korean Bundles

Tomorrow the Presidio Boy Scouts will pick up any donations of clothing, school supplies, toilet articles and toys for the Sim Hyang Orphanage which is supported by Army personnel in Korea. Your gift may be left on a front or back porch of Presidio Quarters, or may be placed in boxes at the Thrift Shop, the Fire Station and the Presidio Officer's Mess.

Well Done!

As the last units of U.S. troops in the TRUST Force withdrew from Trieste following the agreement signed by Italy and Yugoslavia, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Army Chief of Staff, expressed the Army's thanks for a job well done. The 3500 men of the 351st Inf. Regt. and supporting units have been moved to Leghorn, Italy, pending subsequent deployment.

cides that this is the girl for him. He meets her, woos her, and marries her.

But soon it develops that the wife cannot adjust to her husband's top-of-the-hill way of life and his stylish friends, so she leaves him.

What she does not realize is that hubby has grown to like her bohemian way of existence and wants to cast off the Nob Hill cloak and follow her on T.V. A chase ensues and finally they wind up at Lake Tahoe in the snow and reconcile. Briefly then, this is the plot.

With 90 feet of film shot per minute and from two cameras, and with over 2 hours of shooting for just a 4-minute movie sequence, it isn't difficult to see how expensive it can be to put a motion picture into production.

Producer Sam Marx and Director Edward Buzell both expressed enthusiasm for the beauty of the view from Fort Baker.

Four MP Officers
Receive Promotions
To 1st Lieutenant

Four officers of the 505th Military Police Battalion, all of whom were graduated from the Provost Marshal General School at Camp Gordon, Georgia, the 10th of July 1953, and who began their duty assignments at the Presidio in mid-summer of that year, were promoted to First Lieutenant last week.

The men who were awarded the silver bars were: Lt. George J. Bergman, Lt. Edmund R. Hobbins, Lt. Phil P. Kenville and Lt. Raymond W. McMahon.

Two of the officers, Lt. Bergman and Lt. Hobbins, not only name the same home state and the same alma mater, the University of Wisconsin, but also hold the Bachelor of Science degree with a major in economics.

Lt. Bergman, from Milwaukee, serves the 505th as Commanding Officer of Headquarters Company and Battalion Adjutant, while Lt. Hobbins, whose hometown is Madison, Wisconsin, is the assistant Post Confinement Officer and Assistant Post Police Officer. Both are married and reside on post.

A native of Oakland, California, Lt. Kenville is a graduate of the University of California and the recipient of a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Psychology. Assigned to Company B as a platoon leader, Lt. Kenville continues to serve in that capacity, and lives on the Presidio with his wife.

Lt. McMahon studied at San Jose State College where he specialized in Police Administration for a Bachelor of Arts Degree. Formerly a platoon leader and Training Officer with Company A, he is now assigned to Headquarters Company and is the Battalion Motor Pool Officer. Sharing his home on post are his wife and infant daughter.

More than 2,200,000 (M) military personnel have taken United States Armed Forces Institute courses since the beginning of the program in 1942.

The Army operates 72 radio stations and numerous relay stations outside the United States. The project is known as the Armed Forces Radio Service.

Recently Assigned

Major Thomas M. Kobayashi is now assigned to the administrative services division of the AG Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

For the past three years, Major Kobayashi has been in the Far East where he served in two areas, the first 18 months in Korea with the 2nd Logistical Command's AG Section, and, most recently 18 months in the AG Section of AFCE Headquarters.

The major has been in the Army for 14 years, and during World War II served a two-year tour in the European theatre with the 442nd Nisei Regimental Combat Team. He has been decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Commendation Ribbon, the Combat Infantry Badge, the Presidential Unit Citation, the ETO ribbon with six battle stars, and the Korean theatre ribbon with three battle stars.

He is a graduate of the Officers Advanced AG course, Fort Lee, Virginia. Mrs. Kobayashi is presently with relatives in Phoenix, Arizona.

Major Raymond H. Smith has been named assistant chief of the supply and maintenance division, Engineer Section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Recently returned from the Far East, Major Smith began his overseas tour in Korea, where he served a year with 8th Army and X Corps. He then went to Japan where he spent 18 months with the supply division of the Engineer Section, AFCE Headquarters, and the last six months in the newly created Engineer Supply Control office.

Enlisting in the Army 12 years ago, the major served 10 months as an enlisted man and then attended O.C.S. and the Officers advanced and the staff AAA Artillery courses at Camp Davis, North Carolina. His other schools include the Army Language school at the Presidio of Monterey where he studied Russian, the Infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia, the Logistical division course of Command and General Staff school, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and the Air Force school of Applied Tactics, Orlando, Florida.

From January 1945 to June 1947, Major Smith served in the European theatre with the 1st Infantry Division, and his decorations include the Silver Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Combat Infantry Badge and the Commendation Ribbon. The major's wife and three children have accompanied him to San Francisco.

Captain Paul N. Simon has just returned to this country after a three-year tour in the Far East. His first eight months were spent with the 25th Division in Korea, and the last 28 months in Tokyo with Headquarters Far East Command.

He is now assigned to the Presidio of San Francisco as chief of the traffic division, 6300 SU Signal Communication center.

Enlisting in the Army in 1945, Captain Simon was serving as a sergeant with the 33rd Infantry when he entered O.S.C. at Fort Benning, Georgia, receiving his commission in 1947. He then served a 13-month tour in Japan before being released from the service late in 1948. He was recalled to active duty at the beginning of 1951.

The captain has attended the associate basic and the field grade officers refresher Signal courses at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey, and in addition has taken numerous military extension courses. Captain and Mrs. Simon and their two children are now residing here.

Lt. Frederic N. Brenner recently completed nine months as Fiscal officer at Camp Stoneman, California. Prior to that he had attended the 13-week Finance school at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

His assignment on the Presidio of San Francisco is that of accounting officer with the Post Comptroller section.

Graduating from Indiana University with the class of 1952, Lt. Brenner took his degree in finance. He enlisted in the Army on 6 August.

The lieutenant attended O.S.C. at Fort Benning, Georgia, and received his commission on 1 October 1953. He then served two months with the 52nd AEB at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, before entering the Finance school.

Lt. Robert B. Warrick has received his initial Army assignment in the plans, operations and training division, Chemical section, Headquarters Sixth Army.

Lt. Warrick entered the service in June of this year, and attended the 15-week Chemical Corps school at Fort McClellan, Alabama prior to coming here.

Graduating from R.O.T.C. ranks at Purdue University, class of 1953, the lieutenant is a metallurgical engineer, and was employed for a year at the Chain Belt Company, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Lt. Warrick's wife has accompanied him here, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Warrick, reside in Brownsburg, Indiana.

New Arrivals

Births to personnel of the Presidio and subposts at Letterman Army hospital during the past week were:

- Twin sons to:
26 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Donald D. Engdahl, 6900 SU Two Rock Ranch Sta., Calif.
- Daughters to:
26 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Raymond Knapp, Det. 1, 6002 SU, PSFC.
27 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Howard Evans, 505th MP Bn., PSFC.; Cpl. and Mrs. Thomas A. Herron, Fld. Sta., 8602 AAV TRRS, Petaluma, Calif.
28 October: Pfc. and Mrs. Guy D. Hayden, Btry. C, 740th Gun Bn., Ft. Scott, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. James Magnuson, I and I Staff, 14th Rifle Co., USMCR MORTC, Kentfield, Calif.; Pvt. and Mrs. Leguster Mosley, Ft. Ord, Calif.; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Malcolm Smith, Det. 1, 6002 SU PSFC.
29 October: A/C and Mrs. William R. Cooper, Hq. WADF, Hamilton AFB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. Alberto Garcia, 740th Guided Miss., SAM, PSFC.; Pvt. and Mrs. Jerome J. Looby, Class II, 6th Army Area Fd. Svc. Sch., Ft. Ord, Calif.
30 October: Lt. and Mrs. John P. Costello, 9956 TU, LAH, PSFC.; A/3C and Mrs. A. L. Dobbins, Hq. Sec., 8th AD, McClellan AFB, Calif.

- Sons to:
26 October: A/2C and Mrs. Burton H. Durby, 35th Comm. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
28 October: Sfc. and Mrs. Duanne F. Carey, Det. 4, 6002 SU ASPD, TI, Calif.
29 October: Cpl. and Mrs. Albert Covert, 6901 SU, Sec. A, OAB, Calif.; Sgt. and Mrs. William R. McDonald, 566th Ops. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.
30 October: Capt. and Mrs. Don S. Fletcher, 9206 TU-TC, OAB, Calif.; M/Sgt. and Mrs. Charles A. Pravel, MCSFA, 100 Harrison, SFC.
31 October: Pvt. and Mrs. Daniel M. Cote, 30th Eng. Gp., Ft. Scott, Calif.; A/2C and Mrs. Stanton D. Mullen, 566 Hosp. Sq., Hamilton AFB, Calif.

A total of $143,574,952 (M) in postal money orders was sold at overseas Army post offices last years. Fees totaling $803,712 were collected for the United States Post Office Department as a result of these sales.

More than 1,714,283 (M) pieces of correspondence were handled by the Army's military personnel records center at St. Louis, Mo., during the last 12 months.

CONSERVATION MERIT BADGES were well earned by these Girl Scouts who planted ice-plant along Presidio's Infantry Terrace last Saturday as part of the requirement that the Scouts have to fulfill in their nature course. This soil erosion project was aided by the Army Engineers who filled in various barren areas along the bank with soil and logs. Included in the picture above are Teddy McPhail, Phyllis Elkins, Joy Hauberg, Barbara Whitley, and Virginia Masters.

Ice Planting!

Presidio Girl Scouts Dig In To Earn Conservation Badge

Sprouts of ice plant began to appear suddenly last week on previously bare ground around Presidio's Infantry Terrace causing a flibbertigibbet before Halloween. Upon further investigation it was found to be the result of a well planned Girl Scout activity.

Twenty-three of the 90 Girl Scouts here at the Presidio are working toward a merit badge in conservation and as part of the requirement they must formulate and execute a soil conservation project. The Sixth Army Engineers filled in several washed out areas with logs and soil just up from the Presidio Ball Diamond, and signalled the go-ahead to Troop 187.

The youngsters dug in with impish delight and so far have planted a sizable plot of ground with ice plant.

Mrs. John Kemble project leader, states that there are ten requirements to earning the conservation badge, among which include learning the principles of conservation and memorizing the Girl Scout conservation pledge. The girls must familiarize themselves with conservation of all natural resources and learn the why- and- wherefores of timber growth and wild life protection.

Included in the instructions are trips to dams, State and National Parks and Fisheries. They must also put into practice what they learn, as evidenced by their ice plant project.

Headquarters for Troop 187 is building T-92, just across from Headquarters Company, Sixth Army. The girls' fathers recently painted the inside and with the cooperation of the Engineers were able to put the structure in top shape. Seven groups meet on Wednesday between 1530 and 1630 hours in various parts of the building, and a High School contingent holds a special session on Thursdays between 1900 and 2000 hours.

Mrs. George C. Masters, Troop Leader, needs more adult help to guide over four score youngsters in the habits of leadership and citizenship. If you are interested call Mrs. Masters at extension 3750. (R.M.)

Teen-Age Meet Today

The Presidio Teen-Age Club meets today in a shuffleboard tournament under the direction of M/Sgt. and Mrs. Sid Domingue. A pool tourney has been planned for tomorrow, 6 Nov.

Infantry Officer Awarded High Netherlands Cross

A medal authorized by Her Majesty Queen Juliana was awarded by Netherlands Consul General Jonkheer J. D. van Karnebeek last week to Captain Robert J. Parr, former intelligence officer with the 38th Infantry Regiment in Korea.

Presented at a meeting of the Holland American Society in San Francisco, The Netherlands Cross for Justice and Freedom with clasp, "Korea, 1953," was in tribute to Captain Parr's close cooperation with Netherlands troops, which were attached to the 38th Infantry Regiment of the U.S. 2nd Division.

Captain Parr, now Infantry Advisor to the 1st Battalion, 185th Infantry Regiment, California National Guard, in Modesto, Calif., served with the 38th Infantry as company commander and intelligence officer from September, 1952, to September, 1953.

The Consul General said the Cross was awarded "in recognition of Captain Parr's services in promoting close cooperation between his Regiment and the Netherlands detachment serving in Korea."

The CJF is designed for members of the Netherlands Wave Army, and Air Force who fought in Korea.

Medals Earned!

Two Presidio Enlisted Men Given Commendation Ribbon

Two Presidio enlisted men were awarded the Commendation Ribbon with Metal Pendant this Tuesday for outstanding performance of duty, in an informal ceremony in the office of Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, Deputy Post Commander. Sfc. Leo D. Trout, now with the Medical Laboratory at Fort Baker, earned his citation while in the Ryukyus and Cpl. William J. Ring, Presidio Branch Training Aids Section, was cited for his work while stationed both here and at Camp Roberts, California.

Sfc. Trout, formerly First Sergeant of Headquarters Detachment, Ryukyus Army Hospital, distinguished himself by displaying the highest quality of leadership and devotion to duty in the hospital laboratory. As senior non-commissioned officer, he closely supervised the technicians assigned to the section and prepared extremely accurate and complete reports.

In the words of the citation, "As First Sergeant of Headquarters Detachment, he commanded the highest degree of respect from all personnel, and exercised his authority with the highest degree of loyalty and discretion. His attentiveness and devotion to duty contributed greatly to the morale, efficiency, and discipline of the unit. . . ."

Corporal William J. Ring, while working in the Training Aids Sub-center at Camp Roberts, California, was engaged as a model maker in the construction and maintenance of wooden models and cut-away mock-ups of infantry weapons. Observing the many weak points of these models, Cpl. Ring devised a plan for development of small, scale, color plastic models for use with the Viewgraph Projector. He enrolled in correspondence and night courses to learn the properties of the materials he was to use in the construction of his models.

Cpl. Ring purchased dyes and other materials from his own funds to get the perfect combination of materials for the job he was to do. He continued his work after his transfer to the Presidio and as a result developed a model that demonstrates a mechanical principle much more clearly and may be grasped by a trainee in less than half the time heretofore required.

Colonel Lundquist stated that the accomplishments of these men reflect great credit upon themselves and the military service.

Winfield Scott PTA to Hear William Winter at "Dads" Night Program

Mr. William Winter, news analyst and foreign correspondent, will speak on "Parents and International Relations" at the Winfield Scott P.T.A. "Fathers' Night" program Friday, 12 November, at 1930 in the school auditorium, Divisadero at Beach street. This meeting is open to the public and the doors will open at 1900.

Mr. Bob Fischer, magician, will be at the school to entertain children while their parents attend the meeting.

As war correspondent for Overseas News agency during World War II, Mr. Winter traveled extensively throughout the Pacific, North Africa, the Middle East, India and China. He returned to San Francisco to cover the United Nations charter conference in 1945, and then resumed his world travels, which have taken him around the globe.

100% Participation!

30th Engineers, 505th MPs, Honor Guard Lead in Crusade

Leading the Presidio's United Crusade fund drive with a resounding 100 per cent participation by all members, are the 30th Engineer Group, the 505th Military Police Battalion, and Detachment "A" Honor Guard.

Other units on the Post are presently showing approximately 85 per cent participation, which is a goodly percentage. "Since the drive is only half over, tabulations are still fairly incomplete," Major Elsie Weible, funds custodian, said.

Colonel William C. Holley, commanding officer of the 30th Engineer Group, in reporting the cooperation of his troops in the drive to Colonel Carl E. Lundquist, deputy post commander, said: "I was truly gratified to receive this type of turnout from the men of the 30th. It is an indication to me that they realize the great need of those agencies participating in the Crusade."

The 30th lead the other groups in per capita participation with a total of $1.87 tabulated from each man. There were 1,544 men who gave and the total received was $2,900.77.

Broken down into companies, the 21st Engineers lead the units with $482.70, while the 521st Engineers were second with $446, and the 315th Engineers third with $415.

Lt. Colonel Keene Saxon, commanding officer of the 505th MPs, and Captain Eugene Gasior, who commands the Honor Guard, also expressed appreciation to the men of their commands, for going all out to make this drive a successful one.

Now it is up to the remainder of the units, both military and civilian.

The drive is still going on and will be until its extended date of 8 December.

And the need for more contributions is still there—noticeably.

This year's overall quota is $6,150,000, slightly less than last year's figure of $6,167,500.

Of last year's total, Presidians gave wonderfully, generously, to the extent of $30,500. It is the hope of Colonel Lundquist, the drive's chairman on post, that this figure will again be reached, or—ultimately—topped!

Give once—the United way.

Open House!

Army Suggests Observation To Acquaint Youth, Service

Washington (AFPS)—American kids will get an opportunity to learn about the U.S. Army firsthand.

Major commanders in the ZI have been instructed to step up the Army's program of cooperation with the nation's youth—girls as well as boys.

The Army suggested that youth organizations be encouraged to establish branches or "troops" on Army installations and that Army personnel be urged to participate in their activities.

Invitations to youth groups showing interest in Army operations to visit "open houses" at selected installations was another recommendation. The groups could stay overnight where accommodations are available.

Among the activities suggested to interest youthful visitors, the Army listed cross country rides in military vehicles with safe-driving techniques

Eight-Week Session Of College Classes To Start Next Week

An eight-weeks session of college classes offered by San Francisco State College in connection with the Post T. I. and E. program is scheduled to begin the 15th of November.

Enlisted men, as well as officers, may enroll for the courses which are designed to meet the requirements toward a Bachelor of Arts degree. There are no academic prerequisites for the courses and a high school diploma is not required of those desiring to participate in the program. Three units of transferable credit will be granted for each course, the cost of which is $7.50 in tuition fees.

The subjects which are being offered are:

HISTORY 170—Great Personalities in American History. Emphasis in this course is placed upon the personal characteristics and public service of men who have played leading roles in the History of the U.S., including Political, Business and Labor leaders.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS 132—United States Foreign Policy. Major problems of U.S. foreign policy with respect to procedures and to the regional and world interests will be studied, with particular attention given the period after 1945.

PHILOSOPHY 2—Philosophies Men Live By. An introductory study in philosophy in which an attempt will be made to uncover the values by which men live, some of which are consciously held and others of which we are ostensibly unaware. Problems pertaining to worthwhile ideals will be discussed and evaluated.

The Classes will be held twice a week from 1830 to 2100 hours. Application for enrollment should be made at the Post Education Center, Building 117.

emphasized; observation of weapon firing; the showing of training films; meals in mess hall or field kitchens; youth-soldier contests and bivouacs.

Commanders have been directed to make sure that no vestige of military training is imposed on the boys and girls during any of these activities.

The Army maintained that the long-range value of having thousands of young people become acquainted each year with the Army on an informal and friendly basis may well exceed that of any other Army public relations project

IT'S THIS WAY! When two people are that way about each other, there is only one way. So the way led to the altar, and there, on 10 September, culminated for Lt. Charles Dunifer, currently a pilot with the 30th Engineer Group at Fort Scott, and Nicole Alix Delvaux of Belgium, a romance that began in Munich, Germany, in January 1953. Dunifer was then stationed in Greece and Nicole was in the chorus of an ice skating show, and after three months' acquaintance, they were forced to continue their romance long distance. But in the end love triumphed over distance, visas, immigration details and other assorted problems, and Lt. and Mrs. Dunifer are now one of Fort Scott's happiest twosomes!

Pithy Plot!

Pilot's Persistent Pursuit Placates Pretty Prima's Pulse

By Pfc. Del Taylor
30th Group PIO

Lessons in love and geography can be learned simultaneously but it's more fun to be married and together.

That's a mutual opinion held by a young 30th Engineer Group (Topo Survey) pilot and his pretty Belgian bride whose romance ranged via cablegram from Singapore to the wilds of Alaska and includes such diverse activities as helicopter piloting and ice skating.

The cupid-by-cablegram campaign which went on for 20 months, came to its logical conclusion in a Judge's office in Arlington, Virginia, on 10 September when 1st Lt. Charles Duniff, Jr., married Nicole Alix Delvaux.

"It's a long story," said the youthful veteran of 10 years' service and the girl who skated with an international ice show in some 10 foreign lands since meeting her husband in Munich, Germany, in January 1953.

While most romances get no farther than the nearest shady lane, Lt. Dunifer came to Munich from Greece and met Nicki at a party. She was in the chorus of "Holiday on Ice," an international ice show with headquarters in New York.

For three months, love knew no boundaries. Then, Lt. Dunifer was shipped to the states for flight training at Gary Air Force Base, Texas. Nicki went to Naples, Florence and Switzerland with the show. He showered her with letters, international telephone calls, telegrams, cablegrams.

The ice show moved to Asia and then went to the Philippines, Tokyo, Nagoya and Hong Kong. Meanwhile, Lt. Dunifer was sent to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, to complete his flight training.

The cablegrams and overseas phone calls became more frequent after Lt. Dunifer received his helicopter pilot wings and joined the 30th's 521st Engineer Company (Topo Aviation) for duty in Alaska.

"It gets pretty lonely on the boondocks," he said. "In Alaska, the mail situation was not so good and telephone connections were difficult."

He made up his mind last December and sent his proposal via cablegram. "Nicki was in Singapore and the city had no overseas telephone exchange," he said.

But a positive answer came in by mail and things were looking up. Nicki couldn't get a visa in Singapore so she had to quit the show and go home to Brussels, Belgium.

Here she waited what seemed like an eternity while technicalities were worked out. Meanwhile, cablegrams and phone calls kept coming through.

Early in June, Nicki landed in New York. Lt. Dunifer flew from Anchorage, Alaska, to San Francisco and hopped the nearest plane east. Practically the remainder of the summer was spent unraveling various immigration procedures in New York and Washington, D. C., by the young couple, thus paving the way for their exchange of vows in Arlington.

The old cliché "love finds a way" seems somehow brand new and certainly appropriate after hearing this story of two people who made oceans seem like puddles.

1st Hole-in-One Here

Superior Court Judge Thomas M. Foley, a golfer for 46 years, scored his first hole-in-one at the Presidio recently when he aced the 166 yard long fourth hole at the local course.

A regular member of the Lake-side and Meadow Clubs, Judge Foley was a guest of Rolf Monsen and played in a foursome that included Peter Compton and Bill Gillis. He used a No. 2 iron.

The first plot of ground for Arlington, Va., was appropriated by the Government June 15, 1864.

Cinema Slate

PRESIDIO THEATRE

Friday, 5 November — "Tonight's the Night," with David Niven and Yvonne DeCarlo.

Saturday, 6 November — "Down Three Dark Streets," with Broderick Crawford and Ruth Roman.

Sunday, 7 November and Monday, 8 November — "Broken Lance," with Spencer Tracy, Richard Widmark and Jean Peters. (Cinemascope)

Tuesday, 9 November — "Monte Carlo Baby," with Audrey Hepburn and Julius Munshin.

Wednesday, 10 November and Thursday, 11 November — "Trouble in the Glen," with Orson Welles and Victor McLaglen and Margaret Lockwood.

FORT SCOTT THEATRE

Friday, 5 November — "The Sea Around Us," documentary film.

Saturday, 6 November — "Johnny Guitar," with Joan Crawford and Sterling Hayden.

Sunday, 7 November — "Tonight's the Night," with David Niven and Yvonne DeCarlo.

Tuesday, 9 November — "Trouble in the Glen," with Orson Welles and Victor McLaglen.

FORT BAKER THEATRE

Friday, 5 November — "Masterson of Kansas," with George Montgomery and Nancy Gates.

Monday, 8 November — "Tonight's the Night," with David Niven and Yvonne DeCarlo.

Wednesday, 10 November — "The Yellow Mountain," with Lex Barker, Mala Powers and Howard Duff.

